The Christmas Wars: Jingle Bells Ring Earlier Than Ever

■ by Skip Dillard and Marc Schiffman

With so many AC stations fighting to own the Christmas season this year, the wars over the all-Christmas music position have become more fierce than in any previous year.

In several markets, including New York and Philadelphia, one AC station announced its flip to Christmas music on a particular date, only to be pre-empted by a competitor that rushed the format on the air first. In Charlotte, N.C., AC WSSS (Star 104.7) went all-Christmas on Halloween. Other stations are easing into the all-holiday music format by programming all-Christmas weekends.

So, what do you do if you're the second AC station in your market to jump into allholiday mode? And if you're not planning to go all-Christmas, how do you keep the spirit on your station when you're still playing John Mayer's new single along with those barking Christmas dogs? Airplay Monitor talked with AC PDs and consultants who have been on both sides of the holiday wars.

Consultant Gary Berkowitz believes a station not doing all-Christmas can still project the feeling of the holidays to listeners. "I liken [not doing all-Christmas] to a department store," he says.

WRIF Attains Its Best Ratings In 33 Years

■ by Bram Teitelman

Although active WRIF Detroit has existed for nearly 33 years, the summer Arbitron book found the station achieving its highest 12-plus ratings ever.

OM/midday host Doug Podell knows why: "We have been set up for quite a while to pop a good number," he says. "The personalities, the promotions and the production have all been in place. What I think WRIF had been missing is the music fueling the engine, and over the past year, that's what we've really seen. Rock music itself is on an upsurge."

As an active station that has been around long enough to fall squarely into the median age of its listeners, WRIF has to appeal to both ends of its target demo. One way in which it does so is through its personalities. Afternoon jock Arthur Penhallow has been at the station for 30 years.

"Arthur can talk to Bob Seger on the phone and relate to him because he used to hang out with him," APD/MD Mark Pennington says. "And Continued on page 38

Listener Says No-No-No To Ho-Ho-Ho

Not everyone is happy with the conversion of numerous AC stations to all-Christmas music. A Philadelphia-area listener posted an online petition to stop AC WSNI (Sunny 104.5) Philadelphia from playing Christmas songs until after Thanksgiving. According to the unidentified listener, "Christmas music before Thanksgiving is way too early and makes us all sick of the season before it actually gets here." At press time, the petition had gathered almost 50 signatures.

Meanwhile, the all-Christmas format gets a batch of new converts, including CJEZ Toronto; KGBY Sacramento, Calif.; KMTI San Diego; KUDL and KSRC Kansas City; WNIC Detroit; WOOD Grand Rapids, Mich.; and WRSN Raleigh, N.C.

SO MUCH FOR FREE SPEECH

Classic hits WCHR (the Hawk) Monmouth, N.J., PD Phil LoCascio has pulled Jethro Tull from the station's playlist following an Asbury Park Press interview with frontman Ian Anderson in which Anderson made disparaging remarks about the U.S. flag. "I hate to see the American flag hanging out of every bloody station wagon, out of every SUV, every little Midwestern house in some residential area," he said. Morning team Free Beer and Hot Wings took notice and proposed the ban. LoCascio says that reaction to the Tull ban has been overwhelmingly positive. Anderson has since apologized for the comments, and WCHR's Web site is asking listeners whether the station should re-instate Tull on the air.

"They don't just sell Christmas items and toss out all the other merchandise, but they sure decorate the store. Stations can project the holidays just through their imaging and production. [Two] of my favorite phrases are Your home for the holidays' or 'Your holiday station.' I've had clients tell me they don't want to go all-Christmas, but when I hear their station, it's still [dressed up] for the holiday season.

Dan Vallie, president of Vallie-Richards Consulting, sees sticking to the basics as the key to a station making a holiday impact even without an all-holiday format. "Do what you should have done all these years, which is to be as topical as possible," he says. "This is the easiest time of year to be topical, and no matter what your attitude about Christmas, you can't get away from it. It's top of mind for everybody. It's the easiest time to relate to what your [listeners] are thinking."

AC WMGC Detroit OM Bill Fries, whose station has not yet gone all-Christmas but may do so after Thanksgiving, adds that even if you've made the switch to holiday tunes, there's more to the format than just the music.

Fries says WMGC morning host Jim Harper has been collecting toys for children through his Tovs for Tots program for the past 20 years. His campaign has helped make Detroit one of the largest Toys for Tots collection markets in the country. The point, Fries says, is "not just being the Christmas jukebox but exuding the Christmas spirit. It's the entire package."

HOW EARLY IS TOO EARLY?

But how early is too early to get into the Christmas spirit? Berkowitz thinks we'll know the answer to that question soon.

"Every year we've learned something," he says. "Year one, [the rule] was 'First [to all-Christmas] wins.' The second year we learned you can be the second station fin your market to do the format] and still probably have a better December ratings-wise than you did last year. This year, what I'm looking for is the consumers' tolerance for Christmas. If listeners accept [an all-Christmas format], will they accept it if we go on Nov. 13 or earlier?"

Berkowitz continues, "Research conflicts with ratings. Listeners will tell you in research, 'No earlier than Thanksgiving.' But when you look at the ratings of stations who play holiday music earlier, you see something different."

Berkowitz quips, "For a Jewish guy, I have to admit I love Christmas. But I was listening to a station a couple of weeks back that was doing a pre-switch all-holiday music weekend. I couldn't help thinking as I was listening to Christmas music in early November that it was kind of like selling pizza for breakfast. AC is definitely into new territory. It will be very interesting to break out the [fall 2003] book and see how these stations fared."

Fries agrees that listeners usually will tell you to wait. "The calls on our side are 'Glad you're not doing that' and 'Thanks for not rushing the holidays.' I do run the risk of the listener who loves Christmas music running over [to the all-Christmas competitor] today. But it's Nov. 13 for God's sake; it's getting a little ridiculous. But if you have no ratings, you have nothing to lose by going [all-Christmas].

Vallie points out a factor in deciding whether to go all-Christmas. "There are plenty of stations that shouldn't go all-Christmas," he says, "A modern AC does not make as much sense as a soft AC in the market. The hotter the AC, the less likely going all-Christmas will benefit them.'

Vallie concludes that even in a worst-case scenario, many AC programmers feel they can't lose with an all-Christmas format. "Any station going all-Christmas will have someone listening who doesn't want to hear Christmas music," he says. "But the people that don't like Christmas music won't change the button on the radio. They may not listen for a few days or weeks, but you're still a button on their car, and eventually they'll come back to you.'

MORE THAN BING CROSBY

Joe Chile, PD of AC WJYE Buffalo, N.Y., notes that the earlier a station jumps into the format, the more attention has to be paid to the music.

"It's interesting that record labels are responding with more new Christmas music releases than in the past," Chile says, noting that he recently saw a TV ad for a new Christmas CD from the group Chicago. "You've got artists feeling [that] if this is going to be a legitimate format, [they should participate]," he adds. "We're doing a Harry Connick Jr. Christmas show, and tickets sold out in two days."

Chile recommends a balance of Christmas classics and new holiday music from today's stars. "While the standards will continue to dominate," he says, "you have to remember that some of your younger demos weren't necessarily weaned on 'White Christmas.' The reworking of some of the standards by current stars

HitPredictor Adds AC Titles

Beginning in this issue, Airplay Monitor expands its HitPredictor feature to include adult contemporary titles tested by PromoSquad, which uses online research to identify those new releases with top 10 callout potential.

Unlike the other formats that appear on the HitPredictor page (see page 51), the adult contemporary titles will be located on the AC chart page (see page 15) to provide one quick snapshot for the entire AC format.

In February, Monitor debuted its weekly Hit-Predictor feature for mainstream top 40, rhythmic top 40, adult top 40 and modern rock titles. This past July, programmers and label reps in those formats began receiving this information every Monday through the HitPredictor Weekly Alert e-mail. The adult contemporary titles have been added to the e-mail effective with the

Nov. 17 Weekly Alert. Last month, R&B/hip-hop was added to the HitPredictor in Monitor and given its own Weekly Alert e-mail for programmers and label reps in that format.

Two HitPredictor e-mails go out every Monday. One e-mail is sent to top 40, rock and now AC programmers. The other goes to R&B programmers. For a free subscription to either or both e-mails, register at airplaymonitor.com/hitpredictor.

WSTR Atlanta Caring For Kids

Adult Chart Manager: PATRICK McGOWAN • 323-954-3204 • pmcgowan@airplaymonitor.com

Jefferson-Pilot Communications' top 40 WSTR (Star 94) Atlanta recently proved that radio has a power to reach people like no other medium.

WSTR's morning and afternoon shows joined forces to pull off a three-day marathon raising a Children's Miracle Network record of $1,146,372 for Children's Healthcare of Atlanta.

Airplay Monitor talked to WSTR PD Dan Bowen about his station's efforts.

Tell us a little about the radiothon.

"This was our first year with the radiothon. Children's Miracle Network has been around [for] six years and does fundraisers for children's charities in about 170 markets. now. Children's Healthcare is our nonprofit children's hospital. No child is ever turned away, regardless of the family's insurance or ability to pay. We let listeners know that it's not on anyone's day planner that you'll be going to the hospital at 11 a.m. after getting a call that [your child] was seriously injured on the playground. Accidents happen, and children are diagnosed with different things every day.

At a time when the economy has not been at its best, how do you explain the outpouring of support from WSTR listeners?

"Our morning team has been together for 13 years. There's quite a bond with our listeners there. And our afternoon talents, Cindy [Simmons] and Ray [Mariner], also connect so well with our audience. Both shows spent a great deal of time getting to know as much as they could about the hospital, including spending time with families who have received care there. [WSTR's] talent also shared their personal experiences from the hospital because a couple of them had children who were [treated] there.

How did WSTR interrupt the music without sounding like telemarketers?

"We made a commitment to do something special for the kids of Atlanta. The station sounded different for a few days but . . . there were compelling stories of hope and miracles.

How were your jocks and staff affected?

"It was a life-changing event for everyone involved-the on-air talent, the station's staff, the hospital and kids along with everyone who donated. Everyone here is proud of the accomplishment and feels so lucky to have been a

H=Heavy (30 + Detections), M=Medium (15-29), L=Light (Under 15). Airpower awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience.
Initial impact: songs appearing on this page for the first time in summary form. Airplay Adds are songs with 6 or more detections at new stations this week. The Airplay Leaderboard ranks taste-maker stations that have been the most successful in identifying future hit songs as measured by the amount of AIRPOWER titles for which they were Airplay Leaders. Refer to each format's Power Playlists page to see this week's Airplay Leaders.

Compiled from a national sample of data supplied by Nielsen Broadcast Data Systems to Airplay Monitor. 90 adult contemporary stations are electronically monitored 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. © 2003 VNU Business Media, Inc. All rights reserved.

ranked by number of detections. Songs showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song will also receive a if its percentage loss in detections does not exceed the percentage of monitored station downtime for the format. A song that has been on the chart for more 20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in detections. Airpower awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. Greatest Gainer awarded to the song with the largest increase in detections. Airplay Adds awarded to the song registering six or more detections at the most stations for the first time this week. A song with a gain in detections over the pre-week is placed first if teed with a song with a decline over the same period. When the dosngs are each gaining detections or each losing detections, the song played on more stations is placed first. Songs below the top 15 become recurrents and are removed from the chart after 26 weeks.

Songs ranked by number of detections. Songs showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song will also receive a builet if its percentage loss in detections does not exceed the percentage of monitored station downtime for the format. A song that has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a builet, even if it registers an increase in detections. Greatest Gainer awarded to the song with the largest increase in detections. A song with a gain in detections over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining detections or each losing detections, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs below the top 15 become recurrents and are removed from the chart after 26 weeks.

Initial impact: songs appearing on this page for the first time in summary form. Airplay Adds are songs with 6 or more detections at new stations this week. The Arplay Leaderboard ranks taste-maker stations that have been the most successful in identifying future hit songs as measured by the amount of AFFOWER titles for which they were Airplay Leaders. Refer to each format's Power Playlists page to see this week's Airplay Leaders. It indicates title earned HitPredictor status in research data provided by Promosquad.

Organizing Your Music: Earl Boston On The Art Of Scheduling

BOSTON

One of the most frustrating moments for a PD or MD happens when the music scheduling software refuses to cooperate. As a former PD, Earl Boston can relate to that experience.

Boston is now president of Earl Boston Inc., a New York-based computer music rotation consulting firm. He started EBI after a three-year stint at RCS—the creator of the popular Selector music scheduling software—where he found his niche helping programmers in every format deal with music scheduling issues.

"Back then . . . all the [scheduling] technology was new and computers were locking up," he says. "Today, the issue is different. The computers and music software are great; the challenge is time management.

"As a PD or MD, you've got so much on your plate. Meetings, dinners, staff issues, multiple stations, and it never seems to end," Boston continues. "When it comes to your music, you just want to be able to schedule your log and get it into the studio. The problem is most PDs are more or less self-trained on the software. There are many areas they don't understand. As a PD or MD, do you really have time to sit around and press every function key and learn all the applications? Of course you don't.

"What led me to start my own company was realizing that I was answering the same questions over and over from the same people," he says. "PDs weren't retaining the information they gained from tech support. That was because when they called, it was always an emergency situation. They just needed to fix it now. But when RCS would send us out to stations, we could really teach people. I remember having programmers and MDs say, 'Wow, I learned more in a couple of hours with you guys than I've learned talking to support people over the phone for years.'

Boston feels his business has continued to grow because it's based on the most crucial element of any music-intensive format: the music itself.

"Look at the [R&B] format—it has expanded," he says. "You've got hip-hop, adult [R&B], oldies and more niche formats are growing out of those. A general consultant in radio has an overall picture to deal with. I knew my best opportunity would come from focusing on the music. If you pick up an Arbitron diary, the common complaints are too much talk and too many commercials. The music remains the star."

BETTER ROTATIONS

So what are common mistakes that PDs make in using music software? "The main problem is not knowing how to completely activate the rules chosen to govern your rotation," Boston says. "Not looking at [the basics of] database structure is another. For instance, are the names and group names of your artists entered into the system correctly? Are all the names spelled right? If you're playing multiple titles by the same artist and one or two of the spellings are wrong, your rotations are going to be off."

Boston offers one secret that can improve music software's performance. "For Selector, it's called viewing the audit trail, the summary of the schedule. You need to see what the automatic scheduler has to confront as it tries to meet whatever scheduling guidelines you've put in place. It's not about how many rules you use, it's about being consistent with the rules you choose.'

Although today's hip-hop-heavy R&B stations and niche adult R&B formats face fewer dayparting and rotation restrictions than they used to. Boston says control is the key. "If you have no control, you don't need music scheduling software. Any database program is an organizational tool. If your database is unorganized, you might as well throw the record on the wall and see where it sticks.'

As for music scheduling hardware, Boston has a simple answer. "Get a new computer. I tell programmers every day, 'If your computer's over 3 years old, it's probably time for a new one . . . You can get a new desktop PC with plenty of power and a huge hard drive for $500.' What's common in all music scheduling programs is you've got a lot of information that builds up in your database that must be stored. Why put yourself through the headache of having your software or computer locking up?"

While many PDs like to schedule music themselves. Boston says that "every PD is different. and everyone has different talents and abilities. If you're fortunate enough to have an MD, APD or assistant [who] is more technically savvy than you or is more attuned to the technology, get them active in your music scheduling. Even if you are passignate about the system, there will be times when you'll need a break or have to be away on short notice. Get others up to speed and share the knowledge."

In earlier years, it was common to find homemade music scheduling software in some stations developed by that station's engineer or consultant. In the future, it's likely that some large broadcasters will develop their own company-wide programs in the interest of saving money. Boston sees danger signs here.

"Look at RCS. They've been in business for 30 years," he says. "They're constantly upgrading their products. Unless the person creating a software program for a station has worked for a company like RCS, then [it's] likely they're selftaught. Will they really know how to create the program? I don't care if it's Selector, Power-Gold or Music Master, it's constantly being upgraded to provide better performance and conform with emerging technologies."

Boston adds, "I remember a company that used to allow [clients] to buy the music software outright. It was yours forever. They didn't stay in business because there were no upgrades or updates. My hat's off to any broadcaster that can build their own system."

USING WHAT YOU KNOW TO GROW

Boston recalls the conversation that set him on the path to owning his own business. "After 10 years of programming, moving through great markets, I settled in Washington, D.C., when [then-Radio One VP of programming] Lee Michaels hired me as production director and weekends on-air. I ee called me in one day, mentioned an opening at RCS and said I should apply because they always had problems filling technical positions, especially with African-Americans. I owe Michaels so much. He actually was the first to demonstrate Selector to me when I worked with him in Chicago during the mid-'80s.

"At EBI, we get satisfaction from being a liaison between artistic [radio] programmers and the introverted computer programmers who design the music software," he continues. "I've also had interest from record labels. I do presentations to educate them on how radio works. Most record company people don't understand why there's 'no room' for a quality record in rotation. Labels need to know the

Remembering Don 'Early Bird' Allen

The R&B world lost radio legend Don Allen Ir. Nov. 11. Allen, who used the on-air nickname "Early Bird," was 48.

A Buffalo, N.Y., native, Allen's PD and on-air experience spanned a series of notable call letters, including KKDA Dallas; WOWI Norfolk, Va.; WWDM Columbia, S.C.; WBLS New York: and most recently WLXC Columbia, where he was doing afternoon drive. He is fondly remembered by colleagues.

B.J. Murphy, morning host at WPEG (Power 98) Charlotte, N.C., says, "Don had such incredible passion and energy when he was on the radio, and I've never seen anybody so focused. Yet he made everything seem so simple. I was blessed to work with him at WWDM, and I still often listen to his airchecks for inspiration."

André Carson, PD of KPRS (Hot 103 Jamz) Kansas City, says, "Don brought a lot to the table. He was very compelling and had a great presence on the microphone that made people want to listen."

Consultant Jerry Boulding recalls Allen as "one of the multiformat pioneers who will be remembered for his efforts both on the mic and as a programmer. He will be remembered fondly by those of us privileged enough to have known him.

Allen's father, Don Allen Sr., died in 2002 after a 38-year stint as the gospel host on WBLK Buffalo.

language and science of music scheduling. It impacts their business. When labels call stations, they need [ammunition] that can help them know how [to promote] that record they consider a priority.

Boston thinks the end result of understanding music scheduling is better time management. Until recently, companies invested in many things, but no one really thought about time management," he says. "Keeping your music rotations accurate can mean less hours every week you'll have to spend sitting at the computer.

"I remember when I started my business, we made a little money the first year. The next year more money came in, and now it's always growing. With the help of my business manager, Wyatt Cheek, we've been able to reach beyond radio to radio groups, record labels and satellite radio. It's great to see companies more willing to invest in time management.'

Two Former Promotion Directors Succeed As Songwriters

Two former record label national directors of promotion have found recent success as songwriters.

Bart Allmand, a former Monument Records national, has had out-of-the-box success, with his first cut landing in the top 10. He co-wrote Brooks & Dunn's "You Can't Take the Honky Tonk Out of the Girl," which is No. 9 on the country airplay chart this issue.

Jimmy Harnen recently left his national promotion position at DreamWorks Records in Nashville to handle day-to-day management for Curb artist Jo Dee Messina at Refugee Management International. But his decision to leave DreamWorks was sparked, in part, by a successful artist development experience with Lyric Street artist Ashley Gearing. Harnen wrote four songs on Gearing's upcoming debut CD, including her first single, "Can You Hear Me When I Talk to You."

OFF TO A FAST START

Throughout his promotion career, Allmand had dabbled in songwriting but never considered making a career of it. But when he fell victim to layoffs at Sony, he was encouraged by his friend, songwriter and former Monument artist Jeffrey Steele, to give it a try.

Allmand says Sony took good care of him after the layoff by paying out his contract, which gave him the financial freedom to change careers at age 37. Six months ago, Steele signed Allmand to his 3 Ring Circus publishing company, which is a coventure with Windswept Pacific.

From there, Allmand rode a streak of beginner's luck that started when he scored a writing appointment with one of his heroes, Bob Di Piero. The first song they wrote together was "You Can't Take the Honky Tonk Out of the Girl." That song went on to become Allmand's first hold, his first cut, his first single and eventually his first hit. He also had the recent pleasure of hearing Brooks & Dunn perform it during the nationally televised Country Music Assn. Awards.

Now, Allmand says, he has writing appointments three to seven times per week. He writes frequently with Steele, and although several of their songs have been put on hold, he has had no other cuts as vet.

Allmand started his record promotion career at 16th Avenue Records, then spent five years at RCA as Midwest regional before opening independent promotion firm Third Coast Entertainment with partner Adrian Michaels. He later spent nearly five years with Sony's Monument label.

After years of doing promotion. Allmand says he misses the traveling that went with the job. Other than that, he's happy with his new career. "This is just the best life there is," he says of songwriting. "I can't imagine going back to [promotion]. It has gotten harder and harder, and my friends who are still doing it are saying. 'Be glad you're not doing it anymore.'

One similarity between his old and new jobs, Allmand says, is that "there's still a lot of pressure because you have to be producing all the time."

The success of "You Can't Take the Honky Tonk Out of the Girl" helped him rekindle friendships with numerous PDs and MDs who noticed Allmand was the songwriter and called to congratulate him. Because of his promotion background, Allmand couldn't resist the temptation to work his own record a bit, and he made some promotional calls to programmers with the blessing of Arista

ARTIST DEVELOPMENT PAYS OFF

Harnen started his career as a pop artist recording for CBS Records in the '80s. He has written about 250 songs. But he hadn't pursued a publishing deal throughout his various jobs in Nashville, which also included stints as a regional for Curb/Universal Records and an ad sales rep for Gavin magazine. He says songwriting was and remains "a hobby."

As a record promoter, artist development wasn't his forte either, until he got a call from former WPKX Springfield, Mass., GM Jerry Hyland, who asked him to listen to a then-11-year-old artist named Ashley Gearing who was having some regional success in Hyland's market.

Harnen liked what he heard and agreed to work with Gearing, mostly, he says, to prevent her from falling into the hands of unscrupulous people in Nashville who might take advantage of her age and lack of business savvy.

Harnen had written "Can You Hear Me When I Talk to You" with Rick Manwiller after Harnen's father died in 1996. As he struggled to find enough songs that would be appropriate for a preteen to sing, he remembered that song and brought it to Gearing, who connected with it instantly, since she had lost her birth father when she was very young.

Gearing's recording of the song began getting airplay in several markets through requests and word-of-mouth among programmers. While it

Buffy Cooper Promoted At Sony

Buffy Cooper has been promoted to national director of promotion for Sony Music Nashville. She previously held that title for Sony's Columbia imprint.

Universal South Records is in the process of signing Holly Williams to its roster. Despite being the granddaughter of Hank Williams and the daughter of Hank Williams Jr., she will record a non-country album for the label.

Look for Equity Music Group to sign former MCA Nashville artist Shannon Lawson and new group Carolina Rain. They will join Equity flagship artist Clint Black on the fledgling label's roster. Equity, meanwhile, has signed a distribution deal with Navarre Corp.

Martina McBride and Alan Jackson will tour together in 2004, playing North American arenas beginning in late January through the end of June for approximately 50 dates. The route will be a mixture of secondary and major markets. There will be no opening act, and both artists will perform complete sets. Jackson and McBride are booked by Creative Artists Agency.

George Strait was among the recipients of the National Medal of Arts presented by President George W. Bush and first lady Laura Bush Nov. 12 in the Oval Office. The award is the National Endowment for the Arts' highest honor for artistic excellence. Other recipients this year included Buddy Guy, director Ron Howard and the PBS series "Austin City Limits."

The "WCRS Live" guitar pull at next year's Country Radio Seminar will feature Sherrié Austin, Brad Paisley, Darryl Worley and songwriter Jim Collins. CRS is scheduled for March 3-5, 2004, in Nashville.

ultimately stalled mid-chart, its initial momentum and the buzz it created on Gearing helped land her a deal at Lyric Street. Her debut album for the label will include that song and three others written by Harnen, and he'll have an associate producer credit on the project.

While Hamen says he found record promotion to be a creative endeavor, he's happier to be even closer to the creative process now, although he still doesn't plan to actively pursue a songwriting career,

Although he felt like he had a lot of creative freedom at DreamWorks. Harnen says the experience with Gearing "definitely re-opened my eyes to a lot of stuff I felt I had been missing." The opportunity to work at Refugee came along shortly thereafter.

He's thrilled to be working with Messina, who he describes as "so passionate and outgoing and so driven." And working in artist management has enabled him to keep a hand in record promotion. He still calls stations on behalf of Messina's records.

Ironically, Harnen and Allmand have written together in the past and have a half-finished song called "My Last Five Bucks" that Harnen is hoping they'll one day complete.

songs ranked by number of detections. Songs showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song will also receive a builtet if its percentage loss in detections does not exceed the percentage of monitored station downtime for the forst time with increases in both detections and audience. Greatest Gainer awarded to the song with the largest increase in detections and audience. Greatest Gainer awarded to the song with a gain in detections when the song registering six or more detections at the most stations for the first time with a song with a decline over the same period. When the song with a gain in detections, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs believe the top 20 become recurrents and are removed from the chart atter 20 weeks.

then he can also turn around and play the White Stripes and sound cool introing that because of who he is.

As for Podell, Pennington says, "Doug knows the market inside and out, knows what the sta-tion is and knows what's best for it. He's out at the clubs and shows all the time, which helps."

While Howard Stern is heard in Detroit on talk WKRK, he is regularly trounced in the ratings by WRIF's morning duo, Drew Lane and Mike Clark. The team has been at WRIF for 11 years and has been No. 1 25-54 for 20 consecutive books. The pair just signed a contract that will keep it at the station for an additional three years.

While there have been discussions about syndicating the morning team, Podell says nothing will happen imminently. "They've expressed that syndication may not be right for them outside of Michigan, because they still want to talk about the Red Wings or

Mickey Redmond or the guys from the Pistons," he says, "They still want to be involved locally and feel that if they were to syndicate the show into other markets, they would lose the elements that make them Drew and Mike. It's really up to them, and right now, I don't know if that's going to happen.

PODELL

OM/Midday Host

CONSERVATIVE BY DAY, HARD AT NIGHT

Another way the station appeals to both demos is by playing it conservative during the day and skewing younger and harder in the evening. "At about 6 p.m., we start to tweak things toward new music and some of the bands that don't get played during the day," Podell says. "From 7 p.m. until midnight, with [night jock] Meltdown, we play all new active rock. And at midnight, we have a feature called 'Midnight Metal.' So between 6 p.m. and 6 a.m., it's a much younger, newer and harder active rock station than it is between 10 a.m. and 6 p.m."

And then there's the music itself. "This new Kid Rock album helps us bridge the gap between denios," Pennington says. "The older guys are going to dig it because it sounds like a Bob Seger record, and the new kids are going to love it because it's Kid Rock.'

Both Podell and Pennington feel there has been a musical resurgence at the format that might have played into WRIF's ratings surge. Podell lauds Nickelback, Default and the continued success of bands like Godsmack as acts that moved the needle in the past book

"Additionally, all the groups that we've been playing for a year or two are starting to get a little foundation underneath them, and it has really added to the whole music base of what we're doing," Podell continues. "These groups have grown up, and some people have grown up with them, and it's all falling into place.'

Pennington says there's also a new crop of bands set to keep the streak going. "You've got bands like Jet and this band from around here, the Ugly Americans, that just got signed to Roadrunner that are really going to explode next year," he says. "And the Darkness—we've been missing that superstar-type band, and I think those guys have something.'

"In this market, the top 40s have all gravitated over to rock music," Podell says. "They don't have the wide variety of contemporary pop music that they've had in past years to ride on, and what they're really riding on now is the

Defaults, the 3 Doors Downs and the Nickelbacks, and that all stems from us.'

WRIF was one of the first active rock stations to play the White Stripes' "Seven Nation Army." "Since they're a Detroit band, [had] major hype and [it was] a good song, we figured it wouldn't hurt us,' Pennington says. "It turns out that it has done extremely well for us. Outside of New York City, I think you will be hard pressed to find a city with more civic pride than Detroit, so it was a win/win situation for us.

ZEPPELIN AND AC/DC: CEMENT IN THE WALL OF ROCK

WRIF's heritage lends to some artist overlap with classic rock sister WCSX. "There's some artists like Led Zeppelin and AC/DC that we share, but I think the two stations are separated pretty well," Pennington says. "Unlike [at] some other clusters, we're not forced to separate each other. We're really two co-existing radio stations. We share some audience and some songs, but we don't sit down and divvy up artists between the two stations."

Podell agrees. "There's a little overlapping of Pink Floyd and Led Zeppelin and maybe Aerosmith, but otherwise, very little. They're a much more traditional classic rock station, somewhat deeper, and we're not, so it has worked out wonderfully."

The only other current rock station heard in Detroit is modern CIMX (89X), which is licensed to Windsor, Ontario. "They really don't have an 'alternative' sound over there; it's essentially an active rock sound," Podell says of 89X. "It makes us look like the real music leaders in the market, so that has definitely helped us. From a musical standpoint, they're really not a factor. If some of their bands that we don't play start to test, they don't necessarily make it to our playlist. In my opinion, they're still a college station, but the fact that there are no other rock stations in the market gives them Pennington says WRIF has done several promotions that have resonated with listeners. "We just did a Budweiser event with Godsmack playing a small club," he says. "The only way tickets could be won is through the station, and that was huge. It was one of the biggest vibes on a show I've ever been part of.

the floor to watch them play as they did their final rehearsal," Pennington continues. "It turned into an entire show with pyro and everything. And we also just wrapped up our Live Your Life Like a Rock Star promotion. We gave away a condo for a year with gold records on the wall, a big-screen TV, furniture, a Ford F150 truck, a three-wheeler, a snowmobile and concert tickets for every event we do next year."

WRIF has a successful Web site, with a database of about 75,000 people. However, it is no longer streaming iWRIF, its former Internet-only station. "It wasn't a legality thing that took it down, but the fun and buzz of an online side channel benefiting or blocking us in the market wasn't going to come to fruition," Podell says. "Online radio is not a threat, so at that point, it became too much work. It ended because it wasn't necessary anymore."

Itels fall be percentage loss in detections. Oscing snowing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song will also receive illet if its percentage loss in detections does not exceed the percentage of monitored station downtime for the format. A song that has been on the chart for mor an 20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in detections. Arpower awarded to song appearing in the top 20 on both the Airpla of Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. Greatest Gaine awarded to the song with the largest increase in detection ost Airplay Adds awarded to the song registering six or more detections at the most stations for the first time this week. A song with a gain in detections over the preous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining detections or each losing detections, the son ing played on more stations is placed first. Songs below the top 20 become recurrents and are removed from the chart after 26 weeks.

Hey, Where Ya Going?

OutKast's "Hey Ya!" (Arista) is taking an unusual route through the Airplay Monitor charts. The track from the hip-hop duo first charted at modern rock and mainstream top 40 in the Oct. 10 issue, followed by rhythmic top 40 the following week. This issue, "Hey Ya!" debuts on a pair of charts that generally see very little artist sharing: the R&B/hip-hop chart (No. 38) and the modern AC chart (No. 35).

"Hey Ya!" marks the band's 10th appearance on the R&B/hip-hop chart and its first at modern AC. The song is the Greatest Gainer at mainstream top 40, moving 6-3 with an increase of 1,006 detections.

LONESTAR TIES WITH DIXIE CHICKS

Lonestar moves from second place into a first-place tie among groups that have scored top 10 country hits in the genre's post-boom period.

The group's cover of Marc Cohn's 1991 pop hit, "Walking in Memphis" (BNA), advances 13-10 on the country chart this issue. It is the group's 14th top 10 single since its debut, "Tequila Talkin'," rose to No. 8 in December 1995.

The post-boom period started at the beginning of 1995, after country's early-'90s boom began to fade. Since then, the Dixie Chicks have also scored 14 top 10 singles, tying with Lonestar. They are followed by Diamond Rio, which has placed 11 of its 19 top 10 titles on the chart since the beginning of 1995.

TRAPT AT NO. 1 Trapt's "Still Frame" (Warner Bros.) moves to No. 1 at active rock in its 21st week on the chart. It's the fifth song in 2003 to take more than 20 weeks to reach No. 1—a list that includes the group's first No. 1, "Headstrong," which needed 28 weeks to reach the top of the chart in April. Prior to this year, no song had taken more than 20 weeks to reach No. 1.

"Still Frame" is Warner Bros.' record-setting fourth No. 1 of the year at active, coming one week after the label tied its own record with five No. 1s in a year at modern. Wind-up had set the old record of three No. 1s at active in 1998, which was then tied by Universal in 2000.

Jason Mraz's "You and I Both" (Elektra/EEG) moves 4-1 at triple-A, giving Mraz his second consecutive No. 1 at the format following "The Remedy (I Won't Worry)," which peaked in April. "You and I Both" takes the top spot by virtue of a tiebreaker over last week's chart-topper, Jonny Lang's "Red Light" (A&M/Interscope). Mraz's track gets the nod because it posted an increase in detections, while "Red Light" lost spins from a week ago.

Mraz becomes the first artist to reach No. 1 with his first two chart tracks at triple-A since Grammy Award winner John Mayer did so with "No Such Thing" and "Your Body Is a Wonderland" last year.

The 18-week climb to No. 1 for "You and I Both" is the second-longest journey to No. 1 on the chart, trailing Five for Fighting's "Easy Tonight," which took 19 weeks to reach the summit in January 2001.

KEYS NEARS JACKSON RECORD

Alicia Keys earns her third top 10 at adult R&B as "You Don't Know My Name" (J) moves 19-10 in its fourth week on the chart.

The title earns Greatest Gainer honors with an increase of 228 spins, the highest weekly gain since Sept. 7, 2001, when Michael Jackson's "You Rock My World" (Epic/Sony Urban Music) saw a 288-spin increase.

Keys' other two appearances in the top 10 of the adult R&B chart yielded a five-week stay at No. 1 with "Fallin'" and a three-week reign with "A Woman's Worth."

IT'S A WRAP

This issue marks the last week of the 2003 chart year. Top artists, songs and labels of the year will be honored in our special year-end issue dated Dec. 19.

PANEL CHANGES

KSPW Springfield, Mo., leaves the rhythmic top 40 panel for mainstream top 40. KLZR Topeka, Kan., joins the adult top 40 panel, while WPHH Hartford, Conn., joins the R&B/hip-hop panel. KFSD San Diego and KSYR Shreveport, La., are removed from the modern rock panel.
