APHEX TWIN / Care Because You Do

Sire, c/o EEG, 75 Rockefeller Plaza, New York, NY 10019

Aphex Twin's breakthrough record was last year's Selected Ambient Works Volume II, but his follow-up is anything but ambient. It's dancing right in front of your nose, a carnival of electronic percussion, electronic strings, electronic keyboards and, more than anything else, sounds that have no analogue in the analog world—sounds that the Twin (a.k.a. Richard James) has built by himself from scratch. Points of reference are a little difficult to come by: The lead instrument of "Start As You Mean To Go On," for example, sounds kind of like an all-percussion acid-house record heard through somebody's opening and closing mouth, except scratchier; a sound with a major role in "Wet Tip Hen Ax" (an imperfect anagram of "The Aphex Twin") might well be, um, a wet tip hen ax. When the Twin actually uses conventionally pitched material, as on "Alberto Balsam" and "Acrid Avid Jamsred" (go ahead, you figure it out), he goes all-out, coming up with rich contrapuntal themes and letting them grope their way around each other. Care's highlight, though, mostly throws pitch to the wind: the single "Ventolin" concatenates a slew of hideous grating, ringing and stomping noises into a startlingly beautiful arrangement. Take Care: the above, plus "Cow Cud Is A Twin," whose ambience and slamming car door give new meaning to the term "garage techno," and "Wax The Nip." DOUGLAS WOLK

TOWA TEI Future Listening

Elektra, c/o EEG, address above

All hail Towa Tei, the silent DJ behind Deee-Lite's first two records. Tei is a musical mastermind—creating new genres and never-before-heard blends of styles is all part of his day's work; in a night at the studio, he'll create more innovations and dazzling new sounds than most people see and hear in a lifetime, and still have time to punch out early to hit the clubs. Future Listening, his bold solo debut, is a maverick blend of improbable sources—'60s bossa nova, '70s party funk, cool jazz, psychedelic sound effects, Japanese pop and Brazilian music (lots and lots of Brazilian music). Towa Tei weaves these sampled sounds together in a colorful tapestry, and it's most probably a formula he hit upon to soothe his ravenous ears, a way to save time by listening to his entire record collection all at once. That's just part of the reason why Future Listening isn't just a record, it's a parallel universe. Jazz sax squawks, cool bossa nova beats and simmering tropical flourishes all mingle in new ways, making a pan-cultural, pan-everything stylistic tour de force. Coming after Pizzicato Five, U.F.O. and others, Towa Tei has just set the standard for genre-busters everywhere. Cool universe: "Technova," "Obrigado,"

"Meditation" and "Raga Musgo," an almost-impossible blend of acid jazz, reggae and Indian music. Sound intriguing? It's all that, and more. There is no telling where Towa Tei will take us from here. But wherever it may be, we're sure we'll be along for the ride. JAMES LIEN

YO LA TENGO Electr-O-Pura

Matador, 676 Broadway, 4th Fl., New York, NY 10012 212.995.5882

Few rock groups follow up an impressive debut (Yo La's was 1986's fiery but unassuming Ride The Tiger) with a long line of very different albums, each with its own distinct personality and each worth going back to; Yo La Tengo does. Electr-O-Pura, the band's eighth album, doesn't repeat Yo La Tengo's previous achievements but builds upon its developing sense of sonics. The band takes an open approach to sounds—both harmonious and scraggly—threading repetition seamlessly through its songs and defining loose song structures that allow improvisation and the incorporation of varied elements, such as angrily squawking guitars ("False Alarm").

Meanwhile, Ira Kaplan and Georgia Hubley's vocals work more as components of an overall atmosphere than a commanding focal point. Like '93's Painful, Electr-O-Pura achieves a keen balance between Kaplan's exploratory guitar work and the band's constantly evolving notion of melody: while Hubley's woozy vocals on the album opener "Decora" meld easily with both a beautifully tremoloed guitar line and a more upfront one, the album closer "Blue Line Swinger" places her gentle coo atop waves of careening guitar and a cushion of gentle organ drones. After blasting the entirety of Electr-O-Pura through your headphones, play these irresistible pop gems on the radio: "Tom Courtenay," "Pablo And Andrea" and "(Straight To The) Bitter End." LYDIA ANDERSON

DENTISTS Deep Six

EastWest America, c/o EEG, address above

The Dentists have become a trifle more aggressive since 1993's Behind The Door I Keep The Universe. This time around, the Dentists eschew their collective sweet tooth and power-drill their guitars into the mix, pulling the sonic direction of Deep Six more in line with their live shows and more accurately reflecting their wry, sometimes contentious lyrics. This does not mean, however, that the band is denying its pop instincts. The British quartet's knack for handily arranging all the compelling pieces of a great song—guitar bits, melodies, overall arrangements—is just as solid as ever.

Witness the softer "No Coming Back," with its wistful violin and unforgettable chorus, or the delightful, chugging "Appetite." While some might miss the happy-go-lucky, Cure-styled sounds of songs like Behind The Door...'s runaway hit "Spaceman," there's still plenty of intelligent power-pop here for the jangle crowd. "Gradual" and the momentous album opener and first single "Shining Like A Star" are pure sparkling genius with a hint of grit. See also: "Good Riddance," "Slither" and "Electric Train Of Gold." AARON CLOW

YO LA TENGO

Tom Courtenay (EP)
Matador

Radio Chart Position: 129-46

Yo La Tengo has continued to reinvent itself by producing a wide array of different sounding records and staying a fixture on the touring circuit, both here and abroad. Its latest EP is no different from its past releases, which is to say it has altered and reinvented its twisted guitar sound. Sometimes change is good, and Yo La Tengo is living proof. Stations inviting Tom into their top five: KGLT, KUOM, KWUR, WBAR, WBOR, WCNI, WLFR (#1), WMBR, WTJU (#1), WVKR and WXJM.

Retail Position: #1

Its first week on the chart, Matador's Pavement assumes the top spot immediately. This time around, the clean-cut five have churned out a record that recalls their first records. But not to worry, there are more than a few Crooked Rain, Crooked Rain-type hits on Wooze Zowie. The band will go on a U.S. tour in May and then join Lollapalooza this summer.

ON THE CHART This week, debuts from Matador's Pavement (#1) and Geffen's White Zombie (#2) take over the top positions. Matador's Guided By Voices (5-3) continues to sneak up the chart. DGC's Elastica (10-6) gains some momentum as they become noticed by the press. Beyond the top ten, the chart is full of debuts, some of which include: Beggars Banquet-Atlantic's Peter Murphy (#11), MCA's Jimi Hendrix (#13), Interscope's All (#27), Reprise's Muffs (#30), Priority's Friday soundtrack (#31) and Revelation's Civ (#36). At the same time that the new guys scuttle up the chart, a few old timers are creeping back towards the top as well, including: RCA's Dave Matthews Band (14-12), Island's Cranberries (27-18), and Reprise's Green Day (74-37). In addition to the top three sellers, people are also playing Drag City's Flying Saucer Attack and 4AD's Red House Painters in the stores. (RETAIL REPORTS PRINTED AFTER TOP 35).

JACKPOT!

PELL MELL Interstate

DGC, 9130 Sunset Blvd., Los Angeles, CA 90069

Finally—an American guitar rock band that doesn't have a whiny male lead singer complaining tunelessly about his problems on top of the music. Well, maybe it's not as dire as all that, but Pell Mell certainly is a refreshing change from the usual guitar/bass/drums fare dominating the musical landscape. The reasons why the band is different? Well, it's all instrumental, but not only that, it's also unusual in that the band members live in different cities and collaborate on songwriting by sending tapes through the mail.

The results are bright, often moody, instrumentals that become more endearing the more one listens to them. Reference points would have to be other, lesser-known but no less loved instrumental combos like Love Tractor, Don Caballero and Dif Juz, while genre touchstones include incidental movie soundtracks and the reverberant guitar tones of vintage surf music. But Pell Mell is more than just a mix of pieces or a sum of parts: the band revels in its lush and pleasing sound, squeezing out six-string chorus after resonant chorus, while Farfisa organ adds texture and depth: all told, it's a glimmering, exotic sound you can almost step inside. Top Cuts: "Nothing Lies Still Long," "Drift," "Anna Karina" and the closing "Floating Gate." JAMES LIEN

CLOUDS Thunderhead

Elektra, c/o EEG, 75 Rockefeller Plaza, New York, NY 10019

Although they've been playing toughened but accessible rock music in their native Australia for years now, the Clouds' new album arrives in the wake of the tsunami of popular women-fronted pop/rock bands (Breeders, Elastica, Veruca Salt) washing onto the shores of the alternative scene. Gutsy girl vocals from guitarist Jodi Phillis and bassist Patricia Young propel the band's racing guitars and stylized rhythms, making Thunderhead a cornucopia of powerful, radio-ready pop songs (the Clouds should prime themselves for large scale success). But the Clouds aren't just a band with a female facade; the four work together as intricate machinery pieces and even "Domino," with its male vocals, continues the thematic, aggressive pop. Though there is the obligatory sex song ("Bower Of Bliss"), on Thunderhead the band stretches away from formulaic patterns and makes diversity a key ingredient, as the album waffles back and forth from power pop to ballad rock. The best of the stratosphere: "Bower Of Bliss," "Alchemy's Dead," "Close My Eyes," and the thunderous ending of "The Rocket." DAWN SUTTER

VARIOUS ARTISTS Flipside R.A.F.R. Compilation

Flipside, P.O. Box 60790, Pasadena, CA 90116 818.585.0395

Any rock compilation 24 tracks strong must, by definition, sprawl over a few subgenres to keep things interesting, and Flipside's latest punk compilation does just that. Unified by little more than guitars, viscerality and a vague mythology (the title stands for "Rock And Fuckin' Roll"), the bands here skim both the underbelly and the more commercial side of rock, from bright and cheery pop punk to its raw and ugly ancestor, and from hard rock/alternative crossover to retro, minimalist garage rock. A handful of more familiar bands whets the appetites of fans (D Generation, Wax and Black Train Jack, for instance—the last Flipside comp featured the Offspring, Green Day, L7 and Bad Religion among others), but some of the real gems are the lesser-known bands: the veteran Humpers crank out one of the disc's dirtiest romps with "Thirteen Forever," Snap Her is a fine example of female punk purism, Japanese punk heroes Teengenerate thrash out all 72 seconds of a Vibrators cover, and Ultraviolet Eye grooves on a dirty riff under some glam-inspired vocals. While a handful of misguided metal tunes nearly spoil the party (the Grey Spikes tune features the unfortunate refrain "I was born with the devil/I was born with the devil inside"), the otherwise continual onslaught of no-nonsense rock easily withstands the weak links. If not entertaining for the band names alone (Raging Lamos, Satan's Cheerleaders, Anus The Menace, etc.), R.A.F.R. is an essential earful of underground punk of the moment. CHERYL BOTCHICK up right where the band left off with sheets of sonic rain alongside pretty guitar passages followed by tantalizing improvisation. The instrumental passages, "Coda, Marine 475" and the title track, flow with the distinctive Crimson edge, traveling from pastoral quiet to reckless metallic swagger; a great deal of Thrak would not have been out of place on Lark's Tongue In Aspice (1973) or Starless And Bible Black (1974). Self-deprecating humor creeps in with Belew bellowing, "I'm a dinosaur" on "Dinosaur," an opinion many young rockers may have of today's King Crimson. Yet this record possesses enough noisy sound sculptures, along with a few genuine songs ("People" and "Sex"), to both please the band's long-time admirers and reward newcomers. JIM CALGIURI

POOH STICKS Optimistic Fool

Seed, 14 E. 60th St., New York, NY 10022 212.527.0900

The Pooh Sticks have about the weirdest lyrical and conceptual perspective of any band. In their world, life only happens to pop stars and aspiring pop stars, true love is synonymous with having a hit record, and the beginning of a relationship is "the start of another song cycle." It's a world-view derived from taking old teen magazines at face value. So Hue Pooh's songs, though they get their wit from self-reflexive irony, do most of their work with the tools of mid-'70s radio hits, both generally (massive hooks in 2:30 songs, like the flawless single "Cool In A Crisis"; "sweetening" backup vocals, handclaps, wah-wah) and specifically

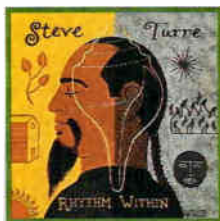

(song titles are appropriated from George Harrison and Van Dyke Parks, guitar parts from virtually every song on Have A Nice Day, Vols. 1-15). That's a lot of conceptual baggage to be carrying around. Fortunately, the songs themselves are little bonbons, light as meringue and catchy as smallpox—if you're not listening for the smart-ass lyrics, you'll just go around humming the tunes and pretending your Close 'n' Play from 1973 has been magically returned to you. Sunny outlooks for "All Things Must Pass," "Prayer For My Demo" and the Herman's Hermits-like "Who Was It?" DOUGLAS WOLK

STEVE TURRE Rhythm Within

Antilles, c/o Verve, 825 Seventh Ave., New York, NY 10019

In some ways, the fact that much of Steve Turre's music is played on sea shells works out to be not much more than a neat bit of trivia. The shells, although rich and unique in tone, are essentially taking the place of standard brass instruments in the arrangements of Turre's lyrical takes on blues, Afro-Cuban and Latin jazz. Theoretically at least, there's nothing specific about the shells that stands out to make the music exceptional. exceptional, but there's still something in the low moan of the shells that takes it all deeper. The use of shells in music, played with the same vibrating lips technique as modern brass instruments, most likely predates recorded history, and this connection to the ancient elevates the already spiritual qualities of Turre's music. The sounds follow the shells back to the shores they came from, touching on Caribbean, African and Polynesian influences. Even the urban cool of Herbie Hancock, who appears on three tracks, and Pharoah Sanders, who appears on two, basks in the pastoral warmth of the shells and muted trombones. Conchs on the head: the title track, "Morning," "Body And Soul" and "Twilight Dreams." SCOTT FRAMPTON

AMINIATURE Murk Time Cruiser

Restless, 1616 Vista Del Mar, Hollywood, CA 90028-6420 213.957.4357

Countless bands over the years have carved their rock from the same stylistic elements found in aMiniature's music—The Clash, Gang Of Four and Wire among them—but few after those pioneers have done it with anything more than a requisite amount of innovation or ability. San Diego's aMiniature is one of the rare exceptions, bringing a refreshing, edgy vigor to the four-piece twin-guitar paradigm. Murk Time Cruiser, the band's second album, works its way through a few line-up changes (a new guitarist and a stand-in drummer), but without conceding one iota of the exacting muscle flexed on the band's first record: dual guitar leads clashing in jagged sonic arcs, an unrelentingly tight and forceful rhythm section, the arcane lyrics and driving, purposeful vocals of frontman John Lee. There's an almost robotic perfection to it all that only testifies to the band's carefully restrained agility, creating dense, yet potent, tangles of noise and melody from the head-on collision of each brittle sound. Recommended cruisers: "He, The Bad Feeler," "Bored Spy," "The Prizefighters" and "Long Live Soul Miner." COUN HELMS ■

NATURAL BORN DRILLERS

JACKPOT!

HEARTWORMS Space Escapade

Darla, 625 Scott St. #303, San Francisco, CA 94117 415.441.4577

The first album by Heartworms—an indie-pop supergroup of sorts including members of Velocity Girl and Belmondo—is low-key, unpretentious and charming. It's also got four completely great pop singles on it, though, to be fair, only one of them ("Thanks For The Headache") was actually a Heartworms single. The band also tries its hand at fairly reverential readings of Blondie's "Sunday Girl," the Beach Boys' "Girl Don't Tell Me" and Radiohead's "Creep" (complete with a re-creation of that weird guitar noise right before the chorus). There's also two versions of "Blues For A Heartworm," a breezy, graceful hybrid of homemade guitar-pop and the blues. As Space Escapade progresses, though, it moves toward experimentation with drones. "Two Suns" is carried by a meditative, tremolo-laden three-chord pendulum with quiet, twittering synths arcing overhead, and "Really, Really, Really Sorry (Parts I & II)" ends in a long and lovely instrumental passage that suggests an acoustic Spacemen 3. The album's centerpiece is its 17-minute title track, a dreamy trance instrumental played on live instruments, and built on a tiny, figure-eight-looping guitar mantra that repeats through the entire piece. Jangle-trance may not be the wave of the future, but it's an entertaining and novel idea. DOUGLAS WOLK

HI-FIVES Welcome To My Mind

Lookout!, P.O. Box 11374, Berkeley, CA 94701 510.841.9042

The Hi-Fives grew, phoenix-like, out of the ashes of the Ne'er

Do Wells, who had a split album with Judy & The Loadies last year. Welcome To My Mind is a friendly debut for this San Francisco Bay Area quartet, which gleefully blasts through 15 garage-rock anthems in 30 short minutes. But rather than drench themselves in three-button suit nostalgia, the Hi-Fives latch onto garage rock's key ingredient, an irresistible tune whose modest arrangements leave plenty of room for clean guitar lines, energetic vocals, peppy, toe-tapping rhythms and, of course, stories of cute girls and heartaches. After introducing us to their world with the title cut, a chugging finger-snapper of a tune, the Hi-Fives launch right into the album's best cut, the punky "Transistor Sister," whose snappy melody and caffeinated pace (complete with a six-second guitar solo!) epitomize the genre of garage rock's appeal. Also straighten the tie for the instrumental surf grooves of "Mr. Moto," the earnest "Love You Better" and their cover of Billy Childish's "Out Of Control." LYDIA ANDERSON

Alias, 2815 W. Olive Ave, Burbank, CA 91505 818.566.1034

"Just keep it simple/Don't let it change" chimes Aidan Winterburn on "Simple," summing up the charm of Edsel Auctioneer's sophomore effort. A steady beat, a sanguine vocal melody, a lilting jangle-guitar: for Edsel Auctioneer, these three elements are all that it takes to produce 12 delightful songs. The Leeds, England, quartet, which includes two former members of the Pale Saints, has seen acclaim in the English press since its formation in 1989. The Good Time Music Of..., which follows the band's debut album Simmer, draws on a variety of influences. While many songs sound closely to akin to recent efforts by Teenage Fanclub and Lemonheads, yielding an abundance of shimmering pop melodies and catchy hook-work, Good Time Music isn't 100% pop. "11th September '94" is a guitar-heavy instrumental that incorporates driving rhythms and, after building into a tidal wave of chords, gracefully fades away. "Hangover" and "Haircut," meanwhile, ramble in the twangy-punk style of bands like Bivouac (whose vocalist Paul Yeadon makes a guest appearance on Good Time Music) or Zeke Fiddler. For a good time: "Haircut," "Summer Hit," "Stuntman" and "Shortchanged." JENNY ELISCU

VIOLENT GREEN Eros

Up, P.O. Box 21328, Seattle, WA 98111 206.441.8277

It's not hard to get an indie rock pedigree if you are a musician and live in the Northwest; Violent Green is comprised of three folks who've played with other notable groups (Some Velvet Sidewalk, Treepeople, Halo Benders) but never found quite the best musical outlet until they came together. Guitar, bass and drums re hardly enough to forge an identity for a group these days, but Violent Green's distinction lies guitarist/vocalist Jennifer Olay, whose androgynous, gravelly, brittle vocals evoke extreme, intense emotion similar to, but not an imitation of, those of Come's Thalia Zedek. The presence of these strong vocals is continuous but, ▣

ROOTS 'N' BLUES

Column by James Lien

RORY BLOCK When A Woman Gets The Blues

Rounder, 1 Camp St., Cambridge, MA 02140 617.353.0700

Rory Block was present at the beginning of the white blues revival of the early '60s—folkies sitting around Washington Square Park in New York trading songs and fingerpicking techniques. So now, 30 years on, she's recorded an album entirely of classic acoustic blues, and it's full of the reverence you'd expect. But it's also brimming with warmth and, most importantly, understanding. For When A Woman Gets The Blues, Block has cherry-picked a repertoire of some of the greatest, most enduring blues compositions by masters of the '20s and '30s, like Charlie Patton ("Peavine Blues"), Son House ("Preaching Blues"), Hattie Hart ("I Let My Daddy Do That"), Blind Willie McTell ("Tain't Long For Day") and Skip James ("Cypress Grove"). Apparently, only Sleepy John Estes' creepy po' boy wail was the only great she couldn't muster, but we'd love to hear her try. As for the music, the versions of songs made famous by female artists (Hart, Mattie Delaney, Louise Johnson) are stellar, but the real illumination comes when Block transfers genders and reverses the lyrics to songs written by men about women. There's something about hearing a woman sing songs of juking and carousing, rollin' and tumblin', that offers a different view of the tough-luck life. While one would almost expect a man to live such a barrelhouse lifestyle, when a woman sings those same songs of bad luck, hard times, and deals gone down, it somehow becomes even more poignant and resonant: the sadness seems sadder, and the toughness becomes even tougher. She gives Kansas Joe McCoy's "Joliet Bound" a Piedmont-style fingerpicking treatment; a few lines of the jailhouse lyrics almost suggest a Bonnie and Clyde type of scenario that brought her to her cell: "Accusing me of murder and I never harmed a man," "Me and my buddy got a lifetime here." Changing the genders of the song's characters opens up a whole new deck of cards. Block flips a raunchy gender change on the bawdy lines of Charlie Patton's "Peavine Blues" that will bring a wicked grin to the face of even the most jaded of listeners. She turns in a mesmerizing take on Kid Bailey's immortal "Rowdy Blues"—in a nearly impossible feat, Block's version reaches that point of resignation and wistful melancholy of Bailey's mysterious recording. The song is time-passing blues, strangely sedentary for a song bearing the word "rowdy" in its title. Its lyrics are not a narrative, but a chronic condition—a state of being, one verse after another after another, portraying a world of love, luck, homelessness, gambling, friends parting and eerie death letters, hinging on the line "I'm gonna stay right here until they tear this barrelhouse down." The protagonist isn't boisterous about her unrepentant, sinful nature; in fact, she seems kind of helpless, like she fully comprehends that she can't do anything to stop the world she's in. Sometimes people don't have any choice but to be the way they are, even if it isn't the way they wish to be; it's the most devastating kind of self-knowledge available, the heart of the blues, and Rory Block puts herself right in the middle of it all.

Roots 'N' Blues is CMJ's weekly forum for rootsy 'n' bluesy music of all stripes. Send all material for review to Roots 'N' Blues, c/o CMJ, 11 Middle Neck Rd., Ste. 400, Great Neck, NY 11021.

PINKIE MACLURE Favourite

Placebo, P.O. Box 847, London SW18 1AX U.K.

0181.870.9912

Having grown up in Northern Scotland on a diet of Hebridean chants and her father's jazz 78s, Pinkie MacLure made ground over in the left field of rock/jazz experimentalism. Favourite is a decisive departure as MacLure has shed her more prominent vocal aerobics and tempo dislocations and brought her deep, octave-spanning voice into a more measured torch-song arena, closer to her original Francophile idols Juliette Greco and Jacques Brel. The seven-track, 34-minute result is something like a folk-Gallic version of Portishead—check "The Rain Is Out" and "Heartsease" for starters—though the mood is more swooning than aching, forged of un navigational primitivism similar to Bjork's strange soundscapes. Violin, accordion, shuffling drums and solemn keyboards (the sound of red velvet?) are at the fore as Pinkie plucks the heartstrings, from blue-note purity to ecstatic shrieks and lowdown growls. It's another stunning vocal performance, reminiscent of Tim or Jeff Buckley more than anyone else, and plunges the listener into a bewitching confrontation—you're soothed as you're stunned. None more so than on the closing "Rose Flavour Talc," a sleep-walking instrumental with human and gull-cries. She sews her sources with a previously unearthed maturity; her multifarious influences seem to have found a natural meeting point. Has there ever been as many blues-roots strands united at once? The Eastern-tinged "Hedonistic" is also available as a single, with remixes from the Transglobal Underground.

PLUS, ALSO, TOO

The Next Wave of The New Wave of The New

Wave begins. POWDER has just finished the Elastica tour and gone off with Menswear but is more exciting than either. "20th Century Gods" mixes up Elastica's buzz-'n'-bounce pop with the corrosive, garage-gunk edge of Hole—Pearl Lowe has the requisite pack-of-cigarettes larynx to give Powder that extra yard of guts while cozing the Louise Brooks-on-amphetamine vibe—on stage, she looks like she'll eat a supermodel rather than be one. "Dizgo Girl" is even better, though the band reckons it's too close to Elastica-poppy to be the A-side. Trampolining bass, slashing guitar, snarly vocal, snorting chorus—near to the ideal of pop perfection. They're calling it 'grunk'... (Limited edition of 2000; Parkway, 172 Arlington Road, NW1 7HL U.K. 0171.284.1922)...I seem to have missed some Rough Trade Single Club releases, so...Sept. '94's inspired pairing of folk modernist LIDA HUSIK and technomagician BEAUMONT HANNANT resulted in the drifting voice/guitar "Star," which is strangely reminiscent of Roy Harper's spell-bliss-bound style, to which "Starburst 69" adds a loping, looped dance backing. Dec. '94 was CATHERINE, of whom I know sadly little other than Billy Corgan co-produced "Songs About Girls" and "It's No Lie," both trashy with fay guitars and candy chorus. Nope, not very Pumpkin-like. Feb. '95 was the turn of BLONDE REDHEAD's "Flying Douglas"/"Harmony" are two little jewels of discordant, disjointed dream-punk (Rough Trade, 66 Golborne Road, London W10 U.K. 0181.960.9888).

HANS REICHEL

Lower Lorum: A Guitar And Daxophone Operetta

Rastacan, P.O. Box 3073, San Leandro, CA 94578-3073

Lower Lorum, the first American-released album by Hans Reichel (who has numerous albums on the German FMP imprint and other labels), will hopefully introduce this unique and extremely talented German guitarist to a larger audience. Playing his own homemade instruments with unconventional techniques, Reichel releases a myriad of sounds: fretboard tapping, kora-like plucking, shimmering bell tones, bluesy lyricism, etc. Based on only a single composition, he might be compared to guitarists as disparate as Fred Frith, Ry Cooder and John Fahey. For almost a decade now, Reichel has also been recording on the daxophone, a home-built instrument of his own invention. Even with liner notes describing the mechanics of the daxophone, it's not easy to get the gist of the thing—the instrument's sounds are much more complex than you'd expect from bowed vibrating sticks of wood with a resonating soundbox. Upon first hearing this eccentric instrument, one might initially imagine a cross between a chihauhau and a kazoo singing Bavarian beer-hall harmonies, but the daxophone can evoke a huge menagerie of critters (the instrument's name is inspired by the yelps of the dachs (German for badger)), and can even approximate a human voice (as did the plunger trombone "adult voices" in Charlie Brown cartoons), hence the title "operetta." With intricate overdubbing and speed manipulations, Reichel has composed a humorous, beautiful and fascinating work, perhaps the finest in his long string of excellent albums.

CHRISTOPH HEEMANN Aftersolstice

Barooni (Netherlands), c/o Com-Four, 7 Dunham Pl.,

Brooklyn, NY 11211 718.599.2205

Aftersolstice is the second full-length work by composer Christoph Heemann, formerly of the incomparable kraut experimental band H.N.A.S. (Hirshie Nicht Auf Sofa, or "No Moose On The Sofa"). Heemann's solo work is more directed than that of his old group, without the peculiar H.N.A.S. wackiness that could abruptly shift the music's mood. Aftersolstice presents gradually swelling electronics (with processed violin) in a minimal vein (think Cluster or Eno, but with a more foreboding and sinister edge). Heemann's compositional developments aren't necessarily melodic, harmonic or rhythmic but might be described as a sudden and grotesque "swarm" disturbing the eerie humming calm (for example in "IV").

KLEG Zing

Barooni (Netherlands), address above

Zing, the second album (and more focused of the two) by the Dutch electric guitar ensemble Kleg, was released a couple of years back but attracted very little attention despite the involvement of star producer Lee Ranaldo; it's now being distributed domestically and deserves to reach more ears. The group's mass-guitar open-string harmonics sound owes an obvious debt to composers Rhys Chatham and Glenn Branca, but rather than taking these composers' repetitive approach, highlighting the vibrant overtones and timbres, the 12 instrumentals on Zing (all named for women) are more active and dramatic, but not so overly busy that the ringing of the guitars is not a prominent and brilliant feature.

Ché, P.O. Box 653, London E18 2NX U.K. 0181.530.8381

Detroit's local legends Majesty Crush and Dundee, Scotland's up-and-coming Spare Snare share this odd but nifty double-bill. The walloping dream-pop piece "If JFA Were Still Together" takes as its lyrical premise that Jodie Foster's Army wasn't a Southwestern punk band, but an actual force to protect a young actress, and sets it to shimmering guitars and a behemoth rhythm section. On the other side, Spare Snare (in its one-man-band incarnation) takes on Split Enz's "I Got You," rewrites the melody a little, brings out the lyrics' latent menace (mostly by articulating them) and gives the song a creepy, sticky arrangement. DOUGLAS WOLK

ABERDEEN "Fireworks" (7")

Sarah, P.O. Box 691, Bristol BS99 1FG U.K. 0117.963.6929

"Fireworks" is the second single from Los Angeles trio Aberdeen released by Sarah (the label's other U.S. band is pop confectioner East River Pipe). The song's delicate pace and soft shower of tremoloed guitars perfectly cloak singer Beth's winsome words of heartache. The flipside offers two more morsels of gracefully sculpted pop: The billows of guitars on "When It Doesn't Matter" eventually build to a quiet storm, while "Super Sunny Summer" takes a somewhat sunnier disposition, its beautiful guitar picking and churning electric strumming never getting in each other's way. This collection honoring Dark Beloved Cloud's 25th release offers six solid pop songs. Napalm Parade's top-speed carefree pop starts the spring release off just right, complemented by Flying Saucer's bright "Do It." Following in the pop vein is the Mad Scene's "Shake," a delicate treat with vocals from the Clean's Hamish Kilgour, whereas S!T!O!!!N!K! contributes a more chaotic piece and Princess Superstar dishes out a sassy distorted rap on "I'm White." And of course it wouldn't be a DBC release without a bit (however small) from God Is My Co-Pilot. DAWN SUTTER

BARBEQUE BOB & THE SPARERIBSSnack Time! (7")

Dada, P.O. Box 112, New Brunswick, NJ 08903 908.846.7258

To stereo-spoiled ears, a tough-sounding throwback rock 'n' roll single in straight-ahead mono can be the perfect retreat. This two-song single in the spirit of '68 Comeback delivers just that. "Lookin' For A Girl" on the A-side features a spare, bluesy riff and a seedy theme ("I went looking for a girl, and I found myself a woman"), while the flip is a downhearted, tear-in-beer ballad that plods through its hard-learned lessons in love and loss. ROCKETSHIP "Hey, Hey, Girl" (7")

Bus Stop, P.O. Box 3161, Iowa City, IA 52244-3161 217.344.5804

Sacramento quartet Rocketship offers songs that are bubbling over with charming pop melodies and bouncy beats. In its unequivocal twee style, Rocketship emulates bands like Small Factory with chirpy boy-girl harmonies and infectiously upbeat tempos. With its jangle guitar and unforgettable chorus, "Hey, Hey, Girl" is the most hummable of the three songs here. While "Naomi And Me" features similar pop constructions, the B-side's "People I Know" is less predictable, slowly ambling along with weary female vocals at the helm. JENNY ELISCU

IMMIGRANT SUNS Montenegro

Pho-Net-ic, P.O. Box 441314, Detroit, MI 48244-1314

If you ever visit Ellis Island and the Statue Of Liberty in New York, you might want to bring along a tape of the Immigrant Suns in your Walkman for the ferry ride. This Detroit-based combo plays music that's a delightfully ingenious reminder of all the disparate strains of people who crammed together in one place to make this nation the intriguing and often outright weird melting pot it is. Taking inspiration from all manner of ethnic and "world" music, with a predilection for European peasant forms, the Suns have stuck them all together and forged a singular sound where swirling gypsy violins trade licks with hillbilly banjos and Mediterranean rhythms dance suggestively with sweet Irish airs. There have been numerous such multi-culti bands cropping up, such as Little Jack Melody & His Young Turks, 3 Mustaphas 3, the Klezmer All-Stars and the most famous patriarch of the genre, Camper Van Beethoven. On Montenegro, the Immigrant Suns proffer up a thick ethnic soup of feisty brass, furious fiddles, and exotic drums, with even the odd bazouki or Japanese zither thrown in from G-d knows where. Imagine the music that might be part of the multi-cultural fare at a pot-luck dinner in a Lower East Side tenement building for immigrants at the turn of the century—while tahini sits next to borscht, couscous and potato latkes on the table, the fiddlers and strummers in the next room are cooking up some music that's the product of an unclassifiable, happy clash of cultures. Check out: "Wings Of Desire," "The Ballad Of Black Wilfred," "Fistful Of Yen," "Ja Ja" and the title track. JAMES LIENWALRUS Legless

Walrus, 5038 Telegraph Ave., Oakland, CA 94609 510.601.7462

Rest assured, plenty of misguided metal demos have crossed the wise, weathered Futures desk over the years, so when a tape comes in that swipes up the key influences of the genre and shapes them in a refreshingly honest and practical fashion, our ears perk up in relief. On an initial listen, Walrus' instrumentation begs comparisons to early Soundgarden; while Walrus is sped up a bit compared to those syrupy, proto-grunge records, the band hears its Sabbath and Led Zeppelin records in the same way, not borrowing riffs in a literal sense, but blatantly soaking up the tricks of the trade in the learning process (see the tricky instrumental "Blubberclutch" for proof of the band's formidable chops). Aside from the limber guitar lines, the cassette's real surprise is the strong vocals of bassist Andy Liotta, which carry the melodic line on every track, and the band wisely produces its songs to press Liotta's voice to the very front. Hearty and clear without exception, he never once falls prey to operatic metal clichés, instead achieving a cross between glam vocalizations of the '70s and the more trained lung power of Freddie Mercury. MICHAEL JACKSON Anthology

Motown, 5750 Wilshire Blvd., Los Angeles, CA 90036

For a whole generation of kids growing up in the late '70s, those three-LP Motown anthologies of the label's greatest artists were a staple—an awful lot of people learned about

Stevie Wonder, Smokey & The Miracles and the Jacksons through listening to the music inside Motown's colorful fold-out covers. Today, Motown continues that legacy by rolling out an impressive Motown Masters series that documents the vital music of the Berry Gordy empire. The King Of Pop he may be, but at one time, young Michael Jackson was one of soul music's most inspiring performers—heck, he was only 12 when "ABC" hit the charts. Hearing a 14-year-old sing a deep piece of melancholy like Bill Withers' "Ain't No Sunshine" is interesting enough, but on this Anthology it's moments like the autobiographical "When I Come Of Age" that are really eerie, especially for those of us who live to watch every Current Affair clipping and made-for-TV mini-series and accept every rumor and whisper that the tabloids purport as pure, unmitigated fact. In "When I Come Of Age," Michael sings about being an astronaut and climbing mountains—on the one hand it's just expected childish aspirations fed into his mouth by a Motown songwriting team, but on the other, it already hints at his later seeming-departure from everyday reality that so many take such delight in speculating about. In fact, the incredibly schmaltzy "To Make My Father Proud" is downright creepy considering all the sordid and unfortunate details of Jackson family life that the tabloids and mini-series revel in, if only because outside songwriters wrote the thing and somebody somewhere decided Michael should sing it. Of course, the Jackson 5 material on disc one is so classic that it practically amounts to a lifetime permit for Motown to mint its own money—we can't wait for the four-CD JCS box due this summer. Still, some things turn out today to be not quite the way we remember them—"Rockin' Robin" sounded great when we were seven but just doesn't cut it today. Speaking of things that don't seem to be the way they used to be, check out Michael's delicately airbrushed nose adorning the cover photo, and compare it to the other noses in the many photos in the liner booklet. JAMES LIENCHARLES RIVER VALLEY BOYS Beatle Country

Rounder, 1 Camp St., Cambridge, MA 02140 617.354.0700

In 1966, when Beatle Country was originally released, the idea of a Bostonian bluegrass band (think about the name) doing an album of Beatles covers sounded like a horrid novelty, and the record disappeared quickly. Over time, though, people realized just how good it was, and it's become a collector's item. With a few exceptions ("we all live in a yaller submarine"), the Boys play it absolutely straight—if they didn't, it would be a novelty. Fortunately, they're good enough musicians and singers that it works (check out the instrumental hoedown they make out of "She's A Woman," or the way they tweak the harmonies of "Baby's In Black" to suit their devices). And Lennon and McCartney, it turns out, are perfectly terrific bluegrass songwriters. Some of the Boys' selections are obvious choices ("I've Just Seen A Face," "What Goes On"), but others are very surprising. "And Your Bird Can Sing" gets slowed down, duded up and plucked out, and all of a sudden it sounds like it was a bluegrass song to begin with. And that yodel in the bridge of "I Saw Her Standing There" should have tipped everyone off, but it took the Boys to bring out its roots in the other American records the young Beatles were listening to. ROOTS 'N' BLUES

Column by James Lien

RORY BLOCK When A Woman Gets The Blues

Rounder, 1 Camp St., Cambridge, MA 02140 617.353.0700

Rory Block was present at the beginning of the white blues revival of the early '60s—folkies sitting around Washington Square Park in New York trading songs and

standing. For When A Woman Gets The Blues, Block has cherry-picked a repertoire of some of the greatest, most enduring blues compositions by masters of the '20s and '30s, like Charlie Patton ("Peavine Blues"), Son House ("Preaching Blues"), Hattie Hart ("I Let My Daddy Do That"), Blind Willie McTell ("Tain't Long For Day") and Skip James ("Cypress Grove"). Apparently, only Sleepy John Estes' creepy po' boy wail was the only great she couldn't muster, but we'd love to hear her try. As for the music, the versions of songs made famous by female artists (Hart, Mattie Delaney, Louise Johnson) are stellar, but the real illumination comes when Block transfers genders and reverses the lyrics to songs written by men about women. There's something about hearing a woman sing songs of juking and carousing, rollin' and tumblin', that offers a different view of the tough-luck life. While one would almost expect a man to live such a barrelhouse lifestyle, when a woman sings those same songs of bad luck, hard times, and deals gone down, it somehow becomes even more poignant and resonant: the sadness seems sadder, and the toughness becomes even tougher. She gives Kansas Joe McCoy's "Joliet Bound" a Piedmont-style fingerpicking treatment; a few lines of the jailhouse lyrics almost suggest a Bonnie and Clyde type of scenario that brought her to her cell: "Accusing me of murder and I never harmed a man," "Me and my buddy got a lifetime here." Changing the genders of the song's characters opens up a whole new deck of cards. Block flips a raunchy gender change on the bawdy lines of Charlie Patton's "Peavine Blues" that will bring a wicked grin to the face of even the most jaded of listeners. She turns in a mesmerizing take on Kid Bailey's immortal "Rowdy Blues"—in a nearly impossible feat, Block's version reaches that point of resignation and wistful melancholy of Bailey's mysterious recording. The song is time-passing blues, strangely sedentary for a song bearing the word "rowdy" in its title. Its lyrics are not a narrative, but a chronic condition—a state of being, one verse after another after another, portraying a world of love, luck, homelessness, gambling, friends parting and eerie death letters, hinging on the line "I'm gonna stay right here until they tear this barrelhouse down." The protagonist isn't boisterous about her unrepentant, sinful nature; in fact, she seems kind of helpless, like she fully comprehends that she can't do anything to stop the world she's in. Sometimes people don't have any choice but to be the way they are, even if it isn't the way they wish to be; it's the most devastating kind of self-knowledge available, the heart of the blues, and Rory Block puts herself right in the middle of it all.

OVERSEAS

PINKIE MACLURE Favourite

Placebo, P.O. Box 847, London SW18 1AX U.K.

0181.870.9912

Having grown up in Northern Scotland on a diet of Hebridean chants and her father's jazz 78s, Pinkie Maclure made ground over in the left field of rock/jazz experimentalism. Favourite is a decisive departure as Maclure has shed her more prominent vocal aerobics and tempo dislocations and brought her deep, octave-spanning voice into a more measured torch-song arena, closer to her original Francophile idols Juliette Greco and Jacques Brel. The seven-track, 34-minute result is something like a folk-Gallic version of Portishead—check "The Rain Is Out" and "Heartsease" for starters—though the mood is more swooning than aching, forged of unnavigational primitivism similar to Bjork's strange soundscapes. Violin, accordion, shuffling drums and solemn keyboards (the sound of red velvet?) are at the fore as Pinkie plucks the heartstrings, from blue-note purity to ecstatic shrieks and lowdown growls. It's another stunning vocal performance, reminiscent of Tim or Jeff Buckley more than anyone else, and plunges the listener into a bewitching confrontation—you're soothed as you're stunned. None more so than on the closing "Rose Flavour Talc," a sleepwalking instrumental with human and gull-cries. She sews her sources with a previously unearthed maturity; her multifarious influences seem to have found a natural meeting point. Has there ever been as many blues-roots strands united at once? The Eastern-tinged "Hedonistic" is also available as a single, with remixes from the Transglobal Underground.

PLUS, ALSO, TOO

The Next Wave of The New Wave of The New Wave begins. POWDER has just finished the Elastica tour and gone off with Menswear but is more exciting than either. "20th Century Gods" mixes up Elastica's buzz-'n'-bounce pop with the corrosive, garage-gunk edge of Hole—Pearl Lowe has the requisite pack-of-cigarettes larynx to give Powder that extra yard of guts while cozing the Louise Brooks-on-amphetamine vibe—on stage, she looks like she'll eat a supermodel rather than be one. "Dizgo Girl" is even better, though the band reckons it's too close to Elastica-poppy to be the A-side. Trampoline bass, slashing guitar, snarly vocal, snorting chorus—near to the ideal of pop perfection. They're calling it 'grunk.'...(Limited edition of 2000; Parkway, 172 Arlington Road, NW1 7HL U.K. 0171.284.1922)... seem to have missed some Rough Trade Single Club releases, so...Sept. '94's inspired pairing of folk modernist LIDA HUSIK and technomagician BEAUMONT HANNANT resulted in the drifting voice/guitar "Star," which is strangely reminiscent of Roy Harper's spell-bliss-bound style, to which "Starburst 69" adds a loping, looped dance backing. Dec. '94 was CATHERINE, of whom I know sadly little other than Billy Corgan co-produced "Songs About Girls" and "It's No Lie," both trashy with fay guitars and candy chorus. Nope, not very Pumpkin-like. Feb. '95 was the turn of BLONDE REDHEAD's "Flying Douglas"/"Harmony" are two little jewels of discordant, disjointed dream-punk (Rough Trade, 66 Golborne Road, London W10 U.K. 0181.960.9888).

HANS REICHEL

Lower Lorum: A Guitar And Daxophone Operetta

Rastacan, P.O. Box 3073, San Leandro, CA 94578-3073

Lower Lorum, the first American-released album by Hans Reichel (who has numerous albums on the German FMP imprint and other labels), will hopefully introduce this unique and extremely talented German guitarist to a larger audience. Playing his own homemade instruments with unconventional techniques, Reichel releases a myriad of sounds: fretboard tapping, kora-like plucking, shimmering bell tones, bluesy lyricism, etc. Based on only a single composition, he might be compared to guitarists as disparate as Fred Frith, Ry Cooder and John Fahey. For almost a decade now, Reichel has also been recording on the daxophone, a home-built instrument of his own invention. Even with liner notes describing the mechanics of the daxophone, it's not easy to get the gist of the thing—the instrument's sounds are much more complex than you'd expect from bowed vibrating sticks of wood with a resonating soundbox. Upon first hearing this eccentric instrument, one might initially imagine a cross between a chihauhau and a kazoo singing Bavarian beer-hall harmonies, but the daxophone can evoke a huge menagerie of critters (the instrument's name is inspired by the yelps of the dachs (German for badger)), and can even approximate a human voice (as did the plunger trombone "adult voices" in Charlie Brown cartoons), hence the title "operetta." With intricate overdubbing and speed manipulations, Reichel has composed a humorous, beautiful and fascinating work, perhaps the finest in his long string of excellent albums.

CHRISTOPH HEEMANN Aftersolstice

Barooni (Netherlands), c/o Com-Four, 7 Dunham Pl.,

Brooklyn, NY 11211 718.599.2205

Aftersolstice is the second full-length work by composer Christoph Heemann, formerly of the incomparable kraut experimental band H.N.A.S. (Hirshie Nicht Auf Sofa, or "No Moose On The Sofa"). Heemann's solo work is more directed than that of his old group, without the peculiar H.N.A.S. wackiness that could abruptly shift the music's mood. Aftersolstice presents gradually swelling electronics (with processed violin) in a minimal vein (think Cluster or Eno, but with a more foreboding and sinister edge). Heemann's compositional developments aren't necessarily melodic, harmonic or rhythmic but might be described as a sudden and grotesque "swarm" disturbing the eerie humming calm (for example in "IV").

KLEG Zing

Zing, the second album (and more focused of the two) by the Dutch electric guitar ensemble Kleg, was released a couple of years back but attracted very little attention despite the involvement of star producer Lee Ranaldo; it's now being distributed domestically and deserves to reach more ears. The group's mass-guitar open-string harmonics sound owes an obvious debt to composers Rhys Chatham and Glenn Branca, but rather than taking these composers' repetitive approach, highlighting the vibrant overtones and timbres, the 12 instrumentals on Zing (all named for women) are more active and dramatic, but not so overly busy that the ringing of the guitars is not a prominent and brilliant feature.

ON THE CHART

Color indicates a significant increase in airplay.

New York's diminutive techno bricoleur Moby tops the chart this week with his new Elektra full-length Everything Is Wrong. Richard James has the highest new entry (#9) this week with I Care Because You Do, the second U.S. album from his moniker the Aphex Twin. Instinct enters the lucrative world of jungle with its first jungle compilation, King Of The Jungle, which enters the chart at #15. The label's second collaboration with Pete Namlock's Fax label enters just below the jungle compilation at #16. British acid-jazz stalwarts O*Noce has its new anti-criminal justice bill album entering at #23, while ex-Warp label artist Tricky, now on Island in the U.S., enters at #25. RAVE REVIEW

APHEX TWIN

I Care Because You Do

Sire, c/o EEG, 75 Rockefeller Plaza, New York, NY 10019

Richard James' alias, Aphex Twin, has long since passed into the global circuits of contemporary electronic dance music. His status as the British boy-wonder with the electronic boxes is an image he actively shuns. Thus, it will be interesting to see how this album contributes to his visibility. With "Ventolin," the first single from his second full-length outing released by Sire in the U.S. (by way of his U.K. Rephlex label), James explores the often tortured passage of the asthmatic through a world of allergens. The motif through which he explores that world is the drug Ventolin, manufactured by British pharmaceutical giant, Glaxo. Whether James is asthmatic is probably irrelevant, though he seems to bring a certain reasoned melancholy to this astonishing set of tracks, which vary from needling, acidic nail-biters to dense, grim, claustrophobic pieces, which evoke feelings of panic and helplessness. Of course, James is not without a sense of humor, as the cover art for "Ventolin" indicates, with its architectural depiction of the familiar, tubular Ventolin dispenser. The fact that Richard James re-builds the analog machines that are the tools of his trade is now a well established fact. With I Care Because You Do that re-invention is made manifest in his utilization of some of the most haunting and bizarre electronic sounds imaginable. That an entirely instrumental, electronic album of such depth and complexity would appear on a major label in the U.S. would have been unthinkable even five years ago. The release of I Care Because You Do, then, is emblematic of the extent to which techno has made vast incursions into the realm of commercial possibility in this country.

INNER CITY "Ahnogay" (12")

6 x 6, c/o Network, Stratford House, Stratford Place, Camp Hill, Birmingham B12 0HT U.K. 0121.766.7311

The new Inner City single is the first perfect dance record of the year, and is the best single by Kevin Saunderson since Inner City's "Pennies From Heaven." The "Original Reese Mix" on the A-side is a beautifully sculpted moment, with a mysterious looped voice intoning the song's title while soft handclap sprays and an unimaginably wistful minor-key synth sweep across the surface. The aura of mystery and suspense here is equal to that of "Big Life" and "Good Fun," but with a more subdued grandeur. That mix alone justifies the release of the record, so the inclusion of mixes from Carl Craig and Dave Clarke truly makes this single mandatory. Craig applies his characteristic percussive intensity to the track, turning the rhythm on its head and re-building it from the ground up. On the flipside, everyone's favorite hardhouse technician Dave Clarke effectively creates the follow-up to his outstanding "Red" series, with backwards, unwound synth edits scraping across the cavernous kick drum and bass line. On this outing, Clarke adds a belting breakbeat which threatens to topple the mix, until it adds a perfect balance to this stunning rendition. This music's so good, its sure to be licensed domestically. Essential.

PLAID Plaid (EP)

Clear, P.O. Box 4793 London SF5 71X U.K. 0171.708.1330

Along with Detroit's Direct Beat and Interdimensional Transmissions labels, the Clear collective in the U.K. stands at the forefront of the electro-techno interface, the junction where the most exciting electronic dance music is currently being made. It was only a matter of time before the electronic instruments favored by mid-'80s electro producers, the Drumulator, Linn Drum, Leone 808 and SP12, would resurface in the mercurial world of techno. Records such as the Plaid EP represent techno's fascination with the lo-tech of hi-tech, its grimmer, more organic dimensions.

SOUND PATROL Sweetened-No Lemon

Organico, 858 W. Armitage Ave., Ste. 197, Chicago, IL 60614 312.227.7474

Certainly one of the most idiosyncratic DJs in the U.S. at the moment is the revered Derrick Carter, whose totally original spinning style ensures him a steady employment at many large parties in the Midwest and beyond. Carter does his most interesting work under the Sound Patrol moniker, negotiating that line between electronic experimentation and the dancefloor mover, something only a few producers in the world seem capable of right now. His first full-length outing is marked by arcane, almost prog-rock-length-titles like "Tripping Among The Stars (A Necessary Journey)," though, unlike so many among the U.S. rave population, Carter is no '90s deadhead. Over four sides of vinyl, Carter takes the listener on a journey that is as varied as it is rhythmically compelling. Highly recommended.

SM:)E TILL IT HURTS

Last year, British expat DB formed an experimental dance division of the established New York hip-hop label, Profile (original home to Run-D.M.C.), called sm:)e Communications. The label has proved a formidable underground dance label, licensing a great deal of excellent material that the majors won't touch, one example of which is the full-length Music For The Next Millenium by OMNI TRIO. Licensed from the mysterious Moving Shadow label in the U.K. (which has never printed an address or phone number on any of its releases), this is a drum-and-bass workout of the most extreme nature, an overpoweringly imaginative work that ranks as one of breakbeat's finest moments (sm:)e, 740 Broadway, New York, NY 10003 212.529.2600)...DB has also contributed his mixing skills to sm:)e's superb German acid compilation, Acid Resistant, which features music from active Cologne underground, which counts among its members Mike Ink, Gizz TV and Walker, Madonna 303, Air Liquide, and Jammin' Unit, all of whom you've read about in this space on a number of occasions. Since the cost of these singles on 12" originally would have run well over $200, this has arrived not a moment too soon. The Cologne scene represents the most progressive part of the German dance world, and this compilation is a fine introduction to the city's numerous producers (sm:)e, address above).

JAZZ

JACKPOT!

Jazz/Funk Unit

Beauty Is Only Knee Deep

Funk Boy, 140 Frost St.,

Brooklyn, NY 11211 718.349.7751

From Brooklyn, the borough with an attitude, comes the Jazz/Funk Unit, five spunky kids putting a fresh face on acid jazz. One uses the term acid jazz advisedly here, because, unlike most AJ units, these guys play covers tunes instead of originals, and jazz is the predominant idiom, the body of the music, not just the coating. The operative word is play: They play real instruments, rather well, and the processed beats and samples are as incidental as they are few, so far as these ears can discern. Ballsy, brainy (Berklee graduates) and businesslike, guitarist Julian (son of Larry) Coryell, electric/acoustic bassist Ivan Bodley, keyboardist Peter Adams, alto saxist Deji Coker and drummer Adrian Harpham have cut a sharp, essentially live-in-the-studio disc, Beauty Is Only Knee Deep, on their own label, Funk Boy Records. Impassioned and equally intelligent, these musicians (joined by guests Raphael Cruz on percussion and, on one number, Living Colour vocalist Corey Glover) manage to inject their own personality into a bop repertoire without sounding studied or generationally jaundiced. That they honor the acoustic modern-jazz tradition with some electronics and danceable swing without demeaning their sources, and without taking themselves too seriously (or so it sounds), bodes well for their continued success. The Jazz/Funk Unit's affinity with the Miles Davis corpus of the late '40s through '60s (Charlie Parker's "Anthropology" and Davis' "Nardis" and "Blue In Green"), and especially with the Davis/Wayne Shorter neobop canon of the late '60s ("Nefertiti" and "Fee Fi Fo Fum"), suits their purposes admirably, inasmuch as of this material is as elastic as it is challenging to interpret: The asymmetrical nature of the late

ON THE CHART After a record 11 consecutive weeks at the top of the jazz chart, Verve's Christian McBride has finally been dethroned, moving 1-3. The previous (MJ) jazz chart record was held by Columbia's Harry Connick Jr.'s Blue Light, Red Light album back in December '91-February '92, which topped the chart for 9 weeks over an 11 week period (including Christmas vacation). Surprisingly, the new chart king isn't Atlantic's Cyrus Chestnut (2-6) who had been runner-up for three weeks, but McBride's own Verve labelmate, the venerable tenor saxophonist Joe Henderson (9-1), with Double Rainbow, a tribute to the late Brazilian song-writing great, Antonio Carlos Jobim. It was also a big week for Antilles' trombonist Steve Turre (6-2) and RCA's Carmen McRae (10-5). The top chart debuts this week were Verve tenor giant Johnny Griffin (#23) and Enja pianist Marc Cary (#25). (JAZZ REPORTS PRINTED AFTER TOP 35 REPORTS)

'60s Davis/Shorter compositions allows the band to both establish an ensemble sound and, within that, to shine as soloists. Choice airplay options include the Latin-laced "Anthropology" (featuring Bodley's affecting buzz-like basswork plus snappy cowbell-and-conga percussion) and "Nature Boy" (featuring Adams' sepia organ swirls, deft trap percussion and Glover's full-throated, soulfully phrased vocals). The CD's two concluding tracks—the New York-based drummer Kenwood Dennard's funky "Just Blues" and Davis' "Blue In Green"—are snappy, backbeat driven numbers that will work effectively over the airways in conjunction with a cut from Friday Afternoon In The Universe by Medeski, Martin and Wood (Gramavision/Rykodisc), which has found favor on a number of CMJ charting stations. Hats off to the Jazz/Funk Unit.

ACID PLUS

INCOGNITO's position as a progenitor of the acid-jazz movement is cemented by the release in the U.S. of the band's first recording, Jazz Funk (EMI/Chrysalis, 1290 Ave. of the Americas, New York, NY 10104 212.492.1700), first issued in 1980 in England. Guided, then as now, by Jean Paul Maunick, known as "Bluey," Incognito is a groove-happy troupe that makes danceable music that is dense without sounding cluttered. Stations that lapped up Incognito's well-received U.S. efforts Tribes, Vibes & Scribes and Positivity are almost certain to get with Jazz Funk...Fellow string-bender BARRY FINNERTY has gone straight, at least for the time being, with, well, Straight Ahead (Arabesque, 10 W. 37th St., New York, NY 10018), a mostly palatable quintet effort with David Kikoski (piano), Mike Richmond (bass), Victor Lewis (drums) and Chuggy Carter (percussion). The leader, best known for his membership in trumpeter Davis' first postretirement band of the early '80s, boasts a deep, broad tone informed by the blues (much like that of John Scofield, his successor in Davis' fusion band). For the most part, Finnerty's book on Straight Ahead is as right-on as his assembled sidemen. That he cut this disc direct to two-track digital (no layering) gives additional heft and legitimacy to the program. The CD-opening "Count Up" derives, with chordal inversions in the straight-jazz tradition, from John Coltrane's "Countdown," which derives from Davis' "Tune Up." Even more to this taste are his take on tenorist Joe Henderson's "Inner Urge" (from the '60s Blue Note LP of the same name) and Finnerty's blues-inflected, skewed-time tribute to drum titan Elvin Jones, "Elvinesque." The leader loses a point for his inclusion of "I Can't Make You Love Me," which worked well for Bonnie Raitt but sounds out of place here. But that's a minor cavil about an otherwise attractive CD with abundant energy and diversity. Straight-ahead formats, and even some contemporary stations, can add this disc with certainty.

TRUMPET TIME

CLARK TERRY, who holds the distinction of having worked with both the Count Basie and Duke Ellington orchestras (besides having made scores of albums in his own right), is 75 years old. But you'd never know it from the profusion of and passion in his recordings. The latest, The Second Set, for the audiophile Chesky label (P.O. Box 1268, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10101 212.586.7799), contains more of the spirited sounds he recorded live at the Village Gate Nov. 19-20, 1990. Terry's distinctive trumpet and flugel stylings ring true and tantalizing on this eight-tune (the last being an interview), 72-minute collection of his own works. For airplay purposes, consider "Serenade To A Bus Seat" and "Opus Ocean." Terry's frontline companion is the tried-and-trusty tenorist Jimmy Heath, and bringing up the rear—and keeping the horn soloists on their toes—is the solid rhythm trio of pianist Don Friedman, bassist Marcus McLaurine and drummer Kenny Washington...The piquant, semisweet cornet tone of RUBY BRAFF—a distinctive sound in mainstream jazz for going on a half-century—brims with vitality and touches of humor (one of Terry's trademarks, too) on Controlled Nonchalance At The Regattabar (Vol. 1), new from the steadfast trad label Arbors (P.O. Box 58059, Tierra Verde, FL 33715 813.726.7494). The genial Braff obviously digs the Regattabar (located in the Charles Hotel in Cambridge, Massachusetts), as his earlier quartet CD was cut there. This time out, Braff heads a sextet with the deep-bodied tenorman Scott Hamilton flanking him. The rhythm tandem of Dave McKenna (piano), Marshall Wood (bass), and Chuck Riggs (drums) is fortified with the addition of guitarist Gray Sargent. These guys are well-acquainted with one another, just as they are with such friendly, familiar blowing vehicles as "Struttin' With Some Barbecue," "What's New" and the highly recommended "Lester Leaps In," an airplay natural as short (3:56) as it is swingin'.

KING CRIMSON Thrak

Virgin, 338 N. Foothill Road, Beverly Hills, CA 90210

It's hard to believe that Thrak is the first new full-length release from King Crimson in more than a decade. With its progressive rock lineage, one could easily dismiss the band as irrelevant today. Yet King Crimson's combination of finely-wrought sonic sculptures and captivating, but skewed, pop songs doesn't sound overdone or old. This is not surprising when you consider the musicians involved. The last, early-'80s version of Crimson—Robert Fripp, Adrian Belew, Tony Levin and Bill Bruford—is broadened to include Trey Gunn on stick and Pat Mastelotto on percussion, forming an unusual double trio. The results dovetail easily with the band's previous work—some of it could have been lifted from one of Crimson's albums from 20 years ago—yet it never sounds dated. The group's lengthy layoff makes Thrak's cohesiveness all the more remarkable. Adventurous programmers will jump on the trademark Crimson instrumentals, like the title track, "Vroom," or the tongue-in-cheek "Dinosaur," with their metallic crunch and meditative interludes. Others should flock to the reflective "Walking On Air" or the hooky, Police-like "People."

DALE WATSON Cheatin' Heart Attack

Hightone, 220 Fourth St. #101, Oakland, CA 94607 510.763.8500

Fans of real country music are going to love this one. Dale Watson is a Texan with a knack for writing hardcore honky-tonk songs and singing them with the purest, stone county vocals we've heard since Junior Brown burst on the scene. Cheatin' Heart Attack is the 32 year old's debut, but he's been kicking around Texas and California for a while. He had a track on the third volume of A Town South Of Bakersfield and released a couple of singles for Curb, but nothing could have prepared us for the uncompromised traditionalism of his sound (which sadly means country radio is likely to designate him "too country")—and what a break for us.

Watson even addresses that concept on "Nashville Rash"—"It looks like I'm fallin' in the cracks/I'm too country, now, for country/Just like Johnny Cash/Help me, Merle, I'm breakin' out in a Nashville rash," he sings to a two-steppin' beat and pedal steel break. "List Of Reasons," "Wine, Wine, Wine" and the title track are among the reasons to give this one several spins.

SHORT SHOTS

Most folks know PAPA WEMBA's name from his recent work with Peter Gabriel. Originally from Zaire and currently living in Paris, he's just released Emotion (RealWorld, c/o Caroline, 114 W. 26th St., NY 10001 212.989.2929), his third album to feature his marvelous vocals. Produced by Stephen Hague (Pet Shop Boys, New Order, Erasure), it combines a variety of electronic and natural grooves with Wemba's strikingly passionate voice. Fans of traditional African styles may scoff at the fusion, but the rest of us can revel in Wemba's joy on "Show Me The Way" and "Image," as well as the soulful, innovative duet with Juliet Roberts on the Otis Redding classic, "Fa Fa Fa Fa Fa (Sad Song)." ...BETTY ELDERS has long been one of Austin's best kept secrets, but that's all about to change with the release of Crayons (Flying Fish, 1304 Schubert, Chicago, IL 60614 312.528.5455). Her lyrics read like poetry with subtle humor and startling innocence. Her voice is an amazingly fragile instrument, seemingly ready to break at any moment. "Just To Have You Hum Along (The Futon Song)," "Pastel" and "War Between The Fears" are prime examples of the magic Elders makes with words and music...The best (some say only) way to experience zydeco is live, where the crowd shakes until they drop and then starts screaming for more. BEAU JOCQUE & THE ZYDECO HI-ROLLERS are the hottest band in Louisiana right now and if you've ever been in the same room with them you know why. Git It, Beau Jocque! (Rounder, 1 Camp St., Cambridge, MA 02140 617.354.0700) captures this rowdy crew in full flight in front of a hometown audience and it's a delight. A few numbers stretch past the 10-minute mark, too long for radio play, but shorter songs like "Sack O' Woe," "Give Him Combread" and the title track amply show the unremitting energy that has made Beau Jocque such a phenomenon.

SWEDEN: WORLD

Three new releases flew in from Sweden this week that will definitely interest those who want to know how the rest of the planet brings the world into its own backyard. Rub-A-Dub Records (Tjärhovsgatan 44, 116 29 Stockholm, Sweden fax: 46.8.714.9179 e-mail: perre@skom.se) provides a unique platform for Sweden-based artists who want to explore bigger sonic vistas than are usually allowed.

BENGT BERGER is a percussionist who has a particular fascination with the melodic possibilities of pounding skins and wood. He uses tuned sets of tablas, water drums and cymbals to provide marimba-like tunes to his spacious, earthy pieces. Tarang brings together an incredible group of musicians to help him fulfill his east-to-west vision. Indian sarod and violin meet musical saw and bowed cymbals on "Like Wind I Go." The horns of Jonas Knutsson and Åle Möller give a jazzy flavor to the tuned tabla melody that flows through "Tarang A.M." Berger's music is consummate understatement, each piece developing in elusive ways that require active energy from the listener, energy well spent in the pursuit of a truly original aural palette.

ERIK STEEN goes south for his inspiration, to the flamenco spirits of Spain and North Africa. Entre Atardecer Y Amanecer is less adventurous than Berger's work, and holds much closer to his source material for inspiration, but the fire is there, and some of the larger band productions are creative and energetic.

Last, I come to percussionist/synthesist PER TJERNBERG, whose praises I have sung more than once on these pages. His sources are limitless, his creative goals are high, and he manages to reign it all in and make focused, intense new music every time he goes in the studio. The Third Word is no exception, as he goes deeper into the electronic realm than before without losing any of the sonic spark of a myriad of acoustic instruments. As before, there is a heavy Eastern influence in his work, but it never comes too far into the forefront of his personal vision, but rather pulls you back towards it through a mist of African percussion, Middle Eastern drones and other-worldly sounds. The track that best sums up all of

Color indicates a significant increase in airplay.

This week's chart reflects the changing times, as we have our third #1 in as many weeks: RAS' Israel Vibration climbs to our #1 spot from #3 last week. Just below, Xenophile-Green Linnnet's Varttina rises 4-2, while RealWorld-Caroline's Justin Vali Trio inches up 5-3. Our highest debut comes from Mango's Boukman Eksperyans, as the celebrated Haitian combo's new album Libete Pran Pou Pran! emerges at #16. Other debuts include Francis Bebey on Original Music (#20), Mikey Dread on ROIR (#21) and Transglobal Underground on Epic. One word of caution to our reporters: there are currently two Dennis Brown albums out, one on Heartbeat (#23) and one slightly older one on RAS. Please be sure and specify which one it is you're reporting to keep our charts as accurate as possible. Thanks! (NEW WORLD REPORTS PRINTED AFTER TOP 35 REPORTS.)

this diversity is the eerie "Lizard Juice," with its swirling loops of voices, basses, flutes and drums.

CELTIC HEARTBEATS

"Celtic Heartbeat is an Irish label established specifically to bring you the very best in authentic Celtic music." That's a hell of a statement, assuming knowledge of what "authentic" is in a musical culture that has assimilated and influenced almost all of the world's music at one time or another. And if one more person calls me to tell me he or she is promoting a "real" Irish group, "you know, like Enya?" I am going to choke. And do we really need a collection of Clannad's pudding-like-texture TV and movie themes?

OK, I'll try to set aside the crankiness (mostly). Amid the echo-plexed rubble of the first wave of new releases from this new label are a few gold charms. Guitarist and bouzouki player (bouzouki, there's an interesting Irish instrument!) ALEC FINN's simple takes on the airs of Ireland are marvelous on Blue Shamrock (Celtic Heartbeat, c/o Atlantic, 75 Rockefeller Plaza, New York, NY 10019). He was one of the founding members of De Dannan, still one of the best contemporary Irish bands around. He's a passionate player, and the arrangements are clear and clean. He's joined by a fine band, including piper Tommy Keane and tin whistler Sean Ryan. Don't expect any pyrotechnics on this set of airs. It's all low key and beautiful.

MARIE BREATNACH's The Voyage Of Bran (Celtic Heartbeat, c/o Atlantic, address above) is another fine one from this new series. Her composition is based on an ancient tale of Bran, an Irish voyager sent to sea by mystic. She mixes both orchestral and céili qualities in this work, and the contrasts and conflicts make for a dynamic and exciting journey through both the lore of Ireland and the many feelings and styles that make up "Irish" music.

Some of the other CDs in this first release binge from Celtic Heartbeat are quite disposable, while others will interest only those folks who have fallen under the spell of Clannad and its offspring.

While it is currently more famed for its Redbird and Xenophile sub-labels, Green Linnnet (43 Beaver Brook Road, Danbury CT 06810 203.730.0333) has hardly slowed down its usual outpouring of solid Celtic music. Getting down to basics, JOE BURKE, ANDY MCGANN AND FELIX DOLAN presented A Tribute To Michael Coleman back in 1965, not so much as a reiteration of his amazing catalog of fiddle tunes as in his memory and in honor of the influence he had over these three (and most other) Irish musicians. On fiddle, piano and accordion, they flew through a five-hour session (in mono) that resulted in these 15 near-perfect performances, proving that clever fusion and high technology have little to do with great music.

SHARON SHANNON last album was a knockout, with a solid, driving band backing her incredible accordion technique. Sorry I can't say the same about Out The Gap (Green Linnnet, address above), a strained, clever fusion of her savvy music with usually-a-reggae-producer Dennis Bovell's studio tricks. This Celto-dub fusion has been done before (and better) by a number of bands, including Edward II And The Red Hot Polkas and various incarnations of Tiger Moth. Both Bovell and Shannon seemed to have found the worst in each other, and the only tracks that really cut loose are the ones where there is only one influence dominating.

The Scots have been reminding the world of their Celtic roots of late, as well, with the hard roots-rocking WOLFSTONE recently finishing a U.S. tour and getting ready to return again in May and June. You can get the group's tour dates and info on the band from its American publicist, Denise Sofranko at Notoriety Management & Publicity (phone: 410.377.2851, e-mail: Denise@notoriety.com).

Again, if you are a fan of more heavily produced music, you should check out two Scots bands with similar formats. MOUTH MUSIC has finally liberated itself from the folk label, moving towards a pop mania on Shorelife (Rykodisc, Shetland Park, 27 Congress St., Salem, MA 01970 508.744.7678). There is unfortunately a lot less personality to this album than there was in the band's previous recordings, as Mouth Music attempts to become more "contemporary" and less "folk." Too bad. Taking a step back to the last Mouth Music album will prepare you for the COLOUR OF MEMORY, another "two singers and a guy who plays lots of instruments" band from Scotland. The group has held a little more of the folk quality that made the first two Mouth Music albums so interesting, and the production, while lush, is only occasionally clichéd. The Old Man & The Sea (Iona, c/o Mesa/Bluemoon, P.O. Box 5510, Glendale, CA 91221 818.841.8585) has some shining moments of trad-pop fusion.

Peace always.

Color indicates a significant increase in airplay.

BROOKLYN! Elektra's Ol' Dirty Bastard (1-1) gets down and dirty for another week and keeps DGC's Roots (2-2) for another week, while the debut album from Capitol's Channel Live advances from #5 to #3. Delicious Vinyl-Capitol's Masta Ace Incorporated has one of the fastest rising singles over the past few weeks. This week, "The I.N.C. Ride" camps at #4 from #8, while Def Jam/RAL-Island's Method Man (7-5) moves forward and Wild West-American's The Nonce (12-8) moves World Ultimate back into the top 10. The only debuts to report this week come from MCA's King Tee, who debuts IV Life at #27, and Arista's D&D Project which debuts its single at #33. On the Retail chart, Interscope's 2Pac maintains control of the chart, while Tommy Boy's New Jersey Drive Vol. 1 (3-2) jumps past Elektra's Ol' Dirty Bastard who falls from 2-3. Debuting this week is the debut album by PMP/RAL-Island's Montell Jordan at #18 and Masta Ace Incorporated at #19. This week's Top Adds: 1) Mobb Deep; 2) Rottin Razkals; 3) Big L; 4) Funkdoobiest; 5) Masta Ace Incorporated; 6) Friday; 7) Lost Boyz; 8) Notorious B.I.G.; 9) Street Fighter; 10) Raekwon.

MASTA ACE INCORPORATED Sittin' On Chrome

Delicious Vinyl, c/o Capitol, 1750 N. Vine St., Los Angeles, CA 90028
Over his five-year career, Brooklyn's Masta Ace has been anything but predictable. His 1990 debut, Take A Look Around, suffered more from bad marketing (Ace posed with a puppet in the "Me And The Biz" video) than from a lack of ability. When rap is becoming more predictable and superficial, Masta Ace usually gravitates towards something different—he is vehemently against trends or labels. His MC skills are simple, smart and catchy, despite his deadpan delivery, while his reluctance to follow trends or say the catch phrase du jour made his last album, Slaughterhouse, and his appearance on the Crooklyn soundtrack so memorable. On the surface, his new album, Sittin' On Chrome, appears to be everything Masta Ace isn't about: calculated beats and generic rhymes. But a closer listen reveals exactly what Ace accomplishes. Labels are only created by critics and, while cuts like "The I.N.C. Ride" and the title track have a conspicuously West Coast feel, Ace mixes in his Brooklyn-bred rhyme style for an outstanding cross-bred outcome. Cuts like "What's Going On!" and "U Can't Find Me" are comfortable and creepy for the Jeep systems, while Ace can often be found flexing his mental muscles, boiling his musical ideas down to their most essential elements: a few hooks, a lasting chorus and plenty of repeatable one-liners to keep the album rollin' ("Punks be all up on it like a Charlotte Hornet/But they're full of Chicago Bull-shit because they don't want it"). Masta Ace challenges listeners to create a tag for his sound, but by the time they do, Ace will be onto something else.

LOW ROCK REVIEWS

FLOTSAM AND JETSAM Drift

MCA, 70 Universal City Plaza, Universal City, CA 91608

Living up to its ironic moniker, this "floating wreckage" of a band, despite being hurled into some of life's most turbulent waters over the past nine years, has not only remained afloat where most bands would have sunk like a ton of bricks, but it continues to get better, tighter and more polished with each album. On its fifth release, Drift, Flotsam And Jetsam embraces an array of new musical styles without losing any of its trademark heaviness. The band sprinkles a sampling of keyboards, Middle Eastern melodies and Spanish guitars over its aggressive signature sound. On "Smoked Out," vocalist Eric AK belts out a powerful message of betrayal through snarling guitar riffs and furiously pounding rhythms, while the bass-driven blast of "12 Year Old With A Gun" shudders with frenzied grooves, blistering riffs and cold-hearted screams, reflecting the unfortunate reality of gun-toting tots in today's society. Just when you think it's safe to loosen your life jacket, the opening acoustic strum of "Missing" might fool ya, but the song proceeds to dive headfirst into a raging whirlpool of wailing guitar jams and rough grinds that swirl and crash around sharp, spontaneous tempo breaks. Also check out the crushing rhythmic explosion of "Blindside," the melodic swoon of "Destructive Signs," the suffocating power of "Empty Air" and the distorted rumble of "Poets Tell."

ORGANIZATION Savor The Flavor

The tight-knit, phenomenal musicians of the Organization have come quite a long way since their former Death Angel days, when trudging around the seedy, underground clubs of Northern California and pounding out relentless speedcore thrash was the norm for this Filipino foursome (all of whom are cousins). After surviving a near-fatal tour bus accident in 1990 and enduring the departure of longtime vocalist Mark Osegueda shortly thereafter, the remaining members of the band continued on successfully under their new moniker (which instantly relieved them of the stereotyping their old moniker invited) and released their debut LP for Metal Blade. A perfect follow-up and sensational sophomore effort from The O, Savor The Flavor showcases the band's diverse and intelligent songwriting style more than ever before with instantly catchy melodies, mesmerizing harmonies, upbeat rhythms, emotional lyrics and intricately-constructed riffs. The life-long personal relationship and 13-year musical history of the bandmembers clearly shines through on each of the album's 12 cleverly-crafted tunes. Highlights include the deep-rooted, hard-rockin' groove of the title cut, the dark, funky grind of "So Full Of Lies," the folksy, emotionally-charged ballad "Had A Long Today," the hard-driving, punk-inflected melodies of "The Chase," the pummeling hardcore explosion of "The Drought" and the riotous punch of "Insomnia."

STRAPPING YOUNG LAD

Heavy As A Really Heavy Thing

Century Media, 1453-A 14th St., #324, Santa Monica, CA 90404 310.396.0094

After collaborating with such diverse acts as Steve Vai, Frontline Assembly, the Wildhearts and IR8, touring the world, and most recently lending his vocal talents to a demo from a new band founded by ex-Black Sabbath bassist Geezer Butler, singer/songwriter/guitarist Devin Townsend has finally released his debut record, Heavy As A Really Heavy Thing. And heavy it is. With out-of-control, frenzied hardcore rhythms, pelting industrial madness and psychotically spewed vocal shouts topped with a heaping load of sarcastic, twisted humor, Heavy As A Really Heavy Thing pushes the boundaries of extreme music to the limit. The opening pissed-off attack of the brain-bashing "S.Y.L." rattles and seethes with a ferocious aggression powerful enough to make even the boldest of headbangers cower in its wake, while the stripped-down, digital hellfire of "Cod Metal King" reverberates with stark evil.

Continuing with a thundering, spit-fire intensity guaranteed to leave you gasping for air, the album blasts through one devastating track after another. Check out the maniacal, faster-than-a-speeding-bullet thrash of "Happy Camper (Carpe B.U.M.)," the dirty stomp of "The Filler—Sweet City Jesus" and the razor-throated eruption of "Skin Me." Stick around for the hysterical, carnival-like unlisted track at the end, which would have been a perfect addition to the soundtrack from the comedy/horror B-movie flick Killer Clowns From Outer-Space.

SLAUGHTER Fear No Evil

CMC International, 106 W. Horton St., Zebulon, NC 27597 919.269.5508

Although everyone is probably way "too cool" to admit they listened to Slaughter in the '80s, let alone fess up to the fact that they really liked the band, the band's airplay, retail and ticket sales tell quite a different story: Slaughter's debut album, Stick It To Ya, sold over a million copies within five months of its release, while 1992's follow-up, The Wild Life, was certified platinum in both the United States and Canada only three months after its release. Slaughter has a knack for penning some of the catchiest rockin' songs around, as well as serving up its fair share of beautiful, emotional power ballads, and Fear No Evil is no exception to the rule. Mark Slaughter's potent and instantly recognizable howl soars high above the dense rhythmic chug of the album-opener, "Live Like There's No Tomorrow," while the Beatles-esque "It'll Be Alright" strays from traditional Slaughter style with bouncy grooves, swirling synth rhythms and a touch of colorful psychedelia. The upbeat, hoot-'n'-holler of "Let The Good Times Roll" riles up a slew of sing-along choruses, foot-stomping rhythms and fancy fretwork guaranteed to get that party-time rock 'n' roll beast inside you roaring to get out. Also check out the electrifying blast of "Get Used To It," the fluid, melancholy caress of "Breakdown N' Cry" and the sinister grind of "Hard Times."

PO' BOY SWING Lite And Sweet

"Lite" and "sweet" are probably the last two words that spring to mind while listening to this debut album from Long Island rockers Po' Boy Swing; "hard-edged" and "funky" are definitely more like it. Po' Boy Swing will send an electric jolt through the system with its unpredictable mix of aggressive rap/metal, groove-laden rock 'n' roll, glittery disco, funky doo-wop and stomping hardcore all rolled up into one huge, gooey ball of slammin' jams. Leaning heavily toward the more eccentric side of the musical fence, Po' Boy Swing forges a style similar to Faith No More's, especially in frontman Mark DiCarlo's powerful, Mike Patton-ish shriek. Although Lite And Sweet shifts styles dramatically from one song to the next, it ultimately gels under a huge blanket of fun-filled energy and down-to-earth light-heartedness. Despite the fact that every tune on the album was apparently penned as a "love song,"

you need to dig much deeper into the deceptive outer shells of most songs to find that intended warm, fuzzy feeling. Dip into the crunchy, swirling groove of "Both Ways," the heavy, rapped churn-'n'-grind of "Why Bother," the hard-driving, rough (but surprisingly catchy and melodic) sting of "Not Fade Away," the fun, shimmery disco-funk shuffle of "Baby Make Me Feel," the strikingly true-to-the-original cover of Leo Sayer's "When I Need You" and the pop-rap-punk punch of "Just Breathing."

UGLYSTICK Uglystick

Pavement, 17 W. 703 A Butterfield Road, Oakbrook Terrace, IL 60181 708.916.1155

According to Oklahoma City's Uglystick, "The uglier the band, the better the music." Although that's not always the case (ahem...did someone say Sebastian Bach?), it seems to be true in most instances concerning angry, heavy, aggressive, hardcore/power-metal groups. For example, the guys in Pantera wouldn't seem as vociferous and powerful with poofy hair and make-up, would they (hmmm...)? Although Uglystick began spewing its hard-pounding aggression to the masses in 1991, it didn't reach its full potential until 1993, when the band recruited second guitarist Paige Vernon, formerly of the Slugs (now Crowbar). Now, after sharing the stage with some top-notch bands including Tool, King's X, Prong, White Zombie, Crowbar and Rollins Band, Uglystick is more than primed to rear its hideous head in mighty metaland. With a style firmly rooted in a thick bed of heavy, pounding rhythms, Uglystick blasts out a shuddering amalgamation of rough melodies, stomping hardcore, attitudinal, punk-inflected grind and crushing power-metal on its self-titled debut album. Check out the opening chaotic groove of "Sadly Enough," the menacing gnash of "Mammal," the gritty slam of "Fog Face," the angry scrape of "Failure," the primal thud of "Yard Ape" and the bittersweet churn of "Honeysucker."

KING CRIMSON Thrak

Virgin, 338 N. Foothill Road, Beverly Hills, CA 90210

It's hard to believe that Thrak is the first new full-length release from King Crimson in more than a decade. With its progressive rock lineage, one could easily dismiss the band as irrelevant today. Yet King Crimson's combination of finely-wrought sonic sculptures and captivating, but skewed, pop songs doesn't sound overdone or old. This is not surprising when you consider the musicians involved. The last, early-'80s version of Crimson—Robert Fripp, Adrian Belew, Tony Levin and Bill Bruford—is broadened to include Trey Gunn on stick and Pat Mastelotto on percussion, forming an unusual double trio. The results dovetail easily with the band's previous work—some of it could have been lifted from one of Crimson's albums from 20 years ago—yet it never sounds dated. The group's lengthy layoff makes Thrak's cohesiveness all the more remarkable. Adventurous programmers will jump on the trademark Crimson instrumentals, like the title track, "Vrooom," or the tongue-in-cheek "Dinosaur," with their metallic crunch and meditative interludes. Others should flock to the reflective "Walking On Air" or the hooky, Police-like "People."

DALE WATSON Cheatin' Heart Attack

Hightone, 220 Fourth St. #101, Oakland, CA 94607 510.763.8500

Fans of real country music are going to love this one. Dale Watson is a Texan with a knack for writing hardcore honky-tonk songs and singing them with the purest, stone county vocals we've heard since Junior Brown burst on the scene. Cheatin' Heart Attack is the 32 year old's debut, but he's been kicking around Texas and California for a while. He had a track on the third volume of A Town South Of Bakersfield and released a couple of singles for Curb, but nothing could have prepared us for the uncompromised traditionalism of his sound (which sadly means country radio is likely to designate him "too country")—and what a break for us.

Watson even addresses that concept on "Nashville Rash"—"It looks like I'm fallin' in the cracks/I'm too country, now, for country/Just like Johnny Cash/Help me, Merle, I'm breakin' out in a Nashville rash," he sings to a two-steppin' beat and pedal steel break. "List Of Reasons," "Wine, Wine, Wine" and the title track are among the reasons to give this one several spins.

SHORT SHOTS

Most folks know PAPA WEMBA's name from his recent work with Peter Gabriel. Originally from Zaire and currently living in Paris, he's just released Emotion (RealWorld, c/o Caroline, 114 W. 26th St., NY 10001 212.989.2929), his third album to feature his marvelous vocals. Produced by Stephen Hague (Pet Shop Boys, New Order, Erasure), it combines a variety of electronic and natural grooves with Wemba's strikingly passionate voice. Fans of traditional African styles may scoff at the fusion, but the rest of us can revel in Wemba's joy on "Show Me The Way" and "Image," as well as the soulful, innovative duet with Juliet Roberts on the Otis Redding classic, "Fa Fa Fa Fa Fa (Sad Song)." ...BETTY ELDERS has long been one of Austin's best kept secrets, but that's all about to change with the release of Crayons (Flying Fish, 1304 Schubert, Chicago, IL 60614 312.528.5455). Her lyrics read like poetry with subtle humor and startling innocence. Her voice is an amazingly fragile instrument, seemingly ready to break at any moment. "Just To Have You Hum Along (The Futon Song)," "Pastel" and "War Between The Fears" are prime examples of the magic Elders makes with words and music...The best (some say only) way to experience zydeco is live, where the crowd shakes until they drop and then starts screaming for more. BEAU JOCQUE & THE ZYDECO HI-ROLLERS are the hottest band in Louisiana right now and if you've ever been in the same room with them you know why. Git It, Beau Jocque! (Rounder, 1 Camp St., Cambridge, MA 02140 617.354.0700) captures this rowdy crew in full flight in front of a hometown audience and it's a delight. A few numbers stretch past the 10-minute mark, too long for radio play, but shorter songs like "Sack O' Woe," "Give Him Cornbread" and the title track amply show the unremitting energy that has made Beau Jocque such a phenomenon.

SWEDEN: WORLD

Three new releases flew in from Sweden this week that will definitely interest those who want to know how the rest of the planet brings the world into its own backyard. Rub-A-Dub Records (Tjörhovsgatan 44, 116 29 Stockholm, Sweden fax: 46.8.714.9179 e-mail: perre@skom.se) provides a unique platform for Sweden-based artists who want to explore bigger sonic vistas than are usually allowed.

BENGT BERGER is a percussionist who has a particular fascination with the melodic possibilities of pounding skins and wood. He uses tuned sets of tablas, water drums and cymbals to provide marimba-like tunes to his spacious, earthy pieces. Tarang brings together an incredible group of musicians to help him fulfill his east-to-west vision. Indian sarod and violin meet musical saw and bowed cymbals on "Like Wind I Go." The horns of Jonas Knutsson and Åle Möller give a jazzy flavor to the tuned tabla melody that flows through "Tarang A.M." Berger's music is consummate understatement, each piece developing in elusive ways that require active energy from the listener, energy well spent in the pursuit of a truly original aural palette.

ERIK STEEN goes south for his inspiration, to the flamenco spirits of Spain and North Africa. Entre Atardecer Y Amanecer is less adventurous than Berger's work, and holds much closer to his source material for inspiration, but the fire is there, and some of the larger band productions are creative and energetic.

Last, I come to percussionist/synthesist PER TJERNBERG, whose praises I have sung more than once on these pages. His sources are limitless, his creative goals are high, and he manages to reign it all in and make focused, intense new music every time he goes in the studio. The Third Word is no exception, as he goes deeper into the electronic realm than before without losing any of the sonic spark of a myriad of acoustic instruments. As before, there is a heavy Eastern influence in his work, but it never comes too far into the forefront of his personal vision, but rather pulls you back towards it through a mist of African percussion, Middle Eastern drones and other-worldly sounds. The track that best sums up all of

Color indicates a significant increase in airplay.

This week's chart reflects the changing times, as we have our third #1 in as many weeks: RAS' Israel Vibration dims to our #1 spot from #3 last week. Just below, Xenophile-Green Linnet's Varttina rises 4-2, while RealWorld-Caroline's Justin Vali Trio inches up 5-3. Our highest debut comes from Mango's Boukman Eksperyans, as the celebrated Haitian combo's new album Libete Pran Pou Pran! emerges at #16. Other debuts include Francis Bebey on Original Music (#20), Mikey Dread on ROIR (#21) and Transglobal Underground on Epic. One word of caution to our reporters: there are currently two Dennis Brown albums out, one on Heartbeat (#23) and one slightly older one on RAS. Please be sure and specify which one it is you're reporting to keep our charts as accurate as possible. Thanks! (NEW WORLD REPORTS PRINTED AFTER TOP 35 REPORTS.)

this diversity is the eerie "Lizard Juice," with its swirling loops of voices, basses, flutes and drums.

CELTIC HEARTBEATS

"Celtic Heartbeat is an Irish label established specifically to bring you the very best in authentic Celtic music." That's a hell of a statement, assuming knowledge of what "authentic" is in a musical culture that has assimilated and influenced almost all of the world's music at one time or another. And if one more person calls me to tell me he or she is promoting a "real" Irish group, "you know, like Enya?" I am going to choke. And do we really need a collection of Clannad's pudding-like-texture TV and movie themes?

OK, I'll try to set aside the crankiness (mostly). Amid the echo-plexed rubble of the first wave of new releases from this new label are a few gold charms. Guitarist and bouzouki player (bouzouki, there's an interesting Irish instrument!) ALEC FINN's simple takes on the airs of Ireland are marvelous on Blue Shamrock (Celtic Heartbeat, c/o Atlantic, 75 Rockefeller Plaza, New York, NY 10019). He was one of the founding members of De Dannan, still one of the best contemporary Irish bands around. He's a passionate player, and the arrangements are clear and clean. He's joined by a fine band, including piper Tommy Keane and tin whistler Sean Ryan. Don't expect any pyrotechnics on this set of airs. It's all low key and beautiful.

MARIE BREATNACH's The Voyage Of Bran (Celtic Heartbeat, c/o Atlantic, address above) is another fine one from this new series. Her composition is based on an ancient tale of Bran, an Irish voyager sent to sea by mystic. She mixes both orchestral and céili qualities in this work, and the contrasts and conflicts make for a dynamic and exciting journey through both the lore of Ireland and the many feelings and styles that make up "Irish" music.

Some of the other CDs in this first release binge from Celtic Heartbeat are quite disposable, while others will interest only those folks who have fallen under the spell of Clannad and its offspring.

While it is currently more famed for its Redbird and Xenophile sub-labels, Green Linnet (43 Beaver Brook Road, Danbury CT 06810 203.730.0333) has hardly slowed down its usual outpouring of solid Celtic music. Getting down to basics, JOE BURKE, ANDY MCGANN AND FELIX DOLAN presented A Tribute To Michael Coleman back in 1965, not so much as a reiteration of his amazing catalog of fiddle tunes as in his memory and in honor of the influence he had over these three (and most other) Irish musicians. On fiddle, piano and accordion, they flew through a five-hour session (in mono) that resulted in these 15 near-perfect performances, proving that clever fusion and high technology have little to do with great music.

SHARON SHANNON last album was a knockout, with a solid, driving band backing her incredible accordion technique. Sorry I can't say the same about Out The Gap (Green Linnet, address above), a strained, clever fusion of her savvy music with usually-a-reggae-producer Dennis Bovell's studio tricks. This Celto-dub fusion has been done before (and better) by a number of bands, including Edward II And The Red Hot Polkas and various incarnations of Tiger Moth. Both Bovell and Shannon seemed to have found the worst in each other, and the only tracks that really cut loose are the ones where there is only one influence dominating.

The Scots have been reminding the world of their Celtic roots of late, as well, with the hard roots-rocking WOLFSTONE recently finishing a U.S. tour and getting ready to return again in May and June. You can get the group's tour dates and info on the band from its American publicist, Denise Sofranko at Notoriety Management & Publicity (phone: 410.377.2851, e-mail: Denise@notoriety.com).

Again, if you are a fan of more heavily produced music, you should check out two Scots bands with similar formats. MOUTH MUSIC has finally liberated itself from the folk label, moving towards a pop mania on Shorelife (Rykodisc, Shetland Park, 27 Congress St., Salem, MA 01970 508.744.7678). There is unfortunately a lot less personality to this album than there was in the band's previous recordings, as Mouth Music attempts to become more "contemporary" and less "folk." Too bad. Taking a step back to the last Mouth Music album will prepare you for the COLOUR OF MEMORY, another "two singers and a guy who plays lots of instruments" band from Scotland. The group has held a little more of the folk quality that made the first two Mouth Music albums so interesting, and the production, while lush, is only occasionally clichéd. The Old Man & The Sea (Iona, c/o Mesa/Bluemoon, P.O. Box 5510, Glendale, CA 91221 818.841.8585) has some shining moments of trad-pop fusion.

Peace always.

Color indicates a significant increase in airplay.

BROOKLYN: Elektra's Ol' Dirty Bastard (1-1) gets down and dirty for another week and keeps DGC's Roots (2-2) for another week, while the debut album from Capitol's Channel Live advances from #5 to #3. Delicious Vinyl-Capitol's Masta Ace Incorporated has one of the fastest rising singles over the past few weeks. This week, "The I.N.C. Ride" camps at #4 from #8, while Def Jam/RAL-Island's Method Man (7-5) moves forward and Wild West-American's The Nonce (12-8) moves World Ultimate back into the top 10. The only debuts to report this week come from MCA's King Tee, who debuts IV Life at #27, and Arista's O&O Project which debuts its single at #33. On the Retail chart, Interscope's 2Pac maintains control of the chart, while Tommy Boy's New Jersey Drive Vol. 1 (3-2) jumps past Elektra's Ol' Dirty Bastard who falls from 2-3. Debuting this week is the debut album by PMP/RAL-Island's Montell Jordan at #18 and Masta Ace Incorporated at #19. This week's Top Adds: 1) Mobb Deep; 2) Rottin Razkals; 3) Big L; 4) Funkdoobiest; 5) Masta Ace Incorporated; 6) Friday; 7) Lost Boyz; 8) Notorious B.I.G.; 9) Street Fighter; 10) Raekwon.

DOPE!

MASTA ACE INCORPORATED Sittin' On Chrome

Delicious Vinyl, c/o Capitol, 1750 N. Vine St., Los Angeles, CA 90028
Over his five-year career, Brooklyn's Masta Ace has been anything but predictable. His 1990 debut, Take A Look Around, suffered more from bad marketing (Ace posed with a puppet in the "Me And The Biz" video) than from a lack of ability. When rap is becoming more predictable and superficial, Masta Ace usually gravitates towards something different—he is vehemently against trends or labels. His MC skills are simple, smart and catchy, despite his deadpan delivery, while his reluctance to follow trends or say the catch phrase du jour made his last album, Slaughterhouse, and his appearance on the Crooklyn soundtrack so memorable. On the surface, his new album, Sittin' On Chrome, appears to be everything Masta Ace isn't about: calculated beats and generic rhymes. But a closer listen reveals exactly what Ace accomplishes. Labels are only created by critics and, while cuts like "The I.N.C. Ride" and the title track have a conspicuously West Coast feel, Ace mixes in his Brooklyn-bred rhyme style for an outstanding cross-bred outcome. Cuts like "What's Going On!" and "U Can't Find Me" are comfortable and creepy for the Jeep systems, while Ace can often be found flexing his mental muscles, boiling his musical ideas down to their most essential elements: a few hooks, a lasting chorus and plenty of repeatable one-liners to keep the album rollin' ("Punks be all up on it like a Charlotte Hornet/But they're full of Chicago Bull-shit because they don't want it"). Masta Ace challenges listeners to create a tag for his sound, but by the time they do, Ace will be onto something else.

LOW ROCK REVIEWS

FLOTSAM AND JETSAM Drift

MCA, 70 Universal City Plaza, Universal City, CA 91608

Living up to its ironic moniker, this "floating wreckage" of a band, despite being hurled into some of life's most turbulent

BRUISER PICK

waters over the past nine years, has not only remained afloat

where most bands would have sunk like a ton of bricks, but it continues to get better, tighter and more polished with each album. On its fifth release, Drift, Flotsam And Jetsam embraces an array of new musical styles without losing any of its trademark heaviness. The band sprinkles a sampling of keyboards, Middle Eastern melodies and Spanish guitars over its aggressive signature sound. On "Smoked Out," vocalist Eric AK belts out a powerful message of betrayal through snarling guitar riffs and furiously pounding rhythms, while the bass-driven blast of "12 Year Old With A Gun" shudders with frenzied grooves, blistering riffs and cold-hearted screams, reflecting the unfortunate reality of gun-toting tots in today's society. Just when you think it's safe to loosen your life jacket, the opening acoustic strum of "Missing" might fool ya, but the song proceeds to dive headfirst into a raging whirlpool of wailing guitar jams and rough grinds that swirl and crash around sharp, spontaneous tempo breaks. Also check out the crushing rhythmic explosion of "Blindside," the melodic swoon of "Destructive Signs," the suffocating power of "Empty Air" and the distorted rumble of "Poets Tell."

ORGANIZATION Savor The Flavor

The tight-knit, phenomenal musicians of the Organization have come quite a long way since their former Death Angel days, when trudging around the seedy, underground clubs of

Northern California and pounding out relentless speedcore thrash was the norm for this Filipino foursome (all of whom are cousins). After surviving a near-fatal tour bus accident in 1990 and enduring the departure of longtime vocalist Mark Osegueda shortly thereafter, the remaining members of the band continued on successfully under their new moniker (which instantly relieved them of the stereotyping their old moniker invited) and released their debut LP for Metal Blade. A perfect follow-up and sensational sophomore effort from The O, Savor The Flavor showcases the band's diverse and intelligent songwriting style more than ever before with instantly catchy melodies, mesmerizing harmonies, upbeat rhythms, emotional lyrics and intricately-constructed riffs. The life-long personal relationship and 13-year musical history of the bandmembers clearly shines through on each of the album's 12 cleverly-crafted tunes. Highlights include the deep-rooted, hard-rockin' groove of the title cut, the dark, funky grind of "So Full Of Lies," the folksy, emotionally-charged ballad "Had A Long Today," the hard-driving, punk-inflected melodies of "The Chase," the pummeling hardcore explosion of "The Drought" and the riotous punch of "Insomnia."

STRAPPING YOUNG LAD

Heavy As A Really Heavy Thing

Century Media, 1453-A 14th St., #324, Santa Monica, CA 90404 310.396.0094

After collaborating with such diverse acts as Steve Vai, Frontline Assembly, the Wildhearts and IR8, touring the world, and most recently lending his vocal talents to a demo from a new band founded by ex-Black Sabbath bassist Geezer Butler, singer/songwriter/guitarist Devin Townsend has finally released his debut record, Heavy As A Really Heavy Thing. And heavy it is. With out-of-control, frenzied hardcore rhythms, pelting industrial madness and psychotically spewed vocal shouts topped with a heaping load of sarcastic, twisted humor, Heavy As A Really Heavy Thing pushes the boundaries of extreme music to the limit. The opening pissed-off attack of the brain-bashing "S.Y.L." rattles and seethes with a ferocious aggression powerful enough to make even the boldest of headbangers cower in its wake, while the stripped-down, digital hellfire of "Cod Metal King" reverberates with stark evil.

Continuing with a thundering, spit-fire intensity guaranteed to leave you gasping for air, the album blasts through one devastating track after another. Check out the maniacal, faster-than-a-speeding-bullet thrash of "Happy Camper (Carpe B.U.M.)," the dirty stomp of "The Filler—Sweet City Jesus" and the razor-throated eruption of "Skin Me." Stick around for the hysterical, carnival-like unlisted track at the end, which would have been a perfect addition to the soundtrack from the comedy/horror B-movie flick Killer Clowns From Outer-Space.

SLAUGHTER Fear No Evil

CMC International, 106 W. Horton St., Zebulon, NC 27597 919.269.5508

Although everyone is probably way "too cool" to admit they listened to Slaughter in the '80s, let alone fess up to the fact that they really liked the band, the band's airplay, retail and ticket sales tell quite a different story: Slaughter's debut album, Stick It To Ya, sold over a million copies within five months of its release, while 1992's follow-up, The Wild Life, was certified platinum in both the United States and Canada only three months after its release. Slaughter has a knack for penning some of the catchiest rockin' songs around, as well as serving up its fair share of beautiful, emotional power ballads, and Fear No Evil is no exception to the rule. Mark Slaughter's potent and instantly recognizable howl soars high above the dense rhythmic chug of the album-opener, "Live Like There's No Tomorrow," while the Beatles-esque "It'll Be Alright" strays from traditional Slaughter style with bouncy grooves, swirling synth rhythms and a touch of colorful psychedelia. The upbeat, hoot-'n'-holler of "Let The Good Times Roll" riles up a slew of sing-along choruses, foot-stomping rhythms and fancy fretwork guaranteed to get that party-time rock 'n' roll beast inside you roaring to get out. Also check out the electrifying blast of "Get Used To It," the fluid, melancholy caress of "Breakdown N' Cry" and the sinister grind of "Hard Times."

PO' BOY SWING Lite And Sweet

"Lite" and "sweet" are probably the last two words that spring to mind while listening to this debut album from Long Island rockers Po' Boy Swing; "hard-edged" and "funky" are definitely more like it. Po' Boy Swing will send an electric jolt through the system with its unpredictable mix of aggressive rap/metal, groove-laden rock 'n' roll, glittery disco, funky doo-wop and stomping hardcore all rolled up into one huge, gooey ball of slammin' jams. Leaning heavily toward the more eccentric side of the musical fence, Po' Boy Swing forges a style similar to Faith No More's, especially in frontman Mark DiCarlo's powerful, Mike Patton-ish shriek. Although Lite And Sweet shifts styles dramatically from one song to the next, it ultimately gels under a huge blanket of fun-filled energy and down-to-earth light-heartedness. Despite the fact that every tune on the album was apparently penned as a "love song,"

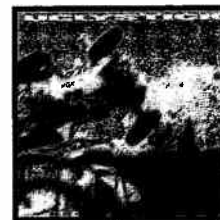

you need to dig much deeper into the deceptive outer shells of most songs to find that intended warm, fuzzy feeling. Dip into the crunchy, swirling groove of "Both Ways," the heavy, rapped churn-'n'-grind of "Why Bother," the hard-driving, rough (but surprisingly catchy and melodic) sting of "Not Fade Away," the fun, shimmering disco-funk shuffle of "Baby Make Me Feel," the strikingly true-to-the-original cover of Leo Sayer's "When I Need You" and the pop-rap-punk punch of "Just Breathing."

UGLYSTICK Uglystick

Pavement, 17 W. 703 A Butterfield Road, Oakbrook Terrace, IL 60181 708.916.1155

According to Oklahoma City's Uglystick, "The uglier the band, the better the music." Although that's not always the case (ahem...did someone say Sebastian Bach?), it seems to be true in most instances concerning angry, heavy, aggressive, hardcore/power-metal groups. For example, the guys in Pantera wouldn't seem as vociferous and powerful with poofy hair and make-up, would they (hmmm...)? Although Uglystick began spewing its hard-pounding aggression to the masses in 1991, it didn't reach its full potential until 1993, when the band recruited second guitarist Paige Vernon, formerly of the Slugs (now Crowbar). Now, after sharing the stage with some top-notch bands including Tool, King's X, Prong, White Zombie, Crowbar and Rollins Band, Uglystick is more than primed to rear its hideous head in mighty metaland. With a style firmly rooted in a thick bed of heavy, pounding rhythms, Uglystick blasts out a shuddering amalgamation of rough melodies, stomping hardcore, attitudinal, punk-inflected grind and crushing power-metal on its self-titled debut album. Check out the opening chaotic groove of "Sadly Enough," the menacing gnash of "Mammal," the gritty slam of "Fog Face," the angry scrape of "Failure," the primal thud of "Yard Ape" and the bittersweet chum of "Honeysucker."

MASTA ACE INCORPORATED Sittin' On Chrome

Delicious Vinyl, c/o Capitol, 1750 N. Vine St., Los Angeles, CA 90028
Over his five-year career, Brooklyn's Masta Ace has been anything but predictable. His 1990 debut, Take A Look Around, suffered more from bad marketing (Ace posed with a puppet in the "Me And The Biz" video) than from a lack of ability. When rap is becoming more predictable and superficial, Masta Ace usually gravitates towards something different—he is vehemently against trends or labels. His MC skills are simple, smart and catchy, despite his deadpan delivery, while his reluctance to follow trends or say the catch phrase du jour made his last album, Slaughterhouse, and his appearance on the Crooklyn soundtrack so memorable. On the surface, his new album, Sittin' On Chrome, appears to be everything Masta Ace isn't about: calculated beats and generic rhymes. But a closer listen reveals exactly what Ace accomplishes. Labels are only created by critics and, while cuts like "The I.N.C. Ride" and the title track have a conspicuously West Coast feel, Ace mixes in his Brooklyn-bred rhyme style for an outstanding cross-bred outcome. Cuts like "What's Going On!" and "U Can't Find Me" are comfortable and creepy for the Jeep systems, while Ace can often be found flexing his mental muscles, boiling his musical ideas down to their most essential elements: a few hooks, a lasting chorus and plenty of repeatable one-liners to keep the album rollin' ("Punks be all up on it like a Charlotte Hornet/But they're full of Chicago Bull-shit because they don't want it"). Masta Ace challenges listeners to create a tag for his sound, but by the time they do, Ace will be onto something else.

Tokyo, Japan's DJ Krush is in America for the first time. It has taken him nearly 30 years to visit the homeland to many of the sounds and styles he bends and weaves into intricate musical designs. Krush is trailed by managers, friends and interpreters who make him seem like some Asian Sean "Puffy" Combs, but he seems very much at home and secure among them. Later on, he is sitting on the edge of his chair, gazing out a large glass window at Greenwich Village and the buildings towering over him and remarks, "I know this is a naive comment, but the buildings here are really different. However, the speed of the people and of the life are similar to Tokyo." The fact is, DJ Krush is a one-man skyscraper in his native Japan—his fame rivals that of MC Solaar's in France. Krush's music is the kind built out of raw materials and scraps from a variety of sources. The pieces don't logically fit together, but they are firmly bound with a distinct, steel-strong artistic vision.

Krush tags himself "old-school." In 1987, he created the well-respected group Krush Posse shortly after discovering American rap music. Krush Posse became one of the preeminent hip-hop outfits in Japan, opening for groups like Boogie Down Productions, and took part in Hollywood BASIC Records' Japanese showcase, which also included Organized Konfusion. Krush's (and most of Japan's) introduction to hip-hop culture came when the Wild Style tour (based on Charlie Ahearn's brilliant, low-budget film in 1982) invaded

DJ KRUSH: Eastern Influence

INTERVIEW BY GLEN SANSONE

they just took everything from America. But now, there's an infusion of Japanese originality into it; it's even in the Japanese popular charts: rap in the Japanese language in the Japanese popular charts," he explains. "[Japanese rap groups] took that sense of violence and imitated it, and thought it was a good thing. They would dress like the gangster rappers, and they'd make the signs, but they didn't understand that violence is not a good thing. Also, Japan does not have that kind of violence that exists in America."

Following Krush Posse's breakup in 1992, Krush's desire to expand and challenge himself as an artist was realized on his first solo album, 1993's Krush (Nippon-Sony), which featured a guest appearance by international rap champion Guru. Krush reflects on their first meeting: "When Gang Starr was in Japan, we [Krush Posse] went backstage and visited them and gave them a record [Wild Style on vinyl] they wanted. They were so excited about it, they let us perform with them on stage...The Gang Starr people were so grateful, they wanted to repay us in some form or manner...they're very Japanese in that they have this sense of obligation!" In the years leading up to his solo debut, Krush became among the first to freely experiment with jazz and hip-hop in Japan. "Initially, I was into hip-hop," he says. "And then I was listening to many different records—one of them just happened to be jazz. My father has always listened to jazz as well, so I always knew about it. One day I was listening to Miles Davis, and I thought perhaps this beat could work into the hip-hop." Krush also found himself working with groove-based jazz bands, appearing on compilation albums (Jazz Hip Jap), and winning the attention of his peers and industry heavyweights like Mo' Wax Records' James Lavelle and acid jazz pioneer Gilles Peterson.

During this time, acid jazz had become a major force and created some real inroads in Europe and Japan, and Krush had begun building himself a reputation as one of the most creative minds in the genre. "When I became aware of it [acid jazz], then it seemed like everyone was aware of it," he recalls. "But what was interesting—almost amusing—was that I had been at home experimenting with the jazz and the hip-hop, and had no or little positive reaction. And then, all of a sudden, I began experimenting again and then people were reacting in a very positive way, and it was a really popular thing."

While Krush's second solo album, Strictly Turntabled was released last November on Mo' Wax Records, his first solo album, Krush is only now being released—sans the cut with Guru—in America on Shadow-Instinct Records. It's a sublime and eclectic blend of beats, moods and textures, assembled with the care and precision of a diamond cutter. It is also one of the most advanced and headiest rap-meets-jazz records in recent memory. "I don't have one fundamental concept with which my music is created. But because I am Tokyo-born and -bred, maybe that sort of music just arises," muses Krush. "When I produce my music, I do it very, very seriously. For each drum, for each moment, I think of myself as most meticulous, and I think I'm pretty hard on myself." More than just a manipulator of electronic and sampled sounds, Krush handles his musical elements like precision instruments: each one serves a vital purpose to the finished product. Krush is like many artists who preface their name with an "DJ" moniker; they are pure artists—usually far more abstract than people give them credit for—who use sounds and samples as their colors and create multi-dimensional murals reflecting a state of mind or an emotion, not always just a danceable hook. DJ Krush's hip-hop roots are still at the core of his music. He works mainly with turntables and samplers, but also brings the human element of live musicians to help counter and inject feeling and emotion into the sampled foundation. "It's really a lot of fun to work with live musicians without rehearsal, so there's no pattern to fall back on. I think, fundamentally, hip-hop is an American creation, the whole method of hip-hop is from the United States. What I'd like to do is infuse my personality into it and then return what America has given us."

DJ Krush has taken time out of a grueling recording schedule to talk with CMJ. He is currently working on a third release (tentatively scheduled for this summer) that is nearing completion, on the eve of his debut album's release in the States. The connections he has made in America have allowed him to work with some of his greatest influences. But, unfortunately for us, he was unable to reveal those names. "The people I would most like to work with are the people I happen to be working with right now on my new record. I'd love to tell you, but it's a secret." His approach and recording pace are comparable to that of a student cramming at the last minute for an exam. "With hip-hop you can't prepare too far in advance," explains Krush. "It takes forever for a record to be produced and actually released. What happens is, at the very last minute, I pull all-nighters and work intensely, and then the music is produced." Comparing his three releases, Krush reveals, "The very first record had songs and a certain amount of raw instruments, so there's a complexity to it. The second album was a reaction of that one, so it was much simpler; it lacked the complexity. And now the third album combines both the elements of the first album and its complexity, and the simplicity of the second album."

It seems the only thing Krush does not work with is his voice. His cache of vintage records he uses for sampling is so large that the floors of his two-story house are weighed down so that doors will not open. Krush says, "If there's an earthquake, it's over." Is he considering using his voice anytime soon? Krush jokingly answers, "At one point I did want to try. I went into my room and tried to rap and I recorded myself, and it was so awful, I mean I couldn't bear to listen. When I grasp the mic, it's only in the situation of Karaoke bars."

"Hip-hop is an American creation...What I'd like to do is infuse my personality into it and then return what America has given us."

Japan. "[Wild Style] threw a huge event in a department store, so that was my first introduction to hip-hop. When I first saw this event, I didn't look upon hip-hop as some sort of meal ticket. I wasn't going to try and make a living off of it—that wasn't my immediate concept," he reveals. "I was just so bewildered by what they were doing, I wanted to explore that aspect." As a kid, Krush was fascinated by instruments, while his parents' love of R&B and James Brown helped him understand and appreciate American music and culture.

As Krush's resume and list of credits began to grow, so did his skills as a remixer, producer (his credits include Ronny Jordan, U.F.O. and Pizzicato Five, among others) and, most importantly, a composer. While still with Krush Posse, he collaborated with groups like the Dream Warriors and Gang Starr when they went to Japan. But, as rap was changing in the U.S., it was also changing dramatically in Japan. "Initially, [Japanese] hip-hop was a pure carbon-copy of American hip-hop—

FLOTSAM AND JETSAM Drift

MCA, 70 Universal City Plaza, Universal City, CA 91608

Living up to its ironic moniker, this "floating wreckage" of a band, despite being hurled into some of life's most turbulent

BRUISER PICK waters over the past nine years, has not only remained afloat where most bands would have sunk like a ton of bricks, but it continues to get better, tighter and more polished with each album. On its fifth release, Drift, Flotsam And Jetsam embraces an array of new musical styles without losing any of its trademark heaviness. The band sprinkles a sampling of keyboards, Middle Eastern melodies and Spanish guitars over its aggressive signature sound. On "Smoked Out," vocalist Eric AK belts out a powerful message of betrayal through snarling guitar riffs and furiously pounding rhythms, while the bass-driven blast of "12 Year Old With A Gun" shudders with frenzied grooves, blistering riffs and cold-hearted screams, reflecting the unfortunate reality of gun-toting tots in today's society. Just when you think it's safe to loosen your life jacket, the opening acoustic strum of "Missing" might fool ya, but the song proceeds to dive headfirst into a raging whirlpool of wailing guitar jams and rough grinds that swirl and crash around sharp, spontaneous tempo breaks. Also check out the crushing rhythmic explosion of "Blindside," the melodic swoon of "Destructive Signs," the suffocating power of "Empty Air" and the distorted rumble of "Poets Tell."

ORGANIZATION Savor The Flavor

The tight-knit, phenomenal musicians of the Organization have come quite a long way since their former Death Angel days, when trudging around the seedy, underground clubs of

Northern California and pounding out relentless speedcore thrash was the norm for this Filipino foursome (all of whom are cousins). After surviving a near-fatal tour bus accident in 1990 and enduring the departure of longtime vocalist Mark Osegueda shortly thereafter, the remaining members of the band continued on successfully under their new moniker (which instantly relieved them of the stereotyping their old moniker invited) and released their debut LP for Metal Blade. A perfect follow-up and sensational sophomore effort from The O, Savor The Flavor showcases the band's diverse and intelligent songwriting style more than ever before with instantly catchy melodies, mesmerizing harmonies, upbeat rhythms, emotional lyrics and intricately-constructed riffs. The life-long personal relationship and 13-year musical history of the bandmembers clearly shines through on each of the album's 12 cleverly-crafted tunes. Highlights include the deep-rooted, hard-rockin' groove of the title cut, the dark, funky grind of "So Full Of Lies," the folksy, emotionally-charged ballad "Had A Long Today," the hard-driving, punk-inflected melodies of "The Chase," the pummeling hardcore explosion of "The Drought" and the riotous punch of "Insomnia."

STRAPPING YOUNG LAD

Heavy As A Really Heavy Thing

Century Media, 1453-A 14th St., #324, Santa Monica, CA 90404 310.396.0094

After collaborating with such diverse acts as Steve Vai, Frontline Assembly, the Wildhearts and IR8, touring the world, and most recently lending his vocal talents to a demo from a new band founded by ex-Black Sabbath bassist Geezer Butler, singer/songwriter/guitarist Devin Townsend has finally released his debut record, Heavy As A Really Heavy Thing. And heavy it is. With out-of-control, frenzied hardcore rhythms, pelting industrial madness and psychotically spewed vocal shouts topped with a heaping load of sarcastic, twisted humor, Heavy As A Really Heavy Thing pushes the boundaries of extreme music to the limit. The opening pissed-off attack of the brain-bashing "S.Y.L." rattles and seethes with a ferocious aggression powerful enough to make even the boldest of headbangers cower in its wake, while the stripped-down, digital hellfire of "Cod Metal King" reverberates with stark evil.

Continuing with a thundering, spit-fire intensity guaranteed to leave you gasping for air, the album blasts through one devastating track after another. Check out the maniacal, faster-than-a-speeding-bullet thrash of "Happy Camper (Carpe B.U.M.)," the dirgy stomp of "The Filler—Sweet City Jesus" and the razor-throated eruption of "Skin Me." Stick around for the hysterical, carnival-like unlisted track at the end, which would have been a perfect addition to the soundtrack from the comedy/horror B-movie flick Killer Clowns From Outer-Space.

SLAUGHTER Fear No Evil

CMC International, 106 W. Horton St., Zebulon, NC 27597 919.269.5508

Although everyone is probably way "too cool" to admit they listened to Slaughter in the '80s, let alone fess up to the fact that they really liked the band, the band's airplay, retail and ticket sales tell quite a different story: Slaughter's debut album, Stick It To Ya, sold over a million copies within five months of its release, while 1992's follow-up, The Wild Life, was certified platinum in both the United States and Canada only three months after its release. Slaughter has a knack for penning some of the catchiest rockin' songs around, as well as serving up its fair share of beautiful, emotional power ballads, and Fear No Evil is no exception to the rule. Mark Slaughter's potent and instantly recognizable howl soars high above the dense rhythmic chug of the album-opener, "Live Like There's No Tomorrow," while the Beatles-esque "It'll Be Alright" strays from traditional Slaughter style with bouncy grooves, swirling synth rhythms and a touch of colorful psychedelia. The upbeat, hoot-'n'-holler of "Let The Good Times Roll" riles up a slew of sing-along choruses, foot-stomping rhythms and fancy fretwork guaranteed to get that party-time rock 'n' roll beast inside you roaring to get out. Also check out the electrifying blast of "Get Used To It," the fluid, melancholy caress of "Breakdown N' Cry" and the sinister grind of "Hard Times."

PO' BOY SWING Lite And Sweet

"Lite" and "sweet" are probably the last two words that spring to mind while listening to this debut album from Long Island rockers Po' Boy Swing; "hard-edged" and "funky" are definitely more like it. Po' Boy Swing will send an electric jolt through the system with its unpredictable mix of aggressive rap/metal, groove-laden rock 'n' roll, glittery disco, funky doo-wop and stomping hardcore all rolled up into one huge, gooey ball of slammin' jams. Leaning heavily toward the more eccentric side of the musical fence, Po' Boy Swing forges a style similar to Faith No More's, especially in frontman Mark DiCarlo's powerful, Mike Patton-ish shriek. Although Lite And Sweet shifts styles dramatically from one song to the next, it ultimately gels under a huge blanket of fun-filled energy and down-to-earth light-heartedness. Despite the fact that every tune on the album was apparently penned as a "love song,"

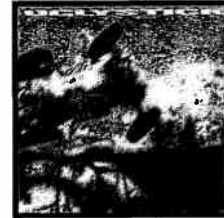

you need to dig much deeper into the deceptive outer shells of most songs to find that intended warm, fuzzy feeling. Dip into the crunchy, swirling groove of "Both Ways," the heavy, rapped churn-'n'-grind of "Why Bother," the hard-driving, rough (but surprisingly catchy and melodic) sting of "Not Fade Away," the fun, shimmery disco-funk shuffle of "Baby Make Me Feel," the strikingly true-to-the-original cover of Leo Sayer's "When I Need You" and the pop-rap-punk punch of "Just Breathing."

UGLYSTICK Uglystick

Pavement, 17 W. 703 A Butterfield Road, Oakbrook Terrace, IL 60181 708.916.1155

According to Oklahoma City's Uglystick, "The uglier the band, the better the music." Although that's not always the case (ahem...did someone say Sebastian Bach?), it seems to be true in most instances concerning angry, heavy, aggressive, hardcore/power-metal groups. For example, the guys in Pantera wouldn't seem as vociferous and powerful with poofy hair and make-up, would they (hmmm...)? Although Uglystick began spewing its hard-pounding aggression to the masses in 1991, it didn't reach its full potential until 1993, when the band recruited second guitarist Paige Vernon, formerly of the Slugs (now Crowbar). Now, after sharing the stage with some top-notch bands including Tool, King's X, Prong, White Zombie, Crowbar and Rollins Band, Uglystick is more than primed to rear its hideous head in mighty metaland. With a style firmly rooted in a thick bed of heavy, pounding rhythms, Uglystick blasts out a shuddering amalgamation of rough melodies, stomping hardcore, attitudinal, punk-inflected grind and crushing power-metal on its self-titled debut album. Check out the opening chaotic groove of "Sadly Enough," the menacing gnash of "Mammal," the gritty slam of "Fog Face," the angry scrape of "Failure," the primal thud of "Yard Ape" and the bittersweet churn of "Honeysucker."

Director: Paris

My Life," Oakland rapper takes the sharp edge of socio-political tongue out one of the most and simultaneously works at street violence we've seen in some time. It's a stark contrast to his own work—smooth, laid-back funk and soulful, simultaneously. Paris takes on the role of an observant angel or a wandering friend or wandering white-washed halls of a hospital. One of the best shots centers on Paris's table holding a red form, while the rapper's rapping profile is shown on the wall above. The clip is as effective as any PSA on the preachy dialogue or the bed. CH

Reprise

Director: Mark Kohr

Paris has caught up with his (about time, too)—the rapper is finally ready for their energetic, classically influenced pop songs. The clip for "Tomorrow"—verse-chorus-break-chorus-foolin'—finds Kim Muffs and associates cutting through out in a pawnshop, a simple premise, but with a low-level weirdness in the background. After another fire shot after another interesting—the camera focuses on Muffs' heads, they're replaced by a mariachi band. The foreground is perpetually in flux, the background consistency, and there are rappers all over the place, on the screen and in the speak-

ON THE CHART

Color indicates a significant increase in airplay.

This week finds Mercury's collective of rappers and vocalists on the Panther theme, "Freedom," finally reaching the #1 slot, while (surprise, surprise) Motown's Boyz II move up 20 places into the #2 position with their latest clip. So So Def-WORK's Da Brat climbs 28 rungs (36-8), LaFace-Arista's Usher leaps to his highest position yet and Tommy Boy's Naughty By Nature takes its latest hip-hop anthem up 42 places (59-17). Also hot this week is WORK's Diana King, who moves up 40 places (58-18) whose various clips for "I Know" have remained on the chart for 20 weeks.

DANZIG

"I Don't Mind The Pain"

American Director: Dean Karr

Anyone familiar with the grotesque, black-and-white inner-sleeve photographs on Tool's Undertow album may recognize some of the photographer/director's work in the latest clip from Glenn Danzig and the boys. As is the norm for a Danzig video, there's a healthy (or unhealthy, depending on your bent) amount of evil imagery, including two girls' friendly encounter with a Ouija board, Glenn perched atop the craggy pinnacle of some fantastic landscape, and oodles of bare-chested Glenn shots in the bowels of a dark dungeon. Some genuinely intriguing stop-action photography and effective infra-red film techniques round out this stylishly dark piece. CH

KEVIN SALEM

"Will"

Roadrunner Director: Neil Toussaint
Kevin Salem's this-side-of-Adult-Alternative rock shines in the video for his extremely hummable song, "Will." Shot in three different film stocks—black and white, color and grainy black and white—in three different settings—a club where the band is playing, the roof of a New York City building and in areas where the homeless congregate—the video cleverly illustrates the song's changing moods. Salem's earnest vocals and sad/wise lyrics also work in contrast, just as the "I Do" written on a concrete wall eventually gets crossed out in a fit of frustration. When the chorus hits, however, everything else becomes secondary to its overwhelming catchiness. MEGAN McLAUGHLIN

GENERAL PUBLIC

"Rainy Days"

Epic Director: Frank Sacramento
As far as "pop" music goes, "Rainy Days" couldn't exemplify the term any better than it does. Taken from General Public's first album of new material in nine years, the song and clip are boundlessly energetic and simple, streamlining the veteran band's bouncy reggae-pop confections to their most immediate appeal. Frontmen Dave Waking and Ranking Roger make their share of appearances in the clip, popping in and out of the crowded living room of a multi-racial family on, what else, a rainy day. CH is a forum for communication about all facets of the music industry. All CMJ New Music Report subscribers are welcome to submit comments for publication to: Dialogue, c/o CMJ, 11 Middle Neck Road, Ste. 400, Great Neck NY 11021-2301; or via fax to 516.466.7159. Dialogues will only be accepted every other week from any individual subscriber. All submissions must be typed and include name, title, company/station, city, state and phone number. Submissions exceeding 250 words will not be accepted. All Dialogue comments represent the opinions of the authors and do not necessarily reflect the opinions of the CMJ staff, the editors or the general readership. Dialogues are due each Monday (unless otherwise noted) by fax or mail at 6 p.m. EST and will appear in an issue dated exactly three weeks from that Monday deadline.

DIALOGUE

RECORD CO

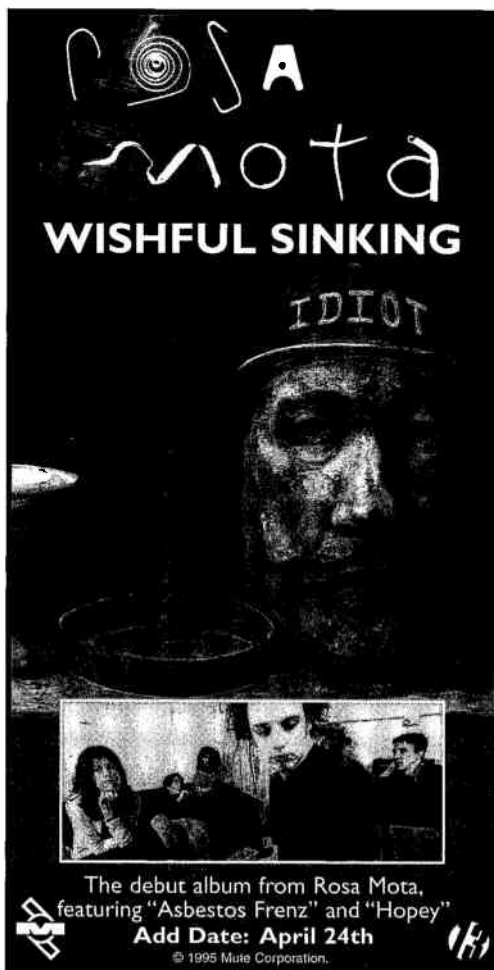

Valentina Andreetta, Sansei Records, Los Angeles, CA 310.274.4050 You are probably wondering who I am, since this is my first Dialogue, but some of you might have received a package from me (if you haven't, then let me know and I will mail you one). I am talking about the new Spiders & Snakes release Oddities: The Glitter Years. Original packaging, eh? I can't think of any other band who put a "mini-novel" in their CD! It is a science fiction story, an introduction to a full-length novel that the band's vocalist Lizzie Grey wrote. Something else about the record? Well, it is produced by Kim Fowley (Runaways) and it is a 45 minute epic into the classic early '70s "Glitter Rock" era, characterized by artists such as Slade and Sweet. Oddities includes eight new songs and two remakes: "The Air That I Breathe" by the Hollies and "Little Willie" by the Sweet. Watch soon in the mail for another package from me, including Sansei's new releases Marino and Alric Forbes. Call me if you haven't received anything from me yet or if...if you are sick of receiving stuff from me!!!

Margot Edwards, Engine/Blackout Records, Somerville, MA 617.629.0766 The Goops' tour with Samiam is almost over. Elly hipsters can see them at the Whiskey on May 4. Look for the video, "Booze Cabana," on 120 Minutes. Stuff you have and play if you know what's good for you: CDs by Outcrowd, the Tulips, Tugboat Annie and a 7" by Analogue. Stuff you will have soon and should play immediately: CDs by Sweet Diesel, Deadguy and Green Magnet School. Tips on etiquette for MDs: when asking for back catalogue promos (Guided By Voices/New Bomb Turks, etc.) ask nicely. If you demand, and my response is "Oh, I'll see what I can do," then don't expect anything. However, ask nicely and you will promptly receive the desired promo. The following is left over from a diatribe which was "lost" by CMJ, originally intended for the April 3 issue: Man I've heard of name-dropping but check out this quote from a recent Dialogue, "Some well-known people I've hung out with: Green Day, Frente!, Sarah McLachlan, Gumball..." Wow! I was very impressed but now I feel so uncool. I mean, I haven't hung out with any of these people. Big names wishing to help increase my coolness factor, give me a call and we'll hang out. Then I'll have your name handy for future name-dropping. Deal?

Kevin Brashear, Promotion Guy—No Expense Account, Chemical City Records, Baton Rouge, LA 504.389.1066 Yep, Becky Sharp, the rock 'n' pop extravaganza, not the youngster you had slumber parties with or threw rocks at in elementary school. Becky Sharp is a band with focus on guitars, amplification, and those pedals that make the guitars do freaky tricks. Their first release is available now and should be all over the college radio airwaves. Please call and get your copy today if you have not received it yet. A little info about Chemical City Records: Baton Rouge is a town surrounded by luxurious chemical plants...the thing is, one seems to leak or explode on a regular basis—hence the name. All operations are run out of the back room of an independent record store, but, wow! We have nice offices. I used to be MD over at WBRH, so I know how nice it is to have a stack of music taller than [enter your favorite NBA center here] and a lot of people calling you every 2 hours to check on it. So I picked up some hints from names you may know: politeness from Mike Kondo at Sky, "hey, bro" from Pete Rosenblumfeld at EastWest, ability to work a record like The Fall from Kris Metzdorf at Atlantic, and an English accent from Nick Bull at RCA. I want to thank Anthony and the fine folks at WTUL. It's nice to know that college radio and a bright yellow sofa are just 60 miles down the road.

John DiMaio, Radioactive Records, New York, NY 212.489.4820 The political Irish band A House returns after 3 years with a new EP, 360 North Rockingham, which you have just received. If you like songs about Gerry Adams, the Queen, and the potato famine, this is for you. The full-length will follow shortly, as will more harassing flyers. You just recently got in the mail a rather ominous, generic CD—all white with the word "Punk" stamped on it. Definitely check it out. For contractual reasons, I can't tell you who it is just yet, but it is a rather famous band. "Guess The Band" things tend to be a bit sophomoric, but trust me—there is a legit story behind this one.

Joe, John, Sarah, & Alex, One Wing Promotion, Mt. Holly, NJ 609.265.3890 Hey, I just got to thank all the MDs who have turned me on to their best local talent. It's been a blast helping these bands get off the ground and get some recognition. But just like life, I've got to have more. Keep 'em comin'...Summer's just around the corner and surf's up for the Challengers—this is definitely one wave we want to break. Look out for the Wishplants Cama and the Monkeywalk More discs on your desks now. Also, Graham Parker and Dar Williams, the dynamic duo from Razor & Tie Records. Make them your own...Keep an eye out for John Prine and Heather Eatman on Oh Boy Records. Voted New York's best guitarist by Guitar Magazine, Rob Balducci has a new release Balance—great songs and great playin'...what more do you want!!! I hope you all got your Migraine by now. Well, thanks enough for this week and we will chat again soon.

Ray Woods and Cybele, Marketing Maestros, Rainforest Records, Portland, OR 503.682.3944 First off, we'd like to congratulate New Bad Things, who have a new album out and an import single that was featured in CMJ #421 (4/3/95) on page 20. The new single's highlight is a re-recording of the surprise British radio hit "I Suck," made legendary by John Peel. We'd like to point out that Rainforest Records released the original version of that song. It was the B-side of New Bad Things' very first national release on any format, the "Concrete" 7". The original Rainforest single is very collectible at this point, particularly if you have the first edition with hand-silkscreened sleeves by the band members themselves. While we're at it, it is probably noteworthy that members of New Bad Things recorded with Roger Nusic on his debut CD Hello Lovers...More recently, we just sent you Cheralee Dillon's charming "Little Yellow Lemon" single (distinguishable amidst your mountain of mail by the aromatic lemon scratch 'n' sniff you'll soon be addicted to smelling) and the smashing debut CD by Doris Daze. Thanks to KOPB and KMUZ respectively, for being the first stations to broadcast this material. Coming your way soon will be the amazing Land Of The Blind CD featuring lyrics in braille! Remember that you must be blind before you can see.

John Perrone, TVT-Wax Trax Records, New York, NY 212.979.6410 Alright so I made this bet with Jon Anderson from WWUR and now I have to pay up. So here goes!: Chicago is the greatest city in the world with the best basketball team ever. Michael Jordan is the greatest basketball player ever and took the Knicks to school. I have never in my life seen a performance like the one he put on against the Knicks. The Bulls are the best team in the league and will beat the Knicks if they meet in the playoffs. I cannot think of any other team to represent the East better than the Bulls. Next year, Anthony Mason will be playing for the Bulls and they will dominate the league again. I was wrong! The Knicks suck and the Bulls are the best. OK, that's enough. I'm gonna puke! Fuck that Anderson! We will see what will really happens in May... To the music—KMFDM is all over the place. Thanks to everyone for their early support of Nihil. This is only the beginning. Limited edition vinyl is available on a first come, first served basis. The KMFDM Beat By Beat Tour starts on May 3 in Los Angeles and they will be on the road throughout the month. Check your mail for updates and more goodies...RPM folks all have: KMFDM, D*Note Criminal Justice, Die Warzau Engine and Autechre Amber...Coming soon: Hideaway soundtrack (featuring KMFDM, Die Warzau, Godflesh and Sister Machine Gun), EBN, Juster, Evolution, Dancehall Kings and Nightmares On Wax...

Jobe Jude, 100 Proof Records, Columbus, OH 614.833.0589 Special thanks to Andyman at commercial radio station WWCD in Columbus, OH, for frequently featuring our Peace Of Mind CD. Very special thanks to the many college stations that now have us in rotation and are first to air us in their area. 'Hi' to Tony Fitzsimmons and Brian Goode of WMCO New Concord, OH; Janet DeSouza of WGSR Port Huron, MI; and Tom Dean and Jason Annes of WOUJ Chicago, IL—the newest stations to put us over the airwaves. This Peace Of Mind CD is getting excellent reviews and comments. It is fresh and different, very melodic with great lyrics and subject matter. Modern, mainstream alternative, soul-searching rock and roll for people with too much cranial pressure. Any music directors interested in a copy, call Tammy or Cricket or fax us at 614.833.6641.

LOW D ROCK DIALOGUE

Louis DeCarolis, Head Retail Servant To The Great Horned One, Earache Records, New York, NY

212.343.9090 First, the big guy down below asked me to tell you about Misery Loves Co.. This band is hot, so hot, it's untouchable. Live, they will blow you away. So, that leads me to a tour, which will be happening soon. There will also be a few Misery Loves Co. remixes out there. If you want one, just ask. The one and only Anal Cunt is on tour. Look for them live. Some people have no idea who Extreme Noise Terror is. Read the bio! Get the CD. Scorn remixes with Met Beat Manifesto, Coil, Bill Laswell, Scanner, Autechre, P.C.M. and Germ. Look for one of the few 12" vinyl box sets. Fudge Tunnel Peel Sessions. Last but not least, tons of classic re-issues. Call me for anything that your little heart desires.

E.J. Johantgen, Columbia Records, New York, NY

212.833.4989 So, close your eyes and imagine yourself sitting around the campfire listening to Gash, the latest opus from Jim Thirlwell's (that's T-H-I-R-L-W-E-L-L) alter ego Foetus and you ask yourself, "Is there anything more beautiful?" The answer is absolutely not! Years from now late night TV will advertise countless romantic compilations highlighting "Verklemmt." C.O.C. is still kicking it despite the rumors. Up next is "Seven Days," with the blistering B-side "Fuel." Your listeners will pay homage for years to come. The response to Dokken's "Too High To Fly" is stupendous! Who's not a Dokken fan? What a week for new music! The White Zombie is truly amazing and the Monster Magnet is classic.

Smitty, Epic Records, New York, NY 212.833.5988

Fight's full LP on your desks (and on your playlists) now! Lots of heavy, tasty morsels to chew on (crunch all you want, we'll make more). All I ask is you steer away from track #1 ("I Am Alive"), for it is our second single. This is an absolute no-brainer, play it and the phones will ring (I guarantee!). Rob and the boys thank you, I thank you, Cheryl thanks you...THANK YOU!! Korn continues to wow 'em on tour and sell records (over 2,000 pcs last week!) Rumors of a headlining tour are rampant, but I know the deal—call me for info (Rob and the boys might be touring also, but I'm not saying unless you call me). If you want Firehouse (as always) and/or Echolyn (progressive, old-school style), let me know. Until next time, c-ya!!

Marni Halpern, Roadrunner Records, New York,

NY 212.219.0077 ext. 214 The double D's of death metal, Death and Decide are creating havoc on everyone's playlist. Thorn's genuine style of music is finally getting noticed. Machine Head will be back to the U.S. in July. Suffocation's new release, Pierced From Within, will be coming your way and going for adds on May 15 and 16. Fear Factory's tremendous sophomore release, Demanufacture, is orgasmic (not literally, just a great adjective)!!

Michael J. Schnapp & Stephanie Pensyl,

EMI Records, New York, NY 212.492.1812 As you read this, Mike Schnapp will be boarding a plane to Kalamazoo to join Queensryche as they get set to embark on the first leg of their 1995 U.S. tour. Much anticipation has preceded this event and many folks are driving and flying from all over this great land to see and hear and experience a live show as only Queensryche can deliver. The Queensryche track, "Disconnected," slams onto metal radio, garnering most added's everywhere and the unreleased B-side from the Promised Land sessions, "Dirty Lil' Secret," is fast becoming a listeners' favorite and requests for this rare treat are coming in. Listen, if you're a computer geek like Steph and you want to know about the forthcoming Queensryche interactive CD ROM, due out in May, call her up for a little cyber chat and she'll fill ya in. And just when things are getting suspiciously quiet in your town, Butt Trumpet storm their way into your clubs and your hearts! That's right, folks, Butt Trumpet are back on the road to support Primitive Enema, this time with the Smears. And it's safe to say there isn't a town they're gonna miss. We're talking a string of up to 37 cross-country dates in their frenzied, extensive and comprehensive quest for wild crowds, bad food and cool lunch boxes. Ask us about The Dwellers' debut album, Whatever Makes You Happy. And ask Schnapp about his new, bright orange cab-resistant reflective jacket.

Jay Hughen, A&M Records, Hollywood, CA

213.856.7139 An explosion of monstrous proportions! Monster Magnet's Dopes To Infinity continues to thrive. Metal radio IS alive and DOES make an impact. Your features equal requests and sales! Stay focused on "Negasonic Teenage Warhead" and prepare for the Jay/EJ "Chicken Ranch In Every Pot" tour with dates starting in early May. This CD is the first ever to contain a technology called "CD plus." If you pop your Dopes... into an IBM CD ROM drive, an interactive extravaganza begins. Call me for details. Senser make an impact this MT with adds on their debut LP Stacked Up. Try to imagine Rage Against The Machine playing some kind of out-of-control metallic rave. NP-Sean's band, new Kyuss (but not in my office). Surf the net and find me at KLAATU13@AOL.

Lauren Goldwasser, Concrete Marketing, New York, NY 1.800.666.6382 ext. 1700 Killer bands and tons of tours. Call me or you'll be missing out. Cheers go out to Leslie at CFRC, Richle @ KNSU, Mike @ KWLC, Jon @ WERW, Jason @ WFNM, Tom @ WFWM, Ryan @ WICB, Eddi @ WIUS, Eric @ WKDI, Matt @ WPBX, AJ @ WAFX and Mike @ WSKB for charting Monster Magnet at #1!! For the rest of ya, wake and bake and put on Dopes... White Zombie is crushing at college radio (shocking!). I have tour dates. Thanks to all those who did interviews with Jay and Sean! You guys should be spinning "Thorn In My Side" by Quicksand. The video should be hitting MTV shortly. By this time, you should have the full Foetus. If you can't find it, harass your alternative directors. KMFDM's latest, Nihil, kicks ass and I have the chart numbers to prove it! They will be on tour with Dink—so call me or TWT for tix! Full Fight and All should be in your hands as we speak. Crank these babies. They have oldies, but goodies as members (Rob Halford from Priest in Fight and All has old members of the Descendants). Also, keep cranking Warrant, Kix and Slaughter!! Check for these guys in your area. I have tons of dates! Vai fucking rocks, so spend some time with this EP. Full-length coming down the line. Henry Rollins thinks Die Cheerleader kicks, so should you! E-mail me at lilaur@aol.com.

Munsey Ricci, Skateboard Marketing, Ltd., Valley

Stream, NY 516.328.1103 So yo, John's on Spring Break in Miami. I'm in too-much-to-do hell. So, check this out: Argyle Park will be touring in June. The band will be doing a few phoners next week. Chosen is a great filler if you don't know what to put in. Check out "The Machine," track six. Dripping Goss, New York hard core. How can you not love that? This band kicks, so dig on it. Full Circle is on your desk. Great thrash band, dig on it. L.A. Guns "Face Down" single picked up 25 stations this week. Orange 9mm heads out on the road in May. We will have tickets for all of you. Sick Of It All is still in your face. Continue to give the record spins. You know your listeners want to hear this record. Why? Because they love it. Sugar Ray will be doing some interviews in a few weeks. If we missed you, call us. By now, the full-length is on your desk. Tad's in your face. This record has everything the last one had and more. Universal Stomp is climbing the charts. For those of you who don't dig it, give it a chance. Adds this week on Clutch. Adds next week on Morbid Angel. Yo, c-ya.

Russ Miller, Rockworld Records, New York, NY

212.879.3011 I sit here and ponder the various complexities and simplicities of the inner workings of the human mind. What makes people deny themselves pleasure? Are they despisers of the body, of the self? Are they living for some higher spiritual purpose beyond our earthly physicality? And why haven't they listened to or added Bad Seed (over 200 stations already on). For these people, I can only quote Nietzsche: "Body am I, and soul." Thus speaks the child. And why should not one speak like children? But the awakened and knowing say, "Body am I entirely, and nothing else; and soul is only a word for something about the body. Behind your thoughts and feelings, my brother, there stands a mighty ruler, an unknown sage whose name is self. In your body he dwells. He is your body." I ask you this, why deny yourself the pleasure?

Sean McKnight, Relapse/Nuclear Blast America,

Millersville, PA 717.397.9221 Talk about overload! The phones here at the mighty Relapse/NBA offices have been ringing like mad since our new catalog is out. Don't have one? Need more? Your mom does, so just give me a call. Gorefest! Erase is doing unbelievably well across the boards! We're getting some serious response at both radio and video! If you haven't added it yet, I'm afraid I'll have to hurt you, so add it now, damn you! The list is growing rapidly for the massive GF giveaway contest, check out the details and sign up now, time's running you! Be part of this unique contest! Kataklysm's Sorcery is also making major noise! This disc is absolutely vicious, play it to death (yes, pun intended!). A new video comp reel is being serviced for all my video gurus, look for it soon! Add these clips of video vociferousness (look it up) to your rotation ASAP! Tons of stuff is on the way! There'll be action! Mystery! Romance! Horror! Farm animals! And much more....

David T., Leviathan Records, Atlanta, GA

404.463.1009 Thanks to all of you who added the cool new Full Circle Negative! Munsey is still lining up interviews for the band, so make sure you don't miss out. Every track on this debut release is killing! Don't miss out on this one. The band is doing a show this week with Malevolent Creation and Forbidden and that should be very intense.

Chainsaw, Mechanic/Futurist/Fierce, New York, NY

212.226.7272 Pentagram is on the way. Anyone not yet familiar with the name can rest assured that you and your listeners will groove on it for months on end. Impacts on May 8 & 9. Overdose is still gaining more and more fans as the days go by and the tour continues. Contact me for dates and locations or probe your favorite tour listings. Look for Noizefest '95 dates very soon. The tour is Overdose, Crowbar, Pro-Pain and Testament and starts July 7 in Long Island. Hype it. Means To An End are fucking awesome, get the clue and play the living shit out of it. You can't tell me it's too alternative, because I see what else is charting that's part of the same genre as these guys, i.e. hard rock/alternative crossover (I'm pointing no fingers and dropping no names, but I'm sure you know who I'm talking about). Mumbleskinny is getting more attention now, too. This is a very good thing! I want more! I want chart numbers! I want airplay! I want a vacation! To the person who returned the Darkthrone flyer and didn't sign a name: Pagan religions did (and some still do) make sacrifices to their "gods." I as not referring to Satanism. These guys follow Norse religions. Any religion that existed before the concept of the Christian "God" is considered Pagan. This would include the worship of Odin. Duh. Finally, cool things not on our label: The Young Ones, Molson Golden, GWAR, Wendy's Junior Bacon Cheeseburgers and X-Men 2: The Clone Wars on Sega Genesis. Signing off...

LAST POETS

the last words

Before there was hip-hop, there were the Last Poets. Before the Last Poets, there were the dozens, prison poems, field hollers and a vibrant legacy of African-American poets and writers like Amiri Baraka. And before all of them, there were griots, African storytellers who married the spoken word with the beat of the drum.

The Last Poets acknowledge all of these influences, and point to the link between hip-hop, their own poetry, and the African roots of both. "We are the seeds for the rap artists to grow a garden/And yet we are only a branch from the tree called griot," Abiodun Oyewele says on "Invocation," the lead track from Holy Terror. Throughout their turbulent history, the Last Poets have fused incendiary black power advocacy, fluid poetry and driving conga beats, providing a clarion call for changing times. Along the way, they also provided the blueprint for much of today's hip-hop.

For Holy Terror, the Poets collaborated with Grandmaster Melle Mel (originally of Grandmaster Flash And The Furious Five), renewing the ties between their music and modern-day hip-hop. "That was an idea of Bill Laswell," says Umar Bin Hassan, the other of the two Last Poets on the album. "It all happened within the realm of the studio. Every time we'd do something, Mel'd do something to try and go with it. You know, I'd run my lines down, and in two or three minutes he'd come back with something. It wasn't, you know, Mel trying to do the stuff I do, it was really natural. He's not trying to be a Last Poet, he still sounds like Melle Mel."

One particularly evocative piece on Holy Terror is "Black Rage," which builds an elaborate and powerful metaphor out of today's war zone-like inner city milieu: "There are bombs standing on the corners of our cities/Waiting to explode at the slightest touch/Baggy shadow street boys stand cocked/Ready to fire/Their eyes are grenades and the pin is about to be pulled...Boom!"

"That's from a true experience," Abiodun relates, momentarily dropping into a low, even-inflected monotone that's surprisingly different from his booming voice on his albums. "Umar and I both have young children. Well, some of them are not so young...and so obviously we have a lot of concern for young people. And a lot of the energy [inspiring the piece] came from seeing what was happening around us in our community."

His "Invocation" chronicles the Last Poets saga and also offers clues as to the underlying forces that move them. In it, Abiodun refers to the Last Poets as "people who do not flock together well/Who do not follow orders too much/And when we do there's a reason." Over the years, their frequent lineup and label changes have earned the Last Poets a reputation as being difficult to work with. For example, there's even confusion surrounding who actually is and isn't a Last Poet; in fact, a variety of members have released albums using the name. The confusion resurfaced last year when two members, Jalal Nuriddin and Sulieman El-Hadi, released Scatterrap/Home (Bondage (France)).

Addressing the confusion, Umar immediately presses for an opinion on Jalal's album. Tactfully, the interviewer offers that he thought it was good, but that Holy Terror is better. "I do too," he agrees. "I thought the quality was better, the passion was stronger, the music is better, the words are more integrated, there's much more substance to the words. That's what me and 'Doon were talking about, [re] establishing the Last Poets' name: trying to create the quality that we had on the first two albums. Those certain people who had the so-called Last Poets name have put some very substandard stuff out," he says, rattling off a partial list of former Last Poets who have been involved in various projects and albums. "I'm not trying to dis nobody, or disregard the Last Poets in the interim, you know. But the passion is more important than the name."

Such matters are complicated and sticky, but they really just underscore the power of what the Last Poets create. After all, what all of them are really about is keeping it real, and reality is never pat or simple or easy to pin down. Being committed to what one believes can often render impossible situations required by a typical "career": at one point in the '70s, Abiodun quit the Poets simply because he felt that they were losing their original focus on change and revolution by performing and touring too much, that they were becoming celebrities rather than revolutionaries.

For fans of Last Poets' many incarnations and admirers of the art of spoken word, some of Hassan's statements about the feud may be somewhat arguable. But the status of the Last Poets as a revolutionary force that changed the face of black music cannot be denied, and now, through Holy Terror, two of its original members are getting their due and bringing their revolutionary concept into the future. Even more importantly, they are continuing a tradition of spoken word and rhythm that stretches back before that day in 1968 when they first formed at a rally in honor of Malcolm X, or when Umar, having seen the Poets perform at a concert in Ohio, doggedly followed them back to New York to join up. It's a griot legacy stretching back to Africa, an unending recited line of spoken words and powerful messages that cannot and will not be stopped. JAMES LIEN

HOLE FORUM SUSPENDED ON AOL

On April 8, America Online deleted its message board devoted to Hole because of "numerous violations of the network's terms of service, including a death threat," The New York Times reported. It was apparently the first time an AOL forum had been closed down. The Hole board was noted for being exceptionally rambunctious, and occasionally numbered Courtney Love among its participants. Net surfers in search of Hole-related thrills can now turn to the alt.fan.courtney-love newsgroup, which, like the AOL board, features an obsessively complete Frequently Asked Questions (FAQ) file, perpetual full-bodied arguments and cryptic cameo appearances by Courtney herself.
