Milian Sees New Highs With 'Low'

When Island introduced teen artist Christina Milian in 2001, her debut solo single—the cute, slightly urban “AM to PM”—was an ideal companion to the hook-heavy youth boom perpetuating top 40 radio.

The song scored admirably at radio, Milian was booked to tour with 'N Sync and she became a favorite of Radio Disney, Nickelodeon and Teen People.

But then the bottom fell out of the kiddie pop trend, as radio stations were inundated by a steady stream of overtly accessible music. Edgier, R&B-flavored artists wormed their way in to create the millennium's new brand of top 40.

Island, meanwhile, abruptly threw on the brakes, indefinitely postponing the U.S. release of Milian's already completed debut album, despite an attempt to tweak it with some additional, more urban-leaning tracks.

TIMELY TRANSITION

Fast forward to 2004. Milian blossoms into a 22-year-old with a sexy image, records an album that is perfectly in sync with the day (which she appropriately titles “It's About Time”) and side-swipes the awkward task of convincing radio that she is not a girl, but a woman now (read: Brandy, Monica).

Milian's transition from would-be pop idol to credible singer/songwriter is an example of branding an artist for radio at the right time while targeting the right audience for maximum—and in this case—more enduring exposure.

Milian has become what many believe is the ideal “pop” artist. She appeals to mainstream and rhythmic programmers and works outside of the medium in a series of high-profile film and TV projects.

“She's that rare artist who can walk into a room and turn on the pop guys, shaking it down but being prim and proper. And then she walks into the urban room and she can get down,” Island VP of promotion Erik Olesen says. “She's like a cross between Beyoncé and Jennifer Lopez.”

In terms of her audience, Olesen adds, “She had that Disney image four years ago, but those same kids that were 12 then are 16 now, so they think she's cool. They've grown together.”

“Dip It Low,” the first single from “It's About Time,” is among the signature songs of summer 2004, striking a bull's-eye at mainstream top 40 radio, where it has hit No. 2; rhythmic top 40, where it has climbed to No. 14; and even dance formats, where it reached the top 10.

The sexually provocative, R&B-skewed song, which features a rap from Fabolous, was first worked to R&B radio and clubs, beginning in December, Olesen says. “The song was blowing up in the black clubs in New York, and [R&B/hip-hop WQHT] Hot 97 was all over it.”

However, the song failed to gain critical mass, so the label switched gears and took “Dip It

Low” to rhythmic top 40—while its steamy videoclip went to TV. Several key radio stations in Chicago; Hartford, Conn.; Boston; and Providence, R.I., adopted the cut, but again, it didn't blow up nationwide.

Next was mainstream top 40, where Milian had already built a base with “AM to PM.”

“Programmers there loved her,” Olesen says, and within a couple months, the song gained traction at the format.

Rhythmic came from behind to catch up, and now renewed interest is bubbling at R&B; “Dip It Low” just entered the top 30 at R&B/hip-hop radio.

Erik Bradley, MD of rhythmic top 40 WBBM (B-96) Chicago—which was an early adopter of the song—believes the timing is right for Milian's star to shine across the board.

“We played ‘AM to PM’ very lightly,” he says, reflecting on Milian's introduction in 2001. “Unfortunately, the timing of that release was difficult, as radio was already oversaturated with Britney Spears, Christina Aguilera and Jessica Simpson. But when ‘Dip It Low’ dropped, there wasn't much to get in her way.”

That song, he adds, “is a smash for several reasons: melody, lyric, vocal performance—it's a catchy track. It adds up to one of B-96's most-played songs of 2004, among the top five.”

The song has garnered 1,200 spins to date at B-96, the most exposure from any outlet in the country. The station has also added the next single from Milian's album: “Whatever U Want,” featuring Joe Budden.

Bradley says Milian ideally straddles the line as a pop/R&B artist, making her a good fit for today's top 40.

“If you were to ask [about] her last project, namely ‘AM to PM,’ I would answer emphatically that she's a pop artist. However, now she is a pop/R&B artist, someone everyone can embrace and be a part of. ‘It's About Time’ is much more R&B-influenced than her previous work, and ‘Whatever U Want’ has a very pronounced old-school R&B feel.”

The success of Milian, says John Kage, APD/MD of KQKS San Diego, “is testament to what can happen when a couple of powerful and respected radio stations such as WJMN [Boston] and B-96 commit to and stick with a record and the label stays with the track through some doubt while it [grows].”

“Pop radio, along with the video, helped to familiarize the song and bring the rest of rhythm to the party,” Kage adds. “It happened in such a time frame that the front end wasn't losing spins while the back end gained, and a top 10 record is the result. ‘Dip It Low’ is a record that was worked the way it should be. It's a tremendous success story.”

The song has also triumphed on the club side, with remixes that have reached No. 5 on the Billboard Hot Dance Singles Sales chart.

“Every club we go to, it gets huge response,” notes Zac Davis, APD of WBVD (the Beat) Melbourne, Fla. “Girls can sing along with it and it's relatable to them—wanting to get their man's attention. And that brings the guys to the dancefloor.”

FROM ‘A BUG'S LIFE’ TO JA RULE

Milian's balancing act among pop, rhythmic and R&B is hardly a fluke. Her background includes gigs in all genres.

Before she was a teen, she played a recurring role on the Disney Channel's “Move Surfers.” By 13, she had made guest appearances on TV's “Charmed” and “Sister Sister” and provided a voice-over in the animated film “A Bug's Life.”

In 2000, Milian gained her first notoriety in music by singing the girlish chorus behind Ja Rule's No. 1 hit “Between You and Me.”

Then came her signing with Island, where she was first branded in the pop mold. According to Olesen, “We took her on a promo tour, putting her in the category of Janet Jackson, trying to make her our Island/Def Soul pop icon.”

“When the Twin Towers came down in 2001, pop radio went away—hard. And the album came to a halt here.”

Fortunately, pop music continued to thrive overseas, and the label propelled its artist to stardom in Germany, the United Kingdom, Japan and Italy. In all, Milian toured 17 countries for well over a year.

Then Milian returned to the States to host MTV's “Wannabes” series. That led to a role in the Nick Cannon film “Love Don't Cost a Thing.”

She also recorded the theme song to Disney TV series “Kim Possible.”

HARD TO CATEGORIZE

Sarah O'Connor, MD at rhythmic top 40 WPGC Washington, D.C., says, “Christina has shown that she is multitalented, with her movies, hosting MTV and the Ja Rule song, so I don't [think] we can categorize her yet. This is just the beginning of her music career.”

And most people don't readily identify Milian with “AM to PM,” indicating that “Dip” marks a new beginning for her music career, according to Greg Williams, PD of KDGS Wichita, Kan. “I did play ‘AM to PM,’ and it did not do so well. I believe ‘Dip It Low’ has really been the launch of her as an artist,” he says. “The marketing surrounding her on this project has been stronger.”

Williams adds that Milian “is truly a rhythmic artist that has evolved at pop and is being accepted at R&B. It's hard to label an artist with her diversity in sound and presence.”

Milian will spend the summer and early fall warming up for Usher's U.S. tour, as Island begins the official push for “Whatever U Want.”

She then has two movies coming out in early 2005: a leading role in “Cheer Up,” opposite Tommy Lee Jones, and a part in “Be Cool,” the follow-up to “Get Shorty,” starring John Travolta and Uma Thurman.

“Christina has been out there working hard,” Williams says. “She's young, beautiful, talented and smart. This is only the tip of the iceberg. She possesses all the ingredients to be a superstar in our business.”

Songs ranked by number of detections. Songs showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song will also receive a bullet if its percentage loss in detections does not exceed the percentage of monitored station downtime for the format. A song that has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in detections. Airpower awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. Greatest Gainer awarded to the song with the largest increase in detections. Most Airplay Adds awarded to the song registering six or more detections at the most stations for the first time this week. A song with a gain in detections over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining detections or each losing detections, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs below the top 20 become recurrents and are removed from the chart after 26 weeks. Airpower awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. Initial impact: songs appearing on this page for the first time in summary form. Airplay Adds are songs with 6 or more detections at new stations this week. The Airplay Leaderboard ranks taste-maker stations that have been the most successful in identifying future hit songs as measured by the amount of AIRPOWER titles for which they were Airplay Leaders. Refer to each format's Power Playlists page to see this week's Airplay Leaders. * indicates title earned HitPredictor status in research data provided by Promosquad.

IMPACT!

H=Heavy (55+ Detections), M=Medium (25-54), L=Light (Under 25). Airpower awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. ☆ Initial impact: songs appearing on this page for the first time in summary form. Airplay Adds are songs with 6 or more detections at new stations this week. The Airplay Leaderboard ranks taste-maker stations that have been the most successful in identifying future hit songs as measured by the amount of AIRPOWER titles for which they were Airplay Leaders. Refer to each format's Power Playlists page to see this week's Airplay Leaders. ☆ indicates title earned HitPredictor status in research data provided by Promosquad.

Songs ranked by number of detections. (N) Songs showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song will also receive a bullet if its percentage loss in detections does not exceed the percentage of monitored station downtime for the format. A song that has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in detections. Airpower awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. Greatest Gainer awarded to the song with the largest increase in detections. Most Airplay Adds awarded to the song registering six or more detections at the most stations for the first time this week. A song with a gain in detections over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining detections or each losing detections, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs below the top 15 become recurrenents and are removed from the chart after 26 weeks. ^N Nielsen BDS certification for airplay of 100,000 detections on all monitored stations, including satellite and national networks, across the U.S. and Canada. Numerical following symbol indicates multiple level of 100,000 detections.

WEEKLY PLAYLIST

Songs ranked by number of detections. Playlists are listed in order of TSA weekly cumes, beginning with the highest-cuming station. Cumes are updated twice yearly following the release of the spring and fall Arbitron surveys. The number of stations shown each week varies depending upon space. *Indicates station reports to both Adult Top 40 and Modern AC.

Songs ranked by number of detections. Songs showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song will also receive a bullet if its percentage loss in detections does not exceed the percentage of monitored station downtime for the format. A song that has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in detections. Airpower awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. Greatest Gainer awarded to the song with the largest increase in detections. Most Airplay Adds awarded to the song registering six or more detections at the most stations for the first time this week. A song with a gain in detections over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining detections or each losing detections, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs below the top 15 become recurrents and are removed from the chart after 26 weeks. N Nielsen BDS certification for airplay of 100,000 detections on all monitored stations, including satellite and national networks, across the U.S. and Canada. Numeral following symbol indicates multiple level of 100,000 detections.

Songs ranked by number of detections. Playlists are listed in order of TSA weekly cumes, beginning with the highest-cuming station. Cumes are updated twice yearly following the release of the spring and fall Arbitron surveys. The number of stations shown each week varies depending upon space. 6 denotes songs with 6 or more detections at station for first time this week.

Songs ranked by number of detections. Songs showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song will also receive a bullet if its percentage loss in detections does not exceed the percentage of monitored station downtime for the format. A song that has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in detections. Airpower awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. Greatest Gainer awarded to the song with the largest increase in detections. Most Airplay Adds awarded to the song registering six or more detections at the most stations for the first time this week. A song with a gain in detections over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining detections or each losing detections, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs below the top 20 become recurrents and are removed from the chart after 26 weeks. Nielsen BDS certification for airplay of 100,000 detections on all monitored stations, including satellite and national networks, across the U.S. and Canada. Numeral following symbol indicates multiple level of 100,000 detections.

H=Heavy (55+ Detections), M=Medium (25-54), L=Light (Under 25). Airpower awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. Initial impact: songs appearing on this page for the first time in summary form. Airplay Adds are songs with 6 or more detections at new stations this week. The Airplay Leaderboard ranks taste-maker stations that have been the most successful in identifying future hit songs as measured by the amount of AIRPOWER titles for which they were Airplay Leaders. Refer to each format's Power Playlists page to see this week's Airplay Leaders. ☆ indicates title earned HiPREDICTOR status in research data provided by Protoniq.

WMBX Has A Brand-New Jam: Voting

Radio and politics have made for strange bedfellows in recent months. With all of the Capitol Hill back-and-forth on indecency, some stations might decide to shy away from the political process. However, Infinity Broadcasting's WMBX (X 102.3) West Palm Beach, Fla., is aiming to get listeners involved with its "Jam the Vote" campaign.

Unlike the typical station-organized voter registration drive, WMBX has launched a multi-tiered campaign aimed at getting its listeners to the polls.

The idea for the promotion came from WMBX promotions director Jason Gani. He launched his first "Jam the Vote" campaign at WJMZ (107.3) Greenville, S.C., and he says he knew it would work in West Palm Beach.

"Coming into Florida, I sat down with our PD, Mark McCray, shared my idea and told him I thought we could take it to another level," Gani says. "He really liked the idea, and we kicked off the campaign in March."

"A lot of people had their eye on [this market] because of what happened in the 2000 election, so something like this was something that needed to be addressed, especially with our audience, because young folks and minorities don't go to the polls like they should," McCray adds. "We wanted to make sure that wasn't an issue for this election. So, it was a no-brainer."

In 2000, Florida was at the center of the presidential election controversy when votes had to be recounted because of polling discrepancies.

With McCray on board, Gani had to convince the Palm Beach County's supervisor of elections, Theresa LePore, to take part in the program.

"I asked her for background and issues that she had in terms of voters," Gani says. "She was really interested in reaching the youth and getting their message out. We talked about how the station could help, and it started with just the station doing registration drives. We wanted to educate the youth on how important it was to register to vote."

LePore's office agreed to participate in the campaign, which began with on-air spots from station jocks stressing the importance of voting.

MESSAGE IS IN THE MIX

"We then took it a step further and got some artists involved," Gani says. "Anytime an artist came to the station or when we went out to cover events like the Billboard/American Urban Radio Networks R&B/Hip-Hop Awards and BET's Spring Bling, we asked them to give us a drop about voting. It was so amazing to see how their whole attitude changed when we brought it up. They were all really passionate about it and gave us these great sound bites."

With the station's on-air promotion and voter registration drives in full swing, Gani then came up with the idea for a "Jam the Vote" mix-CD.

"I was in my office after a voter registration/education event at one of the local high schools, and the idea to do a mix tape hit me like a lightning bolt," he says. "I suggested to [LePore] that we include a voter registration form inside the CD. Theresa loved the idea. Now, there are no more excuses. [Listeners] will want the mix tape, and then they will also get the form. We got together with Digital Star, one of our clients, and planned everything out—from the look to the sound."

"The most important thing to me is the message," he adds. "Having Twista say, 'If you're old enough to vote, go out and vote. If you're not, go to your moms or people that you do know and tell them to vote,' or Jadakiss saying, 'Russell Simmons inspired me to get out and vote' is huge. These are people that [our listeners] can relate to. The same goes for our jocks."

The mix-CD, which is now available, is just another way of getting the station's message to the masses.

"Mix tapes are hot right now," McCray says. "We knew we had to put something in the hands of our listeners. Just giving them a voter registration form would be somewhat effective but not nearly as effective as 'Here is this CD, and inside is a voter registration card.' It's an incentive to fill it out."

"It also reinforces what we do as a radio station," he adds. "We can still promote ourselves via the CD, and at the same time promote the importance of getting out there this election season."

According to Gani, the mix-CD, which also features WMBX's on-air personalities, will be distributed through clients who serve as sponsors; high school and college drops; club nights; and other appearances.

"It's not a true mix tape in terms of what you would find in the streets," Gani says. "This is something that everyone can grab. It's completely clean. A little kid can bring this home to their parents and suggest they fill out the form. It's just something very simple that puts the message out there."

DRIVE TO SUCCEED

In addition to the mix-CD, WMBX's voter registration drives have also been successful in spreading the word.

"We've been doing a program with Brandsmart USA where we register voters every Friday," Gani says. "Some days we register 100 people and some days we register four people. But that's four more people that are now registered and four more people getting that message."

"The response has been huge," McCray adds. "We feel that there is an extra few hundred people walking around here now [with] voter registration cards because of our events."

In addition to companies like Digital Star and Brandsmart USA, WMBX has enlisted a host of sponsors for its "Jam the Vote" campaign. The mix-CD is sponsored by S.W.A.T., a West Palm Beach-based custom car company.

While the promotion has put the station in the spotlight, McCray and Gani agree it's about more than just publicity.

"This is such a hot topic right now, especially for our audience, that we had to do something," McCray says. "We wouldn't be doing our jobs if we didn't jump into this issue with both feet. This is something that [our listeners] will take with them now and for a while. Hopefully, they will become habitual voters."

Gani agrees. "I have always been a supporter of the voting process. Even in college back in '92, I was involved with the Clinton campaign on a local level. Whenever something goes wrong, you always want to complain. What has gone on in the last four years has really affected all of us, so to just sit there with your hands folded and do nothing is just absurd."

"It's so amazing to see these artists get involved, especially the hip-hop artists," he adds. "Most artists do not tend to get political, unless you're KRS-One or Public Enemy. So to be able to see Russell, [P. Diddy] and all these other artists getting involved is really exciting, and it brings the point home."

Miami Heat

The fifth annual Billboard/American Urban Radio Networks R&B/Hip-Hop Conference brought together the genres' best and brightest Aug. 4-6 at the Eden Roc Resort in Miami Beach (Airplay Monitor, Aug. 13).

The fourth annual Billboard/AURN R&B/Hip-Hop Awards, held Aug. 6 at Miami Beach's Fifteen O One Barton G, concluded the conference by honoring a host of artists and record labels, including R. Kelly, Isaac Hayes, KRS-One, Island Def Jam Music Group andTVT Records. (Photos: Arnold Turner)

"The Marketing Matrix" focused on developing effective marketing alternatives to reach an already media-bombarded audience. The session, moderated by Airplay Monitor R&B editor/Billboard staff writer Rashaun Hall, was presented by Unda Siege Records. Pictured, from left, are Hall, Interscope Geffen A&M VP of rap Kevin Black, Spirit Music Group senior A&R director Justin Kalifowitz, Mastermind Group president Erin Patton and Zomba Label Group VP of urban marketing Phillana Williams.

Music World Entertainment/Sanctuary Urban Records Group (SURG) president Mathew Knowles was as the subject for this year's Billboard Q&A, sponsored by Hoodlum Entertainment. Pictured after the discussion, from left, are Billboard Information Group president/publisher John Kilcullen, Billboard advertising director/Airplay Monitor senior account manager Johnna Johnson, Billboard R&B/hip-hop senior writer/panel moderator Gail Mitchell, Knowles, George's Music Room's George Daniels and SURG senior director of promotions Leslie Wyatt.

'This is such a hot topic right now, especially for our audience, that we had to do something.'

Songs ranked by number of detections. Songs showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song will also receive a bullet if its percentage loss in detections does not exceed the percentage of monitored station downtime for the format. A song that has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in detections. Airpower awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. Greatest Gainer awarded to the song with the largest increase in detections. Most Airplay Adds awarded to the song registering six or more detections at the most stations for the first time this week. A song with a gain in detections over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining detections or each losing detections, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs below the top 20 become recurrents and are removed from the chart after 26 weeks. Nielsen BDS certification for airplay of 100,000 detections on all monitored stations, including satellite and national networks, across the U.S. and Canada. Songs ranked by number of detections. Songs showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song will also receive a bullet if its percentage loss in detections does not exceed the percentage of monitored station downtime for the format. A song that has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in detections. Airpower awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. Greatest Gainer awarded to the song with the largest increase in detections. Most Airplay Adds awarded to the song registering six or more detections at the most stations for the first time this week. A song with a gain in detections over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining detections or each losing detections, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs below the top 20 become recurrents and are removed from the chart after 26 weeks. Nielsen BDS certification for airplay of 100,000 detections on all monitored stations, including satellite and national networks, across the U.S. and Canada. Numerical following symbol indicates multiple level of 100,000 detections.

Debate Over Paid Spins Rages On

In recent weeks the issue of paid spin programs at radio stations and groups has become a hot-button topic on Music Row and in the country radio community.

While it was hardly the first record label to employ these legal programs, MCA Nashville's strategic use of paid spins for Reba McEntire's "Somebody" attracted the industry's attention and ignited a debate over programming ethics last month.

As that debate continues, Airplay Monitor polled programmers and group executives representing major chains and independent operators and found that most—including some who work for companies that offer paid spin programs—have problems with the practice.

Among their primary concerns, programmers say it is bad programming to play songs based on money rather than merit. They also fear trade magazine charts, including those of Monitor, can be manipulated by labels utilizing paid spins. Monitor is currently assessing chart alternatives.

But paid spin programs also have their supporters at radio.

"I approve [of] it," Journal Broadcast Group director of country programming Moon Mullins says. While some say paid spins are bad programming, others, including Mullins, say they hardly matter because they are largely utilized in overnights.

"I am sure all 200 of the overnight listeners would tolerate it," Mullins quips, "particularly if it were an already established top 10 tune."

While Mullins says Journal does not have a paid spins program in place, he says he would endorse the idea.

PD Eddie Haskell of Citadel's KRST Albuquerque, N.M., says of paid spins, "I see nothing wrong with it as long as it's all done legally and fully disclosed . . . It's an opportunity to add revenue to a daypart that typically doesn't bring in much money.

"TV stations used to rerun Letterman at 3 a.m. Now they run infomercials because they don't make money rerunning Letterman."

Haskell says such programs are "a win for the label [in] extra spins and a win for the station [in] additional revenue."

HASKELL

IS IT ARTIFICIAL CHART INSEMINATION?

Still, the majority of country programmers Monitor polled have concerns about paid spins.

Emmis' KZLA Los Angeles OM R.J. Curtis calls the practice "fundamentally wrong" and likens it to "artificial insemination" of the charts.

"I'm not crazy about these kinds of spins, because they're not real," Curtis says. "If they're legal, there's not much anybody can do about them. The labels are utilizing a technicality to maximize the record."

Adam Jeffries, MD of the Buck Owens-owned KUZZ Bakersfield, Calif., agrees. "It may be legal, but it sure smacks of payola," he says. "Labels pay the stations to play it, but because they are buying advertising, then is it OK? It's basically just a loophole that needs to be closed.

"Paid spins of any kind are bad programming," Jeffries adds. "Whether it's a PD with his hand out, or a radio group getting paid to run a song once an hour on the overnight. Anytime you compromise the overall sound of your station, it's a bad thing."

Margot St. John, MD of Hall Radio's WOKO Burlington, Vt., calls paid spins "wrong, wrong, wrong. It's not a matter of legality, it's a matter of quality . . . Taking money for a song that will not be a hit is a short-term solution."

John Paul, PD of Infinity's WYRK Buffalo, N.Y., says paid spins are "misleading to listeners, radio stations and the acts. I want to look at spins and know that's a real number, not inflated because of money."

Clear Channel's KAJA San Antonio PD Clayton Allen likens what he calls the "falsely inflated" end results of paid spins to the stocks of Enron and WorldCom. "The point of this is obviously to erroneously inflate chart position," he says. "More than likely, sales will not follow, and the money [will not have been] well spent."

"We spend tens of thousands of dollars to find out what our listeners want to hear," Clear Channel's WMZQ Washington, D.C., PD George King says. "It's bad programming to let dollars dictate how many times you play a song."

Steve Kelly, director of programming and operations for Clear Channel's Jackson, Miss., cluster, says, "Radio will be hurting itself for short-term financial gain at the risk of creating tune-out with potentially bad songs."

Jaye Albright, a consulting partner with Albright & O'Malley Country Consulting, compares paid spins to "running too many commercials to hit revenue goals. It is short-term thinking to play any song more than local research dictates just for money."

St. John agrees. "Satellite radio, Internet radio, and iPods—to name a few—are too great a threat to radio for us to squander listener loyalty by jettisoning our programming standards for short-term gains."

Albright says the overnight audience is being "abused" by having to listen to paid spins.

More Opinions On Spin Programs

Here's what some other executives and programmers have to say on the topic of paid spin programs.

• John Dickey, executive VP, Cumulus Broadcasting: "If a label is interested in sponsoring spins on a radio station on a product that we're going to play . . . we would have to handle that on a case-by-case basis. If it's designed to move something artificially up the charts that our listeners are not interested in, we're going to turn that down."

"Some [radio] groups might be enticed. We certainly are not. It's not something that I think makes sense for our company [because we have so few monitored country stations]. The economics of this are so small in the scope of things . . . There's not really a lot of money in it."

"Every responsible head of programming for companies of our size today has to make a decision about whether they want to sacrifice a little bit of their integrity for a few programming dollars."

• Frank Bell, VP of programming, Keymarket Communications: "The issue of paid spins is a critical issue affecting the credibility of all record charts. There are thousands of businesses—including radio stations, dance clubs, music services and syndicators—who rely on format charts to determine whether a song is popular. When those charts are manipulated . . . bad decisions get made, and businesses get hurt."

"Our stations have not participated in any paid spins programs, and we are no more interested in doing that than we are airing three-minute infomercials about golf or fishing. As a programmer or GM, you can rationalize it any way you want, but the reality is you're turning your product over to your sales department. Would Miller Lite change its ingredients because the brand manager got a free trip to Vegas?"

"I've always enjoyed competing against programmers who sell their spins for cash, credit cards or any number of other gifts and services. Ultimately, they are done in by their personal or corporate greed when listeners eventually figure out which stations do a better job serving their interests."

WILLIAMS

• Paul Williams, PD, Susquehanna's KPLX (the Wolf) Dallas: "I don't think [paid spins are] anything we would ever consider. We spin songs based on research, sales, requests and our music director Cody [Alan's] amazing talent for finding the right songs for Wolf."

• Chris Huff, APD/MD, ABC Radio's KSCS Dallas: "Television discovered the advantages of paid programming many years ago. Instead of signing off or running C-roll movies all night, [TV stations sold] 30-minute blocks to the latest kitchen gadget or miracle cleaning solution company. Who cares? It's two in the morning, and the station is able to make money in a daypart where it otherwise wouldn't."

"Is that where music radio is headed? Thirty minutes of music 'sponsored' by XYZ Records? Just how long will it be until we see stations whose entire midnight to 5 a.m. lineup is 'sponsored' programming? And again, who cares? It's not a rated daypart."

"However, it is rated in the sense that it affects the 'rating system' of the music we play. The chart system that is designed to be an unbiased barometer of the relative national popularity of songs will grow more susceptible to the whims and variances of such sponsored programming. While the more astute programmers will always find ways to dig below the surface to see a song's true story, the record books are still going to get skewed. If overnight programming has become a write-off for programmers, then it should be written off the charts as well."

• Dale Carter, PD, Infinity's KFKF Kansas City: "The whole paid spins thing is a bunch of crap. It distorts reality and is a slippery slope to mediocre records becoming No. 1s if the label has deep enough pockets. I won't participate in that."

ON THE HROW

Moraine Expands With New Label

Nashville-based publishing and production company Moraine Music Group is expanding its artist development division to include a new country label, Moraine Records.

Moraine was founded by Grammy Award-winning producer/songwriter Brent Maher. He has produced records for the Judds, Kenny Rogers, Jo Dee Messina, Shelby Lynne and others. Veteran record promoter Stan Byrd is the company's VP of promotion. He previously worked for Warner Bros. and Asylum Records. The label's first two signings are writer/artists Jenai and Sean Locke. Label executives plan to forge individual distribution deals for each artist. Locke's first single, "Don't Look Away," has already been sent to secondary-market radio stations.

The company's boutique publishing division is also home to writer/artists Kevin Welch, Kieran Kane, Billy Montana, Mark Selby and Keni Thomas.

In other news, director of sales and marketing Barry Yarbrough and office manager Anne Sarosdy have been let go at Koch Records Nashville. Yarbrough's duties are now handled out of the company's New York office.

"Enough of this sort of thing and radio's overnight audience will decline," she says.

"Why should people listening overnight be subjected to inferior programming?" St. John asks.

Paul agrees. "It doesn't matter if it's overnights or morning drive," he says. "I want my radio station to be the best it can be and as consistent as it can [be] 24 hours a day."

While there is no evidence that the practice is escalating, many programmers believe it is a possibility. "If one label can participate in a program that adds spins, it would seem that others would want to participate in order to remain competitive," Haskell says.

"I don't blame the labels—they are doing what they think is right for their artists," King says. "We in radio have to do what's right for the station and its listeners, and that's up to each individual PD."

Songs ranked by number of detections. ○ Songs showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song will also receive a bullet if its percentage loss in detections does not exceed the percentage of monitored station downtime for the format. Airpower awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. Greatest Gainer awarded to the song with the largest increase in detections. Most Airplay Adds awarded to the song registering six or more detections at the most stations for the first time this week. A song with a gain in detections over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining detections or each losing detections, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs below the top 15 become recurrents and are removed from the chart after 20 weeks. * Nielsen BDS certification for airplay of 100,000 detections on all monitored stations, including satellite and national networks, across the U.S. and Canada. Numeral following symbol indicates multiple level of 100,000 detections.

RIDIN' WITH THE LEGEND

BB/Monitor 48 R&R Ind. #41 by Keith Bryant

Ray Knight, XM Radio "Keith's record is easily in our top 5 most requested songs on America 10."
 Adam Jeffries, KUZZ "Still one of our most requested songs."
 Bob McNeil, WNKT "Since I've started playing it back in June, it's never been out of the Top 8 at 8 Requests."
 Brad Austin, WGTY "The phones are ringing all the time, people want to know where they can get this record."
 Dr. Bruce, KFTX "Been one of our hottest records since the minute we played it."
 Rick Barker, KRAZ "One of my 2 most requested. It lights up the phones!"
 Gary Murdock, WXFL "This song is a hit. It's not that hard, all they have to do is play it."

FOR WEEK ENDING AUGUST 15, 2004

Songs ranked by number of detections. Playlists are listed in order of TSA weekly cume, beginning with the highest-cuming station. Cumes are updated twice yearly following the release of the spring and fall Arbitron surveys. The number of stations shown each week varies depending upon space.

Nielsen Broadcast Data Systems

denotes songs with 6 or more detections at station for first time this week.

Radio Reacts To Vote For Change Tour

How do radio stations walk the fine line of community responsibility by encouraging voter registration without appearing to have a political bias or an affinity for a particular party?

"It's really tricky," classic rock WMGK Philadelphia PD Cruze says. "Despite Bush campaigning as a uniter, the reality is that the country is more politically split down the middle than I've ever seen in my lifetime. And when you do the research on the rock audience, particularly on the classic rock audience, you'll see that they're split down the middle, too. If there's a lean to one side, it's very slight, and that's probably geographical."

"With Pennsylvania a swing state, we're right in the thick of it, and here's this show in Philly that has Bruce Springsteen & the E Street Band, John Fogerty and R.E.M.," Cruze continues. "This is a hugely important show, yet the politics are very out front, and it's extremely partisan. The tough thing is to put aside my own personal feelings, have my airstaff put aside theirs and try to present this as neutrally as possible."

"The division is so acute and the emotions are so ratcheted up in this election year that by simply mentioning that the show is happening, there is a group of people that feel that we're now promoting the show and have therefore taken a side. It's extremely difficult."

Unprecedented, unique and decidedly partisan, this October's Vote for Change tour has created a buzz since it was announced. Featuring Springsteen, Pearl Jam, R.E.M., Dave Matthews Band and many others, the event will feature six separate one-week tours that will play in nine "swing states" in an effort to unseat President Bush. And that's where the problem arises for stations looking to tie in to the concert.

The tour, which is being promoted by and benefits the organization America Coming Together, will be held in conjunction with liberal political organization MoveOnPAC. The war in Iraq, the focus on the economy and the personalities of Bush and his rival, Democrat John Kerry, has pushed politics to the forefront of news coverage for many months.

The lineup of acts participating in the tour alone makes it an event that any rock station would want to be involved with. Yet by aligning themselves with a tour that has such a partisan bent, stations run the risk of alienating a large part of their audience.

REMAINING NEUTRAL

Station PDs contacted by Airplay Monitor were at pains to remain neutral about the tour when discussing it.

"We're positioning the show as 'Here's what it is, and if you want to support it, here's how you do it,'" mainstream rock WIOT Toledo, Ohio, APD Troy Michaels says. "We're not taking a shot at it, we're just passing along the information and letting people make a decision whether it's something they want to be a part of."

"From what we've read, it's about getting Bush out of office, but we're not going on the air and saying, 'Anyone but Bush.' We're just saying that it's Vote for Change, that it's a big rally, that Pearl Jam is one of the bands that support it and you can have a good time by seeing them if you want to."

"We stated that Bruce Springsteen & the E Street Band was playing here as part of the Vote for Change tour, that the information was on our Web site and we wanted to know whether our listeners thought this was a concert or a political rally," classic rock WHTQ Orlando, Fla., PD Greg

Stevens says. "So we conducted an Internet poll and found that about 70% of our listeners and visitors to our Web site said that they would prefer the station not even give away tickets to the show."

"You have to understand that the station carries the John Boy & Billy Big Show Network in the morning, which probably skews us a little bit to the right of Dick Cheney, which partially explains the results of our poll."

"We're trying to take pains to say that this is not a political statement and we're not telling you who to vote for," Cruze says. "We're telling you that this exists, and here's the position these artists are taking. If this appeals to you, partake in it; if it doesn't appeal to you but you want to hear the music, partake in it but go into it with your eyes open and know what it's about. And if it's something that you're against, you need to also know about that so you can choose to not support it. That's a difficult position to articulate, because people are so emotional about it, and they hear what they want to hear."

Some stations, such as mainstream rock WTUE Dayton, Ohio, are choosing not to get involved. PD Tony Tilford says the main reason is that he doesn't want to alienate listeners.

"Even though we don't play the Dave Matthews Band, the show is a lifestyle event that would fit with our listeners," he says. "But Bruce Springsteen has $100 million and never has to do anything again, so if he wants to piss off half his fan base, he can do that. But we have to answer to Arbitron every three months. It's too volatile this year. We're encouraging people to register to vote, but we're playing it straight down the middle on the air."

RIGHT TO CHOOSE

To keep from taking any sides, the stations that plan on giving away tickets to the shows plan on offering alternate prizes should their right-leaning listeners win.

"When we opened up the phones about the topic, we found that people felt that just generally mentioning the concert and giving away tickets—if in fact we got any—would be tantamount to supporting the cause of the concert, since it's not balanced with anything else," Stevens says. "So we asked them, 'What if you had the option of winning Springsteen tickets or some other prize, where you could take your choice?' They were a lot more agreeable to that, so that's the direction we're looking at."

"We can't ignore the show. It's right here in Philadelphia, and there's no way to ignore it," Cruze says. "And with Bruce, we want to be involved with it. If we're giving tickets away, we'll probably buy a handful and give the listener a choice to take the tickets or take an amount of money equal to what the tickets cost and donate it to the other side of the campaign. That way, the winners get to choose for themselves."

"If they're more conservative or Republican-leaning, they can decide whether they want the tickets knowing that the money from them went to Democratic causes. This is as tricky an issue as I've seen since I arrived in Philadelphia."

Stevens says that only two listeners have complained to him after realizing the agenda behind Vote for Change.

"These people said, 'I don't care about John Kerry, I don't want to hear about this,'" he says. "There was one guy that immediately said, 'This is the typical liberal media,' and I told him that we were just asking people's opinions. I don't know how more fair we could be. If Ted Nugent wants to have a pro-Bush rally, we would talk about that too. But these people are so extreme in their views, it's hard to reason with them."

"There's a group of people walking around with an enormous chip on their shoulder looking for something to be mad about," Cruze says. "You wouldn't believe some of the e-mail that I've received, and what's alarming about it is that it's not necessarily knuckleheads. Despite the fact that I think they've jumped to a conclusion way too soon, a lot of what they're saying is really eloquent."

Stevens says the majority of WHTQ's listeners had to be explicitly told what the concert was about.

"We found that despite the ample news coverage of the various tours, both national and local, that many listeners had no awareness that the Springsteen show was anything other than just another concert," he says. "We thought the name 'Vote for Change' was self-explanatory, but we found quite the opposite. Most who contacted us did not know why Bruce was coming, other than to play a concert. It was only after we explained it to them or they read it on our Web site that they expressed concern or support regarding the political content of the event."

Michaels, who also handles afternoons at WIOT, hasn't received any negative calls about the tour. In fact, he hasn't had any calls at all.

"We have another show that's causing a lot of a stir," he says. "We're having a $10 show that's a bike rally, and Tesla is going to play, and have sold 3,000 tickets in less than two weeks. I think that's where everyone's attention is. It's definitely going to become a big event as it leads up to it, though."

Cruze says that he's working on a spot for WMGK that will explain what's at the heart of the show.

"It will basically say, 'Isn't it great that we live in a country where this dialogue happens, and this in fact is what our soldiers died for, is our right to have this dialogue. And even if you disagree with their point of view, these concerts aren't anti-American—they're very American.' I won't take a partisan stance, but I will take that stance, just the same way I would Ted Nugent's right to come to town and do a show for the NRA."

Songs ranked by number of detections. ▲ showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song will also receive a bullet if its percentage loss in detections does not exceed the percentage of monitored station downtime for the format. A song that has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in detections. Airpower awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. Greatest Gainer awarded to the song with the largest increase in detections. Most Airplay Adds awarded to the song registering six or more detections at the most stations for the first time this week. A song with a gain in detections over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining detections or each losing detections, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs below the top 20 become recurrents and are removed from the chart after 26 weeks. ■ Nielsen BDS certification for airplay of 100,000 detections on all monitored stations, including satellite and national networks, across the U.S. and Canada. Numerical following symbol indicates multiple level of 100,000 detections.

Songs ranked by number of detections. (○) Songs showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song will also receive a bullet if its percentage loss in detections does not exceed the percentage of monitored station downtime for the format. A song that has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in detections. Airpower awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. Greatest Gainer awarded to the song with the largest increase in detections. Most Airplay Adds awarded to the song registering six or more detections at the most stations for the first time this week. A song with a gain in detections over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining detections or each losing detections, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs below the top 20 become recurrents and are removed from the chart after 26 weeks. ¹ Nielsen BDS certification for airplay of 100,000 detections on all monitored stations, including satellite and national networks, across the U.S. and Canada. Numeral following symbol indicates multiple level of 100,000 detections.

LOW POWER PLAYLISTS

FOR WEEK ENDING AUGUST 15, 2004

Songs ranked by number of detections. Playlists are listed in order of TSA weekly cume, beginning with the highest-cuming station. Cumes are updated twice yearly following the release of the spring and fall Arbitron surveys. The number of stations shown each week varies depending upon space.

AA denotes songs with 6 or more detections at station for first time this week.

Songs are blind tested online by Promosquad using multiple listens and a nationwide sample of carefully profiled music consumers. Songs are rated on a 1-5 scale; final results are based on weighted positives. Songs with a score of 65 or more are judged to have top 10 callout potential, although that benchmark number can fluctuate based on the strength of available music. New Releases are songs that have been recently serviced to or impacted at their respective formats; Recently Tested Songs are the songs tested during the past month with the highest score. For a complete list of current songs with Top 10 Callout Potential, see HitPredictor.com. © 2003. Promosquad is a trademark of Think Fast LLC.

Linkin Park Makes No. 1 A Habit

Linkin Park's "Breaking the Habit" (Warner Bros.) moves 2-1 at modern rock and extends the group's record at the format for most No. 1 tracks from a single album. The five modern chart-toppers from "Metemora" have spent a total of 27 weeks at No. 1 thus far, which is three shy of the record for most weeks at No. 1 from one album. That benchmark was set by the Red Hot Chili Peppers' "Californication." The album had three songs—"Scar Tissue," "Otherside" and "Californication"—spend a total of 30 weeks at No. 1 in 1999 and 2000.

Overall, Linkin Park has now totaled 32 weeks at No. 1 from six tracks, which moves it into sole possession of second place ahead of labelmate R.E.M.'s 31 weeks at No. 1. The Chili Peppers, also on Warner Bros., hold the lead with 58 weeks at No. 1.

FIRST TIME IS THE CHARM AT MAINSTREAM

After topping The Billboard 200 with her debut album, "Autobiography," Ashlee Simpson continues her chart assault as she takes her inaugural single, "Pieces of Me" (Geffen), to No. 1 at mainstream top 40. The track supplants another debut single from the top of the chart, as JoJo's "Leave (Get Out)" ends its five-week reign. Female artists were responsible for the last back-to-back debut No. 1s, which occurred in the Sept. 28, 2001, issue when Alicia Keys' "Fallin'" replaced Blu Cantrell's "Hit 'Em Up Style (Oops!)."

TERRORIZING A CHART NEAR YOU

Following the No. 1 trail blazed at R&B/hip-hop and rap, "Lean Back" (UMRG) by Terror Squad takes the top spot at rhythmic top 40 in the tightest three-way race the chart has seen in almost eight years. The track overtakes Lil' Flip's "Sunshine" by a mere 10 detections and leads No. 3 "Goodies" from Ciara by only 13 spins.

The last time the top three slots of the chart were so tightly grouped was in the Nov. 29, 1996, issue when the same 13 points stood between Toni Braxton's "Un-Break My Heart" at No. 1 and "No Diggity" by Blackstreet at No. 3. Stuck in the middle was Keith Sweat's "Nobody."

LONG AND WINDING ROAD

Christina Milian sets the mark for the longest climb into the top 10 of the rhythmic top 40 chart, as "Dip It Low" (IDJMG) climbs 11-10 in its 21st consecutive chart week. Los Del Rio's "Macarena" had a longer trek to the top 10 at 25 weeks, but it included two chart runs in 1995 and 1996 that were separated by a six-month hiatus.

Milian climbed as high as No. 26 in May and then dipped to No. 38 in June before turning the tide and posting positive spin growth each week since.

On the adult top 40 chart, Gavin DeGraw becomes the first male solo artist of 2004 to score a top 10 on the adult top 40 chart, as "I Don't Wanna Be" (J/RMG) moves 11-10 in its 22nd week. That run is the longest climb into the chart's top 10 for a male solo artist and the second-longest overall in a single chart run. Only Jann Arden's "Insensitive" at 26 weeks took longer.

HORNSBY GETS FIRST MONITOR NO. 1

Bruce Hornsby earns his first Airplay Monitor No. 1 as his Columbia Records debut, "Gonna Be Some Changes Made," jumps 3-1 at triple-A. The track marks Hornsby's second appearance on the triple-A chart since its 1996 inception following "Great Divide," which peaked at No. 6 in October 1998.

NEW LOOK FOR HITPREDICTOR CHART

With the goal of exposing programmers to more titles with hit potential, the HitPredictor chart has been slightly tweaked. New titles testing with top 10 callout potential, which used to be listed in the left-hand column, are now incorporated within the overall song list and are highlighted in red. With this adjustment, the capacity of ranked titles has nearly doubled for all formats, providing our readers with a more complete sample of songs poised for future success.

PANEL CHANGES

WHBQ Memphis and KZCH Wichita, Kan., have been added to the mainstream top 40 panel. WMAD Madison, Wis., is added to modern rock while WTPT Greenville, S.C., moves from active to modern. Making the switch from modern to active are KTEG Albuquerque, N.M., and WBSX Wilkes-Barre, Pa.
