PROMOTIONS

by Lisa Smith & Betty Hollars

TRANSYLVANIA MANIA

WMMR-Philadelphia is sending six people to Transylvania, Romania for Halloween. The three trips for two will include accommodations for six days (Oct. 29—Nov. 4); a lecture on Vlad Tepes (the real Count Dracula); a tour of Bran Castle; a Halloween party at another of Dracula's castles, and a Transylvanian tour guide. Runners up will each receive a "Drac Pac," which includes a tote bag, a videocassette of the movie "Dracula," a Dracula book, a sweatshirt, a black cape, and fangs. Winners and runners-up will be chosen during a random drawing.

A MICROWAVE A MORNING

P.D. Jeff Christenson of KOKZ-Waterloo, IA tells us about his newest promotion. The stations gave away a microwave a day for an entire week. During the afternoon and evening shows, the on-air personalities would announce the key song to listen for the next morning between 5:30 a.m. (!) and 10:00 a.m. on the Brian Wright Show. When the listener heard the song of the day, they were to be caller number fifteen on the studio line to win the new Amana microwave oven from KOKZ.

CHICAGO REUNION PARTY

KFI-Los Angeles is hosting a Chicago Reunion Party for those former Chicagoans who have fond memories of blinding snow storms, thick crust pizza, obscenely cold weather, and Richard J. Daley. The party will feature free Gino's Pizza and soft drinks for the first 100 people who mention KFI. During the party, they'll be giving away trips to Chicago; Cubs, Sox, Bulls, Bears, and Blackhawk caps and jackets; albums by Chicago; and copies of the Chicago Tribune and Sun-Times. Air personalities Lohman & Barkley will be hosting the party, and although not from Chicago, they're natives of Iowa, and that's pretty close to Chicago!

WBCN GREET'S RETURNING STUDENTS

WBCN-Boston recently courted and sparked hundreds of thousands of returning Boston college students (as well as treating Boston area listeners) with their second annual WBCN Boston

Fireworks display. WBCN's production director Tom Sandman, P.D. Oedipus, and D.J. Bradley J. spent long hours slicing, editing, and arranging musical vignettes for the perfectly synchronized fireworks soundtrack broadcast on WBCN. WBCN didn't miss a beat from the opening address by Boston Mayor Raymond Flynn, to the purple pyrotechnics of Prince's "Purple Rain," and the red, white, and blue fireworks fanfare of Bruce Springsteen's "Born In The USA."

addition to great bodies, they provided entertainment—a Rod Stewart impersonator and a local juggler.

LIVE FROM THE GRAND OLE OPRY

WCAV-Brockton, Massachusetts celebrated Country Music Month by sending D.J. Mark Burns to Nashville to broadcast live from the Opryland Hotel. Mark went behind the scenes of the Country Music industry, interviewing

▲ THE BEST BODY

Age didn't matter in Myrtle Beach during the first "Best Body On The Beach" contest, held by WYAV/FM, the South Carolina Beachcomber Magazine, and the local Pavillion. Contestants could enter any one of three categories: best-looking child under 12 years, best-looking girl 18 and older and best-looking guy 18 and older. Prizes ranged from season passes to nightclubs, limousine service for a dinner for two, and endless suntan product packages and passes to Myrtle Beach's new and exciting Waves Water Park. Jeff Kelly, Operations Manager, gets the credit for pulling off this great day at the beach for the local lookers, and he says that in today's hottest Country artists and reporting updates on the County Music scene. On October 11th, Mark broadcast his show live from the studios of the Music Country Radio Network.

WIN A KEY, WIN A CAR

KOST in Los Angeles is giving away a 1985 GMC "Jimmy" truck complete with a car alarm and a one-carat diamond solitaire in the glove compartment. To be eligible to win, listeners must be the 10th caller after the predetermined "key song of the day" is played. 103 keys will be given away, and the one that unlocks the car will win it all. In addition, all 103 contestants will receive a consolation prize.

A/C ANALYSIS

PHIL and MARILYN are settin' up housekeeping in the A/C pent-house and they're leasing not renting. FREDDIE JACKSON and/or BILLY JOEL probably have the next shot.

JAMES TAYLOR just missed cracking the 200 report mark in only three weeks. Doesn't happen everyday.

MR. MISTER, picked here on October 4th, debuts as Certified @23. Sixty-six of its 131 stations have added it the past two weeks.

JACK WAGNER now shows a 69% Hit Factor and high rotation reports from twelve early believers: WCKQ, WDXY, WQPO, KQAD, WJR, WRDB, KNFL, KVRH, KNCO, KOST, KTHO and KGAL.

A record I missed but you didn't is the KLYMAXX song I MISS YOU. Look at these calls: WEZS, WEZC, WJDX, WKYX, KOIL, WMT/FM, WMGN, WMYX, K106, B100, KOST, KRNO/FM, KWAV/FM, KQ96 and more than 40 others.

LIONEL RICHIE's new single SAY YOU, SAY ME gets 116 adds this week. The only record to get more than that in one week was USA FOR AFRICA's 153 adds.

Lionel was in on that one too as writer and a performer.

Glad to see the A/C acknowledgement of the new STING single LOVE IS THE SEVENTH WAVE. 25 reports out of the box including: WGHQ, KGY, KVEC, KDES, KTHO, KKIS, WZNY, KRIB and 17 others.

How many of you put the MIKE and the MECHANICS single aside 'cause you thought it was a punk band? Shame shame! I expect everyone except WMGW, WPPI, WDFI, KVRH and KUKI to report back to me. Those stations were the only ones who apparently heard it.

RECOMMENDED FOR A/C RADIO

SADE - "Sweetest Taboo" (Portrait/CBS) Weaving in and out of sweet jazz samba rhythm track, the lady is hypnotized by the love drug. Wonderful track!

AL JARREAU - "Let's Pretend" (Warner Bros.) My copy has a live (5:29) version and a studio version (3:59), both good and worthy in their own way. But let's get practical. Let's pretend we only got the shorter, studio version.

STEVIE NICKS - "Talk To Me" (Modern) We've had a serious shortage of female voices recently (Aretha and Whitney being popular exceptions to the rule). The time is right and the song is ripe. Go for it!

KATE BUSH:

Artist, Producer, and Earthly Creature.

by Kent/Keith Zimmerman

Alongside Joni Mitchell (who will be featured in an upcoming Gavin interview) and jazz artist Carla Bley, Kate Bush takes her place as a female artist totally involved in the outcome of her craft, both on a musical level and a technical level. Starting out as a pianist/songwriter, Kate Bush has since evolved into producing her own material as well as maintaining a commanding skill over the Fairlight Computer Music Instrument. About the only delicate and demure aspect found in her music is the sacred subject of love and deep feelings. Beyond that, her music, as illustrated on her Hounds of Love LP, can range from poetic sophistication to hellish tribal fury. We spoke just as her latest album and single, "Running Up That Hill," began receiving enthusiastic airplay on both Album and Alternative, as well as Top Forty, radio. Past works include four other albums: The Kick Inside, Lionheart, Never For Ever, and The Dreaming, plus a host of international hit singles.

KZ: Why was Hounds Of Love split into two different segments—Hounds Of Love and The Ninth Wave?

KB: They're two very separate entities for me. The second side is a concept and the other side is really to balance the weight of the concept with five separate songs. In a way, they're all linked by love as a theme.

They're all forms of love songs. The concept side was something I'd really wanted to do for a while. I've always felt that music, in a way, greatly complements, when it's done in an involved way, like classical pieces of music that last, say, twenty minutes. I've never really been brave enough to go through it before. I just felt I had something that grasped my creative juices enough to get into a story that would last half an hour. But, at the same time, I felt, to turn that into a whole album would be too risky if the thing didn't work. It was

"The hounds of love are coming to rip you to pieces, and you're scared, so you run. You have to get away from them."

extremely interesting for me to write seven songs (the whole of The Ninth Wave) that were all linked together. It was very demanding and, I think, relatively successful.

KZ: Reading through the lyrics of the single, "Running Up That Hill," I'm wondering what you were trying to communicate?

KB: It's about the difficulty of a relationship between a man and a woman when they really love each other very deeply and how, in a way, the love is something that's much larger than either of them. It causes lots of problems. If they could only swap places with each other, if that was something that was possible, then they'd understand how the other one felt. Perhaps the insecurity would lessen. It's about trying to bring people together even more. You always understand something better once you've experienced it.

KZ: What were some of the fundamental differences between men and women that you were thinking about when you wrote that song?

KB: Well, I think the basic physical differences is an obvious one. When you're in love with someone, plus the actual act of making love, not knowing what it's like to the other person, I think there are then very subtle differences, which is where the complications come in, really. I think it's the same if it's men and men or women and women. When you're in love with someone, you become a bit more sensitized. That can cause problems. People say things, and they don't really mean to hurt, but it does hurt because of the way you're sensitized to the situation. That's happening all the time. Relationships, even when it's not some sort of great passionate love, are something that affect people in every way. It's such an important part of our lives.

KZ: All through your music, I see a strong sense of family. Did you come from a musical background?

KB: Yes, they are musical. Music was a very early influence for me.

KZ: I see a couple of other Bush's lurking in the music. Are Paddy and John your brothers?

KB: Yes.

KZ: What kind of little sister were you?

KB: I think I was quite a nice little sister, really!

KZ: On the song, "Hounds of Love," is there imagery of women being hunted down?

KB: Oh, no. It wasn't meant to be anything so one-sided at all. It's very much the idea of hounds of love so terrifying that you actually don't want to be caught by love. The hounds are coming to rip you to pieces, and you're scared, so you run. You have to get away from them.

KZ: What are the voices at the beginning—

KB: Of the track? Can you not hear what he's saying?

KZ: Something about being chased. It sounds like something lifted from an old movie.

KB: It's not actually lifted from a movie, but we re-did it. He's saying, "It's in the trees."

KZ: If I got more into your music after the third LP, Never For Ever, was that because it was a turning point?

KB: Yes, it was very much so for me. Definitely. That was the first album where I had sufficient control in the studio.

KZ: Was it hard gaining that control? Did you have to convince a lot of people?

KB: I think there's a certain amount of that in any job, really. You have to prove what you can do, what you're worth. I think it was really waiting for the moment and being brave enough to feel that it was right to become more involved with the production. That's really what started to happen. I started producing with the engineer. It seemed to work very well, which was a great relief.

KZ: Your earlier records, especially The Kick Inside and Lionheart, seemed vocally oriented. Now the instrumentation plays just as important a part, if not more.

KB: (Pause) Sharing of vocals and music, I think they work so well together. If you can get a nice balance, it's very effective, particularly on an album, where you're sustaining the listener's interest with a certain amount of variety. Each time I make an album, I figure I'm getting a little closer. It's a continual process for me, trying to make one better than the last one.

KZ: As a songwriter, do you wrestle with your songs? Is it a struggle?

KB: They're terrible! They pin me against the wall, they throw me around the room.

KZ: Tell me about your working so closely with the Fairlight Computer Music Instrument. All the sounds you're able to reproduce are impressive.

KB: It's a very important part of my music, that coming along. I first met it on the third album (Never For Ever). The minute I saw what it could do, I really thought I needed one badly. It was just so right for everything I wanted to do and try. I've always found synthesizers very difficult to get on with. The whole thing (with the Fairlight) is that you can put any sound into it and it becomes under your control. When you're trying to create something that has atmosphere and mood, there really isn't anything that could be better. What's nice for the new album is that I managed to actually buy one for the last album (The Dreaming), but when I was writing for the new album, I had the Fairlight to initially write songs with. Up until then, I had it only to use on overdubs. So it's had a very different effect on the flavor of the songs.

KZ: So it was, in effect, a partner in your writing process.

KB: Well, the piano, I could never really forsake that, because that's always been my partner. It's just that the Fairlight is a very interesting option to use. I think I'll always like some songs with the piano. It's just interesting, the places the Fairlight will take you to that piano perhaps won't, because it doesn't conjure up the same ideas and sounds.

KZ: It was just, after listening to records day in, day out, I was especially impressed with how organic and natural your music sounds, considering the technology.

KB: Oh ... how nice!

KZ: You now have a studio in your home. Will that slow you down at all? Will it be five years until the next album?

KB: I don't think so. Ultimately, it does the opposite. It helps the creative processes when you get interesting ideas. What's so good is that I have the facilities to come in whenever I have ideas and time and actually put down a track from the word go in the master studio. What was really frustrating on The Dreaming was that we did a lot of demos that had a very good mood about them. And then we'd try to re-create them from scratch in the master studio. It was very difficult. Here the demos are the masters. Everything is born with the first things being put right onto tape. I think that's good and it helps in getting something interesting in the end.

KZ: Couldn't your studio turn you into somewhat of a recluse?

KB: That depends if you lose sight of what you're doing. If you lose sight of what you're doing, you should stop anyway. If you feel everything you're doing is for the better, then every moment is worthwhile.

KZ: Have you become somewhat of an engineer?

KB: No, but I work with great engineers. They're so important to me. You need good people around you to feedback off of. You're in a very isolated situation. You're locked in with two other people, twelve hours a day. You've got to have a good chemistry when you're working or else it could be unbearable.

KZ: All through your albums, the bass work has always been extraordinary. You've worked with people like (ECM's) Eberhard Weber, Danny Thompson, and a player named Del Palmer. Aside from wanting a good base to your music, is there a special role that instrument plays?

KB: Yes. I think it's a terribly important part of a track and if it's not a bass guitar, you have to think carefully about what it is that's going to cover that register in the song. I mean, that's what it's doing, really, it's holding the whole track down. If you've got something that's very carefully thought out and is melodic, I think you have quite an enchanting combination. I think one always notices if the bass isn't very good. A lot of time it's not necessarily such a dominant instrument. It's almost something you feel. I also feel in some tracks, it can also be a solo instrument.

KZ: On the last two albums you've used a didjeridu, the Australian aboriginal instrument.

KB: I think the sound of it is fascinating and wonderful to work with. It's a drone that you can move around on top of the music. It's very moody, strange, earthy.

KZ: What about the tribal feel of your music, the huge drum sounds?

KB: I've always found the drum kit a very difficult thing to work with. It can take a lot of thought to try to get the drums to sound interesting and right. They're a totally dominating part of the track. They really do have a very big influence on the feel of it. It's got to be right and set the right mood from the word go. They're normally the first thing you put on the track. I like the idea of things sounding big and grand, especially if the subject matter is in keeping. It's all down to every little thing to help create the picture.

KZ: When did you first meet David Gilmour?

KB: That was fate. I've been incredibly lucky. I was very young and my brother had a friend, who had a friend, (laughs) who knew Dave. Dave, at the time, was scouting talent that he could be involved with, or back in some way. I was one of the projects that he was considering. When he came down and heard some tracks, he felt there was something there, so he put up the money for me to be able to go into the studio and have some tracks produced and played for some record companies. The demos I had, most people's imaginations didn't stretch that far. Without him, it would have taken me such a long time. He really did help me so much. Through those recordings, I got my contract.

KZ: Were you a Pink Floyd fan?

KB: I wasn't at the time. I was very young and had heard of them, but hadn't really heard their music. Meeting Dave made me curious about them and since then, I have become a big fan.

KZ: He's perceived differently in this country, almost as a guitar hero, but he's quite interested in experimental music.

KB: He's fantastic. I will always be indebted to him. He helped me so much by what he did. He's a very kind man.

KZ: What did you think of Pat Benatar's version of "Wuthering Heights"?

KB: I thought it was really nice!

KZ: Why are you reluctant to play live?

KB: I'm not reluctant to play live at all. The problem is actually getting the time. I did one tour and it took us six months to prepare and was totally exhausting. Ever since, I really haven't had the time or the opportunity. I needed two albums worth of material to do another show so that it would be all fresh stuff. Since, it hasn't really felt like the right time. I have to take all my things one at a time. It becomes involved. It's not right to put things out unless you have the right amount of care to put into them.

KZ: So looking back at the last three albums, do they fit together enough for you to want to go out and perform them live?

KB: Yes. I think it could be very interesting.

KZ: Up until now, America has been a tough nut for you to crack. What do you think?

KB: I think it's a matter of when it's right. When it's meant to, it will happen. What does it is the music. The music has the energy, people back it up and people like it. The record company promotes it so people know it's out there, then, I think, that's what creates an energy. If people didn't like it, I could do an awful lot and it wouldn't do anything.

KZ: Have you visited any parts of America?

KB: I did a long time ago. I did a TV show in New York (Saturday Night Live) and that was fun. I've only been to New York and Los Angeles.

KZ: You worked briefly with Peter Gabriel on his third LP. Are there any similarities between how he works and how you work?

KB: I think there are some similarities. We both take quite a bit of time. I think he has been an influence in that anything you like becomes an influence. If you like it, you would like to exude something similar. I think he's a really nice person, as well. He's trying to do something different.

KZ: What part of Elton John's career influenced you?

KB: I was very young and so into his music. He was the only person I knew of that wrote songs and played piano and sang. I was about 14 or 15.

KZ: I think my favorite song by you is "Pull Out The Pin," featuring David Gilmour singing. Tell me about that specific song?

KB: There was a documentary on TV a long while back that was a very strong inspirational force. It was about the religious irony of the Vietnamese who would pop the silver Buddah in his mouth, you see, they wore them around their necks. Whenever they went into battle, they would put the Buddah into their mouths so that when they died, Buddah was on their lips. The irony of it was extraordinary. The song was written from the Vietnamese point of view. It's about how the Vietnamese tracks this American GI down for a couple of days, something they would normally do, stay with someone two or three days until they'd find a moment, then they'd throw a grenade. The idea is that just as he's about to pop a grenade, he looks into the American's eyes and sees his face for the first time. Until then, he's been an object. When he looks into his eyes, he sees himself in a way, in that it's a human being who is lonely and sad, probably has kids, a home. At that point of decision, what does he do? Does he pull out the pin? Chances are, they'll both be killed. What is the decision? It's that moment comprised of your own survival and compassion for another human.

KZ: Will I ever see you play that song live?

KB: I'd like to think so.

KZ: What other kinds of music do you listen to?

KB: I don't listen to very much music, other than what I work on. When I do, I tend to listen to things like Eberhard Weber and classical music. There are some really nice things coming out of a label called Windham Hill. I like instrumental music. I tend to unwind by watching films on video rather than listening to music because I spend so much of my time listening to my own music, working on my own ideas for this and that. So it's quite rare for me to listen to other people in a big way.

KZ: I've heard you're afraid to fly.

KB: I don't like flying. It's very difficult for me. I travel by train and boat and that hasn't stopped me from going anywhere yet.

KZ: So you're pretty much an earthly creature.

KB: (Laughs) Yes, it would seem so at the moment. ■

ARE YOU FIREPROOF?

None of us is fireproof. Any one of us can get fired, whether we've done anything to warrant it or not. A change in management may mean a change in your job, and out you go, regardless of how well you've been doing the job expected of you.

I can and have counselled in this column that the more valuable you make yourself to the station, the harder you are to do without. Yet nobody is fireproof.

I've suggested more than once that PD's get more involved in the station's business end--making sales calls, joining civic clubs, perhaps even doing a little selling--to develop more rapport with the business-oriented GM. Yet nobody is fireproof. (Not even that GM who has learned to appreciate you!)

So what should you do? Quite simple--find a way to save a bit of money--even if only a little bit--every payday, no matter how much it may hurt. Pretend you make $25 less each payday, and put that money somewhere. Automatic savings plans are great if they're available from your employer; it's far easier to save money you never get your hands on, as the Internal Revenue Service knows only too well.

If there is no automatic savings plan available at your station, ask the bookkeeper about joining the Payroll Savings Plan. How many PSA'S have you done for US Savings Bonds? They used to be one of the lowest-yielding investments; yet as Forbes magazine pointed out in the July 1, 1985, issue, the interest on Series EE savings bonds is indexed now, to a rate of 85% of that of five-year treasury bonds--with 7.5% interest rate floor, which means that they nowadays often pay more than T-bills. Buy a $50 savings bond for $25; it reaches face value at maturity, can keep earning after that, and if necessary can pay you interest even if you only hold it six months. You can buy and cash them at any bank. It's a very good deal.

Also make yourself more fireproof by not being deeply in debt. Easier said than done, of course--particularly at radio wages! But the more in debt you are, the more you dare not lose your job. If the income isn't sufficient, look at additional earning opportunities. I've suggested before that it's very rewarding to teach a broadcasting-related course at a Community College, or any other institution of learning at which a teacher's credential is not required. In many states, you can teach a vocational course in a Community ("Junior") College simply by having some education and experience in the field. I've mentioned the rewards of teaching--but of course, you get paid, too. Looking for voicework? Find out if there is an agent or agents in your area; union offices can refer you. Visit the TV stations to ask about announcing. Make yourself known to the ad agencies.

Nobody's fireproof. But making yourself somewhat secure, financially, brings you much closer to it....you have a cushion, and some time, when and if you have to hit the street. ■

Dog Eat Dog—Joni Mitchell (Geffen)

Even JONI MITCHELL admitted it. While WILD THINGS RUN FAST was based in anger, this LP is steeped in love. Aside from the lyrics, you'll hear a love of current production, giving DOG EAT DOG modern standing. The material fits together glove-like, a lot like how the material flowed together on FOR THE ROSES over a dozen years ago. In fact, DOG EAT DOG resembles FOR THE ROSES shoved into a time machine. The essence and radiance of both works are a lot alike, but the trappings of drum sounds and digital sampling make this new LP a challenge, balancing the changes of the heart with the digital studio mind. These days it's so important to communicate music through all the necessary and infinite technological channels while retaining the organic nuts and bolts emotion of what the song was originally born to communicate. Modern innovators in that same vein include U2 and KATE BUSH. DOG EATS DOG takes its place by not speaking feverishly, making a strong statement lyrically and instrumentally. Check Fiction/Dog Eat Dog/Good Friends and the insightful Three Great Stimulants.

Mike + The Mechan1cs

Mike & The Mechanics—(Atlantic)

It's an old adage, but sometimes it does take a few listens...so within the week, this LP has been the most played around here and one of the Most Added out there. "Silent Running" has a hypnotic effect that more aggressive tracks don't. The album is well rounded with the addition of "All I Need Is A Miracle" and "A Call To Arms".

"Slave To The Rhythm"

—Grace Jones (Manhattan/Island)

A bit on the lush side for traditional Album Radio and Alternative, this single has a nice smoldering groove. The percussion and the chorus are the hooks.

"Talk To Me"—Stevie Nicks

(Modern/Atco)

One of the very few female artists capable of scaling the sex barrier of the Album Chart, out-of-the-box. This is a medium sashaying tempo with a heavy backbeat. STEVIE sings a little gruff on that last verse. Nice.

Visions of Excess—Golden Palominos

(Celluloid)

The GOLDEN PALOMINOS have always been an interesting assemblage of New York talent. This time the administrative tenacles of the GP's reach rockward toward the futile

Southeast. Lead vocalist on the first three trax (the cream of this fine LP) is MICHAEL STIPE of REM. Other contributors include RICHARD THOMPSON, BILL LASWELL, ANTON FIER, and CHRIS STAMEY. Elsewhere expect to hear JOHN LYDON, CARLA BLEY, JACK BRUCE and others. VISIONS OF EXCESS is a historic meeting of the minds. "Clustering Train" and "Boy(Go)" are the big potential airplay guns. A few months back, you may remember the cover of MOBY GRAPE's "Omaha". "Omaha" is the original acid-laced rock n roll anthem, timeless in structure. One cut further gets you JOHN "ROTTEN" LYDON screaming bloody murder on "The Animal Speaks". Great pains have been taken to service all our Album people. If you feel left out, call KIM WHITE at Celluloid at 212-714-0033 for a copy.

Riptide—Robert Palmer (Island)

Wide open production distinguishes each and every ingredient that makes up RIPTIDE. BERNARD EDWARDS, who soundscaped the POWER STATION LP, gives the vocals plenty of breathing space for Album Radio of the 80's persuasion. Besides the single, there are two trax perfectly suited for rock airplay. One is "Hyperactive" and the following track "Addicted To Love". Both trax flirt dangerously with guitars and hormones out of control and on the hunt. The polar opposite emotion is explored on "I Didn't Mean To Turn You On". "Addicted" gets the nod in the bunker with guitars by EDDIE MARTINEZ and ANDY TAYLOR. Vocals were arranged by CHAKA KHAN.

MY 2¢

If you turn to page five of this week's GAVIN, you'll see the first formal announcement of a GAVIN NATIONAL CONVENTION to take place FEBRUARY 20-23 of next year. That gives you almost four whole months to scam your way out to San Francisco. If you do, you will find it definitely worth your while. As the ad says, NO PANELS. Instead, there will be presentations & workshoppes of specific and general interest to all in our industry. The working title is the GAVIN SEMINAR FOR MEDIA PROFESSIONALS. We feel it upgrades the industry a little at a time when we all deserve a little upgrading. So far, nothing has been etched in stone. Ideas are flying and we at GAVIN are right now receptive to anything anybody has to say about what they'd like to see and what they wouldn't like to see. PETER, KEITH, and I will be holding at least one major ALBUM/ALTERNATIVE workshop/exercise that'll be original in concept and musical as well. I'd love to receive a million calls offering ideas, support, and feedback...How about that World Series? Just what baseball needed, a bunch of soreheads at one of the biggest events in sports. What's next? A sit-in at the All-Star game?...Does that song by Boston's AEROSMITH sound familiar? "Let The Music Do The Talking" first appeared on the debut album by the JOE PERRY PROJECT...I conducted a poll this

ALTERNATIVE ACTION

After sitting patiently behind THE CURE for two weeks, KATE BUSH captures her first #1 Alternative chart position. Across town she's cracked the Top 10 of our Album chart and you can read our exclusive interview with this intriguing woman beginning on page 19.

The remaining records inside the Top 10 are falling into a consistent flow with few disruptions. The only exceptions are last week's CERTIFIED albums, WATERBOYS AND SIMPLE MINDS. Both are "snowballing" and will contend for at least the Top 5, if not #1.

After a relatively sluggish start, THE ALARM are out and on the up-and-up. CERTIFIED and moving rapidly, they're developing an outstanding base of airplay. The key will be their ability to acquire better rotations.

THE DEL FUEGOS, THOMPSON TWINS, 10,000 MANIACS, TOM WAITS and INXS are the victims of an over-saturated market of excellent music. All of these albums are being well received, but the quantity of other releases is slowing down their movement.

Take special note of CABARET VOLTAIRE, our second MOST ADDED album - rare for an import/independent record.

Coming Down On You/Shake Away/Don't Get Enough-SPIRITS OF THE NIGHT (Target) It always seems that a certain region of the country is attracting special attention to their respective local music scene (e.g. Athens, GA or Los Angeles). The claims are often exaggerated and usually played down by local natives. Overstated or not, Texas has long been a source of vibrant rock music with bands like ZZ Top, Joe Ely, Stevie Ray Vaughan, The Fabulous Thunderbirds, Zeitgeist and The True Believers all emerging from the state. While all these bands differ, there's also a common thread that runs through them, and Spirits Of The Night are no exception. Each track has an ability to express seemingly simple riffs and arrangements in a stimulating manner. It's blistering music that reaches out and causes the listener to react. Mark Leonard is the person to contact for a copy, (818) 343-9155.

COUNTRY SUMMARY

There will be little room at the top of the chart for any newcomers next week because the Top Five are all very strong and all still gaining. It's a toss-up as to who the next #1 will be. MEL McDANIEL is a good bet to go Top Ten next week, with his Hit Factor already 86%. RICKY SKAGGS is also nearing the Top Ten with a Hit Factor of 72%. KENNY ROGERS is apparently everyone's desire after only 5 weeks. He more than doubles his Hit Factor this week, going from 15% to 46%. SAWYER BROWN moves into the Top Twenty, with debuts at WLAT-Conway, WXKY-Milan, KIOV-Sioux Falls, WBLY-Springfield, WBLY-Springfield, WITL-Lansing,

WNDU-South Bend, KIKF-Anaheim, KRDR-Portland, etc. TODD GRIMSTED at WPOC-Baltimore reports that requests for "Betty's Bein' Bad" are 5 to 1 over any other. JIMMY BUFFETT debuts inside the Top Twenty, with WXTU, WFMB, WSLR, KASE, KHEY, KIKF, and KRKT already charting it in their Top Ten. Look for future moves on JOHNNY LEE, EDDIE RABBITT, NEIL YOUNG, DAN SEALS, GENE WATSON, and RESTLESS HEART. The FORESTERS move into Chartbound with adds at WHN, WFMC, WFRB, WQBE, KASC, KDMS, etc. MAC DAVIS tops our Action Sides this week, and is already charting for TIM TODD at WORC-Worcester, LARRY SLABIK at KBMW-Wahpeton, GREG GILBERTSON at KKAABerdeen, JON MURRAY at WCUB-Manitowoc, CURTIS KING at WKKN-Rockford, MARK HUNTER at WWQM-Madison, etc. Belief is growing for THE WHITES and CHANCE, with 22 adds and 16 adds respectively. All three of our Most Added, MARIE OSMOND, STEVE WARINER, and SOUTHERN PACIFIC, look like future contenders for Certified status. (Be sure to catch the Gavin Interview with STEVE WARINER in next week's issue). Good news! The GAVIN NATIONAL CONVENTION is back!! See the details on page 5. Make your plans now!

OUR WEEK

by Tony Richland

When the California Lottery commenced several weeks ago, we at the Gavin Hollywood Bureau got caught up in it. We got caught up in it BIG, purchasing two one dollar tickets a day for a week or so. We didn't win a dime, and have since bowed out, after compiling a list of just what else we could have purchased for that same two bucks each and every morning. Here's our list:

- 4/5ths of a nerve-soothing bloody mary at Musso and Frank's Grill.
- A bottle of Wella Balsam Shampoo for dry and brittle hair, which lasts approximately one month.
- 2 packs of Merit Regulars, if purchased at Thrifty Shell Station in Hollywood.
- 8 hours at parking meters on the streets near KIIS-FM & KKHR.
- 4 black coffees, sans tax, at any Winchell's Donuts.
- A two pound package of generic chicken thighs, when on sale at Safeway.
- One half pint of Cluny's 80 Proof Scotch.
- 1/8th of a seat at Springsteen's next concert in L.A.
- 1/15th of a seat at Michael Jackson's next concert in L.A.
- 3 tacos at the stand across the street from A&M records.

1/5th of our monthly basic cable bill (all Regis Philbin programs included)
2/5ths of an order of fries and onion rings at The Palm Restaurant.
27 miles of gas to be utilized for driving to radio stations around Hollywood and environs.
One short phone call made to Mike Preston of KS-103 in San Diego.

A quick perusal of the above list leaves us with this thought: So long, lottery ... we're just not a gambling man. Enjoyed the flirtation, but the marriage is off! As I write this, the laughingly named "World" Series is mercifully drawing to a close. As both of you read this, it HAS ended and our guess is that, aside from Billy Brill of MCA Records, not one human being residing outside Missouri watched one minute of the snooze inducer. In fact, research has determined that repeated viewings of John Fogerty's CENTERFIELD video were a more likely candidate for respectable ratings. NO ONE, other than the afore-mentioned Brill, has ever heard of any of the participants, and that includes their MOTHERS! Correct me if I'm wrong, but isn't the hysterically dubbed "Fall Classic" supposed to feature the spitting and scratching of recognizable figures such as Reggie Jackson, Steve Garvey and the late Babe Ruth? Not any more, apparently, and if baseball keeps trotting out a bunch of dreary nonentities for it's showcase event, you'll see growing Nielsen numbers for Moldavian Thumb Wrestling on ESPN.

Big movie star George C. Scott was quoted this week as calling rock music, "a detriment to society from the day it was born." Patton then referred to the Beatles as "little jerks" and put down MTV as "shabby, anti-human and phony." Scott said all of this on The Joe Franklin Show, where he appeared with co-guests AC-DC, Dr. Ruth, Pia Zadora and Pink Floyd. After the program, Scott, Zadora, AC and Pink adjourned to West Hollywood's Ma Maison Restaurant where they enjoyed a late supper with the late Oron Welles' poodle. This past week we received an engraved invitation to a Prince and Diana reception to be held shortly in Washington. Being a big fan of The Raspberry Beret guy and The Love Child Lady, we enthusiastically RSVP'd. Now we've learned that we won't see either of the above, as we got our Princes and Dianas all wrong. The pair visiting D.C. are from someplace called Buckingham Palace. We've never been to the place, but we hear it's a huge new wave club in London where George C. Scott has been observed slam dancing with ZZ Top! And how was YOUR week? ■

URBAN CONTEMPORARY SUMMARY

TA MARA & THE SEEN fought major battles to get to the top, outmaneuvering STEVIE WONDER, MORRIS DAY and ARETHA to get there. They were pretty tough acts to crack, but newcomers TA MARA & THE SEEN did it. Another talent out of Minneapolis, TA MARA is under the influence of JESSE JOHNSON from THE TIME, who helped out on both the single and LP. So it makes sense that her first single would go the way of JESSE's first - right to the top. Meanwhile, watch for ARETHA's "Zoomin'" to challenge her for that position at the top. SHEILA E. goes top 10 this week and is still building a strong case for "A Love Bizarre". EUGENE WILDE takes a ten-point jump and, as I said last week, still looks like one of his best shots at the top. Another ten-point jumper is the single by THE JETS, "Curiosity", and can be categorized in the new act section. Watch the two "Certified" choices this week: WHITNEY HOUSTON (who needs no explanation) and THE SYSTEM. Both are great prospects for the top spots during the holiday season. THE SYSTEM goes to #6 at WRKS/FM, #7 at KGFJ, #8 at KRNB, #9 at WXYV, #10 at WDPN, #11 at WQQK/FM, KDLZ & KMJQ. The chart this week reflects a lot of house-cleaning done by our stations to debut six in the top 30. More of the same is reflected in Chartbound, with four new entries, the hottest of which is LIONEL RICHIE. You're also seeing a new listing on the DOUG E. FRESH, showing the A & B sides. Most stations are playing the B side now that "The Show" is beginning to slow down, and they're reporting requests for it, although rest assured that they are playing an edited version for programming purposes. Getting into Up & Coming, the biggest story is the one about DIONNE & FRIENDS. They got both the "Most Added" and "Pop Crossover" headlines as well as debuting in U&C. Newer sides chalking up the reports are KASHIF, 9.9, KURTIS BLOW and the POINTERS. ATLANTIC STARR is already old for many of you, but debuts here, nonetheless. By old, I only mean that many of you have been playing the LP cut for 3-4 months in some kind of rotation. The hottest of the new adds after the above-mentioned ones are the TEMPTATIONS and the O'JAYS. TEMPS were added at WHUR, WUSL/FM, WANM, WQKI, WTLC, WLUM, KMJM & KMJQ. O'JAYS were added at KDAY, KMJM, WTLC, WCIN, WOKJ, KROF, WXYV and WHUR.

DAVE SHOLIN'S

Personal Picks — SINGLES

Night Ranger - Goodbye (MCA)

These high flyin' rockers first demonstrated their versatility on the powerful ballad "Sister Christian". Here's a repeat performance. Now I have two favorite Night Ranger records.

The Dream Academy - Life In A Northern Town (Warner Brothers)

1985's "Sounds of Silence". This English trio is a breath of fresh air. One of the most original tracks of the year is having a field day at Alternative and Album Radio. Lyrics turn this effort into one hell of an audio movie. Close your eyes and listen.

Loverboy - Dangerous (Columbia)

Canadian co-horts Bryan Adams and Jim Vallance penned this macho rocker. If this was supposed to be tailored for Loverboy, the fit is perfect.

Stevie Nicks - Talk To Me (Modern)

Writer and co-producer Chas Sandford gives sexy Stevie just the vehicle she needs to travel up the Top 40.

RON FELL'S

Personal Picks — ALBUMS

ZZ Top - Afterburner (Warner Brothers)

The three musketeers of rock 'n' roll come out smokin'. They perform flat-out, floorboard back seat boogie with a double entendre best supported by their stoic video performances. ZZ Top defies most critical attempts to pin them to one particular generation of music. By maintaining time-tested attitudes of: a) Rock 'n' roll is alive and well, b) Nothing else matters...and what if it did...the Tops' triangular sound of drum/bass/guitar seeks out the music's lowest common denominators and will continue to get the undivided attention of real rock 'n' rollers. I especially like CAN'T STOP ROCKIN', and the first single, SLEEPING BAG.

Mike & The Mechanics (Atlantic)

I think we're being tested here. How many of us, looking for pop music worth playing, would take the time to listen to a band that calls itself Mike & The Mechanics? (Bad name, wonderful music). Mike is Mike Rutherford from Genesis. The Mechanics include Paul Carrack, who sang the lead on HOW LONG by Ace (1975), and also was in a recent Squeeze lineup, also, Peter Van Hooke (from Van Morrison's band) and lesser knowns Adrian Lee and another, Paul Young. Side one is particularly attractive with the single SILENT RUNNING setting the pace, followed by ALL I NEED IS A MIRACLE and a magnificently moody ballad, PAR AVION. An equally wonderful word play in ballad form comes almost like a sucker punch at the end of side two. Check out TAKEN IN.

Joni Mitchell - Dog Eat Dog (Geffen)

Her finest lyrical set ever! Though her career began at a level of maturity not expected of a young, still impressionable adult, it has evolved into something incomparably complex and invoking. She, through her words, has become a barometer, a bellwether and/or a musical touchstone from which lessers gather inspiration, and peers point in prideful association. The lyrics have clenching bite --word for word strung in an eloquent sequence --pearls of wisdom if you will. Her staple is lyric, but she finds almost pop arrangements and melody lines, taps the inventive production senses of Thomas Dolby and recruits the likes of Michael McDonald and James Taylor for effective linkage with pop music.
