Rock Music Sales Decline In 1998

Rock isn't dead, but its sales are declining, according to a new report from The Recording Industry Association of America (RIAA). Sales of rock music recordings dropped to 25.7% of the market in 1998, down from 32.5% in 1997. The RIAA attributed the decline to a lack of hits from established artists and a continued decline in "alternative rock" sales. Another contributing factor may have been the drop in purchases by 15-29 year-olds, and an increase in purchases from consumers over the age of 35. Sales of country music remained steady, holding 14.1% of the market. R&B, gospel and soundtracks showed growth last year. The RIAA said the R&B genre was helped by Lauryn Hill's triple-platinum sales, as well as by hot albums by Brian McKnight, Eyrkah Badu and Janet Jackson. As in 1997, female consumers bought more music products than males. Women purchased 51.3% of units, compared with men's 48.7%.

Beaucoup Fish (JBO-V2)

Truth be told, Underworld's popularity in America would be less widespread were it not for the band's appearance on the Trainspotting soundtrack. But that's not a knock on the band, really. It's just that this exalted U.K. trio has never tailored its material for mass consumption. Beaucoup Fish, like the group's past work, is an intellectual mish-mash of dense textures, complex frequencies and the monotone mutterings of a frontman who vocalizes his thoughts with complete disregard for traditional song structure. But it's this unique approach to songwriting and production that has made Underworld such a dance culture monolith. Forgoing the breakbeat rhythms that riddled 1996's Second Toughest In The Infants, Beaucoup Fish showcases a more mature, album-oriented Underworld, travelling from overthe-top club maelstroms to ominous, gothic ballads to choppy, experimental rap. The sheer length of the tracks (most hover around seven minutes) makes Beaucoup Fish one of the most nonradio-friendly albums you'll pick up, but its bewitching rock/rave qualities suggests it will still be one of the most played. - M. ### MANDY BARNETT

I've Got A Right To Cry (Sire)

Although she's only 23 years old, Mandy Barnett has an ageless voice, a wonder of mature and emotional substance rarely heard in a single package. Produced in part by the late Owen Bradley (Patsy Cline), Barnett's debut captures the rich, timeless beauty of classic country. She caresses songs such "With 28 My Eyes Wide Open I'm Dreaming" (featuring Jordanairsstyle background harmonies) like Cline before here, evoking all of the lushness and vulnerability that made that legend so alluring. But Barnett doesn't simply mimic her idols; she digs deep down to each song's emotional core, whether they be achingly romantic songs ("Mistakes") or churchy, tearsoaked tunes such as "Funny, Familiar, Forgotten Feelings." The title track sounds as though it could have been playing on a DeSoto car radio in the late-'50s, as it features echoing, weepy string arrangements and Barnett's mesmerizing, booming vocals. On the songs "Trademark" and "Falling, Falling, Falling," Barnett switches gears and delivers livelier Loretta Lynn-style numbers that show her talents stretch from the torchy and tender to sweet and spunky. - Glen Sansone

CHARLIE HUNTER/ LEON PARKER

Duo (Blue Note)

Perhaps what is more impressive than Charlie Hunter's guitar playing is his ability to use his skills for good instead of evil. A player with his chops (not to mention the marketable gimmick of playing an eight-string guitar) could have exploited his gift to produce a slew showy, technique-heavy recordings, but Hunter has managed to make it big with jazz fans and tie-died rock fans alike by keeping the grooves and the solos real. Hunter is also good at sharing the spotlight - 1998's Return Of The Candyman was as much vibist Stefon Harris's show as it was Hunter's. Recorded live in the studio, Duo is a medium cool conversation between Hunter and nimble percussionist Leon Parker that is often as mellow as it is sunny. The pair uses its soft touch to turn the somber Beach Boys' gem "Don't Talk (Put You Head On My Shoulder)" into a golden jazz standard. Parker's blending of hand drums with a standard kit often adds a Caribbean flavor to Due, especially on the feelgood "Calypso For Grampa." — Steve Ciabattoni

ELF POWER

A Dream In Sound (Arena Rock-Elephant 6)

Elf Power doesn't borrow any one specific Elephant 6 style, but instead builds on its peers' best attributes - Neutral Milk Hotel's poetic lyricism, Of Montreal's whimsy and the Apples In Stereo's ear for melody. This Athens, Georgia, quartet also separates itself from the pack with the clean production found on this third album, co-produced with Mercury Rev's Dave Fridmann (Flaming Lips, Mogwai). Elf Power's 1997 concept album, When The Red King Comes, was a lo-fi psychedelic journey into a magical, Tolkieninspired kingdom. A Dream In Sound retains that dreamlike wonder, but it also offers more poignant, real-life emotions. (Although the song about a bird with a "candy bar head" does make us scratch our heads.) Whether on the Beatles-esque pop of "Old Tyme Waves" or the sample-happy "We Dream In Sound," Elf Power expertly combines old-fashioned guitar, bass and drums with keyboards, horns and more exotic instruments like the zanzithophone. Yet the band's experimental side it's hummable overshadows melodies or Andrew Rieger's sweet but strong vocals. — Wendy Mitchell

Judge Issues Injunction Against Pirate Station 'Steal This Radio'

On March 12, the U.S. District Court for the Southern District of New York issued an injunction against Steal This Radio, a famed New York City 20-watt pirate radio station. Judge Michael B. Mukasey also denied the station's complaint that would stop the FCC from taking enforcement action against them. The station's suit alleged that the FCC licensing rules were violating the broadcasters' First Amendment rights. Steal This Radio has operated without an FCC license on the 88.7 FM frequency since November 1995. In March 1997, the FCC informed Steal This Radio of the consequences for continuing to broadcast without a license. But the station continued to operate and filed a lawsuit in response.

Ol' Dirty Bastard Arrested Twice In Four Days

Wu Tang Clan rapper Ol' Dirty Bastard was arrested on March 22 in Brooklyn and charged with possession of crack cocaine. At 1:30 a.m. police officers questioned the 30year-old rapper for illegally double parking his license plate-less 1996 Range Rover in the Bushwick section of Brooklyn. ODB, whose real name is Russell P. Jones, gave officers a false name initially, but he correctly identified himself after further questioning. Police checked the rapper's record and discovered his license was suspended. The officers then searched his clothes and found three small bags containing crack cocaine. ODB was charged with unlawful possession of a controlled substance and unlicensed operation of a motor vehicle. And just four days later, on March 26, ODB was again arrested — this time in Harlem — for again driving with a suspended license. The rapper's other recent run-ins with police have included arrests for shoplifting, menacing security guards and for threatening a former girlfriend.

Fan Raise Money To Bring Looper Overseas For In-Store Performances

Heather McDonald, an employee at a Record Exchange store in Raleigh, North Carolina, has become so enamored with the Scottish band Looper that she's raising money to bring the band to the U.S. McDonald heard about Looper's in-store performances overseas, and she wrote to Looper mastermind Smart David (who is also the bassist for Belle & Sebastian) and asked him to play an in-store performance at the Mission Valley branch of the Record Exchange. "I was jealous [of the U.K. fans]," McDonald says. "I figured it can't hurt to ask - all they can do is say no." David apologized and said that the Glasgow group didn't have the funds to travel overseas for such a performance. So McDonald is trying to raise enough money (about $800-$1000) to buy plane tickets for David and his wife/bandmate Karn to come to the States. At the first fundraiser on March 20, store employees sold baked goods and raised $175. McDonald hopes to raise the full amount by June, and future fundraisers may include a car wash and benefit concert. A spokeswoman for the Record Exchange chain said that if Looper does come over, she hopes that they will play in-stores at other Record Exchange locations as well. Sub Pop recently released Looper's debut album, UpATree. For more information about the project, contact McDonald at 919.839.1295 or hmcdorl@ trexemail.com. Donations can be sent to: Heather McDonald, c/o Record Exchange, Mission Valley Shopping Center, 2109-144 Avent Ferry Road, Raleigh, NC 27606.

ARTIST SPOTLIGHT

TRANS AM

Interview by Ron Hart

For nearly four years, Washington, D.C.-area power trio Trans Am has been adding a rock 'n' roll punch to electronic music. The band's third album for Thrill Jockey, Futureworld, is a quixotic journey into the heart of its members' equally measured love for both the synth and the Strat. Bassist Nathan Means recently chatted with CMJ about keeping it surreal in the 9-double.

CMJ: Why did you guys decide to use the lost art of vocoder crooning for this record?

Nathan Means: We decided it was time to try something different. It's fun to sing, and it opens up a whole different zone for writing songs. And I think the vocoder is awesome. It's a total like Midnight Star [kind of vibe.]

Does this album mark the first time you've ever incorporated vocal tracks into the mix? We actually did a split 7" for this skate magazine called Strength, and we used the vocoders on that, but not the same one we use on the album.

Your sound is born from both classic rock and avant-garde electronic music. How do you feel about critics tagging you with that "electronica" label all the time?

It's fiumy because they pigeonhole bands that are even less electronic than us and call them electronic. I guess that's what people pick up on. If you have a keyboard and play it once every three songs, all of a sudden you're an electronic band. It's absurd.

The album cover for Futureworld has an early '80s video game look.

Actually, Seth, our drummer, designed it on his Atari computer using BASIC.

Speaking of computers, do you have any thoughts on MP3?

Some reviewer or somebody got [Futureworld] a month before it came out, and put four songs on the Internet. I don't really mind people doing that after the album comes out. But putting out songs before the album's even released, it kind of ruins the whole point of releasing an album.

Local H's Curse Words Stir Controversy In Vermont

Local H stirred up a bit of controversy with a March 13 performance at the Killington Ski Resort in Rutland, Vermont. During the outdoor show, the duo persong formed the "High-Fiving MF, from 1996's As Good As Dead, during which the lyric 'you high fiving motherfucker' is repeated 10 times. Band members Scott Lucas and Joe Daniels thought nothing of performing the curse-laden song, but they were unaware that Vermont law prohibits the use of profanity during outdoor concert and sporting activities. The band found out about the law the day after the performance when they showed up for a WBTZ-sponsored show and were informed that the concert's organizer, Mountain Dew, was going to stop payment on the check for the Rutland show and call other tour stops and inform them of what happened. Despite all the controversy, there were no arrests and no fines. However, when the duo returned to Killington Ski Resort on March 15 to use free skiing passes that were included in the performance deal, they found that those privileges had been revoked due to the controversy.

Prodigy frontman Liam Howlett shows off his turntable skills on the new XL Recordings release Prodigy Present The Dirtchamber Sessions Volume One. Howlett borrows music from diverse sources, including Meat Beat Manifesto, Ultramagnetic MC's, Jane's Addiction, Charlatans UK, Beastie Boys and many others to create an eight-track, 51-minute musical manifesto.

If you were thinking that Michael Jordan's recent retirement from pro basketball meant that he'd vanish from the public eye, think again. SoundWorks International has released An Audio Tribute To Michael Jordan. This spoken word release features Shaquille O'Neal, President Bill Clinton, Magic Johnson and others giving verbal toasts to the basketball legend. SoundWorks is also planning to release two other spoken word albums in the next two months: The JFK Wit and Ronald Reagan's Greatest Speeches, Volume II. Can Dan Quayle's Greatest Blunders be far behind?

Try to recall your favorite Ramones tunes: "I Wanna Be Sedated," "Blitzkrieg Bop," "Rock 'N Roll High School." Now try to imagine those and seven other Ramones songs given a swanky, martini-flavored lounge treatment. Thanks to the folks at Medicine Records, there's no need to imagine; the label has just released Ramones Songbook by the Nutley Brass. With arrangements by Sam Elwitt, these punk classics are now appropriate for ballrooms and late night lounges.

The soundtrack to Idle Hands, the new comic/horror film starring Vivica A. Fox and Seth Green, is comprised almost exclusively of punk tracks — not too surprising for a film that follows the story of a teenager who becomes the "unwitting tool of Satan." The Time Bomb Recordings release features songs by Blink 182, the Living End, Unwritten Law, Vandals, Offspring and others.

No one can play as loud, fast and heavy as Motörhead, although many have tried. Victory Records recently released Built For Speed – A Motörhead Tribute, which covers classic Motörhead tunes like "Orgasmatron" and "Ace Of Spades" by 11 roguish bands, including Dropkick Murphys, Groovie Ghoulies, Zeke, Speedealer and Fahrenheit 451. Forest For The Trees's The Sound Of Wet Paint EP is now available from DreamWorks. The five-song EP is comprised of a slice of Carl Stephenson's earliest recordings, and the track "Jet Engine" even features his pal Beck on vocals.

With four albums under her belt, Sam Phillips has just released a collection of singles and greatest hits called Zero Zero on Virgin Records. Over the course of her career, Phillips has been accompanied by an impressive list of musicians, including Elvis Costello, Marc Ribot and R.E.M.'s Peter Buck. This collection, produced by her husband T-Bone Burnett, includes two previously unreleased tracks, "Disappearing Act" and "You Lost My Mind," as well as new mixes of "Where The Colors Don't Go," "Fighting With Fire," "Holding On To The Earth" and "Lying."

BossaCucaNova is being hailed as the "first true bossa nova remix project actually produced in Brazil." The album, available from the Six Degrees label, is comprised of 13 soulful classics updated by three innovative, young Brazilian producers: Alexandre Moreira, Marcelinho Dalua and Marci Menescal. The music of Astrid, Os Cariocas, Carlos Lynn and Roberto Menescal (father of remixer Marci Menescal) can be heard in remixed form on the album.

Gilley's, the legendary Pasadena, Texas, country-western nightclub featured in the film Urban Cowboy, is the inspiration for the new box set released by Q Records. Live At Gilley's is a four-disc collection that culls 56 tracks from 27 artists. Included among them are Willie Nelson, Loretta Lynn, Fats Domino, Jerry Lee Lewis and the late Carl Perkins.

French label Pandemonium Records has recently released a label sampler here in the U.S. through Stickfigure Distribution. The disc collects a total of 15 tracks from noisy avant garde luminaries such as God Is My Co-Pilot, Unsane, Guapo, Double Nelson and the Ruins with Molecules leader Ron Anderson. For ordering information, visit http://stickfigure.saturn.org or www.pandemoniumrecords.com.

Luaka Bop has released a label retrospective sampler that documents the label's 10 years in existence with one song representing each of those years. We Come In Peace includes pop music from all over the world, and includes artists Cornershop, Geggy Tah, Jim White, Tom Zé, Os Mutantes, Clinton and Zap Mama.

Razor & Tie Records has just issued remixes of Toni Basil's 1981 megahit "Mickey." Jason Nevins, who last year worked with Run-DMC to produce the overseas club sensation "It's Like That," handled the mixes. The release is available in three formats: a 7" featuring two remixes, a 12" with four remixes and a CD with five remixes.

Smithsonian Folkways has just released two new discs geared towards children. The first, Environmental Songs For Kids, is an effort to educate youngsters about appreciating and preserving our natural resources. Artists such as Coco Kallis, Bill Oliver, Bob Reid and Jill Jarboe perform songs about pollution, recycling and nature in a number of entertaining musical styles, from calypso to blues. The other release, Lead Belly Sings For Children, compiles material from Lead Belly's catalog, including the entire Negro Folk Songs For Children album, which was originally released in 1960. The 28-song collection marks the first time the legendary blues singer's children's songs have been available on one release.

DreamWorks Records has releases the soundtrack to Forces Of Nature, the new Sandra Bullock-Ben Affleck movie. The soundtrack includes songs by U2, Tricky, Faithless, Gomez, R.L. Burnside, Propellerheads and others.

While Cher is busy riding yet another wave of popularity with the success of her latest single, "Believe," at least one company has found an easy way to capitalize on it. Geffen Records has recently released If I Could Turn Back Time: Cher's Greatest Hits, focusing largely on the singer/actress' solo career. The compilation features the title track as well as "The Shoop Shoop Song (It's In His Kiss)," "Half-Breed," "Save Up All Your Tears," "I Found Someone" and the previously unreleased "Don't Come Cryin' To Me."

Woodstock Austrian Concert Called Off

The Woodstock '99 concert that was to be held in Austria on July 16-18 has been canceled. The other Woodstock '99 event, scheduled for July 23-25 in Rome, New York, will be held as planned. Festival organizer Michael Lang explained, "We are postponing the European Woodstock because of insurmountable logistical difficulties relating to hosting two festivals of this size within one week of each other and over 3,000 miles apart." Ticketholders for the Austrian event, which would have featured Metallica, Alanis Morissette, Faithless, Iggy Pop and others, can return tickets to the point of purchase for full refunds. The Austrian show may be held in the summer of 2000 or 2001. The lineup for the U.S. festival hasn't been announced as of press time.

York, Chicago and San Francisco. Past performers at the not-strictly-lrish festival have included Van Morrison, Sinéad O'Connor, the Chieftains, Patti Smith, Wilco, Billy Bragg, Ben Lee, Suzanne Vega, the Indigo Girls and many more.

"It only makes sense that an unconventional guy such as Tom would be drawn to an unconventional label like Epitaph," explains label publicist Kathy Koehler. "Epitaph is a small organization, which leads to a great deal of personal attention for Tom, something I know he values...It is a real partnership in the true sense of the word."

Throughout his storied 25-year career, Waits has rarely flocked to promotional appearances. The artist-friendly label has taken that into consideration. "Because of Tom's unavailability, we've had to choose promotional opportunities wisely, and we've chosen some high profile things that will have a large impact, such as VH1's Storytellers, Rolling Stone, Newsweek, etc," Koehler says. "We've also created a promotional interview disc called Mule Conversations that college radio and smaller radio stations can run on their programs in the absence of Tom being unavailable for individual interviews. We also hope to get him to commit to an online chat at the time of the record release. The Internet, with its international reach, will be an important tool for us on this record."

Koehler also thinks that street marketing will be important to the success of Mule Variations. "What we have found from observing Tom's fans is that a Tom Waits record is a very personal thing," she says. "Therefore, getting the word out via listening parties in different regions and developing a new Tom Waits Web site [www.officialtomwaits.com] where fans can go to get direct information about Tom Waits events [is important]...We plan to do a lot of direct mailing as well."

Retail will also be pivotal to the success of Mule Variations. "There will a high visibility pricing and position program in all of the major [retail chains]," Epitaph's Marketing Director Dave Hansen explains. "There will be print ads, listening stations and in-store billboards to promote the record. There is a lot of excitement from everyone from the Mom and Pops to the biggest chains. We are developing some contest with indie stores to win a trip to see a Tom Waits show, which is creating a lot of excitement. We are also working with on-line retailers to sample the music ahead of the release."

Mule Variations will go for college radio adds on April 5, weeks before the April 27 street date. Although Waits hasn't launched a major tour since 1987, he will play select dates in support of the new album. Following a recent show at SXSW, Waits has planned a few West Coast dates in late May or June, and a national tour may follow.

CONTROL

Radio 200: #8 debut Core Radio: #5 debut

As one of the flagship bands of the Elephant Six collective, Athens, Georgia's Olivia Tremor Control possesses a requisite devotion to Beatlesand Beach Boys-styled pop. Where OTC diverges from the E6 formula, however, is in its adventurousness and easy experimentation. Black Foliage is no less than 27 tracks, with each one whipping up an indelible thematic idea or two and adeptly darting around it before leaping to the next. Though this album is only OTC's sophomore effort, it has a first week on the charts to make any college radio veteran proud: top-ten debuts on both the Radio 200 and Core charts.

ELF POWER

Radio 200: 140-36 Core Radio: #22 debut

Arena Rock's Elf Power is also an official member of the Elephant Six collective, and like most of the bands who claim allegiance to the movement, it makes its mark by choosing its favorite element of the style and doing it better than anyone else. For Elf Power, these elements include a certain lyrical whimsy and mysticism (c.f. the band's name). A Dream In Sound is a change for the Athens, Georgia, band in that its production is much cleaner and crisper than the group's past work, but the magic of Elf Power's songs continues to draw in college radio programmers. A Dream... leaps 104 positions on the Radio 200 and debuts at #22 at Core.

TRANS AM

Radio 200: #43 Core Radio: #27 Adds: #17 with 23 reports

Washington, DC's Trans Am has been saddled with the "post-rock" tag for the majority of the decade, but as time passes and the band further develops its rock/electronic experiments, it's growing into a mini-genre of its own. Taking the Man vs. Machine theories of Kraftwerk and translating them for the modern American musical landscape, Futureworld (Thrill Jockey) takes brainy guitar work and seamlessly combines it with drum machine beats, synth chords and vocoder-laced vocals (a first — Trans Am had been instrumental up until this album). For its second week at radio, Trans Am garners a few more Adds and debuts respectably on both the Radio 200 and Core charts.

DJ KRUSH

Radio 200: 112-49 Core Radio: #29 debut RPM: 5-10

Ki-Oku (Eikoh-Instinct) is the licensed domestic release of a Japanese album, but its success at college radio speaks to its value to new music fans everywhere. Pairing the popular DJ Krush with Japanese trumpeter Toshinori Kondo, whose 20-year career has included work with Herbie Hancock, John Zorn, Bill Laswell and Ryuichi Sakamoto, Ki-Oku is a compelling marriage of cool urban soundscapes with sizzling horn playing. Though the album is losing steam on the RPM chart, non-specialty college radio programmers are picking up on the vibe, rocketing the album 63 positions on the Radio 200 and debuting it at #29 on Core Radio.

If TV networks can use airtime to promote their own shows, why can't CMJ New Music Report take the time to hype its online amigo, CMJ Online? Actually, we wouldn't even mention CMJ Online if it weren't for its recent re-launch. You may have noticed a new streamlined design, but the site's real story is that little search box that CMJ readers and browsers have been requesting for some time. Now, every record reviewed by the CMJ New Music Report (from its official debut in 1981 to the present day) is available through CMI Online. That's more than 30,000 reviews, a considerable archive of new, alternative and groundbreaking music with plenty of those fun "For Fans Of" links to keep you zipping around the archive. Reporters to our Internet charts will be glad to know we've given them a key link right from the home page. We'll be improving and updating our Internet section online with more links and other tidbits that'll build up our growing community of Internet broadcasters and retailers. We do read our online feedback, so tell us what you think, and we'll keep refining the site. Our goal is to be one of your top five bookmarks.

Labels Push To Prosecute MP3 Search Company

Universal Music, EMI and Time Warner have requested that a Norwegian police investigation unit begin prosecuting Fast Search and Transfer, the Norwegian company that provides Lycos with a directory of MP3 audio file searches. Lycos advertises that its MP3 search engine lists more than 500,000 MP3 files, though the service only offers links to the files, without actually creating or distributing the near CD-quality audio content. At the labels' request, the RIAA issued a statement claiming that the association was considering taking legal action against Lycos. RIAA President and CEO Hilary Rosen said that even in light of joint efforts with Lycos, she is "frustrated by the slow pace at which progress is being made." The recording industry estimates that it has lost $38 billion in sales revenue due to the illegal reproduction and distribution of MP3 files.

Recording Academy Hosts Digital Music Conference

Unsigned artists looking to cash in on MP3 have the opportunity to win $1 million. AMP3.com's Web site will launch a new contest that will award a cash prize and a recording contract to one of 20 acts that log the most digital downloads from the site. A panel of judges will choose the winner, probably towards the end of the year.

Launch Media To Buy Sony News Service

Music Web site Launch Media (www.launch.com) has agreed to purchase Discord New Music Sony Music Entertainment's SW Networks, a music and entertainment news service designed for radio stations. Sony Music has also indicated that it will purchase roughly $1 million in shares of Launch Media, during an IPO scheduled for this month. Earlier this year, Launch.com purchased Musicvideos.com, while SW Networks bought into e-commerce and radio industry content provider OnRadio.

EUPHONE

The Calendar Of Unlucky Days (Jade Tree)

The Calendar Of Lucky Days finds the instrumental duo of Ryan Rapsys and Nick Macri adding new dimensions to its already eclecloose tic, "post-rock." The pair expands its instrumentation, paying more mind to Euphone's influences and reigning in its typically wide-ranging beat styles. While percussion still plays a key role in the Chicago band's sound - every rhythmic device, from timpani to drum machines are employed here - it's the intricate layering of jazz, rock, dub and funk forms that makes The Calendar such an engaging listen. The band's cerebral, cross-genre-splicing is best experienced on "Needle And Crate," a song that bristles with cool bass tones and deep, funky keyboards, or on "Wickedness," which is characterized by gurgling keys, stuttering drum machines and new wavelike production effects. — Kelso Jacks

GAMEFACE

Every Last Time (Revelation)

Gameface hails from sunny Orange County, the veritable motherland of So-Cal poppunk. But while Gameface's Revelation Records debut isn't lacking in the energy department, it would be a crime to consider it merely pop-punk. Évery Last Time is a Last radio-friendly collection of guitar-heavy, hook-based tunes benefits from pristine production and Gameface's skill at laying its emotional cards face up on the table. Befuddled hardcore kids may scratch their heads over Gameface's signing to hardcore label Revelation, but the group's undeniable talent and passion makes it just as relevant to the punk world as the most militant, politically active hardcore group. Gameface's gentle, honest tugs at the heartstrings are just as powerful as the most forceful sonic pummeling. — Amy Sciarretto

Times Of Grace (Relapse)

Neurosis albums have never been passive listens. Dense, knotted and drenched with screaming vocals, the Bay Area band has steadily increased in its chaotic, desperate style since its beginnings as a hardcore outfit. Though Times Of Grace being released on the precipice of the millennium's brave new world, it couldn't be more primitive, animalistic and dark.

It's a throttling, full-body assault from beginning to end, with an emotional intensity so true that it's practically impossible to detach yourself from the experience. You'll feel the band's ferocious discontent, right down to the marrow in your bones, and that's the point — to take siege of your senses and command your undivided attention. But the record's so intense that it's practically cleansing — if you can still move once it's over, that is. — Cheryl Botchick

Hurray For Everything (Catapult)

Following two previous releases for Atlantic-distributed imprints Seed and TAG, Boston power-pop band Fuzzy finds itself with a new lineup and a new label, yet its overall sound is as immediately catchy as ever. Following 1996's Electric Juices, Nate Darden replaced drummer Dave Ryan

(though Ryan does appear on the chaotic "All Hung Up"), but the personnel change hasn't tarnished the group's bright, jangly melodies and firm walls of harmony ("True Colors"). Led by guitarists Hilken Mancini and Chris Toppin, the band digs its heels into a dozen songs that make basic observations about human nature ("Band Of Gold"). Meanwhile, the Beantown trio's signature hooks and simplistic counter melodies continue to define its approach, without getting lost in the fuzz. - Glen Sansone

WE RAGAZZI

Suicide Sound System (My Pal God)

Suicide Sound System might be better-titled "Seduction Sound System." Focusing on the themes of lust, desire and isolation, We Ragazzi's stripped-down blues speaks to all of the randy, hot and bothered folks out there. Anthony Rolando's sneering, spatout vocals play prominently in the mix, ably working the listener into a frenzy with lines such as "Your tongue is a buzz in my mouth/It's all I can think about" and "You put a jinx in my pants/You put a drink in my hand/Oh, you were always the kind of superstition I liked." He's equal parts Mick Jagger and Prince. Put that stuttering, frustrated voice over stabbing guitar chords, sloppy drums, tinny cymbals and sumptuous, goth inspired keyboards and the end result is a sexy and bewitching lo-fi debut.

RAINER MARIA

Look Now Look Again (Polyvinyl)

Rainer Maria's sophomore effort is an ardent, emotionally stimulating album comprised of melodically violent music.

The skittish drumming supports large-sounding, opentuned guitars and graceful, simple bass lines, providing the listener instant gratification via immediately pleasing rock melodies. Look Now's songs are thick with character as well, as dramatic drum thunder interrupts the otherwise gentle "Rise." The tortured vocals of Caithlin Demarrais and Kyle Fischer emphasize the record's dark undertone. The interplay between Fischer's scraggly mumbling and Demarrais's bold, powerful wail is enough to make any sensitive soul reel, especially when the duo dreamily harmonizes on desperate lines such as "I want to go to far away places/But momentum makes my head ponderous and heavy." — Kelso Jacks

MUMBLIN JIM

The Rainbow Connection (Mod Lang)

With grooves smoother than a chocolate milkshake, San Francisco's Mumblin Jim drops a pocket full of magnetic funk and soul on your ear with its impressive debut album. Produced by Dr. Octagon deck surgeon Dan "The Automator"

Nakamura, The Rainbow Connection fires off a breezy compound of psychedelic garage pop, sanguine AM melodies and pimpadelic soul power. The group hits a couple of potholes when it occasionally comes close to mimicking G. Love And Special Sauce, but when the Toronto quartet locks into full-on jams, it's impossible to remove The Rainbow Connection from the CD player. If you're having one of those days when you can't really decide whether to kick it at home with the Zombies or Jamiroquai, Mumblin' Jim will provide you with a happy medium. — Ron Hart

VARIOUS ARTISTS

Planet V (V-Ultra)

There's nothing to say about the Planet V compilation that can't be accurately inferred from the album's specs — two CDs, 20 tracks and fresh drum 'n' bass cuts by breakbeat royalty such as Roni Size, DJ Krust, Adam F, Ed Rush & Optical, Peshay and many others. If you're not salivating yet, then perhaps we should make it plain and simple: Planet V rocks harder than Gibraltar. Flying under the flag of the exalted U.K. drum 'n' bass imprint V Recordings, each producer on this anthology puts his best beats forward and helps this release surpass its predecessors, in terms of the strength of the individual cuts and the overall continuity of the collection. Jungle massive, seek this out at once. — M. Tye Comer

NECESSARY EVILS

The Sicko Inside Me (In The Red)

If bands like the Groovie Ghoulies are too cartoonish for your taste, and Man Or Astro-Man strikes you as a bit too kooky, the straight-arrow Necessary Evils just might be your golden ticket to enjoying satisfyingly ferocious horror/sci-fi tinged garage rock.

Though their production values are downright scummy to begin with, the Evils' playing is so manic that no studio could ever hope to completely contain the fury, and The Sicko Inside Me thrives by constantly teetering on the edge of total chaos. The guitar playing of James Arthur (formerly of stripped-down garage trio Fireworks) is a key to the nasty sonics; his playing often sounds more like scraping metal or even a howling Theremin than the lead guitar in a garage rock band. Who needs higher intelligence when we've got all the raucous rock 'n' roll we need right here on Earth? — Cheryl Botchick

WOLFIE

Where's Wolfie (Parasol)

There's something ingenious about Wolfie's simplistic take on indie-pop. With precociously sweet male/female vocals, jaunty organ melodies and crudely bashed-out rhythms, the band's appeal is inarguably one of pure, cute fun. But the Champaign-Urbana, Illinois, quartet also instills its songs with a certain fresh-faced urgency that turns its typically sub-two-minute bursts into clever celebrations of youth. Where's Wolfie, the band's second album, mines a number of classic pop influences, but none may be more spot-on than the cartoonish playfulness of Herman's Hermits. Wolfie may not be the most adept group of players, but the kids certainly make up for their greenness with deceptively sharp melodic ideas and irrepressible energy. — Colin Helms

For Fans Of: Weezer, Of Montreal, Papas Fritas, acoustic Superchunk

Recommended Tracks: "You're Lucky I'm Skinny" (also a 7"

EPPERLEY

"You're So 1988" is not only the name of a song on power-pop unit Epperley's Sophomore Slump, it also seems to be an accurate description of the Tusla, Oklahoma, quartet's latest work. Whereas the band's eponymous debut loosely copped from '90s mainstays such as Nirvana and Soul Asylum, the witty and sarcastic follow-up draws heavily on styles and sounds picked up from modern rock's aging forefathers. Produced by Jake from MTV's short lived series Squirt TV, this 11-track collection impressively fuses Pixiesesque guitar blasts with swirling new wave harmonics and a wry slacker demeanor that seems to affect a lot of new bands that work under the Manhattan sun. It's nice to see that smirk on the face of indie pop again. — Ron Hart

ENGINE DOWN

Under the Pretense Of Present Tense (Lovitt)

The math-rock song structures on Engine

Down's Under The Pretense Of Present Tense hum ominously at first, but the momentum slowly builds into an intense audio explosion. The album is brainy yet volcanic "screamo rock" that smartly makes use of the principle of soft/loud song dynamics; the quiet, low-key passages give way to blasts of discordance and scorching guitar riffs. After each technically stunning outburst, Engine Down leaves a wake of destruction, yet still manages to build alternately understated and corrosive tracks from the scattered debris. Every moment on this debut is fraught with tension and dissonance, and although Engine Down is an acquired taste, it's well-worth getting used to the flavor. — Amy Sciarretto

THE BOOM

Any Day Of The Night (Slowdime)

The best way for a band to avoid being lumped into a current scene is for it to fearlessly throw a big bag of styles at the listener. The Boom comes at you with loaded guitars, drums and a horn section, ready to leap from good 'n' greasy soul to skankin' ska to avantjazz skronk. The ensemble drags you through the back alleys and cramped, smoky clubs of Detroit, Kingston, New Orleans and New York. While sax, trombone and trumpet wiggle around in "Honey On A Biscuit," Freddie T. cooks up a chunky funk with rhythm guitar that's so thick and nasty that you wouldn't be surprised if you found an equal number of skatepunks and hepcats at The Boom's live gigs. — Steve Ciabattoni

DEEP PURPLE

Shades 1968-1998 (Rhino)

"You've got to understand that some people just want to rock," writes time-honored, Los Angeles radio personality Jim Ladd, in the liner notes to this colossal four-disc box set of heavy metal. Well, ain't that the truth, and Dcep Purple has served every last one of those rockers over the course of 30 years and seven (!) different lineups. It's high time that the band's leaden rock 'n' roll gets the deluxe treatment. Shades 1968-1998 does just that, featuring 62 tracks, copious liner notes, detailed listings of lineup changes, a full discography, lots of photos and a few essential, Spinal Tap-like shots of the band in the early '70s with its monstrous private jet. But behind the stone-faced manliness of the bandmembers is a whole lotta stone-faced, manly rock, from which they never once blinked in three decades and through countless musical fads. Shades is awesome, if you're metal enough to take four hours of relentless heavy riffs and arena-filling, headbanging classics. And if you're not, then it's time to beef up! — Cheryl Botchick

SOPHIA

The Infinite Circle (Flower Shop)

Before this new release, Sophia consisted of former God Machine vocalist Robin Proper-Sheppard and a rotating cast of backing music i a n s labeled "the Sophia collective." Exmembers of Swervedrivhave since come aboard, solidifying the guitar and bass portion of the band's lineup. Sophia, however, is nothing like its parent acts. The Infinite Circle crawls dramatically with the nasal Proper-Sheppard playing woeful acoustic guitar melodies while he recounts stories of happy whores and wasted time. While these plaintive ballads could be lullabies, they won't hill listeners to sleep; the recollections of deeply buried pain transport the songs to the deepest, most inner chambers of the heart. Sophia is a beautifully melancholic band capable of forcing even the perkiest cheerleader into fits of weeping. — Amy Sciarretto

I'M YOUR Fân

IMPERIAL DRAG

Imperial Drag (WORK)

When glossy power-pop band Jellyfish arrived in the early '90s with its cotton candy-sweet melodies, Beatlesque leanings and often downright Queen-like sonics, it landed right in the middle of the grunge explosion. The timing, needless to say, couldn't have been worse, despite the band's couple of small successes with singles at commercial radio. But with Jason Falkner's recent album on Elektra peaking at #4 on the CMJ Radio 200, it's fair to sav that music fans have finally warmed up to the heavily stylized work of this alternative pop band's former members. Unfortunately, the best post-Jellyfish configuration of its participants has already come and gone without making the commercial splash it deserved. Fronted by former touring Jellyfish member Eric Dover, who teamed with co-songwriter Roger Manning, a Jellyfish staple, Imperial Drag released its only album in May of 1996 on WORK. It's the key to recent bands of its ilk, though, in how it strikes a perfect balance between all the characteristics of the genre's past and present. It's impossibly catchy without being cheesy; rocking and guitar-oriented but centered around melody; slightly glam but still gritty. Most importantly, though, it was poppy and cute enough to make teenage girls swoon, but still warped and subversive enough lyrically to keep the proverbial older brothers and sisters interested (think "Go All The Way" by the Raspberries). If you love the sound of Jellyfish hits but cringe at the goofv hats and outfits, or if you groove to Jason Falkner's solo rock songwriting but long for a little more confection, Imperial Drag is the album to seek out. - Cheryl Botchick

For Fans Of: Cheap Trick, Posies, Badfinger. T. Rex Bio Fact: Imperial Drag co-songwriter and keyboardist Roger Manning is now one-half of the clever covers duo Moog Cookbook; Manning has also performed with Beck; Eric Dover is at work on a solo

SHELBY STARNER From In The Shadows (Warner Bros.)

When 15-year old Shelley Starner was introduced at the 1998 AAA conference, she received a lot of skeptical looks. But concerns about her being pitched as the "next Fiona Apple" quickly dissipated as she took to the piano and demonstrated her artful touch. While being a young singer-songwriter/pianist may not be original in itself, Starner's soulful, subtle style is. For her debut, a small but smartly arranged combo backs her crystalline vocals, which project lyrical wisdom beyond her teenage years. In "Don't Let Them," Starner demands maturity from herself, demonstrating her clear voice and its Kate Bush-like emotive power: "Don't let them tell you you're a child/Be a woman and not a girl/In this man's world.'

KINGFISH

Sundown On The Forest (Phoenix Rising)

While Jerry Garcia. Bob Weir, Mookie Siegel, Robbie Hoddinott and Steve Kimock have all been Kingfishers, it's Matthew Kelly's bluesy groove-rockin' guitar and vocal style that drives the band. Their first studio album in 20 years, Sundown also includes a previously unreleased 1973 Jerry Garcia guitar solo woven into "Ridin' High."

MARY LEE'S CORVETTE

True Lovers Of Adventure (Wild Pitch)

Mary Lee Kortes's country-cabaret voice landed her 1997 D.I.Y. debut onto many Triple A playlists. But her more sophisticated sophomore album, featuring some genuine production and fresh songs, should find her an even wider audience. "Labor Of Love" in particular, complete with quirky guitar riffs, a deep bass groove, string quartet and punchy vocals, brings out the best from this budding songstress.

The annual SXSW (South By Southwest) music conference in Austin, Texas is a place to hear new and established acts, and party like a rock and roll maddog with the music industry. During this year's "shmooz-a-thon," March 17-21, the hot ticket was Tom Waits at the Paramount Theatre. Only his fourth public performance in the past 12 years, Waits' Saturday night show generated so much interest that his new label, Epitaph, was forced to buy tickets for select laminate holders. The bummer of the week was a downpouring of rain Thursday night, which forced the cancellation of the outdoor Leon Russell/Willie Nelson show. However, rain did not hamper the Push Stars, who played to about 800 people under a tent, includ-

Mute Records is in the process of staging screening parties in a few major cities for Add N To (X)'s new video, "Metal Fingers In My Body." The clip, which probably won't be coming to MTV anytime soon, is a cartoon piece that depicts a woman experiencing the erotic pleasures of the latest mail-order love machine, coincidentally dubbed "Add N To (X)." The single will be the first release from the band's new full-length, Avant Hard, which is scheduled for release on April 20. himself in court over the use of his name. Warner Bros. UK will soon release an album by a German artist of the same name whose record was recently certified gold in Europe. Both of the Sashas' record companies, Warners UK and DeConstruction, are locked in debate over who gets to keep the name.

APHEX TWIN "Windowlicker" (CD5) (Warp-Sire)

For those who've followed his career, the musical dementia of Richard D. James (a.k.a. Aphex Twin), the man behind Aphex Twin, is old news. He's always remained a good light-year ahead of his contemporaries, and this new single is no exception. Fresh from "Come To Daddy," his demonic, maniacal breakbeat experiment, "Windowlicker"'s electro drum kicks, warped vocal samples and sleazy, erotic ambiance connote images and emotions alien to James's previous compositions. Erratic sound bites pervade both that track and the disjointed second cut, "Formula." "Nannou" completes the EP with its soothing music box melody and minimal rhythmic structure. Be afraid. Be very afraid.

Too Stoned To Sneeze Without Regretting It (Evil Teen)

In actuality, there's nothing at all blunted about Too Stoned To Sneeze..., but the music is still as attention-grabbing as the title suggests. Random (a.k.a. John Drunkard) bombards your ears with an array of intense drum 'n' bass productions filled with of howling basslines, hyper-speed hi-hats and apocalyptic sound structures. This is a compelling collection not recommended for the weak of heart.

From The Ashes (Water Lily Acoustics)

Here, Indian violinist Subramaniam is joined by jazz guitarist Larry Coryell in a stunning meditation on death and love. The recording is a serious affair, as the music deals thematically with Subramaniam's grieving over the loss of his beloved wife, Viji. Through this music he seeks to express his feelings of grief, separation and the transcendence of love, and is supported and abetted in the effort by Coryell's sympathetic and introspective guitar playing. There will be few recordings released this year that will be as meaningful or significant.

C-MURDER Bossalinie (No Limit-Priority)

Being Master P.'s lil' bro has some obvious perks and some not so apparent downfalls. As one-third of the super-group Tru (along with brothers P and Silkk The Shocker), C-Murder has remained in P's media shadow, even though his first two albums have reached platinum. But now, No Limit's tightest lyrical soldier is carving out his own niche as the rhyme camp's point man. C flaunts a keen rhythmic dexterity akin to that of the late 2Pac, flipping from street blasters like "On My Enemies" and smooth joints like "Ghetto Millionaire" (with Snoop Dogg, Kurupt and Nate Dogg), to emotional and inspirational tales, like the slave-themed "Freedom," with ease.

Having honed his skills on the mean streets of Philly's Allen Homes section, Sam Gunz instills this strong debut with an appropriately rugged vibe. Able to leap from B.I.G.-worthy raps to Lost Boyz-styled party anthems with a diverse, lyrical abandon, Gunz sparks the set with a great originality.

Fox Sports will play the music of several bands from Victory Records' roster during the net-loud rock news work's upcoming extreme sports shows. Over 320 million viewers will be exposed to the world's most spinesevering hardcore and metalcore music. Kudos to Victory and its bands for the coup...The first annual New England Metal and Hardcore Fest will undoubtedly kick up the dust and carnage that settled after the March Metal Meltdown. The event, to be held at the Palladium in Worcester, Massachusettes, from April 30 to May 2, will feature One King Down, Napalm Death, Morbid Angel, Hatebreed, Converge, Skinlab,

Bongzilla, Today Is The Day, Cave In, Isis, Gwar, Deicide, Overkill, Sam Black Church, Tree, Cryptopsy, Buried Alive, Scissorfight, Diecast, All Out War, Roadsaw, Manowar, Earth Crisis, Reveille, Madball, Gorguts, Human (Continued on page 35)

NO INNOCENT VICTIM

Flesh And Blood (Victory)

No Innocent Victim is a Christian-core band that praises the gentle Lamb of God while roaring like a lion. The San Diego quartet goes straight for the secular world's jugular with blistering riffage and inescapable breakdowns tough enough to incite worldwide floorpunching. Much like the nowdefunct Strife and its straight-edge philosophies, NIV doesn't assault von with its message, instead submerging it in the music's torrid vocals, grooves and riffs. Ultimately, the gutsy, stereotype-defying Flesh And Blood bludgeons its listeners with unfettered sonic brutality. Even tough guys with "666" tattoos will mosh away to NIV.

For Fans Of: Strife, Hatebreed, Living Sacrifice, Solid State Records Recommended Tracks: "Flesh And Blood," "C.E.B.," "Tear Us Apart" Contact: Bon Platzer

Phone: 888.447.3267 Fax: 312.666.8665 Email: ron@victoryrecords.com Release Date: March 23 Add Date: April 13

INTEGRITY 2000 Integrity 2000 (Victory)

Though Cleveland's Integrity recently tacked the timely "2000" onto the end of its moniker, the band takes a positive step back on this self-titled album, recalling the crushing hardcore fury of its 1995 album Humanity Is The Devil while avoiding the leftfield guitar solos that decorated 1997's Seasons In The Size Of Days. The cerie-sounding Dwid has a garbled vocal style similar to Obituary's John Tardy and Bloodlet's Scott Angelocos. The band still explores religious topics in its evil metal, ensuring that it will continue to both frighten parents and delight teens. Don't miss the last two electronic tracks, which feature Psywarfare, Dwid's alter-ego.

For Fans Of: Bloodlet, Obituary's World Demise, Sepultura's Arise, Turmoil Recommended Tracks: "2000," "Never Surrender," "Violated"

Contact: Ron Platzer Phone: 888.447.3267 Fax: 312.666.8665 Email: ron@victoryrecords.com Release Date: April 6 Add Date: April 13

Marketing Data: Sepultura's Derrick "The Predator" Greene appears on "Never Surrender."

JUDAS FACTOR

Ballads In Blue China (Revelation)

The Judas Factor's Rob Fish has legendary status in the hardcore scene due to his work in the bands 108 and Resurrection. But his latest band is a far cry from his past bands. Pure, unbridled aggression and introspective lyrics are funneled through discordant guitar work, larynx-annihilating screams and complex song structures. If you need a breather, checkout his downright genteel "Will You Wait Up For Me?"

For Fans OI: Deadguy, Neurosis, Kiss It Goodbye, Resurrection, Indecision Recommended Tracks: "Beauty Mark," "As I Lie Down To Die," "Essay"

Disorder, Skarhead, Another Society, Non Compos Mentis, Crisis, Another Victim, Bane, Stands Still, Reach The Sky, In My Eyes, Shutdown, Shed, Vital Remains, fortydaysrain, Keelhaul, Puya, deadeyesunder, Gangsta Bitch Barbie, Roadsaw, Shadows Fall, Nightstick and Hate Machine. Unfortunately, Testament and Misfits backed out due to prior commitments...Visit www.snapcase.com to hear three exclusive, unstoppable Snapcase recordings: "Truth Hits Everybody" (a Police cover), "I" (a Bad Brains cover) and the brand new "Energy Dome." The band's new bassist is Dustin Perry, formerly of Harvest...The unsigned band Apartment 26, which will grace the second stage at this year's Ozzfest, is fronted by Biff Butler, son of Black Sabbath's Geezer. Word has it that Apartment 26 is electronica-influenced loud rock in the vein of Gravity Kills...Joey Severance, late of Metal Blade, will head Pavement Music's brand new London/European office...Mayhem Records has closed its New York City quarters. Former radio promotions guru Rich Burke is in search of a new gig...Testament will release The Gathering on Spitfire/Burnt Offerings in June, featuring skins king Dave Lombardo on drums...To all college kids eager to stimulate their brains with something other than a psychotherapy textbook, check out Pitbull Publishing's Kiss & Tell, an exposé on Kiss guitar great Ace Frehley. The book features first-hand stories by Gordon G.G. Gebert and Bob McAdams, Frehley's former best friends. It's a gut-bustingly funny story, but its tone is gossipy and rather harsh on Ace, who was infamous for his party lifestyle. Definitely a guilty pleasure.

triple a news

Doolittle Records beat the bad weather with a BBQ party featuring performances by Todd Thibaud, Trish Murphy, Say Zuzu and Slobberbone. Songlines' Sean Coakley, Planetary's Mikey Dee, Gavin's Jessie Scott, and WERU's Sarah Willis were among those hopping and bopping. There were parties galore, but the most relaxing was the patio meal put out by Rykodisk's Sean O'Connell and Jacknife's Chris Roldan and Jenni Sperandeo. Among those present were WFUV's Rita Houston, KLRQ's Steve Stevens, the Magnitude Network's Quintin Porter and recording artist Beaver Nelson. One of the more exciting new artists this year was Mammoth's Freestylers, who's performance featured breakdancers, disco bass-playing, rappers, and techno wizardry. The film highlight for most festival goers was the U.S. premier of the new Radiohead movie, Meeting People Is Easy, on Saturday.

The dark introspective pop music of Wilco's new album Summer Teeth has virtually nothing in common with the punk-influenced country of Uncle Tupelo, the former band of Wilco frontman Jeff Tweedy. Fans may speculate that Wilco's evolving sound signals Tweedy's efforts to further distance himself from tiring comparisons to Uncle Tupelo (and his former UT bandmate Jay Farrar's more country-leaning band, Son Volt). But Tweedy says that Summer Teeth isn't part of some elaborate plan to forsake the alt-country scene and leave his past behind. The reason Wilco recorded pop songs this time, he explains simply, is that "we just didn't have any country songs."

Fans of Tweedy and his bandmates — guitarist/key-boardist Jay Bennett, bassist/keyboardist John Stirratt and drummer Ken Coomer — have come to expect the unexpected from Wilco. After Uncle Tupelo disbanded in 1994, Tweedy and several Uncle Tupelo bandmates quickly formed Wilco, and released their roosty rock debut, A.M., in 1995. But Wilco's 1996 double album Being There offered more than a few surprises, hopping genres by referencing bands such as the Beach Boys and the Rolling Stones. Next, Wilco collaborated with English folk singer Billy Bragg on the 1998 Grammy-nominated album Mermaid Avenue, which brought new life to Woody Guthrie's unreleased lyrics.

When Wilco started to work on Summer Teeth, Tweedy says the band hadn't devised a master plan to change its sound. "We didn't want to make the same sounding record, but we really didn't have any goals as far as what we wanted it to sound like sonically." he says. "That's the fun of making records or creating, you don't really know what it's going be, but you know that there's going to be something there at the end of the day or the end of the week that didn't exist before."

While Being There drew inspiration from many ages and genres of American music, Summer Teeth builds on classic sounds while also forging Wilco's own songwriting identity. Tweedy may seemingly have little in common with Woody Guthrie, but he says that working on Mermaid Avenue has had lasting effects on him. He says that it was "really affirming" to learn that he was "part of not just a musical tradition, but a human tradition of expression."

Wilco spent a year and a half crafting the new album at various studios. The bulk was recorded at Chicago's King Size Sound Laboratories and Austin, Texas's Pedernales Studios, but Wilco used its tour days off to record in Tennessee, North Carolina, Oregon and Los Angeles. Tweedy says that the band worked hard to make the final product sound cohesive, and it does. The instantly classic pop-rock album tempers its melancholic streaks with new emphasis on warm keyboards, organ and piano.

Behind the sunny melodies, Tweedy's lyrics on Summer Teeth offer some disturbing images. Lines like "I dreamed about killing you again last night" and "she begs me not to hit her" are belied by the music's generally upbeat feel. Tweedy explains that it can be hard not to censor himself, but he thinks that those troubling images are often the most powerful. "I think about how most people are not going accept it, or how misunderstood a certain amount of things are going to be or how everything's going to be interpreted to be autobiographical, Tweedy says. "I think in general I resist the urge to edit it out because to me those are the most important lines...Not justfor shock value. I think that those lines aren't about violence, and I dom't think they're to be taken literally. I just think that they're lines that are very passionate and make an emotional impact, and that's hard to find these days...I also feel that those are the most valuable things I have to work with, not being comfortable."

With Wilco's constantly evolving and growing sound, it's difficult for Tweedy to predict what the future will hold, but he already has new ideas. "We've been writing, I've been writing, but there's no pressure, we don't really think about what we want to sound like," he explains. "I think we want to see what happens, and by the time we get into the studio, I'm sure we will have changed our minds about a lot of things. And more importantly, found new things that are inspiring to us. I can't really foresee [what will happen]. If we had to go make it today, I'd like to make a simple record. Very, very sparse elementally, but not necessarily somber — that would be my goal. A happy avant-garde folk record." His constant evolution and progression as a songwriter shows that Tweedy's not content to sit still. Listening to him face new challenges and explore new sounds gives us the chance to watch him grow into one of the greats of American songwriting.

INDUSTRY PROFILE

Interview by Wendy Mitchell

Jimmy lovine and Ted Field started Interscope Records in 1990 as a joint venture with Atlantic Records. The label left the Atlantic Group in 1994 to enter into a joint venture with MCA Records, When MCA's parent company, Universal Music. acquired PolyGram early this year, Universal purchased the other half of Interscope. Postmerger, Interscope now heads the Interscope Music Group, which includes the Nothing, Geffen-DGC, A&M, Outpost, 1500 Coolsville labels. The combined roster includes acts such as Nine Inch Nails. Hole. Marilyn Manson, Primus, Meat Beat Manifesto, Beck, Crystal Method, Big Bad Voodoo Daddy, Limp Bizkit, the Brian Setzer Orchestra, Black Eyed Peas and many more. We spoke to Interscope's college radio guru Lenny LaSalandra about the merger and other new developments there.

LENNY LASALANDRA

National Director Of College Radio Promotion, Interscope-Geffen-A&M

Phone: 310.443.4524 Fax: 310.208.7343 Email: llasalandra@interscope.com

I still have people ask me at parties, "Are you the Lenny from Possum Dixon's 'Lenny's Song'?" Ah, fame!

Give us the lowdown on interscope's college radio department. How many people are involved now?

I am very fortunate to have the greatest crew working here with me. Joanna Palacios has been with me since last year. From the day she started, I could tell that she was a natural promoter. Recently, we added Mark Gracious to our team, and he's just been kicking ass. He used to work for Capitol's college department. Together, the three of us are a well-oiled promotion machine. In addition to college radio, we work projects to metal radio and to commercial alternative specialty shows. We also try to tie in artist development ideas with our radio picture whenever we can - like when we hooked up sponsorship with Kappa clothing for a Meat Beat Manifesto promotion.

How long have you been at Interscope and what did you do before?

I've been at Interscope for six years. It has become my home away from home. I started here as an intern working for "the Godfather," Jeff Marks, and was officially hired when I finished school in '95. Before that, I was a DJ and MD at USC's college station, KSCR.

How has the Universal-PolyGram merger changed your job?

I now have more cool bands to work, which is both a blessing and a curse, because I want to give each band the attention they need and yet there are only so many hours in the day. But I've always been really good at time management, so Interscope's high standard of promotion is not going to change with the influx of new artists. Actually, when you think about it, there's never been a record company that has had so many artists that are both largely popular and cool at the same time (like Beck, Sheryl Crow and Limp Bizkit). It's going to be a balancing act to stay true to the vision of these artists while helping them reach as many listeners as possible, and I'm pretty excited about this challenge.

is it tough to work interscope projects to college radio now? There has been some talk about the merger being bad for the industry or bad for artists.

I've never had problems working Interscope projects to college radio because we have the best A&R staff in the world, and they sign great bands. As for negative talk about the merger, I haven't heard such opinions from college radio because the merger hasn't really affected college radio. They're going to get the music one way or another regardless, because the bands that get dropped from major labels will probably get picked up by indie labels.

Have you guys started work on the next Matacooti video? When can we expect a new one? Have you figured out its theme yet?

I tell you, these videos have been such a success. In them, we've brought people exclusive performances and interviews and taken them to Disneyland, Mexico, Las Vegas, Matacooti Island and Matacooti Mountain. If anyone hasn't seen any of these, feel free to give us a call and we'll hook you up with a copy. We're always coming up with new ideas for Matacooti, and they just keep getting better and better. We will definitely have a new Matacooti before the end of the year. We're thinking of calling it Matacooti 2000: The Next Millenium.

Why did Possum Dixon name a song after you?

They had given me this tape of new songs before they recorded New Sheets, and on that demo was this song called "Reacharound." When I heard that song, I just flipped over it and told them that it should be the first single. They were so taken with my enthusiasm that they renamed the tune "Holding (Lenny's Song)." It was my 15 minutes of fame. I still have people ask me at parties, "Are you the Lenny from Possum Dixon's 'Lenny's Song'?" Ah, fame!

What projects will you be working with this spring?

We'll be serving up a nice little slab ofhip-hop from Ugly Duckling (1500 Records). Then we'll have an EP of unreleased material from Beck (DGC), which will only be serviced to college and specialty shows. We'll also be putting out this swanky lounge act the Blue Hawaiians on Coolsville Records, and the new album from the Hippos. And of course we'll also have that new Nine InchNails album sometime this year, for which I get at least five calls a day.
