Cover Story

The Blood of Gerry Goffin

His life's work is not likely to go up in smoke like the cigarettes he chain smokes while writing a song lyric or recalling one of the many sagas that have inspired one of his hits. The man who for many years was the lyrical partner to Carole King has quietly amassed a body of pop music works that have brought him awards and propelled him in to the halls of fame for many organizations. But it hasn't all been easy, and like the rigors of life outside of music, he has spilled his share of Backroom Blood, which is the title of his forthcoming Adelphi Records album. Cashbox staffer John Rhys interviewed the songwriting icon.

VH1 Honors Boasts Star Line-up

A LITERAL STAR VISTA comprises the list of artists set to perform at the 1996 VH1 Honors concert, set for April 28 at the Universal Amphitheatre in Los Angeles. The cable net also plans a series of programs focusing on the industry's involvement in social issues and on the global rights organization Witness, to which VH1 Honors pays tribute during this third staging.

Bryan Adams, Don Henley, Natalie Merchant, Joan Osborne, Rod Stewart, R.E.M.'s Michael Stipe, Nusrat Ali Khan and Peter Gabriel, co-founder of Witness, are all slated to perform during the nationally telecast presentation. Actor/director Tim Robbins will handle the hosting chores and will be in the company of luminaries such as Oliver Stone, Jimmy Smits, Sean Penn, Anthony Edwards, Timothy Hutton, Susan Sarandon and Holly Hunter, all of whom will serve as presenters.

Ken Ehrlich and Mark Angotti, VH1 vp of productions, will serve as exec directors of the program with Michael A. Simon directing. VH1 Online will cover the event live from Los Angeles and through its website on America Online and World Wide Web will include interviews with artists' information about Witness and behind-the-scenes reports.

Several documentaries and pre-show coverage of the concert from the Universal Amphitheatre comprise the programming block scheduled by VH1, which kicks it off with The Best of VH1 Honors, a collection of the best performances from the 1994 and 1995 concerts that will debut April 15 and run through the month.

A special 30-minute documentary titled Witness: A Program For Change, will feature interviews with Gabriel and others entertainers about the organization and its aims to help local rights groups worldwide in their quest for equality. It will air April 17. Music Matters is a one-hour documentary on the the history of rock 'n' roll songs—from Marvin Gaye's "What's Going On?" to Bob Dylan's "Blowin' In The Wind"—that have sought to focus on social issues and foster change. That show will air April 19. The Concert for Bangladesh chronicles one of the most famous concerts for social change ever mounted. It will premiere on April 20.

Bayer Sager & Foster On Quest

DAVID FOSTER AND CAROLE BAYER SAGER have been set to write the songs for Warner Bros' first fully animated feature film, The Quest For Camelot, currently in production aiming at a late 1997 release, announced WB Feature Animation president Max Howard.

"We're thrilled to have these two wonderful talents joining our project," stated Howard. "David and Carole really impressed us with their feeling for the story and characters in The Quest For Camelot; we felt certain that they would bring emotional texture and a really accessible soundtrack to the story. They have already submitted a song to us that we're all crazy about and are hard at work on several others that we think are truly exceptional."

The Quest For Camelot, set during the early building of that kingdom which has inspired artists and pundits for centuries, has a screenplay by Elizabeth Chandler, Jacqueline Feather and David Seidler and will be directed by Bill Kroyer and Frederick DuChau. Frank Gladstone is producing; Sue Kroyer co-producing. Foster will compose the orchestral score with Bill Whelan.

While Sager's lyrics have earned her an Academy Award and seven nominations for her work in film tunes—"Arthur's Theme (The Best That You Can Do)"—the animation score will be a new venture for her.

Foster has taken home 12 Grammy Awards and been nominated 37 times as a composer, producer, arranger and artist, producing the song "A Dream Worth Keeping," which was performed by Sheena Easton on the soundtrack

EAST COAST

SHE KEEPS WINNING AND WINNING AND WINNING: Rock chanteuse Alanis Morissette, who was the big winner at the recent Grammy Awards, repeated the feat in her native Canada where she walked off with that country's top Juno Awards, the Great White North's Grammy equivalent.

ONE FOR THE SOFT AND SAD: Saturday night in Manhattan is normally a hustle and bustle, but for rock, this March 9th was pushing into overdrive. With four venues hosting bands that on any other night would have packed them in, the musically conscientious had to pick carefully. If only for pure freshness Brownies had a line-up that has rarely been inside the confines of the Hudson and East Rivers. Holiday is a band that is as sweet as the thought of not going to work. Their matching suits and twee poppy sparks had hands coming together for an encore, surprising for an opening band, but they deserved it. Their debut CD is on the March Records label. Pacific Ocean is a super group of sorts, featuring members from New York up and coming acts such as Versus, Containe and Ditch Croaker. The trio builds on rock sounds, but with a very keen sensibility that keeps it highly accessible. The club was made into more of a back porch when Joel R.L. Phelps' ensemble took the stage. Mr. Phelps is a former member of the Seattle-based rock constructionist - Silkworm. Parting ways he has taken a dramatic turn to the ever-growing territory that Son Volt, Freakwater and Sparkhorse are currently plowing. The well-crafted gems have the music taking the low road as Phelps uses his voice as knife and salve for his songs. His first album on El Recordo is very aptly named Warm Spring Night. A very hard act to follow, but the duo of Damon and Naomi did it very deftly building on the atmosphere that the previous act had created. The group, whose second album is The Wondrous World Of Damon & Naomi on Sub Pop, were two-thirds of the much-respected Galaxie 500 (which spawned the band Luna) and also play out with the psychedelic improvisers Magic Hour. This rare appearance saw them spin their melancholia into a wide web that was as delicate as it was unavoidable in which to get tangled. While only using acoustic guitars, a squeeze box and vocals, they were more powerful than a whole array of amps and pedals. A singular event for sure.

WHAT GOES AROUND: If the compact disc is good for anything it is the ability for any number of artists to finally get their material into the public eye once again. A number of interesting albums have recently come down the pike. Building on the resurgence of interest in Krautrock (which includes such bands as Kraftwerk, Faust and Neu) Caroline Records has started the Gyroscope imprint to get such artists as Hans-Joachim Roedelius, Dieter Moebius, and world-renowned producer/musician Brian Eno into domestic release. A whole host of releases are expected within the next few months. Out now is Upstart Sounds release It Came From Memphis. This is a compilation of influential yet obscure artists from the birthplace of rock, which is a companion to the book of the same name written by Robert Gordon. It includes tracks (picked by the author) from Furry Lewis, Lesa Aldridge, and The Avengers. Razor & Tie has already made a name for itself by delving into the musical backlog. The Irma Thomas Collection continues their tradition of searching out those R&B musicians who, though never topping the charts, had any number of hits, and more than deserve to be re-heard. With George Jones' Bartender's Blues, one of country's masters gets another one of his records back into print. No doubt there are many more nuggets to be mined in the backhills of recordings.

Radio consultant Jeff Pollock (right) recently hosted the annual Pollock Media Group's "New Media and Music Conference 1996" in Los Angeles, which attracted special guests such as Joan Osborne (left) The Gin Blossoms, Cracker, Dog's Eye View, Jewel and Adam Durwitz of Counting Crows.

EXIT—STAGE... As you you read this, I have moved on down the road. But don't cry for me, sports fans. It was time...But let's wrap up a couple of things.

THE 19th BAMMIE AWARDS provided a windfall of kudos for song bard Chris Isaak and his band Silvertone. Isaak and company walked off with four of the five awards for which the band and its individual members were nominated. Additionally, Isaak was the winning write-in candidate for Outstanding Bay Area Musician of The Year, and also took Outstanding Male Vocalist during the Bay Area Music Awards handed out at San Francisco's historic Warfield Theater. The singer/songwriter and the rest of the band won for Outstanding Album (the Reprise release Forever Blue), Outstanding song ("Somebody's Crying") and Outstanding Group.

Greenaday walked off with a pair of Bammies, one for Outstanding Hard Music album or EP (Insomniac) and one for the band's Tre Cool in the Outstanding Drummer/Percussionist category. The new jazz combo The Charlie Hunter Trio bagged a couple of Awards. The guitar-led group one for Outstanding Jazz LP (Bing, Bing, Bing) and for Outstanding Jazz Club band.

Ramblin' Jack Elliot won the Bill Graham Lifetime Achievement Award, which follows his Grammy win for Best Traditional Folk Album for South Coast. Musician/technophile Todd Rundgren received the Arthur M. Sohcot Award for his excellence in performance and public service to the Bay Area community.

There were several luminaries on hand to present and perform, including the aforementioned Chris Isaak & Silvertone. Bammie winning blues artist John Lee Hooker, Bonnie Raitt, Clarence Clemmons, Grateful Dead's Bob Weir, Narada Michael Walden and jazz singer Joe Louis Walker.

HAVEN'T FOUND THE NEXT BIG THING IN THE CLUBS YET? Maybe you should check out L.A. outfit Trees Of Tar. A trio that mixes up its rock. Trees Of Tar play rock with a heavy tone at a variety of tempos. If you don't believe me, see for yourself when the group plays the Coconut Teazer on March 27...Gonna sign off here. Until that time, until that time.

Gerry Goffin: Never Too Late To Rock And Roll

By John Rhys

IT IS DECEMBER, 1960. A newly-married couple sit in a chilly New York apartment. The young lady is sitting at a piano while the young man paces the floor scribbling words on a notepad and chain smoking cigarettes. During the day she is a secretary and he is an assistant chemist. Their combined salaries barely keep body and soul together. This couple, like many other young people in this new age of rock and roll hope to eventually make a living in the booming music industry flourishing in New York City. Times have been hard. Forty songs written. Two b-sides released. Not much return for 18 months work. Perhaps the song they're working on now will be the one that will turn the tide. In this new music business, fortunes and stars are made overnight. Little do they know of what is about to happen.

The young lady in this scenario is Carole King and the gentleman is Gerry Goffin. The title at the top of Goffin's notepad is inscribed "Will You Love Me Tomorrow." A verse and a bridge to go and the rest will become history. Goffin and King. Names synonymous with the term "hit record." Each the "half" the other was missing. Lyricist and composer. Integral parts of a hit song. In the years between 1961 and 1971, Goffin and King were responsible for at least 50 major chart records and millions of dollars in revenue from record sales and performances, a record still unequalled by any other team of songwriters to date. Such titles as "Take Good Care Of My Baby," "Up On The Roof," "Go Away Little Girl," "The Locomotion" and "Some Kind Of Wonderful" are merely a few of the literally hundreds of recordings worldwide for which the team of Goffin and King are responsible.

It's 1968 and the team has come undone. The marriage is over and though Goffin and King will still write together, this doesn't happen until "Smackwater Jack" is co-written for Carole King's Tapestry album.

This line from Goffin's new Adelphi Records album Backroom Blood might best depict the situation:

"Sure a woman can be like a gangster/But what would you do without her?"

(from "A Woman Can Be Like A Gangster").

The new album and the three-song single that Adelphi is rushing to the marketplace this month is an answer to that lingering question and a testament to this man's resolve, something that the song bard has had to bolster on more than one occasion.

Flash as far back as 1968 and 1969 when Goffin had nothing on the charts. The dissolving of the golden relationship the end of an otherwise brilliant career? Hardly. With the same determined attitude with which Goffin made it into the United States Marines, he hit the streets and the studios in search of other composers with which to write. It wasn't long before he found keyboardist Barry Goldberg and this union resulted in Gerry's first performing album It Ain't Exactly Entertainment and was released on Adelphi Records in 1973. For years Goffin's social conscience was tormented by actions happening vis a vie the US government. Vietnam, Watergate etc. This album allowed him to unleash this anxiety and resulted in several releases by major artists. One of which became a top ten record by Gladys Knight and The Pips entitled "I've Got To Use My Imagination."

Between 1974 and 1996, Gerry was nominated for an Academy Award for the theme for Mahogany, "Do You Know Where You're Going To". Inducted into both the Songwriters Hall of Fame and the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame, plus winning a Lifetime Achievement Award from the prestigious National Academy of Songwriters.

Along the way, Goffin developed a new template for the penetrating angst and release that forms the filament of Backroom Blood.

Flash forward.

It's Thursday, March 7th, 1996 and a writer is sitting in the Beverly Hills office studio of Gerry Goffin. The conversation focuses on many of the crossroads in the songwriter's life. At times Goffin's look is distant as though he is reliving moments of pain or joy, all of which are vivid on his expressive face. He describes the point in his career when he was renegotiating his contract with Don Kirschner then of Dimension Records. He is fully animated as he tells this story. "Our contract was running out with Donny Kirschner. The first three years Donny paid us (Goffin and King) $1,000 for the first year, $2,000 for the second year and $3,000 for the third year. Well, Donny says he'd like to contract us for another three years, but since we did pretty good for him on our prior contract period, this time he'll advance us $10,000, $20,000 and $30,000 dollars a year, consecutively. By this time I had retained Walter Hofer, a powerful attorney in Manhattan, and his advice, after reviewing our successes of the previous years, was to ask for a $1 million advance. 'Wow!' I thought 'Donny will never go for that'."

The songwriter reflects for a second then a smile lights up his face. "It just so happened that I had taken up flying and while these negotiations were going on I invited Don to come for a ride in my plane. It was early morning when we took off from Teaneck Airport in my single engine Cessna. One of my favorite things to do, still being a kid and all, was to buzz burning garbage.

Gerry Goffin lights up his home studio with song.

It was like being on a rollercoaster. Nice and bumpy. Well, Donny didn't like it and wanted to land, but I decided that this might be a good time to talk about our contract and told him then and there that I wanted a million dollars to re up my contract. He was livid and asked if I was crazy. The long and short of it is, I got the million but had to sign for eight years instead of three." Gerry tilts his head back and roars with laughter, "You should have seen his face."

Then Goffin speaks of his friend and mentor, Doc Pomus, and of music publishing giants Lieber and Stoller. New York City was the music Mecca at the time. Of the Brill Building, the pluggers, the execs, the hustlers and the mob, he speaks with knowledge and love of his beginnings and his peers in the early days of rock and roll.

Now it's time to talk of the future. Of a new project on which Gerry has embarked. A project titled Backroom Blood, soon to be released on the Adelphi label. Goffin is serious as he describes the cuts, one by one, with the intimacy only the writer can fathom. He recalls one of the greatest moments in his life when Bob Dylan, (co-writer with Goffin on two of the cuts), "Walked into my living room. I didn't know if he was puttin' me on or what. All I remember was that Carole and I went to see him in the early '60s at Carnegie Hall and after the concert, Carole and I went home and broke all our records. It was then we knew we had to grow up and that times were changing radically. Bob Dylan was responsible for all that." Gerry says Backroom Blood is almost totally politically-motivated and also fulfills his need to express his anger and dismay at a world gone seemingly mad. This stanza from the title track aptly sums up the sentiment of Backroom Blood.

"The world's been run with backroom blood/Long before the time of the flood/And it's you who are betrayed/The tragedy of the trade."

Gerry Goffin. One of popular music's proudest products.

REVIEWS By Steve Baltin

SPIN DOCTORS: "She Used To Be Mine" (Epic 7715)

After a disappointing sophomore effort, the New York four-some wisely returns to the friendly funk-pop of the successful Pocket Full Of Kryptonite record. If the band didn't burn all its bridges then this song will be a hit with all the outlets that made "Little Miss Can't Be Wrong" a radio favorite. The question is did fans and radio already give up on 'em. Let's hope not. This lively single deserves a shot.

MINISTRY: "Lay Lady Lay" (Warner Bros. 7467)

I don't know if the scariest thing about this cover of the Bob Dylan classic is the fact that Al Jourgenson and the guys tried it or that it actually works. The band shows some reverence by subduing it by its standards, but you still won't hear it on Adult Contemporary. However, you will hear it on Modern Rock stations.

STONE TEMPLE PILOTS: "Big Bang Baby" (Atlantic 6691)

Maybe all the times of being called Stone Temple Pearl Jam's have taken a toll on this San Diego-originated outfit. But the band seems to have gone out of its way to revamp the highly successful hard-edged "grunge" sound that catapulted the band's first two albums to platinum and beyond. While it may be commendable, it's easy to already see the confused looks on the faces of fans. Very '70s in nature, "Big Bang Baby" is a huge gamble. If it pays off, great. But if not...

PICKS OF THE WEEK

EVE'S PLUM: "Cherry Alive" (550 Music/Epic 7449)

The title track from the group's latest album is yet another example of the superb work of which this ridiculously underrated act is capable. Mixing a hint of a techno beat with a funk backdrop, the band creates one of the most seductively enticing songs that'll come your way in some time. Led by the teasingly sensual vocals of Colleen Fitzpatrick, "Cherry Alive" is a dynamite change from most of the stuff on rock radio these days. Though I've said it before it always seems to fall on deaf ears. So, I'll give it one more shot. Get with it. Eve's Plum rule. If this song doesn't get you jumping, you have no pulse.

POE: "Angry Johnny" (Modern/Atlantic 6660)

The second single from the Princeton grad's stunning debut album, Hello is a fiercely seductive number that is deceptively easy-going. Slow and methodical, "Angry Johnny" is a number with a smoldering fire beneath Poe's enticing vocals. Another winner from the album, "Angry Johnny" should expand even further the growing fan base "Trigger Happy Jack" set up. A natural for college radio, and a song worthy of a look by hip Modern Rock stations in need of something different.

REVIEWS by Steve Baltin

■ LOS LOBOS: Colossal Head (Warner Bros. 4-46172)

While it's not an easy thing to follow up an album as critically praised as Kiko, the East Los Angeles quintet gives it a hearty shot. An eclectic collection, Colossal Head doesn't feature one defining sound. Though underneath much of the eccentricity a dirty blues sound seeps through more often than any other genre. Particularly on "Can't Stop The Rain." But with the Spanish sounds of "Mas Y Mas," it's once again impossible to pigeonhole the band, the nicest thing you can say about these wonderful musicians. Other standout tracks include "Little Japan" and the instrumental, "Buddy Ebsen Loves The Night Time."

■ THERMADORE: Monkey On Rico (Atlantic 82874-2)

Born from the ashes of Los Angeles acts Rob Rule and Mary's Danish, Thermadore has been attracting a lot of advance buzz because of its friends. The trio's debut album features guest appearances from Red Hot Chili Peppers' Chad Smith, Pearl Jam's Stone Gossard, drummer extraordinaire Josh Freese, Rain Phoenix (River's sister), Dada's Michael Gurley and former Mary's Danish vocalist Julie Ritter. However, it's far from the rocking alterna-fest one would expect. On "Three Days" you can hear a bit of the Grateful Dead, while the lead single, "Amerasian" offers a Tom Petty influence. And "Candywrapper" is an admitted homage to Elvis Costello. The result of these varying influences is a disc laced with good songs that sound different. That's the real reason Thermadore should have a buzz.

■ THE FREEWHEELERS: Waltin' For George (American 43007-2)

Don't let the dated '70s ambiance fool you, this quintet brings a modern sensibility to its rocking retro sounds. The George Drakoulias-produced debut is a guitar heavy collection. With the album being sold at a reduced price and the band on a heavy touring schedule, American is wisely letting the word of mouth spread about the Freewheelers. Standout tracks include "Crime Pays," "Let The Music Bring A Smile" and "Ghost Of Tchoupitoulas St."

■ 7 YEAR BITCH: Gato Negro (Atlantic 82873-2)

The Bitch is back with this hard-hitting 12-song disc. Feverishly paced, Gato Negro is an aggressive opus likely to connect with adolescent listeners as well as college-age students everywhere. Particular favorites figure to be "24,900 Miles Per Hour," "Crying Shame" and "Sore Subject." Produced by Billy Anderson and 7 Year Bitch, this figures to be the record where people finally realize the band is no novelty. Not quite punk nor hard rock, the Bitch has a sound all its own. And you gotta love 'em for it.

■ MARK EITZEL: 60 Watt Silver Lining (Warner Bros. 4-46152)

Simply put, Mark Eitzel is a great songwriter. Unfortunately, not many people know that. If they did, Eitzel's former band, the critic's darlings, American Music Club would still be together. Instead fans of the band will have to comfort themselves with the second solo effort from the '90s answer to the Smithereens' Pat DiNinzio. This album doesn't rock by any stretch, but there is no one more tortured in music today than Eitzel. However, it definitely works for him on the beautiful "Saved" and "There Is No Easy..." And Eitzel lets a little sunshine in on the opening "Sacred Heart." But AMC's audience never listened to Eitzel to get happy. Not to worry. Their favorite neurotic is still the brilliant tormented songwriter he's always been.

PICK OF THE WEEK

■ AFGHAN WHIGS: Black Love (Elektra 61896-4)

After what seems like an eternity for its faithful, the Cincinnati band follows-up to the stunning Gentleman record with its first album in three years. Almost as lyrically dark as Gentleman, lead vocalist/songwriter Greg Dulli continues his assault on modern relationships in "Blame, Etc.," "My Enemy" and the disc's best track, the opening "Crime Scene Part One." However, though the theme remains largely the same, the music does not. The band continues the soulful sojourn that they began with its recent contributions to the Beautiful Girls soundtrack. Despite the melody though, the first single, "Honky's Ladder" is already in rotation on MTV and a favorite at Modern Rock stations throughout the country. Also of note is the grandiose closing ballad, "Faded." Featuring organ and cellos among other things, the song shows an act continually striving to grow. With Black Love the band continues the journey that puts Afghan Whigs on par with NIN and Smashing Pumpkins as the most important young band in rock.

ALBUM REVIEWS By Gil L. Robertson IV & Michael Hill

ME & MY COUSIN : International (Priority 53558) Producers: Various

On their new album this rap duo delivers some great beats and rhymes that will for sure keep the Spring jam comin'. This record has a great western flavor to it, laced with some P-Funk action that should enable them to generate substantial retail attention and radio airplay on a variety of urban formats. Another plus with this group can be found with the lyrical content found throughout the record. Their music is all about having fun and a great party, which from the sounds of this record they will. Standout tracks: "Smooth," "To Catch A Player," "International," and "Red Capet." (MH)

JESSE POWELL: Jesse Powell (Silas LSJD 11287) Producers: Various

On his debut effort Jesse Powell offers a great variety of R&B from which to choose. Ballads, funky hip-hop and even a little rap is represented here with the material offered given excellent execution by the artist. The production values here are first rate and the producers have gathered some great material to showcase this artist's incredible range. Expect strong club action and urban radio support with this one. Standout tracks: "Looking For Love," "Let Go," "If You Like It's You That I Need," and "All Alone." (GR)

CHANTAY SAVAGE: I Will Survive (Do'n' It My Way) (RCA 07863) Producers: Various

On her second album the RCA songstress really delivers the spirit and warmth behind R&B music. Vocally, Savage's delivery is strong and she is backed well by excellent production and musical teams that include Steve Hurley, Kay Fingers, Chuck Thompson, Jerald Muzik, Marc Valentine and Calandra Green. A wide range of material is offered on this project, ranging from soulful R&B to bump and grind grooves that will get your feet moving. Altogether this is an excellent project and a great follow up to her debut, a gem of a record that went widely unrecognized. Savage doesn't have to worry about that this time. Expect strong support from urban formats across the board. Standout tracks: "I Will Survive," "All Night, All Day," "Love Need Want," and "Turned Away." (GR)

PICK OF THE WEEK

HANNIBAL: African Portraits (Teldec 988002-2) Producer: Matin Fouque

This is an ambitious project that, through music, traces the experiences of the African American from the motherland to stateside. An enormous musical apparatus was assembled to make this project possible, the Chicago Symphony, a full gospel choir and the esteemed conductor Barenboim. Together they do succeed in mapping out the experience of a people whose music has endured through the ages as a testimony to the spirit and resilience of the human soul. Although this record probably won't generate much radio support it does deserve support from not only the urban community, but classical and jazz formats as well. (GR)

URBAN RETAILERS UNITE: They call themselves United Independent Music Retailers Association (UIMRA) and what they are is a consortium of 13 Southern California urban retailers with the central purpose to more effectively market and promote business between the music community and consumers. The organization works with record labels and the urban radio community to bring artists and employment opportunities into urban communities. For the retailers, membership in the organization increases store identity, better label rapport as well as positioning the retailers with better buying power as a group with the recording industry. Additionally, the organization motivates and encourages its consumers to invest in the future of black independent retailers by increasing and continuing patronage which in turn will lead to growth for the independent music retailers. UIMRA is a team of highly motivated individuals dedicated to improving business and the relationship with customers and communities.

Urban Single Reviews

By Michael Hill

■ BAHAMADIA : "Bahamadia" (EMI 4PRO10447)

What a title, what a rap style! Bahamadia has arrived armed with enough energy and style to make her the next big thing in East Coast rap. She isn't flashy and her track isn't heavy with beats and breaks but she is flowing in a way to get and keep the party started. This young female is sweet and with her radio friendly personality, should go a long way in the hip-hop community.

■ DG: "Soakin Wet" (HCIBD 42285515-4)

This debut single from the hip-hop heads at How Can I Be Down Conference is a R&B track by the group DG. This single contains all the essential ingredients to make it a hit. The vocals are filled with enough harmony to make you yearn for more. The remix of this single further expands the realm of musical approval this should achieve from consumers.

■ SHABAZZ THE DISCIPLE: "Crime Saga" (Penalty 0167)

This is some serious street rap coming from Penalty Records. This track is the type that would make even the Wu-Tang proud. It is so phat that they shouldn't have messed with a remix. This track is dirty with East Coast beats seeping all over it and Shabazz kicks some lyrics that are so descriptive that New York Undercover studio heads should be looking for him to write for them. This boy is sure to either make a few friends when his album hits the street or he will surely have a few enemies because of this. Let's hope for the prior choice and his success will be imminent.

Formed in 1989, the group Girasoules is one of three rock en Español bands to be recorded on the newly formed label, NRT Rock Latino. The album, Cuestión de suerte, has an overall solid and consistent beat. Lead vocalist, Quique Tarraso, offers a somewhat in-your-face attitude in his vocal style. But, that again, is very European. The first single is the swinging "Sin Trabajo" (Without Work) featuring guitarist Juan Luis Giménez.

■ LOS RODRIGUEZ: Palabras Mas, Palabras Menos (WEA Latina, 12026) Producers: Joe Blaney, Los Rodríguez and Walter Chacón. ROCK.

These Spanish rockers interweave a mixture of rhythms including pop, country, and even flamenco. That's probably what separates European rock from their Western counterparts. The group, for example, is formed of two Argentinians, two Spaniards, and one Puerto Rican. The popular group has already sold a quarter million units of their latest work. Producer Joe Blaney, who has worked with the former Prince (Love Sexy y Black) did an excellent job on all 14 numbers. A fine sampling from one of the most popular groups in the rock en Español world.

■ BRAVO SALVATTI: Tú Eres Mi Vida (Amaya Musik, ICD-4U) Producer: Bravo Salvatti. POP.

The Spanish composer-singer, Bravo Salvatti, releases a very pleasant sounding album of pop ballads with his album Tú Eres Mi Vida. Based in the U.S. for over 16 years, Salvatti conceived and produced his album due to the lack of interest from the major labels. The result should be gratifying since the well-produced album carries a high quality and appealing sound. The title track is exquisitely performed as is the Roberto Livi number, "Adonde Andaras Paloma."

PICK OF THE WEEK

Two giant composer-singers unite in a live recording of some of their best material. How can such a concept fail? Pablo Milanes of Cuba teams up with Victor Manuel of Spain on this live concert recording. The event was taped at the Plaza de Toros in Málaga, Spain. Seventeen incredibly performed numbers are offered here. Milanes alternates with Manuel, then both sing as sweet duets. The true gem is Milanes' "Para Vivir" that displays his exquisite piano playing and unique vocal style. Simply an incredible album and a must for any fan of these two outstanding artists.

WEA LATINA'S LAUNCHES IMPRES-

SIVE LINE-UP: The Miami-based label announced recently that its current album priorities have surpassed the company's expectations. Last month, international Spanish pop star, Miguel Bosé's new album, Laberinto, was released in the U.S. Recorded both in Madrid and London, the album is the second in a forthcoming trilogy. The first in the series, Bajo el Signo de Caín, has been one of the singer's most interesting achievements. Bosé utilized highly sophisticated instrumentation in conjunction with a digital sound recording. In large part, the artist collaborated closely with producers Ross Cullum and Sandy McLelland.

Miguel Bosé.

On the Mexican front, young singer Lorenzo Antonio, has recorded his second tribute to his favored artist, Juan Gabriel.

The first album gave Antonio a Gold album having sold more than 150,000 units. The second album, Tributo 2, contains all new material of which the lyrics were written by Gabriel. The themes include: "Loco Enamorado," "Amándote," "Diles," "Diferentes," "Te Quiero Mucho, Mucho," "Me Despertó la Realidad," "Hoy Todos Mis Días," "Eres Divina," "Ojos Azules Como el Mar," and "Ahora No y Qué Buena Suerte." Under the direction of producer Tiny Morrie, the album took six months to complete and three studios: Red Sound, Devonshire, and O'Henry's in Hollywood. The arrangements were by Víctor Valdez, Joe Cueto, and Javier Alurralde. The first single, "Amándote," will be accompanied by a musical video produced by Carlos Marcovich. The setting will be the Foro 3 of the Estudios América de México in the Federal District in Mexico City. The artist will appear with model Aurora Robles.

A busy man these days, songwriter-singer Juan Gabriel has been in the recording studio recently with Dominican singer, Angela Carrasco. She arrived in Mexico to help promote her new album that was produced with Juan Gabriel. The romantic ballads album focuses on the 1930's to 40's era with themes written during that period. One of the numbers is "La Malquerida" by Soriano and González. Another is the ranchera "Liberó Abierto" by Fidel Valadez which is done as a duet by Carrasco and Gabriel. Other numbers include: "Aunque Pasen Mil Años" by Tino Contreras, "Di Que No es Verdad" by Alberto Domínguez, "Lágrimas de Amor" by Moreno and Barrios, "He Sabido Que Te Amaba" by L.Tenco-Gil Luano-Guiu Clark, "Amor y Olvido" by Salvador Rangel and Gabriel Luna de la Fuente, "Por Equivocación" by Charlie López and Raúl Vicente, "Como Golondrinas" by Manuel "Wello Rivas" Rivas, "Por Qué No He de Llorar" by Fernando Valadez and "Por Qué No Fui Tu Amiga" by Rosendo Montiel.

The Brazilian brother duo, Leandro y Leonardo, continue with their skyrocketing success. They recently showcased at the Poliedro in Caracas, Venezuela having been invited to receive the Meridiano de Oro award. The brothers have nine albums to date. Their Spanish-language song, "Piensa en Mí," has done well in South America. It has been used as a theme for a Colombian soap, Señora Isabel, and gave the singers tremendous exposure on radio stations throughout that country.

Finally, the Chilean rock group, La Ley, is busily promoting its latest single "Día Cero" as well as the video. The group recently appeared to a euphoric crowd at the Viña del Mar Amphitheatre.

La Ley.

La Ley appeared with fellow rockers Maná and Café Tabuca last month at the famed Festival de la Canción de Viña in Chile. One of the more popular rock groups to tour the U.S., the band launched a concert tour series this month with appearances in Argentina, Colombia, and Spain.

Indie Reviews

By M.R. Martinez & John Rhys

PICK OF THE WEEK

■ UNDERGROUND REBELLION: *AI Immaculate Funktism (Treasure Line LR-CD-495)

Slow-rollicking funk, snappy rhythms, references to classic R&B and some almost ethereal, smoothed-out textures highlight the freestyle frenzy on this East Bay offering. Under the guidance of Krush of Krushdelic Prods., this album is full of live music which is sampled and remixed for maximum effect, and radio airplay. Guests such as labelmates S.N.O.P., Qwest artist Saafir and P-Funk alum guitarist Mike Hampton contribute to the album. Tracks that can hit the airwaves and also generate sales for the album include "Drownin' in A Sea of Funk," "Rotten Apples" and perhaps the swarthy bass grooves of "The Major." But, the mix on this disc is always unusual, like on "304 Stroll." They can be bawdy, too, like on "Westbound," where the swirling undercurrents pull you in. New Age rap from Northern California? Naaah! This is just some carefully organized rebellion against the current fare in the marketplace. (MRM)

For trumpeter Bobby Shew, this album might be a dream come true, but he might have to share it with fans of trombone player Carl Fontana, who trades solo with Shew on many tracks and helps propel the swing high into the groove. Both musicians demonstrate a respect for the standards material, which is a healthy mix of improvisational excursions and lyrical, harmonious exposition. George Cables on piano, bassist Bob Magnusson and drummer Joe LaBarbera provide needed sustenance as a rhythm section without overwhelming the lead players. "Bag's Groove" gently swings, while the Jobim standard "Girl From Ipanema" eschews most of the lilting bossa vibe marking most renderings and instead is infused with more of a samba two-step. The Jobim composition, along with Rodgers & Hart's "My Romance" and "The Night Has A Thousand Eyes," was arranged by late trumpeter Herbie

Making Records The Correct Way

By Gil L. Robertson IV

IN THE SPACE OF SIX MONTHS, Beverly Hills-based independent label Correct Records has developed an exceptional profile within the highly competitive urban music community. With only a seven person staff, the label has accomplished the herculean task of firmly breaking its debut group, the rap/hip-hop duo Mannish, into the commercial marketplace. Featuring the hit singles, "Expect That," "Jive U the Man," and "Tasha's Room/Speaker's Time," the duo's debut album Audio Sedative, offers a clever mix of R&B sounds accentuated by appealing raps that have made the group both a club house and underground radio favorite. While the group's music is impressive, even more remarkable is the Correct's highly creative and aggressive marketing strategies. Utilizing a grass roots campaign that would leave any political candidate's mouth watering, the label has mapped out a plan to bring its artists even greater fortunes.

A subsidiary of Grindstone Entertainment, Correct Records is the brain-child of businessman Ian Hunt and film producer Don Schneider. Activities at the label are handled by its general manager, industry veteran Kevin Harewood. A former general manager for HUSH Productions and Talent and Department executive at the William Morris Agency, Harewood is backed by a talented executive line up that includes; Liné Spencer in publicity, Darryl Vincent and Dennis White in sales; D.J. Newark, artist development; Pam Lewis, video promotions and M. Hernandez, as label coordinator. The in-house staff is further augmented by a field promotions staff that includes N-Five in Los Angeles, T. Moore in Northern California, Shrewd Marketing in Chicago and Scrappy in New York.

Handling distribution for Correct is the ubiquitous INDI.

The mission over at Correct is clear: to create good music that the public will enjoy. According to Harewood, the label has plans to aggressively pursue that goal. "Our goal at Correct is to create records that offer something for everybody in the urban community. Now that our debut project with Mannish has been received successfully by record buyers, we plan to stretch further into other areas by developing artists whose music encompasses all areas of the urban music genre.

Mannish

"At present we are planning to release five projects this year. The music community can expect debut projects from a terrific dance hall/reggae group called Nooks & Lupa, a straight hip-hop offering from a group that's called Al Tariq (KOOL FASH) and three others who are still being developed. This year our goal has been to establish a solid business foundation for ourselves as well as making artistic inroads. With that done we plan next year to venture into jazz and alternative R&B formats. At Correct we're about doing business the right way. By doing that, we expect to be around for a long time to come."

ALBUM REVIEWS (Continued from page 7)

Phillips, his last such work before passing. The album is dedicated to his spirit, and it shows. (MRM)

A truly gifted entertainer, Wynonie Harris swept through the barrelhouses and juke joints of America like a raging fire during the mid to late '40s. It's said his ability to drive audiences wild is legendary. People still talk of the hysteria Harris caused at various venues throughout the country during the postwar years. Here, there is certainly evidence of the beginnings of what the venerable Jerry Wexler coined "Rhythm and Blues." The expanded mid-point between acappella gospel shout and R&B of the '60s marks this music. These beautifully re-processed 1945 recordings represent the very best of "Mr. Blues," as Harris was then known. (JR)

■ PAMELA WILLIAMS: Sax-tress (Heads Up HUCD 3034)

Yeah. And she can bring some noise, too. Just like Candy Dulfer combined good looks with some credible saxophone work, Pamela Williams can be easy on the ears and eyes. The lush music here is suited for the Black Adult Contemporary radio airwaves and consumer sensibilities. Williams follows in the tradition of George Howard and Najee as she selects material that plays to her strengths and allows plenty of room for the groove, which is varied in tempo. Williams gets some stellar support on her cover of the Quincy Jones hit "Secret Garden" as Patti LaBelle and Teena Marie provide urgent, yearning vocals. "Latin Lullaby" bumps along on vital rhythmic interplay, which best showcases Williams' ability to combine lyricism with rhythmic energy. (MRM)

■ HULA MONSTERS: Party Platter (Mega Truth MTR 9506). Producer: Jon Bare.

This is good time blues at its best. Hula Monsters is a four-piece band consisting of Hank "The Hula" Mann on Hawaiian steel guitar and vocals with Jon bare plucking rhythm and lead guitar. The rhythm section is beautifully melded by Chet McCracken on tubs and George Hawkins playing both fretted and fretless bass. If you want to break the ice at a party, this is the CD for you. Reminiscent of the '40s swing of the Southwest, this album will surely put a smile on everyone's face. Great fun combined with style make this CD a must for any lover of steel and slide guitar. Nothing serious here, folks, just uptempo, rock-out merriment on vinyl. So put up those plastic palm trees and boogie! Check out "Joyspot," "She Don't Mind" and "Key to the Hiway." (JR)

■ LYNDAL'S BURNING: Angry Room (Top Notch 7458070003260)

The trio of Ian Ritter (lead vocals and organ), John McLaughlin (bass and percussions) and Eric Ritter (guitars) is joined here by drummer Vaughn Shinkus on an album that links together clever bridges, shifting textural dimensions and lyrics that sometimes offer a poetic quality. The tapestry is a post-alternative rock sound that permits story-telling whether the music gets grungy or bluegrass/folky, R&B hip or AAA classic. Tracks that stand out include: "Happy Scrappy," "Old Shoes," "Black And Blue" and "Mouth." (MRM)

Thanks To Frank, on March 26 that is inspired by his mentor, Frank Zappa. In addition to being one of the first albums dedicated to Zappa, the album is Cuccurullo's debut solo effort.

"This is not a tribute album," Cuccurullo said, "it's simply saying 'thanks' to Frank for a chance to make a career for myself in what I love doing most, making music."

Thanks To Frank contains 11 tracks composed, arranged and produced by Cuccurullo.

Edgar Bronfman, Jr., president/CEO of the Seagram Company, Ltd. of Canada and the point man in the company's acquisition of MCA, Inc. will be honored by the Entertainment and Music Industries division of the UJA Federation of New York during its first Steven J. Ross Humanitarian Award Dinner set for May 30 at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel. The black-tie affair will be chaired by MCA, Inc.'s chairman emeritus Lew Wasserman and his wife Edie, as UJA fetes Bronfman for his philanthropy and community service.

I.R.S. PACKS CARGO: A distribution agreement has been entered between I.R.S. Records and San Diego-based independent company Cargo Records. The deal calls for I.R.S. to provide manufacturing and major label distribution through CEMA on selected Cargo titles, and on mutually agreed instances, sales, marketing and promotional support will be provided.

The first Cargo releases under the deal are reissues, including The Classic Years by Fluf, which shipped in February; Cheshire Cat by San Diego punkers Blink 182, which recently shipped; and singer/songwriter Cindy Lee Berryhill's Straight Outta Marysville.

"Of all the labels we met with, I.R.S. had the greatest understanding of what we do and the problems we face as an indie," commented Cargo president Eric Goodis. "Our agreement is open-ended, with no minimum or maximum releases."

I.R.S. general manager Mike Bone commented: "Eric is our kind of guy. Cargo today has the same spirit I.R.S. Records did 15 years ago, and it's good to see that spirit infused again here."

Warner's Executive A Top Decision

By John Goff

ONCE UPON A TIME, five miles above the earth, the denizens of Washington, D.C. were in danger.

Washington, hell! half the entire Eastern Seaboard.

Now, while a Washington housecleaning might not be a bad idea in reality, politico-speaking, by terrorist nerve toxin is a bit drastic, and this is Entertainment (yes, with a capital E)—you could see that gag coming a line away, couldn't you?...Sure you could, just like you can see several in Warner Bros. Silver Pictures' Executive Decision.

Ah, but getting to them and watching producer/writers Jim and John Thomas and director Stuart Baird put some neat spins and twists on them is more than half the fun. Thomas, Thomas & Baird, along with their top-talent cast never attempt to lead their audience to any drinking fountain other than that of entertainment, and it can drink as deeply as it cares to while enjoying every moment. Silver Pictures head Joel Silver should have a golden grin on his face after this Executive lands at the boxoffice—especially after his last two, Fair Game and Assassins.

The Thomas Brothers' script is an action-thriller with neat, subtle humor, drawing you in with the obvious and then spinning on it; building tension, breaking with a laugh and then jabbing again.

This is Baird's directorial debut. Impressed with the obvious? Spin now, look at what he's edited: Lethal Weapon, LW2, Die Hard 2: Die Harder, Tango & Cash, The Last Boy Scout, Demolition Man and a pair of Supermans among others. Exec Decision's still impressive directorially. The man's got a strong future ahead of him calling the shots.

Kurt Russell's a Washington-based American intelligence analyst and expert in international terrorism who sees through the plot of loose cannon terrorist David Suchet, whose band of merry men have hi-jacked a 400-passenger loaded 747, ostensibly to demand release of their imprisoned leader. Special Forces leader Steven Seagal takes an elite team up in a Stealth Bomber to board the 747 via an experimental in-flight transfer hatch—we're talking five-mile high Hi-Concept here. Seagal and half the team are blown away when the experimental goes bad but half plus Russell and swizzle-stick chewing design engineer Oliver Platt make it on board, and the fun begins.

There are some subtleties to the script and action, if you want to take the time to look for them: Brain Russell and brawn team of John Leguizamo, Joe Morton, B.D. Wong and Whip Hubley work together with respect for one another with barely a nod to the testosterone-ego muscle vs. gray matter staple; and once the obvious goal of terrorist leader Andreas Katsulas' release is secured, worker terrorists want to turn back while demented Suchet takes to his own agenda—crazy bastards give everyone a bad name; and a not-so-subtle vote chasing politico senator solidly essayed by J.T. Walsh on board who gets blown away in all his phoniness.

Central to all the action, thought and tone is not only Russell's character but his performance. Russell is one of our premiere actors. He's built a solid Star career on varied characters without taking Star turns and is allowed to play outside a set arena. He's adept at comedy, subtle and broad; solid in action and drama. He's one of the few performers today who can work in practically any area and be accepted because he's able to bring a universal, recognizable humanity to each character; and he's so damned camera knowledgeable it's simply delicious to watch. Seagal adds his own particular brand to a set-piece role. Leguizamo continues setting in place varied roles, out of drag and into fatigues here. Morton is called on to do his performing from a stretcher—no easy feat—and gets all the necessary tension from that fixed position. On-board ally, spunky flight attendant Halle Berry's character is a necessary plot exposition device but the actress invests a nice immediacy to the role. War room habitués Paul Collins, Nicholas Pryor, Stanley Grover, Eugene Roche, Ken Jenkins and Charles Hallahan offer proper concern for the situation.

UA's Party A Landmark

By John Goff

The family and friends surround Eric Roberts at his party: (front l-r) Olivia Newton-John, Marlee Matlin, Margaret Cho; (middle) Gregory Harrison, Roberts, Lee Grant, Paul Regina; (back) George Segal, Bronson Pinchot and Dimitra Arlyis.

REMEMBER THAT GREAT OLD TUNE—"It's My Party and I'll cry if I want to!"? Well, writer/director Randal Kleiser has updated the lyric to "It's My Party and I'll die if I want to" to fit the farewell-themed party tossed by a dying man—and it works, on several levels.

It's My Party will be looked back on probably as a breakthrough mainstream film about gays. It's not full of the popular haranguing bitchiness of the over two-decades old former "breakthrough" Boys In The Band nor even full of the cloaking comedy of the more recent Birdcage. It's My Party presents an eclectic bunch of people, most of whom happen to be gay, offering up feelings (yes, some are bitchy), emotions, concerns, memories, and all that goes along the life path of people from every avenue of life—even homophobes, skinheads, liberals, rightwingers and evangelists.

Yes, Kleiser allows it to get sappy sometime and, yes, he rams a few messages down the audience's collective throat. But, thank God, he doesn't beat us over the head constantly. He's set himself a rather dicey challenge with all he's juggling here and he keeps it all up in the air admirably.

Eric Roberts is dying of AIDS-related PML, Progressive Multifocal Leukoencephalopathy (untreatable brain lesions) which will kill him or leave him in vegetable state within a matter of days. A life-loving person he had previously decided to go out with a party. All his friends, family and former lover Gregory Harrison gather to either celebrate or make peace before Roberts takes himself out, with the help of close friends and a double handful of pills washed down with good booze.

Kleiser has drama, comedy, pathos, heroism, and he manages to make them all appear as a slice of life in just another house on the block. He takes cliches such as George Segal's disappeared father-turn-up-after-20 years to make peace and spreads it thick enough to arouse feelings but just thin enough to work while passing on the Lee Grant mother vs. Segal father sitcom-tempting element while allowing the relationship an edge with actor-attitude and glances.

Will it all open up a new avenue of filmmaking acceptance for the homosexual community ala product with gays as a "family" unit operating with the sturm und drang of outside prejudices? On a big budget scale, doubtful—Kleiser and company made Party on a limited budget and the director/writer called on friends from past productions and those concerned with what he was attempting to do. It does, though, present a day-to-day picture with it's opening credits of a couple (Harrison and Roberts) building a life, loving, accepting one another on equal footing before the spectre of the disease rends their relationship. It presents that relationship with the differences most couples face, and what happens when outside influence (in this case AIDS) is introduced.

Kleiser has assembled a first rate cast. Roberts, stepping totally outside his usual cold-killer, bad-boy sphere brings just the right amount of edge from that area to keep his death-knell character from being too maudlin. While his "brightness" seems a bit forced at times the overall performance is a career changing turn and the actor is terrific. Harrison, as the more calculating film director-estranged partner overcomes a shallowness of character to give him depth simply through his observations at the party. A solid portrayal. Paul Regina as a friend and suicide aide, while not in the forefront, projects a strength throughout which other characters lean upon and draw from. It's a subtle but super piece of work. Segal steps totally into character work here as a father not fully knowing what's going on or what's happening to himself. Solid. Lee Grant as the mother has several fine moments as does Bruce Davison, Marlee Matlin and Margaret Cho. Roddy McDowall makes the most of a suicide opposing agent and Bronson Pinchot provides the flamboyance most audiences will expect, and gives a bit of a twist at leavetaking. Another solid portrayal. Olivia Newton-John does nice double duty, as actress and also songwriter/singer of closing tune "Don't Cut Me Down."

Joel Thurm and Kleiser produced the Opala production for UA release.

The Worst Movies Of All Time

Or: What Were They Thinking By Michael Sauter

MICHAEL SAUTER MUST HAVE HAD one helluva time researching this one. Can you imagine sitting through all The Worst Movies Of All Time?—well...yeah. I've seen most of these mentioned, and then some; even worked on one mentioned within these pages. No, I won't say which one.

Sauter must feel pretty good about this, and well he should. It could be a fairly profitable franchise since Hollywood is putting out more and more bad movies all the time, he can continue to update.

He's a lighthearted writer and has tongue in cheek some of the time while he's downright brutally sincere in other instances. There are times, however, when a supercilious tone creeps in, and when he's dealing with so much material that tone becomes overbearing and takes the fun away from the contents. The feeling, when those moments occur, is that Sauter had an overabundance of material and an underabundance of patience to deal with finding a new angle to approach or a new vein to stick a needle in. It would have been better to simply let the material speak, stink, or sink, for itself.

Sauter slices the material up into three pieces Part I: The Megaton Bombs—50 in all dating back to the 1930s with C.B. DeMille's Sign Of The Cross and moving through Myra Breckinridge and Valley Of The Dolls up to the '90s with Christopher Columbus: The Discovery. The difference is, in looking back at the oldies there is a certain charm to them because they were the pioneer products, and in comparison to the megabuck disasters of today, with all the technology imparted, the '90s bombs fairly reek with theatre clearing rotten egg-limburger cheese-pumped-into-the-air-system-Digital clarity. It's a point not lost to the author.

Part II: So Many Bad Movies, So Little Space lists another 30 set aside for special mention with their own titles: i.e.—"The Worst Marlon Brando Period Piece" (Desiree); "The Worst Tarzan Movie" (Tarzan The Ape Man-Bo Derek starrer)...you get the idea.

Part III: The Baddest of the B's lists another 100 or so which a B rating could be considered to be more than kind. Ed Wood's repertoire makes this category; along with Incredibly Strange Creatures Who Stopped Living and Became Mixed-Up Zombies. True title. Have I ever lied to you?

All of this is lit up with either stills from the questionable material and/or replicated poster art which, in itself, is a lesson in history and selling points.

It's fun and when you start it all you won't be able to stop it.

News From The United Kingdom, Ireland & Europe

By Hal Levy

UK TOP TEN SINGLES: Coming onto the chart in number one spot is Take That's "How Deep Is Your Love" pushing Oasis's "Don't Look Back In Anger" to second spot, moving Robert Miles's "Children" to three. Coming onto the charts at four is Boyzone's "Coming Home Now" followed by another newcomer, Supergrass with "Going Out." Gat Decor's "Passion" is also new on the charts at six while 3T's "Anything" lands on seven. Eternal's "Good Thing" joins the list on eight with Technohead's "I Wanna Be A Hippie" on nine. Rounding out the list is Luniz's "I Got 5 On It" in the ten spot

Topping the list of UK albums is Oasis's What's The Story Morning Glory while Columbia-TriStar's Jumanji is the top movie house hit.

SPEND YOUR TIME AND MONEY WITH, Pillar, a UK property company, who is buying two leisure parks that are under development. The parks, in South Tyneside and Stockton-on-Tees will include nightclub operations and bingo halls in addition to family entertainment. The upcoming changes in the gambling laws that will permit slot machines plus larger bingo jackpots is expected to lead to a boom in profits.

GOTCHA MTV: France's MCM International is hopeful of launching its African service this month, thereby beating MTV to the punch. MTV is planning to start their African service next year. MCM was launched in France in 1989 to combat what it considered the U.S. and UK musical domination on MTV Europe. MCM features a minimum of 70% European music played and claims 15 million households in Europe, with France having one and a half million. MCM says they will play their European schedule, plus adding two hours of African content at peak time including news and African charts. As time goes on, the African music and news content will be increased. MCM is currently investigating extending their services to the Indochina area and while they claim to have replaced MTV in most of Russia, they are also working on a Russian service, similar to the one in Africa.

FINAL FIGURES from MIDEM show that the UK had some 82 exhibitors and more than 500 companies present. 25 of the UK companies exhibiting were first comers to MIDEM.

COUNTRY & BRITAIN: This year's Great British Country Music Awards, March 21, is expected to be carried on BBC-TV. The Awards, introduced last year, will first be broadcast live on BBC Radio 2, then at a later date, be seen on TV as a 45-minute special. With the addition of new category, Best Live Show of the Year, total awards number 16.

UP WITH THE NEW: EMI has come up with a scheme to have retail outlets join them in promoting new artists on all EMI labels, which include EMI Premier, EMI UK, Chrysalis, Parlorphone and Cooltempo. EMI Channel will come out with a quarterly magazine, samplers for in-store play, updates, special press releases and display materials. For £200, an additional service, Soundsite will offer stores a listening post that is frequently updated with new releases. What with the added incentive of preferential rates, about 100 retailers are expected to join Soundsite, with another 50 added by mid-year.

I WANT TO UNDERSTAND: And understanding the language is important as far as record sales go. While in many countries local groups tend to dominate the charts and total sales, in places like Ireland, Canada, New Zealand and Australia, the U.S. and the UK have the dominant position on the charts. And this applies to the U.S. as well, with foreign groups, including the UK, having less than 25% of the market.

HOW OLD IS NOSTALGIA: Well, according to BBC 2, it's The Golden Eighties. The new series, Peter York's Eighties, presents memory time with the likes of Adam & The Ants, The Specials and Blondie.

When Virgin's album Virgin's Best Eighties Album In The World...Ever went Gold it helped fuel the interest in the eighties. PolyGram has plans to release a Gary Numan greatest hits collection.

THE POLES AND THE PIRATES: In May 1994, Poland enacted copyright laws that were in line with other Western European countries. Included in the new laws was a 3% tax on blank tape purchases. Pirate record sales dropped from more than 75% to less than 30% by 1995. This year Poland expects to become party to the World Trade Agreement and the WTA will help cut down piracy even more. Top albums in Poland hit as high as 500,000 units.

NASTY NASTY UNCLE SAM: And comes June, the EU Council of Ministers is expected to make it final: namely the 51% quota of European produced programming for European television stations. While the current laws have a quota system, the clause, "where practicable" has enabled many TV stations to ignore setting quotas. Hardest hit will be the subscription movie channels, according to the Association of Commercial Television (ACE). American films currently control 80% of the European market and 60% of programming is American. Germany and Britain are opposed to the quota system, the so-called "television without frontiers" while France and Ireland are among the supporters of the idea. You can judge the size of the potential market when you realize that in the past ten years the number of European stations jumped from 49 to 129 and estimates are the number will reach 500 by 2000.

GOING AND GONE AND UP AND COMING: With the split up of Take That, music promoters all over the British Isles are searching for the new boyband that will take their place in the hearts of teenagers. Ireland, of course, is pitching in with the Boyzone, but the Brits are looking for one of their own. Groups like East 17 are pushing for the title, and new groups are being put together, with, according to some, the main emphasis on the "look" rather than the music. So we're seeing specially designed groups like the Suburban Surfers being presented to the record companies as the new Take That.

AND A CHILD SHALL LEAD THEM, but will it be to court. Still in the news is the incident at the Brit Awards when Jarvis Cocker jumped on the stage during Michael Jackson's number. While the press reported that parents of the children reportedly injured where going to sue, thus far no charges have been brought against him. Cocker claims that the unedited footage of the TV show will prove he didn't hurt any of the kids in Jackson's act.

WHEN HIGH ISN'T HIGH is what Status Quo is trying to find out by suing BBC RADIO 1. Status Quo says their single, "Fun Fun Fun" was high on the charts and yet Radio 1 refused to put it on their playlist. Radio 1 countered with the statement that they do not necessarily playlist every record on the charts, pointing out examples such as Mr. Blobby, Robson & Jerome and Cliff Richard. In the past two years, said Radio 1, the station has been concentrating on the playing of new music and artists, and while acknowledging that Status Quo was on the charts, said there were plenty of other stations who were playing their single, pointing out that BBC Radio 2 had the single as the Record of the Week.

EAR PLUGS: Three members of the Black Moon sound system collective had their equipment confiscated and were fined £250 each under Section 63 of the 1994 Criminal Justice Act. They are the first people convicted under Section 63 which prohibits "gathering illegally to play amplified music likely to cause serious distress to inhabitants of the locality." The group were expected to play at a free concert, and were busted before the event started.

Single Reviews By Wendy Newcomer

RONNA REEVES: "My Heart Wasn't In It" (River North Nashville 51416-1142-2)

The Texas half-pint delivers another one to radio. Will it be accepted or denied? Reeves has been waiting patiently for many years for that elusive radio single; "My Heart Wasn't In It" is her surest bet yet. It has a good beat and you can dance to it—nah, just kidding. It does have a memorable hook and Reeves' most convincing performance to date.

JOHN MICHAEL MONTGOMERY: "Long As I Live" (Atlantic)

Looks like Montgomery has found a tried-and-true formula—syrupy love songs of utter devotion—the stuff dreams and number ones are made of. Pretty good tune, but can the "John Michael Wedding Songs" book be far behind?

THE SKY KINGS: "Picture Perfect" (Warner Bros. PRO-CD 8100)

The word "supergroup" was coined for bands like this one. Comprised of former members of New Grass Revival (John Cowan), Poco (Rusty Young) and half of the duo Foster & Lloyd (Bill Lloyd), The Sky Kings' are a record label and a music lover's dream. Cowan takes lead vocal duty on the group's debut single and as usual, drives it through the roof (and into space, for that matter). Unfortunately, The Sky Kings have played it too safe for their first outing with a song that is merely likable. Maybe the next single will take the band into overdrive.

SAWYER BROWN: "Treat Her Right" (Curb)

"Treat Her Right" has the same kind of impact that SB's "All These Years" had. Lead singer Mark Miller lays aside his robotic "dance man" personae long enough to give listeners a real treat. It's a side of the band we don't get to hear enough.

PICK OF THE WEEK

PAUL BRANDT: "My Heart Has A History" (Reprise PRO-CD 8054)

Canada has been holding out on us. First Shania Twain, then Terri Clark, and now Paul Brandt. The newest northern neighbor's first single is a showcase for both his vocal range and knack for writing a radio-friendly country song. Brandt's dips and twangs are a dime a dozen; it's his interpretation of the ordinary that makes a good debut an extraordinary one.

CMT Sponsors McGraw/Hill Tour

By Wendy Newcomer

COUNTRY MUSIC TELEVISION IS TEAMING UP with two of today's biggest stars—Tim McGraw and Faith Hill. The video network announced it will sponsor the 1996 Spontaneous Combustion Tour for a 100-city run, marking the largest, most-sustained sponsorship to date for CMT.

"CMT is proud to be a part of this exciting tour starring two of CMT's biggest video artists and recent CMT Showcase Artist honorees," said Paul Hastaba, vp/gm, CMT. "The Spontaneous Combustion Tour is definitely going to leave a fun, hip impression on 100 cities in America." Hastaba added that the tour was part of the mission of CMT to bring a more contemporary image to country music and to capture the "disgruntled VH-1 audience."

Before each show, CMT will throw a pre-performance party for concert goers. The party will include games, prize giveaways, and live audience and backstage celebrity interviews, which will be broadcast on huge screens (along with CMT videos). Before the concert dates, a CMT party host and video crew will arrive in each city to give away tickets and record fan interviews to be shown on-screen at the pre-concert party.

CMT viewers in select tour markets will be able to enter a sweepstakes, with prizes including tickets and tour jackets autographed by McGraw. All entries in each local sweepstakes will be eligible to win a grand prize trip to Nashville for a Tim McGraw concert.

Phillips, Sebastian Headline Tin Pan South

A "PAPA" AND A "LOVIN' SPOONFUL" ARE SET to headline Tin Pan South '96, hosted by the Nashville Songwriters Assn. International (NSAI) and held April 16-20. Each year, Tin Pan South unites established songwriters and songwriter/artists from across the country for a week-long musical event.

The festival culminates with the Legendary Songwriters Acoustic Concert at the Ryman Auditorium. This year's legends are John Phillips (The Mamas and The Papas) and John Sebastian (The Lovin' Spoonful). Other guests for the evening include Roger Cook ("I'd Like To Teach The World To Sing"), Janis Ian ("Jesse"), Randy Goodrum ("Bluer Than Blue"), John D. Loudermilk ("Indian Reservation"), Michael Masser ("Saving All My Love For You") and Allen Toussaint ("Southern Nights").

Tin Pan South kicks off Tuesday, April 16 at Nashville's Ace Of Clubs with the Tin Pan Jam. Performers will include the Randy Bachman Band, formerly of Bachman-Turner Overdrive, Gary Nicholson and The Change, Webb Wilder and Delbert McClinton.

Wednesday, April 17 will bring artists such as Alan and Marilyn Bergman, Angela Kaset, Michael McDonald, Jimmy Webb, Felix Cavaliere and others together for Piano Night at the Ace of Clubs. Green's Grocery will host Robert Earl Keen and Guy Clark, as well as Townes Van Zandt.

Williams' Congo

Williams' Congo Backglass

CHICAGO—Williams Electronics Games, Inc. has joined forces with actors and special effects experts from Hollywood to produce Congo, an action-packed pinball adventure based on the hit summer '95 movie from Paramount Pictures and the best-selling novel by Michael Crichton, author of Jurassic Park.

ton, author of Jurassic Park.

Licensed through Viacom Consumer Products, the game allows players to navigate their way through the Congo, encountering the same objectives and obstacles that were seen in the hit movie, including the gray gorillas, threatening volcano and elusive diamond mines.

"We've matched game play features to follow the plot of the movie," stated John Trudeau, head of the Congo design team at Williams. "This movie garnered over $80 million at the boxoffice in the United States alone, and $150 million worldwide, so we know that the concept is strong."

Trudeau and his team worked directly with Hollywood stars in the design and development of the game. Hollywood special effects master and Academy Award winner Stan Winston created a gray gorilla sculpture for the lower playfield of the game. "Stan was responsible for creating many of the creatures in the movie, including the gorillas, so it was natural that he design the gorilla in the game," said Trudeau. "The sculpture he created captures the ferocity of the grays in the movie. It really adds to the game."

Winston wasn't the only Hollywood talent involved in the project. Tim Curry and Ernie Hudson, two of the stars of the movie, recorded original, custom speech. The game also features custom speech by Shayna Fox, the voice of Amy the gorilla.

"There are too many games based on movies that lose the elements that made the movie appealing," explained Trudeau. "We wanted to keep the strong story and talent that made the movie such a big hit and then add what we know about making hit pinball games."

In game play, Amy, the friendly gorilla with the virtual reality glove, has a ramp on the playfield to help players through the Congo. Spelling A-M-Y provides the chance to shoot the Superscore feature.

Players who are able to activate the letters G-R-A-Y will switch play to a lower playfield and do battle with the ferocious gray gorilla.

Just as the activation of the Travicom communication satellite was a major objective in the movie, the satellite is a target in the game that, upon activation, can deliver millions of points and even some entertaining display animation.

Completing the "we are watching you" feature activates a mini video game in the dot matrix display. Players use the flipper buttons to control a raft down a river, avoiding hippos and rocks while trying to collect diamonds.

One multi-ball feature is activated after a player locks three balls in the volcano. The volcano actually erupts 3 balls back out onto the playfield.

"We've included a lot of surprises in this game," said Trudeau. "The mystery of the Congo with its dangerous adventures and lucrative rewards is captured in this game."

Further information regarding Congo may be obtained by contacting Patrick Fitzgerald at 312-961-1826.

Konami Shipping Midnight Run

CHICAGO—Midnight Run is the latest sit-down driving game released by Konami, Inc. and it offers a challenging, realistic play experience.

The game starts off with the player choosing one of four sports cars and either the "stock" or "tuned" configuration, with the tuned version presenting the most difficult challenge.

Players must then select from three courses as the race gets underway through city streets. There are obstacles, of course, including traffic and two flirtatious "babes" in a pace car convertible, who taunt players as they pass. Losing to them is a no-no!

Although players have the option of automatic or manual transmissions, on Midnight Run they can switch transmissions during the race as often as they like.

The action is non-stop throughout play as the hum of the engines, the realistic pull effect of the feedback steering, the detailed course backgrounds and the ever-changing views from inside or behind the car, add to the excitement.

Single deluxe units of Midnight Run will be produced in limited number but Konami plans full production on the dual unit. Shipping began in March.

Further information may be obtained through distributors or by contacting Konami, Inc., 900 Deerfield Parkway, Buffalo Grove, IL 60089-4510.
