EDITORIAL Welcome Back

A recent Cash Box survey has discovered that many of those who lost their jobs in the industry during the financial crisis of 1979-80 have returned to the scene as independent entrepreneurs. While a number of those laid off during that time have found jobs at other labels, and a number of others have left the industry entirely, those former label staffers who have used their creativity to carve another niche for themselves exemplify the kind of initiative that can make this business prosper again.

One of the most important factors behind the explosive growth of the industry in the '50s and '60s was the emergence of the independent businessman. Concurrent with the rise of rock 'n' roll, independent businessmen transformed the industry from a three-company monopoly presiding over a small market into the sprawling giant it is today.

Freed from the confines and limitations of corporate business decisions, independents give the industry the energy and creativity born of flexibility and freedom to exercise individual initiative. In addition, being independent, the entrepreneur tries harder because it is his business on the line, not some corporation's whose faraway headquarters only send out checks, memos, invoices and directives.

Cash Box welcomes those independents back to the industry. While it is unfortunate that jobs had to be lost in the first place, the industry has received much more in return when the spunk that drives Indies is considered. In so many ways, this is a people industry, dependent upon individual creativity and initiative. It's good to see those who love the industry enough to make a go of it as independents come back so strongly.

RCA Records Ups List Prices For Albums And Tapes

by Richard Imamura

LOS ANGELES — RCA Records will institute a flat $8.98 list price for all single-disc albums and their equivalent tapes, effective April 1. In addition, multi-disc LPs will increase from one to two dollars per set, depending on the current list price.

Multi-disc LP price hikes will see $9.98 product go to $11.98, $11.98 product go to $13.98, and $14.98 product go to $15.98. The $4.98 "Pure Gold" catalog series will be increased to $5.98.

The price hikes will apply to all product from RCA and its associated labels, with the exception of A&M and Pablo. Among the better-known labels included in the price hike will be RCA, Grunt, Millennium, Salsoul, Solar, 20th Century-Fox and Windsong.

The move by RCA makes it the third major in the weekly price hike standstill. The $8.98 list for frontline LP product, CBS, effective March 30, and PolyGram, effective April 1, have also made the move to $8.98 (Cash Box, March 7 and 14).

The list price hike will not be accompanied by any changes in RCA's returns policy, according to a company spokesman. The current policy allows a returns allowance of 22% of the average of the previous four months' gross billings.

Senator Renews Request For Data In Justice Probe

by Michael Martinez

LOS ANGELES — The newly-retrenched U.S. Justice Department, now under the direction of recently confirmed Attorney General William French Smith, has renewed its still ongoing probe into U.S. Sen. Strom Thurmond (R-S-C) who is seeking data connected with a scuttled Justice Department probe into alleged record industry price fixing.

Thurmond, who is minority leader of the Senate Antitrust Monopoly and Business Rights Subcommittee, two weeks ago sent a letter to the Justice Department's antitrust division renewing its request for the "fact memo" sent to the division by the Los Angeles field office, which recommended further action on an antitrust federal Grand Jury investigation of the record industry.

The senator, joined by subcommittee co-

Goody Prosecution Moves Forward Despite Vehement Defense Tactics

by Dan Nooger and Dave Schulp

NEW YORK — The prosecution in the Sam Goody counterfeit trial pressed ahead with the presentation of its case as defense attorneys for the retail chain, its president George Levy and vice president Sam Stolton sought at every turn to impugn the reliability of key government witnesses, and at one point sought to keep them from testifying at all.

Defense attorneys pointed out many instances of incomplete record keeping of witnesses' statements by the FBI and the Justice Department's Organized Crime Strike Force for New York's Eastern District, as well as inconsistencies in the testimony and signed statements of key government witnesses.

Testimony by FBI agents revealed instances of substantive changes occurring between their original notes and handwritten drafts and the final statements signed by the witnesses. Interim drafts contained changes and corrections were in some cases lost or misplaced despite both FBI regulations covering maintenance of evidence and the stipulation signed by prosecutor John Jacobs that provided that all notes containing facts on the case were to be turned over to the defendants.

On this basis, defense counsels sought to prevent convicted counterfeit cassette manufacturer Frank Carroll; middlemen Norton Verner, Spencer Pierce and Jeffrey Collins; and Long Island dealer Robert Scarnetti from testifying in the case. Chief Goody defense counsel Kenneth Holmes also cited two earlier Second Circuit Court of Appeals decisions in the cases of "Bufalino" and "Paoli," in which the Appeals Court ruled that "the government must bear the heavy burden of proving that such action (loss or destruction of notes and materials containing case facts) is not prejudicial to the defendants."

Evidence Destroyed?

Jacobs contended that the key question was whether such materials were deliberately destroyed, which he said was not the case. "Witnesses are being called who haven't made statements to the FBI, and all of the statements and pertinent notes have been turned over to the defendants prior to any testimony in the case." He also noted that there was no precedent decision requiring that some of the materials sought by the defense, such as notes of phone calls and do's notes

Postage Hikes, Strong Dollar Hamper Smaller Exporters

by Fred Goodman

NEW YORK — A 40-60% recent rise in the postal rate for international parcel post surface mail, combined with the strengthening of the American dollar in the international monetary market, has slowed business and widened the schism between large and small scale American exporters.

A Cash Box survey of New York-based companies found that, while many of the larger one-stops and exporters dealing exclusively with large accounts requiring freight forwarders were relatively unaffected by the postal change, smaller exporters dealing with individual customers and small businesses overseas have been hurt by the hike.

"The effect of the postal hike on us has been minimal," reported Vicky Dammer, traffic manager for Cardinal Export Corp. "We ship about 85% of our customers by air cargo."

"We don't do that much in the way of parcel post, so it hasn't really affected us," said Brian Fletcher of Stratford Distributing. "We might ship by priority mail to St. Thomas or Puerto Rico if it isn't a big order, but otherwise we use a freight forwarder."

Smaller Exporters Hurt

"It's definitely affecting us," reported Julius Benick of Town Hall Records One-Stop, Inc. "We do most of our business by air freight, but some of it by mail. It's too soon for the hike to have had an effect on sales, but as the customers get to know about it, I'm sure that it will. It's getting to where the cost of postage is almost the

ITA Workshops To Focus On Current Audio/Video Topics

by Michael Glynn

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. — An in-depth look at the future of home video, an analysis of the inter-relationship between audio and video, the presentation of several new Golden Videocassette awards and, for the first time, combined home and business audio/video workshop sessions are the highlights of the ITA's 11th annual seminar, currently under way here at the Diplomat Hotel.

Approximately 500 representatives of the manufacturing, supply, sales, packaging and production sectors of the audio, video and blank tape industries are expected to attend the four-day event, entitled "Audio/Video Update — 1981," which runs from March 15-18. John Chancellor, of NBC Nightly News, is the featured keynote speaker, opening the seminar with a welcoming address by Ed Khoury, president of Capitol Magnetics and International Tape/Disc Assn. (ITA) vice chairman, March 15. Opening session chairman Gordon Bricker, vice president of operations for RCA SelectaVision VideoDiscs, has also been scheduled to give a pre-kick off glimpse of its CED system and marketing campaign.

"This seminar is really an audio/video update in the truest sense," said ITA executive vice president Henry Brief, who touched on the role of ITA during the opening session. "We've consciously tried to broaden the boundaries between the business and home video markets through the combined sessions, which are a first for us, and we'll be emphasizing the links between audio and video in the workshops more than ever."

Brief noted that the broad range of audio and video industry interests that will be represented at this year's seminar will

same as the goods."

"It used to cost about 32 cents a record to postal rate to Europe, but now, it's about 70 cents," said Eltron Export's Werner Glaser of the hike that has seen the price of overseas parcel post jump from 59 cents per pound to $1.05 per pound, in most cases. "It's come to where it's actually no longer worthwhile to send parcel post. But some people still prefer it."

"The fact that there was no advance notice on the hike really caught us," said Taylor Storer, office manager of New Music Distribution Service, of the hike that went into effect last January 1. "We'll direct our stores in Europe, and except for one larger distributor who comes and takes a truckload once or twice a year, we've been doing almost all our business through parcel post. The cost is now almost prohibitive. We've been trying to consolidate orders and use freight forwarders, but you have to have at least 300 pieces. We'll probably be doing more and more consolidating because we're finding that some of our customers would rather wait 10 weeks and save two cents apiece on the records. The average box of 45-50 records used to cost us $25 to ship. Now it's $40 and more."

Aside from the cost of records, the postal increase has raised other expenses for exporters. "We send out a big mailing every week," said Ricardo Leon of Albert Schultz, Inc. "We service over 300 customers worldwide, and we're being forced to reduce our mailing list. There is too much

Ex-Label Staffers Gone Indie Relocate With 'Unique Success'

by Dave Schulps

from just a couple of years ago.

NEW YORK — The economy-related upheaval that has taken place in the music industry, during the past three years, has created a changing personnel picture at the major labels. While many of those who lost their jobs at one label have been able to resume their positions at another, and others, especially in the area of sales, have left the music business entirely, a growing number of former employees of the majors have opted to become independents, hoping to use their experience to create a niche for themselves within the business.

A Cash Box survey of over a dozen former employees of the majors who have chosen to start their own businesses indicated that while the going is almost never easy, there are two main avenues through which independent success can be achieved — the offering of a unique service, and the utilization of an indie's inherent flexibility to diversify into various sectors of the industry, especially to create alternate sources of income while getting an operation off the ground.

Those questioned in the survey came from varied job levels at the majors, from upper management on down, and most had considerable experience at one or more record companies. All agreed that their record company experiences had been invaluable in getting their solo operations off the ground, though sometimes as much for what it taught to avoid as for what they had actually done. Nearly all the businesses are in their infancies, and for most it's too early to assess their ultimate potential and viability. Still, the consensus seemed to be that there is money to be made in independent operations, which in itself constitutes a major change in thinking

RCA Showed Profit In '80 But Chairman Sees First Quarter Decline

NEW YORK — RCA's first quarter earnings will be down considerably from last year, according to Edgar H. Griffiths, chairman and chief executive officer of RCA.

In a statement released in conjunction with the publication of the company's annual report, Griffiths cited several reasons for the decline: heavy expenditures associated with the introduction of the SelectaVision VideoDisc System, an unfavorable sales climate in January and early February, increased programming costs affecting the NBC Television Network, and inclusion last year of an unusual $18.1 million gain from insurance proceeds on the Satcom III satellite.

One who has already had measurable success as an independent has been Roy Norman, who held product management, sales and marketing positions at Polydor and RCA. After being laid off by RCA in an economizing move two years ago, Norman started Music Marketing Systems Co., a consulting firm that offers across-the-board marketing, sales and promotion strategies to clients like Handshake and Unlimited Gold Records, as well as individual management companies. Norman's operation has been computerized — the only independent company currently offering such a complete range of services. In addition, Norman has also diversified his business to include an export operation.

"It's so devastating when you put your heart into a company and all of a sudden they take away your job," Norman said. "When it happened, I felt like I'd been repossessed. I started my own business out of a feeling that the industry was going to be in continuing economic trouble for the next few years, and I thought I'd better come up with a creative alternative to a job with the majors."

Ruth Carson has been another to parlay a working knowledge of the music business gained at a corporate level into success as an independent. Like Norman, Carson, who held product management positions at both CBS/Epic and MCA, has developed a company to offer diverse services. In addition to doing independent promotion and marketing consultation, Carson, who claims she was constantly frustrated with not being able to devote more individual attention to acts whose product she managed, has gone into artist management and represents Sharon Redd, formerly of the Harlettes, whose product she managed while at Epic.

'Dream Come True'

"It's like a dream come true for me," she said of her career as an independent. "I consider myself lucky to have had a job where I was at the center of the wheel in a major organization. I apply the knowledge I learned from CBS every single day, and it's been like a dream come true."

Jerry Love, who was east coast director of A&M, promotion, artist relations and publishing at A&M, before leaving six years ago to establish Love-Zager Prod., which has had chart success producing dance records, simultaneously started Sumac Music, a publishing company. According to Love, "We scraped for three years, then got hot just as everyone else was cutting back," but even now, "one company constantly PUSH — While in Los Angeles to introduce the 10th anniversary campaign planned for the Push for Excellence program, Rev. Jessie L. Jackson stopped into the offices at 20th Century-Fox Records to visit with some friends. Pictured are (l-r): Bunky Sheppard, vice president, and Neil Portnow, 20th president.

One of the great journeyman hard rock bands in popular music, Mercury recording group Rush has gained platinum status by being visible in the concert halls of the world nine months of the year. The incessant touring, coupled with the band's ability to refine its molten metal via techno rock, has brought the Canadian trio a steady following and strong support from the AOR community.

The band, composed of bassist/lead singer Gedy Lee, guitarist Alex Lifeson and drummer Neil Peart, has been making "Permanent Waves" on the North American music scene since its debut album in 1974. And after three Juno awards, four gold LPs and one platinum album, the hearty threesome is still growing stronger.

Formed by Lee and Lifeson in the late '60s, the band, which originally had another drummer, worked its way out of high schools and into the club and bar circuit of Toronto. When its first LP was completed in 1973, Rush and its managers (Ray Daniels and Vic Wilson) financed and independently released the work on its own Moon Records.

The 1974 release drew raves as an import in Cleveland and interest from ATI booking agency and Mercury Records, which signed the act post haste. Peart joined the band as drummer just prior to its initial tour of the U.S.

Eight albums ("Fly By Night," "Caresse Of Steel," "All The World's A Stage," "2112," "A Farewell To Kings," "Hemispheres," "Permanent Waves" and "Moving Pictures") have followed, and Rush has developed huge audiences in the U.S., England, Germany, the Balkan countries and, of course, its native Canada.

Ever since its breakthrough album in the U.S., 1976's "2112," the threesome had been experimenting with synthesizer and techno-rock techniques to embellish its granite-hard sound. "Permanent Waves" put the band over the top for AOR as the multi-layered "Spirit Of Radio" single was a 1980 FM staple.

The new "Moving Pictures" LP is simply another step forward for Rush in the area of state-of-the-art hard rock.

Caviano Forms New Label, Promo Firm

NEW YORK — Ray Caviano, president of RFC Records and former executive director of Warner Bros.' dance music department, has announced the establishment of the RFC Group of Companies. The RFC Group will function as a label, licensing product through established major manufacturers and independent distributors, and as a national promotion firm offering a mechanism for club and radio exposure primarily to new rock and R&B artists.

RFC Records' first production deal is with Atlantic Records, which will release albums by Change and Gino Soccio. Change's "Miracles" and Soccio's "Closer," bearing the RFC/Atlantic logo, will be released this spring.

In addition, the RFC Group will establish

Island Will Issue Controversial Tape Package In U.S.

by Dave Schulps

NEW YORK — Island Records will soon be introducing its controversial One Plus One cassettes in this country through its independently distributed Mango and Antilles lines. Island founder Chris Blackwell told Cash Box last week. Blackwell also said that he fully expects Island's U.S. distributor, Warner Bros., to eventually agree to let him issue the cassettes here, even though it has not as yet decided whether or not to handle the tapes.

In addition, Island U.K. scored a victory recently when EMI, which presses and distributes Island product there, and Virgin, which handles sales, rescinded their decision to "disown" the One Plus One tapes (Cash Box, March 7, 1981).

At the hub of the One Plus One controversy is the issue of whether the new format — an entire prerecorded LP on one side of a high quality chromium dioxide tape with the second side left blank for home taping (at a low $5.99 list price) — encourages an increase in home taping, which many record manufacturers see as dangerous to the future of the industry. Blackwell insisted that the format is, if anything, a deterrent to the growth of blank tape sales.

Not A Gimmick

"My enemy and the enemy of the people who are fighting me is the same," Blackwell said. "It's the people who sell blank cassettes. If we can cut into their market, then surely we're winning. My main thrust is that One Plus One is not a gimmick for Island Records, because I don't think people will run out and buy an Island artist just

NEW FACES TO WATCH

Franke & Junie The Knockouts

"When I listen to our sound," says Franke Previte, lead singer with Millennium recording group Franke & the Knockouts, "I think about people I listened to when I started to cross over from R&B to rock — people like the Raspals. They had songs you sang along to, they were melodic, and they had an R&B singer doing rock songs. I think that what we do starts with that same premise."

Franke's musical roots go back to a stint as the only white member of a cappella doo-wop quintet in his home town of New Brunswick, N.J. The group used to practice in a "train station where they had this great echo. Since that time, his career has alternated between rock and R&B-based efforts. As a member of Bull Angus', "heavy metal riff-rock band" that recorded two LPs for Mercury in the early '70s, Previte temporarily abandoned R&B entirely. "After I left," he recalls, "I realized that I could only sing at one volume — loud. If I tried to sing softly, only air would come out. I had started listening to people like Donny Hathaway and Stevie Wonder and hearing them do these things with their voices that I couldn't do. So I took singing lessons."

When he was able to recover his voice, he secured a deal as an R&B solo act, but got caught in the middle of financial problems at his record label and saw "at least an album's worth of material" he'd recorded go for naught.

After that experience, he slowly began to put together what would eventually become the Knockouts. "I was working on and off doing demos with Billy Elworthy, who'd been Bull Angus' guitarist at the end, and a band from Poughkeepsie, N.Y., and I asked them if they'd be my band if I got a deal."

"We took the tapes to Jimmy Inner and he loved the tunes but then said, 'O.K., let's hear some more.' Billy and I looked at each other and went, 'uh-oh,' because we thought those were our best and we really didn't have any more. Fortunately, Billy knew Blake Levinson — they'd both been working in Rosetta Stone's band — and Blake had some great songs. I think those songs clinched it for us." Soon after, Blake joined the Knockouts on keyboards.

Previte says the sound on the group's self-titled debut album was planned to be a "crossing of R&B and rock. Claude LeHenaf, the drummer, likes to play funky, but Leigh Fox, the bassist, is definitely a rocker. Of our two keyboard players, Blake is a rock, lay-it-down type of player, and Tommy Angus adds R&B-style coloring. Previte's vocals provide the final ingredient. It's the kind of soul-tinged rock singing that begs favorable comparison to Bad Company's Paul Rodgers."

"It took me a long time to find players with the kind of rapport to just go into a rehearsal studio and know what a song requires," Previte concludes. "And now that I've got that band, I'm ready to go back out on the road. For me, playing live is like riding a bicycle — once you learn to do it, you never forget how."

Junie

Walter "Junie" Morrison may be a new name to much of the record buying public but his experience in the music industry as writer, player and producer goes back over a decade and includes stints with the Ohio Players and P-Funk as well as earlier solo LPs. Under the aegis of his J.S. Theron Production company he has been responsible for projects ranging from Funkadelic sides to cuts by country singer Jim Kays.

Morrison, born in Dayton, Ohio, started playing gospel piano on church age five and quickly took to early rock 'n' roll. When he was 12 his family moved to Dayton, Tenn., where Morrison was influenced by the omnipresent sounds of country music. He played rock and country with various bands before moving back to Ohio in 1969 and joining the nascent Ohio Players, where as the youngest member he acquired the nickname "Junie." He played on all of their early records and was responsible for their first big hit, "Funky Worm." After leaving the group in 1973, Morrison cut three solo LPs for Westbound, developing his talents as a multi-instrumentalist and producer. He briefly led a touring band, but after a car wreck that laid him up for most of 1977, he joined the P-Funk mob and made his presence felt as writer of such Funkadelic hits as "Groove Allegiance," "One Nation Under A Groove" and "Cholly" and can be heard on cuts on Parliament's "Motor Boat Affair."

During this time he also took the first steps of forming J.S. Theron Productions as "an alter ego to project different ideas of my work. I can do almost any type of music and not be typecast as 'Junie' material." In 1980 Morrison signed with Columbia and released "Bread Alone," an intriguing mixture of funk, pop and a taste of country that was a critical, if not commercial success. Junie notes, "When you start with a new company you've got to make several thousand connections in the organization, and I think it took the time spent on that album to form good relationships with the company. I don't think the issue is over with that album and when people find out I've made earlier records, they will want to investigate them. I've found that being successful isn't being famous and having lots of money but basically being on an even keel through all the ups and downs of the business."

Junie's new album is called "5." "People might say it's a blacker sounding album than 'Bread,'" he says, "but to me it's more pop. I tried to make it a little slicker and tighten up the lyrics and phrasing. 'Rappin' About Rappin' is sort of a comment on rap records. They don't change context very much but I've noticed that people hang tight on them word for word so I thought I'd get in on some of that and inject a few new thoughts. The title cut, '5,' isn't a takeoff on the '10' craze, it's just that everybody has either been five or looked forward to being five." Junie played most of the rhythm tracks himself but the album also includes instrumental contributions from members of the Ohio Players and Shadow.

Junie's latest production projects are albums by backup singers Lynn Mabry and Teresa Alman.

SONGWRITER PROFILE

Charles Fox: Making The Move From Composer To Performer

by Mark Albert

LOS ANGELES — What do songs like "Killing Me Softly With His Song" and "I Got A Name," along with common features film scores like "21" and "Goodbye Columbus," as well as numerous theme songs and scores to popular TV shows like "Happy Days" and "Love Boat?"

What these works as well as dozens of other film and TV scores have in common is composer Charles Fox, whose compositions have earned him a Grammy Award for best song in 1973, and Emmy Awards for best song and score as well as five other academy, Golden Globe and Emmy Award nominations.

Fox recently added yet another dimension to his well documented career — performer — when his first single, "Seasons," was released on the Handshake Records label last December. In making the transition from composer to performer, Fox noted that he has always been a performer, having spent half his life behind a piano. "Actually, this isn't the first time that I recorded an album," Fox said, recalling earlier Latin/Salsa projects he worked on, "I but this represents the first time I've recorded my own material."

A second single, "Reflections," ships soon as well as an album that will be released outside the U.S. on RCA Records.

Fox, who is widely known for his musical compositions, could easily have chosen the standard writer-turned-performer approach of sitting down at the piano and recording his songs in the same style and manner that people are familiar with. Instead, along with co-producer Ed Newman, Fox strove to create an identity for himself as a performer rather than have people simply associate him with the compositions.

Establish Identity

"The single most important factor for me as an artist in recording this album," Fox explained, "was to do something different with my songs and establish my own identity on record. The actual recording process was a great opportunity for myself, as an artist, to explore various methods of doing something that I feel is different. "Killing Me Softly", for example, has to get the blank tape. I just think that if everyone were to follow this practice, people would buy whatever pre-recorded music they like, and get their blank tape for free."

Blackwell said that the idea for the One Plus One cassette occurred to him because in the course of his own work, he felt it more practical to have a whole album play through on one side of a cassette. "I'd ask to have a whole new record put on one side and, to avoid being piled up with cassettes, to have another whole album put on the other side."

He was also aware, he explained, that cassette hardware has been outselling phonographs by nearly the same 80/20 ratio that records outsell prerecorded cassettes. On that basis, he decided that consumers must be resisting the prerecorded cassettes because what they are being offered was low quality and high in price.

"People would like cassettes if they were supplied on an economical basis. If what they're offered is not a good value, they obviously will go take their own," he reasoned. "And by doing that, they become the biggest enemy of the business that we're in."

Negative Reaction

Unfortunately for Blackwell, industry

been covered so many times internationally by more than 1,000 artists that we wanted to conceptualize the song differently. After stating the theme in the beginning with a small rhythm section and light percussion, it flows into an impressionistic classical sounding piece reminiscent of Debussy."

While the recording process was a gratifying one for Fox, he has no immediate plans for touring. "When I made the commitment to record, I was going to perform if it were deemed necessary," he said. "I

Nominees Named For 16th Annual 'Hat' Awards Show

LOS ANGELES — Larry Gatlin, Don Meredith and Tammy Wynette are set to serve as co-hosts for the upcoming 16th annual Academy Of Country Music (ACM) "Hat" Awards, airing live differently at the Auditorium in Los Angeles, Calif., on NBC-TV, April 30.

Final ballots, with the names of the Top Five nominees in 11 categories were mailed to the Academy's 2,195 members March 18. All ballots should be returned to the Sherman Oaks, Calif. accounting firm of Dwight V. Call by April 16.

Prior to the telecast, the winners of the nine instrumentalist/band categories will be announced. Additionally, awards for the Radio Station of the Year, the Disc Jockey reaction to the One Plus One idea has mostly been negative. The British Phonographic Industry (BPI), of which EMI and Virgin are members, pressured retailers not to stock the One Plus One cassettes, which caused a major British retail chain, Boots, to postpone stocking the tapes. Like EMI and Virgin, though, Boots eventually decided in favor of Island.

Blackwell also told of resistance from two distributors he initially approached with the One Plus One idea. At the time, he had hoped to sell the idea in return for a royalty. "Warner Bros. (U.S.) told me that they were close to an invention that would make it impossible to tape recorded music by scrambling the signal, so they weren't interested. Phonogram Europe told me they found the concept intriguing, but were concerned that people buy so much music per year, and if they are able to get that much more for free they'll buy that much less volume. "They may well be right," he conceded. "Because the concept of looking at records by weights and measures is foreign to me, I don't know how to answer that."

Although there has been no official reaction to the One Plus One concept from the Recording Industry Assn. of America (RIAA), Blackwell felt that fear of provoking a negative response from the rest of the

NEW AND DEVELOPING ARTISTS

NEW AND DEVELOPING ARTISTS

JOHN O'BANION (Elektra E-47125)
Love You Like I Never Loved Before (3:20) (Sixty-Ninth Street Music — BMI) (R. Zito, J. Carbone, K. Pinto) (Producers: J. Carbone, R. Zito)

Every so often, an act comes out of the blue with a sound that radio will find hard to resist. This week, that artist is John O'Banion, whose first effort falls right in the pop mainstream. Comparisons to Pablo Cruise, Toto, a touch of Hall & Oates... it's all here, and more.

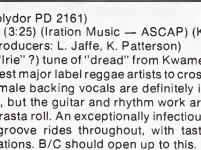

MICHAEL WYCOFF (RCA PB-12179)
One Alone (3:56) (Crystalane Music/Blue Sky Rider Songs/Irving Music Inc. — BMI) (M. Wycoff, W. Jennings) (Producer: S. Tyrell)

After gaining Top 40 on the B/C Singles chart with his debut song, Wycoff encores with the assistance of full-vocisted Merry Clayton on an R&B powerhouse. A multi-layered vocal mix adds to the impact, with a smooth, but not sugary, string section. A sleeper any way you see it.

CARL WILSON (Caribou ZS6 01049)
Hold Me (3:30) (Murray Gage Music/Shilling Music — ASCAP) (C. Wilson, M. Smith) (Producer: J.W. Guercio)

The torch rocker in Beach Boy Carl Wilson comes out in this solo debut, as he engages in a passionate duet with Myrta Smith, a former member of the Sweet Inspirations. The instrumental attack is based on a simple, non-nonsense and ultimately effective 4/4 beat, lead by a heavy kick drum. Punchy pop/rock for AOR and pop.

BILL MEDLEY (Liberty 1402)
Don't Know Much (3:07) (ATV Music Corp./Mann and Weill Songs, Inc./BrainTree Music/Snow Music — BMI) (C. Weill, B. Mann, T. Snow) (Producer: M. Lloyd)

Former Righteous Brother Medley goes right for the upper demo females with his sensitive baritone and his affecting love ballad. Delivered in a world weary rasp, this is in the Kenny Rogers MOR mold.

TOM SCOTT (Posse POS 5009)
Go! 'Em Where You Want 'Em (3:33) (Gold Horizon Music Corp. — BMI) (T. Scott) (Producer: T. Scott)

Saxman Scott blows in a sultry wind on this mellifluous and slightly funky little instrumental from the original soundtrack to the Pryor-Wilder comedy hit film Sizz Crazy. Like the Brecker Brothers, this could be in the jazz or B/C radio groove.

RICK JAMES (Gordy G 7197F1)
Give It To Me Baby (3:48) (Jobete Music Co., Inc./Stone City Music Co. — ASCAP) (R. James) (Producer: R. James)

"He smoked you out with 'Mary Jane,' he shot you with his 'Love Gun,' now he gives it to you with another grinding funkier, heavy on the horns. From his collection of 'Street Songs,' this'll wear out a few shoes as fast as B/C radio jumps on it.

CON FUNK SHUN (Mercury 76099)
Lady's Wild (3:28) (Val-He-Joe Music/Felstar Music — BMI) (M. Cooper, F. Pilate, G. Jackson) (Producer: Con Funk Shun)

One of the last Memphis horn bands from the Stax fold, Con Funk Shun continues to turn out romping yet polished R&B like its last Top 10 B/C hit, "Too Tight." The band "turns on the party lights" once again here on this dance spree for B/C.

CREDENCE CLEARWATER REVIVAL (Fantasy 908)
Tombstone Shadow (4:05) (Jondora Music — BMI) (J.C. Fogerty) (Producer: not listed)

One of the late, great CCR's minor classics, this tune about a fortune teller oozes with earthy rock R&B and John Fogerty's gritty southern fried vocals. Superb live material from one of the great American rock bands.

JIM PHOTOGLO (20th Century-Fox TC-2487)
Fool In Love With You (3:30) (20th Century Music Corp./Neartunes Pub. Co. — ASCAP/Fox Fanfare Music/Neartunes Publishing, Inc. — BMI) (Neary, Photoglo) (Producer: B. Neary)

After an auspicious start last year with the Top 50 success of "We Were Meant To Be Lovers," L.A. singer/songwriter Photoglo teams up once again with producer/co-writer/friend Brian Neary.

RICK SPRINGFIELD (RCA PB-12201)

Jessie's Girl (3:14) (Portal Music/Muscleman Music-BMI) (R. Springfield) (Producer: K. Olsen)

Springfield winds up for the second pitch with a tune radio forced out... and no wonder. Coming on like a blast of pop/rock power, "Jessie's Girl" packs a mean punch in its hook, as a throbbing bass line courses through the tune's veins and guitars rip around the smart drum work. A winner any way you look at it, this tune is dynamite for AOR and rock-oriented pop lists.

PAGES (Capitol 4985)
Come On Home (3:27) (Warner-Tamerlane Publishing Corp./Entente Music/Garden Rake Music — BMI) (Page, Gorge, Lang, Graydon) (Producer: B. Colomby)

Pages' last Epic LP, "Future Street," was a tasty menu of the band's diverse jazz/rock talents and its latest work appears to be focused more on the easy rock sound. Under the guidance of producer Bobby Colomby, Pages proves that there is room for craftsmanship in commercial music.

L'IL QUEENIE & THE PERCOLATORS (Tnangi LP-1981)

My Darlin' New Orleans (4:05) (Eris/Nevkat Music) (Cuccia, Neville, McLean) (Producer: F. Quintini)

A left field choice, this gumbo flavored cut from Leigh "L'il Queenie" Harris and her band, The Percolators, is a sizzling hot number that mixes the authentic New Orleans rhythms of the Wild Tchoupitoulas with a contemporary swing spirit.

Why Don't We Just Sleep On It Tonight (3:05) (ATV Music Corp./Welbeck Music Corp. — BMI/ASCAP) (J. Parker, H. Shannon) (Producer: G. Klein)

Those "dream lovers" are back on yet a more bouncy, uptempo duet, with a solid touch of funky country. The snappy rhythm and melody is bound to have a few fingers popping. A crossover item.

NAZARETH (A&M 2324)
Dressed To Kill (3:31) (Panache Music/Cirrolite Ltd./Sticropole Ltd. — ASCAP) (McCafferty, Agnew) (Producer: J. Baxter)

The Naz, with Jeff "Skunk" Baxter at the producer's helm, engage in a spirited barroom boogie on this track from "The Fool Circle" LP. A dense guitar and drum sound should drive this one onto hot rotation at many AOR stations.

CARLY SIMON (Warner Bros. WBS 49689)
Come Upstairs (4:14) (Quackenbush Publishing/Redeye Music Pub. Co. — ASCAP) (C. Simon) (Producer: M. Mainieri)

Simon sinks her teeth into the hot, passionate and slightly sinister title track from her current LP. The songstress' seductive chant has all the fire of a flamenco dance.

GAP BAND (Mercury 76101)
Yearning For Your Love (3:59) (Total Experience Music Publishing Co. — BMI) (R. Wilson, O. Scott) (Producer: L. Simmons)

This is unquestionably the year of the Gap. After snagging the #1 spot on the B/C charts with "Burn Rubber," the band shifts into a mid-tempo, E,W&F-styled groove that will surely establish it as a crossover act to be reckoned with.

PARLIAMENT (Casablanca NB 2330)
Crush It (3:50) (Rubber Band Music — BMI) (Bootsy, D. Spradley) (Producers: G. Clinton, B. Collins)

Slickery, dickery snap... the boasters are all at once again, as the cosmic dance continues with a visit from Sir Nose and Star Child. Look for this to follow "Agony of DeFeet" on the B/C charts.

Justice Dept. Probe

member Sen. Orrin Hatch (R-Utah), requested that former antitrust division chief Sanford Llivack supply them the data after Thurmond was told confidentially that the Carter administration was behind the closure, without any indictments, of the probe in 1979.

Thurmond and Hatch have maintained that the basis for the request is to see if the L.A. probe, which the congressman said used considerable time, money and manpower, was handled in a proper manner.

The Justice Department replied to the senators' request (Cash Box Dec. 20, 1980), but would not submit the data requested, citing Grand Jury Rule 6E. The federal rule is a provision that protects Grand Jury proceedings from review by all but Justice Department lawyers or upon court order.

A spokesman for the senator said that the request was renewed now because new Justice Department personnel are being established and because the lawyers in the New York-based Sam Goody counterfeit trial requested certain portions of the same data. Federal Judge Thomas C. Platt, who is hearing the case, ordered the Justice Department to turn the documents over to the defense attorneys after certain parts had been redacted (Cash Box, March 7).

Spokesmen for the senators indicated last December that before seeking court action to obtain the information, they would again request that the Justice Department cooperate with the congressmen's request.

Justice Department officials, however, said that the new administration would not change adherence to the Grand Jury rules and that a court order was the only legal way by which the senators could obtain the data.

A Justice Department official said last week that the department had received the senator's new request and would respond, although when the reply would come was still a question. Proposed antitrust chief William Baxter was unable to comment on the senator's request or the possibility of Thurmond obtaining the data without court action because at press time he had not been confirmed.

HITS OUT OF THE BOX

HITS OUT OF THE BOX

SUCKING IN THE SEVENTIES — The Rolling Stones — Rolling Stones Records COC 16028 — List: 8.98

This greatest hits of the 1970s is ample proof that Mick and the boys have aged well. There's dance ("Hot Stuff," "If I Was A Dancer"), blues ("Mannish Boy"), soul ("Fool To Cry") and good old dirty rock 'n' roll ("Shattered," "When The Whip Comes Down") — illustrating again that the Stones are the pop band for all seasons. This should have been a two-disc compilation, but "Sucking" has all of the car-radio classics. They're a little more regged than they were in the '60s, but Lear Jet and all, the Stones are still as brash and rebellious as ever.

OHIO PLAYERS

TENDERNESS — Ohio Players — Boardwalk FW 37090 — Producer: Leroy "Sugar" Bonner — List: 8.98 — Bar Coded

The Players debut for Boardwalk still has that funky dance-oriented sound of earlier works like "Skin Tight" and "Fire," but the sound has been refined to match '80s tastes. Those jumpin' rhythms and hot horn blasts are still in evidence, but songs such as "Boardwalkin'" and a pulsating treatment of "Sitting On The Dock Of The Bay" have a glossy techno funk edge that should please B/C and pop audiences. Top track on this slick as a whistle LP is the sensual ballad called "It Takes A While."

THE DUDE — Quincy Jones — A&M SP-3721 — Producer: Quincy Jones — List: 8.98 — Bar Coded

The studio wunderkind is on the loose on wax again, and it's his usual classy affair. The album is Jones' essay on the state of contemporary black music, as he struts through light funk, silky ballads, straight ahead R&B and progressive B/C numbers. Collaborations with Zingara lead singer James Ingram, Rod Temperton and Patti Austin come off winningly. Top tracks on this flawless B/C pop effort are the funkified title track, the spirited "Ai No Corrida" and "Just Once."

SPINNERS

LABOR OF LOVE — The Spinners — Atlantic SD 16032 — Producer: Michael Zager — List: 8.98

The Rubber Band men are back with style on "Labor Of Love." The Spinners/Michael Zager team that worked so well on "Cupid" last time out is happening with a percussive vengeance on its latest effort. The five some seems to favor the melody as a single release, and this time it's picked a honey in "Yesterday Once More/Nothing Remains The Same." Zager's inventive production style keeps the band's sound modern, without straying too far from traditional R&B/funk roots. This classic stand up soul band proves it still has as much muscle as in the "Mighty Love" Days.

FEATURE PICKS

ROCK AWAY — Phoebe Snow — Mirage WTG 19297 — Producer: Greg Ladanyi and Richie Cannata — List: 7.98

Snow makes a brilliant comeback with this sophisticated folk rock-styled LP. Players like the Section, David Landau and producer Greg Ladanyi give Snow more the style of a hard rocking Warren Zevon than the jazz/pop stylist we know her for. Rich in texture and lyric content, Snow is in fine fettle on "Rockaway." For pop and AOR.

SEVEN YEAR ACHE — Rosanne Cash — Columbia JC 36965 — Producer: Rodney Crowell — List: 7.98 — Bar Coded

She's a little bit country and a little bit rock 'n' roll, and that spells hot crossover property for Rosanne Cash. Cash's husband, Rodney Crowell, puts that old hollow rockabilly edge on Rosanne's voice that is perfect for country-tinged rock. Her vocals on songs like Steve Forbert's "What Kinda Girl?" and Tom Petty's "Hometown Blues," are irresistible. A crossover smash for Cash.

RADIO ACTIVE — Pat Travers — Polygram PD-1-6313 — Producers: Dennis Mackay and Pat Travers — List: 8.98

Mr. "Boom Boom (Out Goes The Lights)" is back with another hot serving of his blues-edged heavy metal. Travers is like Sammy Hagar, in that his retail action hasn't quite caught up the size of his concert audience, but songs like "New Age Music" and "My Life Is On The Line" should put him over the top this time. Travers is one of rock's most able journey-men, axemen, and while strong keyboard parts and nice melodies are added this time, his guitar is the draw here.

ROCKIN'ROLL — Greg Kihn — Besserkley BZ-10069 — Producer: Matthew King Kaufman — List: 7.98

Mr. "I'm Akin to a semi-pro ball player in that he seems to play just for the fun of it. His driving pop rock sound still thrills them in San Francisco, but this engaging artist can't even get arrested anywhere else. Britling guitar rhythms and songs like "True Confessions," "When The Music Starts" and "Sheila" make this Kihn's most commercial LP yet. AOR and pop should finally wake up to a winner.

AFFAIRS — Elliott Murphy — Courtsane MUR-101 — Producers: Elliott Murphy and Thom Panuzio — List: 5.98 — EP

Murphy was hailed as the next Dylan when he arrived on the music scene in the early '70s with his brilliant "Aquashov" LP. The underserved moniker proved to be an albatross for the literary rocker, as the critical acclaim didn't translate into record sales. Murphy still has a strong lyrical bite to his music, but his Eastern folk rock style has matured into a cohesive contemporary sound that works beautifully on this albumette.

NEW AND DEVELOPING ARTISTS

SONS AND LOVERS — Hazel O'Connor — A&M SP-4825 — Producer: Nigel Gray — List: 7.98 — Bar Coded

After the disappointment of having her debut LP, the soundtrack to Breaking Glass, released without a movie to back it up, Hazel O'Connor comes back strong on this follow-up. Released from the strict thematic and stylistic structure of a soundtrack, O'Connor's brand of basic, English rock is highlighted in a more accessible light here. Top cuts are driving "D-Days" and "Zoo," the cynical "Ain't It Funny," the relentless title cut and the bluesy ballad "Who Will Care?"

APART FROM THE CROWD — Great Buildings — Columbia NJC 36920 — List: 7.98 — Bar Coded

L.A.'s own Great Buildings combine the sound of Sun Belt rock — a tad of Tom Petty with a twist of Byrds — and a new pop rock attack. The group has a tight, high harmony ring, a driving guitar sound that puts the band firmly in the mainstream, and the knack for writing killer song hooks. The former members of the Quicks have finally made good here. "Hold On To Something," "Maybe It's You" and "One Way Out" are deserving of AOR hot rotation, post haste.

THE BIG ROCK — The Kingbees — RSO RS-1-3097 — Producer: David J. Holman and Rich Fitzgerald — List: 8.98

This neo-rockabilly band came on strong last year with hot AOR singles like "Once Is Not Enough" and "My Mistake," but the tight little threesome from L.A. is revved up for "The Big Rock." There's a lot of Sun session in its rhythms, but slick production and a new rock delivery make the band totally contemporary. Led by the talented Jamie James, the Bees are '80s cool and streamlined for the '80s.

JOURNEYS TO GLORY — Spandau Ballet — Chrysalis CHR 1331 — Producer: Richard James Burgess — List: 7.98 — Bar Coded

They dress like the pirates and bar wenches from the 18th Century. Straight from England, it's the new romantic crowd — and they also have their own music. Bands like Adam And The Ants, Visage and Chrysalis' own Spandau Ballet play the beat of this British blitz movement. The music is a combination of Ultravox-flavored synth rock, the steady rhythm kick of disco, and the alien vocals of the new wave. Top tracks on this soon-to-be dance club favorite are "Age Of The Blows" and "Confused."

FOOL IN LOVE WITH YOU — Jim Photoglo — 20th Century-Fox T-821 — Producer: Brian Frances Narry — List: 7.98 — Bar Coded

This veteran of L.A.'s South Bay barroom scene is back with another barrage of mellow ballads and Michael McDonald-influenced A/C pop numbers. Photoglo and producer co-songwriter Brian Narry have improved greatly as a songwriting team on "Fool In Love With You." The title track and the lulling "I Can't Let Go Of You" highlight this sophomore effort. Perfect A/C fare.

Federal District Court Judge Thomas C. Platt ruled that, although there was no question that some materials were inadvertently lost or destroyed, no deliberate destruction occurred. Judge Platt noted that he was troubled by the extent of the sanctions requested by the defense counsels. Therefore, he decided to hear testimony from the witnesses regarding the circumstances of the note- and statement-taking before deciding whether to exclude the testimony. He further stated he would give the defense a "missing document" charge in which he would tell the jury that they may, but are not obligated to, regard the government's failure to produce the missing notes as meaning that the documents had information that hurt the government's case.

Testimony was heard from FBI agent Robert Levey, who, as "Bobby Melanson," operated the "Modular Sounds" store in Westbury that was part of the "Mod Sound" counterfeit sting operation. Levey stated that the operation had contacted over 100 counterfeiters and that he purchased over $100,000 worth of illicit product. He added that examination of counterfeit and legal tapes in a store and show them to be almost indistinguishable, and said that price was often the one factor by which the difference could be determined.

Levey purchased large amounts of counterfeit tapes of Saturday Night Fever and Grease from convicted manufacturer George Tucker and led the raid on Tucker's Super Dupers operation that resulted in the

'Sweet And Lovely' Has 50th Anniversary

NEW YORK — "Sweet And Lovely," the 1931 standard song written by Harry Tobias and Jules Lemare that has generated over 250 recordings worldwide, will be the subject of a 50th anniversary salute in a featured segment on the syndicated Lawrence Walk Show from KTTV (Los Angeles) on March 21, with followup telecasts from New York and Chicago the following night. After the Walk orchestra performs the song, Tobias will be introduced from the audience.

"Sweet And Lovely" was originally introduced by the Gus Arnheim orchestra and was subsequently recorded by such artists as Russ Colombo, Bing Crosby, the Boston Pops, the Ventures, Patti Page, Gerry Mulligan, Guy Lombardo, the Living Strings and George Shearing. One of the tune's biggest revivals came in 1944 when it was performed by Judy Allyson, Gloria De Haven and Helen Forrest with the Harry James Orchestra in the MGM musical Three Girls And A Sailor. The George Shearing Trio is also marking the tune's 50th anniversary by including it on their most recent album. "Sweet And Lovely" is published by United Artists Music, via its Robbins Music catalog.

seizure of several duplicating units, a recorder, stereo mixer, a shrink-wrap machine and labels for Saturday Night Fever and "Alive And More" by Donna Summer. FBI agent Richard Ferri testified that he was in charge of coordination and collection of evidence, as well as questioning government witnesses, including Verner and Collins during Spring of 1980. He took notes that were typed by Jacobs' secretary as part of statement preparations. On Jacobs' instructions, the agents didn't file "302" forms — records of their daily activities — and the resulting statements signed by the witnesses were undated, although this was contrary to FBI policy. Martin Gold, defense attorney for Stolon, brought out the fact that Ferri had no memos relating to his interviews with Verner, Collins and Pierce and reiterated that he had prepared no "302" forms. Stolon also brought out the point that Collins had been given $200 by the FBI for expenses.

Convicted manufacturer Tucker, currently serving a five-year sentence at Altemond Federal Prison for wire fraud, copyright infringement, perjury and obstruction of justice resulting from his manufacture and sale of some 80,000 counterfeit 8-track tapes, testified that he had sold over 60,000 tapes to Verner and knew that Verner was selling tapes to Sam Goody Inc. Tucker described how he could identify tapes he'd manufactured by their label color, type of shrink wrap and boxes, and tape splices, and identified tapes seized from Pickwick as his own work.

He stated that he had purchased some tapes from a Goody store in Paramus to make masters used to manufacture his counterfeiters. He stated that his customers, including Verner, knew he was making counterfeit tapes. Tucker was questioned about his relationship with Verner on a grand jury on Dec. 6, 1979, and committed perjury when he denied having done business with him. Tucker said that Verner had lied when he said at his trial that they had discussed Verner's name appearing on the grand jury witness list.

Plea For Leniency

Tucker filed an appeal for reduction of his sentence, and now seeks a new plea in his agreement to cooperate with the government, including testimony in this case with immunity for any information he may reveal. His application for reduction of sentence is currently before Judge Platt, who will not rule on it until after the trial.

Deep Creek Production Firm Created In N.Y.

NEW YORK — Hal Willner, music coordinator for NBC's Saturday Night Live, has formed Deep Creek Productions. The company's first four records will be released in late Spring, with distribution still in the planning stage.

The first four releases are "Amarcord Nine Rota," featuring the music of Nino Rota performed by Carla Bley, Mihal Richard Abrams, Steve Lacy and others, with artwork and liner notes by Federico Fellini; "Crayons Are Dangerous Toys" by the Swollen Monkeys, a nine-piece rock group featuring members of Tim Huey and the Waitresses; "Between the Acts," by saxophonist Gary Windo; and "A Well Kept Secret" by the Beaver Harris/Don Pullen 360 Degree Music Experience, with cover work by Ralph Steadman.

Prior to joining Saturday Night Live, Willner worked with Joel Mazer on the Unlabeled Announcer. Core's production experience includes work with Rhaesnan Roland Kirk, Leon Redbone, Asleep At The Wheel, Riform of Blues and Lou Rawls. Willner was also an A&R staff member at Warner Bros. in New York.

Deep Creek Prod. is located at 312 W. 58th St., Suite #2, New York, N.Y. 10019.

JOHN'S SCHER OF THE NEWS — New Jersey impresario John Scher figures importantly in this week's news. First, Scher has taken over management of the Allman Brothers and claims that the principals of the group appear to be extremely healthy. They are prepared, he says, to turn out a better album than their previous two, which were marred, he claims, by the pressures of extracting themselves from their Capricorn deal. Second, Scher confirms that the Jersey-based Meadowlands Arena, which seats 21,000, will "in all probability," open the first week of June with Bruce Springsteen and the E-Street Band slated to play "between six and eight dates." Scher also suggests that an album featuring bassist/singer/ songwriter Jack Bruce, an artist he manages, may become a collector's item. According to Scher, the BLT album cover on Chrysalis, featuring Bruce, drummer Bill Lordan and guitarist Robin Trower, gives Bruce and Lordan co-equal, but distant, second billing to Trower. The next run of the album, Scher claims Chrysalis officials have assured him, will feature Bruce's name in type-face "about 50% the size of Trower's."

DOWNTOWN RAPPIN' — It was thought that rap music came downtown. The March 12 all-rap show at the Ritz, produced by Frankie Crater and featuring the Sugarhill Gang, Grandmother Flash and the Furious Five, Sequence, Coat Mundi and the Funky Four Plus One, was the greatest assemblage of rap talent we can remember on one stage, down or uptown. And the media responded accordingly, with an intensity of interest equal to anything we can remember. The exhausting four-hour show didn't feature a losing performance — though we can't help but feel that both Sequence and the Grandmaster's crew will be the acts historians will talk about. It was, however, most definitely a night to remember, and one whose reverberations will undoubtedly be felt in the music business for years to come. Every street maven with pop antennae was there — from Ahmet Ertegun, who founded Atlantic Records in 1947, to Cory Robbins, who will bow an indie rap label in two weeks.

JAMBALAYA ON THE BOWERY — The pride of New Orleans, The Neville Brothers, are in town to record vocal overdubs for their upcoming A&M LP. We heard some rough mixes at Atlantic Studios and can vouch that this new recording, under the production aegis of Joel Dorn, completely realizes this group's consummately funky talents. Every little touch works on this album; from the keyboard assistance of Mac "Dr. John" Rebennack to the vocal background of Cleo Houston, the new recording of David "Fathead" Newman, the guitar playing of ex-Meter Leo Nocentello and the horn charts of New Orleans' underappreciated genius, Wardell Quezergue, the album vindicates this group as the premier exponents of New Orleans funk and America's first musical family. While in town, the group stopped by Tramps for the club's Tuesday night soul jam and played with the Uptown Horns (where else could you see Aaron Neville and Iggy Pop with 50 feet of each other?). Aaron did a version of "Tell It Like It Is" that had Star boss Marty Thau called "one of the most transcendent musical moments at this club."

INDIE BEGINNINGS — French new wave label Celluloid Records opens its offices here on March 20, and will fly in 150 French music people for a party at the Ritz that day, featuring performances by paced groups, Suicide, Tuxedomo, Material/Deadline. Goody Prosecution Advances

A dispute erupted over the names of certain star performers who had been listed as potential witnesses in print, with Holmes objecting that their names were not on the witness list submitted to the prosecution, although the names did appear on a supplemental witness list submitted to Judge Platt on March 6. Martin Gold objected that this had prejudiced the defense case, and Judge Platt ruled that Jacobs would have to call witnesses from his first list before he could call those on the later list. Gold further objected that the "star" witnesses could not contribute substantial testimony and requested that the government tell defense counsel what testimony they were expected to produce.

Testimony by FBI agent Ferri revealed that in the course of his interviews of middlemen Collins and Pierce, and dealer Scarnett in collaboration with FBI agent Warren Flagg, some notes taken by the agents that contained facts pertaining to the case had been lost or mislaid, and in some cases, no notes were taken at all. Stolon attorney Gold brought out that interim drafts, made from handwritten notes and used to prepare final statements had been lost. "302" forms were not used in order to get statements without putting an FBI agents' interpretation into them as is necessary if this form is used.

Barry Singer, defense attorney for George Levy, introduced a "302" form dictated by agent Flagg of statements made to him by Levy when he was seized with a subpoena on Dec. 28, 1979, which Singer stated was incorrectly dated.

Missing Statement

Holmes brought out that notes for Collins' statement contained the note "Norton (Verner) always insisted product was overruns," which didn't appear in the final statement. The statement taken from Pierce also had no mention of Collins' statement that Verner's product wasn't stolen or counterfeit, although this appeared in the longhand draft.

Jacobs stated to the court that the statements and notes contained no false statements, that they are what the witnesses will testify to, and that the changes made were clarifications.

Convicted counterfeit cassette manufacturer Carroll identified tapes he'd made by Jefferson Starship, Wings, Frank Sinatra and Elvis Presley, and stated that between 1976 and 1978, he made over 400,000 cassettes, including 150,000 he sold to Verner, who, he said, bought him a shrink-wrapping machine and was paid with merchandise. He also testified that he never knew or met George Levy or Sam Stolon.

In July 1980, he came to an agreement with the government and pled guilty to criminal information filed against him by Judge George Pratt in February 1981. Although the copyright infringement charge he was to plead guilty to was for Saturday Night Fever, Carroll settled a civil suit filed against him by CBS before he pled guilty. Jacobs followed by asking permission to change the charge to "Paul Simon's Greatest Hits, Etc." so Carroll could avoid a civil suit from GEAC. This change was a separate agreement, not part of his original plea-bargaining arrangement.

Cash Transactions

Carroll testified that all of his dealings with Verner were undocumented and paid in cash, over $100,000. He refused to answer the question of whether he'd reported to the IRS the cash he also stated that his firm, BCF Prod., is still operating, making legitimate product only of up to one million tapes a year.

Middleman Verner testified that he had bought and sold counterfeit 8-tracks and cassettes, beginning in 1977 when he purchased 28,000 counterfeit Saturday Night Fever cassettes from BCF and sold them to Scarlet Band Records and Collins. He stated that on several occasions he had delivered product to Collins in his station wagon, which they then delivered to the Goody warehouse in Maspeth, N.J. For a shipment, he said he approached Sam Stolon directly and thereafter did business with him directly. All of the transactions were documented by invoices, receipts and packing slips, and paid by checks. On one occasion, he was introduced to Levy and on another was present when Sam Goody, 54, sold Stolon not to do business with Scarlet Band Records. At no time, said Verner, did he ever tell Stolon the cassettes and 8-tracks were counterfeits, nor did Stolon ask him any questions.

Positive Identification

Verner later identified product taken from the Goody warehouse as items he bought from Carroll. Just prior to Carroll's plant being raided by the FBI, he emptied out all of his materials and some of these were later stored by Verner in a warehouse he owned. In January 1980, Verner agreed to cooperate with the government, and Gold introduced into evidence a grand jury under "use immunity." Once he had immunity, he had a number of meetings with the FBI but couldn't remember if notes were taken. On cross-examination, Stolon attorney Gold asked if anyone had told him "watch out for Gold when he starts asking about notes."

Gold introduced into evidence a "certificate of non-existence of records" from the Immigration and Naturalization Service (INS) that indicated that he had no record of his having entered the country legally, and it was brought out that although Verner, a Canadian citizen, had been entering the U.S. since the 1960s, he had never applied for citizenship, and in 1973 and again in 1979, the Immigration Service tried to have him deported and his home was visited by inspectors who checked his business and tax records and found a bounced check he'd used to pay taxes on his Long Island house in 1979. He is currently in the country under a statute that permits aliens to stay in the U.S. if their testimony is needed in a criminal case.

Verner stated that he had had meetings with RIAA attorney Joel Schoenfeld and had offered to cooperate with record company investigations into counterfeiting. He later met with attorneys for RSO, PolyGram, RCA and CBS.

Verner also stated that he had made over $300,000 in counterfeit operations, although he didn't report the money as income and bought a house, car, yacht, and two marinas. Under cross examination, he stated that he had never been told that the record companies wanted to know that he'd sold counterfeit tapes to Goody so they could file civil suits against the chain. Holmes asked him, "Are you aware that if Goody is acquitted, they may turn around and sue you?"

Michael Aaronson, an employee of Pickwick who serves as Goody's vice president of operations, explained his job began in 1978 as the reorganization of Goody's financial systems following the chain's acquisition by American Can so that monthly financial reports could be filed. He described Stolon as "basically involved in buying cutouts, special promotional product and overruns. He was asked about a meeting he had with American Can employee Bill Cunningham regarding hand-drawn checks in which he identified one transaction that he believed was with Verner."

However, he never met Verner, but stated that he was once introduced by Stolon to Collins (although he didn't remember his name) when Collins appeared to get a check payable to him on an invoice in the name of Scarlet Band.

New Mechanical Royalty Rate Topic Of Gortikov's Speech

by Jennifer Bohler

NASHVILLE — In a direct, no nonsense speech, Stanley Gortikov, president of the Recording Industry Assn. of America (RIAA), addressed a meeting of Nashville music industry representatives, including a number of publishers and songwriters, on the December ruling of the Copyright Royalty Tribunal (CRT) to increase the mechanical royalty rate from 2½ cents to four cents per tune (Cash Box, Dec. 27, 1980 and Jan. 10, 1981).

The March 10 gathering was part of the ongoing series of educational luncheons sponsored by the Nashville chapter of the National Academy of Recording Arts and Sciences (NARAS), and was thus far the most well-attended, and perhaps the most controversial.

From the conference room of the Maxwell House Hotel here, Gortikov, who represented the interests of record companies during the nine months of CRT hearings, directed his 40-minute speech at the positive shortcomings and pitfalls of the CRT ruling and the possible adverse effects it could have on the record companies specifically, and the industry overall.

Nodding to the number of publishers in attendance, Gortikov said he felt like "a combination of Typhoid Mary and Darth Vader," but nonetheless proceeded to outline his speculation on the impact the royalty increase might have.

One of the most important outcomes of the increased royalty rate could be an increase in the retail prices of record albums to cover the cost of the increased royalty rate, which would in turn trigger an increase in the royalty rate, which would then trigger another increase in retail prices and so on. The "vicious cycle syndrome," he said, results from the CRT ruling that royalty rates may be increased every Jan. 1 reafter, beginning Jan. 1, 1982. This rate adjustment procedure calls for averaging list prices on albums for 12 months, ending October 1980, and then for every 12 month period thereafter, he said, and the royalty rate may be adjusted accordingly.

Rising Prices Imminent

Taking these possible rate increases into consideration, he said record companies could be shipping out an additional $55 million a year above present outlays. Gortikov further outlined a six and a half year period that would see these additional expenditures increase to $150.5 million by 1987, if list prices increased on the average of 7.5% annually, as estimated by music publishers themselves.

One of his chief fears, he said, is that ultimately the consumer will either buy fewer records because of the increase in prices or worse still, stop buying altogether, and start taping more, which Gortikov labeled the "ultimate risk for us all — record companies, artists, publishers, composers, writers and retailers."

Gortikov also said that the increase in the royalty rate could result in artists losing some of the creative control over their albums, which, out of economic necessity, would revert to the record companies, and that possibly fewer tunes would be in-

Bar Coding Session Is Set For NARM Confab

LOS ANGELES — National Assn. of Recording Merchandisers (NARM) members and bar coding experts met in New York March 9 to finalize plans for the 1981 NARM Convention seminar, "UPC/Bar Coding: Its Challenges, Opportunities and Issues." The session, which will be held April 14 in Hollywood, Fla., will examine the cost efficient uses of bar coding systems that are already being utilized, as well as the possibilities for future uses.

George Goldberg, editor of Scanning, Coding & Automation Newsletter, will begin the seminar program with an overview of the history of bar coding, with a look at its development in the food industry and subsequent adoption by the health and beauty aid, as well as periodical and paperback, industries.

Shelley Harrison, president of Symbol Technologies, will also speak at the session, reviewing the printing and scanning hardware picture. Taking the retailer's viewpoint, Sandra Rutledge, vice president of the National Bar Coding Council, the Record Bar chain and a member of the NARM Operations committee, will discuss the applications of bar coding at the store level and its implications, particularly in the area of inventory management and control.

Speaking from the manufacturer's standpoint will be Richard Bruce, manager package engineering, CBS Records, who will outline the current uses of bar coding in processing returns, in addition to other warehouse and factory functions. Western Merchandisers executive vice president Bob Schneider, who is also a member of the NARM Operations committee, will address himself to the current problems in the area of industry bar coding, such as positioning of the bar code on tape packages, OCRA and placement on catalog product, which are as yet unsolved.

A question and answer session between attendees and members of the panel will follow the various speeches.

Songwriter Fox Makes Transition To Performer

don't see myself doing Las Vegas or places like that, but now and then, if the opportunity presents itself and I would like to perform my songs, I think it would be great." In the meantime, Fox is currently working on a number of projects that are keeping him busier than ever.

Already completed is the theme song and score to the new television series, Aloha Paradise. The theme song, "Come to Paradise," which he wrote with Carol Bayer Sager, has been recorded by Steve Lawrence and will be released as a single.

Another project, and one that he will be performing live in Los Angeles in October, is "Masada," a classical work for symphony and chorus in honor of Israel's Independence Day. Fox and his primary collaborator, Norman Gimbel, are also working on two theater projects. One is a dramatic musical for next year and the other is the music for Lee Thuna's The 11th Commandment.

Additionally, Fox will be working on three film scores this year, including No Small Affair, starring Sally Fields, and Miscel starring John Hurd. The third, and the most interesting from the composer's standpoint, is a film based on the song "Killing Me Softly With Her Song."

"This is truly one of the most gratifying projects for me," commented Fox. "The film will be a story about the song's theme. It's really quite a turnaround for me; usually I'm given a script and I come up with the music to fulfill the characters and round out a film so that the whole picture gells. Arnold Shulman, with whom I have worked with on a number of films, and the movie will be shot in Mexico City."

Interestingly, Roberta Flack's version of "Killing Me Softly," which earned her, Fox and Gimbel Grammy Awards for Best Song in 1973, was actually written in one day as the tenth song to finish up Lori Lieberman's debut album.

Studio Owner

Aside from what seems to be an endless number of projects, Fox is also a partner with Artie Butler in Evergreen Recording Studios, which Fox says was born from a unique concept. "I was doing so much work for television and film scores, that Evergreen really grew out of my own feeling of what a studio should be," recalled Fox. "Most film studios are simply not maintained well and they are not very contemporary. Fox Records has the proper facilities for recording film and television, and our studios do not have, and it can also accommodate regular recording by a group, which film studios cannot."

Fox finds it difficult to single out any one project as his most satisfying. "Every project is gratifying at the moment," Fox says.

"But in general, I would have to say the real gratification and motivation comes from affecting other people, whether it is with a song or a motion picture score."

"It's wonderful to know that I can express myself with music and move people all over the world, no matter what language they speak," Fox continued. "Music is most definitely the one single language that transcends all people."

'The Rose' Gets Song Of The Year Prize From NMPA

LOS ANGELES — National Music Publisher's Assn. (NMPA) honors for song of the year went to Amanda McBroome's "The Rose," from the film starring Bette Midler, during the NMPA board-sponsored reception and award ceremonies at the Beverly Hilton Hotel recently. The McBroome song was also voted movie song of the year.

Writers and publishers in the categories of R&B country, pop, easy listening, Latin and gospel music were also honored during the event, which attracted NMPA members and record executives from New York, Atlanta, Nashville, San Francisco and other cities.

The association also awarded "The Colors Of My Life," with music by Cy Coleman and lyrics by Michael Stewart, from the stage hit Barnum, 1980's Broadway song of the year.

In other awards, Barry and Robin Gibb won the easy listening category with "Woman In Love," co-published by the Stigwood Organization and Unichappell Music; R&B song of the year honors went to Rod Temperton's "Give Me The Night," on Roddongs Music; Lionel Ritchie, Jr. won the pop song of the year honors for his "Lady" composition.

Country song of the year went to "Looking For Love," which was co-written by Wanda Mallett, Patti Ryan and Bob Morrison for Southern Nights Music. "No Me Lo Digam," written by Bobby Capo, for Peer International Corp., won Latin song of the year; and gospel song of the year honors were bestowed on Stuart K. Hines for his "How Great Thou Art," published by Manna Music Inc.

RCA Chairman Sees 1st Quarter Profit Decline

RCA's sales rose to $8.0 billion, with a net profit of $315.3 million in 1980, from $7.5 billion in sales and a $283.8 million net profit in 1979.

The annual report also revealed that RCA Records returned to profitability in 1980, with a slight increase in worldwide sales volume. In citing the particularly strong gains made by the company's domestic sales operations, the report singled out strong showings in RCA's black, country and classical music activities and a stringent merchandise-returns policy instituted early in the year.

Foreign earnings, the report noted, had decreased substantially despite a moderate sales increase.

Both revenues and earnings from RCA's record and tape club declined during 1980.

Rabbitt Garners Gold

LOS ANGELES — "I Love A Rhythm Nite," the current single by Elektra/A&J recording artist Eddie Rabbitt, has been certified gold by the RIAA.

WESTWORDS — Look for Geffen Records to sign The Cars big wheel, Ric Ocasek, to a solo recording contract, and to pick up "Mr. Trans Am" himself, Sammy Hagar... The Knack will fittingly play The Starwood on April Fools Day... The new Joe Walsh LP is entitled "What's A Guy Like Me Doing In A Dump Like This," and will be out May 1... Todd Rundgren will produce the next New England album for E/A... Because of the success of "You Better You Bet," which was the top debut on the Cash Box pop singles chart at #59 bullet this week, The Who's "Face Dances" LP is being rush released this week... Island will be domestically releasing "The Secret Policeman's Ball," in April. The album, a live effort recorded at an Amnesty International benefit in London, features Tom Robinson, Neil Innes, John Williams, and Pete Townshend doing brilliant acoustic versions of "Drowned," "Pinball Wizard" and "Won't Get Fooled Again." David Lindley's solo debut, "El Rayo X (The X-Ray)," is set for a mid-April release... Look for two Bill Szymczyk projects (solo debuts by Jefferson Starship's Mickey Thomas and Joe Walsh cohort Joe Vitale) to be in the stores by fall.

PLAYBOY'S ANNUAL POLL (?) — Playboy has always had a reputation as a hip magazine read by hip people, but every April readers show just how musically staid they are with the annual Playboy Music Poll. This year's results are just as laughable as ever, with many artists, who haven't put out albums in years, still rating high in certain categories. The R&B and Jazz categories were amusing (see Rhythm Section for an analysis), but the pop area also showed major fias in tandem. First off, we can't fault the readers for naming Eric Clapton top guitarist this year since he has released two respectable albums of late. But thinking back, Clapton has had a permanent resting place in that category (even during years with no product) since we first snuck into our fathers' dresser to take a peek at the centerfold. Clapton is a classic example of Playboy's readership falling asleep when it comes to music, but Linda Ronstadt is also a good case in point. The first lady of Malibu was named top female vocalist in the Country-A&J-Western genre in a year that she spent between the new wave stylings (her "Mad Love" LP) and Broadway (Gibert & Sullivan's Pirates Of Penzance). In the main event categories (top pop male, female vocalist, etc.), the results bear a striking resemblance to this year's Grammys, proving that Playboy's readers are about as hip to modern sound as a NARAS nominating committee. Poor showing guard... We thought results would be decidedly different among the college crowd who read Ampersand, the monthly magazine that serves as an insert to many college newspapers. But, according to the publication's 1980 readers poll in the March issue, they keep a pretty tight top 40 playlist there also. The top song was "The Boss" though, as Bruce Springsteen and his E Street Band won virtually every pop award a male could garner — best concert, best group, best single, best album and best recording artist. It was nice to see Pete Townshend's "Empty Glass" listed in the Top Five of the best rock album category, along with sales heavies like Billy Joel and Pink Floyd, and equally comforting to see such new rock innovators as Talking Heads and The Clash holding their own with Springsteen and RED in the tops of best group. However, the majority of the reader's poll tally was pretty predictable, as Michael Jackson topped the top award for Soul Album. Pat Benatar picked up the best female recording artist honors and Urban Cowboy gallopers topped the Best C&W album. And we thought today's students were marching to a different drummer.

STILL BLOWING STRONG

— Dave Cavannaugh, Capitol Records vice president of A&R, special projects, was presented with a Selmer tenor saxophone for 30 years of service with the label at a surprise luncheon held recently in his honor.

BEATLES CONFAB — Outside of a yearly function put on by an East Coast promoter, L.A. has never really had its own Beatles fest. But, at present, that great void was about to be filled as the first Los Angeles Beatles Convention was scheduled for March 14-15 at the Camino Real Entertainment Center, 18218 Oak (at Washington Blvd.). More than 30 exhibitors, featuring every form of Fab Four paraphernalia known to man, had booths booked. But free enterprise wasn't the whole focus for this event dedicated to the Liverpool legend. The Southern California Coalition for Handgun Control was scheduled to hold a seminar March 14 at 2 p.m., and KLOS' own B. Mitchell Reed was set to reflect on his Beatles remembrances at 7 p.m. The Finders (A Beatles tribute band that recently played Let It Be at theashion atop an L.A. roof as a convention primer for the press), rockabilly band Jimmy & The Black Slits, and the Black Slits' Bob Fagan were to highlight the weekend's entertainment. But dozens of Beatles videos, movies and seminars were, most likely, the drawing card for the more than 2,000 people who had already purchased tickets. The convention, which hopefully will become an annual event, is produced by Doubleheart Prods., a nonprofessional group of Beatles fans.

SAN FRAN UPDATE — We were pleased to see Solid Smoke/War/Bride put out a nifty compilation LP devoted to Bay Area wave music in "Rising Stars" of San Francisco. Now, the album that featured tracks by The Readyades, Eye Protection and Yaw Aaddicts has a cousin, "Live At Rock City" on the Walking Dead label. The new artist package features songs by The Dick Heads and The TuTones... The Dead Kennedyys are back in at Mobius Studios. The band has a new drummer called Darin Speedy and is recording a single called "Too Drunk To F...". Jello Baffa calls the song the band's "biggest take-out" and "a conscious" all-around release. The Offs, one of San Francisco's first great reggae rock bands, is all smiles these days. The group has landed the opening spot on Steel Pulse's upcoming North American tour... Howie Klein's 415 label is about to release its best work yet in Romeo Void's "It's A Condition." The album ships March 16... Bay favorites The Tazmanian Devils will have a new LP, "Broadway Hi-Life," released April 29 on Warner Bros. The cover was fittingly shot on Broadway St. in S.F.

WESTWARD HO! — The West Coast played host to some Nashville luminaries over the weekend when RCA participated in the first anniversary celebration of San Diego's Mustang Club. Now one of the premiere country clubs south of L.A.'s Palomino, the Mustang hosted RCA Nashville executives Jerry Bradley, Joe Galante and Wayne Edwards, as well as L.A.-based promo rep Carson Schreiber. The RCA contingent was in town to view the anniversary party show which featured three of its most promising new country acts — Sylvia, Dean Dillon and Steve Warner. marc celter to be opened to the general public. Speaking of the general public, Joseph Papp's Public Theater will resume its "Jazz at the Public" series on April 3 and 4 with a family get-together featuring Chico and Von Freeman. The father-and-son saxophone team will be backed by pianist Kenny Baron, bassist Cecil McBee and drummer Jack DeJohnette. . . . The station is looking for corporate sponsorship for further concert broadcasts. . . . On April 12, the Bravo Cable Network will broadcast excerpts from the recent "One Night Stand" concerts sponsored by Columbia records in New York and Los Angeles. True to its word, Columbia is throwing everything it's got into cross-marketing this one, with simultaneous issues of a two-record concert LP and video cassette hitting the street on March 26. Sixty-second radio spots on progressive and jazz stations: national, local, alternative and college print ads; and six-cut promo samplers and video cassettes for radio and retail promotion will be unleashed from Columbia Record's promotional arsenal, and CBS video will be conducting its own campaign in support of the video cassette. Among the 16 artists included in the package are Herbie Hancock, Rodney Franklin, Eubie Blake and George Duke.

LIVE UNDER THE SKY — V.S.O.P. — CBS Mastersound 12C 36770 — Producer: Dar Robinson — List: 29.98 — Bar Code
Any VSO.P Quintet recording is a welcome addition, but chance to hear the all-star band on this Mastersound digital recording is indeed a treat. This group's playing justifies the extravagant price tag that the digital process requires, with plenty of fine playing by all involved, and a nice balance of solo space allotted to each player. Saxophonist Wayne Shorter is a particular standout here, but the album as a whole suffers no lulls.

KABSHA — Idris Muhammad — Theresa Tru 110 — Producers: Idris Muhammad and Allen G. Pittman — List: 8.98
Idris Muhammad's drum chops come to the fore here as he pits himself head-to-head with saxophonists George Coleman and Pharoah Sanders. Bassist Ray Drummond lends the support and continuity that enables all three to follow their ears. Califonia-based Theresa Records again proves itself as a label able to extract fine performances from its artists.

Joint Audio/Video Sessions To Highlight 11th ITA Seminar

derosures the "diverse nature" of the trade group's membership, which continues to expand in response to the needs of the home entertainment market.

Wider Horizons

"I think you can see by the fact that the speakers here will be covering some 40 different topics during the various sessions just how complex the audio/video industry has become, with the opening of new markets, the continuing introduction of new technologies and the legal ramifications," Brief pointed out. "But these are all components of our industry and must be addressed."

The "significantly large" number of new ITA Golden Video-cassette awards, which will be handed out at a special presentation ceremony March 17, is, in Brief's words, "symbolic of how the market for pre-recorded video software has grown, as well as the business in general." He added that 11 awards had already been given out in 1980, and the number this year is expected to be "substantially larger."

However, the wide-ranging scope of the seminar will allow attendees to take a look beyond the present state of audio/video. The future of the home video industry, in particular, will be explored during the first of two combined audio/video sessions the morning of March 17, as representatives of Magnavox, N.Y. Philips, RCA, Sharp and Panasonic will address themselves to the topic of "Looking At The Future of The VCR." The most provocative topic during the session, though, is expected to be "Obsolescing The VCR and Disc Systems/Future Technologies," with Dave Lachenbruch, editorial director and vice president, Television Digest, speaking.

Rental Debate

Back-to-back sessions March 18 on the controversial issue of rentals within the home video industry are guaranteed to stir further debate. A decidedly pro-rental stance will be taken by Jim Jmirro, president of Walt Disney Telecommunications, during the topic "Taking The 'Versus' Out

ITA Slates European Seminar For Oct. 10-12

LOS ANGELES — ITA's first European Home Video Seminar has been rescheduled for Oct. 10-12 at the Palm Beach Club in Cannes, France. The seminar will be running concurrently with VIDCOM '81, which takes place Oct. 9-13.

Bernard Chevry, commissaire-general of VIDCOM, has offered the full cooperation of his organization to ITA for its seminar, which will be programmed and structured similarly to the trade group's annual domestic events. European facilities that will be offered by the ITA included French, German, Italian and English translations of all sessions, to be shown throughout the conference on a large screen projector.

A program of 15 key executives from U.S. ITA member companies, 15 European executives, and additional executives from around the world, will be featured. Seminar workshops will conclude at 3:00 p.m. each day to allow attendees to travel to the nearby Palais des Festival, where more than 300 exhibitors will be displaying home video products in conjunction with VIDCOM '81.

Attendance is limited to no more than 350 for the event. For registration information in Europe, contact Jack van Leeuwen, ITA Europe, Merkelbach Laan 2, 5624 KR, Eindhoven, The Netherlands. The telephone number is 040-433679. In the U.S., contact ITA's office at 10 West 66th Street, N.Y., N.Y. 10023 or telephone (212) 787-0910.

Of Sales vs. Rentals."

An address by Jack Valenti, president of the Motion Picture Assn. of America (MPAA), on the international direction of home video during the opening session March 18 is also expected to attract considerable attention. Valenti's topic, "A Scrambling And Unquiet Time," will concern itself with the various problems and conflicts presently existing between media delivery services — including pay and cable TV, videocassette and cassette — and the motion picture studios themselves. Video piracy is also expected to be touched on, as well as domestic and international licensing and program rights, during the session. Further discussion of such topics as clearances, royalties and union payments in the home video industry will be delved into during the combined workshop March 18, entitled "Know Your Video Rights." Panelists representing each of the major world markets are scheduled to attend and field questions.

PolyGram Video division president W.L. Zalsman will follow Valenti March 18 with an overview of the rapidly growing European video market, while individual sessions will be devoted to such special markets as religious/spoken word on March 18.

Special interest areas will be focused upon during the March 18 audio workshops as well, including the children's and medical markets.

As part of ITA's "greater coverage" of the increasingly important relationship between audio and video, Murray Allen, president of the Society of Professional Audio Recording Studios (SPARS) as well as Universal Recording Corp., will present a non-technical discussion of the marriage between the two during the March 17 com-

ITA Announces 12 New Member Firms In '81

LOS ANGELES — A total of 12 companies have joined the International Tape/Disc Assn. (ITA) as members since the beginning of 1981. Among the new member companies are Associated Merchandising Corp.; Karl Video Corp.; Mission Plastics South, Inc.; NBC Enterprises, Inc.; Rainbow Prod.; Trans American Video (TAV) of Nevada; U.S. Pioneer Electronics Corp.; VHD Programs, Inc.; The Vidronics Co., Inc. and Warner Home Video, Inc.

A total of 32 new members joined the organization during 1980, bringing the total number of ITA members to well over 450. In reviewing the growth in membership, Henry Brief, executive vice president of the ITA, stated, "Many of our members have been with us since our inception, but the industries we serve have grown and changed and developed so rapidly that we are constantly getting an influx of new members. We welcome each and every one and thank our charter members for working with us on a regular basis all these years."

Mag Video Garners 5 New ITA Gold Awards

LOS ANGELES — Magnetic Video, Farmington Hills, Mich.-based subsidiary of 20th Century-Fox Film Corp., has earned five new ITA Golden Videocassette awards, bringing the total number of ITA gold certified awards up to 14 for the company.

The latest titles to be honored include The Stunt Man, 9 To 5, The Longest Day, African Queen and What You Are Is Where You Were When, with noted psychologist Dr. Morris Massey. According to Magnetic Video, What You Are Is Where You Were When, a motivational self-help program, is the first "library" videocassette to achieve sales of $1 million.

A work of art should be rewarded with another work of art.

Introducing the Scotty Award.

The Scotty Award is an original oil portrait commissioned for each of the best recording artists in the business. It's a work of art as unique as the honor it represents. And it represents quite an honor.

Just to qualify, you have to master on Scotch® Recording Tape and achieve RIAA gold or platinum status. Even then, only a select few will be chosen.

But these select few will not be the only ones who win. A $5000 music scholarship will be awarded by 3M to a promising new artist chosen by the Best of Show winner. An additional $1000 will be awarded by 3M to the Muscular Dystrophy Foundation in the name of each winning artist. And $100 will be awarded to Muscular Dystrophy for each qualified nomination.

Who will the first Scotty Award winners be? That's up to you. We're now accepting nominations for recordings that reached gold or platinum status during 1980.

So contact your 3M Field Representative for details and nomination forms. Help the fortunate, and the less fortunate, win a Scotty Award.

binge session. During the talk, Allen will analyze the direction of audio technology for video and the present diversification of recording studios into the area of sound for video.

New Technology

Noise reduction techniques and their applications in the production of audio for video will be covered during the morning audio session on "State of the Art" technologies March 18. Jerome Ruzicka, vice president of marketing for dbx, Inc., will talk on the topic "Breaking The Noise Barrier In Audio and Video Sound," followed by a metal tape update from John Dale, vice president and general manager of Fuji Photo Film USA, Inc.

AFTER 500 PLAYS OUR HIGH FIDELITY TAPE STILL DELIVERS HIGH FIDELITY.

A lot of recording tapes sound good the first few times they're played. But after a few hundred plays, many end up sounding dull and lifeless.

What can happen is, the oxide particles that are bound onto tape loosen and fall off, taking some of the music with them.

At Maxell, we've developed a binding process that helps to prevent this. Once oxide particles are bound onto our tape, they stay put. And so does the music.

It's this kind of engineering that's helped make Maxell so easy to sell.

And when a tape is this well made, not only do you profit from it, but so do your customers.

IT'S WORTH IT.

Ex-Label Staffers Turned Indie Relocate With Success

supports the other." Lenny Scalfiti offered a second key factor in pursuing an independent operation. "My survival depends on my not doing what the majors are doing," said Scalfiti, who held positions at Motown, Sire and Arista and is now a partner in Ross-Scalfiti Viewpoint, Inc., an independent production company. "My company won't be successful if I try to come up with formula hits.

Encourages Indies
"Historically, the majors have never made things happen," he stated. "Just look at Atlantic in the '50s, Elektra in the '60s and Stiff or Sire in the '70s. Record company attitudes encourage people to go out and be independent." Still, he said, he will shop the tapes he produces to the major labels, because "I'm trying desperately not to start my own record company. I have too much fun in the studio to want to get involved in that."

Mark Josephson and Steve Stoff agreed with Scalfiti. Both, after being laid off by RCA Records, started companies geared to indie product — Josephson becoming a partner in Rockopolis Promotions, Ltd., which supplies records and information to dance-rock DJs at clubs and radio stations; and Stoff co-owning New Music, which nationally distributes independently pressed new wave and disco releases. Both Josephson and Stoff were able to get a head start in exploiting a new area that offered opportunities for the small entrepreneur, but we're not as yet generating the type of sales figures that attract the majors.

"We thought, when we started Rockpool, that we'd be sweating it financially less than we are," said Josephson. "But we found out that running a pool is necessarily a low margin enterprise. Maybe we could charge the DJs as much as we could get for our service, if he reflected, "but we just don't feel it would be the right thing to do."

Timesheet Started
Because Rockpool has found that "our information is more valuable in a lot of ways than our service," it started publishing the "masses of information we receive from our reporting clubs and stations" as a timesheet, which they felt was yet another unique service that could eventually result in greater profitability.

In addition, Josephson recently explored another unusual concept when he organized and arranged a promotional effort that tied in concert, radio and in-store appearances on the east coast by two new British acts, Colin Newman and Bauhaus, without any American record company affiliation. He projected more possibilities along these lines in the future.

New Music has experienced a slow but steady growth since entering into the independent distribution ranks as an outlet for labels and one-stops that were too small for other indie distributors. According to Stoff, they "started out dealing in quantities of 200-500 pieces, but now we're taking orders from $50-2,000. We're also beginning to extend some of the bigger accounts up to 60 days credit, whereas in the beginning we did everything C.O.D."

More 'Fragmentation'
Both Norman and Josephson spoke of the growing fragmentation of the industry into various music markets in which different distribution, marketing, sales and promotion approaches are used. "For one market you might have one procedure, and all of a sudden, you're working with a different style of music and you have new terms, new deals, new dating, new programs and new ad structures," Norman commented. "I had to learn to speak the different languages that accompany each. Now I'm able to talk to either large distribution systems or mom and pop stores and be aware of their concerns and the tools needed to bring about success." Josephson added that "the majors are not yet willing to admit that there is a fragmentation into specialties because the whole idea goes against the way branch distribution systems operate."

While sales figures for an indie operator may seem low compared to the volume handled by any of the majors, the operating costs of these new companies are small enough to make such totals profitable. When asked what they had learned to avoid from their experience at the majors, a majority of the independents pointed to wasteful extravagances they had seen and remarked that their own businesses are being run with cost efficiency in mind.

Nicholas Cosmas, who spent 13 years as controller/treasurer with London Records until it was sold to PolyGram last year, recently opened C&P Records with George Hornebeck, another London veteran. "We have a small staff, and we've cut down operating expenses," Cosmas said in describing C&P's tight budgetary control. "We're extremely careful about the credit terms we extend, and we've learned not to oversell; we're keeping sales at a reasonable figure."

Good Climate For Indies
Like others surveyed, Cosmas felt that the economic crunch on the industry in general makes this a good time for independents. "If the economy were flourishing, we couldn't have afforded to sign the acts that we did — just the advances would have been extraordinary — but in a recession, artists are seeking labels, so we find it easier and are able to pick and choose who we want."

The idea that small independent labels and production companies will play a greater role as a breeding ground for new talent for the majors in the future was voiced often by the indies. Both Steve Leeds, who makes his living at independent promotion, and Gary Kenton, who does independent publicity, have both been involved with small record labels. Leeds, who calls his partnership in Ambition Records "an expensive hobby," predicted a "cottage industry" developing where people are recording and pressing independently, then trying to license to a major or getting pressing and distribution deals.

"The technology exists for anyone to press up a decent sounding record," he explained, "but in the long run affiliation with the majors is necessary because the independent distributors are crippled and unable to do what they used to do. Also, it seems that more and more of the established independent distributors are closing their doors to one-offs because they feel they've got no growth potential; that if they do break an act, it'll leave for one of the majors."

Kenton said that many competent middle management people have already started leaving the majors, but often renew their affiliation once their custom or P.D. labels have gotten off the ground. "The majors are so committed to huge volume that there will be more and more opportunities for people to fit into the gaps they leave."

Indie Promo Glut
Radio promotion has been the one area where there is actually a glut of independents. With many cutbacks in promotion staffs at the majors in the past two years and many promotion people finding it relatively simple to hire themselves out for individual projects (read: at first), both national and regional indies have found it harder than ever to get work. Coupled with recent announcements of cutbacks in hiring indies by some major labels, promo indies have found the going rough at the moment. Lenny Bronstein, former director of promotion at A&M Records, now running Push Promotions, said that although the marketplace is getting crowded, there is still work to be had because "majors have limited themselves in many instances and many markets so that their people can't handle all the functions they now have. Indies decrease the workload for the affiliated promotion people and also act as a less-biased conduit of information to radio stations."

Even when with massive cutbacks in most areas of the industry, aside from the area of promotion, there is hardly a surfeit of indies around, a fact that surprised some of those who recently took the plunge. Phil Rawls, who had managed regional promotion for Atlantic and 20th Century-Fox in the Memphis, Tenn., area and now does independent promotion, production and music publishing, commented, "I think what I've done should be the normal path for music business employees, but most people who get laid off have either turned to related fields or left the music business entirely. To spend 10 or 12 years learning the ins and outs of the music business and then leave the field entirely because you've lost your job just seems ridiculous to me."

Rawls' point seemed to be especially valid in the sales field, where the tendency was to enter other fields rather than seek music industry positions with different companies. The head of a New York-based record company, who asked not to be identified, told Cash Box that of the stack of resumes he'd received from qualified out-of-work music business veterans, almost none were in the sales field. "I guess," he said, "that the sales people don't see that much difference between selling records and selling shoes."

Still, for those dedicated enough to attempt to carve a niche for themselves in the music industry as an independent, the long hours and occasional hard times seem to be worth it. "I miss the American Express card and the prestige of being attached to a well-known company name, but right now I wouldn't trade what I'm doing for anything."

Quello Opposes Nine kHz AM Spacing

by Mark Albert

LOS ANGELES — James Quello of the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) has reversed his feelings in support of reduced AM channel spacing from 10 to nine kHz, providing proponents of the issue with their most serious opposition to date. Quello made the announcement at a recent state association meeting held by the National Assn. of Broadcasters (NAB) in Washington D.C.

Commissioner Quello told Cash Box that when the FCC first deliberated on the proposal in 1979, the Carter administration strongly supported reduced spacing on the belief that it would benefit current and prospective broadcasters.

"At that time," Quello recalled, "I concurred with the vote, which legally means I went along with it, but with reservations. I did write dissenting comments then in my concurrence, which the Canadian government quoted later at the Region 2 (Western Hemisphere) meetings held in Buenos Aires last March.

Malsa To Sell Ad Time For Weedeck Corp.

LOS ANGELES — Los Angeles-based Weedeck Corp. has contracted Jack Malsa & Co. to represent the Weedeck Radio Network in the sale of time to advertising agencies and clients throughout the United States and Canada. The new agreement between Weedeck and Malsa is effective immediately.

Weedeck currently services over 200 radio stations nationwide with weekly programs Inside Music, hosted by Charlie Tuna, and Country Report, hosted by Ron Martin. The company has also produced hour-long specials such as New Horizons, based on Willie Nelson's new career as a film personality; Cool Miner's Daughter, based on Loretta Lynn's autobiography; Smoke and The Bandit II, and, most recently, The Legend of Jesse James, based on the A&M album project of the same name.

Jack Malsa & Co. currently represents radio stations in key national and regional markets through offices in New York, Chicago, Detroit, Atlanta, Dallas, Los Angeles, San Francisco and St. Louis.

Deadline Extended For AM Stereo Comments

LOS ANGELES — At the request of Motorola, one of five manufacturers competing to have its system approved by the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) as the single system to be used for AM stereo, the FCC extended the deadline for reply comments on the issue from March 9 to March 23.

"I have decided to oppose reduced spacing for two reasons," Quello continued. "One is engineering, and the other is economics. After reviewing the latest technical studies and noting the large costs that would be incurred by broadcasters having to make the change, and the facts that some broadcasters would no longer be able to operate properly or successfully and that many broadcasters are already losing money, I can only view the space reduction move as not practical or healthy for U.S. broadcasters."

Kefford To Head Drake-Chenault

LOS ANGELES — James Kefford, executive vice president and general manager of Drake-Chenault Enterprises, has been named president of the radio syndication firm. At the same time, Gene Chenault, formerly president, and Bill Drake have moved to positions as co-chairmen of the company's board of directors.

Kefford joined Drake-Chenault in 1973 as director of east coast sales. He moved to the Canoga Park, Calif. headquarters in 1974 as an account executive, later becoming regional sales manager. In 1977, he was named vice president and general manager. Kefford has been responsible for the marketing of "The History of Rock & Roll," was the producer of the seasonal special, "Christmas At Our House," and has guided the company from four original formats in syndication to its present eight.

In making the announcement, Chenault said, "This is a well-considered move on the part of Bill and me both to recognize the contributions Jim has made to the company, and to provide him with the autonomy necessary to build on the groundwork he has already laid for Drake-Chenault's entry into the future of radio technology in the '80s."

12th Country Radio Seminar Offers Diverse Topics

by Jennifer Bohler

NASHVILLE — In the midst of one of its healthiest years ever, country radio representatives gathered at the Hyatt Regency here March 12-14 for the annual Country Radio Seminar, which this year attracted an estimated 425 participants from across the United States and parts of Canada.

Though past seminars have striven to be educational tools for the medium, this year's took on a more academic air, with an emphasis on excellent and informative panel topics and panelists.

"Looking at the agenda, you'll see that we are going into a total academic seminar," agenda chairman Kim Pyle told Cash Box. "I think, in the beginning, the seminar was designed primarily for programmers, and it dealt with issues that concerned them." We

by Jim Sharp

NASHVILLE — There are many interesting aspects to Columbia recording artist Johnny Cash's latest single, "The Baron," the most unique being that it marks the first teaming of Cash and producer Billy Sherrill. Although Sherrill has been producing CBS artists for 17 years, with Cash recording with CBS for 22 years, the two have never before joined forces for a record.

According to Sherrill, the reason for this had been that he (Sherrill) "hadn't found the right song for John." Sherrill added that when he and co-writers Paul Richey and Jerry Taylor completed this song, he knew it would be perfect for Cash. "We went in and quickly recorded it because we felt so strongly about it," he said.

Cash seems to concur. "The Baron" is the best song I've heard in years," he said. "I respect Billy Sherrill very much as a producer and an album with him is a possibility."

Cash has worked with a number of producers over the years (Cash Box Salute To Johnny Cash, June 14, 1980) — from the early years with Sam Phillips and Jack Clement to more recent recordings with Larry Butler and Earl Poole Ball. Other producers Cash has worked with include Don Law, Frank Jones, Bob Johnston, Charlie Bragg, Gary Klein, Don Davis, Rodney Crowell, Nick Lowe, Jack Routh and Brian Aherne.

Cash's latest single, which entered the Cash Box Country Singles chart this week at #75 bullet, could also be yet another testimony to the apparent longevity of a country artist — it has long been a belief that country music fans are more loyal to that genre's artists than fans of other musical forms.

Up-And-Down Career

Cash's career, like many artists who have been in the business so long, has experienced a roller coaster effect over the span of 25-plus years. From a string of hits on Records in the late '50s, Cash's career seemed to be on the downturn in the early '60s, with no release able to top the success of such '50s classics as "Hey Porter," "I Walk The Line" and "Ballad of a Teenage Queen." The downhill trend was broken in April 1963 when Cash released "Ring of Fire," which put him back on the top of the charts. And in 1969, with the release of "A Boy Named Sue," he experienced his biggest hit yet, becoming the first artist to ever win five of the coveted Country Music Assn. (CMA) awards in one year.

From that point until 1976 and the release of "One Piece At A Time," Cash had many nationally charted records, but none of super strength. More than three years passed before Cash again experienced a #1 record, "Ghost Riders In 'The Sky,'" which attained that position on the Cash Box Country Singles chart the issue of Aug. 4, 1980.

Although initial response to the single has been quite favorable, it should be even further enhanced by the video Cash and Nashville-based Celebration Prod. recently completed. The project, which officially launched the video production company into the business, and required a 30-man crew, was assembled by the company's principals Jim Martin and Randy Hale. The storyline of the song follows a pool shark who unknowingly challenges his long lost son to a match. Filming was done in a WWII pool room, located in Lebanon, Tenn.

Cash will include the film in his upcoming Spring television special, as well as part of his live concert show.

Gortikov Hits New Royalty Rate At Publisher's Meeting

created on albums in the future.

His reasoning for the first part of this prediction was based on the part of the ruling that concerns tune length. Basically, the new rate calls for four cents per tune, or 3/4 cents per minute. If a song is five minutes or less, it will get four cents, but if it runs five minutes and one second, it becomes the equivalent of six minutes, or six times 3/4 cents, or 4.5 cents per tune, he said. To control the overtime tune length royalty, record companies, he said, may have to choose to retain more of the creative right of the album in order to keep a lid on the aggregate cost of the music.

Fewer Songs

The economics of the situation, he said, would also have an effect on the number of tunes included on an album. Because of the overall cost factor, he predicted, that the number of songs included on an album would decline over the years.

Though the bulk of Gortikov's speech was directed at the mechanical royalty rate, (defending the record companies' views), he did touch on the commonalities shared by the record companies and publishers. He stressed that the most important joint effort between the two factions is the fight against counterfeiting. He challenged publishers to become more involved in the fight against piracy. Charging that there has been little or no publisher money spent in the cause, he urged the publishers to start investing some "big bucks" in the battle. He said that while record companies spend over $1.8 million per year in anti-piracy efforts, publishers, through the National Music Publishers' Assn. (NMPA) a year ago committed $25,000 per year for three years to the cause.

He also asked for the support of the publishing community, the musicians and vocalists' fight to secure a performance right and royalty through Congress.

Lauding the Nashville music community as a "fantastic matrix for creativity," Gortikov closed his 40-minute speech on a softer tone by saying "although I stand ready at any time to articulate our differences, I'm just as eager to sing the same tunes in chorus with you."

Warner Bros. Launches Major Marketing Push

NASHVILLE — The Warner Bros. Records country music division is launching a major sales, merchandising and marketing campaign on behalf of some of its top country artists, including Emmylou Harris and T.G. Sheppard. The campaign, entitled the "Warner Bros. Spring Country Program," has been set to run from March 16 through April 10.

The campaign includes extensive advertising efforts in country radio and print outlets, incentives for dealer participation and a variety of merchandising materials, including specific items custom made for individual accounts. Artists featured are spearheaded by Harris, Sheppard and other key artists. The program will spotlight 10 albums including new releases by Sheppard and John Anderson, as well as selected titles from Harris' $5.98 LP catalog.

Warner Bros. is also releasing a special country sampler for in-store play, entitled "People Who Made Our Country Great," that will feature tracks by Galt Davis, the Bellamy Brothers, Anderson, Sheppard and Harris. Aside from offering special, custom-made end-cap and step down cards for participating accounts, the program will also offer other merchandising aids.

NEW AND DEVELOPING ARTISTS

JACK GRAYSON and BLACKJACK (Koala KOS 331)

Magle Eyes (2:48) (Hinsdale Music — BMI; Temar Music — ASCAP) (John A. Gray, Jack Grayson and Ted Purvin)

Excellent production and a sound reminiscent of an old Bobby Vee tune make Jack Grayson's latest release a good chart contender. Grayson consistently finds a place in the lower half of the charts, and this release may vault him over that hurdle into the Top 50.

NOEL (Super Productions Record SP 642) Lucky Me (2:41) (Foxhall Music/Sir Dale Music — ASCAP) (Noel Haughey)

Newcomer Noel has a fresh, clear voice, not unlike Anne Murray, and she's not afraid to experiment with vocals. This first attempt shows great potential, so really keep an eye open for the follow-up. With a little stronger material, she could really shine.

ALBUM REVIEWS

MUSTA NOTTA GOTTA LOTTA — Joe Ely — South Coast/MCA-5183 — Producers: Michael Brovsky and Joe Ely

LIST: 7.98

For a good slice of Texas circa 1981, Joe Ely's latest album can't be beat. The Texas music man takes the best elements of 50s rock 'n' roll and progressive country and mixes them together to create his own unique style of music. Texans claim to be the absolute leaders of good time and Ely is definitely at the head of the pack as far as good time music is concerned. A few suggested cuts include "Dam Of My Heart," and "Hold On."

MUNDO EARWOOD — Mundo Earwood — Excelsior XLP-8805 — Producer: Jay Collier — LIST: 7.98

Earwood's first album release for the Minneapolis-based Excelsior label insinuates a definite progression for the singer/songwriter. His soft country approach on tunes like "Softer Place To Fall" and "Angela" give the album an overall romantic, ballad feel. Other cuts to take note of include "I'll Still Be Loving You" and his current single, "Blue Collar Blues." This album could be the breakthrough vehicle Earwood needs to propel him to the top.

FROM HOUSTON TO YOU — David Houston — Excelsior XLP-8805 — Producers: Steve Vinling and Tillman Franks — LIST: 7.98

Houston's vocals on this album bear quite a resemblance to the Slim Whitman style — that generous yodeling quality that last year recaptured for Whitman that superstar status he has previously enjoyed in the United States. But while most of Whitman's album selections are of the sentimental nature, Houston grasps a healthy cross-section of honky tonk tunes and solid country ballads.

THE COUNTRY COLUMN

TRIPLE THREAT — Emmylou Harris has much cause for celebration. In addition to sharing a Grammy with Roy Orbison, she saw three more albums join her "Elle Hotel" as gold certifiers: "Luxury Liner," "Profile/The Best of Emmylou Harris" and "Blue Kentucky Girl." Harris also will guest on the Midnight Special March 20, when a special video on her current single, "Mister Sandman," plus "I Don't Have To Crawl" will be shown. She will also appear at the NARM convention April 12, and celebrate a birthday April 2.

REMINDER — ASCAP's seminar on Estate Planning is scheduled for March 17 at 10:00 a.m. at its Nashville office.

PRIDE IN GREAT BRITAIN — Charley Pride will kick off a 14-day tour of England, Ireland and Scotland March 21. Foreign fans will be able to see Pride, whose upcoming album is titled "Roll On Mississippi," in London at the Apollo, the Theatre Royal in Norwich, England, and the Congress Theatre in Eastbourne, England, as well as a few other cities.

QUEEN OF COUNTRY — The Queen of country music, Kitty Wells, is scheduled to make a cameo appearance in the semi-documentary tribute to country music, Country Comes Home, a CBS-TV special that will air April 1. A special segment of the program will trace the evolution of Wells' "It Wasn't God Who Made Honky Tonk Angels," a 1952 recording that secured the legendary singer the #1 position on the charts.

EMMYLOU HARRIS ELVIS #1 — From the archives of RCA to the #1 position on the Country Singles chart — that's what the latest Elvis Presley release, "Guitar Man," has done. And this achievement marks the first Presley recording to top the charts since the singer's death in 1977. Think about it.

ON THE ROAD AGAIN — Ernest Tubb, who is into his fifth decade of road work, is in the midst of yet another massive tour of the United States. In 1980, the Troubadour logged over 200 concert dates, and he is already well on his way to matching that mark this year. A belated Happy Birthday to Mr. Tubb, who recently celebrated his 68th at a sold-out concert in Spring, Tex.

GOT TO START SOMEPLACE — Congratulations to the Piggys on the impending completion of their 1981 self-titled "World Tour," which covered such places as Franklin, Murfreesboro and, of course, hometown Nashville. In fact, the Piggys will be playing Cantrell's March 19-20 on the last leg of the tour. Catch them if you can.

Producer Steve Buckingham was working with Motown group Hi Inergy in Woodland Studios in Nashville earlier this month.

Also at Woodland, Snapp artist Lenne Bowman is cutting an album with producer Little Richie Johnson, which marks the first time the artist has ever recorded in Nashville.

STUDIO ADDITIONS — Two area studios have made additions to their equipment. The Sound Emporium has added a new Harrison RM-2 console to its newly opened Studio C.

The console features all transformerless mic pre-amps, separate return levels for cue-echo, automated fader and easy-set cue send. It is also capable of expanding to 48-tracks. Additionally, the studio at Middle Tennessee State University (MTSU) in Murfreesboro has added a Harrison 2824 console with Allison 65K automation. Congratulations to the National Entertainment Journalists Assn. (NEJA) for presenting an excellent program on the film industry in Tennessee. Jerry Reed, Dan Miller and Pat Ledford also did an excellent job of presenting the positive aspects of a healthy film industry in the state.

CONDOLENCES — Our sincere condolences to the family and Stonewall Jackson friends of television director Alan F. Angus, who died in Nashville March 5 of a heart attack. The 48-year old Newport, England native had become quite a familiar face around town because of his work with Jim Owens Enterprises, and his previous work in the early '70s on The Johnny Cash Show on ABC-TV. Angus is survived by a son, Steve, a daughter, Karen, and his wife, Lorette.

George Burns and John Denver will team once again when Burns makes a special guest appearance on Denver's March 30 NBC television special, which will precede the Academy Awards. Denver will provide backing vocals when Burns sings "I Wish I Was Eighteen Again" and "Old Bones."

Grand Ole Opry star and First Generation recording artist Stonewall Jackson will play a six-month engagement when the world comes to Knoxville, Tenn. in the guise of the 1982 World's Fair. Prior to that, Jackson will have a spring album release on his label, which will feature some of his old hits as well as new material. The album was produced by Pete Drake.

NEJA, BMI HOST REED AND MILLER — The National Entertainment Journalists Assn. (NEJA) and Broadcast Music Inc. (BMI) in Nashville recently played host to Jerry Reed, Walt T. Miller and director Dan Miller and Pat Ledford, the director of the Tennessee Film and Television Commission in an open discussion on the potential of the film industry in the state. Reed, who is honorary chairman of the commission, and Ledford fielded questions from the more than 60 representatives of the press, music industry and interested parties while Miller acted as moderator. Pictured following the program are (l-r): Vernell Hackett, president of NEJA; Elaine Nash, vice-president of NEJA; Miller; Nancy Franklin, BMI; Reed; and Joe Moschoe, BMI.

doing the 6 p.m.-midnight shift at WLOE. He then took a hiatus from radio, working as a studio photographer and preaching in local churches until 1977, when he was hired as a part-time jock with country WCBK/Eden. Fain quickly re-established himself as an air personality and took over the morning slot until 1980, when he was appointed music director and took over the afternoon slot. In addition to his career in radio, Fain has established himself as a writer. His first published novel, The Burning, is receiving very positive acclaim, and two more are on the way. Fain's most recent effort The Earthing of Jack Rains, is based on supernatural occurrences involving a country music DJ, with cameo roles of today's country superstars. Watch for it.

CHANGES AT THE MIKE — One-thousand watt WQOT/Savannah, Ga., formerly owned by Bob Powers, has been sold to Dale Karocostas and Hugh Wheeler. Accompanying the change in ownership is a change in the program/music director. Brady McGraw, previously program and music director for WGSB/Savannah, will take over the reins from Maxwell Gregory. Those who wish to contact Gregory may call him at (912) 232-6505.

Tim Williams, former music director of WFAI/Fayetteville, N.C., has been appointed to the same position at KOKE/Austin. Mike Hankey, a veteran at WFAI, has been appointed music director of the Fayetteville country station.

Michael H. Mallice has joined the staff at KNIX-AM & FM/Phoenix in the newly created position of research director. Operations director of KFH/Wichita, Jason Drake, has announced the addition of Chuck Robson to the line-up of country 13's air personalities. Robson will fill the afternoon, 3-6 p.m. slot, vacated by Craig Davis who has found a new home with CBS Radio-owned KMOX/St. Louis. Robson is the former program director and production director from KWTO/Springfield, Mo., and KCKM-AM & FM/Kansas City.

Bill Faulkner has been named sales manager for recent country convert WWWV-FM/Detroit, a subsidiary of Shamrock Broadcasting Co., Inc. Faulkner is an 11-year veteran of the broadcasting business, most recently serving as general sales manager for KWST-FM/Los Angeles.

BOXCAR WILLIE TALKS WITH CLEVELAND, SPURS PROMOTION — While in town for his recent performance at Cleveland's Urban Cowboy Saloon, Feb. 25, Boxcar Willie paid a visit to radio 14, WHK, where he was a featured guest on jock Gary Dee's morning show. WHK received such a positive listener response, that it followed up with a "Boxcar Willie Sound Alike Contest," which ran on the "Wild Bill" Wilkins show. For five days, between 3-7 p.m., listeners were given the chance to call in and sing a certain Boxcar Willie tune. Winners received "Boxcar" albums to make them aware of the need for more practice.

CASH BOX CONDOLENCES — Cash Box joins the industry in mourning the death of John Gray, music director at KCEY/Modesto, Calif., who succumbed March 10 to heart attack. Gray will long be remembered as a most respected, compassionate man, whose friendship will be sorely missed. country mike will still address many programming issues, but in addition to that, we are branching out into topics concerning management, and sales, as well as how we should present ourselves on the air and off the air to the community. It's more of a total approach, and a total seminar."

12th Country Radio Seminar Offers Topics Of Interest

Themed "Country Radio: Nobody Does It Better," the various topics of the seminar covered a broad spectrum of interests, from "How To Read An Arb," moderated by Bill Figsenshu of Viacom Radio, with George Burns, president of Burns Media Consultants in Studio City, Calif., to "How To Buy A Radio Station," moderated by Lee Masters of KLOZ with panelists Dick Blackburn, Blackburn and Co., Richard Churchill, associate of T.A. Assoc., Boston; Ed Henson, president of Henson Broadcasting, Louisville; and Richard Ferguson, president of Park City Communications.

Pyle noted that this year's seminar struck a healthy balance between outside experts and country radio personnel serving as panelists, offering registrants the best of both worlds. Singling out three of the panels and respective panelists, Pyle was particularly pleased with the "Country Phenomena and Lifestyle" topic, and its speaker John Parikh, partner of Joint Communications in Toronto; the "People Management — Punishment — Reward — Motivation" panel and its speaker Ken Greenwood, president of Greenwood Development Programs of Tulsa, Ok.; and "With Outside Media — Let's Expose Ourselves," with guest speaker Marty Wallace, vice president and creative director of Meldrum and Fewsmitth, an advertising agency in Chicago.

In addition to these panels, more informal sessions were held in the "Rap Room," where DJs participated in an open, free-for-all discussion on pertinent topics facing country radio today.

Adkins Reaches Top Through Personal Distribution, Promo

by Tom Rowland

NASHVILLE — Mike Adkins, a new gospel artist, has almost singlehandedly made a big impression on the gospel industry in one short year by distributing his own record and pushing it to #1 on the Cash Box gospel chart.

In early 1980, Adkins felt compelled to leave a secure position with a coal mine in West Frankfort, Ill., and devote his time to promoting "Thank You For The Dove," an album he had made in the latter part of 1979. He drove an old car across the country, talking with gospel radio music and program directors, and left promotional copies of the LP at the stations, establishing a good amount of airplay within a few months.

In June, he appeared on the PTL Club, and since, has guested on 10 major Christian talk shows, including the 700 Club. While on PTL, a coast-to-coast program based out of Charlotte, N.C., Pat Boone called in and offered to distribute Adkins' product.

Although many would probably seek to differ, Adkins felt it wise to keep "Thank

Word Appoints First Regional Promo Directors

NASHVILLE — Dan Johnson, Word's vice president of marketing, records and music, recently announced the appointments of Doris Purcell and Brad Burkhardt as regional promotion directors for the label. The appointments represent a first for the gospel music industry, where promotion has traditionally been performed at the national level.

Duties of the promotion people will include the handling of rack jobbers, one stops, religious and secular radio, youth groups, churches, campus organizations, newspapers and television.

Purcell comes to Word with credentials in advertising, sales and promotion. She worked in sales for KMOX-AM & FM and KADI-FM in St. Louis in advertising as an executive for ABC and A&M Records. Before coming to Word, she worked in record promotion with EMI/Liberty in St. Louis, Minneapolis and Seattle.

Burkhardt is a native of Atlanta, Ga., and a telecommunications graduate from the University of Georgia. While a student, Burkhardt worked as a college promotion representative for ABC and A&M Records. Before coming to Word, Burkhardt was a local promotion man for A&M in San Francisco and Phoenix.

Purcell will be based in Seattle, Wash., covering the Northwest section of the country. Burkhardt's territory will be the Southeast, operating out of Atlanta.

You For The Dove" on his independent Mike Adkins label. "We felt like the Lord was building us more as a separate ministry," he reasons. "Now, we're able to do a lot of things; we preach and distribute our own records, sheet music and songbooks, and all those sort of things. It gives us complete freedom. We're not under someone else's auspices, and they can't say "we need you to go here" or "we need you to go there" — not that they wouldn't be right on, but it's wonderful having the freedom to choose for yourself. Also, just to be above board with it, it gives us control of 100% of the money we use for spreading the gospel."

Even though Adkins decided to decline the offer, the exposure created quite a stir, and the album began to move. It entered the Cash Box gospel album chart on Sept. 13, 1980 at #18, and after moving upward for 26 weeks, reached #1 on Feb. 21, 1981 holding that spot through two charts. It currently rests at the #2 position.

"Manager Deserves Credit"

The office staff, which began in February 1980 with one person, grew to five employees by February 1981, and Adkins estimates that sales of the LP have reached 125,000 units. He is duly excited, but he is also quick to credit his "manager" for the achievement. "I'm surprised, but not shocked. I say that not because of my abilities, but simply because I realize that God is every bit as great as I ever heard he was. I'm not surprised that He can do this kind of thing — I am surprised that it happened to me in particular — but He really is my manager, and He's the best. His words "down-home" and corny, but it's the truth."

In his early years, Adkins pursued a career in the pop field. He left college to travel with a rock band, and, after a year of cross-country touring, he wrote a song that brought a three-year contract with RCA. He recorded a total of five singles for the label, but never had any real success.

He cited a number of influences that account for the various styles that have found their way into "Thank You For The Dove" and his latest release, "He is Near." He relates that he was guided by Southern gospel, a "refined Christian music style," and a lot of different rock 'n' roll singers — especially Elvis Presley.

The impact of Mike Adkins Prod. has spread internationally, too. He recently completed a trip to Indonesia and plans a visit to The Netherlands in July. He hopes to find some acceptance at that time on European stations that are willing to program English-speaking artists.

Adkins is also channeling his efforts in the future to develop internally-directed crusades and a video gospel program.

ALBUM REVIEWS

FOR THE BRIDE — John Michael Talbot — Sparrow BWR 2021

— Producer: Dan Collins — List: 7-98

Talbot keeps impressive company on this album, joined by the National Philharmonic Orchestra of London. Talbot's rich, mellow vocals are enhanced by the association, as the lush string arrangements provide a background that is neither weak nor overpowering.

ONE IN A MILLION — Stephanie Boosahda — Newpax NP 33090 — Producers: James Barden and Brown Bannister — List: 7-98

Boosahda's "One in a Million" has been revamped and re-released by Newpax in an eye-catching new album jacket. What's inside is as pleasing to the ear as the outside is to the eye. Boosahda's abilities as a songstress become apparent within a few measures and become crystal clear by the last note of the 10 self-penned tunes. Ranging in style from a traditional "Let Your Faith Do The Walking" to a rousing, rockish "Comin' Home To You."

FAMILY PORTRAIT — John and Vickie Wilty — Word WSD 8646 — Producers: John and Vickie Wilty — List: 7-98

Christian comedy? Yes indeed. John and Vickie Wilty prove that it's just as easy to convey a message through laughter as it is through song. The Wittys poke fun at religion with a homespun charm that circumvents blasphemy. Without stepping on toes, "Dillard and Donna Dibbeck" tell the saga of a nagging wife trying to get her husband to go to church — a theme suitable for any denomination.

THE RHYTHM SECTION

ALL-AROUND GIRLS — The budding success of Coollion/Atlantic recording family Sister Sledge is a reflection of the quartet's hard work and maturation in the music industry. These days it's not enough to write and perform your own material on vinyl; in order to reach the fullest creative and financial benefits of their skills, more and more artists are moving toward self-production as well. While this is certainly no earth-shattering revelation, when four sisters, whose vocal styles and likes vary, manage to collectively co-produce their own product, it's an event that puts a black eye on the myth of sibling rivalry. More importantly, for Sister Sledge it's a step toward more artistic freedom. On their current "All-American Girl" LP and title track, which is #6 bullet on the Cash Box B/C Singles chart, the sisters were aided in production by Narada Michael Walden, who, according to sister Joanie Sledge, "made the recording session fun and was beautiful about letting us stretch-out and handle some of the production work." Joanie said that the sisters learned a great deal from watching and listening to the Chic production team of Nile Rogers and Bernard Edwards produce their "We Are Family" LP, whose title track became a B/C chart topper in 1979. And while the group gained national attention when the 1978 Wow series champion Pittsburgh Pirates adopted the song as its anthem, Sister Sledge was capturing another entirely different audience with its Las Vegas showmanship. According to Joanie, the Las Vegas act does not resemble other live performances or necessarily reflect the contents of their albums, but instead exposes another level of their skills, another avenue by which the talented family can improve and control their creativity. Gaining more control over the vinyl product, while exploring other fronts of entertainment, can make possible the inevitable solo project excursions which each sister has contemplated. "Sister Sledge as an entity is a priority, but we each want to grow individually because we do have different tastes," said Joanie. "Going out and working on our own projects is something we all would like to do if it isn't detrimental to the group."

ARE YOU BLUE? — Inevitably one wonders who's spoofing who when it comes to the recently published Annual Playboy Magazine Reader's Music Poll. Are we to assume that a majority of the prestigious men's magazine's sophisticated readers actually think that the Blues Brothers had the best R&B album last year and were the best R&B group of 1980? And ridge number two: who has one pop hit single in 1979, goes into professional hibernation for over a year in preparation of another LP, which is yet to be released and which is 1980 Reader's Poll for best female jazz vocalist? Why, Rickie Lee Jones, of course! While we realize that this is a reader's poll and that consumers certainly and rightfully should express their likes and dislikes, it's disturbing to see the results stray so far from reality. This is not to say, though, that the poll was a total washout. For example, it was heartening to see that Bob Marley and his Wailers copped the #4 honors in the best R&B group category behind the Commodores (#3), Earth, Wind and Fire (#2) and the Blues Brothers. Another encouraging readers' choice was selection of Joan Armatrading as the #3 R&B female vocalist, behind runner-up Diana Ross and category winner Donna Summer.

AIRWAVES — George Ware, head of the Black Music Ass'n's (BMA) radio division and Black Radio Advisory Council (BRAC), recently announced that the second in a series of regional seminars under the theme of "Crisis In Black Radio," will be held in Cleveland, Ohio at Cuyahoga Community College and that programmers, DJs and other radio personnel from the surrounding cities are invited to attend. Covering topics ranging from "The Impact of Communications in Society" to "Cable Radio as an Alternative," the first of the seminars was held last November in New York. According to Ware, there is a "lot of fear, scuttlebutt and hysteria" about the condition and future of black radio, but "little information." He added that "all of the problems in black radio are not political problems, but structural or professional problems" which can be addressed through the expertise of members on the seminar panel. . . WCIN-AM recently announced it will assume programming chores for WOKV-FM, both in Cincinnati. According to program director Mike Roberts, both stations will simulcast an "urban contemporary, black-mass appeal" format during the morning and afternoon drive. Mon-Fri, The AM will concentrate on the 25-49 year-old demographic while WOKV-FM, which has filed to have its called letters changed to WBZ, will go after the 18-34 year-old demographic. . . OAK/Oakland public affairs director Khalil Paheem recently hosted and directed the station's third annual Black Leadership conference, which was held at Merritt College in Oakland. Topics such as economics, education and the justice system were discussed by various local leaders.

MULTI-TRACKED — Qwest Records president Quincy Jones recently began production chores on the label's first solo release for the WEA-distributed company by Patti Austin. Wendy is in progress at New York. Frankie and Stacy with Ricci, Chris Parker, Anthony Jackson, Eric Gale, Ralph MacDonald and Bob James. Music will be recorded in New York before Jones returns to Los Angeles where he will record Austin's vocals. . . Columbia Records' artist Rodney Franklin was recently in the Fantasy Studios mixing his upcoming LP. . . Fantasy/Honey artist Sylvester recently finished work on his forthcoming spring release, which was produced by long-time associate Harvey Funke. . . PIR's Teddy Pendergrass recently commenced work on his next album at Sigma Sound Studios in Philadelphia, with Ken Gamble and Leon Huff producing.

Postage Hike, Strong Dollar Hamper Small Export Firms

competition for us to just pass the cost along."

"It now costs me $3 to mail my catalog to Japan," James Eigo of Daybreak Express added. "I can't just absorb that, it has to be passed along somewhere."

Strong Dollar Slows Orders

The strengthening of the American dollar against foreign currency has also been exercising a marked influence on exporters, regardless of size or volume. Customers, particularly in Europe, have been cutting back or cancelling orders as the value of the American dollar rises.

"As the dollar has been getting stronger, I've been noticing that orders on $8.98 and higher priced items are being cut," said Bill Meedot of Warmid, Inc.

David Eskin of David Eskin, Inc., agreed. "Canadian records are cheaper," he pointed out, "and they're getting quite competitive as the value of their dollar goes down. The Portuguese record prices are also quite cheap."

"I am concerned about the exchange rate," said Elton's Glaser. "It is too early to say that there has been a drop in the business because of the dollar's strength, but there is a hesitation on the part of some buyers who are waiting to see if the dollar will go down. If you ask me, 'do I have a crystal ball and will the dollar go down?' I say, 'yes. The dollar will be back down where it should be by June.' The economic health of the U.S. leaves much to be desired, and there is no good basis upon which to rest such confidence in the dollar. It's purely a speculative thing."

Export Market Unpredictable

"What will happen in the export market tomorrow is very unpredictable," he added. "There is a constant change of economic climate in various countries. There are countries that slowly get into a better exchange and payment position, and suddenly relax the limit of imports. One European country turned around 100%. But for what you gain, you lose another. Things in Central Europe right now are very soft, and Germany is in a mild recession. The last things they are buying these days are records. There is no question that their business has gone back."

"One of our larger customers has ceased buying altogether, based partly upon the strength of the dollar," Stratford's Fletcher pointed out. "We feel there are other people who could take up the slack for us, but aren't because of the dollar. Some of our customers come out and say they are waiting for the dollar to weaken. And the orders are somewhat smaller, with some accounts cutting their new release orders in half."

"Business has started to pick up in the last month," noted Cardinal's Dammer. "But that's really been a result of the troubles of Record Shack and Sam Goody's, rather than a weakening of the dollar. New business is coming in bits and pieces, and customers that had lost interest are coming back." But, ultimately, continued uncertainties about the dollar and additional shipping costs have resulted in tighter credit controls and more apprehensive purchasing by overseas accounts.

Payments Slower

"Those few customers to whom we do give credit have slowed down somewhat in their payments," said Fletcher. "But it's not necessarily the customer's fault. Some of the banks overseas have become notorious for playing the currency rates. A customer will authorize a bank to pay invoices, and the bank will hold it for weeks. We've had this experience in the past. But yes, the strengthening of the dollar has slowed payments somewhat, and consequently, we have to keep a closer watch on our customers."

Town Hall's Rennick reported that that company has "one or two pre-paid accounts, and everybody else is on sight draft or C.O.D." Leon of Albert Schult, Inc. summed up the policy of most exporters when he said, "We never give credit. We have very few open accounts, and those are only companies we've been dealing with for 25 years."

"Everybody's tight on credit," Record Haven's export director, Jim McCarthy said. "And our customers are being much more careful about what they buy, often buying only what is pre-sold. Many of the European distributors that used to speculate on new releases simply aren't doing that anymore. Everybody wants to keep their business in hand."

MOTOR PROMOTION: —Bronze (U.K.) recording group Motorhead recently completed a promotional tour of Europe. Island's Blackwell Will Issue One Plus One Tapes In U.S.

U.S. industry may have something to do with what he called a "sluggish" attitude toward the situation from Warner Bros. "I have certain elements of support there, but they're in a difficult situation because as part of the RIAA, they don't want to go up against everyone else."

Still, he said, he didn't think Warner Bros. would ultimately refuse to distribute the One Plus One. "I think they're a good company and are sensitive to the requirements of the artists and labels they make deals with," he stated. "Even if they won't do it for themselves, I think they'll do it for Island. After all, they know it's Island's neck that's on the line."

Asked by Cash Box about the current feeling toward the One Plus One situation at Warner Bros., Lou Dennis, vice president, director of sales, said, "We are observing the situation in England before making any decision in America."

Blackwell claimed he had not yet heard any reaction to the one Plus One idea from the blank tape manufacturers. "We made a deal with BASF to manufacture our cassettes for England. They have a reputation for quality, and we felt that we needed their credibility," he said.

Blackwell also revealed that in order to step up the quality of his cassettes and lower the price considerably at the same time, Island was forced to reduce its profit margin per tape. Therefore, he said, the company is depending on increased volume to pick up the slack. He believes, though, that "the future of the volume business will be in cassettes."

Island expects that the One Plus One concept will at first be viewed warily by the consumer, whose experience with prerecorded cassettes may not have been a happy one. To prevent resistance on this level, Blackwell said he will lower the quality of the graphics on the One Plus One from color to black and white. "One of the best ways to overcome consumer wariness is to package it so that it looks like that money is being saved on the graphics. Today people are more into the functional aspects of a product than the cosmetic," he stated.

No Extra Cost

"It doesn't cost anything to do it," he related. "The whole problem is that the record business hasn't concerned itself with this kind of thing, they've just thrown the cassettes out and charged the same or more than a record without supplying what people want. Then they're surprised when people make their own."

"The record business is antiquated," he complained. "The problem with all these businesses is that they're owned by large corporations and are now being run by lawyers and accountants in most cases. Their policy is defense, not attack. The only people still making things consumers want are the Japanese, because there's still a Mr. Honda and a Mr. Morita who makes Sony. The 'Walkman' tape player couldn't have been invented in England or America because corporations don't think that way any more."

Blackwell's merchandising innovations are not confined to the area of records and cassettes, however. Recently, he undertook his first motion picture production project, Countryman, a film that will deal with reggae. "At the moment I'm not sure how I'm going to distribute it," he admitted, "but I am sure I'm going to release it on videocassettes first. This will be something new again. I hope and feel I'll get support from the stores in promoting a totally new film on a retail level before it's been seen in a theater, but when you try to do something new, you always meet some resistance." Blackwell plans to release the soundtrack — half Bob Marley, half various reggae artists — on Island simultaneously with the videocassette and, of course, the One Plus One cassette version.

INTERNATIONAL

INTERNATIONAL DATELINE

Italy

MILAN — After Fall 1980, record and tape sales in Italy are rising again. The opinions of the retailers are more optimistic following the results of Christmas 1980 sales (which rose about 15% compared to the same period in 1979) and of the new increase in the market by the Sanremo Festival. The two Sanremo winners (Alice with "Per Elisa," on EMI, and Loretta Goggi with "Maledetta Primavera," on WEA) reached the top two positions in the Italian charts in only one week. Other Sanremo releases — "Sara Perché Ti Amo" by the group Rocchi & Poveri on Baby, and the new dance, Giocca Jurov, presented by DJ Claudio Cecchetto on the new Hit Mania label (distributed by Fonit Cetra) — are rising too in the charts.

CBS started its own distribution system in Italy on March 1. Previously, the company was distributed by CGD-Messagerie Musicale.

The Sony group has established its own company in Italy, Sony Italia S.P.A. The president is Emilio Baruffi, and the vice president is Shihachi Takagi.

Antonio Cocco, formerly head of pop international department at PolyGram, has been named A&R manager at Panarecord. A new label, Lettera A, was born near Viterbo, directed by Sandrino Aquilano. Among the recording artists are Bernardo Lafante, Franco Mechilli and Roberto Reali.

THE LUCK OF THE IRISH — National Record Mart in Pittsburgh ran a special St. Patrick's Day promotion entitled "The Pot Of Gold Giveaway." In addition, the grand prize winner also received five albums that have reached gold status, some Irish brand bacon, ham, brisquets and weiners from the Armour & Company in Pittsburgh and, lastly, a $50 gift certificate for dinner at Houlihan's (Irish Pub), also in Pittsburgh. There were 23 runners up who received five albums that went gold. The promotion was backed by radio spots on WVE and full-page print advertising in the local newspaper. The promotion ran for a week and a half and customers registered to win at neighborhood National Record Marts. There were similar promotions running in four other Marts in the Ohio and West Virginia markets.

Rock 102 invites its listeners to go to any Cavage's store and pick up an entry blank and fill in the 10 songs. These entries can either be dropped off at any Cavage's location or be mailed directly to the radio station. This promotion is backed by radio spots and in-store displays and the grand prize winner will receive a jukebox.

THE DOCTOR'S APOTHECARY — The live remote from the window of Jukey Doctors & Records, Ltd. in Milwaukee (Cash Box, March 14) was a huge success, according to Wendy Birky, merchandising coordinator for the store. Gauselmann-Automaten Acquires Nova Apparate Of Hamburg, Germany

CHICAGO — The German-based Gauselmann-Automaten Group has acquired the internationally prominent import and export company Nova Apparate GmbH Co. KG, Hamburg, effective March 1. One of the leading firms in the European coin machine trade, Nova Apparate was until now solely owned by its founder A. W. Adickes who, due to his advanced age, decided to sell his company. The proceeds of the sale will be transferred to the Karla and Alfred W. Adickes Foundation, to be used for charitable purposes.

Nova is one of the pioneers in the field of amusement machines, starting in the early fifties with the importation of equipment into Germany for the growing leisure industry and subsequently into many other European countries.

Nova is sole importer of Rock-Ola phonographs and vending machines in Europe (excluding the Benelux countries)

Trade Association Is Formed For Distributors

LOS ANGELES — The Amusement and Vending Machines Distributors Assn. (AVMDA), a trade group devoted to the interests and welfare of distributors of coin operated equipment and vending machines nationwide, was incorporated as a non-profit organization in Chicago on March 4. The formation marks the first time and also imports Gottlieb pinballs from the U.S. to Germany and Austria. In the vending industry, Nova handles the coffee venders line from Coffee-Mat (U.S.A.) and the Rock-Ola coin venders, and has developed brands of its own in coffee and hot chocolate among others.

With the ever expanding video game business, Nova has taken on distribution of various key manufacturers in the U.S. and Japan including Atari, Taito and G.G.I.

Paul Gauselmann is the founder, main shareholder and chairman of the Gauselmann-Automaten Group. Under the terms of the acquisition Nova will maintain an independent function within the Gauselmann-Automaten Group and will continue to import and export product on an international scale, with special emphasis on imports from the United States and Japan. The company will market the imported game machines throughout Europe and most of Germany via its network of distributors and in northern Germany directly to operators.

Nova Apparate, which operates from headquarters in Hamburg, is managed by president and co-partner Hans H. Rosenzweig. Rosenzweig has been involved in the leisure industry, both domestically and internationally, for many years.

Alfred Adickes will stay on with Nova until the end of 1981 as a director and in the following years as a consultant, particularly for international business.

CASH BOX SURVEY

Despite Obstacles, Most Ops Support 50¢ Per Play Pricing

by Camille Compaso

CHICAGO — Faced with skyrocketing costs and dwindling profit margins, most operators today agree that 50 cents per play pricing is a concept whose time has come.

"I think 50 cent play is a must," said Ken Thom of Western Automatic Music here. "The cost of operating is climbing at such a rapid rate that if the operator is to stay in business, give good service and provide modern, new equipment, he has few alternatives for meeting expenses and maintaining his income."

But despite a near unanimous consensus that now is the time to raise the price per play on amusement games to 50 cents from 25 cents, operators who have experienced with the new pricing structure on location report mixed results. Player resistance, stiff competition for locations and reluctance on the part of some operators to price increases of any kind were cited as the major obstacles to widespread implementation of 50 cent play.

Successful With Pinballs

Jim Trifunovic of Black Hills Novelty Co. in Gillette, Wyo. is a strong proponent of 50 cent play. "If it's an amusement-type game, we put it out at 50 cents," he said, adding that Black Hills has used 50 cent play with great success since the introduction of Bally's "Silverball Mania" pingame more than a year ago. "I felt there were some significant features on Silverball Mania that no other pin had up to that point, and this change of our warranted 50 cents (per play). Now all of our pinballs are on 50 cents, three-ball play."

John Estridge of Lewisburg, Tenn.-based Southern Games, Inc. agreed that today's games have a lot more "charisma," which helps considerably in the promotion of 50 cents pricing. "The price of equipment keeps going up because the factories are building better games, so we have to get more money in the cash box and 50 cent play is one way of doing it," he said.

But not all operators have been as successful with 50 cent play as Trucano and Estridge. Wayne Hesch of A&H Entertainers in Rolling Meadows, Ill., for example, reported putting some machines out at 50 cents but had to "start turning them back (to 25 cents) because competition from arcades was so heavy."

Competition From Arcades

This seems to be a common dilemma for the street operator. As Hesch pointed out, prime arcades that attract young players are not readily embracing 50 cent play, which places an even greater burden on the route operator who is trying to promote it. "We have tried 50 cent play and were not successful because of the game rooms in the area that had their machines on quarter play," he said.

Another stumbling block, he said, is advertising on local television by arcades offering 10 tokens for a dollar. "Many of these

Bally Promotes Scheer, Barber

CHICAGO — Robert E. Mullane, chairman and president of Bally Manufacturing Corp., has announced the appointment of Ross B. Scheer as president of the Special Markets and Products Division. "The promotion," Mullane said, "was part of a restructuring of divisions of Bally, the world's leading manufacturer of gaming and amusement equipment."

Scheer has been with the Bally organization for 14 years, most recently as director of marketing. Prior to that, he served as marketing vice president for Midway Manufacturing Co., a wholly-owned subsidiary of Bally.

"Mr. Scheer's new responsibilities will include a dedicated effort by his division to analyze, define and create new markets for either our existing products or new product lines that would fit a new market's needs," Mullane continued. "This worldwide effort will help position Bally for successful entry into markets that offer the company the greatest opportunities for future growth."

Mullane stated further, "Mr. Scheer's long and successful record in helping Bally achieve its present position of leadership makes him eminently qualified to undertake this difficult assignment."

The Bally Systems Division, which designs and markets slot data systems, will become part of the Special Markets and Products Division.

Heads Gaming Division

It was also announced that Mahlon Barber has been named president of the Gaming Equipment Division. He joined Bally in 1973 as operations manager of Bally Distributing Company and became president of the subsidiary in 1980.

In his new position, Barber's responsibilities will include the development and marketing of Bally gaming equipment, principally slot machines, on a world-wide level.

In announcing the appointment Mullane stated, "Mr. Barber's experience in the development and marketing of slot machines make him highly qualified for this position. He is recognized as one of the foremost authorities of worldwide marketing of gaming equipment."

Realignment Of NAMA Officers Is Announced At February Board Meeting

CHICAGO — Ralph L. Sanese, president of Sanese Services (Columbus, Ohio) was elected treasurer of the National Automatic Merchandising Assn. (NAMA) at the February meeting of the association's board of directors, succeeding Howard A. Michaels.

Changes in several NAMA officer positions resulted from the resignation of Jerry L. Zaug as senior vice chairman, which took effect at the meeting. Zaug resigned because he sold his interest in Zaug's Inc. (Appleton, Wis.) and is no longer a NAMA member.

New 'Pink Panther' Multiple-Ball Pingame Is Released By Gottlieb

CHICAGO — "Pink Panther," Gottlieb's new multiple-ball pingame, is currently being shipped to distributors. In announcing the release of the new model, Marshall Caras, vice president-marketing, stated, "We feel 'Pink Panther' makes the most imaginative use yet of the multiple-ball feature with some really unique design twists. Our

"Pink Panther" preceded game, "Force II," sported an unusual two-ball feature, but Panther is in a class by itself.

Gottlieb engineers have energized the game's ball action by adding super power to the mechanical elements of the playfield, resulting in a dazzling frenzy of action that players will find stimulating.

"Achieving a balance between hyper-action and skill shooting is a difficult task, but our designers have pulled it off," Caras continued. "For one thing, the multiple-ball feature, which has been so difficult to attain for the average player in previous games, is now achieved with considerably more frequency. This has widened the appeal of this feature tremendously."

As play proceeds, players immediately discover that they can activate the captive holes by completing the Pink Panther target banks. When both balls are captured, the third ball releases both captive balls by passing over any top rollover.

During the multiple-ball, players try to collect diamonds by hitting the nine spot targets on the black drop targets. A "diamonds" scoreboard is featured on the backglass, showing the "player's total" and the "total to beat." Special is awarded if the player's total exceeds the total to beat. The player's higher total then becomes the new total to beat.

Gottlieb's marketing group, including the Eastern and Western regional sales managers, Jim Newlander and Jim Phillips, recently met in Chicago for an intensive two-day review of the game and a discussion of promotional plans for a communications blitz, acquainting the coin industry with this remarkable new flipper game.

"As every operator knows," concluded Caras, "there is a wide variety of games available in the field today, as well as tremendous competition. The test period has shown quickly and dramatically that Pink Panther is going to be one of the top games in 1981, and we are, needless to say, more than gratified."

50¢ Play Pricing

arcades should try 50 cent pricing and in this way make it easier for us," he said, adding that a lot of the real game players seem to gravitate to the arcades to see the new games.

Don Van Brackel of A. Van Brackel & Sons in Defiance, Ohio is another operator who has had little success in trying to promote 50 cent play on his route. "We experimented with it in a variety of different Game Plan's sales incentive promotion, on the factory's current "Intruders" video game, proved to be a very successful endeavor, as we learned from marketing vice president Ken Anderson. The promotion offered a trip to Las Vegas, based on the number of Intruders sold by distributors (one trip was earned for each six models sold) and there were instances where distributors qualified for more than one package. The prize trip included airfare, accommodations at the Dunes Hotel, food, etc. — plus some pocket money. Anderson, along with Game Plan president Darrel McCollough, escorted the group and among the winners represented on the trip were: Hanco Distg., Musical Sales, Blotta Distg., Birmingham Vending, Betson Pacific, Bay Coin, J-Mak Distg., Empire Distg., R. H. Belam, Coastal Games, Culp Distg., Coin Machine Dist., Inc., Peach State Distg., Mountain Coin Distg., Brady Distg., Greater Southern Amuse., Diversified Sales, Cleveland Coin, United Distg., Rowe Int'l.-Nashville and Lanell Canada, Inc. A great time was had by all.

With "PAC MAN" selling at such a phenomenal pace, is it any wonder that Midway's director of sales Larry Berke has been just about glued to the phones. Everybody wants the game and, at this point, Midway is heavily back ordered yet trying very hard to meet the demand. What's more, Berke told us the recently released "Rally-X" is also starting to show signs of being a hit piece. And then there is "Gorf," the sensation of the ATE, which is currently being sample shipped to distributors. Need we say that this, too, is a much sought after game (and that's putting it mildly). . . . Incidentally, on March 10 Larry and his lovely wife, LaVerne, celebrated 33 years of marriage. Cash Box felicitations to the happy couple and best wishes for many more years of happiness together.

BALLY'S FIELD SERVICE CHIEF Bernie Powers has been huddling with Midway's service manager Andy Ducau on a program for the planned service managers seminar, to be sponsored by the factories over a three-day period in the near future. Event is an industry first, Powers said, and will be open to distributors on a worldwide scale. More details later. . . . Meanwhile, Bally's Arnie Aarstad recently conducted a school at Empire Dist. in Green Bay. Ed Schmidt led a school in conjunction with the multi-factory seminar sponsored in Hawaii by Advance Automatic Sales; and Powers will be running a school March 19 at Greater Southern Dist. in Atlanta.

EASTERN FLASHES

Business is very good at Bally Northeast-Dedham, where the spotlight still seems to shine brightly on video games — such as Midway's "Pac Man," Williams "Defender" and Stern's "Berzerk," to name a few. However, as Bob LeBlanc pointed out, a turnaround in pinball sales is becoming more apparent, thanks to such hot, new models as Bally's "Xenon" and "Flash Gordon" and Williams "Black Knight." Just takes some exceptional new product to get things moving again. LeBlanc also noted that ops are very choosy about what they're buying these days, meaning the hit syndrome is becoming even more prevalent. Buyers are going strictly for hit merchandise — and they're buying it in numbers. Bob was in attendance at the recent Amusement Operators Expo in New Orleans. A two-day Bally-Midway service seminar is scheduled at Bally Northeast in late April, with schools also planned for the Syracuse and Buffalo branch offices.

Called The Mondial-Springfield office while the area was in the midst of its first major snowstorm of the season. About 10 inches were expected when we spoke with Tony Yula. Up to this point they've been pretty lucky down here, hopefully, balmier weather will make a quick return and melt all that white stuff. Mondial has been enjoying brick video business, Yula said, but there's also a very promising new pin on test — and its name is "Pink Panther." The upcoming Gottlieb machine is really looking good. Among the videos he mentioned were Gottlieb's "New York, New York," Nintendo's "RadarScope," Gremlin's "Space Tactics" sit-down piece, the ever popular "Asteroids" and "Missile Command" from Atari; along with such new arrivals as Taito America's "Space Invaders Trilimite" and Gremlin's "Astro Blaster." He added that the Seeburg "Phoenix" is proving to be a shot in the arm for the ailing music business. The model is being very well received.

CALIFORNIA CLIPPINGS

Cash Box wishes to congratulate C.A. Robinson's Ira Bettelmann on his appointment as president of the newly formed Amusement and Vending Machine Distributors Association. Meanwhile, on the homefront, Ira tells us that C.A. will be getting shipments of "Asteroids Deluxe" by the end of the month. He also says that the distrib is been getting samples of Midway's "Rally-X" and "Gorf," and that combined with "Pac-Man" they look like a good 1-2-3 package. Bally's "Flash Gordon" pin and Stern's "Berzerk" are also causing quite a lot of excitement on Pico Blvd. About "Flash Gordon," Bettelmann comments that, regardless of the difference of opinion over pins being a strong seller, there is room in the market place for one of the best pinball games to come along in years.

HAD A BRIEF CONVERSATION WITH Betson Pacific's Oscar Robins who, like many other distrib sales managers, feels that the company's biggest problem is supply of video games. "Even Atari and Midway, the two biggest manufacturers, are having trouble keeping up with the demand," insists Robins. Also enjoying an upswing at Betson is music as Robins says he noticed more of a run on Rock-Ola phonographs lately.
