INSIDE TOP 40 with DAVE SHOLIN

It's safe to say that U2 isn't suffering from a lack of publicity these days. But it wasn't that long ago when only the musically astute Album/Alternative audience was shouting the group's praises. Then last month Top 40 radio embraced this Irish foursome by making "With Or Without You" the most added record of the week...out of the box! Both Time and Newsweek devoted features to the band, as did major papers across the country. The last tour to receive this much press was Springsteen's, another musician with a message. Several comments in the Newsweek story are worth thinking about. One "ardent 18 year old fan" explained U2's appeal by saying "I'm sick of everyday rock on the radio. U2 is more real. You can feel their fever." The article's final sentence: "U2 is tapping a big audience tired of the empty glitz of oversynthesized pop." The success of U2 proves that whether you're a jock, programmer, promotion exec or artist...NOTHING can replace real enthusiasm and honesty in the product you deliver. Packaging is only part of that product.

Persistence pays off for CHRIS DEBURGH, who has battled his way into the Top Twenty after finally making it into the UP & COMING section on January 30th. Exceptional HIT FACTOR growth from 32% to 56%, as impressive jumps come in from Calvin Hicks WPHR Cleveland 24-18, Ric Lippincott and Brian Kelly Z95 Chicago 26-13, Mark Ward WYNU Jackson 22-10, Dan Michaels KWKR Garden City 22-14, Ravi Peruman KKIS Concord 18-11, Allen Scott KGWY Gillette 25-18, etc. Top 5 in Atlanta, Los Angeles, San Jose, Washington D.C. etc.

Those instant adds are turning into fast moves for BON JOVI. Their HIT FACTOR skyrockets from 6% to 22% with just about everyone converting it to a chart number. No shortage of debuts inside the Top 30, including KNBQ Tacoma/Seattle, KFIV Modesto, KITY San Antonio, KZZK Tri-Cities, KYAA Billings, KQKY Kearney, WYDD Pittsburgh, WNFI Daytona Beach, WWHB Hampton Bays, WANS Greenville, KCPX Salt Lake City, B104 Baltimore, KSND Eugene, etc.

Just a handful of reports away from CHARTBOUND last week, COMPANY B gets there easily this time with a 12% HIT FACTOR. Strong growth at WXKS Boston 22-15, FM102 Sacramento 24-13, KS103 San Diego 25-10, Y95 Dallas debut #16, B97 New Orleans 27-21, JLK/FM Asbury Park 29-19, Live 105 San Francisco debut #22, etc.

SMOKEY ROBINSON has been building steadily the past two weeks and is primed to make a healthy leap into CHARTBOUND next week. Already Top Twenty at KMEL, WLS, WHYT, WXLT, BAM99, WBCY, WXKS, K104, KYOS, KSTN, etc. 28 new believers including Bob Weil WSPK, Frank Amadeo Y100, Jonathan Little and Matt Hudson Z104, Darryl St.James KKXX, Shelley Rae Adams KWNZ, Jack Lundy Y94, Dave Shedlock and Mike McQueen WYDD etc.

Doubling his airplay BILLY IDOL is off to another great start with the latest adds at KIXY San Angelo, WKDD Akron, Pwr 99.7 Atlanta, WFBG Altoona, WNYZ and WRCK Utica, 3WD Schenectady, WHNY McComb, KZLS Billings, KHIT Seattle, KVXO Spokane, FM102 Sacramento, KATD Los Gatos/San Jose, etc.

Very deserving of mention is GINO

VANNELLI, who has a chart story, as he fights the airplay battle. HIT FACTOR is 22%, with a number one listing by Dave Roberts and Benny Bee at KUUB Bozeman. Moves 9-6 at KDOG, 28-18 Y94, 17-12 KIYS, 13-10 Y108, 18-10 KCLD, 9-6 KSND, 32-29 Z93, 9-7 CKOC, 12-10 WPFM etc. The story becomes more convincing each week.

Second week out THE PARTLAND BROTHERS are closing in on 100 reports. New on 94Q Atlanta, Q99 and 95XXX Burlington, Z94 Boston, WRCK Utica, Q104 Gadsden, WKXX Birmingham, WDBR Springfield, KDWZ Des Moines, KATD Los Gatos/San Jose, KZZU Spokane, KREO Santa Rosa, KWXX Hilo, KSEZ Sioux City, WQLZ Cheboygan, WBPM Kingston, etc.

Early buzz out of the Southwest on STRYPER, who debut at number 20 for John Raymond at KIXY San Angelo. Starting to get heavy positives from those playing it as it starts to spread with adds at WHDQ, WCIL, KKYS, KAFX, Q104, WOAY, KSWB, KVXO, KZZU, etc.

Q105 Tampa's Randy Kabrich and Bobby Rich along with Ric Lippincott and Brian Kelly at Z95 Chicago are first to report success with RECORD TO WATCH entrant JACK WAGNER. Debuts #28 at Q105, #29 Z95 with new believers Larry Williams WRCK, Nathan Hale WQBZ, Kevin Barton KFBG, Rick Woodell KKYS etc.

Number one topic on the phone was the FCC edict regarding those raunchy morning maniacs with New York's Howard Stern being the most notable. See CHINWAG on page 13 for the latest info.

THOMPSON TWINS

"GET THAT LOVE"

Jim and Tammy's favorite song, "Get That Love," is going strong as it jumps up the Top 40.

If there's one thing radio agrees on, it's how great this song sounds coming over the air, and the single sales are moving as quick as any hit the Twins have ever had. The Close To The Bone album sales are break out or better in virtually every market, and this is only just the beginning. Wait until the summer tour begins.

EXPOSÉ

"POINT OF NO RETURN"

The follow-up to their top 5 pop hit, "Come Go With Me," is the song that started it all. Confused? Don't be. The next single from Exposé is a new re-recorded, re-mixed version of their hugely popular #1 dance hit, "Point Of No Return."

This is the single radio demanded and now it sounds hotter than ever. As Oral Roberts himself said, "If I don't get the money I need it's off to the Point Of No Return for me." From the album, Exposure already over 430,000 copies. Going for adds April 27th.

KENNY G

"SONGBIRD"

What was the song that Jim Bakker played in the motel to get Jessica Hahn in the mood? Why "Songbird" of course. And Jim's not alone, because every day people from all walks of life are being blown away by Kenny G. "Songbird" is flying high on the Top 40, A/C and R&B charts. The album Duotones is now over 425,000 copies on its way to gold! The time is right for an instrumental hit and this is the right instrumental. If you still have any doubts call any station that's playing it and ask them what the listener reaction has been, you'll be on the single faster than you can say, trust fund.

"ROCK-A-LOTT,"

the follow-up single to the #1 smash. Going for adds May 11TH

CARLY SIMON

"GIVE ME ALL NIGHT,"

the first single from her debut Arista album, Coming Around Again. Exploding at retail. Going for adds April 27th.

PATRICE RUSHEN

"WATCH OUT"

Fueled by huge jumps at r&b and great exposure on "The Big Bang" episode of both "Moonlighting," and the PTL Club, Patrice Rushen is looking at her biggest crossover hit yet with "Watch Out" The album continues to take healthy jumps on both the r&b and pop LP charts. Keep an eye out for Patrice, she's going places.

RUSSELL HITCHCOCK

"THE RIVER CRIED"

Because of her big bushy eyelashes, Tammy's tears can flood a river, which leads us to "The River Cried," the first solo effort by Russell Hitchcock. Written by Billy Steinberg and Tom Kelly (of "Like A Virgin" and "True Colors" fame), and produced by Keith Olsen (of Fleetwood Mac, Pat Benatar, Foreigner and 38 Special fame), "The River Cried" is a powerful song matched by an equally powerful vocal performance by Russell Hitchcock. Picking up great adds in only its first week! Early believers include:

HARSH WINTER FOR TOP 40

The Winter Arbitrons brought a chilly blast to hot stations in the country's top two markets. Among listeners 12+, New York's Z100 went from first to third place, behind talk-format WOR and all-news WINS. In LA, POWER106 performed a similar maneuver, dropping behind KIIS AM/FM and KABC. Both Z100 and POWER106 were hurt by declines in adult numbers. The big beneficiary in New York apparently was WNSR, celebrating its first anniversary as an A/C. Out West, A/C KOST jumped 4-1-4.8., while the former KMET, now KTWV ("The Wave") made a modest splash. Here in the Bay Area, listeners were contrary as usual, boosting KMEL and nuevo Top 40 LIVE105, while deep-sixing A/C KYUU.

HOWARD'S NOT BLUE

Though WXRK dropped slightly in New York, Howard Stern wasn't blue. Not only has he signed a TV deal with Fox Television, but his 5.8 share in morning drive was tops among music stations. Those ratings aren't likely to be hurt by the FCC's warning, issued April 17th. In an opinion that could have a far-reaching impact on broadcasting, the commission warned it would no longer limit its definition of "indecent language" to the famous seven dirty words specified in the George Carlin/Pacifica Radio ruling. Henceforth, sayeth the FCC, any discussion of sexual or excretory activities might subject the license holder to administrative penalties.

Infinity Broadcasting head Mel Karmazin reacted cautiously: "Howard Stern got the same warning that all broadcasters got: They're expanding what they have in the past considered indecent and will enforce a stricter interpretation of the Pacifica case." Expressing the concern of many colleagues, Karmazin adds, "Obviously, we're looking for clear-cut guidelines. We're all business people serving our communities. We're not looking to violate any policies or laws. If they expand the seven dirty words to twelve dirty words, most broadcasters would understand what they don't want on the air and would conform. But some vague ruling like, 'We don't want you to discuss sex on the air' would really present problems for broadcasters--and not just in radio."

The Infinity chief blames the flap on outside pressure on the FCC. "It's not like Howard's suddenly done something different. It's not like he's suddenly gone on the air and said things he's never said on the radio before. What happened is that when Mark Fowler was not re-appointed, that triggered a lot of pressure from groups like Morality in Media."

Karmazin believes the courts--not federal bureaucrats--should decide what is obscene and indecent material: "How can they, sitting in Washington, determine when a conversation dealing with sex is done in a 'patently offensive manner'? If a broadcaster is found to be in violation of the law, then you can subject them to fines or possibly suspend their license because their character is such that they should not be a licensee."

Defending Stern, Karmazin insists, "Howard's show is based on humor. He doesn't shock people. He doesn't say the seven dirty words. He has the same repertoire available to him as to any broadcaster in the country. His ratings today are stronger than ever before. In the five years he's been in New York City, he's never had more listeners. You don't do that by shocking people every day."

NEW WHITNEY SINGLE

On April 27th, Arista Records will ship out disc, cassette and CD versions of Whitney Houston's avidly anticipated single, "I Wanna Dance With Somebody (Who Loves Me)." The release will be accompanied by a stipulation that the record not be aired until 7:30 a.m., local time, on Thursday, April 30. In a cover letter, Arista Senior VP/Marketing & Promotion Don Jenner says, "Since it's impossible to deliver the single simultaneously to every station, this method seemed the fairest way to serve both radio's needs and our own." His letter adds, "If you do not wish to accept the enclosed materials subject to the foregoing conditions, please return them immediately to Arista."

OM FOR THE HOLIDAYS

KFOG-San Francisco's Scoop Nisker is back producing his vox pop collages, after six months of doing in something rather unusual for an Album radio personality--meditating in Buddhist retreats in India, Thailand and Sri Lanka. "I love radio," he says, "but I find that every few years, I need to pull out and empty my head for awhile. You just start getting cynical, recycling the old jokes with new names." So after months of mellowing out, how to you get the juices flowing again? "It's easy," says Scoop. "I just look at the bills."

DISAPPEARING ACT

Portland's KMJK (Magic107) has done a disappearing act from its Top 40 battle with KKRZ (Z100). The station is now John Lund-consulted Classic Hits. Steve Naganuma, who moved up to PD from MD just last December, is now handling middays at KXYQ, market's other remaining Top 40. His replacement is Mark Capps, formerly of KOMO-Seattle. GM Dave McDonald says, "The Top 40 share is eroding rapidly here. It's tough to make a living as number two in a format that has no adult listeners. Our approach will be decidedly un-wimpy, with everything from The Doors to Top 40 titles from the 80s, aimed at that 25-34 core." McDonald expressed praise for Naganuma: "We would have liked to keep him, but he got a great offer."

THE I&'S OF TEXAS

Max Danger of KHOS-Sonora, TX, (that's about 65 miles south of San Angelo) has a dream--bringing New Music to the parched plains of Southwest Texas. "I've been playing some of my own reggae records on our New Music show," he says. "I'd like to get some other material--Alternative, Urban and blues--what you might hear on college stations. I think there's a hunger for stuff that's never been heard here." He's looking for service on offbeat stuff. If you can help, give him a call at (915) 387-3554.

MAXIM MUM AIRPLAY

Congrats to Chrysalis Records' Daniel Glass and wife Debra, proud parents of Maxim Rachel Glass, born April 22 at seven pounds, 11 ounces.

DODGER BOO

1987 Gavin Alternative Promotion Director of the Year Harry "Phone-Man" Levy will be moving cross country to Los Angeles, as the newest member the Capitol Records team of John Fagot, Ray Tuskin, Tom Gorman et al. Says Harry: "I'm excited about Capitol's commitment to breaking new acts and about rooting against the Dodgers and Rams." Capitol's National Director of Alternative Promotion officially starts working out of Hollywood & Vine May 4th.

ROTATIONS

Bob Frymire joins Virgin Records as West Coast Regional Promo Manager, the job briefly held by Mike Schaefer...CBS/Nashville appoints Allen Brown as Associate Media Director...Music City is about to get another new resident, as Joanie Lawrence decamps LA to take up duties there for Arista Records...MD Kim Hughes checks out of KBLX-Berkeley for Northern California promotion duties with RCA Records.

CHET CHITCHAT

NBC's The Source launches a 90-second daily off-the-wall sports program. Host "Chet ChitChat"--the alter ego of WLUP-Chicago's Bruce Wolf of-is "a parody of every crazy sportscaster you've ever heard, and some you've never heard," says net Director of Programming Andy Denmark. Adds Chet: "Some sportscasters give you the scores. Other sportscasters say they give you more than the scores. I give you less than the scores, but less is more."

STATS

Only eight percent of 18-34-year-olds say they NEVER go to the movies. The figure rises to 22 percent among 35-49s and 45 percent among those aged 50+.

Slightly over half of all American adults bought at least one state lottery ticket last year. One in seven participated in a mail sweepstakes.

By year's end, the Chinese will have more televisions than Americans. Their favorite show is called "Animal World."

GAVIN 1999

The Sequel

Due to pressing time considerations, this publication prepares some editions in advance. Our most recent foray into the Gavin archives has turned up yet another 1999 issue. Since this one is dated Dec. 25, many of you will be observing Hanukah, and may not have the opportunity to peruse the publication. As a public service, we present selected items from that issue:

SGT. PEPPER II RELEASED.

Ron Fell reviews it. "Paul McCartney, now 58, has penned the ultimate follow-up. WHEN I'M 88 brings us up to date on the life experiences of Vera, Chuck and Dave, as the graying protagonists settle into the innocent romp of their mystic senior years. Aging drummer Richard Starkey brushes the skins with subtle, yet tender absorption, providing more than sonic graffiti to a mellowing audience of the genre's prime purveyors."

OPRAH WINFREY JOINS

GAVIN REPORT AS ASSOCIATE CHINWAG CORRESPONDENT/ASSISTANT TO ELMA GREER. Assuming joint duties based on her dual experience as hard news reporter and Moe Bandy fan, the lissome and sylph-like ex-talk show hostess was welcomed to our crack staff this week. Coming directly from her position as personal manicurist to Bob Galliani, the 47-year-old former Famous Amos groupie will split her time between the continuing quest for CHINWAG wit and assisting the still-vibrant Elma in reviewing Judds LPs.

All four generations of Judds join Dave "Pops" Sholin and his assistant, Phylcia Rashad, in welcoming a walking tribute to Metrecal.

FRANKIE & ANNETTE III READY TO TOUR. Sixty-eight-year-old Italian person Frankie Avalon and his chunky peanut butter-eating partner Annette Funicello have begun filming the third Beach Party revival movie and are rehearsing for an accompanying tour. Funicello, now known as "Grams" to her three generations of fans and fanettes, will sport her original mouse ears and breasts in this ode to "later life." Co-star Don "Trading Places" Ameche says he's "proud to be associated with two nearly-living legends." Family Ties director Stephen Spielberg will be at the figurative reins.

VANNA WHITE JOINS CUTTING CREW. Senile but still supple, the erstwhile TV letter-turner will unite with CUTTING CREW as they open for Air Supply on their current tour. The former Top 40 act, now firmly ensconced on the A/C charts with their contemporary version of MR. SANDMAN, has been searching for a way to augment their sound. Vanna, most recently a GLASS TIGER back-up vocalist, fit the bill to a "T," due to her long-recognized knowledge of consonants.

SHANNON MOVES ON. Twelve years after replacing the dimly-remembered Johnny Carson as host of The Tonight Show, national TV icon Scott Shannon told the press, "I'm burned out. As much as I've enjoyed working with Ed, Doc, Tommy and Joan Embry, I feel a need to find my space..and YOUR space, for that matter. I'll just be walking on the beachfront behind my villa in Yankton." BEVERLY HILLS FETUS co-star Gary Coleman is rumored to be assuming the berth.

NORBERG TODAY! Longtime Gavin columnist Eric "I'm just wearing a casual sweater" Norberg has signed on with PSYCHOLOGY TODAY. The Nor-man will be doubling in brass as he joins the in-depth psycho-periodical as a regular contributor while maintaining his status as 87-year columnist with Gavin. In his first piece, the whimsical yet penetrating Eric advises applicants as to the best approach in seeking a U.S. Senate seat. Assuming an avuncular posture, Eric counsels would-be solons, "Wear a red tie with no minestrone stains and never tell important people their wives look like the butler on HART TO HART. In other words, act like you're applying for overnights in Oxnard!"

AGENDA ANNOUNCED FOR 14TH ANNUAL GAVIN SEMINAR FOR MEDIUM PROFESSIONALS. An innovative program of activities is planned for this year's convention, to be held at San Francisco's famed Candlestick Park. Publisher Fell announced a projected attendance of 30,000, all of whom will be buying drinks for indie guy Kevin McDonald. Former WEBSTER star Emmanuel Lewis, now a power forward with NBA expansion team Fresno Fongools, is slated for the keynote address, which will center on the growing problem of finding work for ex-morning-drive Reagan impersonators. Entertainment will include an original ballet featuring Heavy Lenny and Mike Martucci. Cocktails will be hosted by Private Stock.

RICHLAND, A FREE AGENT, RE-SIGNS WITH GAVIN. Publisher Ron told a packed press conference, "We've inked the Tone-Man to a contract guaranteeing that HITS, RUDMAN and FIEDEL will never see his byline in this lifetime. I hesitate to reveal actual figures, but let me just say we've got Richland's John Hancock on a piece of paper that would have turned the late Larry Bird Celtic green!"

SOUL ON ICE

A Gavin Interview with Simply Red's Mick Hucknall

by Keith Zimmerman

Simply Red vocalist Mick Hucknall seems to be the hot interview ticket these days. It was a late Friday afternoon London time (Hucknall's day off), and we were the middle of three scheduled chats. Currently red hot in Europe and the UK, Simply Red's performance at this year's Grammy Awards attracted even more attention than their best selling debut album, Picture Book.

With George Michael, Paul Young and Boy George, Hucknall has lodged himself in Britain's distinguished lineup of young, soul-flavored singers. He shares with them certain hallmarks of respectability: Number one is a fanatical taste in the basics of classic jazz and soul/R&B. As major musical muses, Hucknall cites jazz heavies John Coltrane, Miles Davis and Ella Fitzgerald. Second, is an ability to hang with musical giants he once worshipped as a youngster. Simply Red's "Shine" was recorded for an upcoming Diana Ross LP, and Mick recently joined singer Ben E. King onstage for a duet of "Stand By Me." Thirdly, and most obviously, all have sold millions of pieces worldwide, cultivating the same legions of fans as Top 40 radio--young and old pop music lovers who crave for more than a rock sound. Hucknall takes pride in Simply Red's diverse audience and goes as far to emphasize that they are indeed NOT a rock n roll band.

Finally, to really understand Simply Red and their success, we need to consider their home town in Northern England. Manchester, with its multi-racial melting pot and avant-garde underground, is key to Simply Red's musical fame and acceptability. Long known among progressive music fans as a hotbed of extreme individualism, the city is the home to such innovative musical entities as the Smiths and Factory Records, a label that has brought to the forefront such important experimental bands as A Certain Ratio, Joy Division and New Order, as well as Durutti Column, where Hucknall found drummer Chris Joyce, trumpet player Tim Kellett and bassist Tony Bowers.

We began by discussing with Mick why he called the new album Men and Women and what usually follows such a combination.

KZ: This new album certainly lives up to its title. There are a lot of songs about relationships and sex.

MH: It wasn't really a conceptual thing. It just seemed to evolve that way as each song was written.

KZ: "The Right Thing," for example, has heavy sexual overtones.

MH: In a way, it does. There's a problem with the way people tend to perceive things with sexual overtones, as if there's loads of people running around fucking each other. Rather, it's directed more to people who are having a relationship and just pleasing your partner. It's not so much about pleasing every girl you meet every night. The idea behind it is wanting to please the person that you like a lot.

KZ: How about a song like "Infidelity," where the guy openly confesses to sleeping around?

MH: The verses are basically saying that there is this person who is quite openly admitting that he is sleeping with everything he can get his hands on. Yet the chorus turns around to say that, as much as he enjoys doing that, he still wakes up in the morning feeling shitty and pretty unfulfilled.

KZ: "Move On Out" is pretty volatile. It says, "This is my flat. Get on out of here."

MH: That was not really a personal experience, but it happened to some friends of mine. Their relationship was crumbling because one of them didn't want to be stuck inside our equivalent of the ghetto. She wanted to get on and do something with her life. He was quite happy to sit around and smoke dope all day.

KZ: You have a pretty realistic view of relationships. Can someone have a relationship when they're on the road constantly like Simply Red?

MH: Well, our trumpet player does. I think he's a bit of a miracle man, actually. Because I don't. I just don't think I've found the right girl, that's all.

KZ: I've heard that each album is somewhat autobiographical. Do they stand for different feelings you have at the time you record them?

MH: They're just things that I'm thinking about. They're not necessarily autobiographical. The album is a mixture of both. Some of it is about other people. Some of it is about me. I just prefer to let the words mean something to whoever is listening to it. Couples hear something together and the song means a lot to them because they were going through a difficult or wonderful time when they first heard it. It becomes irrelevant who the writer is. If in a hundred years time they're still playing my record, they're not going to give a shit what kind of life I was leading.

KZ: How long did it take to make Men And Women?

MH: We recorded it in under two weeks--about a week and four days. A couple of the tracks were recorded live. "I Won't Feel Bad" was caught live. A second take, I think it was. We like to play like that because we enjoy playing live a lot. (Producer) Alex (Sadkin) had too much of a conceptual idea of it. Originally, he just wanted to record a live studio album. It became fruitless to do that. I'm not a conceptualist at all. I go for what I think is good. Sometimes concepts can get in the way of quality. It took two weeks because we then changed a few things.

KZ: Did you redo some parts?

MH: We went over some basslines and some keyboard parts. It varied from song to song. Most of the vocal performances are mostly direct live. There's a couple of drop-ins and a couple of edits taken from other vocal lines.

KZ: When you look at old jazz albums, they always date the sessions and the album is usually recorded in a couple of days. Could Simply Red do something like that?

MH: Well, there is that potential. The problem is that you're ignoring technology. You're ignoring the ability to make something more improved. The instruments we use nowadays are not just down to string bass, piano and live instruments. A lot of the keyboard things can be improved by layering. I'm kind of weary of going back in that sense to try and imitate. I love that music. But I'd feel strange about going back and trying to recreate it. Everytime I've seen people go back, they always seem to blow it. It becomes revivalist, which is dangerous. I don't consider us revivalists at all.

KZ: You recorded Cole Porter's "By The Time We Say Goodbye." Was it the version by Ella Fitzgerald that moved you to do it?

MH: It's off The Best Of John Coltrane, which is out on CD. I was playing it a lot when we were making the album. His version and Ella's inspired me to do the song. It was more of a challenge than anything else.

KZ: From a singer's standpoint, do you find John Coltrane a lyrical sax player?

MH: I find it both with Miles Davis and Coltrane. Sometimes I wish I didn't sing. Sometimes I wish I sounded like a saxophone. I have ambitions to sound like a saxophone. (laughs)

KZ: I always perceive your voice more of as musical instrument than somebody standing in front of a band.

MH: Miles has always said that he wants his trumpet to sound like a voice. He wants it to speak.

KZ: So you're turning the tables on that concept.

MH: Yeah, but not in a conscious way. Just in an ambitious way. There's something about the qualities of that lyrical kind of jazz that those two do, and I suppose Charles Mingus as well, that I'm quite responsive to.

KZ: Do you ever anticipate recording in the States?

MH: We very nearly did record in America. But the tax laws are so crazy, you wouldn't believe it. If we were to record in America, we'd have to pay tax in America and in England. If we come over here to England for more than sixty days, we have to pay tax here. You'd think they would have developed a better relationship than that by now. It's almost archaic, but it's something we have to look at. We get such a small percentage of the earnings, and the record companies make so much money that we have to think about stuff like that. I would think that the next album is not going to be recorded in England because we're going to be out of the country anyway. I'll still be living in Britain, but we'll be out of the country touring.

"I ultimately believe that people like a good song at the end of the day and a band of musicians who are honest and can play it."

SIMPLY RED

KZ: What do your friends in Manchester think about you being famous? Is there any jealousy?

MH: I don't have friends who are jealous. I've lost those because I don't really consider them to be friends. The people I consider to be friends are the ones who have been very supportive and very unchanging. They still know who I am, and I'm fortunate that they think that I've not become too self-important. I hope I haven't.

KZ: So they still buy their rounds at the bar.

MH: Oh, yeah. But sometimes I say, "Look! Forget it. I've got more money than you have. Let me get it."

KZ: Is there more musical competition in the UK because of so much unemployment? Are there more young people with nothing to lose who find themselves in bands rather than getting into business?

MH: I don't know. It's a bit of a generalization. There are difficult areas in every country, and wherever you find those ghetto areas, music or sport is about the only thing that they can get out into. They have to find ways of breaking out. Some places have no opportunity and it's not just directed to the North of England.

KZ: Some people look at the music scene in Manchester as ultra hip, with the Smiths, Factory Records and Durutti Column. Did that whole scene help Simply Red?

MH: Manchester is an interesting place because it's full of a lot of individualists. It's not like one big movement. In Liverpool, there was very much a movement at one particular time. You had Echo & The Bunnymen and Teardrop Explodes and WAH!--people like that. They were linked together, whereas in Manchester, we were not a part of the Factory scene at all. Chris (Joyce) and Tony (Bowers) were in Durutti Column, but they pulled away from the Factory thing very early on. We rose out of Manchester on our own. The same with the Smiths. We don't know the Smiths and they don't know us. I've met them but we've never mixed in the same clubs or anything. Manchester spawns individualists. I prefer it to London. There's actually a lot more happening musically in the North than London at the moment. Down here in London, there's too many people desperate to make it. In the North, they don't really care as much about that.

KZ: You've spent some time spinning records in clubs.

MH: About four years, yeah.

KZ: Did that teach you anything about audiences?

MH: Oh, yeah! Absolutely. Just how they react to different things like timing of sets. We don't do the same set every night. We always do a different set.

KZ: Do you make up the set list?

MH: Yeah. It keeps it fresh. I try and suss out when I'm onstage at the soundcheck what the venue feels like and what it's going to feel like when people sit in there. If it's a standing venue, I'll cut down the amount of slow numbers we do. If it's a seated one, I'll have a section of slow numbers and go for a build. I just try and create a bit more theater. We're not a rock n roll band. People shouldn't really come with that kind of idea in mind. It's not just a get-up-and-whoopie-band at all. It's more of a theatrical thing.

KZ: Do you ever change a set if you feel that you're going in the wrong direction?

MH: We always seem to get 'em. I've not blown it yet. I don't know why. You can never please everybody, of course. But I don't even try to please everybody.

KZ: When you were young, were you one of the early so-called punks?

MH: Apparently, yes. I've been told I was. I don't give a shit about all that elitist nonsense. There's so many people who reckon they were there. You'd have fifteen million first-generation punks. All I would say about that whole thing is that it wasn't about having spikey hair and black leather jackets. It's nothing to do with it. The idea about it all was that it was almost existentialist to the extent that it was individual. Everybody wore what they wanted.

KZ: "Money's Too Tight To Mention" didn't beat anybody over the head ideologically, yet it communicated a political consciousness.

MH: The only thing I'd say from my point of view is that I don't like to stand up and tell people what to think. I don't think it's my role to tell people what to do. I have my political opinions, but I'm not going to stand up on a soapbox and tell kids to believe what I believe. I pass my opinion in the ballot box.

KZ: Some people here are getting disillusioned with Ronald Reagan.

MH: The only impression we get painted over here is that he's senile. (laughs) The cynical newspapers say he's lost his marbles. I don't know what to say about your President. I can't work out whether America is too embarrassed to speak about it or what.

KZ: Well, Margaret Thatcher can still run for another term. What do you think about her?

MH: I can understand Americans perceiving Thatcher as this powerful leader, sort of Churchillian, you know. I don't object to that. But what I do object to about any political leaders is that she's only giving a good deal for people who have money. For the people who are living in shit, they don't stand a chance under this woman. That's all I care about. I'm in a position where I've got enough money perhaps not to care about that. But unfortunately, I do. I don't want to see people living in shit. There's more people now living like that than there was when she came into power. I don't care if people say I'm a Communist, which I'm not. All I'm talking about is giving a fair deal for people who work.

KZ: There are a lot of sixteen-year-old girls with kids and no jobs.

MH: I don't like this kind of thing. It's not fair. People have a right to live.

KZ: Have you been able to take care of your family?

MH: Yeah, but not everybody can be winners. This is the tragedy of those kinds of attitudes. Not everybody wins. There's got to be losers. The winners should do something about some of the losers. They should help them. You have to decide whether you're living in a cavern mentality or a civilized society. Civilized society should learn to care for people. This isn't the case, certainly in our country.

KZ: What does your family think about all this business of seeing your face on the TV and everything?

MH: They're always talking about it: "I like that jacket you had on there." All kinds of things. They've all become experts in the music business. (laughs) My father says to me, "I told you that was going to be a hit! But look out for that song." He's always listening to the radio now, you know. It's very funny.

KZ: They don't take you too seriously when they see you on the tube.

MH: Oh no! I don't let them.

KZ: What do you think about some of the American cities? You've been here in the States a few times.

MH: The first time I went to America, I was quite leery of it. Then I'm just the sort of person who just swings with the place. I try and enjoy myself wherever I am. I eventually got into it and quite enjoyed myself. There seems to be a series of culture clashes. Different things going off. We like that because Manchester is quite like that. There's a lot of Indians, Jamaicans, Polish, Irish and all kinds of things going off. And they all still have their own identities. America is interesting because it's a series of countries within one. The West Coast is so completely different from the East, the Middle, the South and the North. It's pretty difficult to call it "America." The United States is a much more accurate term for your country.

KZ: Some of the folks that listen to Simply Red here are so different from your audiences in the UK.

MH: I'm really excited by that. Throughout the world, we've been getting a very unusual audience. It's defying all the marketing, all the crap that all the record companies play on you with all the justifications for working this audience and that audience. We're transcending all of that. We're getting people coming between fourteen and fifty who are not giving a shit about fashions and what's trendy, or whether it's heavy rock or easy listening or whatever. I find that much more encouraging because it's much more unifying. It creates a much nicer atmosphere. When we played San Francisco, a friend was telling me that behind them were two guys wearing AC/DC T-shirts. They stood up during "Holding Back The Years" screaming, "Go on Mick!" In Philadelphia, I met these three women after the show. One was fifteen and she was with her mother who was with her mother. Three generations of people came to the show and they all enjoyed it. As far as I'm concerned, everybody is welcome. Every color, every creed, every age. There's no barriers because there's no barriers within the group. I'm not some sort of big idealist, it just seems to have happened that way. I ultimately believe that people like a good song at the end of the day and a band of musicians who are honest and can play it. The only pizzazz with this group is the music, and we let that speak. ●

A/C ANALYSIS

Check out the profiles for the Smokey and the Billy Joel/Ray Charles singles. Smokey has 94% of his stations in HEAVY, while BJ/RC has escalates to 88% in HEAVY.

Anita Baker's underline at #5 is awarded on her own merit. Her 93% HIT FACTOR and her increase in HEAVY ROTATION from 134 to 159 is exceptional, but she's been snookered by Lionel and Madonna, and it's real hard to find ANY slack above her.

HIT FACTOR on the LaBelle & Champlin moves from 54% to 72% this week and explains the 9-point chart jump.

Plenty of confusion out there on Crowded House singles. The old one pick up 13 adds and the new one receives 29 first-week adds. We'll do our best to keep track of the two. Your help in reporting the title of either Crowded House single you're playing will help keep our tracking accurate.

The Luther Vandross/Gregory Hines duet is now HIT FACTORED at 65% of all A/Cs playing it. A total of 19 ADDS this week including: WSNi, WFFX, WGOW, KQKS, KOLL, KWEB and WRMF.

Our highest chart debut, Peter Cetera's Only Love Knows Why, has a 59% HIT FACTOR, with adds from WIBA, KKLv and WGbb among its 13 NEW stations.

Genesis simply blasts into the chart in just two weeks with 159 ADDS. That means we're down to 75 holdouts.

The chart was sooo tight this week that two of last week's CHARTBOUNDS couldn't get ranking, despite 80 adds among them. Expect Dan Hill and Journey to debut in the better part of the 20s next issue.

The other CHARTBOUND, The Nylons' Kiss Him Goodbye, is this week's third MOST ADDED including: WMYX, KCRG, WEBC, KSKI, WGSV, KNOX, WNLC and KKLv.

This week's RECORD TO WATCH, Diamonds by Herb Alpert, Janet Jackson and Lisa Keith, includes among its stations B100, KDES, WJON, WFMJ, KDUK, WTRX, KGY, KYJC and WQHQ.

RECOMMENDED FOR A/C RADIO

CARLY SIMON

Give Me All Night (Arista)

A lyric of commanding urgency set to an arrangement reminiscent of Phil Spector' wall-of-sound productions. She's playing the role of a vulnerable woman in an incomplete relationship, but the song's presentation is as fulfilling a promise of hit status as anything she's done in this decade.

TINA TURNER

Break Every Rule (Capitol)

Some A/Cs may find the album version more appropriate. The single is punched up for more aggressive formats than ours, but either way she's got a winner.

JONATHAN BUTLER

Lies (Jive/RCA)

This is a crisp, pop-sounding single with first-listen appeal. Produced by Barry Eastmond, the guy who made many of Billy Ocean's hits. It's also one of the few records I've heard recently which sounds shorter than it actually is.

HIT FACTOR

Hit Factor is a percentage of stations which have it in Heavy or Medium rotation. ie: 100 stations playing the record - 60 stations have it in Heavy or Medium rotation - Hit Factor = 60%

PROMOTIONS

by LISA SMITH and BETTY HOLLARS

SPOTLIGHT PROMOTION OF THE WEEK

When Willie Nelson cancelled a concert appearance at the University of Missouri only six days before the show, the quick-thinking folks at KTGR in Columbia, MO, made the best of a bad situation. With the help of Wrangler Jeans (Nelson's concert sponsor), the local Coca-Cola distributor and the school administration, they sponsored a "KTGR Would-Have-Been-A-Willie-Nelson-Concert Party." The on-campus party featured a three-hour live broadcast of nothing but Willie Nelson music, free hot dogs and Coca-Cola, and giveaways of $25 Wrangler Jeans gift certificates along with Willie Nelson albums and posters. More than 250 people showed up--and got an extra treat: a chance to watch Missouri beat Kansas in the Big 8 Championship Tournament on big-screen TV. To top things off, one lucky guest won a trip to see Willie live at the Universal Amphitheater in Los Angeles.

Listeners watch as KTGR broadcasts live during the "Would-Have-Been-A-Willie-Nelson-Concert Party." From left: Marty Madden, Program Director Tom Bradley and Mike Austin.

Y106 SOLVES BEAR-NAPPING

It was a long three days for the staff and guests of the Travelodge Gardens in Orlando, FL, after their 15-foot-high pajama-clad bear mascot was "kidnapped" and held for ransom. Y106 morning personality Roger Cary offered a $106 reward for the return of the bear. Hotel officials added $500 to the reward, and shortly thereafter Y106 was contacted by a man claiming to have recovered the Bear. Y106 celebrated the return of the Bear with a seven a.m. pajama party on the front lawn of the Y106, complete with the Bear, a complementary continental breakfast, and $106 to the person with the best pajamas. What a happy ending.

SCHUSS-PICIOUS CHARACTERS

Forty listeners of Live105-San Francisco's Alex Bennett morning show thought that they had won a relaxing weekend of skiing in the recent "No Way Out" promotion. But after arriving at the Sugar Bowl Ski Resort, they found there was much more to it than that. After a day of skiing followed by a dinner and comedy show, the electric power to the entire resort was cut. The brief blackout provided an opportunity for one of the cast to be "murdered," creating a whodunnit that the guests spent the rest of the evening trying to solve. Alex's Monday morning broadcast included a re-creation and solution of the weekend's "murder" and a live-from-the-slopes ski lesson with Bennett.

MANAGING YOUR BOSS

It's a basic survival skill. It's hard to go far if your boss* isn't on your side. Most managers hope their boss will be on their side. My challenge to you is: Help make it happen.

Some managers may find it difficult to believe, but bosses are human beings, too. (Remember, if you have people reporting to you, they may be reading this, too!) Learning what makes bosses tick, and then "managing"—not manipulating—they can make a lot of difference in your career success and job satisfaction.

There is one small problem, though: Since bosses are human beings like the rest of us, and since human beings are wonderfully diverse, it's really tough to make generalizations about how to manage all bosses at all times. However, there are five general rules of thumb that I'd like to share with you. And if you yourself are the boss to others, I hope you'll like the idea of having your own people read them:

1. Accept the fact that your boss really is the boss. Don't fight it. That man or woman may be superb—or incompetent, intimidating, insincere, wishy-washy and insensitive. But the fact remains that he or she is indeed your boss. We waste our time and energy complaining about it, wishing it weren't true or fighting the reality of it. Accept the fact, and then start figuring out ways of maximizing your own potential within that relationship and those circumstances. Do it for your own benefit, even if you're simultaneously looking for another job. It just might make your boss more acceptable, and it'll make a good boss even better for you.

2. Know your boss's style. Have you spent time carefully observing what makes your boss tick? Can you "read" your boss? Some bosses like to have a memo in hand before hearing an outline of a problem or plan. Others dislike all paper. Some want brief memos; others like detailed ones. Some are most receptive to new ideas in the morning; some right after lunch; others in the late afternoon. Some are irritable or testy at certain times of day. Do you know which times? Some bosses need your active praise and strokes; others would be offended. Some bosses need time to mull over your ideas or problems; others want to deal with them immediately. Some want to shoot the breeze for a while before hunkering down to problem-solve; others want to get down to business right away.

Some bosses immediately try to find flaws in your ideas simply because of their analytical style—they don't want you to fall apart because of their "criticism." Others may seem to agree, but actually may not. Can you spot that? Some may secretly prefer that you confront them—even argue and disagree with them; others may say they want you to, but really don't.

Different bosses handle issues best in different places—the office, the conference room, the parking lot, a restaurant, a bar. Do you know what your boss's hobbies or interests are, so you can somehow link them to your presentations? Do you know what makes your boss nervous? Angry? Happy?

I think you get the idea. Know your boss. Study that person, and use your knowledge as leverage to work together better. It's not manipulation. It's just common sense.

3. Don't surprise your boss. I've dealt with enough managers at all levels to reach that conclusion. Bosses don't like surprises, especially unpleasant ones. So you're not doing yourself a service by keeping bad news from them. Keep your boss abreast of what's happening—bad news as well as good. Ideally, you'll also want your boss to perceive you as someone who stays on top of problems and tries to solve them. Again, use common sense. I'm not suggesting that bosses want you to run to them every time there's a little problem. I am, however, suggesting that when you see some ominous weather approaching, you'd better let your boss in on it. Besides, you may find that, by bringing in your boss—or simply asking for some quick advice, you'll learn something and improve communication at the same time.

4. Be Prepared. There's nothing bosses respect less than someone who comes to them regularly with, "Here's a problem. What should I do?" If you've got a problem, or a great idea, do your homework before you see the boss. Crisply outline the issues, then point out some of the options, consequences, hurdles and, in the case of an idea, some clear benefits you have investigated. Have facts and data available. Anticipate questions or reactions. Make sure you're emotionally ready—for example, if you are feeling harried yourself, don't approach the boss on a sensitive issue until you have time to calm down. In short, do your homework, and make sure your boss sees that you've done it. It's impressive, and you're more likely to win an ally in the process.

5. Tell your boss what you need to do a great job for him/her. Tell your boss you want to do a great job. Then explain what you need to do it. What do you need? More spending authority? More expense funds? More training? More support? More clarity on objectives and priorities? More latitude in decision-making? More help in pushing things through other departments? More regular feedback on your own performance? Ask your boss for an appointment, and then start a dialogue on these issues. And keep the dialogue alive throughout the year. At first it may be uncomfortable, but once your boss gets accustomed to the idea of discussing ways to make your life easier and more productive, you'll wonder how you ever got along before.

Some bosses like to have a memo in hand before hearing an outline of a problem or plan. Others dislike all paper...Some are most receptive to new ideas in the morning... others in the late afternoon... Some bosses need your active praise and strokes; others would be offended. Some bosses need time to mull over your ideas or problems; others want to deal with them immediately.

Remember, the idea isn't to give your boss ultimatums. It's to convey the clear message that you want to do a superb job for him/her (especially important for insecure bosses to hear), and to let your boss know what you need to achieve that objective. Who "wins"? Well, you certainly do—but so does your boss, because most bosses will be smart enough to realize that, if you really do that great job, he/she will also look good.

These five suggestions do not insure success. A few bosses are indeed too incompetent, insecure or ruthless. Most of us, however, make the mistake of giving up much too soon. Even with a less-than-perfect boss (meaning everyone), you can make your life a lot easier. Try it. I can't guarantee that you'll strike gold, but I can assure you that you're more likely to do so. ● *I dislike the word "boss" since it connotes "cop," but "manager" and "superior" are clumsy alternatives. Let's agree that "boss" simply refers to whomever you report to and hope that one day a better word wins acceptance.

B10 FEEDBACK

FLEETWOOD MAC

Mick Fleetwood has a part in the upcoming Arnold Schwarzenegger movie, "The Running Man."

ATLANTIC STARR

Female lead singer Barbara Weathers joined the band in late 1985.

BEATLES

A feature-length animated film similar to "Yellow Submarine" is being produced to Beatles music. The working title is "Strawberry Fields Forever."

ELP

Cozy Powell has left the band, but Emerson and Lake have been joined by original Carl Palmer, thus keeping the group's initials intact.

JOHN FARNHAM

When Glenn Shorrock left Little River Band in 1982, Farnham replaced him. Now Farnham is going solo and Shorrock is back fronting the band.

AUTOGRAPH

Lead guitarist Steve Lynch is a columnist for Guitar World magazine. His column is named Hammering-On.

JOCELYN BROWN

At the age of fifteen, Jocelyn sang backup on Gene Pitney's "Big 16" album. She also sang on tracks on John Lennon's "Imagine."

by RON FELL

ANITA BAKER

Her video for "Sweet Love" was the most requested of 1986 on the cable channel VH-1.

DAVID BOWIE

Actor Mickey Rourke can be heard on Bowie's new album rapping with the "White Duke."

BLOW MONKEYS

Legendary soulman Curtis Mayfield appears on the new Blow Monkeys album, singing a duet with Dr. Robert.

NITTY GRITTY DIRT BAND

Replacing founding member John McEuen in the band is former Eagle Bernie Leadon. McEuen left the band after completing work on the band's new album, "Hold On."

BILLY JOE ROYAL

His first single was 1965's "Down In The Boondocks."

T. GRAHAM BROWN

He has a part as a hotel clerk in the upcoming movie, "The Farm."

ROCK AND HYDE

Rock And Hyde are Bob Rock and Paul Hyde, formerly the core of Canadian rock outfit The Payolas.

KOOL & THE GANG

Six of the seven members of the band have been together more than twenty years.

JON ASTLEY

Astley received a surprise recording contract after submitting demos for Sandy Stewart, an act he was to produce.

DAN HILL

Dan's duet partner on his new single, Vonda Sheppard, has signed a solo contract with Warner Bros. Records.

CLUB NOUVEAU

The band has been chosen to be the opening act for the upcoming Madonna summer tour.

THE DAMNED

As their cover of Love's "Alone Again On" moves up the album charts, remember that the song was written by Bryan MacLean, older brother of Marie "Lone Justice" McKee.

GAVIN ALBUM FRONTLINE

U2

DAVID BOWIE

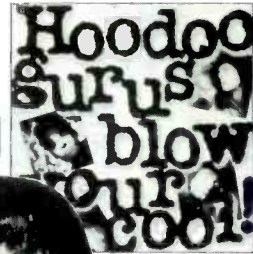

FLEETWOOD MAC

THE SMITHS

TOM PETTY & THE HEARTBREAKERS

HOODOO GURUS

Pleased To Meet Me-The Replacements (Sire)
The world's sloppiest band just could be this year's best. There's no doubt that the Replacements have reached their highest plateau with Pleased To Meet Me. As if to throw off those who judge 12 inches of vinyl by the first half-inch, side-one/cut-one is the pathetic opener "I.O.U.". Once the lightweights tune out, the mice really start to play. What follows is a parade of screaming dizbusters like "Alex Chilton," "I Don't Know," "The Ledge," "Shooting Dirty Pool," "Red Red Wine" (prefaced by a dangling guitar cord of static), concluded by the ballad "Skyway" and the ridiculously pop "Can't Hardly Wait." I honestly don't know how much longer the Replacements can stave off the hounds of pop stardom. Not only do they look the part, but their music--a blend of humor and harmless obscene wailing--embraces the spirit of the 50s masters and the jagged-edge of quality 70s rock n roll. The Replacements vehemently refuse to enter the 80s. Maybe that's why we love them to death.

Shaka Zulu-Ladysmith Black Mambazo (Warner Bros.) Forces Favourites-Variou Artists (Rounder)
Like Hugh Masekela's new album, Ladysmith Black Mambazo's Shaka Zulu is a Graceland fringe benefit. Produced by Paul Simon, all ten voices are left intact, making a beautiful ten-voice a cappella album. "How Long" threatens at times to boogie woogie, but stays on a soothing course. Shaka Zulu is subtly revolutionary, surveying both the turbulence and the serenity of Africa. On a similar note is Forces Favourites, Eleven Songs By South Africans Supporting The End Conscription Campaign. This is an anthology that shows a pop, but rockier side of African music. Band details and lyrics are vague because most of the musicians are underground. All sorts of rock and soul tempos are included. Well recorded, to boot.

At The Dark End Of The Street-James Carr (Blue Side)
Reissue time. Arguably billed as the World's Greatest Soul Singer, The Dark End Of The Street is a fatal dose of Memphis and Muscle Shoals soul. During these sessions it sounds like Carr tore out his heart, wrung it dry and hung it out for the world to see. If Carr isn't the King, he's at least a Duke, perhaps a Jack or a Wild Deuce. Heartstopping, call 212-925-9599 with every bit of strength your feeble fingers can muster.

TOM PETTY & THE HEARTBREAKERS

Let Me Up (I've Had Enough)-Tom Petty & The Heartbreakers (MCA)
A behind-the-scenes shift in production crew--the addition of engineer Mike Shipley--has given TP a crisp, modern sound. Allegedly live in the studio, Let Me Up (I've Had Enough) does sound spontaneous and minimally laced with afterthought and sweetening. Only on "Runaway Trains" does the band step out of their tight quintet mold, taking on a few special effects and tones. My favorite track is still "The Damage You've Done." Just as the band hits a snaky groove, up go the faders and on drones Petty, spilling a tale of woe and heartburn. Ironically, the very next track, "It'll All Work Out," is a bittersweet replay of the story. This is the bonus track for our softer Album Radio reporters. Let Me Up is one of those albums recorded by a band with strong personality, versatile and secure enough in themselves to show a few revealing sides. Subtle synth tones keep the band in the future. Additional trax like "Think About Me" and "Self Made Man" recall the band's earlier daze.

"Mybabyshe's allright"-Scruffy The Cat (Relativity)
Scruffy The Cat play even sloppier than the Replacements, no mean feat. New England has a tendency to churn out great bands like this. Classic Ruins, The Reducers and The Real Kids come to mind. Put all those bands on one car tape and watch pedestrians run for cover.

Tell No Tales-TNT (Mercury)
Though some of the lyrics (particularly "10,000 Lovers In One") read like subtitles, TNT harmonize aggressively below a bed of grinding Marshalls. Is it real, Memorex or singer Tony Harnell? "As Far As The Eyes Can See" shows the band is capable of pulling a few arrangement punches. TNT is one more example of America tapping the Scandinavian metal market. A serious debt is owed to Brian May's technique of creating a guitarkestra.

Two Fisted Tales-Long Ryders (Island)
This is National Gunslingers Week, didn'tja know? Before there was Simon & Garfunkel and Crosby & Nash, there was Smith & Wesson, a piece known for its blue steel elegance. The Long Ryders take their cue from the gun people. Songs like "Gunslinger Man" and NRBQ's "I Want You Bad" and "Prairie Fire" click. Two Fisted Tales has a side one that glides and a side two that grinds. Besides the aforementioned trio of tunes, "Long Story Short" best typifies the edge that producer Ed Stasium (whose work with Julian Cope recently showed the same spunk) maintains throughout this album.

"Gypsy Blood"-Mason Ruffner (Epic)
Mason Ruffner lets his New Orleans roots show just enough to flavor what sounds deadly close to Jimi Hendrix' "Gypsy Eyes". The major difference is that "Gypsy Blood" is a soaring song, wrapped and centered around a simple but effective guitar solo. Rocking out rarely sounds so free and unrestrained.

Weapons Of Love-The Truth (IRS)
As the Good Book says, "The Truth shall set you free." Weapons of Love is the Truth's successful assault on the Album Charts. The Truth's core, Dennis Greaves and Mick Lister, are joined by a band of guerrilla sessioneers, including Mr. Mister's Pat Mastelotto. But the ideas and direction is still very much controlled by limeys Greaves and Lister, who write all the tunes. Besides the title hit, radio will find additional ammo with "Come On Back To Me," "This Way Forever" and the site of my misspent youth, "Winterland."

THE "PLATOON" OF ROCK RADIO
MAKES ITS FIRST AIR STRIKE TODAY!

HOLY LAVAR

THE NEW 12" SINGLE FROM JON BUTCHER

THE SMASH FOLLOW-UP TO
"GOODBYE SAVING GRACE"

A TIMELESS STATEMENT IT'S ABOUT TIME SOMEONE MADE.

My 2 cents

I know what you're thinking. What did they put in the Gavin water supply to merit the underlining of five records in the Top Ten? It's true. Witness Fleetwood Mac (2-3), Bryan Adams (4-5), Peter Wolf (5-6), Gregg Allman (6-7), and Cutting Crew (7-8). Because of the unusually high debuts by David Bowie and Tom Petty, a wedge was driven straight through the heart of the Top Ten, causing downward movement strictly by attrition. Though it's rare, it was a necessary move. Just below the Top Ten was the spectacular move by the Other Ones, last week's Certified. Moving 31-23-12, how in the hell are they going to break into the Top Ten? My guess is that they'll sidestep the ailing Cult and possibly nudge Los Lobos, although Los Lobos have been showing staying power. "Holy Wars" are spreading beyond Jim and Tammy's turf. That track has turned things around for Jon Butcher who regains his line at #13. Ditto Psychedellic Furs who are getting ready to get back in the game with "Shock." Hoodoo Gurus and Crowded House both took eight-point jumps. Each has Australian or New Zealand roots. This week's Certified calls were obvious. David Bowie and Tom Petty were both stellar debuts and Most Added. "Bang Bang" off the Bowie album was a surprise to me. It's rare when the last song on an album becomes a popular out-of-the-box selection. We're also getting a few reports on "Glass Spider," another surprise, considering the spoken introduction. All in all, response to the Bowie as been

ALTERNATIVE ACTION

U2 hangs on while Morrissey and The Smiths continue to build a case for a number one album. The Smiths improved their chart points by 10% but still need to gain 20% to catch the chart toppers. Album play on the Hoodoo Gurus springs them into out top five behind Maximum play at WWVU, WRAS, WLIR, KUNV, KJET, WOXY, KUCI, WXYC, WXCI, KACV, WUSC, WUNH, WPRB, WUOG, WCDB, WFNX, WXXP, KBSU, CFNY, WDCR, WUSB etc. David Bowie finally broke loose and is top ten-bound, as is the import release of Green On Red's new record. The Washington Squares move up one third of the chart in one week with commercial play including CFNY, WXRT, 91X, KSTM, WNCS, WMDK, KTCZ, KKCY, KABL, KVRE, KTAO, etc. Once again the strength of the records on the chart forces our debuts to enter relatively low. Don't be fooled. Both the Rose Of Avalanche and Wire will enjoy great runs. Both records are receiving strong non-

SPOTLIGHT LP

Younger Days-FATAL FLOWERS (Atlantic)
Dutch by birth, but American in style, Fatal Flowers blend tumbleweed guitar picking with a European vision on "Deep Inside," "Good Enough," "Ballroom" and "Here's Your Song," sharing much in common with Jason & The Scorchers or The Long Ryders. But Fatal Flowers aren't masked imposters of Americana music. They offer their own hybrids like "Well Baby" that gives the band an R&B flavor, a la Del Fuegos. Other good tracks include "Blackspot" which bears the mark of Bob Dylan and a cover of John Lennon's cynical "Gimme Some Truth."

Animal Liberation-COMPILATION (Wax Trax)

The Animal Liberation compilation record, on Wax Trax Records is one way of trying to persuade people to treat animals ethically rather than bombing experimental research labs. Controversial causes need quality songs and artists to make a significant impact and this Alternative All-Star line up delivers. Nina Hagen and Lene Lovich team up to perform the album's theme song, "Don't Kill Animals," an Alternative rap song that's sure to provoke responses from your listeners. Previously released tracks from the Colour Field, Howard Jones and Captain Sensible provide a recognizable frame of reference for new material like Chris and Cozey's dreamlike "Silent Cry" and Shriekback's funky "Hanging Fire." All royalties from the album will be donated to People for Ethical Treatment Of Animals (PETA). Call Wax Trax at (312) 528-8753. Peter

Chris Bailey Celebrates A Decade Of The Saints

By Peter Standish

T*Bob Geldof once declared, "Rock music in the seventies was changed by three bands--the Sex Pistols, The Ramones and the Saints." But to hear Saints founder Chris Bailey tell it, the Australian band's inclusion in punk rock's Trinity came about almost by accident. Like many artists, Bailey resists facile attempts to categorize his music, and insists much of the punk movement's dark philosophy was alien to the Saints' beginnings under the sunny Queensland skies. Punk or not, the band left a permanent mark on the rock highway, before slowly fading into cult status, with a series of successful albums in Australia. Earlier this year, as its first artist, independent TVT Records signed Saints Bailey and drummer Ivor Hay, the only original members still with the band. Under a sweltering sun, Bailey called from a roadside pay phone in an Australian beach village as the international phone operator regularly interrupted us requesting nine dollars per three minutes of what turned out to be a valuable conversation.

PS: Were you born in Australia?

CB: No, East Africa. My father was stationed there in the British army in the Fifties. We come from Northern Ireland. We were part of the immigrant wave to Australia about 30 years ago. Dear old dad thought he'd bring us to the new world to start a new life. He just packed up and dragged us all here. I was about eight or nine years old then.

PS: Who were your early rock idols?

CB: Jimmy Reed used to be one of my teenage favorites. In fact, I learned to play guitar by playing along with him. I also used to listen to Nina Simone a lot as a youth.

PS: How did you get turned on to artists like that? I can't imagine hearing them on Australian radio.

CB: There was a very, very good second-hand record shop in Brisbane. My teenage elitism with my friends was to go back in music, as opposed to listening to what was around in the early seventies. I had an older sister who liked the Beatles and Rolling Stones, and another older sister who liked Elvis and all that. My father liked Irish folk music a lot. I got exposed to a fair amount of music early on.

PS: Is Australia now your home?

CB: Not really, but it's a place that I like to come to. It's odd. When I was 19, I moved back to London. I'm really glad I have access to Australia because it's a great little continent. I kind of feel like a tourist here.

PS: How would you compare American, Australian and British music?

CB: Historically, it's simple. We're all white bastards trying to play black music or what was black music. Different hybrids have evolved. I'm sure I've taken something from English music. Living in Australia has made my approach to playing music a little bit different. But, it's still my own hybrid of what is essentially a black American form.

PS: How old were you when you formed the Saints?

CB: About 15. We played in our homes and at parties for about four years. Towards the end of our teens we tried to get a record contract. It didn't work. We just pressed up our own demo record and sent it off around the world and pretended to be a record company and pretended to be really together. Then in the mid-seventies in the UK there was all that hype about punk rock being the new savior of mankind or whatever. Inadvertently, the first demo we did was "Rough As Guts." I think the British industry thought we were an antipede of the Sex Pistols or something which is not true. If you've been to Brisbane, you know it's not really London. The whole fashion aspect and philosophy of the punk rock thing was totally alien to us. Anyway, EMI in London sent out huge checks and dragged us over. We worked throughout Europe and still were virtually unknown in Australia, which is odd because I suppose the Saints are considered to be an Australian group. Even though we were getting lots of press in England, the English trade papers don't mean very much in Australia. I didn't start touring Australia until about 1981.

PS: So you initially exported The Saints to England.

CB: My apprenticeship, or whatever, started in an odd way. We got a lot of early hype from the English trades, but the band hadn't played very much live. We were quite young and very naive and knew nothing about business. So the band's real apprenticeship started in London.

PS: Tell me about the early days with The Saints.

CB: That was really a classic case of a bunch of teenagers being swept up up in something that was bigger than we were. When EMI dropped our contract, that was probably the best thing that ever happened to me personally. I was in London without very much cash and had to make a decision. Was I seriously interested in having a career in music? Or was it just teenage fun because EMI was paying all the bills? I played live to sustain my habit of making records, because to me that's one of the greatest things, apart from sex, that I've discovered about human existence. I was just your classic archetypal cliché of a rock singer. I didn't take any interest in the business side of things. Losing the high-powered management forced me to become more responsible. If I wanted to keep on making records and improve musically, I'd have to learn to play the game a little bit better. The next five years were my stumbling efforts (laughs) to maintain the credibility and viability of the group. The Saints are a difficult act to market, so I did change the line-up fairly often back then.

Historically, it's simple. We're all white bastards trying to play black music or what was black music.

PS: Let's talk about your latest album, All Fools Day. What about the brass and horns on the record?

CB: It's something that I've been doing for about the past four Saints albums none of which are available in the U.S...yet. Back in my early days, I decided that I didn't want to keep making the same record every time we made an album. I started off just using electric guitars and all that. If a song dictated the use of a string ensemble, or woodwind conglomeration, or whatever, I'd just use it. I think I've also developed a bit as a songwriter as I hear it in my head. The skill in making records is getting what you hear, in your head, on plastic.

PS: Tell me about the first single, "Just Like Fire Would."

CB: When I wrote that tune a few years ago, I was in the middle of a solo tour somewhere in France. I'd just finished a gig and they dropped me off at a motel room. It was the first tour that I'd done by myself. I'd just get on a train or a plane and local promoters would meet me and drop me off. For a whole month and a half I didn't see anybody who spoke English. That song was just me sitting in a motel room at night thinking about what I'd do for a living. It was one of the easiest songs I've ever written. I find lyrics quite hard but those just came in about five minutes.

PS: How long did the album take to record?

CB: Given pre-production and that sort of gear, we spent about two months on it. That was in December of 1985. I tend to go away for three weeks, or a month, by myself. I've got one of those multi-track tape recorders and I demo everything. Then I give it to the musicians who are going to play on the album. Then we do the actual physical 24-track, let's-sit-down-and-get-serious-type recording.

PS: Where was the LP recorded?

CB: In Wales. The studio we used, Rockfield, is a little legend. I wanted no distractions for the core musicians. I've never recorded residentially before. The prime motivation was to take a bunch of guys, put them in the middle of the country without any distractions. If you're in a recording studio in the city, you still have to get up in the morning and drive through traffic to work. Then you come home and people are ringing you up and want to party. In Wales there was none of that.

PS: Have the Saints ever performed in the States?

CB: No, never. I'd never been to America until the end of last year. I was there for two days and I said to Steve Gottlieb (TVT Records), "I can't believe my stupidity for never coming to this country before."

PS: When do you plan to tour?

CB: In the end of May we plan to tour 20 cities in 40 days.

PS: Will the band be the same line-up as on the album?

CB: Basically the same. That's the way we've been touring over the past four or five years. ●

COUNTRY SUMMARY

The first surprise on this week's chart is at the top - Dan Seals moves a whopping five slots inside the Top Ten to take number one away from the Oak Ridge Boys. Other big moves inside the Top Ten include John Conlee (Dan Moore at KEYK-Wenatchee, WA, says he's getting incredible reaction to this one), the Forester Sisters and the Nitty Gritty Dirt Band (T.J.Hart at WFMB-Springfield, IL, reports that this is his fastest mover in a long time.) T.G.Sheppard comes close to breaking into the Top Ten with a strong jump from 17 to 11. In the "biggest mover of the week" category, Randy Travis takes the prize for the third week in a row. This is the strongest start for any of Randy's records, and is by far and away the fastest moving song so far this year. Earl Thomas Conley keeps his winning streak alive as "That Was A Close One" breaks into the Top Twenty. The biggest jumps in the bottom half of the chart include John Schneider, Tanya Tucker and Mickey Gilley. It was housecleaning week for a lot of stations, and that is sure reflected on our chart this week, with six records dropping off and six debuts. The debuts include the two CERTIFIED records, Marie Osmond and S-K-O, along with Steve Wariner, Ricky Van Shelton, George Strait (who bypasses CHARTBOUND to debut) and Crystal Gayle & Gary Morris (Tim Todd at WORC- Worcester tells us that the soap opera fans in Worcester have already made this his number one request.)

Vince Gill jumps into CHARTBOUND in only his second week, and programmers all across the country seem to love this one. Of all the songs debuting in ACTION SIDES the one we heard the most about was Ray Stevens' "Would Jesus Wear A Rolex." Carl Brown at KSAN/KNEW-Oakland/San Francisco reports that it's the number one request at both stations, Greg Cole at WPOC/FM -Baltimore says it's his biggest request item in the last eight months, Big John at KGRT-Las Cruces took a survey on the song and got 90% acceptance, and Jeff Allen at WQSB-Albertville claims it's getting more requests than all other songs put together. Our tip of the week comes from George Gordon at WFTF-Ft.Pierce. He says to give a listen to the Bonnie Gallie single on Smash Records called "You Make It Hard To Say No." It's George's #2 requested record, and he thinks your listeners will love it too. Talk to you next week. Lisa & Elma

MAKING A.M. BETTER

Richard Bird of WCIL/AM-Carbondale, IL, wrote me saying, "I am the program director of a daytime radio station, and I have been following your columns on AM stereo. We have not yet been able to afford to convert to stereo, but we have constantly updated and maintained our studio and processing equipment to broadcast the best possible signal. I certainly agree that AM will need stereo to survive in the long run, but there are two issues that I think it would be a mistake to overlook.

"Most important is AM stereo versus FM stereo. I have listened to AM stereo under what should have been ideal conditions (the Harris display at the 1986 NAB convention)...You can tell the difference--and AM sounds worse! The reason, of course, is bandwidth. Squeezing the signal for 15 kHz to 9 or 10 kHz is noticeable to the average listener. Today, we are inundated by CDs, digitally recorded albums, true high fidelity, high-power car stereos (with CD players). Even today's Walkman-style radio and cassette players are higher fidelity than the home stereos of five years ago. The fact is that FM's 15 kHz bandwidth is barely high fidelity anymore, and to limit AM bandwidth to 120 kHz will doom the AM band to an ever-aging audience or to automobile listening.

"The most dangerous thing any broadcaster can do is to make a big deal of being an AM stereo station, then broadcast an inferior signal. Getting listeners to try the AM band and treating them to poor audio quality could be the last straw for many of them.

"Keeping the AM viable for the future will be complicated and difficult at best. I do not even want to get into the problems of electrical interference, nighttime propagation characteristics, and poor programming! Stereo is necessary for AM to compete in the future, but I hope we will not shoot ourselves in the foot by limiting bandwidth so we cannot compete with FM, let alone the constantly growing number of other sources of high fidelity entertainment."

In my response, I suggested that things might not be quite as bad as he imagines. AM currently is allowed flat response to 15 kHz; FM is theoretically allowed flat response to at least 18 1/2 kHz, but because of the need to avoid interfering with the 19 kHz stereo pilot tone, and because high modulation is not possible on FM with full modulation of very high frequency material, 15 kHz is the practical upper limit. Also, in order to have high modulation within the FCC rules, most FMs use sophisticated processors that do funny things to highs above 8 kHz or even lower.

Perhaps what sparked this letter is the NAB-backed proposal to add a pre-emphasis curve to AM, and roll off the highs above 10 kHz. Although I dislike the thought of limiting AM high frequency response, I am in favor of the proposal, since the receiver manufacturers were in on the planning of this standard. It is obvious that manufacturers are unwilling to design high fidelity AM receivers without this sort of standard, so I support the standard on pragmatic grounds. If receivers are developed with a matching roll-off, and sharp low-pass filtering of all audio above 10 kHz, then AM receivers will be built that are flat to 9.5 kHz, which is up to six times better than what is available now.

The average AM/FM receiver in the home is capable of better FM fidelity than most stations allow themselves to broadcast, but has no deep bass on AM, and is rolling off the highs sharply as low as 1.5 kHz. In other words, without this NAB standard, and without most stations adopting it, the manufacturers are never going to give us high fidelity AM receivers. So I support it.

As far as AM stereo head-to-head with FM stereo, it can and does sound better--on a high fidelity AM radio. There, of course, is the rub. The only such unit ever sold widely to the American public was the superb Sony SRF-A100, which has been discontinued for over a year, although you can often find them in stores as a closeout. On that receiver, a high quality AM stereo signal sounds better than the average FM stereo signal, since the FM is squashing and clipping its highs to achieve high modulation. (If you can't find one of these receivers in your locality, write me, and I'll help you obtain one.)

Stereo is necessary for AM to compete in the future, but I hope we will not shoot ourselves in the foot by limiting bandwidth so we cannot compete with FM, let alone the constantly growing number of other sources of high fidelity entertainment.

Actually, neither AM stereo nor FM stereo can match the quality of today's "TV stereo," since it incorporates advances made since FM stereo was authorized, and which were not even considered for AM stereo--such as DBX-encoding for the stereo "difference" signal to improve the signal-to-noise ratio and reduce overmodulation problems.

However, work continues on the FMX FM stereo system, with the promise of eventually improving the coverage area for stereo FM signals, and AM stereo needs to provide inducements for manufacturers to build receivers that approach the capability of their transmission! It appears the NRSC standard curve and roll-off will accomplish that, so I encourage all AM stations to implement it as soon as possible, to get the manufacturers off their seats and into the factories! ●

"URBANIZING"

by JERRY BOULDING

THE RITES OF SPRING

This is the time of year when those of us in radio get concerned about two things--Spring housecleaning and Spring Arbitron sweeps. Both are necessary, and one affects the other. Let's look at how even a mild winter can leave your station with things that need attention.

MUSIC PURIFICATION

Obviously, for the best possible chance at garnering and keeping a huge audience, you have to clean out your music closet. Some of those old recurrents and oldies, no matter how well-researched, are beginning to wear. So, out they go--although some can be stored and aged, and possibly brought back for a special or a theme weekend.

Spring is also prime time for some long-term planning. What are you going to do for this summer? What about Memorial Day? The Fourth of July? You have to be aware of those "firecracker" songs and beach tunes that signal summer. And when school is out, more teens are available to keep the radio on your frequency--how will that affect your dayparting?

Spring is still when a young man's fancy turns to love--and if this is true of the male of the species, what about the females? A woman who's apartment-hunting may not care nearly as much about beamed ceilings, track lighting and closet space as about the six-foot-two heterosexual hunk living next door. For the same reason, she will choose a radio station that lets her know love is in the airwaves.

What about him? Often, all he really cares about is the woman. He likes a lot of motion--things to do almost every waking moment and an endless choice of ladies to do them with. His choice of a radio station might be the one she likes--played, of course, on his big stereo. But if he's into the latest dances, maybe he doesn't want his favorite station to go "soft" at around 10 o'clock. Watch out for those "Quiet Storm" warnings. If everyone's playing soft songs, who's rockin' the city? Maybe it's the Top 40 station that will attract his energy.

PERSONALITY PLUSSES

Spring may be IN the air, but who's ON the air? Now that you've found an effective way to program, balanced with a safe playlist, what next? Let's look in the "answer book" and find out what it says about personalities during Spring Break--and how they can last right through summer.

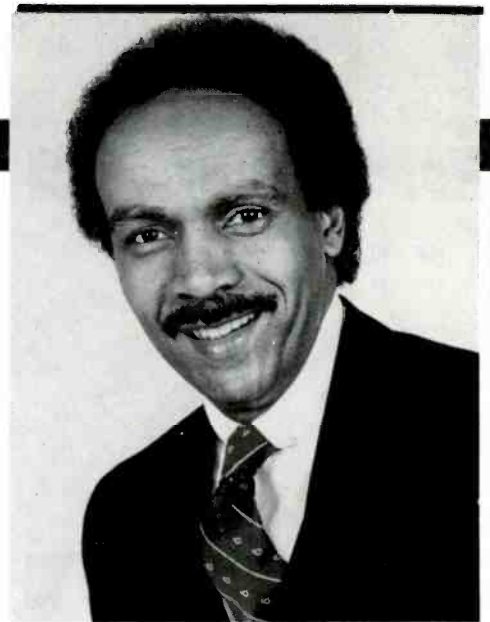

We can't forget the emotion and the value of conveying it. When someone discovers a new station that's really saying something, the cumes rise. It's still necessary to understand the depth of existence to achieve a meaningful existence.

That doesn't mean we should talk more, or break and bend the format. It simply means we should develop people at the same rate we develop formats. And we should try to have personalities communicate honestly, instead of reading jokebooks or punching up formula pieces of canned humor.

Certainly experience has shown it is possible to capture huge cumes with a sterile sound, but those radio stations have greatly reduced the number of really creative people willing to enter the business. Maybe we need to go back and ask why did liner-card, formula radio catch on in the first place? The answer is that we are in a business where safe is better--even if it does not build tomorrow's programming, music director and air talent leaders.

What really happens when a new jock springs up with a different sound? Usually, he or she is ignored. Just like the safe records, no one wants to take a chance. After all, how can you be sure the fresh sound will work? Will it draw attention to the radio station--or drive the audience away?

So as we enter the season when flowers (and romance) bloom, look at some of the fresh new music and jocks that are waiting to blossom. They're just waiting for a chance to grow. As for the "me too" formats, the only tune they're hearing is "Send In the Clones."●

We can't forget the emotion and the value of conveying it. When someone discovers a new station that's really saying something, the cumes rise.

LP CUTS

REGINA BELLE - Show Me The Way (Columbia) Wow! What a ballad! What a woman! Her melodic voice could "charm the pants off you"... well-a-a-a, maybe your shirt? Strong hook, we'll let you figure it out.

THE O'JAYS - Don't Take Your Love Away (P.I./Manhattan) You better believe this man - if he loses her love he'll huff and puff and blow her house down. Just imagine what he'll do if you don't play this record. The O'Jays still sing with all the conviction that they have had for years. With a Gamble & Huff tune, how can they lose?

LA LA - (If You) Love Me Just A Little (Arista) Don't let the title of this artist's name throw you - it's a great little number for a debut release. She'll probably dance her way right into you heart, and probably do as well for herself as she did for Whitney Houston.

URBAN CONTEMPORARY SUMMARY

I know what you're thinking...how can the top four songs stay the same? Getting back to the Hit Factor stats (as we did last week), here's the reason for the tight fit at the top: ATLANTIC STARR @ 97%, SMOKEY ROBINSON @ 97%, LUTHER VANDROSS @ 98%, ANITA BAKER @ 96%, CAMEO @ 96%, and PATRICE RUSHEN @ 97%. It may seem redundant, but until you sit where we do and look at the stats at the end of 113 reports and try to break ties or find reasons for close margins, it doesn't make sense. Prime mover into the top ten is LISA LISA AND CULT JAM, which will give all the numbers at the top a run for the roses. LISA is getting phones, according to Mike Fillipelli, OC104/FM-Ocean City, and Don Edwards, WQIC/FM-Meridian. Rod Cruise, WDKS-Fayetteville, says, "It's getting lots of calls." Jay Riley, WNOO-Chattanooga, says SURFACE is one of his hottest records. It's getting requests for Royce Blake, KKPW-Tucson, and Cy Young, WQKQ/FM-Nashville. NONA HENDRYX had a great week and looks like she'll be vying for a top spot very soon. James

Alexander, WJLB-Detroit, describes it as "real tuff here, should do well." Steve Harris, WCIN-Cincinnati, says both the LISA LISA and NONA are getting huge phones. Harold Jackson, WDUR-Durham, says that Durham's most tunes are the MILLIE JACKSON, WHISPERS, and NONA HENDRYX. Speaking of THE WHISPERS, looks like a home run for them this time - they're Certified, getting the highest debut at #35. Rick Stevens, WCKX-Columbus, reports requests from "everybody" calling his station. Dave Allen, K94-Norfolk, described it as "hot as hell here" and he wasn't talking about the heatwave around the country last week. Ray Boyd, V103-Atlanta, reports "It's a hot one", and James Alexander, WJLB-Detroit, says it "looks good." Stan Tompkins, WTOY-Roanoke, reported that this week's "Pick It Or Stick It" option was the JEFF LORBER and KARYN WHITE tune, "True Confessions." It was a "Pick It" and has been logging requests ever since. Paul Perrodin, KACE-Los Angeles, reported calls for ROBERT BROOKINS, mostly upper demographics - females especially. HERB ALPERT's tune with JANET JACKSON "is really taking off here," says Jimmy Smith, K97-Memphis. He's also getting calls for SHIRLEY MURDOCK and SIMPLY RED, females 24+. Frank Barrow, KRIZ-Seattle, is getting calls for the PRINCE album cut, "Starfish & Coffee." Last but not least, the ever-popular, constantly-quoted Gary Weller, WBLZ-Cincinnati, says: "That 'new' SCOTT & RAVEN's 'Monkey Paw' is a great tune. They've got a sound that's missing on the radio today and it sounds great!" Of course, we all know it's not new, it's just been picked up by a major label. Thanx, Gary. Speaking of thanks, we, once again, would like to thank all our Monday converts - those of you who have your lists ready on Monday and are diligently phoning in early. We're competing for the phone lines with the other five formats, so take one look at the reports-called-in stats and you'll understand why I'm grateful: Mondays = 234 reports, Tuesdays = 615 reports, Wednesdays = 104 reports. Thanks, again! Betty.

MOTOR CITY BEAT GOES ON ▼

VICIOUS RUMORS ▼

Following last year's hit single, "Rumors," Timex Social Club lead singer/songwriter Michael Marshall is spending some of this year spreading a few vicious rumors to his friends in radio. Listening, from left, are KJLH-Los Angeles PD Cliff Winston, Michael Marshall, Timex manager Charles Douglas, KJLH Production Manager Mike Mann. Kneeling is Chuck Rush of California Record Distributors.

TWO HEAVYWEIGHT WINNERS ▲

Fayetteville State University was the site of the recent meeting between Melba Moore and James "Bonecrusher" Smith. They met backstage during a program at the U.

and discussed his recent heavyweight bout and her guest appearances on "Falcon Crest." Shown (l-r) are James "Bonecrusher" Smith, Melba Moore and Gilbert Baez, GM of WDKS-Fayetteville.

DAVE SHOLIN'S

Personal Picks — SINGLES

SURVIVOR - Man Against The World (Scotti Brothers) Talk about a group that's hit their stride! Survivor's name is linked to the sound and emotion of America's heartland. They've demonstrated their versatility by grinding out ferocious rockers or mellowing out with sensitive ballads. This has all the marks of becoming this year's answer to "The Search Is Over."

CARLY SIMON - Give Me All Night (Arista) Carly gives listeners a hook to hold onto and a lyric that's fresh and colorful. When it comes to musical expression, no one does it half as good Another excellent record for balance on many a Top 40 playlist.

EUROPE - Rock The Night (Epic) Terrific followup to a phenomenal debut single. Europe's incredible rise to fame and fortune has to be an inspiration to every struggling young rock band. It comes down to tunes and pop sensibilities...they're winners in both categories.

RON FELL'S

Personal Picks — ALBUMS

DWIGHT YOAKAM - Hillbilly Deluxe (Reprise)

A few of you may remember that I raved in this space in March of '86 about Dwight's debut album, Guitars, Cadillacs, Etc. It was the genuine article--a collection of cowhide, saddlesore, rural route cowboy tales. Admittedly, its novelty was part of its charm, but in the back of my mind was the question, "What does he do to overcome the jinx which haunts novel performance?" What eventually allayed that fear was that so many people took him as seriously as I did. His band, the Babylonian Cowboys, are a bunch of young pups who faithfully recreate a traditional open road for Dwight's scenic route to Country Music heaven. My faves are the first single, "Little Sister," which is already Top 20 on our Country chart, and Lefty Frizell's "Always Late With Your Kisses." Now if Dwight would just tell us what's under the hat, I'd have no more questions.
