Radio Awards Nominees: You Make The Call

For the past seven years, nominees for the Billboard/Airplay Monitor Radio Awards have been chosen by blue-ribbon panels made up of PDs, label promotion people, and staffers at Billboard and the Top 40 Airplay Monitor. But this year, we're deputizing our readers. Ballots for the top 40 category appears inside this week's Top 40 Airplay Monitor. The AC ballot will appear next week. Voice your choice in each format for the best in the following categories: program director, music director, air personality, syndicated personality, syndicated show, promotion director, and, in our newest category, consultant of the year. Then send it back to us by May 12.

We'll tally your ballots and print the nominations for this year's Billboard/Airplay Monitor Radio Awards in the July 7 issue of the Top 40 Airplay Monitor and the July 8 issue of Billboard. The awards will be presented at the Billboard/Airplay Monitor Radio Seminar Oct. 12-14 at New York's Marriott Marquis. SEAN ROSS

Dave Matthews Band

"Top callout, top requests week after week!"

—Brian Phillips

Program Director, 99X

"What Would You Say is pulling early phones and sounds great on Z100. When Dave Matthews Band performs it's more of an experience rather than just a concert. They have a loyal hard core following that joins in on the journey."

—Andy Shane, Assistant PD, Z100

"We knew this was a hit all along! It just sounds too good—Top 20 requests; album sales explode in Jacksonville from #30 to #7!"

—Jeff McCartney, Program Director, WAPE

"A great sounding record. Fits what Top 40 is all about in the '90s."

—Tomy Mascaro, Music Director, WPRO

"Now we get it. It works!"

—Mark Jackson, Assistant PD, WHYT

"The hippest band out right now. You better be aware of this record, because your listeners already are."

—Rob Wagman, Music Director, WNTQ

"Exploding out of the college market.

A must play to stay on top of the 18-24 audience."

—Charlie Quinn, Y107

"Sounds great on the air, a unique sound that makes listeners sit up and take notice. Great album sales off one single—that should tell ya something."

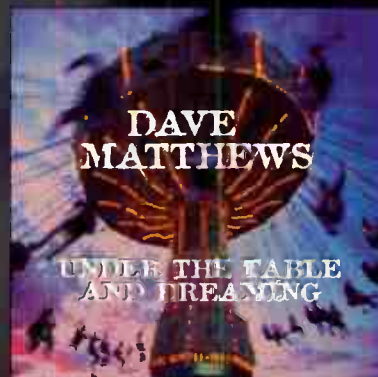

—Kenny Knight
Music Director, WKBQ

If WFLZ Tampa, Fla., PD B.J. Harris ever wonders who's tying up his listen line at night, it's me, working late. After several years, the one-time "Power Pig," which had begun to sound almost like any other radio station, again may be the most intriguing station in the format.

Part of the reason is the music. While last year's "MTV format" experiments are now just painful memories to the PDs involved, WFLZ is one of the few stations recently to infuse a lot of modern rock into its mix without backing off the R&B reaction records and without much else for adult balance. It's a big city top 40 where you can hear Soul For Real, Nine Inch Nails, and Fun Factory, in that order.

More important, despite Harris' recent claims that WFLZ is less outrageous these days, there's much evidence to the contrary, as can be heard especially in the on-air performances of night jock Bubba The Love Sponge and late-nighter Tom Stevens.

Bubba, which once struck me as a great air name in search of an act, has one now. He talks dirty to teenage girls ("I only play songs for girls with big breasts") and their moms ("You have a 16-year-old? Do you put out? I can"), and occasionally to guys, whom he often calls "bitch." Last Friday night, he offered his retelling of the Easter story, which led to an equal number of complaints and comments like "Usually, I think you're a pig, but I agree with you."

Stevens, like many of the new night jocks in modern rock, is deliberately unslick, like a college jock or a listener. Last time I heard him, he was hosting a "teen drinking party" in the studio. Every now and then, there'd be a signal for either the guys or the girls to remove an item of clothing.

Some of this sounds dubious out of context. Some of it sounds kind of dubious in context. But I'm fascinated by it, more than Howard Stern or anybody else outrageous. Stern's affiliates usually use him as a substitute for any "stationality" of their own; WFLZ is reinventing its legacy for the '90s. More ironically, WFLZ is also appropriating, in a particularly kinky way, the high-profile mantle of WRBQ (Q105), the station it helped chase out of the format, proving that Mason Dixon and Randy Michaels were both right after all. Happy Easter, Bubba.

DETECTIONS

APRIL 10-16, 1995

Compiled from a national sample of airplay supplied by Broadcast Data Systems' Radio Track service to Top 40 Airplay Monitor. 78 top 40/mainstream and 33 top 40/rhythm-crossover stations are electronically monitored 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. Songs ranked by number of detections. ©1994, Billboard/BPI Communications.

Records showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A record below the top 20 which has been on either chart for more than 20 weeks will not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in detections. Airpower awarded to those records which attain 1500 detections (mainstream) or 500 detections (rhythm) for the first time. If two records are tied in number of plays, the record being played on more stations is placed first. Records below the top 20 are removed from the charts after 26 weeks.

McKenna New Monitor Charts Director

Jerry McKenna, most recently the associate director of crossover promotion at Columbia Records, has been named director of charts for Top 40 Airplay Monitor and chart manager of Billboard's Hot 100 Singles chart. McKenna replaces Dave Elliott, who exited last month.

McKenna, whose background also includes stints as music director of Boston top 40 outlet WXKS-FM (Kiss 108) and assistant program director at WZOU (now WJMN), will join Top 40 Airplay Monitor April 24. He will be based in the New York offices of Top 40 Airplay Monitor and can be reached at 212-536-5056.

TOP 40 TOPICS

by Sean Ross

Top 40 PDs looking over their shoulders at their modern rock competitors should think of the format boom as less a triumph for modern than a triumph for album rock repackaged. To one who has grown up with, and worked in, modern rock when it was a last bastion of hooks and melodies in pop music, what passed for modern rock last fall was almost unrecognizably hard. It was as if the black T-shirt kids who populated "kickass" album rock radio in the early '80s had taken over and chained the real modern rock format in the basement. When modern's ratings declined last fall, it was evident that while the new converts were happy, the stalwarts felt alienated.

Part of modern rock's sea change comes from an attempt by many stations to claim any album rock act without classic rock baggage, even the classic-flavored ones (i.e., Hootie, Black Crowes, etc.), as modern. Some of the hardening of the format is a result of the same PDs who jumped on the hip-hop handwagon when it was "Bust A Move" and then were stuck with "Dre Day" turning to modern at the time of "Two Princes" and "Come Undone" and—because the hardening was incremental—not noticing that the format was turning Rancid, or that they were being held hostage by those core listeners who didn't like hearing any of the same records they heard last week, or that their own power rotations were inching up from 2:45 to 3:30 to 4:30.

Some modern rock PDs see this now, so they're dayparting more and playing more gold. The format itself seems headed for a good winter book, but there's still a gap between the smashes—"When I Come Around," "Self Esteem," "Lightning Crashes," etc.—and everything else. Not only are these the songs in the format with hooks and melodies, but they're also the songs on the albums with hooks and melodies. The fact that they're the songs to have crossed over is self-explanatory. Top 40 PDs who've crossed to modern rock know they should play the format's hits more than other modern rock PDs do, and top 40 PDs who've stayed in top 40 know enough to play hit songs without making listeners sit through expendable records to hear them.

Monitor TOP 40 AIRPLAY

DETECTIONS

APRIL 3—9, 1995

Compiled from a national sample of airplay supplied by Broadcast Data Systems' Radio Track service to Top 40 Airplay Monitor. 78 top 40/mainstream and 33 top 40/rhythm-crossover stations are electronically monitored 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. Songs ranked by number of detections. ©1994, Billboard/BPI Communications.

Records showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A record below the top 20 which has been on either chart for more than 20 weeks will not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in detections. Airpower awarded to those records which attain 1500 detections (mainstream) or 500 detections (rhythm) for the first time. If two records are tied in number of plays, the record being played on more stations is placed first. Records below the top 20 are removed from the charts after 26 weeks.
