RIAA STARTS LITIGATION

So, it turns out the RIAA really wasn't kidding about suing individual people suspected of offering digital music files online for file-sharing. As of press time, the music industry trade group has this month issued at least 871 federal subpoenas against users suspected of copyright infringement, with roughly 75 new subpoenas being approved every day. The RIAA has stated that it expects to file at least several hundred lawsuits seeking financial damages within the next eight weeks. Current copyright laws allow for damages of $750 to $150,000 for each music file illegally offered on a person's computer, but the RIAA has already said that it would be open to settlement proposals from the defendants. The legal action comes just weeks after the RIAA's announcement that it would use litigation in an attempt to curb online piracy, which it says has wreaked havoc on music sales. And while the organization initially stated that it would only pursue those individuals who offered "substantial quantities of music online," some of the subpoenas issued cited as few as five songs as "representative recordings" of files that the user had available for downloading. Some people, however, are determined to continue using their P2P networks, and are now using new software designed to block and confuse any monitoring of their online activities. Also, a new version of "Kazaa Lite," the software that grants free access into the P2P service, claims to be able to block scans from Internet addresses believed to be associated with the RIAA. Matt Oppenheim, the RIAA's senior vice president of business and legal affairs, stated, "We are identifying substantial infringers and we're going to whatever entity is providing [Internet] service for that potential infringer. From there, we'll be in a position to begin bringing lawsuits." While the recent barrage of lawsuits certainly hasn't made the RIAA any new friends, there is some evidence that its actions have discouraged online music sharing: Nielson NetRatings, the group that monitors Internet usage, reported that traffic for the Kazaa network has declined by one million users this week, with similarly large drops in traffic for other services as well.

FILE-SHARING COULD LEAD TO JAIL TIME

As if the RIAA needed any more ideas on how to persecute file-sharers, in new legislation introduced by Representatives John Conyers (D-MI) and Howard Berman (D-CA), offering music files online for others to copy could be made a felony, with those found guilty of file-sharing being faced with prison time. The House bill operates under the assumption that each copyrighted work offered illegally online would be copied by other users at least 10 times, for a total retail value of $2,500 — making the activity a felony and carrying a sentence of up to five years in jail. In a statement, Rep. Conyers said, "Digital piracy is one of the biggest problems facing creators of copyrighted content. While existing laws have been useful in stemming this problem, they simply do not go far enough." Many Democrats have backed the bill, but no Republicans have yet endorsed it.

THE WEEK IN MUSIC NEWS

Compiled and written by Doug Levy • doug@cmj.com

It seems hard to believe, but word has it that three-quarters of seminal Creation band My Bloody Valentine has reconvened to work on music for a rumored upcoming box set.

Illustration By John Frazier

My Bloody Valentine

The group famously split in the mid-'90s after recording sessions for the follow-up to its massively influential Loveless album stretched into years, sucking down an astronomical amount of record label funds in the process. Now, mainman Kevin Shields is said to be holed up with former bandmates Colm O'Ciosio and Bilinda Butcher, plugging away at songs that date back over a decade. The band had originally planned for its 1990 EP, Glider, to be a full-length album, but a notorious desire for perfection in the studio led it to be released in shortened form before all the songs were finished. The trio is therefore reportedly trying to finally complete the long-lost material, to make Glider into the album it was originally intended to be. No details have become available as to what else will be included in the box set, what label will release it, when it will come out, why bassist Debbie Googe isn't involved, or anything else for that matter, but this at least supplies MBV fans with new fodder to keep the dream of a resurrection alive. Meanwhile, Shields has written four new songs on his own, which he contributed to the soundtrack to the new Sofia Coppola film, Lost In Translation (see this week's RPM section for more info). • Two icons of Cuban music and culture have passed away. Celia Cruz, known to millions as the Queen of Salsa, died of a brain tumor on July 16 at the age of 78. Cruz, who left Castro's Cuba for America in 1960, was never really far from her homeland in her vibrant music and festive fashion. Much like another Latin music royal, Tito Puente, with whom she frequently performed and recorded, Cruz defined a style of music, making salsa popular throughout the world. Thousands lined the streets in a tear-filled, yet jubilant viewing service in Miami and a funeral was scheduled to take place at St. Patrick's Cathedral on July 22. Sadly, in the same week, Compay Segundo — the frisky, cigar-smoking patriarch of the Buena Vista Social Club — died at the age of 95 at his home in Cuba. Segundo, born Francisco Repilado, became widely known for his work with the BVSC and its Grammy-winning album of 1997, but he had spent a lifetime making music. Segundo released three solo albums on Nonesuch following his work with the BVSC, and performed concerts as recently as this year. • Apparently everyone has a dark side — even Chris Martin. The Coldplay frontman was arrested in Australia after reportedly going a bit mental on a local photographer. It seems the usually non-threatening singer was catching some waves at a local resort, when the lensman in question snapped some shots of

Martin on his surfboard. Martin proceeded to insist that the pictures be wiped from the memory of the digital camera the man was using, only to find his request denied. What happened next isn't entirely clear, but it involved an increasingly bonkers Martin making some sort of assault on the photographer's car, first with a rock, then by going after his tires. The vocalist was met and charged by police at his hotel later that day, and is scheduled to return to the country on Oct. 8 to face a charge of malicious damage. Who would have thought it? At least he didn't pull a Liam Gallagher and headbutt the guy. Either way, we'll still be calling the man Malicious Chris 'round here for at least the next week. • First it was Sunny Day Real Estate. Then it was Sunny Day Real Estate again. Now, it's the Fire Theft. Jeremy Enigk, William Goldsmith and Nate Mendel are back together again, this time going with a new moniker for their latest go-around. True, it's not exactly the same lineup, as SDRE also featured guitarist Dan Hoerner, and Mendel wasn't actually there the second time, since he had a day job with the Foo Fighters to attend to — but the point is, this is as close as you're getting, so you might as well enjoy it. Of course, you probably knew all this anyway, since the Fire Theft has actually been around for a couple of years now. But, the big news is that it's finally going to be releasing an honest-to-goodness album, thanks to its recent signing with Rykodisc. Due out in October, the self-titled disc was brought to life by producer Brad Wood in the ever-popular city of angels. (That's L.A. we're talking about, by the way — not heaven. Pretty far from it, come to think of it.) And guess what? There will even be a tour to support the release. The Fire Theft hits the road in North America on Sept. 26.

CMJ SILVER SALUTE

Throughout 2003, CMJ salutes one classic College Radio release per issue in celebration of our 25th Anniversary.

KLF

Chill Out (TVT)

The massive success of chill-out and downtempo electronica can be attributed to excellent late-'90s albums from artists like Air and Thievery Corporation. Unlike other genres of electronic music, these recordings sound just as good at home as they do in a club.

However, perhaps the most important of these releases came from the KLF — a group best known for the smiley faces and Punky Brewster-hypercolor sounds of singles like "What Time Is Love?" "Last Train To Trancentral" and "3 A.M. Eternal." But before the Hip-Hop beats and diva-encrusted vocals of those rave hits, the band recorded the visionary Chill Out, a seminal record of space-age noise, rattling choo-choo trains, spoken word and barnyard animal noises. Released way back in 1990, Chill Out not only gave its name to what would grow into a new genre, but also became the point of inspiration for some of today's best producers. — Justin Kleinfeld

DANDY WARHOLS

Welcome To The Monkey House (Capitol)

Finding themselves longing for a different sound in the wake of their last album, Thirteen Tales From Urban Bohemia, the Dandy Warhols have taken their latest compositions and recast them in a brave new wave mold, bringing the synths out in force to push the old six-string sonics into the corner. For the most part, Welcome To The Monkey House is an upbeat affair, with singer Courtney Taylor-Taylor embracing a newfound love of falsetto, while the rhythm section (drummer Brent DeBoer and keyboardist Zia McCabe) offers a stronger, bouncier, and more confident contribution than ever before. Some of this might be unfamiliar territory for longtime fans, but just as you get caught off guard by a total Dandy anomaly like the lab-rap of "Scientist," there's a sign, like the gently eddying "Insincere," to remind you who you're traveling with and where you're going. As for a hit-in-waiting, look no further than "The Last High" — undoubtedly coming soon to a station very near you.

MOSQUITOS

Mosquitos (Bar/None)

Most of the self-titled debut from Mosquitos is touched with some Brazilian element, with the band's songs often bearing a strong resemblance to '50s and '60s Bossa Nova in terms of language-swapping and instrumentation. Resting in the laurels of indie pop, however, the group's Chris Root's handle on the style is loose; so, while many of the songs are dressed with the wispy overtones of samba-esque rhythms, other tracks, such as "Policeman" and "Juju And Blue," depart entirely from the sound. "Next To Me" is vocally split between Root and Juju Stulbach, who tellingly pulls an Astrud Gilberto and switches back and forth between English and Portuguese on the song. The title track, meanwhile, is presented in two versions: the first is a lounge-worthy ditty, sung by Root, while the reprise is slower, bringing out the sadness in the lyrics a little more ("What you call love is sucking the life out of me"). So the album ends on a sad note, but don't despair: spin the disc again and the summery rhythms easily override it.

POULAIN

For Passengers EP (Fiddler-MCA)

Like Jeff Tweedy with a good pedigree and some college-aged dysfunction, Poulain (or, to his folks, Isaac Lekach) coos, "All you are... is beau-tiful," over the glistening vibraphones and mildly alt-country gait of "All You Are." Is this John Mayer for the knapsack set? Stephin Merritt for the VH1 crowd? Moping about with the same disaffected delivery as Merritt, Poulain is a textural indie-popper in the vein of Magnetic Fields, but he prefers thick shimmer over lo-fi shiver. In fact, the very concept of For Passengers is paradoxical — the groaning chamber-pop choruses all lamenting in tandem, reverb-on-everything mentality and indie rock singing-from-the-corner-of-your-mouth delivery all sound like a four-track dream journal; but the man's non-threatening, mop-headed Topher Grace good looks and brainy sensitivity are major label sure things. The chord changes of XTC's more somber moments; the jangling amble of Evan Dando — it's all in there somewhere on these four songs, if you don't mind digging around in a lush haystack of echo. —

A NORTHERN CHORUS

Spirit Flags (Sonic Unyon)

A Northern Chorus is definitely Northern — hailing from Ontario, Canada, the group provokes a sense of melancholy evocative of the murmuring chill of quiet Canadian winters. Rooted in atmospheric, shoegazer pop, this music is tempered at times by an edge reminiscent of whipping blizzards, giving structure to an album that seems vulnerable to straying into emotional wastelands; the band is smart enough to reel in the sadness just when it gets too heavy. For example, after "Let The Parrots Speak For Themselves" and "Take Your Canvas Everywhere" — both languid, yearning tracks — "Louder Than Love" rides in like an uplifting wave, replete with bubbly Smiths-like guitars. Instrumentation has a great presence on Spirit Flags: the combination of wistful guitars, violins and flutes single-handedly drives the mood. "Song And I" and "Moment Fit To Remind" are outfitted with lengthy instrumental introductions, and "Flag In Hand" is lyric-free. However, "Mombassa" is the defining track here — a song that represents both the despair and the hope inherent in A Northern Chorus.

PAINT IT BLACK

CVA (Jade Tree)

CVA is the equivalent of a hardcore workout album: 17 “fuck you!” songs in under 20 minutes. Put it in. Clench your fists. Swing your arms. Start stomping... fucker! Quick bursts of venom and adrenaline begin to spew. “I don’t like the way you live/ Taking more than you give.” Paint It Black may share its name with a Rolling Stones song, but who gives a fuck? Led by Dr. Dan Yemin (Hey, Graffin, how’s your PhD coming along?), CVA is rife with strife, and quite possibly one of the best-recorded hardcore records in years. With Andy Nelson on bass, Dave Hause on guitar and David Wagenschutz (Good Riddance) on drums, the band plays like cheap sex — fast and over — and Dr. Dan uses a guttural bel-low to kick out some truth. “I guess we still can’t pass/ I may be white, but I’m a fucking kike/ I’m here to tell you where to stick that trash,” he offers angrily on the disc’s best and most powerful track, “The Insider.” Don’t forget to breathe.

LOW FLYING OWLS

Elixir Vitae (Stinky)

Throbbing bass and brittle feedback proliferate throughout this NoCal garage-cum-freakout band’s newest release. When the Low Flying Owls rock (“Glad To Be Alive,” “What My Friends Say”), you get nasty three-chord combos like nails on concrete; when they space out (“Babies Made”), you’re cleansed with glimmering synths and cascading guitars à la Pink Floyd. Vocalist Jared Southard sings in that kind of despondent, overdriven manner that would make Iggy Pop circa 1977 proud. With lyrics like, “They saw him grow into a man/ Into iconoclastic fantastic/ He wrote amazing songs” on “Georgie Shot Johnnie,” Southard chronicles the assassination of a (fictional?) rock star, shrouding the story in eerie implication. In fact, foreboding themes abound on the disc: on “Looks Of A Killer,” Southard queries, “Are you the devil’s son/ or perhaps just a messenger with a gun?” as the rest of the band responds with ambiguous nuance, calling on subtle clanging noises and free-Jazz trumpet cadences. And as the Owls fly ever lower, to dark new lyrical depths, they maintain their flight with impressive musical prowess. — Kory Grow

μ-ZIQ

Biliious Paths (Planet μ)

Mike Paradinas (a.k.a. μ-ZIQ) creates music on a higher plane than most electronic producers, a fact embodied by the 12 tracks of derailed beats and mind-numbing orchestral arrangements that mark Biliious Paths. The drill ‘n’ bass “Meinheld” starts off like a buzz-saw cutting through flesh, but right before hitting the jugular, a stunning layer of synths drifts in to cut the power and heal the wound; the beautiful “Siege Of Antioch,” sounds more like an iceberg shredding through the hull of a cruise liner. The funnier, funkier “On/Off,” meanwhile, features a drunken fellow Planet μ artist, Detroit’s Mike Dykehouse, ranting, “Put those panties on/ Take them panties off” over a bed of sci-fi breaks. Elsewhere, “Silk Ties” and “Grape Nut Beats (Pt.1)” are two of the harshest numbers — the latter being a full-on Hip-Hop-gabber hybrid, while the former sounds like a county fair held on the grounds of an imploding nuclear power plant. Simply put, Biliious Paths sets the course for a fabulous train ride headed straight for a brick wall.

DEAR JOHN LETTERS

Stories Of Our Lives

(Foodchain)

The memorable melodies, the wicked chords progressions and that strong, brave backbeat — ah yes, the Dear John Letters have got it down: the pure soul of rock and roll. Top 5 Most Added this week, Stories Of Our Lives is a fancy collection of rock tunes that showcase both the artistry and the personal musical flavors of the band’s members. The group possesses a dynamic frontman in former Nevada Bachelor Robb Benson, a singer whose vocals range from raspy strains (“Sorry To Sorry”) to walloping indie pop sighs (“My Volcano”) as he converses and duels with the equally varied guitar parts. Producer Johnny Sangster (Mudhoney, Posies) is responsible for those distinctive guitar lines (check out the solo on “We Could Be Angels”), while the rich rhythm section of Richard Davidson and Cassidy Laton sprinkles on the funky element so vital to the disc (especially “Kings And Queens” and “Bipolar”). A smart and playful work, Stories takes its time tossing back swigs of Beatles-esque choruses, thoughtful lyrics and sharp musicianship.

READY, JETSET, GO!

While quietly releasing some of the year's best records, Jetset keeps its focus on the music and basks in the glory.

Story: Louis Miller • Photos: Drew Goren

Every music fan has complained about mediocre records that are constantly being heaped with praise by journalists, “music” television personalities and radio programmers, even though the music can barely even hold its own weight. And while most people have told themselves the music industry’s woes could be solved if only they were in charge, hardly anyone actually does anything about it. Luckily, Shelley Maple is not like most people.

Maple started Jetset Records in 1996 with an undying love for music, lofty ambitions and — quite possibly — little other choice: “[I had] the naive belief that I could do it better than other people,” she recalls from the label’s Lower West Side New York office. “But possibly more compelling motivation came from the fact that I was, for all intents and purposes, unemployable. I was expelled from school when I was 15 and have not seen the inside of a classroom since then. I’ve also been fired from pretty much every job I’ve ever had; my resume was a complete fabrication.”

The label’s first release was a re-issue of the Golden Lemons’ Punkrock, a record that shoved the German group’s garage punk agenda into the American landscape long before importing European garage bands became the “cool” thing to do. The label’s artist roster soon began to grow in leaps and bounds: Firewater, Mogwai, Black Box Recorder and Macha all jumped onboard the Jetset wagon and enjoyed critical successes, with several of the groups’ albums going Top 5 on the CMJ Radio 200 chart.

As the label continued to expand, Maple learned to surround herself with other people who share the same passion for music and motivation that drives her. Robert Vickers was already well known around the New York music scene for playing and recording with the Go-Betweens, Yo La Tengo, Mad Scene, Lloyd Cole and Amy Rigby, and he eventually signed on to work publicity for the label. After Brendan Flynn graduated from Claremont, California’s Pomona College, he knew he wanted to use the experience he gained at the school’s station, KSPC, to get a job in the music industry. So, following a move to New York and several weeks working at a “really crappy data entry job,” Flynn finally got his break and was offered the radio promotions spot at Jetset, which he gladly accepted. Terri Rosenblatt and Anna Bond now round out the staff by making sure the label’s records make it into the thousands of retail stores across the country, making up the retail and distribution department. The “unofficial” members of the office staff include Slayer and Scrappy, the two dogs who can be heard barking almost any time a phone rings, the mail comes, or a lowly CMJ journalist tries to pet them.

In a relatively short time, the artists on the label became even more eclectic and cutting-edge. Acts as varied as Arab Strap, Death By Chocolate, the Flaming Sideburns, 16 Horsepower, Sahara Hotnights and the Stratford 4 were soon calling Jetset home. “We’re not looking for bands in a certain genre,” relays Vickers. “We’re looking for bands that are doing their own kind of thing and are doing it very well. We try to put out the best kinds of records we possibly can, and whether they’re this kind of band or that kind of band doesn’t really matter, as long as they’re very good.”

Indeed, from garage to slowcore to punk

JETSET SNAPSHOT

A LOOK AT CURRENT AND UPCOMING JETSET PRIORITIES

BRITTA PHILLIPS AND DEAN WAREHAM

L'Avventura

This Phillips and Wareham duet album finds the Luna cohorts channeling the same undeniable chemistry that coursed between Nico and Lou Reed for a dazzling showcase of intricate melodies and soft pop bluster.

FIREWATER

The Man On The Burning Tightrope

Firewater's fourth release mixes enough Eastern and Klezmer influences into its gritty roots rock to make its home somewhere between the rock 'n' roll spotlight, a Greek wedding reception, Vaudeville and the big top.

TEN BENSON

Benson Burner

Ten Benson may hail from England, but its members want to be from the sticks of Alabama. They even already have the mesh tank tops, trucker hats, cocksure swagger and an appreciation for "Tits" and "Heavy Riffage." The group's U.S. debut has been downing whiskey and inhaling unfiltered cigarettes in anticipation of its Aug. 5 release.

TEENAGE FANCLUB

Four Thousand Seven Hundred And Sixty-Six Seconds

Just in case you somehow missed them the first time, Scotland's Teenage Fanclub offers this retrospective featuring songs from all six previous albums, as well as three new tracks. It's near-perfect guitar pop with Beach Boys harmonies, making for either a great introduction or a reminder of how remarkable this band is.

SUN KILL MOON

Ghosts Of The Great Highway

After painting the world red with his Red House Painters, Mark Kozelek returns with a new band that will pull just as hard on your heartstrings with its mope-core tenderness, Kozelek's satin tenor and the feel-good warmth that his sprawling, lush arrangements bring.

to whimsical pop, Jetset's roster has always been as diverse as its staff's personal CD collections. And, the label has always strived to put the music before anything else. "If I had to guess at why we've succeeded," muses Maple, "I would probably put it down to the fact that we've consciously made no attempt to brand the label; so we can work with whoever we want. So if a 'Jetset brand' has accidentally emerged, it simply means that we're being held to a certain standard, which makes me very happy indeed. Our artists are judged on their own merit, their songwriting skills and their intelligence. If they fit into any scene, that's all well and good, but it is not something we consider when I make the decision to work with them."

Vickers is quick to agree: "We've always tried to be about the band rather than the label. We've really tried to keep all the bands separate — their individual styles and qualities. It's not like they're 'Jetset bands' — they're bands, and I think that makes us a little different from other indie labels who have more specific agendas about what they're trying to do."

It's this dedication to the music — as opposed to label "branding" — that has made Jetset such a favorite with College Radio. Each year, Jetset releases are responsible for a growing percentage of records on CMJ's radio charts. The label doesn't fail to realize the importance of this market, either: "College Radio is very important to Jetset," states Flynn. "Some labels see it as a building block to something more, but at Jetset, that's the core audience. Those are the people who are going to embrace the bands, and who are going to be the most active, and who are going to actively seek out different music and good music."

It's this sort of mutual respect between Jetset and music fans that will allow the label to enjoy continued success. "We're kind of in the perfect position," beams Vickers, "because we're working with really excellent bands. And you don't have to hype really good bands — people just have to listen to them. That's all that's really required." NMR

200 Moves

Radiohead (No. 1) and Super Furry Animals (No. 2) continue to act like stubborn Saint Peters, as both remain sentinels of the Pearly Gates to Radio 200 Valhalla for a second week in a row. Below them, Clientele (10-6*) continues to make steady progress, while both Firewater (12-8*) and the Dandy Warhols (13-10*) finally enter the Top 10 after a few weeks on the chart. Keep an eye on those Warhols. Meanwhile, Rooney (can't you just hear Alan Ruck yelling that in Ferris Bueller's Day Off?) climbed 10 spots this week to land at No. 19, while Kenna leaped 68-32* and Kings Of Leon boogied 53-34*. This week's No. 1 debut at Core, Locust's Plague Soundscapes, spread its aural disease from 107-35* this week. This disc is perfect listening material for household chores, like carving up your parents in the crawl-space or enjoying a nice, quiet psychotic collapse. Good stuff. Andrew Bird's Weather Systems continues to kick some righteous ass as well, blowing like a nor'easter from 64 to 42*. Also of note this week is Juana Molina's Segundo, which charged 79-48*. If you haven't spent some time with this Buenos Aires, Argentina-native's second album, do so immediately. Finally, Tora Tora Torrance's A Cynic's Nightmare (D-43*) and Metric's Old World Underground, Where Are You Now? (D-49*) were this week's most notable debuts.

— Kevin Boyce

Dying for a free WSOU/South Orange, NJ beach ball or Frisbee? Then head on over to www.wsou.net and order two or more pieces of WSOU merch and they'll send you your choice of either. Also, the station's Zakk Wylde contest is underway; right now, legend Nikki Corvette with Dave and Spazz on "Music To Spazz By," and a neat special called "Jumpin' For Jesus," which will take a look at the lighter side of Jesus Christ by playing recordings that portray the King of Kings in a different kind of light. We're hoping to hear Otis Ball's "Walk On pretty impressive too. For fans of WREK, the disc's 15 recordings are undoubtedly well-remembered moments from the station's past. Designed to mark the station's 30th anniversary, Live At WREK plucks performances from the station's archives that span the past 20 years. A truly eclectic

1985 — less than one month before singer/guitarist D. Boon died in a tragic car accident — steals the show. Further tracks from Man Or Astroman? and Charlie Parker, as well as an interview with Sun Ra, pepper the disc, which also boasts some pretty freaky music from Shaking Ray Levis and Voice would-be guitar superstars are sending in samples of their playing for a shot at an autographed box of guitar strings, the Black Label Society catalog and a subscription to Guitar World magazine. The grand prize is Ozzfest tickets and a guitar lesson with Mr. Wylde himself. Why? Because Wylde and WSOU rule! Duh. • Kansas City's alternative paper, Pitch Weekly, has just named KCUR's "Sonic Spectrum" the "Best Radio Show in Kansas City." Hosted by Music Director Robert Moore, the show airs on Saturday afternoons and will be welcoming M. Ward, Lucinda Williams and Eleni Mandell during the coming weeks. Congrats to Moore and the station on being the best in town! In other station news, KCUR just hosted an advance screening of Capturing The Friedmans, allowing listeners to sign up for tickets to the documentary film through its Web site. • WFMU/Jersey City has a full summer of special programming planned; upcoming programs include Ted Leo And The Pharmacists on the "Cherry Blossom Clinic" with Terre T., two former Talking Heads — Chris Frantz and Tina Weymouth — joining "Jonesville Station," pop punk Water." Also in the coming weeks, Steve Wynn will drop by "Three Chord Monte," Frog Eyes will make an appearance and WFMU will also re-air a much talked about visit from Daniel Johnston, recorded in 1990. Cruise over to www.wfmu.org to check out the station's current programming calendar and to tune in. • Speaking of Internet broadcasts, WERS/Boston should be streaming again very soon. In the meantime, the Beantown station, along with Boston Mayor Thomas Menino and indie Hip-Hop label Inebriated Rhythm, just presented the first annual Hip-Hop Peace And Unity Fest, with KRS-ONE, Big Daddy Kane, Skillz, Edo G and more, at City Hall Plaza on July 19. In other station news, a WERS live recording of "Angelina" by Crooked Fingers has made its way onto the Merge Records compilation, Survive And Advance, Volume 3. In addition, 15 additional minutes of material recorded live at the station will be used on an upcoming Portastatic EP. • WREK/Atlanta's Live At WREK CD arrived this week and we were instantly impressed. Not only are the selections, quality and history of the recordings top notch, but the packaging is collection, the disc offers as much diversity, by design, as the station itself. Roy Dunn's beautiful performance of "Vacation In Heaven" would have been our favorite cut on the disc, but the recording of the Minutemen's "Political Nightmare," a bittersweet snapshot of the band from Nov. 30, Crack. And, in a pretty cool gesture, the station is selling the CD at cost, in honor of the bands that have performed and the station's longstanding non-commercial spirit. If you'd like to sample full versions of the disc's selections, head over to www.wrek.org — and then order one!

CMJ CORE ESSENTIAL

CLUB 8

Strangely Beautiful (Hidden Agenda-Parasol) Club 8's Strangely Beautiful is the Swedish duo's third album released Stateside, but its fifth overall. A kind of dream-pop take on the same wistful atmospherics indulged in by the Cardigans at their most mellow, the band's music soars on the honey-coated vocals of singer Karolina Komstedt, backed by the quiet guitars, strings, synths and electronic flourishes of musician Johan Angergard. At times, it gets downright ethereal, as on the achingly lovely "Cold Hearts" and "We Move In Silence," while vocals from Angergard add a more fractured sound on "This Is The Morning," as well as driving the wild dance-pop divergence of "Saturday Night Engine." This really is beautiful stuff, which explains its steady rise up the Core Chart since its debut four weeks ago at No. 50. KSJS, WERU, KDVS and WMBR are among the stations that realize there's nothing strange about its continued presence in the Top 20. — Doug Levy

Station Philosophy/ Audience Perception:

CFRC is a campus and community station that provides an environment in which Queen's students and Kingston community members work together to deliver quality alternative radio programming. We represent a wide range of ethnic and social backgrounds, and our programmers are active in many programming areas, including news, sports, music, production, and promotions.

Slogan/Position Statement:
 "CFRC 101.9 — Your campus, your community, your station!"

How does the station differentiate itself from others in the market?

CFRC's mandate is to present different genres and styles of music, plus multi-lingual programming, which is an alternative to the available Kingston radio market. We interact with members of the local music/arts scene, and we offer no pre-determined, demographically oriented playlists.

Outside of campus, is the station actively involved with the local community? How?

CFRC is an active sponsor of such vibrant events as the "Limestone City Blues Festival," the "Beethoven Run," various Kingston Jazz Society concerts, raves, and the local promotion of rock, classical and performance art shows.

How is the station promoted?

We have station advertisements in local journals, the Community Volunteer Bureau, and the Canadian Forces Base directory, and we have tons of fun doing sidewalk sales and club-night events during Frosh Week at Queen's.

What type of image does the station project on the air?

We are unpolished, unpretentious, alternatively edgy, laid-back, charmingly amateurish, and aspiring to be professional. We convey an atmosphere where enough freedom exists to allow surprises to happen. Antidissestablishmentarianism!

News/Sports Programming Commitment:

CFRC's dedicated award-winning sports programmers cover a large percentage of Queen's hockey, rugby and football games. CFRC also boasts a weekly call-in wrestling talk show! Our news programming also covers a large array: "Blues 'N' News," military and Aboriginal news and social justice issues. We also have news programming in French, Portuguese, Mandarin and Spanish.

Does the station do any music or audience research?

The Queen's University Alma Mater Society reports Web site statistics and the Queen's University Marketing Association surveys listeners.

Ties To Local Music Scene:

CFRC interviews many local Kingston musicians and artists. We also boast programmers who are founding members of Kingston Punk Productions, Kingston Guitar Show, local rave companies, and members of many local bands, from rock to Jazz to experimental.

Station Benchmarks:

Jim "JB" Birtch ("Strictly '70s and '80s"), and Wayne Vermette ("Kingston To Kingston" and "Blues Project") have been with us at the Big 'RC for over 20 years!

Also of interest:

CFRC is the oldest campus station in Canada; we are over 80 years old! Our first broadcast was the coverage of a rugby game in 1922 (CFRC stands for Canada's Famous Rugby Champions). CFRC also has the second oldest continuously running transmission service in the world — only Marconi's transatlantic signal is older. We've had the same signal since our founding.

ARTIST SPOTLIGHT

THE REVOLUTION SMILE

Lurking somewhere behind the darkness of a Deftones riff, while simultaneously barreling down a mountain of Foo Fighters drums (circa The Color And The Shape) and echoing the cold vocal delivery of Local H's Scott Lucas, you'll find the Revolution Smile's Above The Noise. A straightforward rock record that's miles away from nü-metal and bereft of any pop and/or punk, it simply sounds huge. Headed by frontman-come-lately Shaun Lopez (former guitarist of the criminally underrated Far), the Revolution Smile released its first EP, At War With Plastic, three years ago, but it took until now to see the release of this stunning full-length debut. (Although, if you were lucky enough to get a copy of last year's unreleased Buddyhead Records offering, We Are In This Alone, then you've already heard 11 of Above The Noise's 13 tracks.) The band is currently touring on the second stage at Ozzfest, where CMJ caught up with Lopez in the middle of an extremely loud catering room; above the noise, he talked about the David Sardy-produced somewhat-new album, his role as a singer, and his feelings about his former band.

How's Ozzfest going?

It's been really good so far. Honestly, I wasn't that excited for the tour. I thought that because we were one of the few bands on the side stage that's not balls-out metal, that the crowds would be a little mean. But I think, in some ways, they've been more open-minded than some of the other crowds we've played to. It's been a really good experience.

What was your model for the band?

When we started, our sound was a lot more pop, because I had to keep the guitar playing simple in order to be able to sing at the same time. Over time, I got more comfortable with it and the sound slowly got heavier. After our first drummer — who was on At War With Plastic — left and Jeremy [White] joined the band, things got even heavier. Jeremy is more of a rock drummer, so it definitely influenced the writing a little bit. I also wanted to bring more of the guitar playing back into the music. The early songs that I wrote were boring. Maybe a lot of that had to do with what I was listening to at the time. I was listening to a lot of Britpop. Oasis and Blur, stuff like that — which I still love and enjoy quite a bit.

If you had to steal from one other band, who would it be?

I've actually tried to steal from Oasis, but I can't do it. Sometimes I wish I could sing like that, but it's just not me. I like the overall vibe of them. I really dig Liam [Gallagher's] voice. I love the raspy-ness, and it's so melodic.

How much do you think your own singing has progressed since At War With Plastic?

Tons. My voice is a lot stronger now. I'm not as afraid as I was when I did the vocals on that. Sometimes that could be a good thing. There is definitely something cool about when you're first learning how to sing, or even when a band is first learning how to be a band — even if it's sloppy it can still have a cool loose vibe.

What are some of your favorite moments on Above The Noise?

I think "Gun" is really cool. The vocals were recorded in my bedroom. I had recorded everything for the demo of "Gun" in my bedroom, and when we went into the studio, we were going to rework it. I actually cut the vocals in the studio, and we just couldn't get the same vibe. When I originally did vocals for that song, it was probably 2:30 in the morning. I was really tired. I had a few drinks — the vibe was just there. Sometimes you can spend all the money in the world in a fancy studio and you'll just never get the same vibe that you'll get wherever your favorite spot to record is. And it's just kind of cool to have something on your major label record that was recorded in your bedroom.

Any other favorites?

"The Ride Of Los Angeles" is really cool, because it's probably the newest song on there. It's a song that Sardy really helped out on. He didn't write anything, but the chorus for the song was originally the bridge. He heard the bridge, and he was like, "That's your chorus." So we reworked it, and all of a sudden, it's a brand new song. It's cool to be comfortable enough as a band to accept outside ideas from a producer. It definitely takes working with a producer that you trust. I have always been a huge fan of David Sardy's production and his records. He's done Slayer records, but then he did the Dandy Warhols. He's all over the map.

"The positive thing is that we made great music, and it influenced a lot of bands and people. But as far as being in Far, the last year or two felt more like being in a corporation than a band." — The Revolution Smile's Shaun Lopez

What about your time in Far? Do you see it as a positive thing?

The positive thing is that we made great music, and it influenced a lot of bands and people. But as far as being in Far, the last year or two felt more like being in a corporation than a band. I definitely see the differences now, being with three other people that I consider my really good friends. In Far, it's not like we were enemies, but it was more like we were coming together to make music, and not like, "Hey, we're friends and we're in a band."

So, what's a revolution smile and when's the best time to flash one?

I just came up with that. It doesn't have any real deep meaning to me. I like the sound of it. I thought the sound of the name fit the sound of the band. It's two words that are in two different worlds. That's kind of where the band is. We're not just one-dimensional. After the fact, I did a Yahoo search for Revolution Smile and I kept getting all these results for The Who. One of the lyrics to "Won't Get Fooled Again" is "Take a bow for the new revolution," and then the next line starts with smile: "Smile and grin at the change all around." It's kind of weird. Some people might think that's how I got the name.

CIRCLE OF LIFE: "Yes, Paul, one day this will all be yours," says a glowing Karsh Kale, backstage with Paul Oakenfold at the Hollywood Bowl, where both artists performed for KCRW's World Festival 2003 Presents "World Beat." Oakenfold's eyes lit up with joy as he responded, "Really? You mean the entire cheese plate?"

SUITS YOU, SIRSI!: The whole Syndicate staff sent us this picture from Syn-staffer Tracey's recent wedding gala as proof that they occasionally do wear something other than jeans and t-shirts. But the reason that half of them are looking off-camera is because the guys they beat up for their suits have finally tracked them down. Congrats Tracey!

BOOZE 'N' PORN: The New Pornographers' Carl Newman (right) asks WNRN's Mike Nichols if it had really been necessary for the DJ to spill his entire beer down his shirt before posing for this photo at the Black Cat in Washington D.C. "Yes," smiled Nichols, patting him on the back. "Yes it was."

WE WILL ROCK YOU: What is it with indie promoters and karaoke? Researchers have studied the connection for decades, but no one has ever been able to explain it. (Left to right) Planetary's Jared Widjeskog, Douglas Blake, Brooke Black, friend Katie Dennis, Planetary's Steve Theo and Justin Nardin get ready to rock.

The inimitable Burnt By The Sun has named its new album The Perfect Is The Enemy Of The Good. The disc will be out later this year, and will feature songs titled "Abril Los Ojos," "Washington Tube Steak Battleship," "Forlani," "180 Proof," "Arrival Of Niburu," "Patient 957," "2012," "Spinner Dunn," "Pentagons And Pentagrams" and "Rev 101." • The Dillinger Escape Plan has recorded a song called "Baby's First Coffin" for the soundtrack to the upcoming film Underworld, to be released by Lakeshore Motion Pictures. It's the first original recording to feature not-so-new singer Greg Puciato. • Katatonía has cancelled all summer tour appearances. No further information is available at this time, but the band is not breaking up — or so it says. • Labrat, which recently released its Century Media debut, Ruining It For Everyone, has axed vocalists

Williams III, The Best Of Life Of Agony (liner notes author to be determined), The Best Of King Diamond (liner notes by ex-Megadeth bassist Dave Ellefson), The Best Of Mercyful Fate (liner notes by Chimaira frontman Mark Hunter), The Best Of Malevolent Creation (liner notes by CKY's Deron Miller), and The Best Of Madball (liner notes by Hatebreed's Jamey Jasta and Agnostic Frontman Roger Miret). For complete track listings and more info on all these little nuggets, head over to www.roadrunnerrecords.com. • Taproot remains in the studio, hard at work on the follow-up to last year's successful Welcome. • Cage's Darker Than Black (Fugitive Records) is being serviced to the Loud Rock panel via Blue Viking Promotions. It's power metal, featuring Halford's Roy Z, on guitar for two tracks. If you want to beef up your show with more steel, just contact Bill Larson at 818.768.2454, or email him at blueviking@earthlink.net. •

Rumors persist that Stereomud has broken up, due to lackluster sales of its sophomore effort for Columbia, Every Given Moment. • Ozzy has cancelled two Ozzfest appearances (July 9 in Maysville, California and July 12 in Auburn, Washington), citing laryngitis as the reason. Attendees who showed up solely for Ozzy were offered refunds at both dates, but only a few dozen concertgoers actually asked for their money back. • Earache has signed Akercocke, the so-evil-your-blood-will-freeze black metal band from the U.K. The track listing for the band's label debut, Choronzon, is as follows: "Scapegoat," "Praise The Name Of Satan," "Bathykolpian Avatar," "Becoming the Adversary," "Leviathan," "Entering The Valley Of The Crucified," "Enraptured By Evil," "Prince Of The East" and "Son Of The Morning." Fuckin' evil to the core. In other Earache news, the label has also signed the Chasm. • Morbid Angel has changed the title of its upcoming new album from H2K3 to Heretic. And no, David Vincent is not returning to the band. •

Snapcase will release a collection of B-sides, demos and rarities through Victory later this year. • Relapse has signed Sweden's Burst and will release the band's Prey On Life this September. Check out www.burst.nu for more info.

LOUD ROCK Q&A... HATEBREED'S JAMEY JASTA

You might be surprised to know that Hatebreed frontman and Headbanger's Ball host Jamey Jasta gets up at 8 a.m. Between recording a new Hatebreed album (due in October) and introducing videos, Jasta's pretty busy these days, but CMJ still managed to catch up with this scene presence to get some juice.

It was nearly five years between your last two albums, but it's only been a year-and-a-half between Perseverance and this new one...

It was always hard to get in the studio because of all the touring. Personally, I want to drop an album a year. We could drop two CDs a year, actually.

It's those short songs!

We want to release a lot of records. We don't want to be a band for a decade and only have three albums. This album is going to be what we sound like live.

Can you give us some details about it?

There are 15 songs. We re-recorded "Severed." There's no title right now. We're playing "Tear It Down" and "Doomsayer" — that's the "Call For Blood" of this album. It's the Hatebreed that people like; we're not going to be fixing anything that isn't broken. The vocals are tougher, the guitars are louder, and [drummer] Matt [Byrne] went crazy like Dave Lombardo. Sean [Martin, guitar] plays a solo and has some rockin' leads on a couple of tracks.

So, how's the Headbanger's Ball gig?

Good. I didn't go into it thinking I'm going to change MTV, or be the voice of hardcore, or be the governor. I wanted to see how a TV show is made. It's another part of the industry I was interested in. I'm just there to introduce videos and interview bands. It's like any other job.

Madball

Jamie Farrell and Martin Ives in order to make room for the return of original frontman Rob McAuslan. • Singer Juha-Pekka Leppaluoto is exiting Poisonblack after the completion of the band's current European tour, so that he can focus on his other band, Charon. • Roadrunner Records will be releasing a series of "best of" comps from some of the best artists from the label's expansive metal past. Be on the lookout on Sept. 23 for The Best Of Deicide (with liner notes by Slipknot/Murderdolls maniac Joey Jordison), The Best Of Brujeria (liner notes by Superjoint Ritual bassist Hank

LOUD ROCK INDUSTRY NEWS

WKLQ/Grand Rapids, MI Loud Rock specialty show host Tom "The Wiz" Stavrou has stepped away from his metal hosting slot in order to concentrate more fully on his morning show duties. Don't fret, though — "Midnite Metal" remains strong, with new host Cristi Cantle taking over. Miss Cantle, an overnight jock at 'KLQ, can be reached at cristi.cantle@citcomm.com, so send her some metal welcome wishes. • The powers-that-be at Warner Bros. have granted Disturbed frontman David Draiman his own imprint label, Intoxication Records. Stay tuned for more details.

EXHUMED

Anatomy Is Destiny (Relapse)

Ever been lucky enough to attend an Exhumed gig? Here's a friendly lil' warning: bring a raincoat, because the band members actually puke their twisted, diseased guts up on stage while performing. It could be a disgusting shtick, but it could also just be the body's unavoidable physical reaction to playing music so taxing. Exhumed is literally (and figuratively) "gore" metal, fashioning what often looks like hacked-up slabs of raw meat for its album artwork, yanking sonic chapters from the book of Carcass, and vomiting out abhorrent, deliciously sick lyrics that could double as excerpts from an anatomy textbook written by psychotic morticians on a bad acid trip. The demented, often horrific lyrical passages are the perfect complement to the super-fast, menacing death metal riffs that are piled on top of the extreme guitar solos on Anatomy Is Destiny. "The Matter Of Splatter," "Consuming Impulse" (also the title of a killer Pestilence record) and "In The Name Of Gore" are all more sanguine and blood-stained than Leatherface's cutting room floor. Sick? Absolutely. That's why we love it.

EXTOL

Synergy (Century Media)

It's hard to believe that Synergy is Extol's third album. The Norwegian band, which recently graduated from Solid State to the Century Media roster, has plugged away in the extreme metal underground for half-a-dozen years, and possesses an unspoken dedication to keeping things as abrasive as humanly possible. Synergy is no exception to the Scandinavian quintet's rule — but it is a pleasing anomaly, as it's not quite metalcore, but it's not straightforward heavy metal, either. The intricate, complex guitar work on the disc is reminiscent of Opeth, while the male/female vocal dualism and overall sense of melancholy recall Orange County's Bleeding Through. That's some good company, so you know Extol's got the goods. "Paradigms" and "Blood Red Cover" get our vote for overseas metalcore anthems for the summer of 2003.

WITHERED EARTH

Of Which They Bleed (Olympic)

Don't get us wrong: Withered Earth's Of Which They Bleed spews poisonous, potent death metal from every pore. But where some death metal albums monotonously pound you into submission with blast beats and Cookie Monster vocals, this one chops and stabs along at a quickened pace, backed by gnashing, churning production. Try chewing on a piece of tin foil until you feel like the fillings in your mouth are conducting nuclear energy: that's about how brutal "cuts" like "Calculated To Create Terror" and "Only Weakness Is Inhuman" can be.

BENNY CARTER DIES AT 95

Jazz Radio has recently overflowed with the music of alto saxophonist, arranger, composer and Jazz legend Benny Carter, who died July 13. He was 95. Carter's death came after two weeks in the hospital with bronchitis and other health problems.

Bennett Lester Carter began playing professionally in New York City at age 15, making a name for himself in 1928 as a 21-year-old leader of his own band. Remarkably, he was mostly a self-taught musician on both saxophone and trumpet, but by the early '30s, Carter had provided band arrangements for no less than Duke Ellington, Fletcher Henderson, Chick Webb, Glenn Miller and Benny Goodman. He led his own big bands during this period, as well. After a stint working for the BBC in London (1936-38), he returned to the States to launch a new band, but after struggling for three years, he eventually abandoned it. He then moved permanently to Los Angeles, where he went on to work in film for 50 years while simultaneously playing in bands.

The saxophonist made a comeback as a player in the '70s, playing much the way he always had, while never boring other musicians or fans. He will probably be best remembered as a saxophonist, but perhaps Carter's ability as an arranger and his early work to popularize Jazz, blues and swing with non-blacks is where he made his greatest impact.

THAT'S DR. VON FREEMAN

Saxophone legend Von Freeman received an honorary PhD from Chicago's Northwestern University on June 20. The 81-year-old Windy City legend has been blowing his big wavering sound in the clubs for decades, and is known for leading hot jam sessions that attract young players. Freeman continues to play around town and record, and 2002's The Improvisor proved that he is still in top form. The degree was presented by Dr. Frederick L. Hemke, a world-renowned classical saxophonist and maker of Hemke Reeds. The following was read about Freeman as he received his degree:

"At age six, you broke the horn off your parents' Victrola to create a makeshift saxophone, and you've been making incredible music ever since. While other Chicago talents have sought fame and fortune elsewhere, you stayed in your hometown, believing it more important to become — in your words — 'famous within yourself.' Though you may never have taught in a classroom, you are one of the great Jazz teachers of our time, as mentor to generations of musicians."

TAWNY OWL ALBUMS REISSUED

Tawny Owl, a little-known but well-respected French Jazz label, has re-emerged, thanks to the Franco-friendly folks over at Sunnyside. Originally headed up by Jean-Jacques Pussiau, Tawny Owl covers a lot of interesting ground and, in turn, often gives voice to some great players. Sunnyside (sunnyside@attglobal.net; 212.564.4606) issued the first salvo of four albums from the label's catalog on July 29.

After Hours is a wonderful collaboration between pianist Mal Waldron and singer Jeanne Lee. Sadly, we recently lost both to cancer — Waldron in 2002 and Lee in 2000. Recorded in 1994, this duo set is a tour-de-force for both; Waldron is his typically top-flight accompanist self (he backed Lady Day during her final two years on terra firma) as he throws out skeletal chords and nuanced riffs. Lee's husky whisper is subtle, while managing to convey the entire dynamic range of emotion. Together, they take on a program that ranges from Ellington's "Caravan" to Cole Porter's "Every Time We Say Goodbye," with several Waldron songs also included, making for a highly recommended disc.

Another duo effort from the label is Lee Konitz and Michel Petrucciani's Toot Sweet. Recorded in 1982, this album is a free-ranging conversation that flows effortlessly. The pair radically reinvents "Round Midnight" by skirting around the melody without ever losing a sense of the tune. "I Hear Rhapsody" and "Lover Man" are just as potent, while the originals from each composer fit nicely as pieces of the whole.

Reedist Jimmy Giuffre first put together a trio with pianist Paul Bley and bassist Steve Swallow in 1961. The three posed a new theory in avant-garde, playing an introspective version of free improvisation. The trio made three albums together in the early days, but didn't record again until 1989's Saturday And Sunday. Then, in 1992 and now re-released, Fly Away Little Bird mixed a set of originals and standards, each played with the trio's signatory light touch.

Paul Bley and bassist Gary Peacock's Partners is the final shot in this first volley. Having played together since 1962, the two have traveled many musical paths together, playing with some of Jazz's greatest players. This 15-track album, featuring five duo and 10 solo pieces, was recorded in 1989. With the exception of Ornette Coleman's "Latin Genetics," all are originals. The solo pieces are fine for the most part, though Bley is a bit stronger as a soloist. However, it's the duo work here that is the meat-and-potatoes of the album. Be sure to check out the back-and-forth volleys on the 12-minute "Who's Who Is It?"

LEE KONITZ WITH ALAN BROADBENT

Live-Lee (Milestone)

After appearing on landmark recordings by Lennie Tristano, Miles Davis and Claude Thornhill in the late-1940s, alto saxophonist Lee Konitz certainly qualifies as a living legend. He's been a restless improviser ever since, playing with a soft nuanced phrasing that swings. While Alan Broadbent often spends his time arranging, he shows himself to be an adept pianist in the duo setting here, even adopting some interesting walking bass lines out of the Tristano bag of tricks for the occasion. Recorded live during a week-long run at L.A.'s Jazz Bakery, the two give each other plenty of room to solo and play unaccompanied, but they also have a nice cat-and-mouse dynamic where they sync up for a moment before going off in different directions, only for one to come back and pounce on the other. This chemistry is particularly strong on the Konitz tune "Gundula," but also works well on the standard "Sweet And Lovely" and Tristano's "317 East 32nd Street."

TERENCE BLANCHARD

Bounce (Blue Note)

Bouncing over to Blue Note after Columbia's shake-up a few years back, trumpeter Terence Blanchard returns with his latest offering, Bounce. Much has been made about the young new lineup, including hot African guitarist Lionel Loueke, but fans of 2000's Wandering Moon will still find much to like here. Bounce still has Blanchard's purrs, growls and soaring horn lines, but overall, the album is more upbeat, earthy and gritty than past work, refraining from diving so deeply into the ballads. There are a few curve balls here, as well: in addition to the two Wayne Shorter covers that can be found among the disc's nine songs, the African-influenced rhythms and vocals (by Loueke) on "Anzania" are a departure, and the loose Crescent City strut on "Bounce/Let's Go Off" ends the album on a nice light note.

STRYKER/SLAGLE BAND

The Stryker Slagle Band (Khaeon)

While guitarist Dave Stryker and saxophonist Steve Slagle have worked in each other's bands for 14 years, this is the first time they've taken the band they've co-led for six years into the studio. Stryker's lines are long and fluid and his sense of rhythm and accompaniment are spot-on. Slagle, on the other hand, tends towards sharp angular bursts with a tone similar to Ornette Coleman. The two leaders' styles are gelled into a cohesive whole, playing Jazz influenced by Caribbean and South American music. This is not exactly groundbreaking stuff, but certainly an enjoyable and skilled effort.

Former My Bloody Valentine leader Kevin Shields has contributed four new songs to the soundtrack to Sofia Coppola's new Focus Features film, Lost In Translation. In addition to Shields' first major offerings of original new music in more than a decade, the disc also features an exclusive track by Air, along with songs from Death In Vegas, Squarepusher and the Jesus And Mary Chain. Lost In Translation hits theaters in September. • It's shaping up to be a busy fall for Warp

Records, as the label will see the release of LFO's much anticipated return, Sheath, hitting stores on Sept. 22, and Luke Vibert's Warp debut, YosepH, dropping on Oct. 7. • Röyksopp has just released a limited edition 12-inch remix of Coldplay's massive single, "Clocks." • Tim Deluxe, the man responsible for last year's smash single, "It Just Won't Do," will release his debut album, The Little Ginger Club Kid, in September on Underwater Records. In the meantime, look out for Deluxe's latest single, "Less Talk, More Action," featuring the vocals of Terra Deva. • Bent's stellar new album, The Everlasting Blink, will finally be released in North America on Sept. 30, courtesy of Guidance Records. • Mute has re-released Paul van Dyk's excellent career-spanning Global collection in standard DVD Digipack configuration. This means that you'll be able to find the package in both the audio (standard version) and video (Digipack version) sections at your favorite retailer.

RPM Q&A: $\mu$ -ZIQ

$\mu$ -ZIQ (a.k.a. Mike Paradinas) has developed a worldwide legion of fans by exploring and reaching new and exciting depths of sound; scores of bedroom producers have been inspired to create using the British artist's music as a blueprint. When he's not making a racket as  $\mu$ -ZIQ or one of his other recording aliases (Kid Spatula, Jake Slazenger), or collaborating with Richard James (a.k.a. Aphex Twin) and Speedy J, he's handling the day-to-day operations of his excellent Planet  $\mu$  record label — home to his new CD, Bilious Paths. CMJ recently spoke with Paradinas about many things, the most intriguing being the likening of his Aphex Twin collaboration to viscous fecal matter.

Planet  $\mu$  is such an edgy label. What do you look for from an A&R standpoint?

Sometimes it's hard to quantify what makes a record good or bad. Sometimes you just don't want to explain and just want to say, "This is shit" to someone, even though, to them, it may be really good. It's a really personal thing, and I just release what I like. Luckily, people send vaguely electronic or experimental stuff. I do get sent trance and rock bands, but they haven't been very good.

Are you still recording under pseudonyms like Kid Spatula and Jake Slazenger?

I'm keeping the Kid Spatula name for smaller things, apart from  $\mu$ -ZIQ, which is more high profile. I think the public knows  $\mu$ -ZIQ more than the other ones, so if I want to do another small release, then I'll use Kid Spatula — which I think I'll do next year. I'm also using the name Rudolph Tinker for more abrasive stuff, like [Bilious Paths track] "Silk Ties."

What's the Kid Spatula release going to sound like?

It's going to be more melodic. I have a load of melodic tracks, and I'm trying to make a nice little easy-listening album.

How did your collaborations with Aphex Twin [Richard James] and Speedy J come about?

With Aphex, we were just hanging out in the studio and decided to do some stuff. We didn't really communicate or plan anything, we just started making tracks and it just came — the whole album... like diarrhea. You have diarrhea in the States, yeah?

Um, yeah.

Great. With Jochem Paap [Speedy J], he's a different personality to Richard. He's a little bit reserved, so we had a few beers and loosened things up. We tried to make a few kicking, hard tracks but that wasn't exciting either of us. So I thought of what I liked about his music, and then we sort of started to gel and we did some more ambient tracks. With Aphex, we didn't have to try; it was something that just happened. It was fun.

Who are some up-and-coming DJs or producers we should be on the lookout for?

The whole U.K. garage scene hasn't blown up yet in the States. You have Dizzee Rascal and a lot of the drum 'n' bass people doing garage, which is quite like drum 'n' bass used to be.

ESSENTIAL  $\mu$ -ZIQ:

Tango N' Vectif (Rephlex, 1993)

Bilious Paths adds July 29. See this week's Reviews section for more.

CLUE TO KALO

Come Here When You Sleepwalk (Mush)
This disc first arrived on our desks about six months ago, but despite being an excellent release, it pretty much fell by the wayside. Now, with a strong push into College Radio, Australia's Clue To Kalo (a.k.a. Mark Mitchell) will fortunately get the recognition it deserves. Come Here will immediately appeal to fans of IDM and downtempo electronica, and it's good enough to fit nicely in the artist stables of labels like Ninja Tune, Replex, Sunday Best or Warp. Mitchell produces gorgeous sounds that seem so simple and effortless that they could almost come from the mind of a child discovering a Fisher Price "My First Sampler" for the first time. Pleasing keys, thin drum beats and modest vocals flow against each other, all at the same audio level, with no instrument, appliance or sound taking command over any other. There's a wide appeal here, in that the music isn't too abrasive to scare anyone away, so even people typically afraid of the IDM tag have no excuse not to just relax and enjoy this treat from the outback.

AMON TOBIN

Verbal Remixes And Collaborations (Ninja Tune)

Amon Tobin produces music like no other artist, so interesting things start to happen when he gets his collaboration thing on. Collected here, "Untitled" (with Kid Koala) is an old time cinematic score with some slight Koala scratching underneath; "I'll Have The Waldorf Salad" (with Bonobo) is a dark and angry clashing of drums and stringy things; and "Hot Korean Moms" (with P-Love) sounds like filthy unclipped fingernails scratching against a blackboard. "Ten Piece Metric Wrench Set" (with Steinski) and "Ownage" (with Double Click), however, are the hardest and cling-clangiest of all these partnerships. Meanwhile, remixes of "Verbal," a track from Tobin's last full-length, Out From Out Where, come from Prefuse 73, who turns the original track into a glitch-hop scratchfest; Topo Giogio, whose offering sounds like something you'd hear strolling around Epcot Center; Kid 606, with an effort that comes across like "Verbal" clashing with Front 242's "Headhunter"; and Boom Bip, who brings it all back to Earth with some spacey chillout.

JOHANNES HEIL

20,000 Leagues Under The Skin (Kanzleramt)

Johannes Heil's latest CD has a ripened sound that will appeal to fans of vintage Orbital and Underworld — in fact, the similarities are so strong at times that it's almost scary. 20,000 Leagues is essentially one track that has been split up into numerous parts, ranging from deep house to techno and trip-hop, making for one common idea manifested in many different ways. Plus, Heil's bluish textures and contained beats make this the perfect music to warm up a crowd.

TOUR TIDBITS

World Leader Pretend (pictured) has a short-but-sweet outing scheduled, stretching from Aug. 1 at the House Of Blues in New Orleans to an Aug. 14 stop at Columbia, South Carolina's New Brookland Tavern. This brief tour, which includes a two-night stand in New York City (Aug. 6 at the Red Lion and Aug. 7 at Don Hill's), will introduce the quartet to the East Coast. World Leader is promoting its debut album, Fit For Faded, an electronically laced rock album bursting with lovely vocals and keyboard/bass/guitar interplay. Catch the boys now, as they will soon be returning to the studio; visit www.worldleaderpretend.com for a full tour itinerary.

Named in honor of her grandfather, Jessica Peters' musical persona, Petracovich, is on the road for a string of dates this August. A beautiful collection of trip-hop songs, Blue Cotton Skin was not only written and recorded by Peters, but also released on her own label, Red Button Records (www.redbuttonrecords.com). Combining acoustic guitar, chilling vocals, keyboards and laptop beats, the work speaks to fans of haunting melodies and dream-like phrasing. If you happen to reside in California or the Pacific Northwest, be sure not to miss the live experience, running from Aug. 1 (Hollywood) until Aug. 20 (Portland).

Straight out of Bloomington, Indiana come the Early Day Miners, an evolving collective of musicians that surely know how to sadden things up. Known for their mellow, sparse arrangements and ever-changing list of in-studio and onstage collaborators, the Miners are definitely a band you need to see. Catch the lads sharing stages with Unwed Sailor and Naysayer from Aug. 5–16, in support of their latest disc, Jefferson At Rest, recently released on Secretly Canadian.

HART OF THE MATTER

The truly killing joke: Music and writing about music are two completely different art forms, yet the schism dividing them is treated, by many of those who “perform” the latter, as a private, well-kept, secret divorce whose public face must show them living together under the same roof. But they don’t of course—music owns the home and the writer, for appearance’s sake, just pays rent.

No matter how many times you read lines about “walls of sound,” “crunching guitars” and “distinctive drum pummels,” you cannot get the picture without getting the picture. So I won’t try describing the upcoming self-titled Killing Joke album with words that will only reveal more about my own limited vocabulary than they ever could about the gut-wrenching rock-hard power of this new record (see, there I go). Let’s put it this way: August 5 is a marked day.

Most of you will be reading this column a week or so in advance of the “official” cover date listed on the hard-copy cover, which means you’re getting this in time to do something about it. On August 5, Jaz Coleman, Youth and Geordie return with hardcore Killing Joke fan Dave Grohl on drums to deliver something you must hear. Frankly, Killing Joke were only ever on the periphery of my musical taste back in the day, so for those who may remember past KJ with varying degrees of fondness or dispassion, you must hear what this is. Dave Grohl is not the story here.

It’s interesting, but how many records have we all heard that sport an old band with an interesting new lineup story? Too many, and most those albums are usually big disappointments. What makes KJ’s Grohl story any different? It’s because Dave isn’t the story. He’s just a story. Years ago, Nirvana had been accused of ripping off KJ when they recorded “Come As You Are”—a slowed-down version of KJ’s seminal track “Eighties.” Last year, Dave finally got to meet Jaz at a festival in Auckland, New Zealand. Hatchets were buried, Jaz joined the Foos on stage to perform “Requiem” and, when it was all over, Dave agreed to drum a track on KJ’s upcoming album. Gang Of Four man and KJ producer Andy Gill sent Dave a copy of the album’s songs set to drum machines. But the programming of the drums was not what you’d expect from most metronomed guide tracks—they didn’t all chug like a 4/4 train. It quickly became clear to Dave he wasn’t going to be able to just thrash about, he would have to step up and shine percussively on what was looking to be KJ’s best work to date. In short, he was inspired and, although several drummers were lined up to record different songs, Dave offered to do the whole thing. That’s where it landed.

And that’s the point of this record. Inspiring. More importantly, it’s the album that’s inspiring, not the story. Fortunately for us, Killing Joke (available through RED) doesn’t simply trade on its past or cameo line-ups. If you weren’t a fan before, you will be. Just put on track five when you get it (“Blood On Your Hands”), then track 7 (“You’ll Never Get To Me”)... and then every track before and after them.

For your those who were even mildly interested in Queens Of The Stone Age, Ministry or Motörhead, listen to this record. It’s a demand for self-confidence—you walk down the street with a longer gait, chest puffed, like there’s nothing you can’t do.

thing is... he used to be on one of the most popular kids' tv shows...in history

SPEAK OUT

Mike Felten

Owner

Record Emporium

Chicago, IL

People will still buy what is good.

Unfortunately, the record industry is clueless. The Capitol folks bought a window and a listening station from me. They hand-delivered the promo. I have an ISIS listening post.

Capitol wouldn't trust them to send the disc with the rest of the promo copies for that station this month. I never got the copy for the ISIS, so I put my copy in the ISIS post. I never played the disc in-store. If we could've wore out Kid A and Amnesiac with in-store play we would've. Do you think that I could've done better if I was actually playing the disc on my six-disc rotation? What kind of numbers could I have put up if Capitol wasn't so anal-retentive about their promos?

I got a call from Jim DeRogatis from the Sun-Times. They wanted a review of Metallica. He didn't have a promo. I didn't have a promo. Nobody could find a place to download it. I don't know if the review was ever written. What did I sell, 15 copies? And I never played that one in-store either.

I just spent a couple of days watching Harry Potter movies with my grandkids. They can recite the dialogue along with the film and they read all the books too. Who could have guessed that kids would be lined up to buy a book? Isn't literature dead in this fast-food age? You'd think Harry Potter was the Beatles.

If you can sell a book like this, we can sell a record. It ain't about price and it ain't about downloading. It is about how far one has their head stuck up their ass.

Notes	Experimental space-poptonica group releases their first proper full-length for electronic stalwarts Warp. Limited edition format features hardback book-style package with plenty of extra artwork. Limited to 2,000 for the entire U.S. Album posters (10"-by-24") will be available from distributor. Contact: david@warprecords.com .	Steve is acclaimed for his role as "Steve," on children's show Blue's Clues , but the quirky, lush indie-rock songs about science and love on Songs For Dustmites are candy made for adults. Teaming up with Pavlov-response-inducing producer Dave Fridmann (Flaming Lips, Mercury Rev) and members of the Flaming Lips, Steve is leaping from the Thinking Chair and into fuzzy, trippy indie-pop insanity.	Ex-dream-popper Brad Laner's first record as the Medicine man in eight years. Guitar overdrive replaced by synths galore. Contributions by Tigerbeat6 pal Kid606 and Joey Waronker, vocals by Shannon Lee (Bruce Lee's daughter!). Medicine recently included on The Faint's Danse Macabre Remixes album (Astralwerks). Sightings is speaker-vivisection punk-rock stepchild of deconstructionist "rock" outfits like Einstürzende Neubauten and Throbbing Gristle—a hypnotic, visceral iron maiden of sturm und clang! Perfect fun for new wave of kids eating up sound-shrapnel by Lightning Bolt, Black Dice or Wolf Eyes. Plus, guitarist is a retail vet—punching the clock at Kim's in NYC! Posters and promos available: contact ben@loadrecords.com .

On May 1, the most exciting thing to wash up on the beaches of Ocean City, Maryland was Fishnet Music. With a mere quarter-of-a-year under its belt, this baby store is already reaping the rewards of the advertising/marketing backgrounds of owners Heather Harris and Lisa Denshuick. “When Lisa and I were planning this, we really wanted it to be a place where you could hang out,” Heather says, “and it’s working. We’ve got regulars after three months.

“One of the most effective things we do is sell local artists’ albums,” Heather says. “We think in-stores are really important, especially because of the lack of all-ages venues in the area.”

What local press affects sales most?

The Beachcomber, which is a free tourist and entertainment weekly and Maryland’s Music Monthly, which we carry in the store.

What radio station affects sales most?

93.5, the Beach. They have a local music show that we expect a lot from.

Do you have in-stores?

We’re just putting our second one under our belt and we expect to do them regularly. The first was Bowman and last weekend we had Green To Think. So far both bands have brought their own PAs.

Lisa and Heather.

What is your most effective program?

The Fishnet Music Lover’s Club. Anyone can join it. Members buy 10 [new or used CDs or LPs] and get one free. It’s really simple and it keeps people coming back.

What other programs do you offer? Are any of them discretionary?

We use our E-mail list a lot and we have a free bin full of posters, stickers, samplers—anything we can give out to our customers they love.

What types of non-traditional promotions have worked best?

We sell tickets for some of the nearby venues, including the Bay Center in Dewey Beach, Delaware. We have also teamed up with another local venue, Mellow Beach, for cross-promotions. When we had Bowman play at the store, we also set up an evening gig for him at Mellow Beach. We promoted the show and they promoted the in-store, which was a really great opportunity for people to check Bowman out before they committed to spending money at Mellow Beach. It really paid off, the night show ended up having a really great turnout.

What display materials work best for you?

We have posters everywhere and they’re really the best for us.

What records are your current and all-time favorites?

Type O Negative’s Life Is Killing Me and Bauhaus’s The Sky’s Gone Out.

What’s the first record you bought and where?

I must have been about nine years old—I bought a 45 of the Oak Ridge Boys’ “Elvira” at a Woolworth’s.

What’s the best concert you’ve attended?

Nashville Pussy with Motörhead at the 9:30 Club. It was outrageous. It was the last tour Corey Parks was on with Nashville Pussy and someone got their head cracked open. It was a blast.

NEWSWORTHY

Dimple Gets Warped

The punkers wound down the pavement, its surface baked by the sweltering Sacramento heat; baggy jeans, shin-length shorts and studded belts anchored an armada of T-shirts to their sweaty flesh. After waiting in the lengthy line—three hours worth of people—it was too much. The girl sauntered up to the booth that the Dimple Records employees had been manning since 8:30 a.m., looked at her band of choice signing various objects, took off her shirt and laid her bare back down on the table. Hey, what else was Sum 41 supposed to sign?

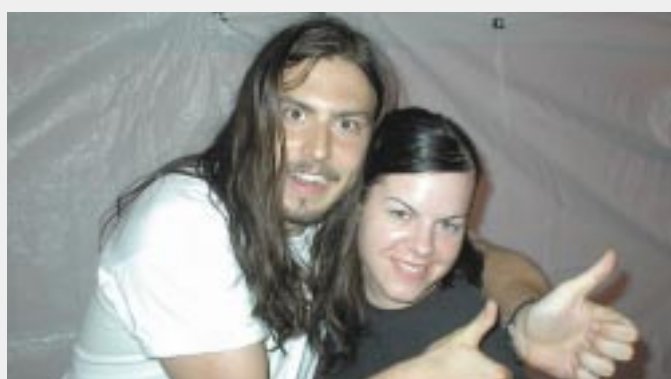

On July 13, the Warped Tour's cavalcade of punk legends, emo upstarts, indie-hoppers, motorcycle cages and all things loud 'n' fast descended on Sacramento's Sleep Train Amphitheatre. The folks at Epitaph approached Cali chain Dimple Records about setting up a booth, and Dimple stuffed their 10'-by-10' tent with enough freebies, CDs and artists to cause more than one near-riot. Artists like Sum 41, Thrice, Bowling For Soup, S.T.U.N, Authority Zero, Pipedown and Shortie all showed up to sign at the Dimple booth, but bands schmands, the real draw was free shit!

"The beginning was the craziest, before we started doing the signings," says Sara Martin, manager of the Folsom Dimple. "We put out a bunch of free stickers and posters and we got absolutely mobbed. We couldn't even get out of the booth because the kids were just going crazy. It was insane shoving and pushing, trying to get to the stickers."

"We just brought everything. Our magazine to give away, stickers, we used our own bags, we got all the labels to pitch in and send us tons of promotional stuff, samplers," says Dilyn Radakovitz, Dimple buyer. "Every single artist that was playing that day, we had some of their product to sell... When we found out the order the guys were gonna be playing, we went over to each group and said, 'OK, do you guys want to come sign at our booth?'"

Of all the bands that signed, forward-thinking melodic hardcore everydudes Thrice were a surprise hit and Sum 41 was an expected smash ("Sum 41 was the only ones who seemed kind of snotty," Sara says. "I think one of the Hilton Sisters is dating one of them, and she was being all, 'Hmnmf. I want to go. I want to go'").

But the biggest hit was the animal who brings the party wherever he goes. "I think everybody would agree that the guy who would win the Star Of The Hour was Andrew W.K.," Dilyn says. "It was unbelievable. When he came up to sign at the booth, there was a nice long line for him. He stood there and would sign each person's CD and he'd write a whole thing to each individual. He would stand there and have his picture taken with them. Every single person. It was taking a long time and he stood out there and he said, 'Hey you guys, I know it's hot out here and it's taking a long time, but I promise you. I will stand here and I will sign until you guys want me to quit. I will not leave until you're all signed.' And those kids just loved it. They freaked out for that. All the girls thought he was the best."

Andrew WK and Mary from the Sacramento Dimple.

CMJ RADIO 200 AIRPLAY

REPORTING DATES

July 18 - July 22

CMJ REPORTING HOURS

6 a.m. Friday - 2 p.m. Tuesday EST

www.cmj.com/reporting/

NOTE TO REPORTERS: Printed playlists reflect airplay reported to CMJ two weeks prior to the magazine's cover date. The number of station playlists printed each week in CMJ is randomly determined by available space.

CMJ REPORTING GUIDELINES

CMJ Airplay Reporters must submit reports weekly, via the online interface located at www.cmj.com, prior to 2 p.m. (ET) every Tuesday afternoon, abiding to the following guidelines:

- "Ads" are the new and current albums that a CMJ Airplay Reporter makes available for airplay and reasonably expects will receive airplay during the forthcoming week.
- Albums reported in a CMJ Airplay Reporter's Top 30 playlist must represent the 30 most played current albums on the station during the preceding week. Because we are a "new" music publication whose charts are album-based, reporting re-currents (or recordings more than a year old) or singles is not necessary.
- Airplay reports that do not correlate with actual airplay, also known as "paper adds," are not permitted under any circumstances.
- When CMJ cannot vouch for the accuracy of an artist and/or recording on a station's airplay report (we do so by investigating our own internal database, searching the Internet and/or consulting with online music retailers), the listing in question will remain in its position on the playlist — however, it will be preceded by an asterisk, as in *Beatles, to designate that it could not be verified at press time. CMJ will then utilize all available resources to verify the unverified listing either prior to the week's reporting close or before the next week's reporting period commences.
