Performance Rights Bill: Will Radio Have To Pay?

■ Legislation taking shape; NAB fears DAB inclusion could spill over to analog radio

The debate over performance rights is back on the front burner this week. But its impact on broadcasters is uncertain — even if legislation is enacted.

Rep. Williams Hughes (D-NJ), who chairs the House Intellectual Property Subcommittee, has authored a bill (H.R. 2576) that would grant performance rights protection — and perhaps royalty payments — to performers and record companies for music transmitted by digital means. The subcommittee is scheduled to hammer out legislation before the congressional holiday recess. A previous markup of the legislation was postponed in May, when panel members couldn't agree on whether to exempt DAB so the performance right would apply only to subscription digital services.

Although the Hughes bill does not cover traditional analog radio stations, NAB fears that a performance right for DAB could lead to legislation also covering analog AM and FM.

Radio Revenues Surpass $1 Billion Mark In May

■ RAB reports 12% growth across the board

Radio revenues across the nation surpassed $1 billion in May, the first time monthly ad receipts have ever broken the 10-digit barrier, according to RAB estimates. By RAB's calculations, May sales — including local, national, network, and syndication — totaled $1,070,000,000.

"When you consider that in 1970 radio revenue was just $1.26 billion for the entire year, you begin to realize the significance of nearly matching that figure in a single month," said RAB President Gary Fries.

The operative figure for May revenue growth was 12%: RAB reported that total revenues, local revenues, and national spot revenues all rose by that amount for the month. Also, total revenues were up 12% for the January-through-May period.

"1994 revenue growth to date has been not only strong, but steady," said Fries. "With the exception of April's still-robust 9% increase, every month so far this year has grown at almost the

Clinton Shines Spotlight On Talk Show Hosts

■ NARTSH attendees defend themselves

Just as delegates to the National Association of Radio Talk Show Hosts were gathering in Los Angeles for their annual convention last weekend, President Clinton put Talk radio in the spotlight by lashing out at right-wing hosts — Rush Limbaugh in particular — for their relentless attacks on his administration. He blamed the hosts, along with other negative media coverage, for what he termed a nationwide spirit of "cynicism" and "negativism."

'Negative News Reports'

"If you look at the information they [the American public] get, if you look at how much more negative the news reports are . . . you can't blame them for responding that way," Clinton said in an interview with KMOX/St. Louis.

The CBS O&O scored its exclusive interview as Clinton was en route to St. Louis Friday (6/24) for a Democratic political fundraiser. The president phoned KMOX's morning show from Air Force One and was inter-

House GOP Leaders Back GATT

House Minority Whip Newt Gingrich (R-GA) and other Republican leaders Friday (6/24) rallied behind legislation to alter budget rules that would pass the GATT trade treaty without spectrum royalties or any other new taxes. Meanwhile, NAB is warning the spectrum tax proposal is still alive.

The Clinton administration has said it is considering taxing broadcasters $4.8 billion to help make up for reduced revenues from GATT's lowered tariffs. However, the administration's Office of Management and Budget (OMB) recently has tempered such talk.

Clinton Interested

The Republican bill would amend the Balanced Budget and Emergency Deficit Control Act of 1985 — which requires that lost revenues be replaced — by taking into account future revenue from increased trade under GATT.

"It doesn't make sense for Congress to look at revenue reductions on the one hand but ignore the greater revenue increases occurring on the other hand," said the bill's sponsor, Rep. Thomas Ewing (R-IL).

Gingrich said President Clinton has expressed interest in the idea. "The president of the United States inquired in our leadership meeting about this [legislation]," he noted during a press conference on the Capitol grounds. "We have sent him a copy of this bill."

Gingrich said if Clinton would ask for Democratic support of the bill, GATT would quickly pass. "If the president would simply . . . call [Senate Majority Leader] George Mitchell (D-ME) and call [House Speaker] Tom Foley (D-WA) . . . it could be in the Senate on Wednesday and could be out by the end of the week."

The bill currently has the support of 20 Republicans and one Democrat, Rep. Mike Parker (D-MS).

NAB: Tax Not Dead

NAB is warning broadcasters that the spectrum royalty idea isn't dead, despite a recent Electronic Media article to that effect. R&R and other publications have reported the proposal is on its last legs but is still being considered.

"This death notice is premature," NAB Exec. VP/Government Relations Jim May declared Monday (6/27) in NAB's "Radio Week" fax. NAB is still urging broadcasters to contact members of Congress to oppose the spectrum tax.

Entertainment Industry Major Clinton, DNC Donor

Radio station owners, record company executives, and other entertainment industry leaders were among the major contributors to President Clinton and the Democratic National Committee between July 1992 (when he won the nomination) and March 1994.

During that period, President Clinton and the DNC raised more than $40.5 million, nearly twice the amount President Bush and the GOP raised during the same time, according to records released last week by the Federal Election Commission. The entertainment industry was the second-largest contributor as a group, eclipsed only by the banking/financial industry.

'Soft Money'

The largest contributor was Time Warner, with donations totaling more than half a million dollars from the company, its executives, and its subsidiaries. The largest single check to the president and the Democrats came from Carl Lindner, a Cincinnati businessman who's the principal stockholder in Citicasters Inc. Lindner has been a longtime Republican contributor and raised money for President Bush. Among the more than 100 individuals, corporations, and labor unions that contributed $100,000 or more was record mogul David Geffen, who gave $220,000.

President Clinton was criticized by the citizen watchdog group Common Cause for accepting the corporate donations, which are considered "soft money" (for administrative expenses, voter education, etc.) and not limited by campaign finance law. Although Clinton supports campaign finance reforms, the president says he can't stop accepting soft money while the GOP continues to take contributions.

Below is a partial list of the radio- and record-related individuals/businesses that contributed to President Clinton and the DNC (individual donors are included in corporate totals and singled out below):

- Time Warner Inc.: $508,333
- Morris Ostin, Chairman, Warner Brothers Records Inc.: $50,000

- Carl Lindner, principal stockholder of Citicasters Inc. (formerly Great American Communications Corp.): $250,000

FCC Rejects Duopoly Challenges

Rejecting competing challenges, the FCC recently made two rulings upholding duopoly deals approved by the Commission staff.

The commissioners agreed with the Mass Media Bureau's interpretation of how to apply the duopoly rules when more than one Arbitron market is involved — that county-by-county data for the entire area is to be used when less than 50% of the duopoly signal contour overlap is within a single Arbitron market.

That allowed Associated Communications to add WOMP-AM & FM/Bellaire, OH to its WSTV & WRKY/Steubenville, OH combo, even though the four stations had a combined share of 28.6% in the Steubenville-Weirton metro. The WOMP sale had been challenged by McGraw Broadcasting.

In the second case, the FCC upheld the practice of assigning a zero rating to a CP when calculating duopoly share totals, permitting KUGN-AM & FM/Eugene, OR owner C&C Broadcasting to acquire KGAL (FM CP) Brownsville, OR. Competitors McKenzie River Broadcasting and McCoy Broadcasting had opposed the CP acquisition.

Commission Budget Clears House

The House of Representatives early Tuesday (6/28) passed an appropriations bill (H.R. 4603) that includes the FCC's fiscal 1995 budget of $166.8 million — $20 million less than it requested.

Included in that $166.8 million is $116.4 million which "shall be assessed and collected" (read: user fees). That figure is nearly double this year's $60 million in fees.

The bill will next be considered by a Senate Appropriations subcommittee in mid-July, according to a subcommittee staffer. Congress was scheduled to adjourn Thursday (6/30) for the July Fourth holiday and return to work July 11.

NAB Defends Lawyer Ads

NAB told the American Bar Association's Commission on Advertising that lawyers have a constitutional right to advertise on radio and television.

"Using radio and TV to market legal services removes the shroud of secrecy about legal remedies and lowers legal costs through efficient and effective delivery of legal services," NAB Associate General Counsel Steven Bookshester told the ABA panel, which is considering further restrictions on lawyer advertising.

TV already receives $126 million annually from lawyer spots. There are no figures available for radio, but NAB believes lengthy disclaimers required in many states discourage radio advertising of legal services.

In NAB's view, there should be no special rules, either state or federal, restricting legal services from advertising on radio or TV. It said federal regulations already require broadcasters to take reasonable measures to eliminate false, misleading, and deceptive claims in all ads.

IDB Hires New Auditor

IDB Communications Group Inc. has retained Arthur Andersen & Co. as its new auditor.

The company replaces Deloitte & Touche, which resigned June 1 in a dispute over how $5.4 million in satellite transponder sales should have been treated in IDB's first-quarter earnings report. As part of its role, Andersen will examine IDB's internal financial controls and reporting procedures.

"We are committed to ensuring that the procedures and controls are in place so the integrity of the company's financial statements will be beyond reproach," said IDB Audit Committee Chairman Franklin Fried.

EZ Communications VP/Programming Tim Murphy has assumed PD duties at the company's recent duopoly acquisition, KZOK/Seattle. Murphy succeeds Dave Richards at the Classic Rock outlet.

This marks Murphy's second stint as PD of an EZ Seattle outlet: He programmed Country combo KMPS-AM & FM for six years before relinquishing the post last year to concentrate on his corporate duties.

WJPC/Chicago Combo Switches To Mainstream Urban Format

'106 Jamz' to have hip-hop flavor

Rap/Urban AC combo WJPC-AM & FM/Chicago has adopted a youth-oriented mainstream Urban simulcast under an LMA with pending buyer Broadcasting Partners Inc. The combo is now known as "106 Jamz."

"The station will have a definite hip-hop flavor," remarked Broadcasting Partners President Barry Mayo. "Our commitment to this powerful cutting-edge group [of listeners] is for 106 Jamz to reflect both their musical tastes and social concerns."

Once the $8 million deal to buy the WJPC combo has been completed, Broadcasting Partners will have a Chicago duopoly with Urban AC WVAZ (V103). "106 Jamz adds a dimension to our company that allows us to broadly appeal to Chicago's African-American community — from the very young all the way up the age ladder," Mayo said.

Evergreen President/COO Jim DeCastro said, "John's a young superstar. His experience and energy will be invaluable in our efforts to build another sales dynasty in Chicago. Besides, he grew a goatee to look like Mancow."

"We've been working on plans to syndicate the Loop [WLUP/Chicago] and other Evergreen Media talent for some time now," said Larry Wert, VP/GM of Evergreen's Chicago stations. "Ed's experience selling the Loop's personality programs, plus his solid relationship with our talent, makes him uniquely qualified for this challenge."

Former American Press Institute Associate Director Terri Dickerson-Jones has been named Exec. Director of American Women in Radio and Television.

AWRT immediate past President Sondra Lee said, "Ms. Dickerson-Jones not only has an outstanding background as an advocate for women's issues and industry diversity, she is a proven coalition builder and excellent spokeswoman."

WRRW/Memphis Now New 'Arrow'

Belz owner/GM, Michaels PD of Classic Rocker

The latest "Arrow" has landed in suburban Memphis. WRRW (Arrow 93 FM)/Bartlett-Memphis has signed on under owner/GM Julie Belz and PD Dave Michaels.

Michaels told R&R, "Julie Belz has been fighting for this CP for the last six years. The Belz family has a reputation for maintaining everything it develops. Everything we have is brand new, and we've shaken up a lot of people."

"It's a good cross-section of '70s and early '80s music, mixed with some late '60s for spice. This format appeals to a solid 25-49 core. Research done in January showed there was a big hole for the format and presentation we have on the air. Memphis is a very good radio market with some excellent programmers, but there's never been a focused Classic Rocker here."

Michaels had programmed Gold WKQL/Jacksonville for the past five years.

'Young' Country Stations Report Revenue Boom

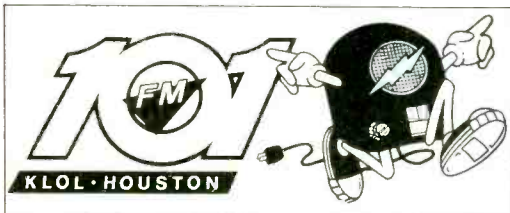

Stations that switched to 18-34-targeted "New" or "Young" Country formats early last year are now enjoying tremendous revenue growth.

According to a Miller, Kaplan, Arase & Co. survey of 12 Top 60 outlets that adopted the format between January-April 1993, the average station has more than doubled its market revenue share — from 2.5% in May 1993 to 5.2% one year later. Combined with the industry's double-digit revenue growth, the average station's May revenues surged from $91,000 last year to $222,000 in 1994.

Seven of the stations studied reported revenue gains in excess of 400% from their May '93 figures, posted shortly after debuting the format.

'ZINE SCENE

Rhythm Ghetto In 'Voodoo Lounge'!

Keith Richards admits that after the Rolling Stones' bassist left, "I was ready to kill Bill Wyman. How dare you? Nobody leaves. Especially from that end of the band."

Elsewhere in the Rolling Stone interview, Mick Jagger defends the band's legendary inconsistency: "It's like you can't be fucking the whole time. Because it spoils it for the times when you really want to do it. You have to work yourself up to the moment when you really give yourself up to the feeling. That's what being in a band is all about."

On a related analogy, Perry Farrell says, "I just try to put on a show that's got the feel and vibe of a circus and the punch and power of rock and the beauty and eroticism of a French movie. You go there, and you just feel like you've been fucked" (Rolling Stone).

Fly Like An Eagle

In People's story on the Eagles, Joe Smith (former head of their former label, Elektra), points out, "[Don] Henley and [Glenn] Frey were best friends for years. They lived together and shared everything. I'm sure they figured what's the use of wasting time and energy being at war." The mag also notes Timothy B. Schmit is the "luckiest Eagle," because he stands to make millions after having played on just one pre-split LP.

Meanwhile, Travis Tritt believes he made the band reconvene by insisting they participate in his video: "I don't think there would be a tour right now if it hadn't been for that particular day" — also in People.

Alternative Marketing

Madonna and pals were watching TV when she decided she'd make a great newscaster. She called the station and offered to fill in, but the guy didn't believe it was her and hung up (Star).

A three-page GQ profile of jazzbo-turned-pop singer Cassandra Wilson quotes Blue Note Prez Bruce Lundvall and Capitol Prez Gary Gersh, who says the labels are using alternative marketing on her, "If you go to a spa and there's music playing, why shouldn't it be Cassandra Wilson?"

"Groovy $300 Million Tycoon Was A High School Dropout!" blears the head on a little Globe story about Tower owner Russ Solomon.

La Barbra's Up And Brooklyn's Down

New York's appreciation of Barbra Streisand features a two-page cartoon map of "her" NYC and tales of her diverse exploits.

Time Travels

Collective Soul frontman Ed Roland says he'd like to visit 1975 and play his retro-sounding record for high school kids. But building the time machine wouldn't be the hard part. "Getting a copy of the song on vinyl so you could play it on their equipment would be the challenge," he laughs (Rolling Stone).

GQ rails against "Caucafarians," white people with dreadlocks. Specifically: Counting Crows' Adam Duritz, and Linda Perry, the lead singer of last year's Counting Crows, 4 Non Blondes. Also Vanilla Ice and Billy Idol, the It Boys of, respectively, 1990 and 1983.

Head Breeder Kim Deal shares some gender-charged road experiences in Vogue: The screechy lovestruck Dutch lesbian and the old guitar seller who insisted on a hug stand out.

Cute Couples

"Lorrie Morgan Falls For Married Cop!" says the Star headline. Stevie Nicks likes NAC KTWV/L.A.: "I have trouble getting to sleep, so I listen for hours before falling off" (Rolling Stone).

NKOTB's Jordan Knight has been meeting with Michael Jackson about doing a solo LP on MJJ Music (People).

GQ comically compares and contrasts NAC star Yanni with preteen star Raffi.

The Restoration Period

In New York's summer vacation issue, Sting's wife, Trudie Styler, describes hosting guests such as Bruce Springsteen, Eric Clapton, and Elton John at Casa Sting, a 400-year-old English castle which is always being restored. "People have to know when they come here that it's chaos. I'm like an innkeeper with very small bosoms."

Candlebox admit they got suckered into playing a benefit to buy the promoter plastic surgery (Rolling Stone).

Chicago's Blaze Going Up In Smoke!

Sixteen tons o' rumors ragin' 'round Evergreen Media's WWBZ/Chicago, but here's the real deal: The station's identity will be marked "return to cinder" by the time you finish reading this sentence.

Look for those July 4 weekend stunt formats to give way to the new "Rock 103.5," beginning next Tuesday (7/5). And look for the station to have new calls within a few weeks. VP/GM Larry Wert will become President of Evergreen/Chicago, but will only oversee Evergreen's WMVP & WLUP. So look for a new GM to run WWBZ as well.

Rush's 'Reign Of Error'?

Fairness and Accuracy in Reporting (FAIR), a liberal watchdog group, charged Tuesday (6/28) that syndicated talkmeister Rush Limbaugh is responsible for a "reign of error" through his broadcasts and publications.

Fresh from his on-air war of words with President Clinton (see Page 1), Limbaugh dismissed the report as "just one in a long line of attacks that have willing accomplices in the media," according to the Associated Press.

Lineup for KLIT/L.A.'s Progressive "FM 101.9" debut this Friday, is still in flux. However, Chris Douridas, host of crosstown NPR affiliate KCRW's "Morning Becomes Eclectic," will not join the station.

Nevertheless, MD Merilee Kelly will do middays, PD Mike Morrison will handle afternoon drive, and former afternooner Rich Guzman and weekender Marina Wilson will remain in overnights and parttime, respectively. Also joining for parttime work: Moose & Squirrel Promotion's Maxanne Sartori.

Rumors

- Will former KRBE/Houston PD Clay Gish — most recently PD at WWZZ/Knoxville — again orbit Space City?
- Will WTIC-FM/Hartford night slammer (and former MD) Dana Landon hitch herself to the PD post at Country WCTK/Providence?
- Is former KJMZ/Dallas PD Tom Casey about to hook up with Jive? And will it be an East or West Coast slot?
- Will Z100/NY APD Andy Shane fill the PD slot at WBHT/Wilkes-Barre?
- Is ex-WVRT/Baltimore morning star Tom Graye about to get a Mile High wakeup shot?

POE SHOW — WPGC/DC President/GM Ben Hill (l) and Virgin President Phil Quartararo keynoted the 23rd annual Bobby Poe Pop Music Survey Convention, attended by more than 450 people last week (6/24-25). Hill and Quartararo spoke on fostering station creativity and artistic rights/responsibilities, respectively, en route to picking up the con-fab's Radio GM and Record Company President (Independent) awards.

While nights and mornings are still TBD, crosstown KLOS morning show producer Nicole Sandler will be joining the station in a yet-to-be-determined role and will temporarily handle the night shift. Stay tuned!

IRS Seizes KFBQ Transmitter

According to the Tuesday (6/28) Wyoming Tribune-Eagle, KFBQ (Q98) Cheyenne — which stopped broadcasting three days earlier to vacate the studio space it shared with KFBC in order to move to a new, as-yet-undisclosed location — hasn't returned to the air, because the IRS seized its transmitter for back taxes!

The newspaper also reports that KFBQ owner and local attorney Harry Buck owes KFBC owner Dave Montgomery "rent and utility payments, plus $11,000 for administrative services." And KGWN-TV manager Carl Ochipiniti claims he won't let KFBQ back on the air — it leases tower space from his company — until seven months past-due rent is paid.

Buck — who the Tribune-Eagle reports also has filed for liquidational bankruptcy — acknowledged the IRS had seized his transmitter, but told ST, "maybe later in the day it will be unseized. This stems from tax bills from 1988 and 1989, when Capitol Radio owned the station.

"As to claims that I owe Montgomery $11,000 — that's not accurate. Rent was behind something less than $2000, but we left regardless of that, owing to other

WYKL/Memphis Off Target

After a week of legal wrangling, Barnstable's Rock Oldies WYKL/Memphis dropped its short-lived nickname, "Target 98 FM," Monday (6/27) because Dayton-Hudson's Minneapolis-based Target Stores — which has 550 outlets across the nation, including Memphis — threatened to file a major lawsuit.

On October 1, Ross Perot will launch a weekly call-in talk show that'll be syndicated by Tribune Radio Networks. BIG question: Does he have ears for a professional co-host?

A federal bankruptcy court in Madison, WI has approved a $50 million bid by EZ Communications for Tak Communications' WUSL/Philly and WTPX/Miami. Look for the LMAs to begin in early July.

In the wake of Guild Radio's acquisition of AC KSXY, it looks like Fresno will become the next city with a Country duopoly. The current KSXY format is "All Garth, All The Time," but look for KSXY to join new sister KNAX/Fresno in the format by flipping to 18-34-targeted Country sometime next week.

KNAX MD Rick Stewart will segue to the new station as PD, with KATM/Modesto MD Greg Edwards heading to Fresno for the KNAX PD post. KNAX has been same double-digit rate, and it shows no signs of changing as we head into radio's strong summer sales season."

Miller, Kaplan, Arase & Co. CPA George Nadel Rivin noted that May is radio's strongest month, responsible for 9.8% of a typical year's revenues. He predicted that — assuming revenue growth continues at its current pace — radio's next billion-dollar months will be May, June, and July of next year.

Regional Results

All regions posted double-digit gains for local revenues in May. The Southeast led at 14%, followed by the East and Southwest at 13%, Midwest at 12%, and West at 10%.

It was a mixed bag, however, for national spot sales. The East posted a stunning 23% gain, but was the only region with a double-digit increase. The Southeast and West gained 9%, the Midwest was up 8%, and the Southwest registered a 2% decline.

Five months into 1994, total radio revenues were up 12%, with local up 11% and national ahead 13%.

RAB's calculations are based on data supplied by various CPA firms.

Performance Rights

RIAA, AFTRA, and the American Federation of Musicians have argued that performance rights should apply to DAB, giving record companies and artists control of airplay licensing. They have insisted, though, that performance rights would not necessarily mean broadcasters would have to pay royalties to the record companies and performers.

NAB officials are not sure if they will prevail in lobbying for the broadcaster exemption. "It's all very much up in the air at the moment," said NAB spokesman Walt Wurfel. "I don't know if we're going to get enough people to support our position. There have been some improvements . . . but some backsliding too."

Under current law, radio broadcasters pay music publishers and songwriters (through ASCAP, BMI, and SESAC) for licenses to air their music, but performers and record companies do not receive compensation. Broadcasters have always maintained that record companies are compensated by free promotion from airplay.

Parton's Penmanship Prevails

At BMI's recent 43rd annual Pop Awards, Columbia recording artist Dolly Parton won Song of the Year honors for writing "I Will Always Love You." Miguel A. Morejon — who penned Jon Secada's "Do You Believe In Us" and Gloria Estefan's "I See Your Smile," among others — was named Songwriter of the Year; Warner Music Group was recognized as Publisher of the Year. Exchanging kudos at NYC's Plaza are (l-r) Morejon, BMI President/CEO Frances Preston, Parton, and Warner/Chappell Music Inc. Chairman/CEO Les Bider.

A Wonder-Ful Presentation

AWRT Buffalo Chapter Honored

viewed live on the air by Kevin Horrigan and Charles Brennan.

Back in L.A. at the NARTSH convention, White House Communications Director Mark Gearan defended his boss's comments, urging talk show hosts to be better prepared with the facts and offer time for opposing views.

But nationally syndicated host Gene Burns pointed out, "We do not feed the nation's cynicism. We convey it. We may share it, but it comes from our audience."

In addition to Gearan, New York Gov. Mario Cuomo, California Gov. Pete Wilson, and Sen. Bob Dole (R-KS) saw fit to address the mix of talk hosts, vendors, and other hangers-on that numbered several hundred.

Rush To Judgment

During the KMOX interview, Clinton accused conservative Talk hosts of emitting "a constant unremitting drumbeat of cynicism." Then he took aim at Limbaugh, whose show aired on KMOX shortly after Clinton's interview.

"Rush Limbaugh will have three hours to say whatever he wants," fumed Clinton, "and I won't have any opportunity to respond. There's no truth detector."

True to form, Limbaugh ridiculed the president's comments. "There is no need for a truth detector. I am the truth detector."

Limbaugh said Clinton's comments were a desperate move by the White House because the administration is losing its battle for health reform.

New 'Aggressive' Clinton

That, of course, is quite different from the president's view. He cited the radio interview as part of his new attitude toward dealing with the media. "I decided that instead of being frustrated, I needed to be aggressive, and I'm going to be aggressive from here on in," Clinton said. "I'm going to tell what I know the truth to be."

"We thought the interview went very well. Obviously, his statements regarding Talk radio and well-known Talk radio hosts are what made the headlines," said KMOX GM Rod Zimmerman. "We are pleased that the president could use KMOX as a national platform."

"We've assembled an excellent team at these stations that has a strong record on which to build," said Best.

Best has spent the past 15 years at WWWE & WLTF, the last eight as GSM.

From Sir Mix-A-Lot To 'Chief Boot Knocka'

Sir Mix-A-Lot returns with "Chief Boot Knocka," which he wrote, mixed, and primarily produced. Flea makes a guest appearance (as does Bootsy Collins, via sample).

Emphasis tracks include "Sleepin' Wit' My Fonk" and "Let It Beaounce." "Put 'Em On The Glass" is the current video, but radio plans are yet to be determined. "Ride" may be the first official radio track. Whichever cut is serviced to radio first, it'll ship after the American/Reprise LP's July 19 release.

Roe To Hoe

"Just Say Roe" is the latest in Sire/WB's "Just Say Yes" series of cause-oriented compilations. A previously unreleased Madonna tune, "Goodbye To Innocence," is indicative of this CD, which features more exclusives than usual. For example, cuts by Kristin Hersh, John Wesley Harding, the Poster Children, Danielle Dax, Bigod 20, and Double Plusgood are exclusives, as are covers by the Waterlillies ("I Am Woman"), Ride (a live version of John Lennon's "I Don't Want To Be A Soldier"), and Scorpio Rising (an Au Pairs song). David Byrne, Belly, the Farm, Tripmas- ter Monkey, the Judybats, and the Greenberry Woods also contributed songs. The LP arrives July 19.

Clarke Steps Out

Guns N' Roses rhythm guitarist Gilby Clarke is about to release "Pawn Shop Guitars," a set of nine originals and two covers. Producer Waddy Wachtel played plenty of guitar tracks, and the other GNR guys helped out too. The covers are the Clash's "Jail Guitar Doors" (with Frank Black) and the Rolling Stones' "Dead Flowers" (with Axl Rose). "Cure Me Or Kill Me" ships to Rock this week. The Virgin LP goes on sale July 26.

Musical Airs

"The Stars Sing Lunch," an album to promote a new musical playing at Beverly, MA's North Shore Music Theatre, features Kim Carnes, B.J. Thomas, Melissa Manchester, Richard Carpenter, and others. They sing tunes by composer Steve Dorff (Whitney Houston, Kenny Loggins) and lyricist John Bettis, who went from co-writing 38 Carpenters tunes to penning hits for Madonna, Michael Jackson, Houston, and many others.

Moe Tucker Signs

Former Velvet Underground drummer Moe Tucker has pacted with Atlanta-based Sky/Ichiban Records. She produced her new "Dogs Under Stress" LP, which features, among others, fellow VU member Sterling Morrison. The LP's out July 19. Sky will also rerelease her 1991 LP, "I Spent A Week There The Other Night," which was cut with Velvets Lou Reed and John Cale, plus Morrison and two-thirds of the Violent Femmes.

SCREEN SCENE

'Airheads': 'We Want The Airwaves'

What better film for this column than "Airheads," a comedy about three goofs who commandeer a radio station in order to play their band's music? The Fox/Arista soundtrack features new or rare tunes from Candlebox, D-Generation, Dig, Primus, and Prong. The lead track — a collaboration between Ice-T, Ugly Kid Joe's Whitfield Crane, and Motorhead on the latter's "Born To Raise Hell" — ships to radio this week. (Motorhead's Lemmy has two lines in the film as well.)

Other covers: Anthrax do the Smiths' "London," and 4 Non Blondes remake Van Halen's "I'm The One." Other cameos: Howard Stern sidekick Stuttering John shows up and has a song in the movie, as do White Zombie, who perform onscreen. Their "Feed The Gods" ships to radio July 6.

Stars Brendan Fraser, Steve Buscemi, and Adam Sandler play a song as the film's band, the "Lone Rangers." Michael McKean, Judd Nelson, Chris Farley, Michael Richards, and Joe Mantegna are also featured. Michael Lehmann ("Heathers") directed this Island World/20th Century Fox film, which opens August 5. The LP — due July 19 — closes with the Ramones' "We Want The Airwaves."

Ice-T Plays Mutant In 'Tank Girl'

Ice-T also co-stars as a sexed-up, half-human, half-kangaroo mutant in "Tank Girl," a post-apocalyptic thriller set in 2033. Based on a UK comic book series, the film co-stars Lori Petty as the saucy leader of a band of renegades bent on toppling the evil Malcolm McDowell and his tyrannical Department of Water.

Rachel Talalay ("Freddy's Dead: The Final Nightmare") is directing the special effects-heavy picture for Trilogy Entertainment/UA. Production starts this month.

'Forrest Gump' ST

Licensing departments worked overtime on the soundtrack to "Forrest Gump" — a film that follows Tom Hanks's character from the early '50s to the '80s. Epic Soundtrax is bringing back the double-disc soundtrack for the collection, which features just one bit of new material, a chunk of Alan Silvestri's score (a separate score album is forthcoming). A dance-oriented remix of the Fifth Dimension's "Aquarius/Let The Sun Shine In" is in the offing. The Paramount film opens July 6. The double-CD set arrives this week.

Idol Takes

'Hostage City' Role

Billy Idol will play the bad guy in "Hostage City," an action film to be shot in Hungary this fall. No word yet on who'll play the good guy, an ex-Marine on special assignment for the U.S. James Fargo ("The Enforcer," "Every Which Way But Loose") is directing for the new Phalanx Productions.

Bon Jovi's Torres

In 'Corporate Vacation'

Bon Jovi drummer Tico Torres stars in and will music-direct "Corporate Vacation," a comedy about a label that hasn't had a hit for 15 years. The honchos decide a working vacation in the Caribbean is in order, and misadventures ensue. Junior Marvin of the Wailers will be in the film, and several other musicians may sign on. Producer Michael Malott's script draws on his experiences managing, booking, and promoting music acts. Due next summer, the indie pic's shooting in Miami and searching for other known musicians looking to break into film; call (404) 565-3519.

Schrody, Glover In 'Lowball'

House Of Pain member Erik Schrody (aka Everlast) will star in "Lowball," an action film about two undercover DEA cops in NYC who have to remedy a dangerous situation in 24 hours. Living Colour singer Corey Glover has one big scene as a musician doing a soundcheck; he'll also score and music-direct the film. Director/scripter Demain Lichtenstein makes his feature debut after helming music videos for Eric Clapton & Sting ("It's Probably Me"), Shabba Ranks, Cry Of Love, and others. The film just finished shooting.

Kylie Minogue:

'Street Fighter'

Pop singer Kylie Minogue has a supporting role in "Street Fighter — The Battle For Shadaloo," an actioner starring Jean-Claude Van Damme, Raul Julia, and "Geronimo" star Wes Studi. Steven de Souza ("Tales From The Crypt") wrote and is directing the picture, which is shooting in Thailand and Minogue's native Australia and will be distributed here by Universal.

Expanding Your Core Listenership

■ Making the most of Arbitron's 'Preferences Report,' due with fall book

Getting a handle on the listeners who spend the most time with your station is about to become more important than ever, thanks to a new report coming from Arbitron. This week, three consultants suggest how to optimize your audience by converting average listeners into P1 partisans.

Harv Blain

The ratings service recently mailed its subscribers copies of its Winter '94 "First Preference (P1)" report. The free supplement will be issued again for the spring survey, but starting with the redesigned Fall '94 book, the data will be included in the actual market reports.

P1 listeners spend more time with one station than with any other, and they generate the most quarter-hour credits for it. Thus, it's desirable to convert as many P2 and P3 (second- and third-preference listeners) into P1s. The P1 report will show calls, come, and P1 totals (expressed in percentages) for 12+, 18-34, 25-54, and 35-64 demos. Additional demos and dayparts are available through Arbitron's MaximiSer 2.0 computer service.

Listener Contact

Blain Consulting President Harv Blain likens the listener-to-loyalist conversion process to politics. "In my mind Arbitron is like voting, and you have to have presence in the marketplace. The more you're out in your P1 zip codes, the more person-to-person contact you'll have with this important group of listeners.

"My strongest suggestion for GMs and PDs is to include a position for a database manager in their budgets. It's not a parttime position anymore. Look at what frequent flier programs did for airlines in terms of creating customer contact. A listener database allows you to track your customers' preferences, dislikes, and habits, and offer them rewards for listening. These could be as simple as acknowledging birthdays with a card. It's money spent better than on any billboard.

"Having been a jock, I know request lines are a pain in the butt, but they are direct contact with the listeners. An unanswered phone is like a McDonalds counter where a server ignores you. Answer fast, be polite, and be a communicator.

"If you know your P1 listeners, you know you're on target and meeting their musical expectations. Focus is the answer. I stress to my clients the importance of identifying problems and vulnerabilities and addressing them before the guy across the street does.

"Callouts, auditorium testing, and focus groups are big factors in staying on target. CHR listeners' expectations are for fun, bright, exciting music, and when they find too much rap or AC, P1s leave in droves. In some markets that's helped Young Country, while in others Hot AC and Gold stations have pulled from CHR."

Talk Their Language

Blain suggests stations pull liners like "crank it up" and "music marathons" off the air and replace them with language listeners use. "Find out what they say about your station, and repeat it back. Listeners generally say they want 'more of their favorites back to back without a lot of talk or commercials,' which, if presented properly, will really get the message across. If necessary, daypart the content and promos to the available audience.

"And by all means, read Ries & Trout's '22 Immutable Laws of Marketing (Violate Them At Your Own Risk)' today. Learn to market your station in a positive manner.

"At [client] WPRO-FM/Providence, we created more P1 midday listening. First, we recognized we didn't have much in-office listening in that daypart, so we let listeners know it was okay to tune in then. We didn't change the product, but we changed the perception, which had been that this isn't an at-work station. With direct mail, we re-marketed 'PRO-FM and touted these attributes: 'no sleepy music,' 'fun to listen to,' and 'makes the workday go by faster.' We converted many P2 listeners into P1s that way."

It's A Top-Of-Mind Game

Alan Burns & Associates President Alan Burns offers specifics on converting nonchalant listeners into P1 core fans through top-of-mind impressions.

"P1 listeners record more quarter-hours to your station than to any other station, and top-of-mind awareness impacts their diary mentions. They may not like you better, but there comes a point where one quarter-hour makes them P1s to your station and not some other station. The idea is to have them write you down exclusively by dominating their top-of-mind.

"All the PDs who've been running liners like 'so you can listen longer' should have been thinking 'so you can listen more often.' To do that, be consistent, so they always hear a favorite song. Also, market yourself, recycle audience, and have a strong morning show that brings them back more days than not."

Burns tackles the issues point-by-point:

Music: "It has to evoke passion in your P1s, so it really has to be well-targeted, and that's where new or active music comes into play. Many Top 40s lose the passion when they skew too old. When WZOU/Boston tried targeting 25-34s for a year it lost 25+ numbers. When it changed to WJMN (Jammin') and focused on 16-24s, 25-54s doubled in the first book. When you create passion, P1s will expose your station to the P2s and make them like it more because of peer pressure. But while it should evoke passion, it has to be familiar enough to the P2s — music can't be an alien creature or too new. Recurrents are good for the P2."

Mornings: "Topical, topical, topical. That's what people respond to. The best routes to take are what's going on with the listeners or things they're interested in. That will drag P2s and P3s in, since you're the station talking about what they care about. Develop the morning show cast as people, so the audience can get to know and bond with them. One-liner morning shows or parody services don't make it. Have your morning show share the human side of their lives."

The things you do to provoke top-of-mind awareness and repeated usage of the station are the things that will convert P2s to P1s.

—Alan Burns

Marketing: "The things you do to provoke top-of-mind awareness and repeated usage of the station are the things that will convert P2s to P1s. TV, direct contesting, and outdoor are essentials. The repeated message exposes the P2 to the station, and continued usage gives P2s more exposure to the music. If they like the morning show, it'll bring them back on other days and in other dayparts, where they'll generate more loyal listening and more quarter-hours in Arbitron."

Who Do You Talk To?

Zapoleon-Richards consultant Bill Richards says that to convert P2/P3 listening into P1 listening, "You have to be committed to making listeners recall your station and write it down — instead of the others they came. It's partly peer pressure when they won't acknowledge listening in Arbitron. Correcting that takes patience and knowing you're on the right path."

To put you on that path, Richards explains his research philosophy. "Look in Arbitron first, and see who you're sharing with. Set up the research properly. We have definite opinions on who to talk to. Don't try to convert P2 listeners who show a preference for AC — discard them from your research. Find listeners who prefer your music, then get them in the door. In focus groups, target 20 of the 100 partisans present and contact them for some in-depth information at a later date. By the same token, your P1 listeners could become a shrinking universe over a period of time, so include P2 listeners as well."

Don't try to convert P2 listeners who show a preference for AC — discard them from your research. Find listeners who prefer your music, then get them in the door.

— Bill Richards

Answer The Phone, Turkey

Like Harv Blain, Richards views unanswered request lines as a major negative. "Answer the phones, talk to the listeners, and avoid busy signals. There's equipment that will move unanswered calls to voice mail after so many rings. That same system could be employed to ask them a quick set of questions for a phone survey, or to ask if they'd participate in a music survey down the road. You might assemble some 'listener panels' from request-line callers. It's a great way to convert casual listeners with active tendencies into core listeners.

"I'm also a fan of contesting, but first find out your listeners' wants and desires. Use a 'Scavenger Hunt' or 'Secret Sound' or other theater-of-the-mind contest to draw attention. I also like listener-driven testimonials as long as they sound real, not canned. Use truly passionate responses you've recorded in person, not on the phone."

Richards stresses the importance of interacting with the audience at every opportunity. "Don't hang out with the other jocks at clubs — go over to some listeners and buy them drinks and introduce yourself. It's down to shaking hands and kissing babies again. Put your personalities into listener-friendly zip codes for appearances, or send out postcards to your preferred listeners and let them know in advance of the appearance. That way, you'll make those listeners feel they have some extra pull with the station."

Looking For The Leaders

■ WJNN VP/GM shares her philosophy on finding the best employees

In today's competitive market, managers need an exceptional staff to stay on top. Therefore, keen hiring skills and the insight to identify those who are potential leaders are critical.

Hiring Practices

Schae Wilson

Schae Wilson, a 15-year industry veteran and VP/GM at WJNN/Dothan, AL for a year and a half, shares her hiring approach. "We look at potential employees' resumes to find out about their professional background and personal lives (i.e., their age, level of education, etc.).

"We also look for people who display tenacity or a 'stick-to-it' attitude. They don't quit on a project; instead, they see it through. I would much rather hire a person who has seen a situation through in another market and wants to come into our market to work for us. Then I know they've accomplished something.

"I look for people with drive and who also have knowledge about the market they're trying to get into. I look at it like this: If an individual is coming from a different market, then he or she should have done some research on our market to be able to show their intelligence about what's going on in our city. And if they're already in the market, they should be able to show us what they can do for us that we can't do for ourselves. They need to show us what will make them a positive addition to our staff. That's important for me to know about this person and why they should be working for us."

Checking Out Applicants

Wilson makes a point of talking with past employers listed on any potential employee's resume. "I make those calls to make sure that they've done the things their resume says they've done. It's also very important to follow up by meeting with them if we're thinking of hiring them — [especially] if we get some positive comments after checking out their resume claims."

We look at potential employees' resumes to find out about their professional background and personal lives. We also look for people who display tenacity or a 'stick-to-it' attitude.

While most past employers are willing to talk to Wilson about a former employee, she has hit a few snags. "The biggest problem I've had is finding someone in personnel who's been with the organization long enough to remember and/or know the person.

"I don't just want to know if that person once worked for the radio station. I want to talk with someone who can tell me something about that person's personality, work ethic, and job performance. How did they get along with others in the workplace? Because this business is so mobile, it's sometimes very difficult to find someone who knows the answers to those questions. These are things you generally don't find in a person's personnel file."

Spotting Managers

When interviewing for department managers, Wilson looks for leadership qualities. "There are clues that individuals will have — and do give you — about their abilities to follow or lead. Obviously, if someone's resume lists a past managerial position, that would count as a positive attribute as a leader. If their past doesn't mention a managerial position, then you listen and look for things that may show you that this is a person who may have managerial qualities."

However, just having obvious leadership qualities won't immediately get you to the top. "If I think someone may have manager potential, I don't start them in the position. Instead, I wait and see how they get along with the people they're working with and how they do the job. If we see they work well with others and continue to demonstrate leadership abilities, we put them into the position. During your career, there's always that one person who'll speak up and take the

What is radio's biggest problem?: "Lack of personality and localization — what made it successful initially. There's such an infiltration of satellite programming you can't even find out what time it is locally on the radio. Instead, you hear the announcer say, 'It's 10 before the hour. Well, what hour? In today's politically correct world, has it become easier for women to climb the corporate ladder? "I can't really say that it's easier, because I don't know how all the different companies are run. But I can say that I've noticed more women seem to be VP/GMs and GSMs of radio stations throughout the country. So it does seem that it's easier for women to hold those positions. But I don't know that the pay level is on an equal scale, which is a very important point."

Researching The Area

For anyone wanting to move up in their career, Wilson emphasizes the importance of research. "That's why I expect people applying for jobs here to know something about this area, our station, and the people who live here. If they don't know basic things about this community, then I know they're really not serious about working here.

"There are so many ways a person can go about finding not only the job they would like to have, but one in the particular part of the country they'd like to live in. Let's face it — not everyone wants to live in the blistering cold; others don't want to live in the simmering heat. So I'd first suggest research in its very basic form, starting with where one might want to live.

"Once they've decided on the geographic location, I'd think the next thing would be to get in touch with the local chamber of commerce. They'll be able to tell you most things you'd like to know about that city and surrounding suburban areas. They'll also be able to inform you about the population, the overall state of employment, and maybe even something about your profession in the area. Research is the name of the game — you can find out what you want to know, and you'll also find out some things you didn't know but needed to know."

TWO PD PHILOSOPHIES

Maximizing Commercial Stopsets

WKQX (Q101)/Chicago PD Bill Gamble and KEDJ (The Edge)/Phoenix PD John Clay provide insight on how they get the most out of their commercial stopsets.

40-Minute Sweeps

Bill Gamble

Gamble generally runs two stopsets per hour between :35 and :55. "We try to create a 40-minute sweep every hour from :55 to :35. We usually total a market-average 11 units. The first break is six units because it's at the end of a 40-minute sweep; the second break is shorter.

"If an hour is light, we'll move spots from one hour to another to create longer sweeps. Playing a lot of music is important to the strategy, and a great traffic director can help maximize your music sweeps. Communication with traffic directors can really make your station hum.

"We'd rather stop a couple times and give the listeners a long music set than play two or three songs and two commercials, three songs, two commercials . . . It's the number of times you interrupt an hour, not the length of interruptions. There's a direct correlation between how many times you interrupt the music flow and the perception of how much music you play. It's not just commercials, it could be a long phone bit, etc.

"If the entire market does the same thing, we'll be a bit contrary and run ours a little earlier. When people punch buttons, they might be exposed to our station. One way people find stations is by accident. The key is to play the song they want to hear when everybody else plays commercials. If we're really slick, we'll play a strong 'A' record we know 90% of the people tuning in will like. We make sure to tease and deliver something good on the other side."

One way people find stations is by accident. The key is to play the song they want to hear when everybody else plays commercials.

—Bill Gamble

"We need to run 'X' number of units to do 'X' amount of dollars in this marketplace. There's a skill that benefits advertisers and listeners. People buy stations that deliver audiences. We're delivering the ratings and results for our advertisers — we do a lot of direct business with clubs and events."

Tracking Perceptions

Q101 conducts major strategic studies with Joint Communica-tions. "We always ask if commercials are a problem. Listeners say they want fewer commercials and less talk from talent — generic complaints. So we ask open-ended questions: "What would make the station better?" "What stations play the most or fewest commercials?" It's tough to get anything conclusive; we track perceptions.

"If it keeps coming up that we play too many commercials, we'll sit down and figure out what's causing that perception. The number of commercials stays constant; we're usually sold out every hour. Usually, we find that talent talks too much or we run too many promotions. To the listener, it all blends together as non-music elements. The younger demo seems to have greater sensitivity to it."

Even Stopsets

At KEDJ, "We run 10 units per hour with equal breaks at :35 or :40 and :50 to :55," notes Clay. "You must keep it even — if one break's longer, it ultimately affects TSL. We play spots, two songs, then spots again. It's more important to have a large music span — whether it's 40 or 50 minutes of continuous, uninterrupted music — than where it begins or ends.

"I don't want to go beyond 10 units. Stations adding units when sold out ultimately affect the product negatively. You may make more money in the short run, but you affect your TSL and ratings because you're playing less music. Since we're generally sold out, it makes our inventory more valuable and is a tool for the sales department to raise rates.

"There are a lot of old games people play, but if your music is solid, it doesn't matter where you put your stopset. An old programmers' game is if you and one or two of your significant competitors have spot breaks arranged close to each other, the goal is to get into and out of spots first. I don't know if this works. It's the PD's job to hook [listeners] — through contests or music information — to stay around through commercials."

Clay points out that radio is used differently than TV. "When you get in the car, you turn on the radio. When you go in the house or to work, you might turn on the radio. It's not a predictable time. People could turn on the radio at quarter after, five 'til, or 20 after the hour. They aren't likely affected by one versus two spot breaks. If people habitually turn on their car radios every morning just before our first spot break, they might [think] we play a lot of commercials."

Promos Into Commercials

Clay plays prerecorded promos into the breaks. "There are two schools of thought: Play your promos out of your stopset — that way, you hear a great contest, event, or music-imaging immediately followed by a strong song. The same people say not to run your promos into stopsets, because you give a great message followed by commercials — that's negative reinforcement. We play them first to make sure the message is heard, rather than lost at the end of the stopset.

"We play the higher produced and better quality commercials first — which tend to be national spots — and work down through the clock break toward the least produced. If a spot's potentially offensive or irritating, I make sure it's at the end of the break. I'm not trying to damage my client. I'm making sure people stick around and hear all the commercials. We don't want to send people away at the beginning of the stopset.

"Commercials should be interesting. Some are well-produced, like those by Coca Cola or some of the • Essentials: This is the sophomore release for self-proclaimed "indie-rock geeks" Velocity Girl. The Washington, DC-based quintet, named after a 1987 Primal Scream B-side, features Archie Moore (guitar, bass, vocals), Kelly Riles (bass), Brian Nelson (guitar), Sarah Shannon (lead vocals), and Jim Spellman (drums). Moore and Riles formed the band Big Jesus Trashcan in 1988 after their University of Maryland campus band, the Gotterdamocrats, was forcibly ejected by an audience of angry fraternity brothers; they assumed their current name in 1991. Former operatic vocal student Shannon joined the band a year later, when original vocalist Bridget Ross left to play bass for Unrest. Nelson and Spellman later were recruited from DC bands Whorl and High Black Chairs, respectively. "Simpatico!" was produced by John Porter (Smiths, Roxy Music). Influences range from Lush, the Wedding Present, and the Replacements to the Association and the Shirelles.

• Artist POV: "We put more time, effort, and thought into every stage of this record," says Riles. "Each band member plays guitar to some degree, so we all can write from that perspective. Everyone contributes to lyrics, melodies, harmonies, and arrangement. It can be frustrating, because there are five viewpoints operating at all times."

• Label POV: Sub Pop Lady Of Perpetual Promotion Amy Seidenwurm notes, "This record should finally kill our grunge image."

Masters Of No. 1 Morning Shows

■ Three wakeup teams discuss winning the top spots in their markets

Two weeks ago, the winter's winning Rock and Classic Rock morning shows in the Top 100 markets were highlighted in this column. This week, you'll meet three of those morning teams.

WFBQ/Indianapolis The Bob & Tom Show

Award winners Bob Kevoian and Tom Griswold have 11 years in Indianapolis under their belts. Their principal cast members include news anchor Kristi Lee, sportscaster Chick McGee, and producer Dean Metcalf. Local sportscaster Mark Patrick contributes many character voices to this show and others across the country.

Bob & Tom probably are best known in the industry for their albums. Griswold says, "Our 16th charity album is coming out this summer. The Christmas album raised $300,000 for charity. They're so popular, we're doing three this year instead of our normal two."

LP material comes from the show. "A lot of the music we play is our own," says Griswold. "We do a lot of comedy, novelty, and some parody, mostly in the form of original music and songs. We also do a lot of fake commercials and jingles; we work with a lot of comedians who join our show twice a week."

'Pack Mentality'

Bob & Tom's shares are huge — they're No. 1 12+ with a 20.9; they're also in first place among adults and men 18-34 and adults and men 25-54. Griswold attributes their success to owning the market's comedy franchise and to the team atmosphere. "Everyone has a role and knows what it is. We have a big crew besides our core players. If someone's having a bad day, someone else usually isn't. We have a pack mentality of six or seven people who all are very funny, so there's constant competition to keep up on what's going on and stay funny about it."

"Bob and I tend to work in groups with other people, so we surprise each other with material all the time. I avoid telling Bob my stuff before it goes on-air because he has a terrific laugh. Likewise, he plays his stuff for me on-air first. We're very topical and are all over local and national news events. The Indianapolis 500 is a big deal, so we did our whole show out there three or four times in May. We also had a guy out there every day."

PD/morning show relationships are vitally important. Notes Griswold, "Marty Bender's a great PD. As a former morning guy, he understands the dynamics of a morning show and does a lot of bits with us on-air."

"The idea is to be funny every day. If you were funny yesterday, so what? This is a lot like the restaurant business — you're only as good as your last meal. If you were funny last week, it doesn't matter because people want new stuff every day."

WCMF/Rochester The Brother Wease Morning Circus

Brother Wease has been doing mornings at WCMF for 10 years. His sidekicks are touring comedian Tom Mule (pronounced mu-lay), co-host Cindy Pierce, and a newscaster. The three do standup comedy tours together, selling out venues in the small towns surrounding Rochester.

"The show is completely unprepared," says Wease. "I used to call it 'bad radio' because I have a bad voice. Everything I do is live — there are no taped phones, you hear dial tones on air, there's dead air, etc. The show is just slice-of-life radio. We live our lives on-air. The show's extremely funny, irreverent, and very blue. I've heard guys who are dirty just for the sake of it. We don't do it intentionally like that."

"We have a monthly show where in a well-respected doctor in the sexually transmitted diseases field is on-air with me. People call up with their questions. He answers the questions seriously; I make jokes. So we entertain, inform, and make people laugh."

Wease compares other morning shows with his own saying, "It seems the Howard Sterns and Don & Mikes of the world's whole routine is to be mean, hateful, and act like they're better than everyone else. That's baby crap. You should do your show the best you can and entertain people. If you're entertaining, you'll win. To my knowledge,

— Brother Wease

I'm the only guy in the country who added an hour to his show strictly to fight Howard Stern. Since he stays on the air until 11am, I'm not going to hand him my audience. It's really helped."

Stern's 'Ugly Side'

Stern's affiliate in Rochester is WRQI. The 12+ winter ratings for both morning shows reflect a 16.9 for Wease (No. 1) and a 2.6 for Stern (No. 9). Wease ranks first among adults and men 18-34 and adults and men 25-54. Stern ties for fifth in adults 18-34 and is No. 2 in men 18-34. No. 10 in adults 25-54, and No. 6 in men 25-54.

Wease remarks, "Those who say I win just because I'm local are cop-outs. Howard's beaten a lot of other local morning guys in their cities. The best thing about Howard being here is that I don't have to move to WFBQ/Indianapolis's Bob Kevoian and Tom Griswold.

New York to compete against him. The worst thing is that he's done a lot of mean things to me personally both on and off the air. He brings a very ugly side to radio. There's no need to do the deceitful, hateful, really dirty things he's done."

According to WCMF PD Stan Main, "I tell Brother Wease everything he should do, and he pays attention to whatever he wants. We have a great working relationship, and I'm in the first tier of people he comes to for advice on his show. That includes the GM, his best friends, and any listener who happens to walk up to him."

WKLQ/Grand Rapids The Q Morning Zoo

WKLQ is another morning show monster with a 10.8 share 12+, ranking No. 1 in that demo as well as adults and men 18-34 and adults and men 25-54. Ringleader Rick Beckett is joined by co-host/newscaster Darla Jaye; Scott Winters handles sports and traffic.

Jaye says she and Beckett have worked together for five years and know each other well. "While we plan the topics for the next day, we don't script out our show. It's very free form and spontaneous. We like to call ourselves 'Equal Opportunity Offenders' because we always offend somebody at least once."

"We have a good cop/bad cop routine. Rick's very obnoxious and opinionated. I'm opinionated, too, but when I think he's gone over the line I don't hesitate to tell him. We fight all the time on-air. People think we're married and that it's a real bad marriage. We occasionally use canned bits, but the show primarily is reality-based. What you hear is what we are. We're all voracious readers, and we're always looking for the obscure, bizarre things in life."

Audience Involvement

Citing listener interaction as a major reason for their success, Jaye says, "Listeners know we want their involvement and that their thoughts and feelings mean a lot to us. Many times, the listener can get away with more than we can. We let them say something, then respond with, 'Gee, I can't believe you said that!'

"We do what we call 'Freakin' Friday Office Parties.' Listeners register their office or business by telling us why they want to come to the station and join the morning show. We let them do news, sports, and weather. Once a month, we'll do our whole show from a listener's house."

Jaye says that PD Tom Marshall trusts their judgment. "Some days he regrets it, but he really gives us a lot of freedom to be creative." Marshall says the key to the relationship is twofold: "First, we have a clear understanding of what we want the morning show to accomplish for the station. Second, we've built a very deep level of trust between the talent, the programmer, and management."

"I like to give the morning team face time as much as possible, usually almost every day. I stress the importance of how their show helps the entire station. That constant communication between us keeps them autonomous as well as involved in the overall programming sound of the station."

WCMF/Rochester's Tom Mule, Charley Fitzsimmons, Cindy Pierce, Brother Wease, and Billy D'Etto.

WKLQ/Grand Rapids' Rick Beckett, Darla Jaye, and Scott Winters.

FIRST-TIME PDs

Caught In The Classic Catch 22

This week, let's consider the classic radio "catch 22": Stations want seasoned programmers, but potential PDs can't gain experience when stations won't hire them.

Jon Zellner

I learned a lot about dealing with political, corporate, and financial situations."

Opportunity meant more than money to this first-time PD. "In this stage of my career, I'd much rather work for less money at a winning company with a promising future than make big money at a smaller company in a dead-end situation."

The Little Things

Perhaps the biggest challenge as a PD is dealing with the little things. "Resolving personality conflicts and working with the sales department are the most time-consuming aspects of the job," Zellner notes. "Those with good people and management skills can handle major things like critiquing the airstaff, picking music, and coming up with promotions.

"I love dealing with people and formulating creative marketing ideas. Radio is a business, but radio programming is a game. Winners have a better understanding of their listeners and how to serve their needs.

—Jon Zellner

Finding a format opening, Zellner says, was his easiest task. "When I arrived here, KYIS was almost invisible. There was no hole between CHR [KJYO] and Soft AC professional sports teams."

[KMGL]. I repositioned those stations to create a hole for 18-49s. I really thought it would be more difficult and take a lot longer to create that [opening]."

Most PD jobs are filled before they even become open. It's imperative to network with programming VPs, GMs, and consultants, as well as some record people.

—Jon Zellner

Although he relocated from a larger market to nab his first programming opportunity, Zellner actually feels he was lucky. "Most people get their first PD jobs in much smaller markets. My move involved a drop of only 30 market sizes — from No. 21 to No. 51. The only thing I miss is not being near

At the age of 28, Zellner aspires to return to a major market by his 30th birthday. "That's been the most consistent long-term goal of my life. Hopefully, I'll be able to realize it. We're ahead of schedule with our ratings and revenue goals. I want to complete the job here, but I want to program a winning station in a larger market."

Lowry's Lowdown On Programming Prerequisites

While not responsible for making the final call on hiring PDs for his clients, consultant Bob Lowry offers significant input in the decision-making process.

"I wouldn't even attempt to convince a Top 50 market GM to hire a first-time programmer. Outside the Top 50 and especially the Top 75, it's not quite as big a problem. Managers understand they must take someone who has enthusiasm, knowledge, tools, and experience and put them into practice."

'Be Prepared'

Lack of confidence, Lowry states, is the biggest problem facing first-time programmers. "There's so much going on, they become almost gridlocked. The margin for error has been eliminated. Years ago, programmers were given chances to [make mistakes] because that's how we learned. Nowadays, though, you don't have the luxury of on-the-job training. If you haven't been a PD before, you'd better be prepared to spend all the time necessary to make certain nothing falls through the cracks."

If you haven't been a PD before, you'd better be prepared to spend all the time necessary to make certain nothing falls through the cracks.

—Bob Lowry

According to Lowry, a potential programmer must possess a strong backbone. "PDs can't waffle. At the same time, they must have the ability to compromise. You have to know what you want to accomplish and how you'll get there. Each situation, however, must be considered in a mature way."

a major weakness of most programmers. PDs who don't work well are those who lock themselves in an office and play with Selector all day. They're uncomfortable dealing with air talent, so the [on-air staff] doesn't improve. In order to 'walk a mile in their shoes,' it's critical for a programmer to do an airshift."

On-The-Job Training

When VP/GM Jim Keating needed to fill WCVU/ Naples-Ft. Myers, FL's programming vacancy three years ago, he selected someone (John Conrad) with no prior programming experience.

"It's important that programmers show me energy and other positive qualities," Keating comments. "First-time PDs may be naive, but they're usually willing to try different things. It's important to see programmers at least attempt something new."

Jim Keating

Had this opening developed in a larger market, Keating — who has major market and corporate management experience — says his thought process would've been different. "If we're talking Top 10 or Top 20, I'd definitely look for someone with past programming history."

Learning Process

There can be downsides to hiring promising people with no prior PD credentials. "It's usually because they haven't made certain mistakes before," notes Keating. "It's a little more difficult for [first-time] PDs to make quick decisions. In addition to doing his morning airshift, [Conrad] spends lots of his time on promotions and events.

"Lack of experience comes out in one's knowledge of what works and what doesn't. More experienced programmers save time by not being burdened by unproductive things."

'Polish & Sizzle'

Managing talent and providing the station with a certain "sizzle" are other areas Keating believes are troublesome for first-time programmers. "Getting the consultant's point across to the airstaff is very important. After the consultant leaves, it's up to the PD to make things happen. That's where first-time programmers can fall down and not get the job done.

"Putting polish on the station can also be neglected. That's where a mentoring system becomes very important. Programmers need to work under — and learn from — someone of significance."

Ratings Dilemma

Managers also must coach first-time programmers in ratings interpretation. "You have to work with them to make them understand what a book means and how to apply programming techniques to improve certain conditions. Someone with limited or no experience has nothing from which to draw.

"We have ratings to die for in Naples, but we're having trouble breaking into Ft. Myers. I'm puzzled that we can kick butt in one market but drift behind in another. The station sounds great, and I can't hold a programmer at fault for that ratings picture"

'People' Skills

Another of Lowry's PD prerequisites is to be a strong motivator. "Everyone's good with the computer and can make nice music flows. But that's not all a programmer's about. The part of dealing with people is

Lowry faces the usual list of names when looking for programming talent. "When PD openings break, it's frustrating to see the same candidates pop up. It's become increasingly more difficult to find good new talent and people from smaller markets ready to move. Quality people are working and don't want to move. Unlike before, PDs in good situations aren't going to leave to take a shot in the big league. That's creating a problem."

Salary Slump

More than ever, Lowry says, money plays a huge factor in hiring programmers. "There's tremendous downward pressure on salaries. Rather than pay someone $75,000, stations are looking for someone just as hungry to work for $45,000. Many people are now realizing this is the new ballgame.

"Unless you're one of the Top 10 [air personalities] in the Top 10 markets, it's happening more with programmers than [with announcers]. Generally, programmers have been paid a pretty fair salary, but some of that money is shrinking."

Format Pioneers: Breaking The Mold

■ Innovator/consultant Frank Cody discusses the journey that has redefined 'mass appeal adult radio' forever

This year, Broadcast Architecture/Princeton/CEO Frank Cody celebrates his 30th anniversary in radio. Generally acknowledged as the programmer who launched the first full-time NAC station, Cody speaks out on the format's history, status, and future. This interview marks the first in a series honoring the role played by NAC's pioneers.

Frank Cody

R&R: What prompted you to launch KTWV (The Wave)?

FC: I didn't launch the Wave — it launched me. I'm being facetious. Actually, timing had as much to do with it as anything. Timing, plus a collection of like-minded individuals who shared an optimistic vision of the future. We wanted to create something we could be proud of, a format that wasn't another variation on the same old cookie-cutter formulas of the past.

R&R: How did you come to envision NAC as a commercial format?

FC: The power to reflect and yet define a trend is at the heart of what we do in radio. And that's how NAC was born. While working at NBC, we had tremendous success with David Sanborn's jazz show. New Age music was at its peak, Windham Hill was hot (grossing over $40 million), and dozens of contemporary jazz artists were selling very well, despite lack of airplay. It just seemed obvious that this music deserved a place on the dial. . . and the Wave was born: one part each of smooth jazz, contemporary vocals, and melodic new age music.

Paul Goldstein was the "Mark Driscoll" of the format, developing remarkably imaginative "theater of the mind" which originally replaced the DJs.

R&R: Who else helped pioneer the format?

FC: Radio, like filmmaking, is a collaborative effort. I'm hesitant to try to list all the talented people who helped get the ball rolling, for fear of leaving someone out. However, Chris Brodie, the original MD and now PD, deserves a lot of credit, as does Tom Miller, now PD at KOAI/Dallas. Steve Feinstein and KKSF/San Francisco were also early innovators. John Sebastian had a deep passion for New Age music in particular.

Additionally, the real badges of courage go to operators who have made a major commitment to NAC. Carl Brazell, Wayne Vriesman, Herb McCord, John Lynch, and Richie Balsbaugh all deserve special credit.

R&R: How has the music changed?

FC: There's a lot more of it. Many record companies have done a fantastic job of supporting the format. New Age has faded, but smooth jazz is a huge category. There's better communication between artists, managers, record labels, and those of us in radio. Everyone seems more willing to listen to what we've learned about our listeners' tastes. More Urban and AC artists are making it a point to include material targeted specifically to NAC.

R&R: How do you respond to critics who characterize your brand of NAC as "watered down," "audio wallpaper," or "yuppie elevator music?"

FC: I say check our clients' ratings. It's not accurate to refer to it as "our" form of NAC; it's our clients' form. We work in partnership with them to help develop and define [their own unique] brand of the format, [one which] reflects regional differences and local tastes. That's part of how NAC/smooth jazz has been able to enjoy this current surge in popularity — by tailoring the music mix to each market.

R&R: Is NAC the new Beautiful Music?

FC: Radio is a business that thrives on replication. There are few innovators and rightly so, since radio has become more of a mood service and an electronic companion than a linear venue.

When NAC burst upon the scene in the form of the Wave, most radio executives fell into one of three camps: those who saw it as a "radio lava lamp"; those who believed it was "yuppie beautiful music"; and those who believed it was a new form of Progressive radio. I laugh when people make derisive comments like, "NAC is just Beautiful Music for baby boomers." Obviously, these folks haven't studied demographics. What a valuable franchise to own for the next 12 years.

Successful NAC functions on multiple levels. Done properly, NAC is both foreground and background, active and passive, conscious and subconscious. When the listener does choose to focus on the content, the music must possess integrity. The listeners want to retain the option of when to throw the switch. This ebb and flow, this modulation of tempo and familiarity, is crucial to the format. Incidentally, I believe this is true of other formats as well.

Don't be surprised to see more and more medium and smaller market stations switch to NAC, particularly in light of duopoly.

R&R: What are the key traits shared by successful NAC stations?

FC: NAC is both stimulating and relaxing. Chris Brodie coined a phrase in the early days: stimulax. [We decided against using it because] it sounded too much like a laxative.

NAC is mass appeal, not niche. If you aim for a niche, you get a niche. Think big and big things happen. Earl Nightingale said it best, "You become what you think about most."

NAC is driven by melody. But, then again, what music other than rap isn't driven by melody? If you drift too far away from melody, into the realm of the overly challenging and excessively improvisational, you're heading toward doom. NAC is uplifting — nobody turns on the radio to feel bad.

The most successful NAC stations conquer the workplace and fight for midday numbers just like everybody else. I can't stress enough that what really matters is what comes out of the radio. A restaurant can have beautiful flatware, fine crystal, and charming waiters. But if the food's lousy, what's the point?

PDs and MDs need to spend the bulk of their energy maintaining their product: controlling rotations; maintaining creative, fresh production; coaching the airstaff. It all comes down to product management. Everyone needs to carve out plenty of time to listen to the music and focus on the sound of their radio station.

Done properly, NAC is both foreground and background, active and passive, conscious and subconscious. The ebb and flow, this modulation of tempo and familiarity, is crucial to the format.

Our Director/Programming, Allen Kepler, has unquestionably great ears. He quietly and consistently identifies those tracks that turn out to test best in music research. While others are politicking for gold records, Allen is auditioning music and working on the product. That's really what it's all about.

R&R: You mentioned music testing. Is it really possible to test NAC music in an auditorium setting?

FC: Absolutely. Prior to our digital testing system, MIX-MASTER, it was impossible to test this genre in an old-fashioned paper and pencil test. [This system] evaluates music flow as well as song-by-song appeal. Flow is important in all formats, but it is critical in NAC. Without proper flow you have no chance of aggregating and maintaining audience, especially in the workplace. You're dead in the water.

R&R: Let's talk about the future of NAC.

FC: Our original vision remains the same at Broadcast Architecture; that is, NAC is a mass appeal adult format that delivers solid 25-54 numbers, is top-drawer qualitative, attracts listeners from a wide spectrum, and is highly efficient to operate. NAC is the only format to enjoy improved TSL. Scarborough's indexes on NAC are better than Classical in most categories. This format very effectively delivers 25-54s who are well-educated and have real spending power.

Consequently, NAC enjoys an enviable position. As an operator you can pretty much be assured of owning an exclusive franchise in your market. Talk about an advantage in a world of duopolies. I sure wouldn't want to be the second- or third-ranked station in any format. The audience delivered by NAC combines very nicely in a variety of duopoly configurations.

Don't be surprised to see more and more medium and smaller market stations switch to NAC, particularly in light of duopoly. The decision will be driven by economics as much as by any other factor. There is far too much solid evidence of the format's success to ignore NAC as an option.

Fully researched, properly executed NAC is a money-making format a broadcaster can be proud to operate. Besides, once you're hooked on the music, you can't turn it off.

Games (Radio) People Play

There's nothing like fun on the radio. But unique, innovative bits can be tough to come up with — especially when you want to add new games to keep things fresh.

The consensus among PDs and personalities is that nothing you could write or make up is as funny as the things real people say. The trick is to put them in situations that let the best come out. And because those who actually play represent an infinitesimal portion of your audience, it's critical that your games be interesting and fun. The more "everyman" they are, the better.

Even better news — especially for those with tight budgets — is that the prizes needn't be huge. Concert tickets, dinners, and movie tickets are typical fare. Cash prizes are usually in the $25-$50 range.

Here are a few games you can adopt, adapt, or downright steal. But if you do, please reciprocate; call or fax me with your favorite games, and I'll pass 'em along.

Lie Like A Man

WSSL/Greenville's morning team of Bill Ellis, Chris James, and Wendy White put their audiences through these paces:

- Lie Like A Man. Ellis and James adopt the fictional roles of trailer park queens Gaynelle and Darnelle. They get a woman contestant on the air and, in their best (?) falsettos, set the scenario for the game.

A recent example: Gaynelle and Darnelle were set for a double date, which was canceled by their suitors at the last minute. Later, they spotted the rogues at a local fast-food restaurant with (gasp!) other women. The contestant had to lie — like a man — to get out of the situation.

HUNG UP ON YOU — KIDX/Billings, MT personalities Scott Innes and Big D recently were suspended in an RV attached to a 60-ton crane for 48 hours. This wasn't just a publicity stunt, however; the pair raised thousands of dollars to help pay medical costs for Mandy Crow, a local girl who was injured after falling off a cliff.

- Battle Of The Sexes. Two contestants get on the line. White asks the man a "woman's" question; one of the guys poses a "man's" question to the woman.

Typical men questions: What skin lotion features an alligator in its commercial? What bath bar is one-quarter moisturizing cream? What was Richard Chamberlain's profession in the movie "Thorn Birds?" What is the traditional first anniversary gift? Name three designer colors of green.

Typical women questions: What is a bottom-dragging lure? When buying a car, what does MSRP stand for? Who is the Super Bowl trophy named for? What is a ratchet? What sport is the duck hook associated with?

If you think it might be tough coming up with questions, PD Lloyd Ford reports listeners are so into the game they're sending in questions.

Mad Moms In Minivans

WTDR/Charlotte PD Ron Ellis is a fan of "reality-based" games. "It's the 'Seinfeld' or 'Frasier' mentality — we try to make everything we do innovative and relatable with premises our target audience can relate to." He adds that since they often put folks through rigorous paces, the prizes must be compelling — a minimum $50 value.

Some of the station's recurring games, which are played in both morning and afternoon drives include:

- Mad Moms In Minivans. Personalities solicit mothers with kids in vans to call. Three contestants get on the line; the winner is the mom with the most kids in tow. "This aims straight at the 25-34-year-olds," says Ellis.

- Dashboard Drummers. Budding Eddie Bayerses or Billy Thomases hammer away on their car's dash for cash and prizes. "You always see people drumming to the music during the rush-hour commute," says Ellis, "so we give 'em a place to play. We haven't yet figured out how they hold the phone, drive, and drum."

- Around The House In 40 Seconds. Contestants are given jobs to do around the house; all must be completed within 40 seconds to win. Tasks include blowing the car horn, starting a blender, and flushing the toilet.

Tabloid Trash

Here are a few of the games WTCR/Huntington, WV morning personalities Chuck Black and Judy Eaton play on a regular basis:

- Tabloid Trash. A pair of actual tabloid headlines are read to a contestant, along with one made up by Chuck and Judy. The listener has to guess which one came from the duo.

- Five Seconds. Participants pick a category from a choice of subjects and then have five seconds to name five examples within that category.

- Survey Thursday. Hmmm . . . a rather suspicious name for what amounts to a rap session with listeners. Black says they pick a hot topic designed to stir up the listeners. Two days after the Los Angeles murders, the subject was: Did O.J. do it?

- Dead Or Alive. Chuck and Judy name four celebrities, sports figures, etc.; listeners have to tell

YOUR TURN

'Oh Wow!' Or 'So What?'

WASK-FM/Lafayette, IN PD Don Riley offers this response to "Programmers Go For The Gold . . . Again" (R&R 6/3):

"Although we've been No. 1 12+ for the past four books, I've noticed the decline in TSL that you mentioned and became concerned about the lack of more familiar music on the station."

Don Riley

Since 1994 marked the 20th anniversary of WASK-FM as a Country radio station, I used the opportunity to play more country gold to celebrate. I adjusted our current-gold ratio from 70-30 to 60-40 and created a gold category for pre-1987 music. I also changed our slogan to 'Today's Hot Country And Familiar Favorites.'

"The response has been tremendous. Callers say they like the balance of old and new. I play only one song from the pre-1987 category every hour, and schedule it in the third quarter of the hour following a stopset.

I also print the year of the song on the music schedule to help the air personality sell it as a 'familiar favorite.' The category now contains over 250 titles and turns over every 12 days. I also monitor the music scheduling very carefully to ensure each song is rotated throughout all dayparts.

"I've been PD here for 11 years, so most of the songs we play in the pre-87 category have come from my experience with the Lafayette market. I've learned that playing the right older songs will elicit an 'oh wow!' response from listeners; playing the wrong ones will get you a 'so what?'" whether they're dead or alive. It takes three correct answers to win.

Name That Beef

WWQM/Madison, WI PD Tom Oakes offers these nuggets:

- Name That Beef. In a game reminiscent of the scene in "City Slickers" where a character had to name the perfect ice cream to top off a particular meal, WWQM teams with the Beef Council a few times a year for this gem. A caller is presented with a bill of fare — wine, pasta, veggie, etc. — and has to select the cut of beef that would be perfect with the menu. Winners get (what else?) a gift certificate good at the meat counter of a local supermarket.

- Three-Second Q-Country Classic. Listeners must identify the title and artist of a '70s-early '80s oldie not in the WWQM library after hearing a brief snippet.

- Early Morning Brain-Buster Trivia. Various sound clips are aired, including dialogue or theme songs from movies or TV shows and sound bites from historical events. Listeners identify the event or person to win.

- Q106 Fan Fair Reporter. Each May listeners call and explain, in 25 words or less, why they should be the station's representative in Nashville during Fan Fair week. The winner actually does reports for the station from Music City.

DRIVETIME IN INDY — Racecar driver Al Unser Jr. (l) slows down for a chat with WFMS/Indianapolis MD/air personality J.D. Cannon. Unser participated in the Delco Electronics 500 Festival Parade the day before winning this year's Indy 500.

HOG WILD FOR KIX 106 — KIXA-FM-KIXW-FM & KZXYI/San Bernardino teamed up with their local Coca-Cola bottler and Expo Supermarkets to award a Harley-Davidson Sportster to a very lucky listener. Revving up for the giveaway are (l-r) a Dale's Cycles employee, KIX 106 morning man Jay Stevens, Coca-Cola's Frank Rodriguez, winner Mary Funderburk and her husband Bob, and station owner Steve Stephenson.

COUNTRY'S BACK IN TOWN

Country 'People', 'LIFE' Examined In Specials

As country's popularity continues to skyrocket, the roots of country music will be the topic of two national magazines' special issues as well as a forthcoming cable TV series.

People magazine strengthens its commitment with its first country music special, due out around September's CMA awards. The 80- to 90-page all-color issue will include sections on the roots of country, superstars of the business, and up-and-coming artists as well as artist profiles. General Motors/Chevrolet have signed on as the main advertisers for the special issue.

• LIFE magazine explores country's origins in a special issue that hits newsstands July 11. The special includes vignettes on country's past from pioneers like Willie Nelson and Johnny Cash and profiles on popular artists such as Dolly Parton and George Strait. LIFE also goes on the road with Travis Tritt for his "Ten Feet Tall" tour and compiles its own list of the "100 Most Important People In Country Music."

• Ted Turner's TBS Productions is funding a six-hour TV series produced by Wolf Productions and written by Robert K. Oermann. "The Roots Of Country" will include archival footage, interviews with musicians and fans, documentary footage of festivals and events, and profiles of the people who laid

THE COWBOY WAY — The Gibson Miller Band was the guest of honor at a recent industry screening of "The Cowboy Way" at Nashville's Belcourt Theatre. The band's current single, "Mammas Don't Let Your Babies Grow Up To Be Cowboys," opens the film. Enjoying themselves are (l-r, back row) Epic/Nashville VP Jack Lameier, Sony/Nashville Exec. VP Paul Worley, the label's Cliff Audretch, GMB's Blue Miller and Dave Gibson, Epic/Nashville VP Doug Johnson, GMB's Steve Grossman and Mike Daly, and Sony/Nashville Exec. VP/IGM Allen Butler and Sr. VP Scott Siman; (l-r, front row) GMB's Doug Kahan, Sony/Nashville VP Connie Baer, and Mores, Nanas, Shea's Stan Mores and Doug Casmus.

Bryan Austin

NEW ARTIST FACT FILE

Label: Liberty

Single/Album: "Radioactive"/"Bryan Austin"

Influences: Vince Gill, Ace Frehley, Steve Wariner, Ricky Skaggs, Elvis

Background

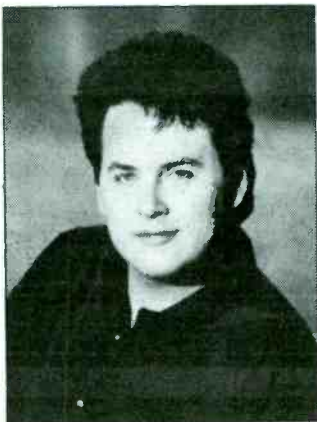

• Encouraged by his father, Bryan Austin first pursued his love for music by learning the saxophone and playing in his uncle's band. He later switched to guitar ("I noticed the girls never went for the sax players; it was always the guitar players") and taught himself how to play. "A friend showed me a few chords, and then I worked out the rest by listening to every record I could get my hands on. I'd cop every lick I could off a record — that's how I learned."

• The Mississippi native was influenced by the blues, jazz, country, and rockabilly. He spent so much time in high school concentrating on music that his mother suggested he get a summer job to take a break from it. One of his first stops was the local radio station, where he talked the GM into trying him out as a DJ. He spent two years as an air personality as a result.

• He and his buddies worked for several years as the house band of a local club. Austin then landed a gig as the guitarist for a local independent artist and spent several weeks on the road in Canada.

Signing

• Because Austin's cousin sang some duets with pop artist Debbie Gibson, Austin's tape found itself in the hands of Gibson's mother (and manager), Diane. She listened, liked what she heard, and passed the tape on to Liberty head Jimmy Bowen. Following a showcase, Bowen signed Austin to a deal with the newly formed Patriot label.

Bryan Austin

Songs

• Though he wrote his first song while doodling during his 11th grade English class, Austin has been writing seriously for only the last few years. He penned four songs on his debut album, including "Limo Driver," a tune he co-wrote with producer Keith Stegall and Roger Murrah.

• Bryan wrote 30-40 songs just for this project. "Writing is one of the things that if all else fails, I'll always want to write. It's the thing that really does it for me."

the groundwork for the country industry. Preliminary shooting on the show began last week in Nashville; the series is slated to air on TBS in fall 1995.

Dreams Come True

Billy Ray Cyrus didn't name his ABC-TV special "Dreams Come True" for nothing. Not only has he been fortunate enough to have fulfilled his own dreams, he also passes on his good fortune to others — such as Jim Fortenberry, a war veteran with whom Cyrus first became acquainted on a local TV Memorial Day special. During Fortenberry's appearance on the show, he mentioned that his greatest wish was to see the Vietnam Veterans' Memorial Wall in Washington, DC. Cyrus later contacted him and picked up the tab for him and his wife to travel to the memorial.

Honky Tonk Highjinks

Aaron Tippin was quite surprised during a recent date opening for Brooks & Dunn. When he opened the door of an onstage telephone booth for a costume change during "Honky Tonk Superman," he discovered a bikini-clad woman inside — courtesy of B&D. Tippin got revenge on the dynamic duo later by sending out a couple of his crew members dressed as women to dance and prance during B&D's performance of "Rock My World, Little Country Girl."

• Tippin really was Superman to some ill children during this year's Fan Fair. The kids were supposed to ride the Family Channel blimp, piloted by Tippin. But the airship was delayed in Atlanta because of weather conditions. So Tippin arranged for his tour bus to pick up the children and take them on a tour of Music Row. During the ride he gave them autographed T-shirts, pictures, and candy.

• Brother Phelps's Ricky Lee Phelps also did his share of rescuing during Fan Fair week. On his way to a radio broadcast, the singer stopped to help a stranded motorist on the roadside. Unable to fix the car himself, Phelps brought the woman along on his interview. While there, the woman not only found a ride to her job, she also met several other country artists doing interviews.

Bits & Pieces

Alan Jackson will appear on the cover of a forthcoming issue of Country Guitar . . . Collin Raye traveled to Vancouver last week to film a part in a new Aaron Spelling TV series, "Robin's Hoods," which stars Linda Purl. Raye will play himself in the show, which airs August 24 . . . Tracy Lawrence's new video for "Renegades, Rebels And Rogues" is the first country clip to use Dolby SurroundSound technology. The video features Lawrence as a time traveler who heads back to the Old West to save a bank teller (his wife, Frances) during a bank robbery.

The Heat Is On For Summer Sales

■ Reporting seasonal highs, format execs credit creativity, sports

Summer's here, and the selling's easy. Well, maybe not easy, but certainly brisk. While Talk's older-skewing demos create special challenges in the youth-driven summer, the format seems to be more than holding its own this sultry season.

In fact, every major market Talk station contacted for this column reported that sales are running ahead of last summer; in some cases, they're significantly ahead. Take WXYT/Detroit, for example, where President Jock Fritz says, "Sales have been real healthy. Our July is running 42% ahead of last year."

Fritz attributes much of WXYT's summer success to a strategy of playing to the station's strengths. Since younger-skewing outlets have the edge in such major national categories as soft drinks, beer, and entertainment, 'XYT uses the summer months to focus on local and retail accounts.

One key to that approach is WXYT's weekend home-improvement show and a related home design expo. Advertisers who want to participate in the popular September expo must purchase summer ad packages. According to Fritz, the home program generates as much as $1 million per year for the station.

"The secret to doing well in the summer is to be creative," Fritz reveals. "You can't let people sit back and wait for the fall season. You have to give them a reason to advertise."

WSB's Good Sports

Sports is the hook WSB/Atlanta uses when trolling for summer dollars — fall sports, in particular. Sales Manager Neal Maziar says, "Our June is usually pretty good, for whatever reason, but July is kind of weak. So that's when we start focusing on Falcons programming and remotes. And August is a boom time with University of Georgia football and Falcons games."

Maziar predicts that WSB this summer will finish 20% ahead of the same period last year. The station's hot categories include automotive, financial services, computer sales and office supplies, heating and air conditioning, and building supplies. To his surprise, the hospitality and airline businesses have been somewhat weak. "I thought we'd see more hotel activity nationally."

Record-Breaking Seasons

At crosstown WGST, GSM Steve Youlios says business is "mixed." While things have cooled somewhat from the second quarter, he still expects to exceed last summer's numbers.

The station is hustling up some new ad dollars with a series of "tent parties" at Saturday Braves baseball games. According to Youlios, the events have allowed 'GST to tap some "non-traditional" funds, such as product sampling and event-sponsorship budgets.

Things are so good at WBAL/Baltimore, rates are set to increase effective July 1. "Inventory is tight, and we need to get a higher rate for spots," explains GSM Larry Doyle. "We're probably running 11-12%

What's on American's minds? Each month R&R conducts an exclusive survey of the nation's leading Talk radio stations to determine the 10 issues that have generated the greatest amount of listener phone response over the past four weeks. ahead of last summer — and '93 was a record year for the station."

Doyle credits that success to a strong sales staff, a solid on-air lineup, and the hot Baltimore Orioles, whose games are heard on 'BAL. The station's busiest categories include health services, cellular phones, business-to-business, and heating and air conditioning.

Back On Track

Just down the road, WMAL/Washington is running 30% ahead of '93 and is on pace to have its most profitable year ever. GSM Zemira Jones believes the former Full Service AC's image as a News/Talk outlet finally has crystallized with listeners. "I think our identity was a bit cloudy for a while."

KSTP/Minneapolis is in the same happy situation. "We're having a very good year," says PD Steve Konrad. "We're on track to make money for the first time in 10 years."

WLUP/Chicago, one of the few Talk outlets that skews younger, also is looking at making some happy summer memories. GSM Cheryl Esken says hip-talking 'LUP and its all-Sports sister WMVP (AM) probably will finish about 3% ahead of last summer. According to Esken, "That's not bad at all, considering that WMVP has only been a sports station since late last year."

MINNEAPOLIS
 TOWERS,

The Industry's LEARNING Convention-
We Were Wrong...
 This IS Rocket Science!

FRIDAY KEYNOTE-MARY ALICE WILLIAMS!

Mary Alice Williams has built a career breaking new ground in communications and media. A Minneapolis native, Mary began her illustrious career at KSTP-TV as a reporter. A graduate of Omaha's Creighton University, Mary was one of the founding anchors of CNN in 1979 (eventually becoming it's VP!) and later she anchored several prominent newscasts. She is now a highly articulate - and visible - Corporate Spokesperson for NYNEX, a leading Northeast telecommunications firm. The Conclave is honored to present this Emmy award-winning communicator. If you'd like to know your place on the superhighway, you will not miss her Conclave presentation!

SATURDAY KEYNOTE-TOM LEYKIS!

Just when you thought conservative talk show hosts were taking over the medium, Tom Leykis comes riding to the liberals rescue! Tom Leykis, the man who's changing the face of today's talk radio, is host of Westwood One's newest programming addition The Tom Leykis Show. A self-described "computer fanatic," Leykis intends to bring an interactive element to the airwaves. Using commercial computer networks, listeners will be able to communicate with Tom - and the nation - by posting E-Mail messages to him while he is on the air! Obviously, Tom brings a unique dimension to the format with his cutting-edge style and his creative use of technology. Don't miss his timely presentation!
