ANALYSIS

There are times that try many a programmers' patience when it comes to putting together a chart. So many records...so few positions available. Just the other week Jack Gillen at WKHI/FM in Ocean City, MD mentioned that "after 20 years in the business I've never seen this depth of material in quality as well as amount in all that time". Leading the way, as expected, is USA FOR AFRICA, which already boasts a 60% Hit Factor after two weeks and earns a spot in the top ten on its way to number one. PHIL (he deserves an Oscar) COLLINS makes it to number one on our Top 40, A/C and Album charts, tied in airplay with USA at 276 reports. COMMODORES have their first Top 40 smash minus Lionel. Top ten in New York at WAPP, Z100 & WPLJ. Same story in Pittsburgh at WHTX, WALG-Albany, WQLK-Richmond, WHSB-Alpena, KS103-San Diego, etc. Besides USA FOR AFRICA, the list of artists who earned their Hit Factor stripes is led by CHICAGO 42% to 72%, DEBARGE 34% to 65%, HENLEY 17% to 45% and ANIMOTION 30% to 47%. Though the phones are dominated by requests for USA, MADONNA and PRINCE, MURRAY HEAD is showing up respectably in quite a few spots, confirming many big sales gains. BILLY OCEAN moves into Chartbound position, more than doubling in airplay with adds at WTIC, WDCG, WORD, WZON, WTYX, G100, WBAM, KAFM, WBTT, KIMN, KLUC, KOSO, KWOD, etc. TEARS FOR FEARS is growing fast, even up against the onslaught of established artists releases. Debuts at B106-Washington, WFBG-Altoona, WKSP-Kingstree, WBGN-Bowling Green, Z104-Madison, KIIS/FM and KKHR-Los Angeles, KS103-San Diego, etc. HOWARD JONES closing in on 100 reports as a ton of new airplay in the Midwest and West pushes up his total. March 8th's "Record To Watch" by the MARY JANE GIRLS debuts in "Up & Coming" as "In My House" becomes this week's number eight R&B record. LIMAH L's never ending story is just that...with PRO/FM, 106X, WHYT, KTAW, KIST, KFIM and more now on the case. Neil McIntyre, 92KTU and Larry Berger & Lisa Tonacci of WPLJ-New York were first to hip us to HAROLD FALTER-MEYER's "Axel F Theme", now added at WSPK, Z100, B104, WANS, WZUU, WPST, Q107, Z-98, 93Q, and more. LUTHER VANDROSS picks up 11 believers with excellent gains at KKYS 24-18, KEYP 28-20, KSTN 30-22, debuting #25 at KAMT and going number one on our R&B chart.

REO Speedwagon - One Lonely Night (Epic)
 David Lee Roth - Just A Gigolo (Warner Bros.)
 Alison Moyet - Invisible (Columbia)

Phil Collins settles in for what looks like a few weeks at the top. 197 of the 200 stations playing the record have it in HIGH rotation. USA For Africa already has a HIT FACTOR of 75%! Lots of positive comments from programmers on listener reaction to the Sade single. Looks like Top Five by April. This week's top CERTIFIED, Linda Ronstadt is a slow but sure A/C turntable hit. Have any of the disbelievers bothered to check retail sales of the LP? It's one thing to ignore sales on a Jane Fonda Workout LP, but this is music, folks. This week's RECORD TO WATCH, Billy Ocean's SUDDENLY, is actually starting faster than did his first two, CARRIBEAN QUEEN and LOVERBOY. Next week's debuts will include Billy Ocean, Wham!, and Hall & Oates. I'm happy to see the Alison Moyet make the NEW category in A/C. I'll bet it tests well where played.

RECOMMENDED

Jeffrey Osborne - Let Me Know (A&M)
 Eric Carmen - I'm Through With Love (Geffen)

Jeffrey Osborne:

An UN-LTD. Career

by Ron Fell

We recently talked with former L.T.D. lead singer Jeffrey Osborne. His career as a solo performer has blossomed right on schedule. He's a man with a plan, building a solid career of great live entertainment and quality records.

Ron Fell: Let's talk first about the myth and the truth about how you became a professional performer.

Jeffrey Osborne: I began singing at the age of thirteen in night clubs. I used to be chaperoned by my mother on Friday nights. I used to go up to this little club in New London, Connecticut called the Ebony Lounge and sing four songs and it would pay about ten dollars a night. That was a lot of money back then (laughs).

RF: What did it buy? What were you spending that ten dollars a night on?

JO: I was into records, so I spent most of my money on records. That was all I lived for, to go and buy a little 45 to get on the stereo. I was the youngest of twelve, so I had to wait my turn in line. I took care of my own school lunch money and I always saved up for things like the latest in fashion.

RF: Your Father had roots in music, if I recall.

JO: My father was a great trumpet player. He had offers from Lionel Hampton and most of the big bands back then. The problem was he had twelve kids. It was very hard to make a living to raise that many kids in a big band situation. So, he worked three jobs in the Providence area. He would play every time he got the chance. He would play in the clubs and earn extra money that way. He was a great trumpet player. I actually was inspired a lot by him, I would stand outside his door at night and listen to him play. As a matter of fact, he got me started playing trumpet when I was in elementary school.

RF: Was the trumpet your first instrument?

JO: Yes, it definitely was my first instrument and I didn't like it at all.

RF: Was it a hand-me-down trumpet?

JO: No, actually we all went out and bought the trumpet. Nobody else wanted to tackle that thing. At that time it was the beginning of the Motown era and I didn't want to play trumpet, I wanted to sing on the corner (laughs).

RF: Was your father hurt not having the opportunity to pursue a career in music with the big bands?

JO: Oh, most definitely. That was his one dream and I know that hurt him. He never had the opportunity to go out and chase his dreams, which was the big point of encouragement from my mother. She didn't want to see what happened to my Father happen to me. She always told me how unhappy she was because he never pursued his career. She felt I had potential and she didn't want it to go to waste in a small town. She urged me to leave and that was when I first met L.T.D. That was in 1969. I met them coming through. I was kind of undecided. At that point I had two daughters. They were very young. It was "should I leave now or should I stick it out and hope that something else will come along?"

RF: When you were contemplating joining L.T.D. weren't they known as Love Men Limited?

JO: Exactly. They were called Love Men Limited . . . There was a girl in the group at that time. Actually they were called Lovemen Limited; then when the girl joined, they called it Love Limited. Then we changed the name later on, because they got into different problems with other group names sounding alike. There was Arthur Lee and Love and Love Unlimited. We wanted to keep the Limited so we just took the initials L.T.D.—Love Together and Devotion.

RF: Is it true that Johnny Mathis was one of your primary influences?

JO: Yeah, I like Johnny a lot. Back then he had songs that were really popular like "Chances Are," which was one of my favorites. My Mother used to have me sing it for her company. "Get up and sing 'Chances Are!'"

RF: Any other influences?

JO: Well, my biggest influence, probably, is Sarah Vaughan. She's my favorite singer of all time! What I like about her above all the other singers is the low register of her voice which is so resonant. It's so warm. I think that influenced me and is one of the reasons I worked on the lower end of my register, I wanted it to be round and warm like hers. It took years of development. At one point I had to change my whole sound around. I remember listening to the radio one day and I heard this guy and I said, "God, he sounds exactly like me." And of course, nobody knew who I was and the guy's name was Donny Hathaway. All my friends were calling and saying,

"This guy sounds like you." I said, "Yeah, but unfortunately, now I sound like him because he got to the radio first." So, at that point I stopped listening to the radio and records for about a year or two.

RF: Let's clear this up one time completely. The story about how you joined the band is that you were invited down to see L.T.D. perform?

JO: Exactly.

RF: You were sitting in the audience and something happened, there was some sort of rumble between the drummer and local law enforcement and he was supposedly hauled off to jail.

JO: Yeah, he was outside fighting, actually. There was a riot outside the place and the police came in and hauled off everyone that was out there and he happened to be one of them. So they were without a drummer at the time.

"For so many years I've seen White artists influenced by Black music and now it's actually being turned around."

RF: When did you develop your skills as a drummer?

JO: I started playing drums at the age of fifteen.

RF: That's when you dropped the trumpet?

JO: Yeah! I started playing drums with local groups then. I had been playing about four years before I met L.T.D. Matter of fact, they came to a spot where I was playing called the Osborne Club, my brother's club. They saw me play and asked me to come see them play. That's how I happened to see them play. It wasn't by accident.

RF: You don't suppose they staged that rumble outside to get rid of the drummer?

JO: Ahh-haa, I never thought about that!

RF: You better check up on that one. So you joined up with the guys you were going to spend the next decade with and you headed for Los Angeles.

JO: I drove to Los Angeles with them, at the beginning of 1970. We drove 3,000 miles and started to look for work. We were promised work by this agency, and of course there was none. So we had to go out and work for the "door." (Getting paid by the admissions.) That was rough. Some nights we'd have ten dollars to split ten ways.

RF: Was there enough of a "scene" happening in Los Angeles for black bands to get the exposure needed for a recording contract?

JO: Yes. That was the best period because there were many clubs to play. Now there's nothing. It's all disco. One place I remember a lot was Maverick Flats, on Crenshaw Blvd . . . We worked there constantly. I've seen groups get discovered there. Lakeside . . . lots of groups came through that club.

RF: Soon your role in L.T.D. started to change. The band had signed with A&M and you started climbing out from behind the drum kit.

JO: Actually, I didn't become a front man until 1976. Between '72 and '76 we would share lead vocals. Four of us actually sang leads. Jimmy Davis, my brother Billy and a guy named Onion. We were searching for the "lead identity." But it happened in 1976 with the release of the "Love To The World" album and the single "Love Ballad." From that point on, I became the focal point of the group.

RF: You started writing more too.

JO: I had been doing a lot of writing, but my writing was very unrefined at that point.

RF: You've obviously learned about the writing process.

JO: L.T.D. allowed me to develop my writing because I wrote with every single person in the band. I'm probably the only person in the group that wrote with everyone. And that helped because you learn to work with different personalities and if you can write with ten different people then you can write with anyone.

RF: How would you characterize your relationship with the band since you left?

JO: There are only a couple of members I really keep in touch with. One is Henry Davis. He's now the bass player in Lionel Richie's band. Another, Johnny McGee, is working with me now. I don't even know where some of the guys are. Everyone's kinda split up now. The group is supposedly still together, but I'm not even sure of that . . .

RF: Where's your brother?

JO: Oh! My brother. Of course. He's doing some independent production.

RF: How did you come to leave L.T.D.?

JO: I went to them in 1978 and expressed my desire to leave. There was no room for the individual to grow within the group. It was sort of an "All-for-L.T.D." situation. It was so confining that it became stifling after a while and that's when I expressed my desire to leave. But I stayed on a couple of years because I didn't want to walk out on them. I wanted the transition to be smooth for me and also for them. I wanted to give them time to find a new lead singer.

RF: Was it a little scary when you did get out?

JO: It was scary just making the decision. There's always risk involved and if you look at the percentage of lead singers that have left successful groups ... not many of them succeed. One thing I had going for me was that I didn't have to rely on anyone else for my direction of my image.

RF: Did you have a game plan?

JO: I gave myself three albums. I figured that it was going to take me three albums to get where I wanted to be, or get to the point where people will associate the name with the voice. It happened sooner. It happened with the first album. We are definitely ahead of the game plan now. But you have to have a goal or you're just hanging.

RF: Did you think you would become the sex object you've become?

JO: (laughter)

RF: Having seen your live performances on a number of occasions, I know how crazy the audience gets. I think of Teddy Pendergrass when I see you now.

JO: I had no IDEA!! It's interesting how it all developed. I think it has a lot to do with the register of my voice. I'm probably one of the few baritone singers around now. Women like the masculinity of my voice. And it helps to be small because I can wear clothes well.

RF: What's your height and weight?

JO: I'm 5'10" and weigh about 150 pounds on a good day. (laughter) It helps to be small because you project bigger on stage. Most of the time when people meet me they think I'm bigger than I am. That has to do also with the size of my voice.

RF: Your duet with Joyce Kennedy, "First Time I Made Love, I Made It With You" was one of the finer videos of last year. You and Joyce gave a rather sultry and sexy performance. Has your wife had any comments on that?

JO: (laughter) No, actually, she saw it and was very pleased with it. We and Joyce have worked together so much that there's no threat. That's the kind of relationship a wife could detect right away if there was something happening. (laughs) But I get asked that often. There was a story in RIGHT ON magazine and the headline said, "Is Jeffrey Osborne having an affair with Joyce Kennedy?" And it's like most people think two artists can't work together and sing those kinds of love songs without having an affair going on.

RF: Are you planning any turns in the road on your next album?

JO: Not really. We are hoping to get more mileage from the current album. We are hoping to get into a third single situation. Then I have to go into the studio with Joyce again. I've had a lot of people call me for production ... Patti LaBelle, Jennifer Holliday, Dionne Warwick. It looks like I won't be going back into the studio for myself until August or September. I think we are going to do an album late in the year this time.

RF: You and many other major artists are now accepting support from corporate sponsors. In your case it's Coors Beer. Does every major artist need tour support to keep ticket prices down?

JO: To put a headline show on the road costs a great deal of money today. You're talking rehearsals with sound and lights. You have to have a week of rehearsing with the whole set-up. It's very expensive. Record companies could extend themselves a little bit more than they do now. It's very hard to get support out of record companies now, so you have to look for outside sponsors. And to do a great show you have to have great musicians up front. It can cost you two or three hundred thousand dollars to get a tour off the ground ... before you do a date. Hopefully, you work hand in hand with those companies.

RF: I would describe you as a mature performer. But there was a time when, for a black artist to have credibility, he or she had to almost turn themselves over to the Black music arena at the expense of getting exposure in the broader pop fields. It seems like many of the artists today are accomplishing a great deal of success in Top 40 radio and formats of radio that might have been referred to as bastions of white-only music. You've been more successful than most at crossing over and becoming a full color artist.

JO: I think that's very important. I appreciate all kinds of music. I know it's flattering for me for a white teenager to come up and say he appreciates my music.

RF: Or a white publisher of a trade magazine.

JO: Exactly. We grow up in the Black community and we struggle there and, of course, have to be appreciated there first. But I think Black people in general look with more respect towards you when they see you're respected by everyone else. You have to branch out. The only way to do that is to have mass appeal. I think that in any profession you want mass appeal. For a Black artist to reach everyone, he has to be played on pop radio. That's why Urban radio is the greatest thing that has happened. It has brought Black music into white homes, and white music into Black homes. And now music is coming together. You have the Michael Jackson music with Van Halen. You have myself singing with (Queen's) Brian May. I think the fusion of black and white is creating a very healthy state today.

How would you feel about a Black artist who gets so big that he's competing with the Springsteens or other monstrous pop artists and is not allowed to also compete in the Black categories as sometimes is the case in the Grammys?

JO: Well, that's one of my main gripes with the Grammys. I feel sometimes they tend to judge talent on record sales as opposed to talent. They'll have someone who is a great singer but hasn't sold a fraction of the amount of the records. It's always the record sales that seem to win over, so I have a problem with it. I would feel bad being a Black artist if I couldn't compete in the Black Artist category. It's crazy. I would feel kind of hurt if they wouldn't categorize me in the Black Artist category because they felt I was too big.

RF: How would you feel about, say, a Hall & Oates being allowed to compete in the Black Music category?

JO: That wouldn't offend me at all because Hall & Oates music is very black. It think it's crossover, but the roots are very black.

RF: Probably the Black categories were established in the Grammys because Blacks couldn't compete at the time, from a sales standpoint, at least in albums, with the Beatles or Rolling Stones of that era. Michael Jackson and Prince have opened up doors. What do you see as being the future from a video standpoint?

JO: I think that Michael Jackson is one of the greatest things that ever happened because he did open the door. He went beyond being recognized as a Black artist. He was recognized as an artist. He opened MTV up. They were hardly playing any black artists. After Michael became very big, they started loosening up and they started playing more Black videos. I had no idea it would be of the magnitude that Michael Jackson's had. But he did. Now there are so many ways to go, especially for the Black artist. I see Black artists using their intelligence more, combining and working with white artists. Using the European techno kind of sound. For so many years, I've seen white artists influenced by Black music and now it's actually being turned around. Well, not turned around, but looking towards sound, which they never did at one point.

RF: No tour until after the album?

JO: No, the tour will probably happen during the summer. We're going to do the outdoor venues and all the outdoor amphitheaters across the country. We'll probably start in June and go through August. ■

NEW Releases

Rebels/Make It Better /Don't Come Around Here /Dogs On The Run/It Ain't Nothin' To Me-TOM PETTY & HEARTBREAKERS (MCA) As we now celebrate the explosion of new bands playing GREAT AMERICAN music, TOM PETTY is one of the field's leaders. From a timing standpoint, this is a good time to re-affirm one's proud roots with an effort like SOUTHERN ACCENTS, which is certainly no complacent celebration of days gone by. Quite the opposite. SOUTHERN ACCENTS is a hard look forward, which is fortunate. Just another "One Horse Town" would have signaled the start of an era of crowd-pleasing and easy pickins. Instead there's a pioneer spirit at work, only the wagons are sometimes heading eastward across the ocean. The material with EURYTHMIC DAVE STEWART is augmented by a combination of new and old styles. The opener track makes the initial plunge less jarring. Then, as the needle moves south, the songs'll surprise you. Sometimes instead of "baby come back", it's "go away", sometimes you'll hear a horn lick or a WURLITZER piano or a ballad, and that's good. We got FOGERTY, SPRINGSTEEN, SANTANA, LOBOS, CHRIS ISAAK, JASON, BLASTERS, and now PETTY. Give us more because we like it.

Break Them Down/Mighty Rivers/Lunatic Fringe, The Weekend's Too Short/Wake Up-GRAHAM PARKER & THE SHOT(Elektra) What does Album Radio want this guy to do, jump off a building? GRAHAM PARKER has made some brilliant music in his day and a lot of it was on the last LP, THE REAL MACAW. So if, in this business, you're only as good as your last record, then PARKER's in terrific shape with this new one, STEADY NERVES. Attitudinally steady, PARKER's start on a new label is off on the right foot. The material is identifiable but not cliched, biting not toothless, vibrant not staid. Talent like PARKER is a gem to our format. His music carries an urgency and expertise that speaks to a listener tired of coiffed hair-dos, ready for the reality successfully served up by artists like SPRINGSTEEN and FOGERTY. A bad album would have collapsed the whole house of cards. A great LP like this should fortify his standing. The trax listed above are faves, but don't stop there.

Red Wine And Whisky/Do You Want Crying/Walking On Sunshine Going Down To Liverpool-KATRINA & WAVES (Capitol) These are re-recorded slicked-up trax compiled evenly from KATRINA & THE WAVES' two fine LP's originally released on the Attic label out of Canada. The combined forces of singer/guitarist KATRINA and her WAVES puts this LP in a special category. By culling the best material from two LP's, this also puts the band practically in the sophomore league. Most of all, guitarist KIMBERLY REW (a he) from the notorious, legendary, acid drenched SOFT BOYS adds his own certain spunk, since he wrote 80% of the tunes all by his lonesome. That's THREE good reasons not to ignore this LP. Shove it towards the top end of your audition stack. If you're trying to place who else cut "Liverpool", it was the BANGLES. Now who did "Cry To Me"???????????????

Affairs In Babylon-Thunder Of Another Night/Exiles In The Dark-REFUGEE (Chrysalis) Here's a record with, as PETE TOWNSHEND once put it, "Faith in something different". Lead singer/writer/producer MYLES HUNTER, besides listing THE WHO as an influence, was a big SPOOKY TOOTH fan as well. While playing strictly inside the mainstream arena, REFUGEE don't believe in talking down to their audience. They've gotten this far by assuming that intelligence breeds fans. The above trax should help further REFUGEE's cause. File under "there's life after vodka".

PHIL COLLINS is now number one on the ALBUM CHART, TOP FORTY, and A/C. The spread of trax receiving airplay is impressive, actually running off the page. Meanwhile, PC the producer is fine also, with ERIC CLAPTON's LP climbing to the number six spot. SIMPLE MINDS is a mighty strong number three, just an eyelash away from COLLINS and JAGGER. TOM PETTY is lodged at five. His upcoming album is excellent. Rounding out the action in the TOP TEN is a 15-8 jump by

TEARS FOR FEARS. Count Album Radio in when it comes to USA For Africa. The single moved 33-20. Other prime movers include POWER STATION, JOAN ARMATRADING, SADE, and CHICAGO. A pretty hip trio of debuts include HOWARD JONES' fine single alongside THE BLASTERS and ALISON MOYET. Further on down the road, newcomer FIONA pops in for a visit at #37...on the concert trail this week, I caught a big auditorium show that seemed like a club gig. THE FIRM played an absolutely magnificent two hour, twenty minute set in front of a sold out crowd of about 12,000. JIMMY PAGE was over the top, showing imagination and finesse. Drummer CHRIS SLADE and bassist TONY FRANKLIN provided exceptional support (despite what you read in a ROLLING STONE record review), and PAUL RODGERS sang beautifully (but still needs wardrobe consultation). They played blues, the new LP, even newer tunes, and the crowd went wild. I didn't hear one shout for any ZEP tunes. A magic show, indeed...good to see CHRIS ISAAK's LP make CHARTBOUND this week...KATRINA & WAVES will debut high next week...no surprise that the PORKY soundtrack did so well this week. A smart station will shy away from screenings... sincere CONGRATS to PAUL RAPPER and BILL BENNETT who are now CBS VP types...the biggest single off the BEVERLY HILLS SOUNDTRACK could be AXEL F, performed by HAROLD FALTERMEYER. Was this originally a flip side to the PATTI LABELLE single?...POLYGRAM has given us all an early early CHRISTMAS gift by reissuing the first three VELVET UNDERGROUND albums. The pressings and masterings are clean and groovy. You know, the hardest question in the world is, "What's your favorite VELVET UNDERGROUND album?..." I read the news today, oh boy. So what's $1.5 BILLION divided by twenty one missiles? I wish it WAS a joke. Stay hidden. KZ.....

The Top Three remain frozen for the third consecutive week. THE SMITHS hold on again, but the news is THE STRANGLERS reacquiring their underline. The album is now peaking. If they're going to make a move further up, this is the time.

The top three will be challenged soon by newcomers; THE BLASTERS and JASON & SCORCHERS. THE BLASTERS are on the road now and that will encourage even more airplay. A third American artist whose music is closely tied to his roots, CHRIS ISAAK, isn't experiencing the same immediate impact. The growth has been modest, but consistently increasing each week. ISAAK's first album warrants serious Alternative attention - don't overlook it!

Other notable movers include: TEARS FOR FEARS, YELLO, and HOWARD JONES.

ANALYSIS

Regardless of the fact that stations have dropped RAY & WILLIE on our chart of forty (#1 to #9), the requests continue to outnumber the competition two to one. The JUDDS over-powered KENNY ROGERS on the request lines. DON ROBERTS at KFGO reports that The JUDDS and RICKY SKAGGS are "huge" in FARGO. J.D.GRAY, WGUD-PASCAGOULA, has been "deluged" with calls for RICKY SKAGGS and MERLE HAGGARD. The "hottest" phones in some time at KALF-RED BLUFF, have been for the country boy, RICKY SKAGGS. The new CRYSTAL GAYLE is doing well for FRANCINA RODRIGUEZ at KRST-ALBUQUERQUE and RICK CARSON at WCMR-ELKHART. Both TOMMY SAMORAY, WKQC-SAGINAW, and JERRY HOWARD, WAIM-ANDERSON are receiving "good phones" for RAY STEVENS and his Margaret. The WHITES debut at #34 and are Certified along with SYLVIA (26-21). Of the new singles in "Action Sides", RONNIE MILSAP has the "Most Added" headline, and the OAK RIDGE BOYS pick up an additional 59 adds this week after garnering the "Most Added" headline last week. BRUCE SPRINGSTEEN almost made the cut this week, with five of the 21 stations reporting it charting "I'm On Fire". MERLE HAGGARD, CRYSTAL GAYLE, and the OAKS will definitely debut on the Country Top 40 next week.

ANALYSIS

LUTHER VANDROSS at #1 is no surprise but it squeaks past the COMMODORES to get there. JESSE JOHNSON is pushing on both of them to get out of the way so he can be number one with his first solo release since leaving the TIME - will be quite an accomplishment for him if he can do it because both DEBARGE and the MARY JANE GIRLS are closing in, too. SADE and USA FOR AFRICA will go top ten next week - would have been there this week except for a matter of a very few statistical points edging them out. Chart movers race was won this time by MIDNIGHT STAR and KOOL & THE GANG - ten point jumps for each of them. Following close behind but not to be overlooked are the two highest debuts - MANHATTANS at #19 and #20 for SHALAMAR. NARADA MICHAEL WALDEN started out a few months ago with strong airplay reports from around the country, but not enough chart action to merit a number. Now, this week he closes in with a 61% Hit Factor and charts at #23 with good numbers everywhere it's being played. NEW EDITION wasted no time charting with little effort and NEW JERSEY MASS CHOIR merges into the fast lane at #30. Sentimentality wins over the "Chartbound" listings because the TEMPTATIONS, EUGENE WILDE and B.B.KING all lean in that direction. Besides the newcomer HAROLD FALTERMEYER, FREDDIE JACKSON merits your attention with 10 new adds. You can expect big things next week from the new SHANNON, ATLANTIC STARR and CON FUNK SHUN singles, and maybe even the new WHAM! release. These four were encumbered only by the sheer force of the adds on RICK JAMES and HAROLD FALTERMEYER "out-of-their-boxes" (or out of their B.H.C. movie soundtrack). Top 40 is giving both plenty of attention as they are most cuts from this LP, but RICK JAMES gets the edge (JAMES = 29 adds, FALTERMEYER = 19) to win the "Pop Crossover" contest. (Why don't we list the cuts that aren't being played from this LP - it would be a shorter list).

P.D. NOTEBOOK by Eric Norberg

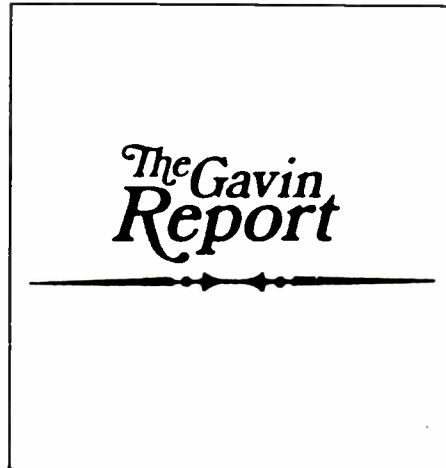

BILL'S LEGACY

by Eric Norberg

Those who read this magazine certainly know who Bill Gavin was. But even in the two years since Bill sold the Gavin Report to its staff and retired from active daily involvement its staff has noted the continuing emergence of the new generation of radio people has led to many who never had the chance to talk with Bill on the phone, to meet him in person at a Gavin Convention or a Gavin Regional Conference, or even to read his writings in the Gavin Report or elsewhere.

I first heard of Bill Gavin while a student on the staff of the Pomona College radio station KSPC in the early '60s, when Bill briefly was a columnist for Billboard. (He'd been publishing the Gavin Report since 1958—the first radio cooperative music “tip sheet,” for most of its history, mimeographed on legal-size blue paper.) Bill's thoughtful columns in Billboard about principles and techniques of radio programming were the best pieces I'd ever seen on the subject, and I clipped and saved them, and still have most of them to this day. He also included a music tip or two at the bottom of each column, and I particularly remember a bizarre tip that an unknown Capitol record called “Sukiyaki” by Kyu Sakimoto would be a big hit. I was already so impressed with Bill through his columns, that I got hold of the record, and KSPC was probably the first FM station in the country to play what went on to become the first and still only Japanese record to hit #1 in this country.

I learned early the essential combination of aesthetics and reason that constitutes radio programming thanks to Bill. Programming on pure “feel” makes it hard to separate one's own biases and perspectives from accurate perceptions; programming with pure “reason,” relying entirely on research, logic, etc. has even more disastrous problems, since it provides no reliable way of translating findings and objectives to the evanescent entity of radio as it exists in the minds of the listeners. (Radio only really exists as a series of past experiences, corroborated or denied by instantaneous current experience, projected into future expectations, that brings the listeners back every day, and determines how long they will listen and how frequently they will return. Thus the importance of consistency and identifiability of formatic approach. Those who have dispensed with jingles in the fashion of recent years have disposed of one of the simpler and effective ways of differentiating their station from the competition.)

I also learned from those he invited to speak at his Conferences, and those who came. Not only did Bill invent the idea of a radio programming conference, but he made sure they were always constructive and interesting; guests were invited to speak for what they could offer rather than for the prestige of the conference. While other, later radio conferences have seen speakers primarily promoting themselves, no Gavin Conference had that problem. Bill never selected that kind of person to participate. Bill was constantly interested in helping new, young talent to emerge in radio. His ability to spot a “comer,” in music or in radio, was I think the best in the history of either business.

Probably anyone else, having innovated and pioneered the concept of a national radio programming conference, would have developed it and made it a profit career. Not Bill. His only purpose in organizing them was to benefit the industry (which is probably why they always did far better than other conferences have), and when others began putting together conferences of their own, he felt the need was filled and stopped.

Later, when it became obvious that the later conferences by others were oriented primarily to the affluent and the successful, and newcomers to radio were not getting enough out of them, he pioneered again—and came up with the Gavin Regional Meeting. A series of regional get-togethers. They worked even better, in Bill's view, because all radio people could afford to come, and since even the speakers usually were from the same region. The pretension and status problems among those attending dissolved completely. They were a lot of work—more than a single conference—so that as his health deteriorated, they were suspended. The staff of the Gavin Report hopes to resume the concept as time permits, however.

And of course there was his sincerity and integrity. At his death, those were spoken of the most . . . perhaps (sad to say) because these qualities are considered very rare in the music and radio businesses. I do not think they are as rare as that, for which considerable credit should go to Bill.

However, his true legacy is people. Those he encouraged, those he influenced, those he touched. It now falls to them to continue advancing the principles he believed in, and advancing the arts of radio. ■

Dave Sholin Personal Picks

RICK SPRINGFIELD - Celebrate Youth (RCA)

Springfield's got both barrels blazin' on this debut single from "TAO", his soon to be released LP. Not only has he written a powerful, catchy lyric, he delivers it with a fierce determination in his voice that's been missing the last few times around.

SHANNON - Do You Wanna Get Away (Mirage/Atco)

Few weave a musical spell as well as Shannon. It was about thirty seconds into this newest effort that I got hooked. Her captivating style made "Let The Music Play" a giant winner (for those that gave it a shot) and this performance goes that one step better.

HAROLD FALTERMEYER - Axel F Theme (MCA)

Are instrumentals making a comeback? Maybe so, but it never hurts to have a Beverly Hills Cop clear the way. This one came from "the streets" and credit New York City radio for busting it early.

ERIC CARMEN - I'm Through With Love (Geffen)

It was 1975 when Eric tugged on heartstrings with that plaintive plea "All By Myself". Ten years later, his remarkable talent as singer and songwriter gets an extra layer of polish from producer Bob Gaudio.

KURTIS BLOW - Basketball (Polydor/PolyGram)

Rebounding as NBA playoff time nears. Can't help but add to the hoopla in a lot of cities, while providing fun programming for all the rest of us. Kurtis has performed in post-game concerts in a number of NBA cities.

PAPER ADDS?

The ongoing problem of inaccurate playlists is of extreme concern to a few trades including The Gavin Report and Radio & Records. Even one misrepresented playlist discredits the charts of the trades.

On January 22, 1982, I wrote the following which still holds true more than three years later.

Record companies can't afford paper adds (records that get mentioned as adds but never make it on the air). Record companies can't afford tertiary rotation. (Rotation that is so limiting that even hard core listeners will never hear it.)

To those iconoclastic programmers who feel so benevolent to the point they add a record as a gesture with no real commitment behind it, I would say you're messing with a covenant so precious that you're undermining the whole popular music universe.

To add a record at a meaningful station in a decent size market will mobilize pressing, shipping and sales departments within a record company. Nonrefundable pressing and shipping costs are borne by those in the retail system. Without considerable airplay there's no way for a record to be properly evaluated, and returns (the nemesis of every record company) create horrible burdens of cash flow and credit problems.

In this hopefully temporary period of dire straits in the retail world, we hope that programmers can realize the

Ron Fell Personal Picks ALBUMS

"Katrina and The Waves" (Capitol)

Sleeper of the year so far. This quartet of unknowns to commercial radio plays an aggressive, pop/rock batch of tunes. Their style is pre-ego Blondie, mixed with hints of Benatar, The Motels, and other winners. Katrina Leskanish, a guitar-slinging, lead singer fronts The Wave and has an innate pop sensibility. The production is "basic" and modern, without airs of pretensions. Sholin said it, back on March 8th, "Records like this build excitement on radio..." With a little patience in all quarters, Katrina and the Waves will break. WALKING ON SUNSHINE, RED WINE AND WHISKY, MACHINE GUN SMITH, THE SUN WON'T SHINE.

"Southern Accents" Tom Petty & the Heartbreakers (MCA)

Eight years of T.P.'s whining vocals was starting to wear me out. My early enthusiasm, back in the late 70's, has been tempered by the sameness of his drift. But "Southern Accents" turns me back. The LP has a confederate tint to it. T.P. may never pass for a "good ole boy", but he does cut a good Randy Newman and cop a little Allman Bros. for effect here and there. The album cover art, an original painting by Winslow Homer (1865), titled "The Veteran in a New Field", implies that the product tucked inside is the work of a redoubtable laborer in harvest. Petty cuts it with tracks like: REBELS, IT AIN'T NOTHIN' TO ME, MAKE IT BETTER, DON'T COME AROUND HERE NO MORE, SPIKE.

gravity of their vanity. To "add a record" should be a commitment to really play a record. To "add a record" with a casual wink toward a grateful promotion person is a shallow and heartless gesture which, admit it or not, is killing the business of music.

In the future we must insist upon the following:

1. No record should be reported as an add, extra or chart number that is not being played daily in a rotation meaningful enough to have listener response.

2. Records in marginal rotation, or not "guaranteed" decent rotation should be withheld from being reported to The Gavin Report.

We encourage all our stations to test records on the air to determine their future merit. But we think that an add means a serious airplay commitment. Please withhold the reporting of such "test records" until the results of your research merit a real commitment as an add.

The problem of paper adds must also be addressed by the record companies. We know that even a paper add can get a big promotion, or a spot buy, or a concert tie-in.

Until the deceitful stations are denied the benefits of their larceny the problem will fester.

Direct and decisive action by record companies will solve the problem.
