New Releases

David Bowie, Black Tie White Noise, Savage The advice from us is "JUST LET GO!" What you hear will capture you and send you somewhere else. This is actually a very sexual album (which is by no means surprising when you consider what David Bowie has offered throughout the years). This is an album that explores the topic of racial boundaries and congruencies. Black Tie White Noise also expands the boundaries of rock and roll, incorporating a multitude of invented sounds, noises and melodies. One of the interesting things about the album is the fact that it is very complete and cohesive. If you listen from beginning to end, each song relates to the next musically as well as spiritually. "The Wedding" bells initiate your listening experience, fading into the brain, bringing on excitement, building steadily, erasing the days thoughts from your head, then dropping off quickly to end on a phased echo of Bowie's distorted voice. The effect is chilling and will prepare you for the rest. A cover of Cream's "I Feel Free" is updated like only David Bowie can. His changes bring the song back in a wildly different manner, while tactfully reminding you how good the original still is. Another cover you'll find is the Beatles "Don't Let Me Down". Bowie takes this one to the edge as a soulful ballad. "Jump They Say" (the first single) is already a top 15 track at Alternative and Triple A. AOR has gotten their hands on it too as it "Jumps" to 32* on the Hard Hundred this week. We've all been waiting a long time for this project and there is nothing disappointing here. David's characteristic jazz element is present, hiding around every corner of Black Tie White Noise. This album is a wonderful test of 90's rock limits.

Warren Haynes, Tales Of Ordinary Madness, Megaforce Soul music was his first love, then came the guitar. Now, a seasoned veteran of the rock experience, Haynes has seized the chance to put it all together on one album he can call his own, Tales Of Ordinary Madness. The sassy tone of the current single (95-77*) will reach out and take hold of you from note one. "Kiss Tomorrow Goodbye" gets down even harder, while "Movers And Shakers" smooths it out, bringing in a low groove with rather mellow keyboards interspersed throughout. If you really wanna get in the mood, try "I'll Be The One". Both "Blue Radio" and "Invisible" start reserved then get funky and bring up the pace strutting all the way to "Sister Justice". The funky stuff continues (maintaining a constant guitar edge) until "Angel City", a gorgeous ballad. "Tattoos And Cigarettes" pick up the pace with a slightly Keith Richards feel. "Power And Glory" test the 'ole slide guitar, while masterfully incorporating organ-like keyboards and a solid bass line. Finally, try a Warren Haynes track that sounds inspired by the late Stevie Ray Vaughan called "Broken Promised Land". While the guitar-work is grade "A", this is much more than another guitar album. Warren's voice is very strong, production and musicianship are excellent and the writing...inspired. This is a beautiful album.

Black 47, fire of freedom, SBK/EMI If the only Irish music you know is the sound of lone bag-pipes and U2, prepare to broaden your horizons. Black 47 is here...and are they Irish! You can't escape the lilt, the kilt, or the bag-pipes (just a touch) on this album, but don't let that make you nervous. Mixing them up with the so-called "usual" array of rock instruments, Black 47 yields a truly distinct sound, produced and assisted by Ric Ocasek (The Cars) and Larry Kirwan. New York is absolutely crazy for these guys thanks to their strong street presence, hard work and (of course) a terrific debut album. Major AORs like WNEW have championed Black 47 for months, playing "Funky Ceili" and now "Maria's Wedding". fire of freedom is a virtual genesis for this budding Irish band, determined to give the American rock scene everything they've got. "Livin' In America" is a 1:20 prologue and a simple Irish statement of what the "super star wanna be's" expect to find (good, bad, right or wrong) in America. "Rockin' The Bronx" will take you through an adrenaline rush that sometimes provides drive, while masking (or replacing) real motivation. The thick drums (and Irish accent) on this single help pound out a tale of initial excitement and experience, marking the start of their American conquest. "...all we want to do is be 'Rockin' The Bronx'...Try "Fanatic Heart" for a smooth, acoustic change of pace and "Funky Ceili" (the first single) for a mainstream twist on 47's flavor. The title single has (get this) a reggae influence (wild!). "James Connolly" is harder (a cry for the rights of the working man). Half way through the album, find another take on "Livin' In America", this time with 50% of fire's wisdom behind them. "Banks Of The Hudson" blows hard with saxophones blaring and a solid beat. It's a desperate attempt to have the girl (if you know what we mean). Sitar sounds fade into "Black 47" and give a bizarre, interesting feel to the intro until it breaks through with less strange, more familiar hooks. Finally, compare and assess the growth of the band (and album) with the third and final version of "Livin' In America".

WARREN HAYNES FIRE IN THE KITCHEN

THE DEBUT SINGLE FROM
TALES OF ORDINARY MADNESS

"Haynes has fashioned an album with plenty of space in which his burning leads and slide rip his songs wide open. Add to that Haynes' previously hidden blues 'n' soul vocal talent, and you get a display of madness that is far from ordinary."

ONE'S TO WATCH

Ugly Kid Joe-"Busy Bee" Mercury The "busiest" band these daze is taking America by storm with buddies Animal Bag and Collision (a triple bill not to be missed). "Cats" set the phones on fire, and killed at MTV. "Is there anything left," you ask? You bet! "Busy Bee" is one of the strongest tracks on the album and sure to set the group on the total straight and narrow path in AOR. These "Kids" are the real thing, and this track will guarantee a new level of success for them.

Contagious, "Larry" Relativity Boston is the obvious home of Aeorsmith and now these four new rockers. They swing with a powerful punch that isn't too Alternative or too hard rock. Marc Stella/Bass and drummer Bob Mercier form a solid rhythm section while guitarist Jim Teixeira jams. Vocalist Ed Newvert seems to have the right charisma to turn on audiences live and knows how to belt out well some written lyrics. "Catch" a little of Boston's best and get ready for Contagious to impact the C.O.R. players.

Graveyard Train, "Down To the Wire" Geffen Straight ahead rock and roll with no frills! It's what makes Graveyard Train exciting to the ears and exactly what turns on the C.O.R. outlets. As of deadline, a dozen adds were on the board with a ton of great feedback down the pipeline. Early word is their live show is dynamite, and they will be hitting the road some time this year. Solid production from Tom Werman (Motley Crue, Cheap Tick, Ted Nugent) is icing on the cake! Group's like Graveyard Train built Geffen's outstanding reputation, and should be around for a long time.

Raging Slab, "Anywhere But Here" Def American/Reprise It's a little bit Country! It's a little bit rock and roll. Raging Slab (for a lack of a better term) have come into their own. They jammed at the McGathy party last year and have focused down to produce some of their best music. No. They're from New York, but have a Southern Rock vibe that will have those 25-54 demos wanting more. Try a piece of the Slab and watch this one smoke!

Rick Church, WBTZ, Saginaw

These are the salad days indeed for real rock music. Who would have guessed that King Missile's "Detachable Penis" would have unseated Green Jello's "Three Little Pigs" as our Most Requested track? People are finally getting a clue that there's more to rock-n-roll music than over-killed classics, hair-band power ballads and arena anthems. Not that all styles of music don't deserve exposure. They do. Music is an art that is to be judged by the recipient. "Give the people what they want." However, as the great Henry Rollins said: "Open your mind, and expand your musical horizons, before it's too late." So, besides the aforementioned, here is what's expanding the horizons here. We've done a couple of "Blitz Rock Limo Getaways" recently which have been very successful. We send a winner and a guest to Detroit in a limo for concerts, plus giveaway CDs and cassettes. These have included Suicidal Tendencies, Pantera/Sacred Reich, and currently we're doing Flotsam And Jetsam. These promotions really seem to rally listener support around these bands. Speaking of Suicidal Tendencies, the Infectious Grooves "These Freaks Are Here To Party" is a smash. The Grooves share lead vocalist Mike Muir with Suicidal, and both have become top phone and sales records here. Some other stuff not to let slip between the cracks: Sacred Reich's "Independent" is very cool. So is "Sugar Cane" by Sonic Youth. If you don't swing to that one after a few listens...you know. The Coverdale/Page record is everything we all hoped it would be. We did the old "Win It Before You Buy It" promotion, and just about every winner actually came to the radio station that weekend to pick it up. I'm sure no one was disappointed. In closing, just let me fly the flag for Flotsam And Jetsam's "Wading Through The Darkness," Spread Eagle's "Devil's Road," Collision's "Maximum Respect," Pantera's "Hollow," and Animal Bag's "Everybody." Getting paid to open minds, and I didn't even go to medical school. Cool!!

This Mortal Coil, "This Mortal Coil: 1983-1991," 4AD Some box sets were meant to sit on a shelf. Once in a while, the proud owner takes it out, dusts it off and impresses his unenlightened guests with his vast musical knowledge. That will not be the fate of This Mortal Coil: 1983-1991. This compilation was meant to never leave the CD player. This Mortal Coil was the brainchild of 4AD label head Ivo Watts-Russell, and featured a constantly shifting collective of artists, including Tanya Donnelly, Caroline Crowley, Heidi Berry, Dead Can Dance, The Wolfgang Press, among many others. KCRW was one of the first stations to add this fine collection to their playlist, and PD Chris Douridas commented, "This box set that's now available in limited release has everything that is This Mortal Coil. It's the bookends, and everything in between. Hearing the last disc on the set with the original versions of the songs covered by the band illustrates the magic that Ivo Watts-Russell had in his hands when he was directing the project. Hearing the originals makes you realize that This Mortal Coil went back and did them correctly... the way they should have been done all along. These are great utility discs. They satisfy a mood, and they make great company. They really do spice up a set of music. I also like the fact that it's a chance to rediscover some of the best recordings ever released on 4AD, now that the label has been recognized as a visionary force in the music industry. When you look at some of the top Alternative artists today, like Frank and Belly, they're all 4AD artists. Ivo's vision is now starting to seep into what we've come to know as the basic concept of Alternative."

Dwight Yoakam, "This Time," Reprise Now that the full Lp has been released, we're starting to get a feel of just how important Dwight has the potential to be to this format. Not every song on This Time will fit comfortably on Triple A playlists, but there's a big ol' cowboy hat full of 'em that will. "Two Doors Down," "Ain't That Lonely Yet," "Fast As You," and "Wild Ride," have all sparked interest at several stations. WXPX's Bruce Ranes and Dwight go way back. "We've featured Dwight and this album on The World Cafe. I personally have been a big fan of him for years. I used to produce a commercial Country show, and Dwight Yoakam was one of the last artists I worked with there. He's another artist who has the ability to bridge the Country and Triple A genres and not worry about labels, akin to Mary-Chapin Carpenter and Emmylou Harris. This album will play as well on Triple A as it does on Country."

Johnny Clegg & Savuka, "These Days," Capitol As a native South African, Johnny Clegg's Zulu influences run deep, both musically and personally. It is his diverse background that has always been a driving force behind Clegg & Savuka and the band's unique symbiosis of traditional South African music and Western Rock. Producer Don Was' touch is evident in "These Days," the first single from the forthcoming Heat, Dust And Dreams. Early Triple A adds come from KBCO, KFVG, KIOT and KTAO. KIOT's Stacia Saunders is a longtime fan, "We've always played Johnny Clegg & Savuka here. He is a core artist for the format. We were glad to hear that they have a new album coming out. As soon as "These Days" came in, we jumped on it."

Jennifer Warnes, "The Whole Of The Moon," Private Music Private rounds out Jennifer Warnes' The Hunter by releasing a special edited version of her cover of The Waterboys' "The Whole Of The Moon" especially for the Triple A format. Most stations were 3 or 4 cuts deep on The Hunter, but may have overlooked this song. If you did, sit down and give it another spin. Jennifer Warnes' vocals are the perfect complement to this Alternative classic. We went directly to the source for a quote, and Jennifer was happy to oblige: "My life has been blessed with some unusual friendships. A few comrades of the radiant visionary sort are dead now — their youthful bodies apparently unable to contain the full force of what Ray Charles once called 'the volcanic action of my soul.' When Jackson Browne (O Great Cross-pollinator Deluxe) sent me The Waterboys tune 'The Whole Of The Moon,' I knew little about Mike Scott, but the song reminded me of how dearly I missed my incandescent friends. It's a great song. I like Mike Scott's version better."

What's Cooking On The Cafe

Mon. 4/5: Nanci Griffith talks about and performs songs from her new album of folk influences, Other Voices/Other Rooms.

Wed. 4/7: Alternative chart topper Belly are featured, and Tanya Donnelly drops by with her acoustic guitar.

Fri. 4/9: World Cafe has had no difficulty in finding several choice cuts from dada's Puzzle since its release last Autumn. The trio finally makes it over to The Cafe for an acoustic session.

Sat. 4/10: Singer/songwriter John Gorka plays some songs from his latest album, Temporary Road.

Morgan Creek artist Chris Kowanko (right) was visited backstage at an appearance of CB's 313 by his producer and friend Lenny Kaye. The showcase was one of Kowanko's first since the release of his debut album. The next track from that album, "Murder Girl," is already receiving early Triple A airplay.

THE DEBUT SINGLE FROM
TALES OF ORDINARY MADNESS

"Haynes has fashioned an album with plenty of space in which his burning leads and slide rip his songs wide open. Add to that Haynes' previously hidden blues 'n' soul vocal talent, and you get a display of madness that is far from ordinary."

CHECKOUT TRACKS

The Devlins, "I Knew That," Capitol We've learned a lot of things from the Irish: a million and one ways to cook potatoes, how to hide whiskey in coffee, how to have a parade in the middle of winter — but when they started sending their rock and roll bands to us, they outdid themselves. From U2 to Hothouse Flowers, we've been treated to the best the Emerald Isle has to offer. Now, the Devlins join their illustrious countrymen as the next band poised to invade our coveted American music charts. The Devlins are immediately likeable, both musically and personally, as Peter and Colin Devlin proved to us when they charmed their way through a visit to Hardquarters. The first single from their forthcoming album Drift is "I Knew That," and it comfortably combines an electric edge with an acoustic background, resulting in a sound that has Triple A written all over it.

Red, "Redder," Forrest Last year, Red debuted her self-produced eponymous CD 5 and created a nice healthy buzz within the format. She has now released her second CD 5, Redder, and it is both an extension and progression of the debut EP. The multi-talented Red provides guitars, bass, keys and harmonica, but her strongest instrument is her compelling vocals. WKXE jumped on the first track, "Jellybone," and WVAY and WRLT are poised to follow suit.

Zap Mama, "Bottom," Luaka Bop/Warner Bros. Zap Mama is an a cappella group comprised of five women, both African and European natives, led by Marie Daulne. For most of us, their recently released self-titled debut album has been our first introduction to Zap Mama, but KCRW's Chris Douridas has known about this jewel for awhile, "This is something that KCRW has been playing as an import for a year now. I've never had such a great response from listeners on an import recording. The result of that is that the album has been flying out the door of record stores here in Santa Monica now that it's available domestically. I remember when it first came into the retail stores as an import, there was consistently a waiting list 50 or 60 deep. As a live act, their rapport with the audience is phenomenal. It's soulful, life-affirming and joyful music. I think Marie Daulne will emerge as a very important voice. I only hope that they can break through the way Bobby McFerrin has."

The World Cafe has just won two National Federation of Community Broadcasters Golden Reel Awards. They were in the categories of special national entertainment music programming and special programming featuring cultural diversity. The entry that won was for a special called: Anishinaabe: A Celebration of the First Americans, which aired October 12, 1992. On a day that most people refer to as Columbus Day, The World Cafe broadcast live from LacCourte Orielles Ojibwa Reservation in Northern Wisconsin. Guests on the show included Floyd Westerman, John Trudell, Jackson Browne, and Buffie St. Marie. The World Cafe is a daily two hour Alternative music service distributed by American Public Radio.

SBR Radio Company's client list has expanded to ten stations with the addition of WMMM, "Triple M," in Madison, WI. SBR's Triple A client list also includes KFOG, KMTT, WWCD, WKOC, WRLT, WVGO, WEQX and WNCS. They also advise Rocky Mountain Radio, and they expect to add two more stations to their client list some time in April.

Top Priority

Midnight Oil, "Truganini," Columbia They're back! Remember how deep you went on Diesel And Dust? Well, get ready to do that again with the band's new long player Earth And Sun And Moon. "Truganini" is the first salvo from that album and it smokes! Folks who have had the opportunity to preview the band's new live show all agree that the Oilsters are just going to tear up every venue they play this year. There you have it. A killer song, a massive album and a bofo tour. Sounds like D&D all over again, eh? Only this time it's better!! Just in time for the Spring book too! How thoughtful. Your phones are going to ring off the hook, your listeners are going to go nuts! Wall to wall airplay for Midnight Oil and quarter hours from God, who could ask for anything more? How about Political Correctness? Well, these boys are the kings of 90s PC. Another smash from Midnight Oil — Oh joy!

Hard Acts To Follow

Paul Rodgers, "The Hunter," Victory/PLG Oh, the familiar sound of a legend...Paul Rodgers is back after a (much too long) respite from (most recently) The Law (not to mention Bad Company and Free). One of the most coveted and recognizable voices in rock and roll has teamed up with yet another guitar player of "cream of the crop" status. This time around, Paul and Nile Rodgers collaborate on Muddy Water Blues — A Tribute To Muddy Waters. The new sound has a (you guessed it) total blues flavor and a rock 'em sock 'em attitude that will knock your socks off (sorry!) We're talking a huge vocal range and some of the meanest bluesy rock guitar noises you've heard. Prepare to wipe yourself out if you plan to look for ways to get out of adding this one. We challenge you to find a valid excuse for your PLG rep. Rodgers and Rodgers bring a lot of life and a lot of soul to the table — feast on!

Bryan Ferry, "I Put A Spell On You," Reprise

Bryan Ferry is no stranger to covering great soul/blues tunes. Those who are familiar with his impressive body of work with and without Roxy Music will remember his version of "Take Me To The River" way before that Roxy tribute band, Talking Heads, did theirs. Outside of his R&B covers, who can forget Roxy's live versions of "Hurricane" and "Jealous Guy"? So before you even listen to this song you know it's going to be quality stuff. You've also got to keep in mind that Ferry's been ahead of his time for almost two decades. Fashion forward? You bet. As our friend Thaddeus Monkfish would say, "This would be the best cover of this legendary classic I've ever heard! Hum de do da day!!" Great in the pocket adult appeal is the key to this track, not to mention the instant class that Ferry's voice gives your franchise. Rave on!

School Of Fish, "Take Me Anywhere," Capitol

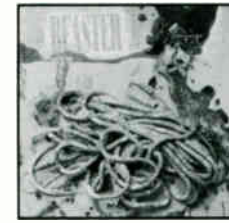

You remember this band from their big alternative cross over smash "Three Strange Days." "Take Me Anywhere" picks up where that tune left off in the land of the wall of guitars. They're currently on tour with Best Kissers In The World (another band you should be paying attention to for future reference, or are you just sitting in your office remembering the glory days of Progressive FM?) so you'll have a chance to see them strut their stuff at a shack near you soon. This track has already made an impact at alternative radio and their brand of modern rock is an all daypart friendly affair. You really couldn't ask for a more contemporary and appropriate tune for your playlist. Okay, maybe you could, but you'd be wasting your time. We suggest you swim with this School Of Fish right now (Boy, we get cornier and cornier every week!).

Graveyard Train, "Down To The Wire," Geffen Cool and rockin' are the two words that come to mind when trying to describe this track from Graveyard Train. Of course that's because we have a very limited vocabulary of only about a thousand words or so and our thesaurus was stolen by aliens last week. You know it's very easy for them to get into the country now, all they have to do is claim political asylum. But we're here in this space to tell you about Graveyard Train. Well, that's just it. Those wacky aliens also stole our bio. Petty larceny? Hardly. An organized attempt to drive us nuts? Absolutely. Well, we'll give you one of our copyrighted analogies — Queen meets Zep meets Great White at The Famous Whisky. How's that for diggin' deep? Crank this mother and you'll feel a whole lot better.

Sugar, "Beaster," Ryko Remember when you used to take the time out to listen to bands you'd never heard of? Well, it's time to revisit that part of your youth. You completely ignored one of the most influential and important bands of the 80s, Husker Du, but here's your chance to redeem yourself by listening and adding Sugar. For those of you in need of a history lesson Sugar is led by Bob Mould, founding member of Husker Du. In the late 80s he released a couple of solo albums which were great. In other words this guy's got a whole body of work that's better than any one hit wonder you wasted airtime on in the last ten years. Check out "Come Around" or "Walking Away." You'll come to realize that Mould is a rare talent who should be exposed to a larger audience. Sit down with this EP and hope that you "get it." If it's too eccentric, you're too old.

Jeff Naumann & Pigs On Corn, "They're Coming To Take Me Away ha haa"

Ahhhhhh! a classic re-make of a classic tune. "La La Land" has been very good to the "Jesus Man." Naumann has been caught doing his best John Lennon imitation. Jussssss kiddin'!! It's great to have something refreshing like this on the radio. Lenny Bronstein couldn't be reached for comment but knowing how big his record collection is he might say, "It is the perfect addition to any collection and great for those weekend parties!" The gentlemen of all gentlemen, Paul Brown, said, "For those of you can't play the 'Asshole' song, this will open up new vast unheard of programming vistas. If this becomes a hit, my life will become more miserable than it already is!" Does it get any better than this? What a long strange trip it has been!

New Emphasis Tracks

R.E.M., "The Sidewinder Sleeps Tonite," Warner Bros. John Paul Jones arranged this tune from the smash album, Automatic For The People. That fact is for those of you who need a reason to play R.E.M., even in this day and age. Believe us, there's still one or two nitwits who are still calling this band "New Wave." We feel sorry for that handful of misfits, but we know they'll come around soon. Along with "Ignoreland," "Sidewinder" was one of the tracks that caught our ear on the first listen of AFTP. There's a slight homage to The Tokens' "The Lion Sleeps Tonight" at the beginning of the tune — you know Oooo- EEE— Oooo? This is a darn catchy tune, Elroy, and we suggest you bang this mama. Yes, yes we know you're in the middle of planning one of those "What would you do for a pair of tickets to the tractor pull" contest, but get away from those feces eating fans of fender bending for just one moment to enjoy this song before you start playing it 6 times a day. Pretty good, eh? Thought so.

MORE New Emphasis Tracks

Life/Sex/Death, "Telephone Call To Jesus," Reprise We know the record has been sitting on the corner of your desk collecting dust for a few months, but now it's down to "the right place, right time" for LSD. The label made a big splash with the controversial single "Fucking Shit Ass" and put the band on the road in front of thousands of surprised fans. KRXX, WIYY, WRZX and WXZL have discovered this little gem with early Top 5 phone action. Trust us when we say, "The track will have the Linehan pressure behind it bigtime!" Add into the mix a major tour with the Damn Yankees, Poison, and Jackyl, for enough fuel to make LSD a household name. Reprise is pulling out all the stops and have installed a 24 hour Life Sex Death "Jesus Hotline" (1-800-688-JESUS) just in time for David Koresch. If you're not hip to one of the best live acts in the country, then we suggest you dial 911, because you don't have a pulse!

Coverdale/Page, "Shake My Tree," Geffen When we first heard about the pairing of these two Rock Legends, we got a tingly feeling inside. It was kind of like the rush we got in 1980 during the Republican Convention when the rumors were flying about a "Dream Ticket" of Ronald Reagan and Gerald Ford. Oh, just imagine Two Presidents for the price of one!! Well, imagine our surprise when that didn't happen. Now thirteen years later, it seems like it's the year of the twofor. First Bubba and Hilly and now Jimmy and Dave! "Shake My Tree" sounds like Zeppelin meets Whitesnake while listening to Deep Purple. Wait a minute, wait a minute. We get it! It's the marriage of two of rock and roll's most recognizable stylists and it lives up to everyone's wildest expectations. Do you really need us to tell you that this is a smash? You already knew that. Well, go rock out then!

Lemonheads, "It's A Shame About Ray," Atlantic Now that the novelty of "Mrs. Robinson" has gotten your attention directed towards this band, it's time to give a serious listen to one of their originals. "It's A Shame About Ray" is one of these best pop/rock songs released in the past several months. The Lemonheads, while having a strong indie/alternative track record, score here on sheer song writing. The song is not as intense as its title or some lyrics suggest.

According to the band, "Ray" is a name Australians use as an all purpose word (i.e. "He's such a Ray). Sure, we believe that. But we've never been too good with names, but we remember faces. It's also about time that the band was recognized for one of their own songs. Years ago they scratched the surface was with another cover, Suzanne Vega's "Luka." Miss the boat on this one and you might as well start swimming.

Dan Baird, "Look At What You Started," Def American Dan Baird just blows the doors off again with this tune from his Songs For The Hearing Impaired. It's "Hot Legs" meets Dave Edmunds in Georgia for some BBQ if you ask us. Loud, rockin' and wild if you're looking for some choice adjectives. We suggest you stock up on beer and table dancers (You gals feel free to call some of those Chippendale guys) for the party you'll have to this tune. Happy? Sure. Catchy? Like influenza. Hit? You bet. Come on, "I Love You Period" was huge and there's no reason why this number can't be just as massive and put this boy on the map. It's a great tune for warmer weather and we just looked at our thermometer and it's startin' to get hot!! Whew! Blast this one first.

G.E. Smith and the SNL Band, "Sloozzy," Liberty Mr. Smith and Co. are best known for their instrumental intros and outros on the most watched comedy show in the free world. Therefore, it makes total sense for them to release an instrumental song. Now, before you give this to your production department for another one of those lame club adverts, listen to it. We think you'll add it. Yup. Call us crazy, but we've said that once before to you and look what happend. Does the name Satriani ring a bell? So stop feeling so superior and give G.E. and his nice friends a shot. Sure, we'd love to hear a little Opera Man or Pat on the tune, but the guys are on their own here and need to express themselves outside of the boundaries of minstrels for a comedy show. In a nutshell, G.E. brings good things to life.

Impact Tracks

Bone Club, "Everything's On Fire," Imago (6/55) Imago's bad boys are still strong at 48-46* on the Hard Hundred and 26-24* on the Hard C.O.R. chart. Among the new adds are KISW, WRZK, WXRC, KMBY, WWTR and WBZX. Jeff Newton/KSPQ says the band is, "hot as hell!" The edgy, quick tempo single has a great beat and it's easy to dance to. We give it a 98!!! Now you drop a needle (or a laser, which ever you prefer).

Poorboys, "No Real Emotion," Hollywood (6/44) The Poorboys are trying hard to show "No Real Emotion," but the difficulty has to be near unbearable. Into the top 50 at 48* for the week, things look great for this young, aggressive crew. New support from WAOR, WIMZ, WSTZ, WZNF, KZGL and WKQZ are just the tip of the iceberg this week. Fast action looks good for 4/9.

Joe Satriani, "Cryin'," Relativity (5/82) Joe Satriani's latest project still has a lot of life. "Cryin'" has been building steadily for weeks now and there is no exception by press time. Now inside the Hard top 25, Joe has managed to maintain support from AORs like KOMA, KISS, WBCN, KSHE, KSJO, KLOL, KLBK, KRQR and others while signing on WNEW, WAOR, WYFN, KATT and KCLB just this week. Jay Philpott at WNOR says "It is still working very well for us."

Arc Angels, "Shape I'm In," Geffen (3/133) We Love This Album!!! The Arc Angels are terrific. Sexton and company have a killer vibe going and "Shape" is simply part of it. Moving to 15* on the Hard Hundred, gaining airplay from WXRC, WCMF and WJXQ, grabbing top 5 phones from 4 including WTUE, KNCN, KMOD and WZLZ and 12 stations with increased rotation help boost the Hard album status to 12*.

Jellyfish, "The Ghost At Number One," Virgin (3/22) Though the competition is brutal, Jellyfish is holding their own. Already on WBCN, WMMS, KTYD, KJKJ, KEYJ, WIZN, KFMH (top 5 phones), "The Ghost At Number One" is a unique piece of work. Ready to try something new? Something out of the ordinary? Something fresh? Something good? Here it is: The remedy you need.

Brad Gillis with Greg Allman, "Honest To God," Guitar Recording s (7/24) KQRS, WDVE, WTUE, WNOR, KOMP, KATS, WIBA...these are some of the major, heavy, big, super, bad, impressive, large, serious, (wonderful) AORs who decided to add "Honest." Brad Gillis is getting Top 5 Phones at KRQR. San Francisco loves them and so will you. The single moves up the Hard Hundred from 67-60*.

The Hard Interview

BROUGHT TO YOU BY SONY

By Jesse Nash

Getting A Grip On Reality With Aerosmith's Steve Tyler

If the Rolling Stones are Britain's premier rock and roll band, then Aerosmith is America's pride and joy. After twenty-some odd years of rock and roll, Steve Tyler (vocals), Joe Perry (guitar), Brad Whitford (guitar), Mark Hudson (drums) and Tom Hamilton (bass) show no signs of slowing down. Their latest entry is Get A Grip, and it marks the winding down of the group's successful relationship with Geffen Records. (They're obligated to do one more record for the label before their Sony Music deal goes into effect in 1995.) Get A Grip brings the group back to their rock and roll roots. Songs like "Living On The Edge," "Eat The Rich," "Crazy," and the title track will give Aerosmith fans plenty to cheer about. Their last record, Pump, sold close to 5 million copies worldwide, and Get A Grip appears poised to repeat those sales figures. In this interview, Steve Tyler speaks about his life, revealing some startling accounts of his bouts with drugs, his subsequent rehabilitation, the difficulties in making this new album, and the recent Sony Music deal, which should make Aerosmith one of America's richest rock and roll bands.

This new album is great.

Tyler: Thanks, man. When did you hear it?

I listened to it a few days ago. I think 'Living On The Edge' as the first single is a very ambitious start.

Tyler: I think so, too. So much so that I'm a little scared of it. I would've much rather released 'Eat The Rich.'

What kinds of pressures are you faced with when you have a new disc? Your last record sold five million copies, so what's going on in your head to make sure that you don't repeat yourself, creatively speaking?

Tyler: First of all, I listen to everything I write constantly. On a couple of occasions, in the writing of songs for this record, I'd use the same middle section of another song in a different way. I said, 'Joe, uh-oh. We can't do this.' You're writing and writing, and suddenly, after you write the 25th song, you realize that your ideas start bleeding into each other.

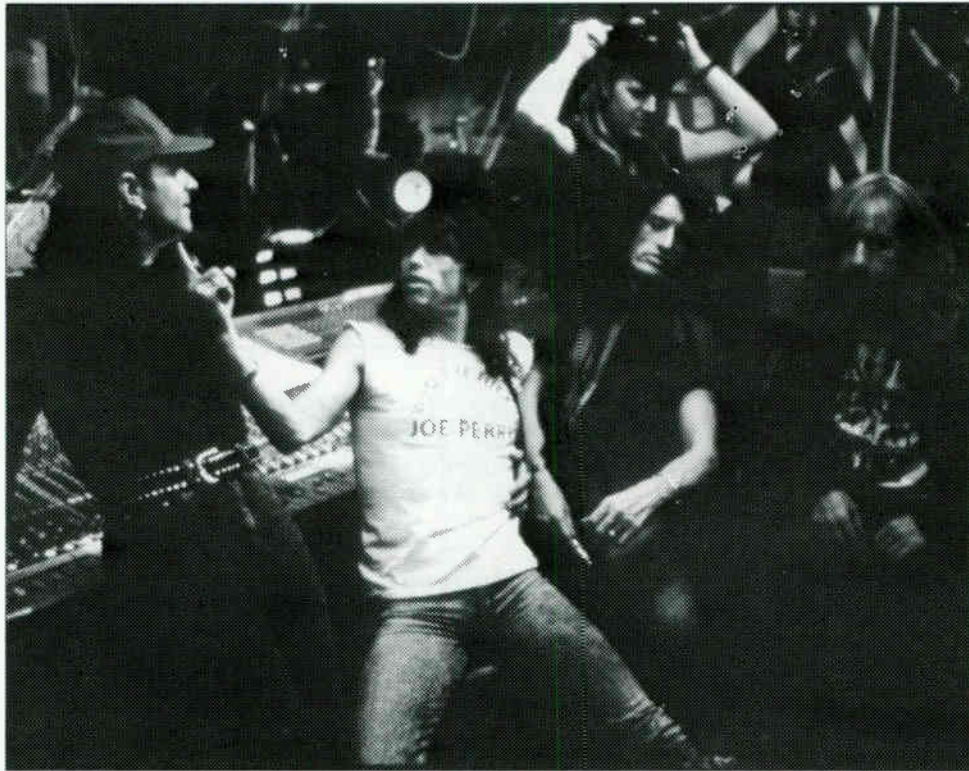

In the 'Intro,' I caught a little sampled riff of 'Walk This Way.'

Tyler: Oh, yeah, it's definitely sampled off our original record. After a while, the songs start bleeding into each other.

You have a very heavy musical background. Your dad was a music teacher at Cardinal Spellman High School in the Bronx, Mr. Tylerico.

Tyler: Oh, you've been doing research.

That's right, Steve. Unlike some of your other interviewers, I'm ready for you.

When you grow up under the piano and your father is practicing for six hours a day, it has an effect on you. He's a classical pianist. Those guys are really nuts with their training and theory, and their fingerings and what-not. Very obsessive. So, he would practice all the time. And the only time I really got to know my father was when he practiced. I got to know the fever and the feelings from a sonata, and the sadness from minor modes, and the intensity of a fugue, and the difference between artists. I got to understand, most importantly, the language of music through my father. So, the first time I got into music was through my dad. Then came Aerosmith. When we first decided to be a band, we decided we better write some songs if we wanted to make it big time and get a recording contract. I started playing this little ditty called 'Dream On' and, because of what I knew from the piano, I got Tom [Hamilton] to play the bass line, and Brad [Whitford] to play the left hand, and Joe [Perry] to play the right hand, and I put it all together in the language that I knew as music, and you know what? It came out sounding really nuts. Not nuts in a bad way, but nuts in an intense musical way. Very studied, with theory and the understanding of music. I attribute that to my expertise today.

I understand that you, your dad, and your uncle used to perform together. Tell me about that.

Tyler: When summertime would roll around up in New Hampshire, my parents had a little resort they used to go to which

Tyler: Sounds like you are. (Laughs)

Growing up in the Bronx is intense enough. I'm from the Bronx and I know. But having a father who's a musician and a music teacher must have been hell at times, true?

Tyler: I don't know if it was hell. Only once did having a dad who was a music teacher affect me in a negative way. He tried to give me lessons when I was 11, and it just didn't go down because he was my father and I didn't take it seriously.

What happened?

Tyler: Those lessons stopped real quick. That was the bad news. The good news is that I grew up underneath the piano.

I've heard that you're a very accomplished piano player.

Tyler: I'm not incredible, but I can play pretty good. What's better is my ear.

The background of the entire page is a textured, ochre-colored surface covered in traditional Aboriginal rock art. The art features various symbols and figures, including a large sun with radiating lines in the upper left, a central figure with outstretched arms, and several stylized human figures in the lower half. The colors used in the art are primarily red, black, and white, with some blue and yellow accents.

From 1804 to 1830, the Australian Government and white settlers engaged in a violent war with the natives. Truganini (Pr.:trú-ga-ní-nee) was an 18 year old aboriginal girl. Her mother was stabbed to death, her sisters kidnapped for slavery, and Truganini raped.

Truganini

By 1873, Truganini,

the sole survivor, was exploited as 'Queen of the Aborigines'.

Truganini begged a clergyman to ensure when she died, she be wrapped in a bag and dropped into the D'Entrecasteaux

Channel. When she died in 1876 the government buried her corpse. In 1878 she was dug up and stored in an apple crate.

Some years later, her skeleton was displayed at the Tasmanian

Museum until 1947. In 1976, Truganini was cremated and, as she wished, her ashes scattered on the waters of the D'Entrecasteaux Channel. In 1993 Truganini will be remembered.

had housekeeping cottages, and my father did what he knew best — which was passed down from his father — and that was to play at these large hotels. You know, el grande hotels that don't exist anymore. These giant hotels that were scattered through the woods. There's a lot of them that still do exist, but that's in the Berkshires and the Catskills and so forth.

Today those hotels are like dinosaurs from another age. They're not doing any business.

Tyler: Yeah, but in those days they were thriving. And they had dance halls and ballrooms. Of course, my grandfather's generation played what was called chamber music, three cellos and a fiddle — all instrumental. My father's generation, at that time, was playing what was called society music. And I played with him. I was the drummer.

Drums? Man, you play a lot of different instruments.

Tyler: Well, I just consider it dabbling when it comes to the piano. I don't consider it real playing. But that's where I get my melodies from. The drums, I picked up from having bought my first drum set and playing with my father. Then, I went on to rock and roll and played songs like 'Wipeout!' and 'Louie Louie' and 'Woolly Bully.' I was the hippest and youngest drummer in the mountains for about four years. (Laughs)

What kind of drum kit did you have back then?

Tyler: A Slingerland. All my friends had Gretsch, and I had a nice blue pearl Slingerland set.

How many instruments do you play?

Tyler: The good thing about growing up under the piano — to make a long story short — is I can pick up any instrument and play a tune on it. One of my favorite things to do nowadays is to collect instruments from all over the world. I've got everything you could imagine — nose flutes to harpsichords. When I pick any one of these instruments up, I can usually play something on it and, if I record it, there's a song. One of my new favorite things to do is to play on this thing called a Korg M1. Actually, it's the model that came after that, but I forget the name. It's got 90 presets, and I can use them to create these instruments from hell. Plus, I can put a ram card in and get an add-on to it. So, when I get a bunch of guys on saxophone, I put it through an effect — I write a song. And I love that. It's really inspirational to me in my songwriting and played a big part in the way I wrote for this album.

Your musical background with your father proves that you had a major musical input in the early days of Aerosmith. Not many people look at the lead singer of a rock band as the one with the musical background. You know, the old cliché, 'He's just the singer in the band.'

Tyler: Yeah, you're right, motherfucker. (Laughs) I'm Mr. Wonderful. I definitely thank my father so much for playing classical music because in classical, there's the rhythm, there's the melody, there's the harmonies. There's all that shit that's applicable to song structure. The day that I climbed over my drumset and said, 'Fuck this shit!', I was with a band called The Strangers. My bass player's name was Alan Stromeyer. He played a big Fender Jazz Master. And he was singing 'In My Room' and I went, 'Give me a fucking mike!' That afternoon, I bought a boom, stuck a mike on the end of it, and proceeded to help him out with harmonies. But that was the first time I ever sang. I just did it to kind of help him out.

You had never sang before that?

Tyler: No.

Did you have any idea at that point that you could even sing?

Tyler: No. And that was part of those doubts, fears and insecurities I was born with as a kid. That was one of those things about pot and drinking, it got you out of those insecurities. When you smoked pot or drank and someone laughed at you and said you sucked, all you did was give them the finger and tell them to fuck off. (Laughs)

I can relate.

I'd wake up the next day and my chest would be killing me. I'd be in a lot of pain. And I'd wonder, 'What the fuck is wrong with me?' Then, I'd find out that the night before I had O.D.'d and my friends were banging on my chest to start my heart.

Tyler: That was one of the good things about my drug-taking days. But all that shit, now I realize, was a crutch. Yeah, it got me out of my insecurities. And I used to think that if I did more I'd be better. Wrong! I ended up on the floor sniffing spitballs. I'd wake up the next day and my chest would be killing me. I'd be in a lot of pain. And I'd wonder, 'What the fuck is wrong with me?' Then, I'd find out that the night before I had O.D.'d and my friends were banging on my chest to start my heart. That kind of shit.

Things actually got that bad for you?

Tyler: It got real bad. Why do you think I'm sober now? Why do you think I make such a big point about the fact that, by the grace of God, and by the fact that other people were my witnesses, I'm even alive? I would wake up the next day after a wild night and have people say to me, 'Man! You were on your knees last night at the party picking up hairballs and trying to smoke them!' And I didn't see it. I didn't see what the fuck I was doing to myself. I was too fucked up to know or to really give a shit, to tell you the truth. That's why I'm so thankful that I'm even alive. My sobriety is, in a nutshell, why these last couple of albums have been getting better and better and better.

I agree. The last three to five records have been the best music you've ever put out.

Tyler: If I went to Des Moines, Iowa, in the '70s, when there were no drugs there, I could go there in one night, and by the next morning, I knew every connection in town. All I've done now is that I've simply transposed all that energy and concentration from drugs and I've put it all into my music. And into the better side of life. Now, I'm as good a songwriter/musician as I was a drug addict.

You sound like you've been through a lot of therapy.

Tyler: I don't know about therapy. I've just talked it out with myself to understand the things that I did. It's really enlightening to think, 'Holy shit! What did I do to get this album?' In the past, I wouldn't even question it. I'd go, 'Yeah, this is great,' and not question it. You see, the one difference between the me now and the me in the past is that when I do something good now, I want to know exactly what I did so that I can do it again. And then getting the thrill of accepting a Grammy from my peers, that's important to me. You go town to town on stage every night, and people applaud you and that's one of the highlights of having a successful career, but winning a Grammy based on listeners' input, that stuff really means a lot to me. It also means a lot to me to just be able to go to Joe Perry's basement and fucking come up with a song and then go swimming that afternoon with my daughter. That's the beauty of it all.

Your upbringing was in a strict Italian family, correct?

Tyler: I'm not sure if it was so strict, but we ate spaghetti quite frequently. (Laughs)

Is it true that you ran away from home when you were 16?

Tyler: I never had to run away from home. My mother told me to get the fuck out. To get out there and rock. She never said the word 'fuck' because we didn't use that language. I grew up with the greatest parents. They let me rock. My parents always said, 'Be careful and have something to fall back on.'

Like my folks.

Tyler: Yeah, my friends were all Jewish. I grew up with everybody calling me nigger lips when I was a kid. I hate to use that word but that's what they called me. And Jagger lips. But mother used to say, 'Don't listen to them. All the better to kiss the girls with.' And, you know, I really got a chance to see, having Jewish friends and an Italian family, what it was like to be a geek at school. But guess what? All the guys that were taking drugs that I was trying to emulate are dead or they're cops. And all the so-called squares and the jerks and the guys who had the tape in the middle of their glasses are the presidents of record companies, and even the President of this country. So, that tells you something right there.

After you left the Bronx and you went to Boston, I've heard that you did some gigs on the lawn of Boston College for free. Is that true?

Tyler: We played a lot of places for free. A lot of Jewish centers. Back then, in 1967, the only way to tour was if you knew the promoter in town and your manager worked some deal with him where he would let you open up a show for him. Consequently, we used to play and open up for groups like The Beach Boys at Iona College. The Byrds at the County Center in Yonkers. I still have the ticket from that show taped to my door at home. The first show I did was called 'Upbeat.' I still have that ticket, too. We were on Date Records and we were being managed by Seymour Stein. We were the second band to be on the Date label. The A-side of our first single was called 'The Son' and the B-side was called 'When I Needed You,' and it's on the Pandora's Box album. We were doing some heavy shit back then.

What's the story with the song 'Lizard Love'? It was originally supposed to be on Get A Grip but never made it. Why?

Tyler: 'Lizard Love' is my fucking favorite song, man! But right now, it's not getting used for anything. Brad didn't like it. It's too bad. But you know what? We saved it. It's in the box, in the can, and if Spielberg wants to use it for his Jurassic Park movie, that's fine by me.

Steven Spielberg the director?

Tyler: Yeah. I don't know if he's going to use it yet for the movie, but I called him up and said to him that I've got this great song for his picture. I think it's a great idea. 'Lizard Love' would be perfect for Jurassic Park. We'll see what happens.

Backtracking a bit to your father — he went to Julliard. Did he teach you theory?

Tyler: No, I never did anything with him like that. The most schooling I have is that I went to Westchester Workshop Drums Unlimited.

So, you're self-taught?

Tyler: Yeah. I'm motivated by the people who say to me, 'You can't do that.' Why? 'Because you're not supposed to.' And then I go out and do it. That's not to say that I'm completely ignorant of music theory. Trust me, I sat and played scales for two fucking years. But, you see, the thing about teaching methods today is that they make the learning process fun. The teaching methods today make learning something like scales a lot of fucking fun. They used to do all this heady stuff. It was straight and boring. Today they go, 'Well, that sucks! Who's going to pay attention to that?' Now, they've become a little more imaginative and scales are, (Singing a scale) 'Looking up the girl's skirts at school.' With this approach, everyone wants to learn fucking rudiments now. And when you sing those words, you're bound to remember it because it's got to do with girls and the thought of sex. Anyway, that's the new thing and I think it's beautiful. It's great for these young kids because for a while, there they were thinking that they didn't need to learn the rudiments of music. But you do. It's so important. And I'll tell you why — you look at these groups out there and they have no musical roots. Then there are all these hair bands, in which case, they've got all these roots coming out of their hair 'cause their hair is dyed. But they don't have any musical roots. And don't be confused here — roots are not dues. Dues means playing clubs for five years but that's not roots. Roots means paying attention to history and becoming knowledgeable about the

Paul McCartney was great when he was with John Lennon. And I realize today that I ain't nothing without this band. Joe Perry is my bad side. He's the side that goes, 'Fuck it. Just do it. Let's play this.' And I'm the side going, 'Wait a minute. I want to get the harmony right.'

heritage of the music you're playing. Learning about the old blues greats, in particular, and learning why they did things the way they did. Don't question it, just learn their style. You hear kids saying, 'Yeah, I learned a lot of that stuff,' when they really didn't. I once watched an episode of Star Trek where Spock and Captain Kirk got transported, and something happened to the atoms while they were being transported and they were split in half. Suddenly, there was a good Kirk and a bad Kirk and a good Spock and a bad Spock. When the bad side was dying, the good side was dying also. That's what happened when John Lennon left The Beatles. Paul McCartney was great when he was with John Lennon. And I realize today that I ain't nothing without this band. Joe Perry is my bad side. He's the side that goes, 'Fuck it. Just do it. Let's play this.' And I'm the side going, 'Wait a minute. I want to get the harmony right.' I'm the stickler for stuff. And what I've learned over the years is that a good mixture of both is the best ingredient to a rock and roll band that you can have. I think that mixture is evident on the new album.

I agree with your analogy. McCartney was his most brilliant when he wrote with John Lennon.

Tyler: When Paul McCartney hears 'Livin' On The Edge,' he's going to wish he wrote that song.

When you were messed up on drugs and the band temporarily broke up, what was the view like being on the bottom looking up at the top? Suddenly, you're not the big star anymore. What was going on in your head at that time?

Tyler: I remember being in the hospital. I had just had a terrible motorcycle accident where I took off the left heel of my foot. It was hanging by a thread. If you drew a semi-circle from the left side of your heel to the right side all around the back, that was ripped to shreds. So, anyway, I was crippled. I was in a leg cast and I was sitting in this hospital up in New London, New Hampshire, and this fucking band came along called... you know, David Lee Roth was the lead singer.

Van Halen.

Tyler: Yeah, I know. I'm joking, of course, that I don't know the name. I'm listening to David Lee Roth and I'm going to myself, 'Fuck! Who the fuck are these assholes?' And it was at that very moment I realized I'm out of the picture. I didn't realize it was because of drugs. I just knew that I was on my back for three months in a hospital getting shots of morphine in my ass, and I thought, 'These motherfuckers! Step out of the spotlight for a minute and who climbs in.' I realize today that they would've come in anyway because the fucking guy was so talented. And I don't mean David Lee Roth, I mean Eddie. So, we stepped out of the spotlight. You were asking about the drugs before — it wasn't until I got sober that I saw that the reason we dropped out was our own fault. Sometimes, you just don't see it. That's why lawyers and presidents or anybody can be so fucked up on drugs. If they don't get to see that they're fucked up, if someone doesn't tell them, then they lose. President Johnson was running the Vietnam War drinking two bottles of scotch a day. All these Americans were all dying. Anyway, it was around that time that somebody finally had the guts to tell me that I was fucking up major.

Who would you credit as the one who opened your eyes to the self-destruction that was taking place in your life?

Tyler: Who would I credit? My manager, Tim Collins, knew that the band was fucked up. He didn't know how or why or what because he was taking drugs himself. But he knew that something was wrong. And he asked a friend of his in New York named Johnny Padell, who was in a program and had just recently gotten himself sober, and it was really obvious to him what the fuck was wrong. It was real easy. He knew. Padell said to us, 'You guys are fucked up on drugs and you gotta get off the drugs.' Plain and simple. He told Tim that we were hitting a major bottom. So, Tim took the bull by the horns and — long story short — we all got sober from it. I was the first one to go away. And then we all did. Consequently, here we are today and we're all sober. We have each other and we have a buddy system. Sure, I'd like to get high every once in a while. I still think about getting high. But these great albums and the fact that I can still talk to you and get up at a decent hour in the morning and have two kids and a new house and have a little bit of money in the bank, those are the reasons not to.

Do you still dabble every once and a while?

Tyler: I haven't had a fucking thing in six years. The only thing I've had drug-wise is an aspirin. You see, the reason I can't party anymore is that if I have anything that alters my mood, I use it. Imagine — you're only human, and sitting on your shelf in the morning when you eat breakfast is a little bottle that says, 'If you take me you'll feel great.' Who's not going to get strung out? Who wouldn't want to do drugs? That's what they don't teach you in school — drugs make you feel great.

But it's only temporary.

Tyler: You have to have a certain knowledge and a certain learning to know that if I take this every day, I'm going to become an addict. Everybody is an addict if you really want to get down to it. Everybody is addicted to something. Everybody has their favorite foods that they crave at a certain time. That's all part of the addiction, except for most people, on a much lesser scale. Everybody has their cup of coffee. Ever try and take away the coffee maker from the guys in the office? They'll flip out on you. And what about those of us who have an addiction to chocolate? But for the most part, these addictions don't really hurt you. I found some magic secrets to life here. Working out and running is a big part of my life now. My health is my wealth right now.

Steven Tyler works out?

Tyler: You bet. I'm 44-years-old and I can race you up to the top of the Eiffel Tower, and probably not only make it to the top, but beat you to the top, too.

What is it? Every day you wake up in the morning and you do a routine?

Tyler: Yes. I'm training and working out all the time now. I work out in the gyms when I can. I've got a treadmill. If it's nice outside, I'll run two or three miles a day. And that's just the beginning. I do more now in a day than I did in a year. I swear to God, man.

How does having a family give you a sense of what's really important in your life? You have two kids, you just said, and you're married.

Tyler: I have four kids. I have a 14-year-old daughter named Mia. I've got a 15-year-old daughter named Liv, who's on the cover of all these magazines.

That's right, your daughter's a successful model. So, she's a part of the same entertainment world you are. How does that affect you?

Tyler: Oh, I love it. I go to the store and I see her picture on the cover of a magazine, and I wind up telling everybody in the store, 'Hey, there! Hey look! That's my daughter!' It feels really good. It's a side of me that I've never celebrated before. I'm proud as hell.

Did you encourage her to do this, or was this something she pursued on her own?

Tyler: She did it on her own because she knew that her mom was a model. She's really cool. She knows that the secret of life is if you want it bad enough, you'll have it. That's the secret. You keep working at it and find people who have done it and ask them how they did it. Go to the top.

You've made a lot of mistakes being part of the entertainment industry. How do you advise her so she doesn't make the same mistakes you did, especially with drugs?

Tyler: First of all, I've had this conversation with her and I've pointed out three or four pitfalls.

And they are?

Tyler: Going to a party and there are people smoking pot, and she has a couple of hits and she gets loose. Then, someone does a line and she can't help herself. I say to her, 'Just call me before you go too far. Call me. I want to talk to you.' I just keep the dialogue open so I know what she's doing. In my generation, I had friends that came home tripping and the front of their shirt was soaking wet because they didn't want to blink. They didn't want to miss anything. Their parents didn't have any idea that they were high on drugs. They had no communication with their children.

That's a problem our generation had. Many of our parents could never talk their kids about this stuff.

Tyler: All you really have to do is keep your eyes open. If you're a parent who has communication with your kids, there's no way in hell that they'll be strung out on drugs and you won't know it. The most important thing is just to talk to your kids. I tell my kids that I can't stop them from going out and fucking people and smoking pot and doing cocaine any other things, but I love them. I tell them, 'Call me. Call me when this happens!'

Have any of your kids actually called you when the temptation to indulge in drugs became too overwhelming?

Tyler: Yes, positively.

How did you handle it? Did you go and get them?

Tyler: No. I just asked them, 'What did you do?'

Do you try and talk them out of it?

Tyler: If your kid doesn't want to smoke pot, he won't. If you tell them not to smoke pot, then they're going to smoke pot. That's the difference between our generation and this one now. You can't order your kids not to do it. That's the reason we got to the moon. That's the reason we developed the Salk vaccine. When you tell a human being you can't do something, then they want to do it even more. You tell your kid not to do something and the kid will say, 'Why? Because you said so?' They're most likely going to find out on their own. I just tell my kids, 'You have an addictive nature, and it eventually is going to get you. So, tell me when you do this stuff. Let me know what's going on in your life.'

There's going to come a time when I step aside and say, 'It's not my turn anymore.' That's beautiful because it's been my turn for 25 years now. Who am I kidding? I'll probably keep my turn until I drop dead on stage.

Any of your kids want to follow in daddy's footsteps and be a musician or a singer in a band?

Tyler: Liv wants to sing. That's the most important thing that she wants to do.

More than modelling?

Tyler: More than modelling.

Are you going to work with her on her recording project?

Tyler: Oh, I don't know. Right now, I don't even have time to pick my nose. I also have a one-year-old son named Taj and a four-year-old daughter named Chelsea. So, I've got kids coming out of the wazoo.

I'll bet your kids give you a real barometer for life?

Tyler: You know what? It shows me that there's another side of life other than music. And I love it. I call it 'quality time,' being able to go outside and pick bugs off the leaves with my kids. I want to turn them onto the shit I learned. And I want to do things with them. I want to be there the first time they go horseback riding. I want to take them water skiing. I want to fucking take my son snorkeling and I want to show my daughter how to — I just want to be there. I love that shit!

With your one-year-old, Taj, were you there when he first walked?

Tyler: He just walked yesterday for the first time. And thank God I was here.

Tell me how that felt, Papa Tyler.

Tyler: (Laughs) It was so cool.

I like that name for you — Papa Tyler.

Tyler: It made me cry.

No way. You?

Tyler: Yep, it made me cry. Steve Tyler can cry.

That's very nice, Steve. It sounds like you have a great family. Congratulations. Let's talk about a new subject — the album. Brad Whitford said to me that this was the hardest album you've ever had to make. Is that true?

Tyler: Yeah.

Why? What made it so difficult?

Tyler: I'm so critical of myself that I felt that the shit was never good enough. In the past, I've written songs and I didn't complete the lyrics. Songs are like wine — you can drink it if you just want to get a buzz. If you're really into it, and you want to get all that the wine can be, then you've got to pick the year, know your taste, and let the fucking thing breathe for an hour before you drink it. Let's get real. That's what life's all about. It's like fucking. The older you get, if you're really horny, you just jerk-off. Or just want to come real quick. But when you learn how to play it right, and you get into foreplay, you work yourself up to a lather.

Enjoy it. Savor it.

Tyler: Do it right. With most albums in the past, I wasn't ready. For this album, we wrote a shitload of songs. In January, February and March we had the first batch of songs and we listened to them, and part of me loved them and another part of me said, 'They weren't ready.'

Brad told me that the group went through a major writer's block, and to get the band out of that, you brought in outside writers. Desmond Childs being one of them. Did that help?

Tyler: No, that never happened. That's wrong. I never had a writer's block. I just didn't write any songs for about two years after I first got sober. I did, but they didn't amount to nothing.

I'm talking about for this record.

Tyler: For this record, Joe and I wrote for three months and completed a shitload of good songs. And then I wrote a couple of songs with Desmond. And I wrote a couple of songs with Richie Supa. I wasn't coming from no writer's block. It was just something that I do now.

Do you like writing with other people?

Tyler: In 1976, I wrote a song with Richie Supa, and it was fucking great. Which doesn't mean that writing with Joe isn't great. It's just that I can sit and write with Joe for a year and not get any help on my lyrics. And I love it because I have so much fun writing with Joe. But the lyric part is left up to me, and sometimes that's a bitch. Anything to make it easier for me. Find somebody that's from the same ilk as me and we can bounce shit off each other and come up with some great tunes and write lyrics and have fun doing it, too. I just don't like the process to be such a bitch. So, I wrote with Richie Supa, and we came up with 'Amazing.'

I love the Desmond Child collaboration for 'Crazy.' I think that could be a big radio song. It's a tribute to the blues.

Tyler: Yeah.

You're making all this money, what are you spending it on? What kinds of things are you buying?

Tyler: You know, we haven't worked in two years so I'm about flat broke already. The things I do buy are smart things. I've got two houses. I've got some property. I've got some shit that if I wanted to turn around and sell tomorrow, I could sell it and make millions. Six years ago, I was spending $20 a day in New York City for a bag of heroin. I was down to zip. I blew it all.

Do you have people managing your money?

Tyler: Exactly. We all have a money manager. I buy things like a Super 7, a red Lotus. It's the coolest looking car. Joe Perry bought a black one and I bought a red one.

What about the first time you made a lot of money? Did you go a bit crazy?

Tyler: (Laughs.) Oh, yeah. But the first thing we did when we got the first check from Columbia, the whole band was living together, we went out and bought groceries. Up until the week before that, who had money? We would go to Ken's Pub and have a salad if somebody had $3. Otherwise, it was all spent on Boone's Farm, pot, and speed. I would go into supermarkets and steal steak and stick it down my pants like Divine did in Pink Flamingos. And by the time I got home, it was well-cooked. (Laughs) Medium rare. But, anyway, we were talking about the album. There were a lot of reasons why this album was so hard to do. My house burnt down a year ago. My son was born in January last year. Then in March, when we thought what we had was good enough, we went away and wrote again. And Joe and I wrote a couple of great songs. Then, we finally decided to have some fun. June, July, August — it was summertime and we'd go down to Joe's basement and we would just jam. That's when we had a fucking blast. It's always been one of my wishes, even when I was using, to write a song with Keith Richards, or to write a song with Little Richard, or Paul McCartney for that matter. When I was getting high, that kind of stuff was unheard of. These people didn't think I was cool enough. I'll never meet them. Now, in reality, these fucking people would love it! I mean, what does it take? It can all be done in a fucking afternoon in four hours. I was too busy back then, spending $600 on a quarter ounce of coke. I would go away with somebody and we'd snort blow all night, and the next day, I wouldn't even remember what their name was. Now, I meet with these people that I look up to, and it's all possible now.

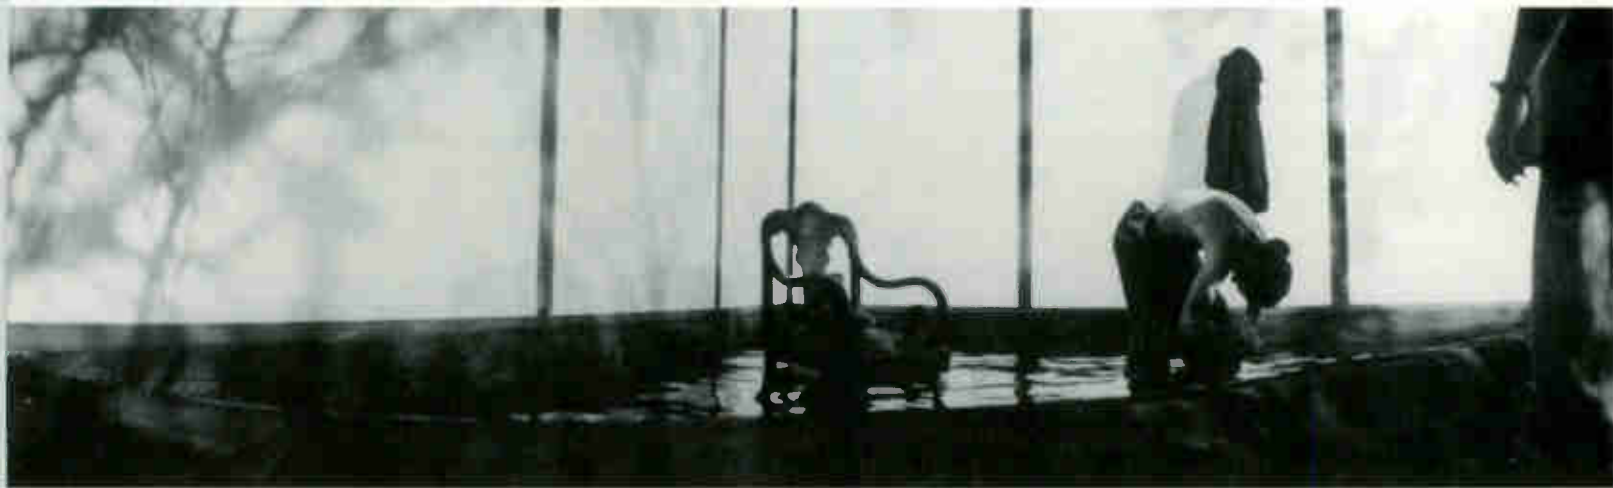

Have you talked to Keith about writing with him?

Tyler: No, but the next time I'll see him will be in about a month, and I'm going to talk to him about it. What I'm saying is that these are the guys that I've always wanted to sit down and spend some time writing with. It's funny that you say that Brad said that we had a writing slump. What happened, when I was doing Permanent Vacation I told our A&R man that it's really a bitch for me to sit down and write lyrics. It's really hard work. It's not fun. When I first rubbed noses with Jim Vallance, I told him that and you know what he said? He said, 'Steven, if it was fun and if it was easy, everybody would be doing it.' So, I just never put it together to write with other people. Let's be real here. McCartney and Lennon wrote the best fucking lyrics together as a team. I've written some of my best lyrics together with Joe Perry, Richie Supa and Mark Hudson. And what I've come to find out is that in my young age and in my sobriety, we've got so many fucking songs in the can that we're just sitting on.

You're going to be 47-years-old in 1995, when your contract with Sony begins. From your perspective, the future couldn't be brighter. But isn't Sony taking a gamble?

Tyler: Let's face it, there are always going to be a younger, newer kids. And there's going to come a time when I step aside and say, 'It's not my turn anymore.' That's beautiful because it's been my turn for 25 years now. Who am I kidding? I'll probably keep my turn until I drop dead on stage. Now, wouldn't that be a great way to go out!

WYNF & RON AND RON AGREE TO DISAGREE

We never thought we'd be covering this story — the long running radio romance between WYNF and their mighty Ron and Ron morning team has hit the skids. WYNF PD Steve Downes calls in this official announcement: "After months of negotiating and effort on our and their parts, we have tried persistently to negotiate their deal — and we were unable to. We have ended negotiations and their employment at the station officially on Monday the 29th. We just weren't able to put it together." How'd ya like to have to fill those shoes, eh fellow PDs? "We're looking at all options, and there are obviously a number of different ways to go, from syndication to local talent to taking somebody from another market. Our feeling about their performance was never an issue. They did tremendously down here, but there is only so much we can do and we had reached the end of our available resources. We do have a one year non-compete in the Tampa market, which we intend to enforce. We feel confident that we have turned the rest of the station around. Now, it's up to us to rebuild the morning show and get that to where we want it to be." First a moment of silence... Now, some equal time from Tampa businessman Ross Reback, who first met the Rons as a sponsor of their show and is now their agent. We first asked Ross about the oft repeated rumor that Mel Karmazin and Infinity could factor mightily into the duo's impending announcement. "Yes, we have met with Mel and he's a great guy. We hope to work with him at some time in the future." Hmmm. Wonder what he means by that? Then, there's the notion that this show is so localized it might be a bit of an odd fit nationally or even regionally. Ross responds, "Their track record of success in Tampa speaks for itself over the last five or six years, and the advent of them taking on Orlando and the meteoric ratings rise they've had there also tells the story. I don't believe that people in Orlando are that much different from people in New Jersey or Ohio or California. What the audience finds to be entertaining anywhere will work everywhere." Was a salary impasse the deal breaker? "The reason we weren't able to work things out wasn't a money issue at all. It was really a question of creative freedom and expansion. We had designs on continuing the momentum by adding on other stations in other markets and creating a true network, and our agenda and that of CBS didn't make for a meeting of the minds. We had actually come to terms on the basics of a station agreement with WYNF months ago. These negotiations have been going on about six months, and within the first couple, had agreed on how much WYNF would pay them for the show to be heard on the station. Then, we had discussions regarding the percentage of network revenues that CBS and we would receive, how the network would be operated, and who would be responsible for what. That's where we got stuck in the mud, not money issues at all. Ron and Ron really want to try to achieve their own personal career objectives, and we ultimately had to question whether CBS was the right place to do that or not. I feel that a metamorphosis has taken place with the advent of syndicated shows. We're really looking at a situation where the face of radio is changing before our eyes. A few years from now, there could well be only three or four top morning shows for the whole country, for both large and small markets. That could be a big win for everybody. Certainly, there are listeners in smaller cities like Ft. Meyers or Wilkes-Barre, where stations aren't able to go outside the market and get a top team like ours to work in that city. Syndication affords the listeners in those areas a chance to hear top talent." Given the fact that the deal is off, does Ross assume competing in that arena doesn't factor into CBS' agenda? "The track record of both of the companies you have mentioned speaks for itself. Ron and Ron certainly enjoyed their stay there and had a great ride. I don't think WYNF or CBS would think badly of them to exercise their right and privilege to explore other options, especially, in terms of the ratings and revenue they delivered for the station."

ANOTHER ROMP THROUGH THE TRENDS

Albany: Whoa! Mason and Sheehan 7.5-8.0. Howard 6.8-5.9! When Howard signed on WQBK had a 6.2 12+, and they now have a 4.3. As Ed Levine says, "We're already the first station to beat him. Now, we're going to be the first station to drive him out of town." Guess that's why ABC/Cap Cities had Ed in to address their managers' meeting last week in Dallas, eh?

Miami was basically business as usual, but Bill Pugh got a nice bump at WSHE, 3.3-3.6, with WZTA up a tidge 2.8-2.9, and Urban increasing nicely 6.9-7.5.

In Milwaukee, Classic Rocker WKLH dips 6.4-6.0, ditto WLZR 6.2-5.9, with WQFM under that dreaded 5 share line.

Kansas City's KQRC holds 5.5-5.4, as Doug Sorenson and his scientists figure out how to take the station to the next level. KYYS is off slightly 5.5-5.2, and KCFX 4.4-4.1.

WRQI/Rochester asks the question, "You can't fall off the floor. Or can you?" Howard in the morning couldn't help their limp 2.4-2.3, as WCMF maintains 13.2-13.1.

Hey, WTUE/Dayton: With WAZU trending 4.9-5.4, don't you think it's a smart time for them to go Classic? Especially in light of 'TUE's 7.2-7.6 showing?

Evergreen's got to have a smile on their face going into Houston with KLOL's 4.5-4.8. The Classic Rocker WZFX also gains 4.5-4.8.

If Brian Krysz's gamble on Stern was a smart one, we ought to start seeing something sometime soon. Not this month, though: KEGE goes 3.0-2.9, with Howard dipping 5.5-5.0. It does sound like the station's rocking somewhat harder lately, or so we're told. Wonder how new Top 40 KISX will affect the Eagle? They gained 1.8-2.8.

Minneapolis is a case study in "Why can't we all just get along," with KQRS steady at a 7.8 and #2 25-54, KRXX 5.8-6.0, and Cities showing 5.6-5.2.

One consultant we talked with exclaimed, "How the hell is ZRock with a marginal signal getting a 2.5 share in Detroit? Somebody must be missing something." Otherwise, WRIF motors 2.7-3.0, WLLZ was 3.7-3.5, and WCSX slips 3.2-2.9.

The status quo prevailed in St. Louis, with KSHE steady at an 8.5, and KSD up slightly 5.1-5.5. Let's see what kind of impact Ken Anthony's WFXB/KPNT double whack pack has next month.

Tampa was another "calm before the storm" scenario, with Ron and Ron gone from WYNF. Their last rated period with the CBS O&O had the station up 4.7-5.2, with WXTB 5.3-5.4.

Cincinnati Country radio was strong, with WUBE popping 8.9-10.1. That could have cost WEBN, who went 6.2-5.7. ClassicWOFX wobbled a bit, too, 5.8-4.9.

On the other hand, KRXX in OK City remains one of the few Classic Rock stations without Stern beating the heritage AOR in the market. They maintained 7.1-7.1, over KATT's 6.1-5.7.

As you might expect in a market with too many rock signals, Phoenix was pretty nutty. It's going to get more so when ARB gets an accurate read on Jacobs' KEDJ, which was Classical for six of twelve weeks. They trend 1.5-1.5, but we understand their 18-34s are up .3-1.2-2.5, with corresponding TSL growth from 2 hours, to six hours, thirty minutes, to nine hours. Watch out. KUPD was 5.1-4.3, KDKB 4.5-4.5, Classic KSLX 3.5-3.3, KZON 2.7-2.5, and Top 40 KOY 2.6-2.2.

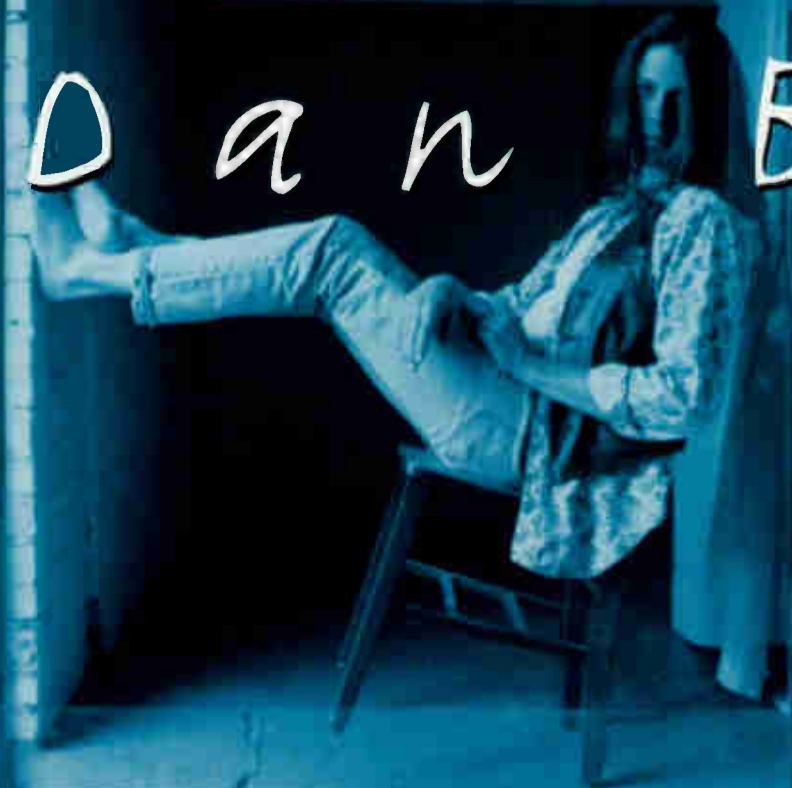

A megashowing for Judy McNutt and KRXX in Sacramento. Her stations powers up 5.1-6.2, against KSEG's 4.4-4.1.

Norfolk rock radio listeners obviously heard Harvey was coming to town. The guy walks in the door and WNOR notches up a 6.4-7.1 month. WAFX was steady at 3.9.

WKLS/Atlanta awaits the Greaseman's impact at Z93, what with their 4.7-4.3 showing against Classic WZGC 4.9-4.9. Alt-leaning CHR 99X was also steady at a 4.0, with just named PD Brian Phillips, formerly at the Eagle in Philly, expected to lean that station in a significantly more pop direction.

WRFX/Charlotte drops off a huge November, resulting in a 9.3-7.9 wobble. WEGR/Memphis always does well, with an 8.5-8.4 readout this month, ditto WKDF/Nashville and their 5.1-5.8 (against Classic WGFY 5.0-4.5), with KISS/San Antonio bullish at 4.2-5.0.

BASS SEASON IN CHARLOTTESVILLE!

It's not quite official yet, but WPLR's MD of the past almost five years is making tracks back to his native South and WWWV. Tom Bass is from North Carolina, and he notes, "Moving to Charlottesville cuts about half the distance to my home. I do like the South, and Charlottesville is a beautiful city. I'm real impressed with the station, and GM Brad Eure is an interesting guy — very forthright, very clear on where the station is going. I'm also excited about working with Tom Evans, who I have known for a long time. It's a good sounding station with a solid staff and no problems." Yep, that's as good as it gets. This is Tom's last week at WPLR, and he's set to start at 3WV the Wednesday after Easter. As of this writing, the WPLR job's wide open, though it may be filled from inside.

WW1 SELLS 100.3 TO VIACOM

Westwood One announced it has signed a definitive agreement with Viacom International to sell the assets of KQLZ for $40,000,000 in cash. Additionally, WW1 will retain the station's working capital and ownership of the building. Norman Pattiz, Chairman and CEO, commented, "This sale, plus the previously announced $50,000,000 sale of WYNY-FM, NY, represents a significant step forward in reducing debt and improving the company's capital structure. While the sale of the two FM stations, when completed, will reduce the company's revenues, based on 1992 results, by approximately 16%, it will eliminate over 50% of the company's debt and should reduce total annual interest expense by nearly 60%. Just as importantly, it allows management to focus on our core network radio businesses and our goal of returning the company to profitability. We're particularly pleased that the new owner will be Viacom. Our relationship, both at the radio station level and with other divisions of the company, is long-standing. We look forward to working together even more closely in the future."

WAZU FLIPS FOR CLASSIC

This one's been residing in rumor central for weeks, but on 3/25, it was official — WAZU/Dayton flipped formats from COR to Classic, the result of its LMA with crosstown CHR WGTZ. PD Brad Hardin and GM/VP Pat Rosiello previously exited the station, victims of the purchase by Great Trails Broadcasting from Osborne Communications in late February. We caught up with MD Sterling, who was spinning the Classics during his nightshift, to get his analysis of the format change: "Basically, it was a situation where the station wasn't making money, for one reason or another. This is a dollars game. It's a business. We didn't want to see the station change formats, but it's completely understandable." Louis Kaplan will handle programming for WAZU, in addition to programming WGTZ and WING, also owned by Great Trails. WAZU's format change, of course, leaves WTUE the only AOR in town.

CRITERION FINALIZES KTYD TAKEOVER

Doug Ingold

Criterion Media Group has taken over heritage AOR KTYD/Santa Barbara as of Wednesday (3/31). The principals in Criterion are Wayne Perry (also VP of McCaw Cellular Communications in Seattle), his brother, David Perry, who will serve as VP/GM/PD of the station, and Jim McKeon of 3M Marketing. PD Doug Ingold, MD Brice Kendall and GSM Julie Seldel have exited the station. "When we took over the station, there were people that we did not retain," stated David Perry, "Unfortunately, those included some very talented people.

Brice and Doug were among them. I certainly wish them well. If anybody is looking for some very dedicated people, they should definitely contact them. Their leaving the station was just due to a set of unfortunate circumstances that were the result of the ownership change. They turned out to be in the right place at the wrong time." Doug can be reached at (805) 498-0407, and Brice at (805) 685-9357. So, do all of these ch-ch-changes indicate a format flip for the heritage rocker? "No way," said David. "Why would anyone change the #1 station in Santa Barbara? This has been a heritage station for over 20 years. It was more than a privilege to acquire this property, it was a necessity. I've seen too many heritage stations around the country go under. We're dedicated to keeping AOR in Santa Barbara. This is the leader in the market. We're going to make it even better." Former KFMU/Colorado Springs APD Paul Cavanagh was been tapped for music duties, and National Sales Manager Sandy Lipowski has been promoted to GSM by the new owners.

A WISE MOVE FOR MJI

Bill Wise

Industry veteran Bill Wise has joined syndicator MJI Broadcasting as VP/Programming. MJI President and founder Joshua Feigenbaum commented, "With radio formats being so complex and the business so competitive, it is crucial that we develop and produce radio programming that evolves in tandem with the stations themselves. With Bill Wise, who guided WYAY/WYAI to its largest ratings increase from #8 to #3, and programmed WKLS/Atlanta to number 1 ratings status for three books in a row, we know we have a proven winner — who knows radio inside and out." Wise added, "After working at local radio for 20 years, I look forward to the challenge of creating national programming at MJI. I've known Josh and the people at MJI for nearly a decade, and I welcome the chance to work with such a quality organization." Prior to Wise's three years at the country's first LMA stations, WYAY/WYAI, he managed at AOR stations WGTR-FM/Miami, WKLS/Atlanta and WFBQ-FM/Indianapolis. Also joining the MJI staff is former KPRR-FM VP/GM Mark Leopold, who will assume the position of Director of Affiliate Relations.

ROMANO ROMANCES MCDOWELL

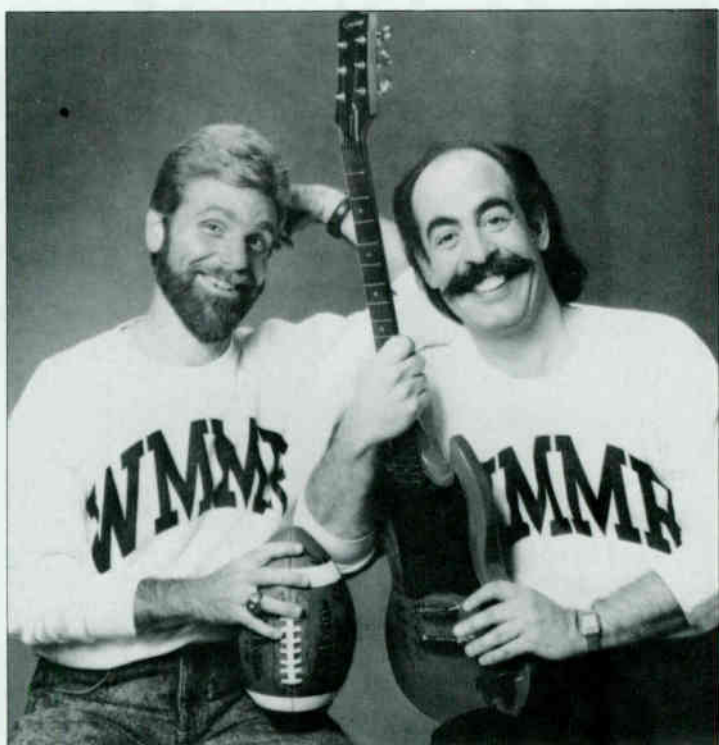

WDVE announces a rare staff addition and shift shakeup at the Pittsburgh powerhouse. Gene Romano steals Sean McDowell from WRRK/WMYK for DVE's 3-8pm slot. Longtime afternoon drive jock Herschell moves to 8 til midnight, with Jack Maloy (no relation to Mitch) moving back to Midnight til 5:30.

PLAY BALL!

The annual TJ Martell Celebrity Softball game is soon approaching. On Sunday, May 23, the Rockers and Rollers, featuring members of Pearl Jam, Slaughter, Slayer, Smitherens, NWA, Enuff Z Nuff, Danzig, Bad 4 Good, C&C Music Factory and more will converge in Long Beach, Calif., to compete in this very important and media-heavy charity event. There are still some team slots to fill, so anyone interested in participating, please contact Suzan Crane at (213) 874-5943 ASAP.

WMMR SHIFT SHUFFLE

Here's the eleventh hour lowdown on the much discussed changes at WMMR. Expected to be finalized on air by Easter Monday: John DeBella moves to afternoons, Bubba John Stevens moves from afternoons to middays, Pierre Robert moves from midday to mornings, Gonzo Greg remains on nights, and no word yet on the status of DeBella's current cohost Howard Eskin. We understand that at least a couple of contracts are up in October, so anticipate that this will be the lineup until that time.

Bill & Amy & Jim & Lisa's Excellent Adventure To Burn The Midnight Oil

Jim Moginie Martin Rotsey Peter Garrett Rob Hirst "Bones Hillman"

After the 90 mile drive from Medford Lakes to NYC, Bwana Bill, Lisa "Triple A" Riegel, Jim "Hey, That's My Seat" Crowe, and myself fought city traffic for 25 minutes, greased the parking attendant and were on our way for a night on the town with Columbia. Ms. Riegel headed for the Burrito Bar and a virtual Alternative fiesta hosted by Todd Bisson that was straight out of a Wall of Voodoo video, as the rest of us crossed the street to Barocco where we met the lovely and talented Jenni and Cathy (Columbia), ate, drank and made merry while cautiously sipping Kid Leo's Grappa (by the shot) with a steady hand. (The grogginess came later.)

After dinner, we sauntered down to the venue (some following photographer Phin, others romping behind Rossi and Rose, and still others shadowing programming greats like Greg Stevens, Patty Martin and Bob Walton. Arriving at the venue, we took our places inside.

If you've ever been one of hundreds, stuffed in a club sized for far less, shedding clothes in a 99 degree room, getting the aerobic work out of your life (though you may not have moved), belting out Midnight Oil songs with zest, following every move by Peter and the band till you were blue in the face (and loving it)...you know what it was like at the Wetlands Reserve from 8:00 on last Saturday night (3/27).

It was the long awaited Columbia release party for "Truganini" from the new album Earth And Sun And Moon, and Hudson Street was hoppin'! If you've followed their truly amazing career (including Diesel & Dust; an album of mammoth proportion), MTV stardom and endless, massive, sold out live shows, you know that Midnight Oil (Peter in particular) is famous for unequaled animation and spastic energy on stage. Much of the top Columbia and radio brass (as well as the public) packed themselves into the club like sardines in hopes of getting a good spot in the oddly fashioned bar. The L-shaped room must have been a bear for the sound engineer, but the music sounded fantastic, powerful and exciting. The new material was performed with grace, confidence and superb talent. It seemed unusual to see such an ultra active band like Oil in a tiny New York bar, but the result was an intimate, interactive show that captured the entire audience enthusiastically from beginning to end.

After the encore and each member of the crowd sweating off 2 pounds of water weight, shirt sleeves and collars bearing a Truganini sticker were escorted to the basement where the after show meet and greet raved on. The '70s vibe (with couches and pillows galore) proved to be a success as smiling industry folk transformed into humble fans, congratulating Midnight Oil members on a job well-done. All in all the evening was a smashing thumbs up! The ride home was just as quiet as the ride up...but this time we were just stupidly happy and exhausted! Thanks for the hospitality everyone. (P.S. "Truganini" was unbelievable.)

Letter To The Editor

To: Bill Hard
From: Don Yates/KCMU Program Director

It was quite a surprise to see KCMU mentioned in John Loscalzo's "Blah Blah Blah" column, since Mr. Loscalzo never contacted the radio station before repeating CURSE propoganda. (CURSE is an organization founded by former KCMU volunteers that is fighting recent programming changes, with the lightning rod for their opposition being the addition of the World Cafe).

Loscalzo writes that several indie and major labels have stopped servicing KCMU, and while a couple of them have, CURSE has alleged a number of others are also not servicing the station, including RCA, Mammoth and Hightone. This is untrue, and typical of CURSE's strategy of ignoring facts if they get in the way of good propoganda.

Loscalzo also mentions that Ween performed a benefit for CURSE, but according to a University Of Washington Daily story that ran before the concert, Ween had no idea they were doing a benefit and also added they had no opinion about CURSE and KCMU. So much for their support.

As for the alleged continuation of the debate over our programming changes, it is indeed over, and sooner or later the Sandbox Radio crowd will recognize that reality and perhaps find a more constructive outlet for their energies.

One of the major fallacies of Sandbox Radio is that station volunteers are somehow representative of the community and can best determine the community's listening needs. Instead of providing a refreshing cultural alternative to commercial radio, Sandbox Radio is more often a self-indulgent, haphazard listening nightmare that speaks only to itself.

Sandbox Radio advocates prattle on about "democracy", but instead of truly serving a listening constituency, they are more prone to heap scorn upon them. Sandbox Radio functions as an insular autocracy that provides entertainment for itself (the cooler-than-thou musical in-crowd), while shutting out those who haven't heard of the Legendary Pink Dots.

KCMU is committed to providing our community with a wide variety of smart, high-quality music and we can best do that by paying attention to the listening habits of our listeners and our market through audience research, instead of assuming the We-Know-What's-Best-For-You attitude of Sandbox Radio. We are happy that our programming is no longer held hostage by a privileged few, and we are proud to join stations like WXPB and KCRW who are committed to serving the listening community.

RADIO RUMBLE

🎸 In continued celebration of their 25th Anniversary WMMS 100.7 gave their listeners a free concert with Queen's Brian May on March 2 at the Agora Theater in Cleveland. May took advantage of a break in the Guns N'Roses tour and almost took the house down with an impressive 13-song performance. The guitarist played material from his solo release, Back To The Light, including "Driven By You" and a few Queen songs thrown in for good measure. Before the show, Brian took time to visit on the air at the home of the Buzzard.

🎸 WDIZ/Orlando was the sight of over 15,000 crazed spring breakers who stormed the Texan Hotel in Daytona Beach for 'DIZ's live Ron And Ron gig! Thousands of people jammed the hotel's inner lobby and pool deck. Thousands more covered the beachside as Ron And Ron performed live. It was such an enormous crowd, the Fire Marshall stopped admitting people an hour before the show. Live bands included: Stranger, the 15-year-old Derek Trucks, Rembrandts, dada, Ace Frehley and a surprise appearance by former Guns N'Roses guitarist Izzy Stradlin. Bikini contests, a boxing match and an aerial stunt also rounded out the live gig.

WIOT/Toledo bore witness to the debut of WIOT's new morning show Karlson & McKenzie this week! The duo of Kevin Karlson and Pete McKenzie happily landed back in their home state of Ohio after 8 years away. Their morning radio route covered markets of New London, Connecticut, Columbia, South Carolina, and, most recently, Tulsa, Oklahoma, where they spent the last 4 years at KAYI. Program Director Lyn Casey said, "We're thrilled to have found two such inspired, talented personalities for rock n'roll wake up call. It looks like the start of something very big!

ZROCK/Dallas aired a Coverdale/Page weekend including 4 hours of Led Zeppelin, Whitesnake, and C/P -- of course they gave away tons of C/P product. The super rocker will also be celebrating "Guitar Month" by giving away 8 guitars including a Gibson, Fender, Yamaha, Alvarez, and much more. They are qualifying listeners with their "Dog Tags" (200,000 tags on the street to date). In other news, overnight rocker "Wipeout" will be taking a group of listeners to see Alice In Chains and Circus Of Power in Kansas City on April 17th.

WZZO/Allentown rocked The Zodiac Club in Allentown, Penna., the site for another grizzly WZZO promotion involving the public humiliation of their listeners. It was the Bearman & Keith's Crowe's Egg Hunt last Friday (3/26). The Black Crowes came to the area on March 30 and in order to win tickets to the nearly sold-out show, listeners had to show up for the weekly WZZO Happy Hours Friday at Zodiac, and hunt around in the sand volleyball court for a buried chocolate Easter egg. When they found one, they returned inside the club and exchanged the chocolate egg for a real egg. The real eggs were injected with food dye and the contestant had to break the egg against his forehead to see what came out. According to the color of the egg on his face, he or she won either tickets to the show, a CD, a cassette or a Black Crowes video. A grand prize winner (the egg with nothing inside) picked up a CD player, a CD, tickets to the show and a video. Just goes to show ya, if you liquor them up enough, make the promotion stupid enough, and have a decent prize, listeners will humiliate themselves every chance they get. We love it!

KLBJ/Austin is celebrating its 20th year as Austin's Rock throughout 1993. April 1st, KLBJ-FM turned the clock back and is presenting authentic radio as it was in 1973. The disc jockeys talked about events as they were happening in 1973 in Austin and around the world. Even the music was from 1973 and older.

WZZQ/Terre Haute Music Director and afternoon drive personality Danny Wayne will wed Cathy Ellis, the Division Director of the Wabash Valley chapter of the March Of Dimes. Danny and Cathy chose to share this special event with as many friends as possible by having a public wedding at the opening ceremonies of the March Of Dimes WalkAmerica '93. WZZQ is inviting listeners to participate in WalkAmerica '93 and win a special prize package for walking with the WZZQ team. The wedding ceremony will also be broadcast live on WZZQ. In lieu of gifts, Danny and Cathy request that donations be sent to the organizations: March Of Dimes Birth Defects Foundation, 1400 E. Pugh Dr., Suite 5, Terre Haute, IN 47807 or Sight Loss Support Group Of Terre Haute, P.O. Box 106, Terre Haute, IN 47807.

KSHE/St Louis' Rock & Roll morning show broadcasted live to raise baby items for the needy of St. Louis. Why you ask? KSHE's morning show producer, Lauren Ryan is pregnant and expecting in April. During her pregnancy, the guys have been teasing her about her clothes and ever-expanding belly so, Carl-The-Intern was chosen to sport an empathy belly which gives him the feeling of being pregnant by adding 35 pounds to his weight. The belly restricts his breathing and puts pressure on his bladder. Someone get the Depends!!!!

RADIO RUMBLE

Extreme recently did a blistering show at The Sundrome in Tampa. Here we see 'YNF Asst Promo dude, Zoltan Koppany, hangin' with the band after the show.

95X morning guys Dave Coombs and Steve Corlett (along with Big Show producer Mike Kramer) pose outside the WAQX studios with evidence of the record 43 inches of snow that fell on Syracuse during the Blizzard of '93.

WLUP AM 1000's Kevin Matthews and comedian Damon Wayans get ready to share a fabulous fruit salad.

WNOR/Norfolk night stalker Couzin Ed hangs backstage at the Boathouse with Jackyl's Jesse James Dupree.

KRQR rocks at the Bay Area Music Awards. KRQR's News and Public Affairs Director Liz Saint John was joined by Bammie Winner Chuck Billy from Testament following the 16th Annual Awards ceremony.

98ROCK morning dude Sea Bass never thought he'd see the day when HE would have more hair than Jon Bon Jovi. Well, here's the comparison shot. See for yourself.

WHCN was recently visited by Warren Haynes who jammed a set from his brand new solo release and chowed with the Big Guys of morning radio. From left to right, Picozzi, Haynes and The Horn.

WFAN morning man Don Imus shows Atlantic rep Steve Ellis there is more than one way to "Detach A Penis" (for King Missile's "Detachable Penis").

Artist Profile

By Mike Cooper

NO BEAT SURRENDER

For the past few years, Special Beat have carried on a tradition of ska and pop music that began in the late 1970s with the 2-Tone movement. Mike Cooper talks with the band.

Special Beat is continuing to mix ska and pop music with a nine-piece line-up that includes members of the English Beat, the Specials and the Fun Boy Three. Late last year, the band released a live album on London-based Receiver Records. "Out Of The Streets" was recorded in Coventry, England.

"It all started when I went to a ska festival at the Greek Theatre in California in 1989," Ranking Roger says. "I was digging the beat, and it inspired me. I called up some folks, and within a month, the band was formed."

"We got asked to do this festival in San Francisco," Roger explains. Dave Wakeling (former English Beat and General Public member) was invited too, and we did a few Beat numbers. I went back to England, rang Brad up and told him how good it was, and we decided then that it would be a good idea if we could do the same with the Specials and the Beat."

The current line-up of the band includes Neville Staples, formerly of the Specials and Fun Boy Three; Brad Bradbury, also of the Specials; Finni; Wayne Lothian; Anthony Harty; Sean Flowerdrew; Jason Votier; and Lynval Golding, former guitarist and vocalist for the Specials and Fun Boy Three.

Staples was a director of the 2-Tone label back in the late 1970s when the Specials existed, but the label collapsed two years later. "The Specials had their first single on 2-Tone," Golding says. "The Beat had their first single on 2-Tone. Madness had their first single and Selecter did as well."

The first Specials album was produced by Elvis Costello, and the band released two albums before Terry Hall, Golding and Staples formed the Fun Boy Three, who released two albums. The English Beat broke up in the early 1980s after releasing four albums. Dave Wakeling and Ranking Roger went on to form General Public.

"There has been no problem of clashing styles or egos in the merging of English Beat and the Specials, because we've always sung about the same kind of things — unemployment, racism, the issues," Roger says. "The bands were two sides of the same coin, I suppose. We have a new song called 'Rainy Days' that is about a lot of things we all used to sing about. It's about South Africa, the ozone layer. About people being aware of what's going on around them. It's an awareness song."

Roger says he continues to see a strong following for ska music. "My parents used to play it, and I used to listen to it growing up," he says. "Today it's probably bigger in America than in England. The popularity varies in different areas, but I've always found it popular in California and New York." That's why the band has now toured the U.S. four times, after originally only planning a one-off tour.

Ranking Roger says the theme of racial harmony in Special Beat's music is something that's needed these days. "In the late seventies, England had lots of racism. The ska bands quashed that. The same messages and lyrics apply today."

Brad Bradbury agrees. "I think...particularly the Specials numbers in the set, have socio-political content. It's timeless. It's particularly relevant in Europe, although it's relevant in America as well, that we still have to fight against racism. I'm very aware of the content of what we're doing, although to a degree it is nostalgic, I couldn't deny it."

"It's a bit of a mess, especially in Germany and France," Bradbury says of the current racial situation in Europe. "There are a couple of neo-Nazi factions that are rebelling against the north African immigrant workers. They have no union rights. They're basically allowed to work there until they're no longer required, and then they're sent home. A lot of neo-Nazis burned down a hostel that these people lived in. A lot of people were killed, women and children."

Roger adds that he doesn't like the misogynistic "slackness" of current reggae and raggamuffin artists. "It's too much about fighting, degrading women, guns, going after someone," he says. "I prefer the early roots reggae of the '70s and '80s. Things with a positive message."

"Rap's had a good run for its money," Roger continues. "But it's reaching a point where rap and ska could merge. Ragamuffin toasting is getting closer to rap all the time. I think in England some people tried to do house ska. It sort of worked, but the only problem was, there wasn't enough singing. If there had been more singing, it would have gone straight to the top of the charts. But now I think there is room over here for ska and rap to merge."

"I still think that we're going to have a toaster go gold and platinum pretty soon," says Roger, a native of Birmingham, England, with West Indian heritage. "It's 30 years overdue — since Prince Buster started years ago. Really, I think a lot of people like Prince Buster should do one big record, even if it's just the one."

"Prince Buster, they're a ska band," Golding explains. "They're the originators, you know. We just take a little bit of their music and put our own in it as well. They are the real ska music."

But is there room for ska to become more popular in the United States? "I think ska's been accepted, though I don't think it's the biggest thing since sliced bread," Roger says. "It needs a lot more record-company backing, which it has never gotten, really. I think it could be massive. It's still got all the potential. I mean, it's still pretty new in America."

"You see the thing is, in America, ska never really got big," Roger continues. "In England, it got massive. Everybody knew about ska. It was the biggest thing since the Beatles and all that business. And then it died out. In America, it never ever got massive. Now it's like at a college level, but it's not really top 40 music yet. So, therefore, it still has a full potential, if you can get the right combination of ska and whatever it is that makes people buy records, then it'll cross over."

It's not known when Special Beat might record a new album. Roger would like to do a solo record. "I have a lot of tunes that don't suit what Special Beat is doing now," Roger says. Lately Roger has been writing songs in Los Angeles with Wakeling, so the word on a new Special Beat album might best be summed up by the title of one of the English Beat's biggest hits — "Save It For Later."

Eleventh Dream Day, "El Moodio," Atlantic

Hey, have the members of Eleventh Dream Day done this job before? "The Raft" begins with the line "the same paragraph/over and over."

Sounds like one of our recurring nightmares. Actually, our job is a dream when records like El Moodio arrive. The third EDD album for Atlantic is easily their best since Beet introduced the Chicago band to a national audience a few years back. El Moodio unleashes a dense, blistering guitar storm, sweetened by the vocals of wife/husband team Janet Beveridge Bean and Rick Rizzo. Since the last album, Lived To Tell, guitarist Baird Figi left, and former roadie Matthew O'Bannon came on board in his place. Eleventh Dream Day share many similarities with Neil Young, Dream Syndicate and Matthew Sweet — welding punk/psychelia-inspired guitar arcs into songs that take the organic liberty of ending when they wish. Eleventh Dream Day still jam when the time is right. Opening track and first single "Makin' Like A Rug" poignantly lacerates with icy slices of searing guitar angling down in every measure. Producer Jim Rondinelli, as engineer on Matthew Sweet's Girlfriend, knows firsthand how to handle a song with the rare, fragile beauty of a wild field. El Moodio burns and tingles inside every time. Other prairie type freakouts: "After This Time Is Gone," "Motherland," "Bend Bridge" and "The Raft."

AUTOMATICS

New Order, "Regret," Owest/Warner Bros.

Order is arguably one of the most important bands on the alternative circuit, and its return is anything but an everyday occasion. The last album was 89's Technique, and in the period that followed, members took the time to pursue their own projects; bassist Peter Hook on Revenge, and lead singer Bernard (Albrecht) Sumner with Johnny Marr and Neil Tennant on the highly successful Electronic. Now the band has called off the hiatus and will doubtlessly prove its value to the musical community once again. "Regret" is the first single from the album Republic, and it's all and more of what we've come to expect from New Order. Stephen Hague is in the co-producer's chair again, and presides over the band's trademark shimmering guitar/synthesizers threads. Hook's percolating bass line and Sumner's sweetly sung chorus are but two elements that defy you to only play this one spin at a time. A handful of separate mixes are also available on the CD, which you should also lose no time in airing. A cinch for Top Added — duh!

The The, "Love Is Stronger Than Death," Epic

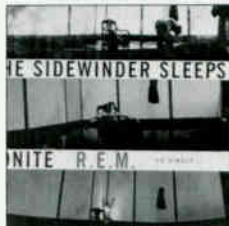

How many times can Cutting Edge types sit around and talk about what a genius Matt Johnson is? How long will it take before everybody (outside of us) gives this band the exposure it deserves? Our only consolation is the fact that some of those old hippies are dying off and watching their idea of radio whither away. Which could only mean one thing — WE'RE GONNA BE IN CONTROL!! It's only a matter of time. "Love Is Stronger Than Death" is another splash of brilliance from The The's Dusk and it's got the potential to crossover to every format imaginable. That means more folks sampling your station thanks to this incredible song. Johnny Marr adds a cool harmonica solo here and we can't help but marvel at what a great idea it is for him to be in this band. Marr's guitar is not the centerpiece of the band as it was in The Smiths, instead he's an integral part of the band and relegated to being a six string monkey to a poetic organ grinder. Stronger than genius, "Love Is Stronger Than Death" is a hit.

Sugar, "Beaster" EP, Rykodisc

Just about everybody digs Bob Mould's new band, and what could be better than a platter of new material? A massive tax rebate? Get in line. This beast of an EP (32 minutes worth) is a condensed version of what we know and love about Bob. There are pop songs ("JC Auto" and "Tilted"), dreamy trances ("Come Around" and "Walking Away") and blinding onslaughts of fury ("Judas Cradle"). Ryko has to date sold over two hundred thousand copies of the Copper Blue album, proof that indie labels can sell records by virtue of a quality artist and his devoted fans. Mould, Dave Barbe and Malcolm Travis have taken some time off from touring, and will return to the road this month to support. These six songs (which you might have already heard at a show) are from the album's recording sessions, and are not to be confused with throwaways or leftovers. "JC Auto" is the first emphasis, and its searing emotional dirge and unforgettable melody are hauntingly similar to "Wishing Well." "Feeling Better" actually has some canned horns, but you'll never confuse Sugar with Genesis.

R.E.M., "The Sidewinder Sleeps Tonite," Warner Bros.

If there's anything we can learn from the fact that John Paul Jones arranged this tune, it's that fossils can still be relevant if they really try. That, friends, is surely better than falling into the Rock and Roll tarpit and rehashing your glory days over and over again. Fantasy? Speculation? Hardly. Don't you read the trades? Along with "Ignoreland," "Sidewinder" was one of the tracks that caught our ear on the first listen of Automatic For The People. Among its other attributes, it's the album that will go down in history as the only body of work to inspire hundreds of thousands of flaky college students worldwide to make a pilgrimage to a small diner in Georgia for a chicken fried steak and mashed potatoes. "Hey, is this the place that Stipe named the album after," the clove cig smoking collegiate asked Weaver D. Talk about a traffic builder. The CD single also includes a cover of "The Lion Sleeps Tonight" the song that helped inspire "Sidewinder." What are you gonna do, not play R.E.M.?

Suede, "Suede," Nude/Columbia

We all know how much the British press loves to build up bands just to slap them right down after they've achieved a certain amount of success. So it's with a great deal of cynicism that us Yanks read NME, Melody Maker and all the other tea bag rags we get our hands on. Suede are one of the latest darlings of the Brit press and they're doing pretty well over there, too. You've already got their first domestic single, "Metal Mickey" on your desk right now, and on this long player you've got the chance to hear their current import single "Animal Nitrate." So what's the real deal on this band? If you haven't listened you're in for a surprise. If you have, you know this band has what a great philosopher once called "the goods." Sure, the flannel shirt crowd may feel just a little uncomfortable with this CD, but we think they'll come around in due time. Vocalist Brett Anderson and guitarist Bernard Butler are the songwriters in this five piece combo. Their songs transcend any sort of categorization, the mark of true originality (duh!). Listen for yourself, okay!? Smash.

Crash Vegas, "Stone," London/PLG

Time changes almost everything, as Crash Vegas knows. Their debut, Red Earth, came out nearly four years ago, and its reception was encouraging, but hardly earth-shaking. Jocelyne Lanois, sister of Daniel, is no longer with the band, but founding member Michelle McAdorey, along with Colin Cripps (ex-Spoons) and Ambrose Pottie (ex-Thin Men), continues to hold the reins. Blue Rodeo's Greg Keelor, an early member of and frequent contributor to the band, is still in the mix, having cowritten four songs here. Stone is a heavy handful of folk played with a deep ambient sheen — a la more modern John & Mary. McAdorey sings beautifully with a slightly husky quality, especially on "You & Me" and "September Morning." Check out cameos from Soul Asylum's Dave Pirner, who sings backup on a song of his covered here, "One Way Conversation"; and Daniel Lanois sessionist Bill Dillon and Faces keyboardist Ian McLagan also turn in lovely performances. A Gram Parsons' tribute "Nothing Ever Happened," which was mixed by Butch Vig, is quite striking.

King Missile, "(Why Are We) Trapped?"

Atlantic Now that the fervor over that "Penis" song has subsided, we can take some time to focus something else from Happy Hour. "(Why Are We) Trapped" is more of a genuine song, not that "Detachable" was chopped liver, by any stretch of the imagination. Hey, check out that fascinating full page King Missile article in the new Rolling Stone (the one with the gnarly photo of James Hetfield on the front cover). King Missile are rather gnarly themselves because they're doing the club tour thing of the entire continent (and the outlying islands, too), and are turning the kids out in droves. John S. Hall is at his philosophical best on "I'm Sorry," like listing the things he's never bought that start with the letter "L." The really cool thing about King Missile is that they're everyday dudes because they talk about food, sex and farting in church — the things that we all freak over. Not rainforests, boffo babes or political action committees. This CD single has a radio edit that trims a good minute and a half off the album version.

Ethyl Meatplow, "Happy Days Sweetheart,"

Dali/Chameleon Some folks may be familiar with this L.A. industrial power trio from L.A. from their tour with Nitzer Ebb or from their three indie singles. This album is quite a ride to say the least. It's got a brave and bold sound kind of like Shriekback on speed put through a blender. While your immediate attention will be directed towards their cover of the Carpenters' "Close To You," there are better and more provocative songs here.

"Devil's Johnson" is a groovin' tune about performing some kind of Faustian fellatio with a pseudo rap in the middle that reminded us of Sir Monte Rock III on acid. Club jocks will be treated to a 12" of "Queenie." You'll love the chorus and we wish it was FCC friendly. Let's just leave it at that. Happy Days Sweetheart is probably one of the few debut albums you'll listen to more than once. And you know that we know that you know that's a rare occasion these days. Kudos to band members Carla Bozulich, Biff Barefood Sanders and John Napier.

This Mortal Coil, "Song To The Siren," 4AD

This Mortal Coil is one of the few bands in existence that quoted Shakespeare with its name and did not embarrass themselves. This Mortal Coil is actually the brainchild of 4AD label-honcho Ivo Watts-Russell and producer supreme John Fryer. More than a mere calculated studio get together, This Mortal Coil was a revolving talent pool featuring some of the best loved names in the underground. This Mortal Coil: 1983-1991 is a boxed set that features all three of the band's albums, and includes a CD with the original versions of many of the songs covered (talk about a legal/red tape nightmare!). Some smart stations that got the advance sampler are adding the gorgeous "Song To A Siren" (which was the b-side of TMC's first single), written and recorded by the late singer/songwriter Tim Buckley, features Elizabeth Fraser and Robin Guthrie of the Cocteau Twins. Another track to check out would be "You And Your Sister," sung by then-Breeders-compatriots Kim Deal and Tanya Donnelly. This box is the latest supremely well-done job from 4AD, a label that designs the outside as thoughtfully as the inside.

700 Miles, "Seven Hundred Miles," RCA

This debut is already big on the college signals, and is positioned to move onto the right side of the dial, too. This New York-based trio first emerged a few months/weeks ago with an EP on the Shimmy Disc off-shoot Kokopop, and that they were signed to RCA almost immediately bodes extremely well for Kramer's vision of Kokopop as a development label. A ten inch single was the first RCA release from earlier in the month, and the full record, a bristling dosage of rock, is here. This album was recorded in Detroit, and it assumes some of the leaner and meaner aspects of that city — where the Nuge came from, and the "Rock City" that KISS immortalized. Justin Guip, John Carlin and Tom Clapp barrel through songs like they were pins at the end of a bowling lane. The action is swift, and you just might miss it if you're not paying enough attention. This album was produced by Louis Scalise, experienced in the ways of getting maximum sound for minimum overhead, and the energy at the end of the pipe. Check out "Marry Me," "Weighing Down" and "Cherish This."

THE HARD REPORT

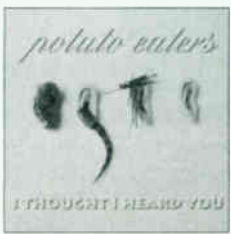

ATLANTIC ALTERNATIVE: The Atlantic Group © 1993 ATLANTIC RECORDING CORP. & THE WARNER COMPANY

One of the latest releases from Trance Syndicate is a compilation called Love & Napalm. Not for those the picky folks who like old hat concepts like melody and standard meter, these bands do their own deconstruction with the tools of their choice. This CD features all the best bands on the Austin, Texas, label, like

Pain Teens, Ed Hall, Drain, Cherubs and a new entry called Johnboy. Hit the nail squarely and sharply with Drain's "Skincrawl," Cherubs' "Spitwad," Crust's "Traveling With Berlitz" and both Pain Teens' cuts "Ituri" and a scumdelicious cover of "You Only Live Twice." Look for Bliss and the Teens to start a tour with Brutal Truth and the Boredoms in the next few weeks.... Gumball's latest album, Supertasty, has been out for a couple weeks, but mon dieu!, we've been so busy test spinning it that the review could only be done now. If "Accelerator" is dressed to the teeth in white go go boots, then "Here It Comes Again" is relaxing at home with the feet on the furniture. Nah, we're not thinking about feet too much. They're just the part of you that takes the abuse all day long, and they're stuffed into horribly designed, so-called fashionable duds that cost way too much. But they're keeping busy for now, tip-tapping all over the place with groovy tunes like "Real Gone Deal," "Black Paycheck" and "Here It Comes Again." "Marilyn" is the Monroe tribute that brings the mood and the lighting down. Butch Vig did the production honors in his Madison, Wisconsin, surroundings, and everything glows with some flecks of spitpolish and grunge — but, no, Gumball are not part of the NW scene, they're from NYC, lower East Side to be exact. Bowing to the same Sonics altar that Mudhoney pilgrim to, Gumball update an old sound with a fresh spark.... Mixing metaphors is nothing new to the Potato Eaters. The EP I Thought I Heard You is their most recent release (on Rastascan Records), and it shows the San Francisco band as eclectic as they've ever been. Their first self-titled album was a critical success, and was nominated for best indie rock album of the year (1990). The Potato Eaters' members come from diverse musical experience like

Johnny Paycheck, Tom Waits, Splatter Trio, Clubfoot Orchestra and the Residents. Songwriter/bandleader Bill Guy and Emily Bezar's singing are natural focal points, but this ensemble such offers a tremendous degree of variety that we almost don't want to use adjectives to describe their music — one area paper called them "beyond." The basic sound swerves from Roxy Music to the Cowboy Junkies and all points in between. Numerous other styles, such as jazz and Middle Eastern, are borrowed piecemeal for a style that is consistently changing from track to track. One track was produced by former Captain Beefheart associate Eric Drew Feldman (Pixies/Frank Black) and the others by John Cuniberti (Joe Satriani). These guys have got their Bay Area connections down! A full album is scheduled for later in the year, and the band will be on the road in the summer.... Miranda Sex

Garden's luscious vocal arrangements on the Suspiria album (on Mute). Formed by three women (Kelly McCusker, Donna McKeivitt, Katherine Blake) who met while recording vocals for another Mute project, Miranda Sex Garden have recently added two men to the lineup, Trevor Sharpe and Ben Golomstock, who handle the instrumental duties. Between the ladies' breathtaking singing and the dark, apocalyptic musical storm, Suspiria dazzles at every turn. Besides "Ardera Sempre," "Sunshine," and "Distance," make sure to listen to "In Heaven (Lady In The Radiator Song)" taken from Eraserhead.... Another wealth of gothic sounds seep from The God Machine's debut, Scenes From The Second Storey on Fiction/PLG. Picking up from about the same place where Perry Farrell left Jane's Addiction and Die Kreuzen imploded, God Machine opens the yawning chasm even more between punk and ambient madness. Spaces, both real and imagined, allow the sounds to bounce and engorge themselves. Between the band's musical precision and intuitive skills, there are some adept changes in pace and mood. At times a gentle breeze, at others a roaring gale force wind, let "She Said," "The Blind Man" and "Temptation" take their course. Watch this band.... Today's Active Lifestyles is the name of the new Polvo record type thing. Actually it's the second album lined up for even more it's-so-good-we're-goofy press reaction. Cor-Crane Secret from last summer helped earn the Chapel Hill/Raleigh area as hipper-than-Seattle. Now they've got their own mini-convention. Where does it all end? Call and bug Merge, maybe they'll tell you. Polvo are refreshing in that they torture the hell out of their guitars, making the most sublime, incongruous sounds come out of them. A bit of Sonic Youth, a pinch of Superchunk, a dash of Dinosaur Jr. — an irreverent combo that turns out to be highly addicting.... One of the best songs on a seven inch single we've heard all week has to be on the Toy Dolls' "Baby Who" mini platter. Recently, we heard a local (and unnamed) college DJ say that seven inches should never have a title, that you should just use the name of the A-side. Nice idea, sir, but considering that lots of these singles are being pressed up as mini albums almost with five, six tracks (or more!) that a proper title would be just fine. The first side of this aforementioned single has a quaint country stomp called "Kenny Rogers" which goes something like this, "And Kenny Rogers is singing on his headphones/it's a fine time to leave me Lucille/and now I'm coming home." Where most cuts go for the extremes of banality or bombast, this is rather quaint with Cheri Leone's early Bangles singing.... One of the latest releases on the Spanish Fly label (distributed by Twin/Tone and Restless), which was started by Lori Barbero from Babes In Toyland, is a single from Milk called Eggs Breaking, Thunder, Sneezes & Laughter. This is not the band that had an album on Link late last year. This Milk is from Minnesota, and their third single was produced by Mac, who's also done stuff with Helmet, Babes In Toyland and the Cows. Sometimes rambunctious like Sebadoh, sometimes spaced out like Voivod. A full album is scoped out for the Springtime.

TRACK ACTION

Goo Goo Dolls, "We Are The Normal," Metal Blade/WB (0/34) Our Buffalo buds enter the top ten this week, vaulting 11-9*. The Happycore trio (look out Cheap Trick!) are still on tour with Soul Asylum and that's a show that you just can't beat! Bumps at KEDG, KEDJ, KPNT, KROQ, KUKQ and KXRK (ALL TO HEAVY!!) make this warm fuzzy moment possible.

Big Head Todd And The Monsters, "Broken Hearted Savior," Giant (0/18) It keeps going and going and going. BHT make a nice move 35-31* on the Bippy Fifty with help from increases at KXRK, WCHZ, WWVU and WXPN. Where's that bunny when you need it?

Midnight Oil, "Drums Of Heaven," Columbia (3/40) The logjam of great new stuff is holding Midnight Oil to only a one yard gain this week, to 17*. However, these drums are getting banged at 91X, KEDJ, Live 105, KKDJ, KNDD, KRZQ, WCHZ, WDRE, WHFS, WHTG and WLZR. After seeing the band perform at NYC's Wetlands, programmers are even more rabid for the whole album.

World Party, "Is It Like Today," Ensign/Chrysalis/EMIRG (6/41) 26-15* is a great chart move is you ask us. And adds from KBAC, KEDJ, KUKQ, WLAV, WLZR and WXCI ain't spittin' in the wind either, Hank. This one's going top ten as sure as cement sinks in the ocean. A record that reacts well with all kinds of key demos.

Butthole Surfers, "Who Was In My Room Last Night," Capitol (3/23) Who would have thought that the Buttholes would ever see the light of day on commercial radio? Well, that time has come with adds this week at 91X, WDRE and WLAV. And that's good for a debut at 45*. Anybody who just gets a hoot from their name ought to go record shopping and pick up "Hairway to Steven" for a real laugh.

Chris Isaak, "Can't Do A Thing (To Stop Me)," Reprise (9/32) That great all purpose heart throb/actor/musician Chris Isaak continues his rise up the Jiffy Fifty and cops the number 4 most added spot while moving 39-28*. Increases are netted at KACV, KGSR (to heavy), WDET, WLAV and WYEP. Can't do a thing, why would we?

RECORD OF THE WEEK

David Bowie, "Jump They Say," Savage

The first slice of Bowie is pretty darn cool. In fact, even though it's purportedly about his half-brother who did commit suicide many years ago, the song will not throw your audience into a window-opening frenzy. David is at the head of a slew of bullets in the top 20, and with Power/Heavy play at 91X, KKDJ, KNDD, KRZQ, WEQX and WXPB, why ask why? KEDG, KEDJ, KPNT and WYEP all added the track this week, and to prove the point, KXRK and WFIT report top five phone blinking. The guy with the two different colored eyes is extremely welcome in our camp, and we're hovering around the campfire, anxiously awaiting the full Black Tie. White Noise.

BLAH BLAH BLAH

Have you seen Barbarians At The Gate on HBO? What's the definition of rumor?...WFNX's Boston Music Poll was held on Wednesday (3/31) and from all accounts it was a great success. Thanks to all the LABEL FOLKS WHO OFFERED TO TAKE US, but we had other commitments. Beantown Cutting Edge types were treated to four different line-ups at four different clubs in addition to performances by local talent. On hand were Black 47, Mighty Mighty Bosstones, Belly and Social Distortion at The Orpheum; Robyn Hitchcock, Best Kissers In The World, Grant Lee Buffalo, 808 State and Porno For Pyros at Avalon; Starclub, Gin Blossoms, Supreme Love Gods and School Of Fish at Axis; God Machine, Therapy? and Helmet rocked Venus. Kudos to the folks at WFNX for making it all happen (again)...The first issue (tagged "issue zero") of Net arrived this week. Featuring many of the staff members of the erstwhile Rockpool, Net is to be a monthly magazine featuring pool charts for retail, clubs and college radio...Springhouse is currently on tour, supporting their Postcards From The Arctic album. The itinerary takes them from the Northeast corridor through the Midwest and West, back to the East by the beginning of May. Call Chuck at Caroline for more specifics...Pow Wow Records has signed Stigmata-A-Go-Go, the New York based ensemble, which have released singles on the Singles Only Label. Expect a full album late in April...The rumors are true, Helmet has dismissed guitarist Peter Mengersie, and has brought in Rob Echeverria to replace him...And speaking of rumors, in lieu of an "official" Lollapalooza list, it would seem that nobody really knows who is on the list, and many of the bands being talked about haven't even been offered it yet. But as the sold-out Chicago date testifies (advertised without any bands whatsoever, just as "Lollapalooza"), it evidently doesn't really matter who's on the bill anyway...Another big bill worth checking out is KUKU fourth anniversary bash, to be held at the Compton Terrace on Friday, April 23. Porno For Pyros, X, Robyn Hitchcock, Rage Against The Machine, Tragically Hip, Best Kissers In The World and Chimeras will be performing on two stages. Part of the proceeds go to Multiple Sclerosis...Forget the Columbia Record Club! Power Pop Enterprises has compiled a catalog for records that require a little research. Info on well-known bands like the Plimsouls, Replacements and Big Star is available, as well as stats on thousands of lesser-known ones. For more info: write Power Pop Enterprises, 1324 January Ave., St. Louis, MO 63110...And while burning the nostalgia candle, get ready for an upcoming series called Funk Essential Series from Mercury/PLG. Releases include a reissue Tear The Roof Off from Parliament, best-of's from Con Funk Shun, Bar-Kays, Kool & The Gang and Cameo...That lil 'ol punk rock label, Frontier Records, is getting ready to start their new distribution pact with Rykodisc. The first record for this recently inked deal is the debut from Heatmiser, who hail from Portland, Oregon.. Seminal L.A. punk band X are making a comeback with a new album on Big Life/Mercury to be called hey Zeus!...KUSF is undergoing some program changes on the first of April. These adjustments include expanding the science call-in show "Tech Nation" from a half hour to one hour; moving the wine gourmet show "Epicurean Corner" to Thursday nights at 8:00; moving the comedy show "Radio Shorts" to Friday nights at 7:30; and adding an additional day to "Skankin' Round The World, which is now broadcast two days a month...KFMH has moved! Their new address is 2720 West Locust Street, Suite 1B, Davenport, Iowa 52804; and the new phone number is (319) 391-9900...And as a bit of a retraction, spike that speculation that DeBella will be joining WBAB...Also, we feel just awful for saying that The Fluid are from Seattle, when actually they hail from Denver.

Mind Bomb, "Segue", Mercury....

Cheryl Valentine sent me the advance tape of this album several weeks ago, and I've been hard pressed to listen to anything else in my free time (except maybe, the revolution). And I am not alone in my newly instated fanaticism over this band. Friends and peers all over the metal industry (and even some regular folk) are also screaming the praises of this incredible new band. Innovative? How long has it been... Creative genius? What?!! Hmm. There are no bios on the band because, frankly speaking, the music can tell you all you need to know about Mind Bomb (I'll have a feature on them soon though, so you'll know a bit more). For starters, however, I can tell you this: The band is the brainchild, golden vision and cathartic release of one Matt Mercado (aka Captain Lovejoy). A young, hyper-talented inventor (and vocalist) who takes his MPC (a personal computer for writing music) very seriously (he claims to spend about 95% of his time writing music with it), and who, with a sense of humor, a flair for drama and a psychedelic flamboyance, creates a roller coaster of music so vital it has to be huge. If it's not, something's very wrong with the world and I may have to consider becoming a hermit somewhere. Okay, that's a bit extreme I admit, but then so is this band (joining the Capt. on board, his technicolor dreamboat ride are drummer Jim "Bash" Bashaw, bassist Shakky Von Krause and a fabulous guitar virtuoso named Johnny Checuga — he's incredible). Your first taste of them comes by way of the slamming throttle of "Segue" (the alternative types already have the dance rage of "Do You Need Some?"). It's sonically built upon a low riding groove that imbeds in your brain instantly, among layered vocal harmonies and pounding drums. While I admit it's a catchy number, and one that will hopefully expose millions to this fantastic new band, we can only giggle in anticipation of the full album. It's pretty outrageously good — just ask ANYONE who's heard it. Go — I dare you. But if, after listening to "Segue", you think you've got their "style" or "sound" figured... wrongo buddy. Every song's a new treat. So "Segue" for now, and just wait until you hear the rest. Oh, and if you couldn't tell, I love this record. Bet you will too. The artwork by the way, is a pore on a leaf (they breathe at night you know) magnified a kajillion times, with just a bit of artistic embellishment thrown in... not what you were probably thinking. A whale's eye, right? Hmpf.

Sweet Water, "Crawl", Atlantic....Many of you hopefully now know the name Sweet Water from the 3 song maxi-single, "Roads Life Goes", that Atlantic serviced the latter part of 1992. If you'll recall it featured "Head Down", "Everything Will Be Alright" (both of which appear on the forthcoming album) and "Michelle Was". A slightly different, "Everything Will Be Just Fine" also appeared on the band's first album which was released on New Rage Records in 1992 out of Seattle. Yes, that's right this killer new band is from "there". But, don't let that influence you in any way. Sweet Water have a sound more akin to The Cult (vocally/stylishly) than Soundgarden or Alice In Chains. Their music is also considerably lighter (re: positive) in content compared to the dark and macabre style of city brethren Alice In Chains or Soundgarden. Sweet Water (Cole Peterson-bass, Adam Czeisler-vocals, Paul K. Uhlir-drums, Dudley Taft-lead guitar and Rich Credo-rhythm guitar) are about polished, smooth lines, up beat, catchy and intense songs, and intelligent lyrics, while still keeping a heavy edge. If you haven't had the chance to get acquainted with them before, you're going to get the chance now, with "Crawl", the first single from their forthcoming self-titled debut for Atlantic. A stomper all the way through, "Crawl" strikes a definite chord in its listeners, capturing the grind and presence of its now infamous state of origin, but the vocals and more positive sound keep it head and toes above the trendy currents. Not unlike STP, Sweet Water have a flair and sound that should find them excelling at both AOR and metal, we certainly hope so, because we love this "cool, cool" band a great deal. And "Head Down" is quickly becoming my theme song 'round these parts. So, try "Crawl" for now, and in no time at all you'll be off and running with Sweet Water's excellent debut (out in a few).

Primus, "My Name Is Mud", Interscope....They are back, with the follow-up to the wacky "Sailing The Seas Of Cheese" - which was their fairly successful debut for Interscope (it went gold). Now with a ton of touring (including a lengthy run on the U2's Zoo TV Tour not to mention Jane's Addiction and Rush) behind them and Lollapalooza ahead of them, the strange songsmiths that are Primus (Les Claypool, Larry Lalonde and Tim Alexander) proudly proclaim, in their naturally bizarre way, that "My Name Is Mud". Notorious for their extreme, off-kilter musical rambling, the band go even further out on a limb on their forthcoming "Pork Soda" album. That's right, they've somehow managed to take their already abstract ideas even further into the great unknown. Breaking down sound manipulation to its smallest principles and then building it back up again. At times the songs emerge as whole - cleverly arranged twists of genius, at others like a playroom full of gifted but autistic children all banging away at their various instruments. "My Name Is Mud" is a slower number than one might usually expect for a first single, but never fear, it's driven by Les' phenomenal and unconventional bass fenglings, and Ler Lalonde's angular and schizophrenic guitar tripping. Tim Alexander somehow provides the glue that keeps all three elements flowing along the same invisible groove. And etched within this wild terrain are the nasally, twangy comic book character vocals of Claypool - he's in a vocal class all his own. Always a band that takes some getting used to, Primus have proven their staying power over, near a decade of jamming out their funkish brew. And their popularity continues to escalate - the more extreme, the cooler it seems. So dig on this for now, more "Pork Soda" swilling into a town near you in a week or three. Oh, and don't forget to locate the 3 song 10" which also features the fine cuisine of "Hamburger Train" and "Pork Soda".

Testament, "Return To The Apocalyptic City", Atlantic....Anyone who's been in the metal end of this biz for the last six years or so, has to be familiar with the works this talented band has churned out. One of "the" big thrash bands of the '80s, the name was oft coupled with the likes of Metallica, Forbidden, Exodus, etc... Over the years they've progressed into a band of bridled power and only recently, have begun to crash across the borders of COR/AOR radio. With impressive sales to their credit over their five albums ("Legacy", "The New Order", "Practice What You Preach", "Souls Of Black" and "The Ritual" - plus the "Live At Einhoven" EP), it seemed the band were definitely destined for big things. And the band has certainly proven their endurance, and their still strong popularity, with the success of "Return To Serenity". They came remarkably close to hitting gold with "Practice" and with their more streamlined style and radio's growing acceptance of "heavier" material, perhaps Testament's time has come at last. While the COR/AOR types continue mulling over the band's fate at that format (the single was Top 10 at COR), the band now releases to its long enduring metal following, "Return To The Apocalyptic City". A six song mini-LP/EP featuring four live tracks recorded at the Palladium in L.A. last November (featuring the newer line-up: Chuck Billy, Glenn Avelais, Eric Peterson, Greg Christian and Paul Bostaph — who has since been permanently replaced by John Tempesta). "Over The Wall", "So Many Lies", "The Haunting" and "Disciples Of The Watch" are crushingly resurrected in full-on thrash intensity. Also included is "Reign Of Terror" (featuring the old lineup with Alex Skolnick and Louie Clemente) a left over track from 1988's "The New Order" sessions. An alternate version of "Return To Serenity" closes the record. The band are currently writing and rehearsing their new LP, so in the meantime you can keep Testament on the airwaves with "Return To The Apocalypse City".

Monster Magnet, "Superjudge", A&M... Grab your bell-bottoms baby and let's trip the light fantastic on a psychedelic ride courtesy of A&M's bold new mind benders, Monster Magnet. By the looks of things, you're already mightily impressed with the first single from Red Bank, N.J.'s own, since "Twin Earth" easily debuted on the chart this past week at 36* — picking up 4 new adds, 12 moves into rotation and 3 increases (at KISW, KQAL and WMMR). Well, now prepare the way for the complete work a la 11 tracks (total) of grinding, fuzzed out, swirling, blues grunge meets psychedelia, that begins with the spacy caterwaul of "Cyclops Revolution". The album spins through a ton of mesmerizing guitar wailing, earthen vocals — gravelly and rough, and always, a groove so deep it leaves you rocking in your chair, on your heels or just lost in thought. Monster Magnet are a cerebral bunch, mostly in the way their music drills its way into your thoughts and invokes an almost hypnotic trance. Yeah, sure there's enough crunch to keep the more hardened masses contemplating a good mosh session, but the last time we saw the band play, there were more folks just rocking out in place, than we'd ever experienced — kinda like oceanic tribes gathering before a good wave on a sunny day. Of course, if you have not yet seen the band live, you can only ("super") judge them by the record — it's intense and deep enough we assure you. From the seemingly subtle "Cage Around The Sun" (which soon proves explosive), to the tornado/funnel effect of the title track, to the band's cover of Hawkwind's "Brainstorm", the stomp of "Elephant Bell", "Face Down" or "Dinosaur Vacuum" — you'll find Monster Magnet can draw you in, toss you around and then spit you out, with all the grace of a tie-dyed hurricane. Liquid metal for the '90s generation... uh-huh, uh-huh. You be the judge.

Asphalt Ballet, "Pigs", Virgin... The single was #1 Most Added this past week (with 41 stations jumping on instantly), and wonder of wonders, here comes the full album to add more fuel to the fire. And a ferocious one it is. With the raw, snarling vocals of Tommy Dean carving the way, Asphalt offer their second album — a 13 song collection of ripping songs from start to finish. As we explained last issue, for the band this record means even more than usual, since their debut (featuring Gary Jeffries on vocals) offered a more bluesy/southern slice o' rock and this one is very much less so. We think you'll agree however, within a spin through the CD or two, that the addition of Dean to the fold, has proven quite fortuitous — like a long lost sibling finding his real family. The vocal style completely complements the band's more aggressive nature. Yet, the catchiness quotient has definitely increased as well. It'd probably be wise then, to consider this another "debut" for the band altogether — the sound has definitely moved into a different and heavier direction. With that in mind, Asphalt offer up the crunchy melodic grind of "Weeds", the psycho-drama of "Daddy's Dyin'", the GNR-ish rock of "Outta Hand", the multi-textured and moody anthem "Save The Children" (my personal favorite so far), or perhaps you'll more appreciate the pounding pulse of "Pigs". Obviously there are many tracks to choose from, so just as a point of reference, be sure and check out the aforementioned songs and "Dead Horse Kick" or "Pay For What You Get". COR should be climbing all over "Nothing To Do With Anything". Be sure and catch them on the road with Great White as of this week.

Savatage, "Edge Of Thorns", LP, Atlantic... 17 stations added the single (the title track) this past week, and that was encouraging, considering the CD hadn't reached our full roster at report time. As it is, the album should be reaching you by the time you all read this anyway. Here you have yet another band who is faced with the challenge of introducing a new lead singer. In Savatage's case however, there is a much lengthier history and a well stamped sound to overcome. They've spent years developing a loyal following and a sound that was instantly identifiable, theirs is a harder hurdle to clear. Listen then, with an open mind and treat this too, as a new Savatage. As mentioned last issue, the band's new vocalist Zachary Stevens provides a deeper, more resonant vocal style to the always, strong backdrop of Criss Oliva's guitar wizardry, and the thundering rhythm section of Steve Wacholz and Johnny Lee Middleton. The veils of gothic affectations still have been spun throughout the album, so there is not so great a departure from the staple Savatage sound as you might have expected. "He Carves The Stone" in fact, recalls their earlier style — with Stevens' vocals climbing into the higher screaming realms we've learned to expect on Tage albums, while "Lights Out" is the classic rock anthem that rages along easily and unforgettably. A touch of this and a touch of that make for a diverse package of tunes, you have to admit. So dig a little deeper and you may find even more surprises. Try "Follow Me", "Degrees Of Sanity", "Conversation Piece" (I especially love the music on this one), "Damien" or "Miles Away". The early measures of "All I Bleed" (soft piano accompanied vocals) and "Sleep" are also quite beautiful. Give them the chance they deserve.

Quick Pick

Dumpster Juice, "That Not So Fresh Feeling", Spanish Fly/Restless...

Minneapolis certainly is proving to be the hotbed of musical activity — launching a wide range of bands from Soul Asylum, to the Coup De Grace, Mas Optica, Prince, Drop Hammer, Bone Club, etc... the list goes on and on. Now meet Dumpster Juice. A rowdy, very raw sounding bunch (Rowland-vocals, Tom Duclos-guitar, Kevin Bigelow-bass and Todd Petterson-drums) who have been making quite a scene of their own in their hometown. Like quite a few of their city-mates the band traverse the metal spectrum, raking in elements of hardcore, thrash, and the more alternative type angularities. What you should all have in your hands (or will soon) is the band's first full album release (they've previously released a couple of 7" and a demo cassette). You folks are getting their first full CD, however, and it's loaded with a variety of tracks that pummel around speed riffs, rock n'roll, hardcore crunch, punkish grinds and what have you. Definitely something for everyone can be found on this debut, so prepare to get your hands dirty. Check out "Phantom Limb", "Fatman In The Pit", "Creamy Pudding", "Grip 'N Rip" or "PCP".

Sugar, "Beaster", Ryko...

One would have to have been living under a rock somewhere to not have at least noticed the burgeoning buzz surrounding Bob Mould's Sugar (Mould on guitar/vocals, bassist David Barbe and drummer Malcolm Travis). The latest release by the band, "Copper Blue", has sold in excess of 250,000 copies and has become a favorite among the press, not to mention fans among both the alternative and metal ranks. A usually atmospheric and swirling musical creator, the band is also capable of churning out music just a bit darker and deeper. Thus the release of this "short-form" album, now being serviced to both formats. 32 minutes worth of music that should help get the band considerably more notice on this side of the fence, than in the past. There are six songs total, but we feel confident in directing your attentions in particular, to the aptly titled, "Tilted", the wild, guitar riddled "Judas Cradle" (a sonic haze of guitars and low, deeply embedded vocals), and the wailing frenzy of "J.C. Auto". Of course, we would not dissuade you from sampling any of the other fine songs offered here, either. Personally, I like "Feeling Better" a lot too. Find out for yourself what all the buzz has been about, and enjoy.

Single Matters

Flotsam & Jetsam, "Swatting At Flies", MCA...

It's been an extremely great run for Flotsam & Jetsam (finally, after all these years), with their "Cuatro" album. 5 weeks total at #1 on our metal chart and a fabulous run at COR/AOR as well with "Wading Through The Darkness" (almost everybody there has "got-ten" them). Currently, the record is still holding strong in the Top Ten (#8) on Hard Hitters (and #9 Most Requested). So here it comes folks, a CD single (and 7") the third single, "Swatting At Flies" — a catchy riff driven number that is instantly singable and more than worthy of serious headbanging. By now most or all of you should be familiar with the song, so no lengthy dissertation is needed. May I add, however, that you should take notice of the b-side, "Date With Hate" — which was co-written with Megadeth's Dave Ellefson. It's heavier, meatier and just downright nasty. Play at will. Oh, and don't forget the band are still out on the road, check the tour guide for a date near you. It's Spring after all, the perfect time for "Swatting At Flies". Ciao.

Chart Xshun

Glancing over to the chart now, the Top Three is all awirl with activity. Hollywood's Sacred Reich continues to gain as they hold tight to #1 with a ton of points racking up in the meantime (#1 Most Requested by a wide margin as well)... Moving swiftly into #2 this week however were IRS's equally potent Nuclear Assault, who are enjoying yet another amazing run at metal radio. This week they ousted Biohazard (who slip to #3), and also slam into #2 Most Requested. This with 20 massive increases (well over 50 stations are pounding "Something Wicked") and 5 moves into rotation. They're sure to give Sacred something to worry about, but they too will have to batten down the fort, 'cause jamming away right behind them are Atlantic's Overkill with "I Hear Black". Overkill shimmied up to 4* on the chart (#3 Most Requested). Nine more increases and 5 moves into rotation are helping keep them quite competitive... so things should get very interesting in the weeks to come. It could prove to be an unbelievable battle between these three '80s thrash survivors.... Sitting just outside of Top 5 ready to dive in when the oldies move out, are Columbia's Circus Of Power who this week slid up one more from 7-6* with 8 increases and 6 moves into rotation. Still gaining in momentum with a great record... Moving right along, we find that Epic's Living Colour are in the midst of an excellent run at metal radio (something they didn't quite manage with the last LP). The heavier handed "Stain" continues to vault upwards, this ish, with a 6 spot move from 17-11* (with 6 increases/4 moves into rotation). No signs of slowing yet, so keep your eyes peeled for further upward climbing from Corey, Vernon and the gang, and they have yet to hit the road.... The folks at Futurist/Noise have got to be loving the fact that Kreator keeps bolting up the charts by leaps and bounds as well. This week the band knocked past another three from 16-13* and are #5 Most Requested (with 8 increases/7 moves into rotation). The label's got new stuff coming from Mordred too, so make room now.... Seems we can't go a week without mentioning Capitol's colorful characters, the Butthole Surfers, who pounded up another 5 spots from 19-14* (and finally hit the Most Requested chart at #8). This, with 5 moves into rotation and 9 big increases.... PLG's Quicksand are keeping pace with all their hard hitting brethren, by managing to sink another five competitors, slipping up 21-16* (14 moves into rotation and 5 increases helped it happen). Don't forget, they're currently on the road so do check out their whipingly intense shows... Another bunch who conjure up nothing short of giggling fits full of flying Doc Martens and plaid kilts are Mercury's Mighty Mighty Bosstones. This week they nab an impressive 8 spot move from 30-21* (with 9 moves into rotation and 8 increases). Fun, fun,

MORE Hard Rock/Heavy Metal

fun.... AND our BIGGEST MOVER of the week by far, without exception was landed by Zoo's enigmatic and compelling Tool. Who this week took their #50 debut of last week and sliced it in half with a rocket ride to 25* this ish (with 6 new adds/16 moves into rotation and 3 increases). What can you say, the record's incredible, the album art is, well, interesting and the metal people have been waiting for the full length for quite some time. I can't wait to see what they do next week. Stay tuned.... Metal Blade's very scary riff manglers, Cannibal Corpse are rebounding up the chart, thanks in large part to the "Hammer Smashed Face" single (with B-sides). This week they swung it around and launched up 38-26* with (with 6 new adds/6 moves into rotation.) And I've a feeling it isn't over yet.... Relativity's Contagious clipped three more with a move from 33-30* with a little help from "Larry" and 6 moves into rotation and 5 increases.... Which brings us to our debuts of the week, and there were quite a few. Landing highest on the totem pole were the unstoppable, unsinkable and totally righteous, Pantera (Atco/East West). The "Hostile Mixes" EP brought them back onto the chart at 34* (11 more adds clocked in this past week).... Next up, A&M's ultra vivid, Monster Magnet with their single "Twin Earth". After a couple of weeks of impressive add tallies, Jersey's own settled in at 36* (with 4 more adds and 12 moves into rotation).... Also managing a comeback of sorts, were those legends in their own time, Iron Maiden. Now relocated to Capitol (their original label), the band have launched the first half of their live attack. "A Real Live One" captures the vibrant energy of their new material, and obviously enough ears to land them a debut at 41* (with 7 more adds and 7 moves into rotation).... And last but certainly not least, TNT's St. Thomas are beginning to make waves with their very first offering to these realms. With 6 more adds rolling in/6 moves into rotation and 3 increases, they managed a debut at 46*. The album's just hitting, so we should be seeing more of them in the future.... Speaking of the which, you can expect lots of action from the likes of Asphalt Ballet (our #1 Most Added record), Orangutang, Savatage, Disturbance, L.S.D., Soulstorm, Dig, the Monster Magnet full, Primus, Sweet Water, Mind Bomb, Testament and tons more. Catch ya next week....

Metal Filings

Upon seeing this picture, I figured it was just too cool not to run it and what better way to kick off this weeks news. The snapshot was taken at a Sacred Reich (Hollywood) in-store in Phoenix, AZ. Talk about a killer crowd (all 1,200 that showed up), they were moshing in the parking lot of the local Tower Records. Hey man, that's what it's all about! ♦♦♦♦♦ Here's the scoop. Ugly Kid Joe (Star-dog/Mercury) and Animal Bag (Mercury) will both be doing walk on interview segments on the April 10th airing of MTV's Headbanger's Ball. Watch it, or else. ♦♦♦♦♦ Can I have your attention please? The Tool (Zoo) "Underdog" album is ready to hit the radio waves April 6th... Let your listeners know that the "Superjudge" LP, from Monster Magnet (A&M), will be in stores April 6th... With the new Dumpster Juice (Spanish Fly/Restless) record, "That Not So Fresh Feeling", serviced to metal radio, it is ready to be dropped in your CD player and given a whirl. Check out "Fist Catcher", "Grip n' Rip" and "Fatman In The Pit". The add date for the record is April 12th... The full Mind Over Four (Restless) record, "Half Way Down", goes for adds April 27th... Leviathan Records have announced the signing of guitarist Joe Stump. Joe, along with his band, have put together a 10 track album "Guitar Dominance" that has been given a May 24th release date. Tracks to check out from this guitar monster include "Ultra Violence", "In For The Kill", and "Behind The Eight Ball"... The Cathedral (Earache/Columbia) album has had a name change. It will now be called "The EtherealMirror". The street date is June 1st, but will be arriving to radio the 2nd week of May. Take note that the first single (and video) will be for the track "Ride"... Having recently joined the Epic Records roster, Bad Brains are currently in the studio recording with the line-up of Dr. Know (a.k.a. Gary Miller), Darryl Jenifer, Earl Hudson and new vocalist Israel Joseph-I. The band hope to have work completed on the album in time for a summer release. To check the boys out you can see them on the road with Living Colour (Epic) throughout the months of April and May... The Howard Benson produced Bang Tango (MCA) LP is said to make its arrival in June. The tentative album title is "Shed"... T-Ride (Hollywood) are in the midst of working on some new trax... Lillian Axe (Grand Slam) have entered the studio to work on their follow up to "Poetic Justice". This is the first studio hang time with the band for new drummer Tommy Scott. Sitting behind the control board will be producer Leif Masses... Tribe After Tribe (Megaforce) will be delivering their latest LP "Love Under Will" (recently changed from "Proud and Beautiful") in July. There are about 16 tracks floating around the studio with an estimated 12 tracks making it onto the final product. Look for it!... The newest material from Voivod (MCA), all packaged together on "The Outer Limits" album, will now arrive sometime in July... The Scream (Hollywood) are currently in the studio working on their sophomore effort with new smooth and soulful vocalist Billy Scott (ex of East coast band Dashboard Mary). The band will be co-producing the material with Mario Caldato Jr. (best known for his work with The Beastie Boys). Also turning the knobs on a few tracks will be Richard Wolfe (who has work with the likes of Bobby Brown and MC Lyte). ♦♦♦♦♦ Just to fill you all in, as of the Sunday April 4th show in Dallas, Texas, Nudeswirl (Megaforce) is no longer on the Flotsam and Jetsam (MCA) tour. That means on April 6th in Jacksonville, Florida, Damn The Machine (A&M) will be jumping on the Flotsam band wagon for the remainder of the tour... So, ya know about the 15 year anniversary release from Van Halen (Warner Brothers) "Van Halen Live! Right Here Right Now", well, now you need to know that the band are doing dates all over Europe on their first tour of the continent since 1985. When they return to the U.S. they plan on hitting the highway (beginning June 25th) on an extensive summer tour. Vince Neil and his band has been given the opening slot on the summer tour... The Mighty Mighty Bosstones (Mercury) have already begun their trek around the North American continent with their March 31st show in Santa Barbara, California. The tour continues to trundle throughout the states with confirmed dates until April 18th... Life, Sex & Death (Sire/Reprise) are still out on the road and will be until their April 26th show in Providence, RI... The mighty Kyuss (Chameleon/Dali) will be romping around the Australian continent on a whirlwind tour with Metallica (Elektra). The metal mayhem kicks off March 27th in Sydney and continues through April 8th with a show in Perth... The Gruntruck (Roadrunner) and Circus Of Power (Columbia) co-headlining tour kicks off Monday, April 26th in St. Louis, MO and will bulldoze around the country until their show on May 16th at The Limelight in NYC. But what's this? There will be two (count 'em, two) shows prior to the double bill where Gruntruck will pound out some tunes for the locals in Salt Lake City Utah on April 23rd and in Denver, Colorado on April 24th. Cool... Watch for Contagious (Relativity) to take to the road in the mid-April for a headlining club tour... Napalm Death (Earache) have just returned from a 5 date spree through South Africa. The band made national news cuz they were the first ever heavy metal band to play in the area... And speaking of Napalm Death, the band will be crisscrossing through Canada on a 16 show tour. They will be joined by Kevin and Co. in Brutal Truth (Earache/Relativity)... Just in case you forgot, I am reminding you that Brutal Truth (Earache/Relativity) will head out on a serious run thru' the country with the likes of The Boredoms (Avant/WEA Japan) and The Pain Teens (Trance Syndicate) starting May 6th in Dallas, Texas. The triple bill has planned on traveling the trails until the middle of June... And where that tour leaves off, the Death (Relativity) tour begins. Watch for this band to support the release of "Individual Thought Patterns" with some gigs beginning in June. ♦♦♦♦♦ Did everyone hear that the U.S. Government blasted the Branch Davidians in Waco, Texas with Alice Cooper (Epic) music last week in hopes of getting them out of the compound. Cooper commented "I want to deny that my music, when played by FBI and ATF forces, was in any way responsible for the recent breach of security in Waco." Cooper was referring to the one man who broke through the security barriers to join up with the other Koresh followers. One observer of the incident was heard saying "Using Alice Cooper to get people out of their home is exactly the opposite of what happened a few months ago in Riverside, California where Alice Cooper helped keep some people in their house." Songs played for the Davidians included "Hey Stoopid", "School's Out" and "Poison". It was an interesting idea, now wasn't it... Skid Row (Atlantic) have had their 5 song "B-Side Ourselves" EP certified gold so says Atlantic Senior Vice Prez/General Manager Val Azzoli. ♦♦♦♦♦ One final note comes from the Child's Play camp where the band have added new frontman Tommy McRae to their line up of bassist Idzi, guitarist Nicky Kay and drummer John Allen. They recently played to a packed house at the infamous Baltimore hot spot Hammerjacks. The set featured new material (like the song "Long Way" that is in the Top 6 at 6 on WIYY-FM) as well as tunes from their 1991 self titled release (on Chrysalis Records) including their hit song "Rat Race". The band are currently shopping around for a new record deal. The band were captured by the cameras eye after the show and seen here in the snapshot arc L to R: Idzi, Glen Wilde (98 Rock DJ), Nicky Kay, Tommy McRae and John Allen... ♦♦♦♦♦ Hey, Schnapper dude - thanks for the Japanese cuisine (it was all the rage). The show was great, too (water sprinklers and all)! Peace.

Caught here in a golden "Vulgar Display Of Power" moment are the boys in Pantera being flanked by management types and those folks from Eastwest. Pictured L to R are: Rex (Pantera), Andy Gould (Concrete Management), Daimond Darrell (Pantera), Steve Kleinberg (Eastwest), Walter O'Brien (Concrete Management), Philip Anselmo (Pantera), Merlin Bobb (Eastwest), Alan Voss (Eastwest), Amy McGuire (Concrete Management), Vinnie Paul (Pantera) and Sylvia Rhone (Eastwest).

Talk about a room full of heavies. Here are Flotsam and Jetsam posing with some of MCA Records' finest. There are entirely too many people crammed into this tiny photo, so instead of listing all of their names it will be enough to say that there are 5 band members and 10 industry types pictured. How's that?

Paul McCartney and Midnight Oil will headline Earth Day concerts in April. McCartney will play the Hollywood Bowl in Los Angeles on April 16, while Midnight Oil perform in New York on April 18 and in Washington, with the Violent Femmes, on April 22.

Guitarist J. Mascis of Dinosaur Jr., is suffering from tendonitis in his right arm, though the problem hasn't interfered with any of the band's concert dates. A spokesman for the band says the problem occurred because Mascis "uses the muscles in his strumming arm too much." Mascis has already seen some specialists about the problem.

Babes In Toyland have a 5-track EP coming out in May, including a new version of "He's My Thing," an earlier single by the band. The tracks were recorded after the band toured with Faith No More. Late last year, singer and guitarist Kat Bjelland had said the group was breaking up because of her conflicts with drummer Lori Barbero.

A trial date of July 7 has been set on a lawsuit by the Romantics over the use of their song "What I Like About You" in five different television commercials. Even though the band signed away the copyright to the tune in 1984, members of the Romantics believe they should receive money for later uses of the song.

Paul McCartney's wife, Linda, has written a letter to Australian Prime Minister Paul Keating and sent him a copy of her vegetarian cookbook. Linda says Keating has invested in a pig farm and can't be an effective leader because he's involved in "murdering animals for profit." Her letter says Keating and his wife, Annita, should campaign for "a planet where there is no hole in the sky and where animals, like the pigs that I know you farm, can live without fear."

When the Southern All-Stars performed recently in Macon, Georgia, it was a one-time gathering. Chuck Leavell, Allman Brothers guitarist Warren Haynes and Randall Bramblett performed together in Macon, Georgia, as part of the city's Cherry Blossom Festival. "I've been approached many times in the last few years about making some kind of appearance in Macon, but I've been so busy with other groups...that it just hasn't worked out," Leavell says. "And then a friend who is involved with the Cherry Blossom Festival...approached me about an idea, that I would put together a group of musicians that would all be from the south and do a performance at the street (party). And I thought, 'Well, you know what? For one time the timing is really good.'" Leavell got a surprise during the Saturday night concert when Macon Mayor Tommy Olmstead came on stage to declare it Chuck Leavell Day. "They pulled a fast one on me," Leavell says. "I didn't know what was going on when I saw him coming up the stairs to the stage." Leavell, who has played keyboards with the Rolling Stones, Eric Clapton and the Black Crowes, hopes to begin work on his own solo album. He recently produced an album by Haynes and is trying to get a Georgia Music Hall of Fame placed in Macon. And he may be called in to help the Rolling Stones on their next effort. "Mick (Jagger) and Keith (Richards) are writing songs and preparing for the next Rolling Stones record," Leavell says. "I would hope they would give me a call. I would very much like to be involved." Leavell adds that Eric Clapton has been quiet since winning at the Grammy awards. "I haven't heard from him," Leavell says. "I find it a little strange that he made no mention whatsoever of the band in accepting the awards from the 'Unplugged' album, because I feel it was a strong effort on everybody's part...but that's his choice."

George Michael has finally broken a 3 1/2-year silence and agreed to an interview which he hopes will sell his latest effort, a charity record to benefit AIDS projects. Michael had said he no longer wanted to give interviews because his music could talk for him, but he's changed his mind for this new record. The release coincides with the first anniversary of the Freddie Mercury tribute concert, in which Michael took part. One of the five songs on the record is a duet with Lisa Stansfield in a reprise of their tribute performance in London last year.

Depeche Mode unveiled its new, tenth album in special listening parties for fans around Europe. Fans were given a listen to "Songs Of Faith And Devotion" in what was described as the first-ever global listening party. About 4,000 fans attended one such party at a cold warehouse in south London.

The Fall have a new album coming out in May called "The Infotainment Scan" (on Matador Records). The LP will include a version of Sister Sledge's "Lost In Music." The last two albums by the Fall were never released in the U.S.

Sinead O'Connor sang "Make Me A Channel Of Your Peace" at the end of a Sunday rally against the Irish Republican Army in Dublin, Ireland. "I want to offer this song as a prayer for humanity," O'Connor said. "My belief is that we are all still children. The answer is love, unconditional love." In the past, O'Connor said she has supported the Irish Republican Army, but at the rally said, "I have learned that the only thing that heals is love."

As part of a continuing crackdown on skinhead bands, German police have raided 40 houses looking for evidence against the band Stoerkraft (Disruptive Force). The second round of searches sought tapes by the band and sales lists. Meanwhile, a court in Nuremberg fined the four members of Radikahl roughly $4,000 to $6,500 each for selling tapes of its "Swastika Song" in 1991. The court said the band members knew the song "glorifies dictatorship," and the judge blamed the band for "whipping up mass hysteria" during its concerts.

The Hollies are celebrating the 30th anniversary of their first record release with a new single, written by Nik Kershaw, called "The Woman I Love." The b-side of the single will be a live cover of Prince's "Purple Rain."

In advance of European tour dates, U2 is recording an EP of new material.

Annie Lennox and Michael Jackson were named Best Female and Best Male Artist at the Germany music industry awards, called the Echo. Genesis was named Best Group at the awards show in Berlin, while Snap won for Best National Single ("Rhythm Is A Dancer") and Most Successful National Act Internationally.

Jim Krueger, the author of Dave Mason's 1977 hit "We Just Disagree," has died from complications of pancreatitis at age 43. Krueger also wrote songs for David Cassidy, Stephen Stills, Bob Dylan and Phoebe Snow.

Former Grand Funk Railroad singer and guitarist Mark Farner has become a born-again Christian, but he's still playing Grand Funk material as he tours. He's also not saying much about religion during his shows, preferring instead to talk to people individually afterwards. "It's not like we go in and beat people over the head with the Bible and tell them they're all going to hell," Farner says.

A Cuban singer-songwriter has called Ruben Blades an "ignorant clown" because of comments Blades made about Cuba's government. Pablo Milanés, a member of the Cuban parliament, wrote a letter to a weekly newspaper in Puerto Rico that printed a letter from Blades criticizing a lack of political freedom in Cuba and urging Fidel Castro to step down. Milanés' letter says Blades has joined the "repentant lefties" who hope to receive "crumbs...distributed by the United States to all openly declared anti-Castroists."

The British government has announced new rules against "rave" parties, giving the police to seize the audio equipment used at illegal parties. Police have also been given new powers to order people to leave the site of an illegal rave. Home Office minister Lord Ferrers cited the "terrible damage and disruption" that he says has been caused by ravers.

June Valli, who had a hit in 1954 with "Crying In The Chapel," has died of cancer at her New Jersey home. Valli, who was also the singing voice in the Chiquita Banana commercials, was 64.

Just before U.S. President Bill Clinton held a Forest Conference in Portland, Oregon, singer Carole King called the event a "sham." King, who lives in Idaho, says a newly-announced policy regarding federal lands "means that taxpayer subsidized destruction of our national forests would move east across the Cascades and increase dramatically in the Northern Rockies." King says the new policy "only moves the problem to another region." Greenpeace and the Wilderness Society were among a number of groups who also criticized the conference and the plan. King was to perform with Bonnie Raitt, David Crosby, Kenny Loggins and Phish at a concert in Portland the night before the conference.

Iris DeMent, Guy Clark and Frank Christian joined Nanci Griffith as she opened a tour in Nashville in support of her new album, "Other Voices, Other Rooms." Some of the other people who performed on the album will join Griffith for other dates on the tour. Odetta, the Indigo Girls, Leo Kottke, Chet Atkins, John Prine, John Hartford, Kennedy Rose and Emmylou Harris are on the LP, while Bob Dylan plays harmonica on Griffith's version of his "Boots Of Spanish Leather." Griffith named the LP after the first book by Truman Capote. "This year I've written more than any year in the past and I think it's because of doing this record," Griffith says. "I listened to all of this music that I love so much and all these writers who just brought me full circle and got me in touch with my guitar again."

Diesel have been nominated in four categories for the ARIA (Australian Record Industry Association) Awards to be given out in Sydney on April 14. Diesel are nominated for Best Australian Album ("Hepfidelity"), Best Australian Male Artist, and Australian Song Of The Year and Best Australian Single ("Tip Of My Tongue"). Baby Animals, the Black Sorrows, Crowded House, the Cruel Sea and INXS have been nominated as Best Australian Group, and Baby Animals' "One Word" is among the nominees for Australian Song Of The Year, along with Crowded House's "Weather With You," the Rockmelons' "That Word (L.O.V.E.)" and Weddings Parties Anything's "Father's Day."

Lisa Stansfield has decided to put her music career on hold so she can concentrate on acting. She's looking for film roles and has no plans for recording in the interim.

Former Died Pretty drummer Stuart Eadie is now drumming for an Australian band called the Olive Branch.

About 25 minutes of music from the sessions for the Beach Boys' "Smile" album will be included in a retrospective boxed set coming out at the beginning of June.

Sydney, Australia, band You Am I have recorded an EP with Lee Renaldo of Sonic Youth called "Copro-lalia."

Jon Bon Jovi says he'd like to sell the Ferrari he bought a few years ago after the band had several hit albums in the late 1980s. "In the four years I've owned it, it has maybe 3,000 miles on it," Bon Jovi says. "It sits on blocks and I'd gladly sell it if I could find someone who could afford it. I bought a used Jeep from my drummer, and that's how I get around."

Guitarist Steve Vai has formed a new group with Dale Bozzio and Devin Townsend. The new line-up should have an album out in the spring.

Baltimore's old dance hit "Tarzan Boy" is getting a boost from its use in a Listerine commercial which features an animated bottle swinging on vines in the jungle. The track will also be on the soundtrack to the next Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles movie.

Little Steven's "Sun City" album is being released on CD for the first time (on Razor & Tie). The LP featured Bono, Bruce Springsteen, Peter Gabriel, Bonnie Raitt, Keith Richards, Lou Reed and Miles Davis.

Joe Ely had the first exhibition of his artwork at a gallery in Austin, Texas, recently. Using a computer, Ely has created color prints of images that relate to life in prison.

B.B. King's next album will have an all-star cast of guest musicians. He's recorded a song with Robert Cray that Cray wrote called "Playing With My Friends." The album will also feature Joe Louis Walker, Lowell Fulson (the author of King's first hit, "3 O'Clock Blues"), Albert Collins, Buddy Guy, Katie Webster, Ruth Brown, Irma Thomas, Koko Taylor and Etta James. The album will also see him record with John Lee Hooker for the first time. "We've known each other for about 50 years but never recorded together," King says. "I'm in blues heaven."

The artwork that Perry Farrell submitted for the new Porno For Pyros album is being changed after concern over its six-pointed star with a swastika in the middle. A spokesman for Farrell says the swastika was used for centuries before the Nazis, but the artwork will be changed so that a little devil replaces the swastika.

The first single from World Party's new "Bang!" album is "Is It Like Today?," and is based on Bertrand Russell's "The History Of Western Philosophy."

Mark Brezicki, the original drummer for Big Country, has rejoined the band. He hasn't played out with the band since he quit in 1989, though he participated in the recording of a 1991 album by the band. He doesn't, however, appear on the band's new album, "The Buffalo Skinners."

Terence Trent D'Arby has a new album coming out in May (on Columbia Records) called "Symphony Or Damn."

The British record charts are showing signs of a '70s revival. Eight singles in the British top 40 are cover versions or reissues of songs written in the 1970s. In the top ten is Ugly Kid Joe's version of Harry Chapin's 1974 hit "Cats In The Cradle" and Whitney Houston's "I'm Every Woman" was a hit in 1978 for Chaka Khan. The album chart in Britain includes a greatest hits album from Hot Chocolate and former chart-topper "Gold" by Abba. Pink Floyd's "Dark Side Of The Moon" album is number 12.

The Moody Blues are to tour for the first time in two years, but with a big difference. This time they'll team up with symphony orchestras wherever they play. This follows the release of a new album recorded at the Red Rocks Amphitheatre with the 88-piece Colorado Symphony Orchestra.

The California Supreme Court has upheld a $2 million award to Max Baer Jr., who sued ABC-TV claiming it interfered with his efforts to purchase movie rights to Madonna's song "Like A Virgin." Baer says he lost millions of dollars because he lost the deal. Baer, a former star of the "Beverly Hillbillies" television program, turned the songs "Ode To Billy Joe" and "Macon County Line" into films.

The Red Hot Chili Peppers, Barry White and Bette Midler are among those whose voices will be heard on the last new season episode of "The Simpsons" for this season, which will air on May 13.

Redd Kross are working on a new album (for This Way Up Records).

Steve Wynn and the members of House Of Freaks are in a new band together called Gutterball, which will have its debut album out in May. The band will open for the Black Crowes on a tour of the eastern U.S.

The U.S. Supreme Court has agreed to review whether 2 Live Crew's parody of Roy Orbison's "Oh, Pretty Woman" is a "fair use" of the original. A Federal appeals court last year contended that the "blatantly commercial" nature of the parody meant that it violated the song's copyright. Political satirist Mark Russell has filed a brief with the Supreme Court in support of the rappers' position, claiming that the appeals court ruling would "bring an end to musical political parody as it has existed since the time of the Revolution."

The Arc Angels were named the Band Of The Year and were tied, with Soul Hat for the award for best Rock Band at the Austin Music Awards. The Arc Angels' "Sweet Nadine" was named Single of the Year and best Video. Former punk-rocker Alejandro Escovedo was named Musician of the Year, while Malford Milligan and Lucinda Williams were named best Male and Female Vocalist, respectively. Eric Johnson was named best Electric Guitarist and U2 was named best Touring Band.

Jack Dangers of Meat Beat Manifesto says the group does very different versions of its songs in concert. "People come up to us after our shows and ask why we didn't play this song or that, and we say 'We did!'," Dangers says. "I don't see the point of doing versions that are exactly the same as the recorded versions."

Duran Duran recorded their new album on low-budget recording equipment at the three-bedroom home of guitarist Warren Cuccurullo. Cuccurullo is still having trouble paying the huge electric bills run up during the sessions.

A traveling Jimi Hendrix exhibition comes to a New York City gallery in April, featuring photos, posters, film and art. Hendrix' companion, Kathy Etchingham, says the guitarist "had a wardrobe that stretched from one end of the apartment to the other, full of clothes." Etchingham says she got rid of the wardrobe "some time ago because no one seemed to be interested in it anymore."

Abba singer Agnetha Faltskog is divorcing her husband of two years, Swedish surgeon Tomas Sonnerfeld. Faltskog divorced her first husband, Bjorn Ulvaeus of Abba, fourteen years ago after ten years together.

Release of the 31-track Led Zeppelin boxed set, which had been scheduled to come out in March, has been delayed until this summer. The issuing record label didn't want to compete with the current Jimmy Page-David Coverdale album, or with Robert Plant's "Fate Of Nation" album coming out June 1.

Julianna Hatfield should have a new album out in July, produced by Scott Litt. It will be her second full-length LP since the break-up of the Blake Babies.

After 32 years with the same record label (Reprise Records), Frank Sinatra is without a contract. There's speculation he'll return to the record label (Capitol Records) that issued his recordings in the 1950s. Sinatra hasn't released a new studio album since "L.A. Is My Lady" in 1984. Sinatra says he wants to record some of his classic songs with people like Paul Simon, Madonna, Billy Joel, Gloria Estefan, Barbra Streisand, Ella Fitzgerald and possibly U2.

Bruce Hornsby releases his fourth album in early April, called "Harbor Lights." "It's my first record without a producer, the first record without a band, and the first album recorded in my house," Hornsby says. "It's basically a piano trio record, or piano, bass, and drums augmented by the various guests who add their great personalities and extra color to the sound." Hornsby says there was "extensive jamming" in making the album, giving it a more improvisational flair.

Former Textones guitarist Carla Olson has a new album just out, called "Within An Ace" (on Watermelon Records). The LP features former Rolling Stones guitarist Mick Taylor and former Faces keyboardist Ian McLagan.

B.B. King put on a concert recently in Chattanooga, Tennessee, to help raise money for a Bessie Smith Hall. The music hall, education center and museum has been in limbo recently. Funds from the concert will go to completing the hall, which will house a permanent exhibit honoring the "Empress Of The Blues." Officials hope to have the facility completed by the end of this year, even though its director has just resigned. Smith was born in Chattanooga in 1894 and spent her early years singing in clubs near where the hall is located. King performed in Chattanooga with Bobby "Blue" Bland. King also was presented a key to the city by Mayor Gene Roberts and named an "honorary" citizen of Chattanooga.

Denise Johnson of Primal Scream is watching developments near Waco, Texas. Her cousin, Sandra Hordial, is among those at David Koresh's compound after having joined his religious sect a year ago. Johnson has flown to Texas to check on her cousin, even though Primal Scream are recording a new album. "I'll stay as long as it takes to get our Sandra out of there," Johnson says. "Sandra met Koresh in 1989 when he came to the U.K. seeking converts."

Poison plan to have a "Backstage Party Cage" on their "Native Tongue" tour which begins in Europe in early April and begins in mid-May in North America. The band's letting local radio DJs pick out rowdy fans during each show, then throw them in a cage to party with the band after the show. "It's a chance for anyone, anywhere in the arena to come back and meet the band," says frontman Bret Michaels, who promises them "a night they won't soon forget."

Crawdaddy magazine has been reactivated, though in a much simpler form. Paul Williams, who started the publication in 1966, has begun a quarterly newsletter of album reviews. (Box 611, Glen Ellen CA 95442) He's also written a new book, "Rock & Roll: The Hundred Best Singles."

Shaun Ryder says he will be back with a new band very soon. The Happy Mondays split up recently and the new band will be called The Mondays. Speaking on the Channel 4 network television programme The Word, Ryder said: "Happy Mondays have split up for good. But, there is still The Mondays, which is me, brother Paul and Boz - which has always been The Mondays." Ryder also used the programme to comment ironically on former members of the band: "Mark the guitarist, the keyboard player and the other guy who played the drums — you know, the really important people in the Happy Mondays — have gone off and done their own thing, so that's it. And the Mondays are still going on." Talking about, the Mondays' line-up, Ryder told the programme: "We have got some really good musicians in The Mondays. We've got Craig Cannon, who used to play with The Smiths a little bit and Aztec Camera. We've got Gavin Whelan, who was the original drummer with James — he wrote all James' hits, you know — and one of the Ruthless Rap Assassins. We were going to see some gigs within a month or two, but then some other things came along that we all had to concentrate on, like getting new songs and that."

Talking to Melody Maker, Primal Scream's Denise Johnson has been speaking about the involvement of her cousin Sandra Hardial in the Texas Branch Davidian seige. Denise recently visited Texas, staying near to cult leader David Koresh's compound: "The situation is exactly the same now as it was then. There wasn't anything any of the relatives could do while we were there. I was only five miles away from my cousin and I couldn't speak to her. The FBI are holding everything pretty close to their chest and we could only go on what we saw on the news. But now that I've been there and seen what's going on, the situation, however grave, doesn't seem quite too bad. They're playing messages into the compound to let the hostages know their relatives have been in touch. And the longer it drags on, the better the chances are for the people inside. Koresh has always said he'd never commit suicide, but then there are a lot of things he hasn't kept his word about. We just want everybody out. I'll be going back as soon as I know my cousin has been let out. We were very close and there are a lot of questions I want to ask her." Meanwhile, Johnson has been managing to do some work on solo material. She will also be contributing vocals to the forthcoming Primal Scream album. The band are currently in the studio with Alex Paterson.

Blur will return with a new single on April 19. "For Tomorrow" is described as "a 'Waterloo Sunset' for the seventies" by Blur frontman Damon Albarn in the New Musical Express. With a new album Modern Life Is Rubbish available in May. Albarn also told the paper: "We have stretched our sound considerably. When we were in America, England became this wonderful fantasy place. (The album) is a soundtrack for a fantasy London, covering the last thirty years. The whole album visits every part of that." Albarn, however, denies the band might be using right wing imagery — the latest promo shot of Blur sees the band dressed in Doctor Martens and Fred Perry shirts, clothes often worn by British Skinheads — "The album has an English style, but that comes from experiencing other cultures. It's not a nationalistic thing. You really can only see England from afar in the 1990s. It doesn't hail England as some utopian place. It doesn't say England is a place of growth and happiness, there is an underlying decay." The video for the new single will be directed by Julien Temple. Various b-sides available on different formats are: "When The Cows Come Home," "Into Another," "Hanging Over," "Peach," "Bone Bag" and "For Tomorrow."

This week also brings more festival news. Firstly, organizers of the Glastonbury Festival, which runs from June 25-27 in southwest England, have announced that Van Morrison, Back To The Planet and Sunscreen will play at the event. PM Dawn may also be added to the bill. Elsewhere, there is still no firm information on August's Reading Festival, fueling rumors organizers may be having trouble confirming acts because of the large number of festivals this summer. However, industry rumors suggest Ice Cube, Soundgarden and Ministry have been approached to perform. Finally, The Family Cat have been added to the bill for the June XFm Great Expectations concert in London's Finsbury Park. The Cure headline.

A different slant on London is provided by Gallon Drunk. Their recent album From The Heart Of Town is a graphic portrayal of the city's seedier facets. Last week, Gallon Drunk frontman James Johnston spoke to The Hard Report about the album beginning with the fact that the London angle is one people have picked up on: "We did make it a bit obvious, what with putting photographs of London all over it (the sleeve)," commented James. "Whether that was a mistake or not, I don't really know, but it gave people something to say about it. Suddenly, we're a London band." Gallon Drunk, though, have spent a lot of the last year travelling. "Yeah, but if you were singing about wonderful foreign countries you saw for two hours or wonderful views from the inside of vans or changing rooms... well, there's nothing wrong with writing about subject matter like that but it's pretty damn boring really, isn't it? There's nothing worse than someone going to a city for five minutes and saying, 'Oh, Rotterdam was boring.' Just 'cause they went somewhere really boring and didn't know what they were doing." Johnston also reacted angrily to the suggestion from some that he is a middle class voyeur "slumming it": "That's just fuckin' totally offensive. It was in one of the music papers: 'How can you write about a certain subject matter if you're from a certain class structure?' What a lot of bollocks. Fucking hell, I've lived in London on the bloody breadline for about ten years. I think I should know what living in London on the breadline's like as much as the next person. What is so fucking terrible about being middle class in the first place? You get a band like the Happy Mondays who are lauded for being working class and then suddenly everyone hates them for it because they slip up and say something stupid. It's just total nonsense. You fall into a way of life that you create for yourself if you've got half a brain. If I were truly middle class, I'd be a lawyer or something. Not a complete penniless dropout." Gallon Drunk signed a US deal with Sire last year.

This week will see almost legendary BBC Radio One network DJ John Peel hosting his first daytime show in 23 years. Peel, a hugely influential figure through his support for new music on late night shows, will broadcast a lunchtime show as cover for DJ Jakki Brambles. Apparently, Peel's chance came when Radio One's editor of mainstream programming Paul Robinson was asked on air by a member of the public why Peel had never broadcast in the day. Robinson said he would be happy to discuss the idea with Peel. Hence, the lunchtime slot.

The Frank And Walters are reissuing their debut album Trains, Boats And Planes via Go! Discs on April 26. The original versions of two tracks — "After All" and "Fashion Crisis Hits New York" — have been replaced by Ian Broudie remixes. Meanwhile, "Fashion Crisis Hits New York" will be released as a single on April 5.

Silverfish singer Lesley Rankine is to work with Ministry's Al Jourgensen on new Revoluting Cocks material. London band Silverfish will tour the USA later this month. There are also plans for Jourgensen to remix Silverfish's "Crazy" from their "Silverfish With Scrambled Eggs" EP for US single release. Elsewhere, Silverfish will play at the Phoenix Festival, which runs from July 16-18 at Long Marsden, near Stratford, in southern England.

Lovecraft have spoken out against Riot Grrrl band Huggy Bear. Lovecraft recently toured the UK and played many dates at the same venues, but a few days later. The band are quoted as saying: "Time and again promoters, male and female fans said they were totally disappointed and said that many of their friends wouldn't take the risk of paying to see 'another crap girl band.'" Lovecraft have also questioned whether Huggy Bear should take responsibility for some of the violent incidents which have dogged them recently. Speaking about Huggy Bear singer Jo's fight with an audience member in Derby, the band commented: "Does it not occur to her that it might not always be someone else's aggressive behavior that is responsible? And, as they publicly fuck up their own careers, they will also kill the chances of any other girl bands who may genuinely care about the music they make."

Radio Comments

J.D., WONE, Akron

This past weekend, WONE was at the 56th Annual American And Canadian Sport Travel And Outdoor Show at the Cleveland IX Center. We were on hand to register listeners for our special "R.V. Getaway", which included the use of an R.V., complete with a week of camping at Hilton Head, South Carolina... Special thanks this week go out to Paul Brown and Kevin Young of Virgin for stopping by and sharing a few moments and stories with us. Paul, it certainly was a pleasure... Cool slick records out and about - The Kinks' Hatred and The Posies Dream All Day... The Pick-Hit-To-Click-Of-The-Week is Porno For Pyros' "Cursed Female/Cursed Male".

Brad Hanson, WMMS, Cleveland

Special thanks to Atlantic Records' Michael Stevens for stopping by with Alannah Myles on Tuesday. Alannah played "live" on the WMMS morning show. It was truly great radio!... Tribe opening day is Monday, and the city is ready for some good news after a tragic spring training. This is the last year at Cleveland Stadium before the Indians move into the new ballpark at Gateway. Watch out for these guys, they're gonna be tough!... Finally, with spring in the air and the birds singing, the warm weather is finally here. There are, however, patches of dirty snow on the ground here and there. Still enough for the Buzzards to freeze the list this week. See ya!

Zeb Norris, KROR, San Francisco

Jack Toff's house was an ugly novato split level that went for $16,000 in 1962. In the last 31 years, it's value had gone up 2000% without a single drop of paint touching it's pitted surface. A sickly, scrawny dog announced my arrival from inside, then the door opened to reveal a sickly, scrawny man in a tattered bathrobe with a mobile phone tucked into his pocket. Jack smiled brightly when he saw a P1 Music Director. He didn't know it was also a P.O.'d P.I. pounding the pavement on behalf of Boopsie. "Norris," he said with the obsequious tone of an undertaker greeting the bereaved, "You must be here to discuss my offer for the co-presents on the Bloodletters show in exchange for a mere single Heavy add." "Strike one, stupid," I quipped. I was getting really grouchy. "I already did my adds - 'Livin' On The Edge' Aerosmith and 'Easy Does It' Coverdale/Page both Medium, no bumps. Testament took a drop, and I could use one too. Scotch, neat, no ice. And while you're at it, how about dishing up the poop on Boopsie and her amazing stifling single. I heard you were on the project." He laughed a hollow, brittle laugh and handed me a lowball glass. "Was," he said. "Was, on the project. I was pulled for admitting the song stinks." I took a long pull. It was powerful stuff. My head was spinning like a 78. Toff's voice sounded like a steel stylus scratching my brain. That was the Mickey Finn. The Scotch wasn't bad either. Toff's delighted leer was the last thing I saw before the room spun out of the galaxy and into a warm, fuzzy black hole somewhere past Neptune. Or was it Uranus. To be continued....

Cathy Faulkner, KISW, Seattle

Hats off to Cyndee Maxwell at KQLZ for telling it like it is. I have a lot of respect for our record promoters. I also have the responsibility to KISW and her listeners to not be "influenced" by a good promo job, and look at the music and only the music. A good promo job brings it to my attention. After that, I'm sorry to say, it's out of your hands and in mine. With that, thanks to Rob Dillman for being a good promo person, bringing me the facts without "dressing" it up.... Thanks to Susan Greenwood, Mark Rose and MCA Records for a sold-out show with Flotsam And Jetsam. It was a great evening!... I'm not hyping, the new Sweet Water is incredible! My suggested cuts? "Crawl" and "Everything Will Be Alright". Coming VERY soon!... Finally, instead of keeping up with the schedule of singles, I believe that the Coverdale/Page is a perfect example of an AOR album. This week we added the album to address the album, not a single.

John Nagarya, WKDF, Nashville

For those of you who have not heard the music coming from the group Brother Cane, call your Virgin rep and get him or her to play it for you now. It is fucking fantastic! This will be the record that establishes Virgin as a rock and roll label! It's not heavy metal and they are not a hair band, there is nothing alternative about this group, and they are definitely not a band that's putting the image in front of the audio! This band is killer! The music is two guitars, bass, drums and a knock out voice! The live show is blue jeans, old button downs, boots and one hell of a stage presence! Tomorrow I'm sure you'll get something from one more band that is either from Seattle or has jumped on the band wagon, but for good or bad Brother Cane is not that band! They are much better than one more fad that has been beat like a dead horse! Call somebody from Virgin and get the advance cassette. If you're a P.D. or M.D. that still gives a shit and enjoys the music you add, then you will love this band. Otherwise, just sit there and let the labels continue to spoon feed you the same old, same old from their overpaid A&R goons! I've had this advance for months now and should have started screaming sooner, but these guys don't need the hype! Give this music a listen and remember, "I was there first motherfuckers!"

Tom/Sales Department, WCHZ,

Augusta

An interesting story from the street. One of our A.E.'s was calling on "Diamonds", a local night spot. The client told the A.E. that WRXR had offered a free schedule, plus 96 free t-shirts if they would not advertise with Channel Z. The client declined and told the 'RXR A.E. that the reason she would not accept all the freebies was that if they were offering all that, they must be concerned about Channel Z. If there is that much concern about Channel Z, I'm gonna stay with Channel Z and decline the freebies.

Kim Monroe, WNCN, Niles

Well now that The Blizzard of '93 is just something we talk about now, everyone around here has spring fever in a bad way!! Not to mention we're all ready to rock out for the spring book. The Big Bad Wolf is set to howl!... Some great tunes this week to roll down your windows and crank up the volume to include new Aerosmith, Soul Asylum, Collision, Warren Haynes and Coverdale/Page. By the way, the Soul Asylum show in Cleveland last weekend was awesome!... Some other records we're getting great response on include Mick Jagger, Masters Of Reality, Jackyl, Alice In Chains and 4 Non Blondes! That's it for me, because you see the sun is shining. It's 60-some degrees and I need to go outside and play! See ya!

Mike Luoma, WIZN, Burlington

In an interview with Pete Townshend, I once read he was asked who his favorite songwriter was and his answer was "Ray Davies" instantly. Davies' influence shows in much of Townshend's songwriting. When he's at his best, Davies combines a perma-smirk irony with pure pop sensibilities, marries them into humorous, melodic bars at life and society in general. When he's at his best. During the late eighties, The Kinks and Davies' enthusiasm for his craft didn't seem quite so pointed or potent. There was still the glimmer of the past, but a lot of folks were shaking their heads, mouthing "too bad" and writing off The Kinks. Shame on us. So, maybe Ray Davies potency flagged a bit, and wasn't quite what we wanted and expected from The Kinks. I'll still argue that amidst albums that some would label disposable, there were some delicious hidden gems. But enough of this. That's the past. After teasing us over a year ago with the Did Ya EP, The Kinks and Columbia are finally delivering on their promise to bring us a new Kinks album. I can't wait to hear Phobia. For now, we have "Hatred (A Duet)". Hallelujah! Davies is back, full strength, full potency. "Hatred" rocks, twists around and gets you thinking, all at the same time, with layers of meaning and ironies galore. Much of Davies' finest artifice is displayed here - the ability to support heavy subjects with enough hook and melody to keep their heaviness from crashing down on the ears of the listener with a dull thud. If the promise of first, Did Ya and now, "Hatred (A Duet)" holds true, Phobia should be one hell of a Kinks album! Ray Davies is back and so's the indispensable Dave, never more visible on a lead off single than now (but who'd probably hate all this focus on Ray. I figured I should mention him).

TJ Bryan, WDMA, Dover

Bruce Springsteen played a charity "rehearsal" show last week at the 1500-seat Count Basie Theater in Red Bank, NJ that was nothing short of stupendous. WDMA was the ONLY radio station anywhere that had tickets for the event! In the 24 hours that we gave away tickets, the phones did not stop ringing once. Word of mouth had calls coming in from Pennsylvania, New York and other places beyond the reach of our signal. Bruce pulled out such gems as "Does This Bus Stop At 82nd Street", "Janie Don't You Lose Heart", "Blinded By The Light", "This Hard Land" and believe it or not, "Achy Breaky Heart"! Mighty Max Weinberg even came out to bang the skins on "Glory Days". It was truly an amazing show... Thanks to Jimmy Del Balzo for a great night with Midnight Oil and the Flying Truganini Family at Wetlands in NYC. This band must be seen live... By the way, the new Kinks is brilliant, Widespread Panic sound great on the air, and Animal Bag is damn infectious. As always, it's been a business doing pleasure with you!

Jim McGuinn, WEOX, Albany/Manchester

Big kudos to Peter Garrett and Midnight Oil for a night of rock and roll and bliss last Saturday at Wetlands. Looks like '93 will be the year of the Oils - get ready to be blown away by their new album. New sounds (maybe a psychedelic influence in the Hammond keyboard sound and wah-wah guitar?) and new songs that confront, comfort, uplift, and ignite like no one else can. Thanks to Todd B. for making it happen. Why didn't some of these great spring records come out in November/December, when we were in a severe drought?... Besides the obvious (M. Oil, Hothouse Flowers, Porno, Kinks, Bowie, Kravitz) we've been happy to see bands like Big Head Todd, 4 Non Blondes, Black 47, Blind Melon and my favorite album of 1993, Bettie Serveert, come out of nowhere and fly to the top of requestland. Now, if I could only find the room for Gumball, Inclined, Slaughterhouse 5, Radiohead, Murry Attaway, etc. Oh well, maybe next week (along with Bryan Ferry, more Midnight Oil...)... Lots of great WEOX shows in Albany of late: Black 47, Blind Melon, School Of Fish/Best Kissers, with Gun Blossoms/Starclub, Sloan, Lemonheads, Jeffrey Gaines and Tulipfest soon to come!

Tony Baroni, KSKE, Vail

The music is why we're here, so stop balkin' and start rockin'!! That my friends, is exactly what Blues Traveler did. Holy horse hockey, Blues Traveler are some bad ass mofos! A sold-out Dobson Ice Arena, consisting of over thirty five hundred people. Got treated to an hour and a half jam fest, a twenty minute break (I think the guys went through six canisters of oxygen) then they came back and rocked out for two more hours. Throughout the three and half hour rockfest, the Hipie Chick and Guy crowd heard a total of six songs off the new CD, all badass, and Vailians also got to hear four new songs yet to be recorded. I gotta be honest, that night more than the speakers were boomiii! And, as long as no one kills themselves on motorcycles, Blues Traveler is gonna be around forever... Hot phones: Phish, Blues Traveler, John Gorka, Mike Hall and Paul Weller... KSKE's Hot Picks: Television, The Sand Rubies' "Santa Maria Street", "The Youngest Allman Brother" Warren Haynes, Le Mystere Des Voix Bulgares and from the Point Of No Return soundtrack, Nina Simone... For those of you interested in what's going on with our specialty show, "The Hard Deal", the Shanester says, "Full on chubby alert for Rockhead, Stone Temple Pilots, Suede, Dream Theater, Coverdale/Page and The Butthole Surfers, but most of all, Rockhead rules! This is a warning and a threat... My club Top Forty will be faxed out next week - if it bothers you, don't look at it! Until next we talk, do something randomly nice and senselessly beautiful for someone, you'll like yourself better for it. Live, love, learn and prosper.

Peg Pollard, KIOZ, San Diego

Our S.T./I.G. show is this week. The listeners and I can't wait! It'll be a rager... "Plush" is still pulling MASSIVE - and I'm not exaggerating - phones... The new Aerosmith tracks are great - we're playing all three. Big phone reaction there too - no surprise... My favorite new song tho is Porno For Pyros' "Cursed Female/Cursed Male" - play the whole thing!... I'm on vacation 4/5-4/9 to move into my new place, so we'll be freezing the list on 4/6. C-ya.

Michael Young, WRZX, Indianapolis

It's been awhile! I just wanted to say HI! Hope everyone is doing well!

D Day, KPNT, St. Louis

I was nursing a Dewars, marking time on the Land-ing. An antique mirror behind the bar cruelly showed where time was marking me. I figured her for a no-show. A group of women came in laughing. Four of them. Tourists. All Non Blondes. She wasn't one of them. Cursed Female I thought. My reflection said nothing. A Cigarette Dangled from my lips. It always works out this way. It seems like just yesterday she lured me to her room, showed me her Posters. Another Incredible Bittersweet irony. I left the bar. I left my body. Looking down I saw this guy Walking In My Shoes. A Creep, a weirdo... 105 7 The Point is single handedly impacting St. Louis music sales in a big way. This week we add a light category purely for the purpose of further exposing an album already generating a big buzz. dada "Posters" is an unbelievable song... The Judybats are drawing a lot of attention, so we added "Incredible Bittersweet" to further convince the potential record buyer that Pain Makes You Beautiful is a powerhouse piece of work... Same goes for 4 Non Blondes. "Superfly" exposes another side of this versatile San Francisco group... "Walking In My Shoes" is an obvious track from Depeche Mode... Porno For Pyros' "Cursed Female" instantly torched our phones... Radiohead's "Creep" not only sounds excellent on the air, but generates a lot of phone action as well.

Guy "G-Ster" Giuliano, KZRZ,

Get Hard! Why? Because it's your duty! Rock-radio is an avalanche of tuneage coming your way. Check it out: Aerosmith, Arcade, Billy Squier, Savatage, Gruntruck, Pantera, St. Thomas, Quicksand and my new fave, the Butthole Surfers. We have an exclusive "Rockroach" version of the "Annoying Song". Capitol Records loves it! and C.O.R. will also! Check it out. Thanks to Brian Mac!... Also a coolage dudge to Jeff Laufer for the foodage and the new Billy Idol tuneage. Feeling the Arizona summer head coming your way? Call us for a free KZRZ chill out squeeze bottle. It's your duty! K.C.'s doing music. Get Hard! C-YA.

Ron "The Metal Maniac" Michels, WRZR, Columbus

Yo! Once again from the Heart Of It All Columbus, Ohio. First I would like to thank Dyana Kass and Larry Crandus at Hollywood Records and Camelot Music for the great in-store autograph party with Sacred Reich March 26th. All went well, and Sacred Reich ruled not only at the in-store, but on stage before Pantera as well... Also my thanks to Michael Schnapp, Joe Carroll and the guys in Arcade and Bakers Pink for the wonderful time we had backstage... Bobby Bland at Capitol for the backstage passes for Great White and I promise this will be the last thank you... Cheryl Valentine and Chuck Swaney for backstage and tickets to Bon Jovi - you made a couple of our listeners very happy. Well, the limo ride from us didn't hurt matters either... Now for what to stick in your ears - Quicksand, Asphalt Ballet, Wool, Mind Bomb, Greta and Life, Sex & Death... Oh! Almost forgot, it's political campaign year '93 pick me, pick me! Any questions?

Jeffrey Shane, Capitol, 213-467-6262

Well, by now you have the new School Of Fish D-Pro on your desk. This is one of the key projects for Capitol for the upcoming year. This track, "Take Me Anywhere", has reached Top 5 at Alternative and is set to fly at AOR. The success of their last track, "Three Strange Days", is still happening at many stations still playing it in a recurrent rotation. The opportunity is now to establish the artist at our format. The full CD is rockin' to the point of having at least two to three more AOR tracks. This is the artist that broke the mold of crossing from alternative to AOR. So get ready for a longer stand at our format... An excellent week on Billy Squier the first week out. This full CD is loaded with hits. One thing is for sure, is this is the best project he has done in years. The Great White ballad is really starting to draw phones on the air. KEGL has now got Top 5 phones on this track. ALL Great White tracks are slower builders than most bands, but when they get played, they work. This is a special ballad that should be given a chance. Battle the track, or just test it. It WILL work!!! A couple of new artists starting to get phones at their formats is the B.H. Surfers' "Who Was In My Room" and Radiohead's "Creep". The B.H. Surfers is surprising everyone at metal with immediate phones. Radiohead's "Creep" is beginning to draw immediate phones at alternative. KROQ had had Top 5 phones since they put on this track. Get ready for these new bands, who we will go after at AOR when it is right.

Jim Del Balzo, Columbia, 212-833-7029

On Saturday night, Midnight Oil played a tiny club in Manhattan to prepare for an upcoming European tour and absolutely blew the place apart. They have not toured the U.S. extensively, but will do so this year. They will show the Americans what much of the world already knows - that they are one of the greatest bands on the planet. The show was taped for an upcoming syndicated radio show. "Truganini", the first album rock track from the new Midnight Oil album is on your desk. It will have an explosive start at album radio... Alice In Chains and Soul Asylum continue to be the hottest acts on rock radio. If you still have Alice In Chains' "Rooster" relegated to nighttime airplay, it's time to wake up. This is a strong record for the older listeners in your audience as well. Alice has clearly moved into the mainstream and if given the chance will be a HUGE record in almost every daypart... Soul Asylum continues its climb toward the upper reaches of the AOR chart. "Black Gold" is showing signs of being a bigger track than "Somebody To Shove". The album will be Gold in two weeks... The Kinks came out-of-the-box strong and are poised to re-claim their rightful place as mainstays of AOR playlists. "Hatred (A Duet)" came out charging and phones at stations across the country have already begun to ring. The general consensus is that this is the best Kinks track in 10 years. Please put aside any pre-conceived notions and listen to this track... There's a cassette on your desk that contains "Mama Tequila" from Circus Of Power. This is a killer song that I guarantee will be a nighttime anthem. Also included on this cassette is a track from a band called Gumball. One of the principles of Gumball is Screaming Trees producer Don Fleming. "Accelerator" is a song from the debut Columbia album that deserves your attention. You will be hearing from this great new band in the near future... Finally, it's great to hear that Greg Mull is on the road to recovery. Hurry up and get better!

Dave Lombardi, Warner Brothers, 818-953-3711

Something you did not know: Over the last 10 days (as of 3/30), the Dinosaur Jr. album, Where You Been, has outsold the Van Halen and Damn Yankees albums combined. In fact, it's the #1 selling WB album in-house, ahead of kd lang, R.E.M., Prince and lots of other artists you've probably heard of. The sales total is now over 180,000 (with a one-day of 13,500 yesterday). That's why we think "Start Choppin'" is worthy of rock radio's attention. And be sure that if you don't play this song, we'll eventually be knocking on your door with another!... One of us can afford to miss this record. And one that apparently won't be missed is the Goo Goo Dolls' "We Are The Normal". The 15 adds this week include KFMM, KEYJ, WBLM, WAOR, KATP - ah, hell, read the advertisement! Of note was the add at WBCN, where this track goes in in spite of that station's diminished programming space. MTV also adds the video into "On" rotation, which means additional exposure there. This record's gonna happen, so whether you add it today or tomorrow, just know that you will!... The sale of KQLZ in L.A. to Viacom has all of us concerned. While you might not agree with the station's direction or programming philosophy, any rock station that champions new music is a valuable resource to us all, and we'll do whatever we can to support this station. We hope that our peers feel the same way! I'm out.

Michael Linehan, Reprise, 818-953-3752

1-800-688 JESUS - "Telephone Call" from Life, Sex & Death is on WIYY, KRXX, WRZK, WXZL and your desk. If you rock, you should get this track on. Top 5 phones at WXZL for over two months - 4 weeks at #1! They are on tour into the summer. Call 1-800-688-JESUS for details.

Paul W. Brown, Virgin, 212-586-7700

Believe it or not, I'm not going to belabor the obvious this week in regard to Lenny Kravitz. Statistically speaking (this being the '90s and all), it goes like this: #1 Most Requested across the board, increase in spins-16%, all trade charts Top 3 or better, Billboard BDS chart 5*-4*, Billboard 200-19, #1 in-store play record, strong call-out per Pollock, BD&A, Joint & Demers Group, Stress Rotation MTV, 4/17 Saturday Night Live appearance. Also, going up Adult, Hard Rock, Mainstream and Alternative charts at the same time. No one I know has ever seen a record act like this. Final analysis - "Are You Gonna Go My Way" is a smash and should be rotated in your heaviest rotation. And in all dayparts as well. Make this artist your own... But quid malberg in plano, you have to give a good, uninterrupted listen to "Angry Youth" for nighttime play if you're at a station that radically shifts gears after the sun goes down and/or you're positioned as the station that rocks hard. Asphalt Ballet picks up with Great White on 4/2. Actually, it seems like they've been on the road since before their last release. That's how it's done. Maximizing the electricity that flows between audience and performers is what breaks bands. It's all emotion, believe it or not, that drives this industry... And have you taken a trip into the heart of darkness recently? Have you had your Keith dosage? Have you listened to "999"? You should because if there never was a Keith Richards, if he'd become an accountant instead of the icon/prime mover that he is, your library would be a lot less crowded... Finally, two questions - 1) Are you fully prepared to support World Party this time around? And 2) Why does the porridge bird lay his egg in the air? Osibisa, amigos.

Missi Callazzo, Megaforce & Crazyd Mgmt., 908-972-3456

Thanks to all for your support of Warren Haynes! "Fire In The Kitchen" is a great track, and the record is really beginning to sell and react! New this week: WRIF, WROQ, KATP, WHCN, WNCD, WRCO, WMFX, KEZE, WARQ, KTYD among others! Let's keep it going! Call us if there is anything you need!

Sharon Joffe, Arista, 212-830-2144

EVERY MOTHER'S NIGHTMARE IS BACK ON THE ROAD! They're doing 6 dates with Jackyl: 5 April/Indiana PA, 6 April/Baltimore, 7 April/Fayetteville NC, 8 April/Myrtle Beach SC, 9 April/Winston-Salem NC and 10 April/Atlanta. Interested in checking out what those folks in Minneapolis know to be a killer night of rock n'roll? Well then by all means give me a call. The E.M.N. boys are still doing phones, so call to set one up as well... Enuff Z'Nuff recently spent over 3 hours on the air with those wonderful folks in Chicago, WYSY. Those of you that haven't yet given this record a spin, should take a hint from WYSY and their listeners. They dig the hard-core (Alice In Chains, Megadeth, Suicidal Tendencies) yet they rock to bands of this genre as well. Do give a listen to "Superstitious", "Master Of Pain" and "Black Rain". KZRO, WFSE, WXMJ, WPCR, WMPG and others have found a special niche for this band and we think you should too.

Jeff "Daily" Cook, Capricorn, 404-873-4796

Just in case you were wondering how often should I play Widespread Panic, the answer is EVERYDAY! Have you checked the sales in your town this week? You might be surprised! Panic has played non-stop across America since the release of their last record and their fans are coming out of the woodwork at retail. Widespread Panic will be on a major tour this summer (TBA soon!) and your listeners will be at these shows. So don't hesitate - put Widespread Panic on TODAY... 311 continues to grow at Alternative Radio. It's time for you to listen to "Do You Right".

Cathy Burke, W.A.R., 212-964-3703

Remember when you were a kid and that first sensation of Spring hit? The lingering odor of fresh air seeped into even the most infinitesimal nooks and crannies of your prepubescent body as you headed for the garage to dust off the ten-speed and break out the roller-skates. The ice cream truck returned and those classroom crushes that got ya through the post-Christmas vacation slump magically turned into true blue bonafide love. Life was a beautiful thing. Ah yes, I remember it well. Here I am years later, having twinges of that same feeling. In fact, except for a few minor adjustments, not much has changed. The ten-speed won't fit in my apartment, so I opted for the Rollerblades. Ice cream has turned to frozen yogurt and the criteria for candidates of bonafide love has ascended out of the ranks of cute butt and killer smile into the more consequential and long-standing substantiality of the inner being (although a cute butt and killer smile are always a plus). My rollerblades have been screaming to escape from their box (Oh yes they are. Their squeaky little voices are keeping me awake at night). That way deep down in the cavity of the soul urge to bare some excellent music while participating in hazardously licentious activity is burning like a flame that will not be quelled. Hasta la vista winter!... Check out Between The Lines on tour now and coming to a Triple A station near you... The Samples tour continues into the midwest. How about that Tonight Show performance?

Jordan Zucker, RCA Records, 404-414-6283

Thanks for everybody's support on the Bruce Hornsby record. The CD will be in stores on April 6th. Bruce Hornsby thanks you and RCA thanks you. Have a great day. If you need anything, call (800) 666-2814, (212) 930-4791, or (404) 414-6283 and ask for Jordan.

Pam Edwards, Columbia, 310-449-2910

Midnight Oil is the future of AOR radio. They've always been on the cusp of becoming megastars in America, and now they've just delivered their most amazing group of songs yet on Earth And Sun And Moon, kicked off by the lyrically potent and sonically dynamic "Truganini" (The entire story of "Truganini" is on the back of the CD single). Their goal this year is to get entrenched in the music scene in the United States. Look for the band to tour extensively, do interviews, and generally just spend a lot of time in the U.S. soaking up our culture. Anyone who has seen the Oils, knows that this is one of the pre-eminent live bands in the world. If you haven't yet seen them, make sure that you don't miss your opportunity this year... Two other bands redefining rock radio are Alice In Chains and Soul Asylum. If you're not having success with "Rooster" or "Black Gold", I'd like to hear about it! From researchland, retail and MTV all we're hearing are extreme positives. Of course, these guys will also be hitting the tour trail all summer long - see Alice at Lollapalooza and Soul Asylum out with the Spin Doctors... And finally, don't forget about the mighty Kinks. They're back with their best music in years and ready to tour the States. "Hatred" gets added by more than a third of all reporters OTB. Get a little angst on your airwaves - it could be the relationship song of the Spring!

Roger Mayer, Capricorn, 818-990-8903

It has always been the expressed intention of Capricorn Records to bring to the forefront the best in American, indigenous rock n'roll. This goal has been accomplished by Widespread Panic and 311. Widespread Panic has come forward with a brilliant new CD entitled Everyday. The entrancing sound of this project has been wrought by endless touring and attention to the art of music. The quality of the album is embodied in "Wondering", the first emphasis track. Thanks to all the early believers in this track and, for the rest of you, give it a spin. You'll discover a tune that's tailor made for 1993 Rock Radio airplay... As for 311, the band is tearing it up on the road and gaining believers at alternative radio. A special thanks to Kevin and Gene at KROQ for their unwavering support of 311. This band will break BIG. Don't miss the bandwagon. Until next week, peace.

Chris Baca, Curb Records, 818-843-2872

I've been lying low from radio, vacationing and negotiating a deal with French Canadian Adult Alternative Artist, Daniel Lavole. Daniel Lanois, the French Canadian producer has just released his second album, so it could get confusing. Daniel Lavole is a Juno nominated, world class artist whose albums consistently go Gold in Canada and Europe. His new album, Hear In The Heart, is critically acclaimed and features a Top 5 Canadian single. His live performance is astounding. Canada's MTV "Much Music" did an hour long "Unplugged" with Daniel, and it's killer. He is a charismatic, sensual, sophisticated international artist whose music recalls Mark Knofler and Sting. We're a few weeks away from release, I'll keep you updated.... Finally, I've missed talking to radio; exchanging opinions and ideas and being turned on to new music. That's why we do this, isn't it?

Michelle Robbins, Hollywood, 818-560-5670

ADD THE FLUID - because it's the right thing to do. It's the only thing to do. JUST DO IT! Ok. Ok. Enough of my silly promotion-rep-type-efforts, if you've listened to the advance cassette, and listened to the single, "Mister Blameshifter", and if you've checked your music library and gave another spin to Glue or Roadmouth, then you know you should do it because this band has been kept underground for long enough, and your listeners (remember them??) deserve to hear something new. That's the 2 best reasons - the music and the kids!

Starvin Marvin Gleicher, Smash/Island, 312-751-0020

Hello sinners! Sheep On Drugs have just "pulled the wool" over Texas and California on a US tour. Look for them "punters", ewe'll never be the same. "Motorbike" will drive it home... Chris Mars has launched 75% Less Fat and all opinions of "Public Opinion" are unanimous. Ask CD101, KBCO, KORS, KTCZ, WRAS, WDRE, etc... Presence, featuring Laurence Tolhurst (ex-Cure) continues to pick up momentum with Live 105 and WBRU. Top 5 phones at Q101 Chicago! Thanks to KROQ and Richard Blades for a great Valley evening... Yello = sudden phone syndrome! Do you need to drive your phone company nuts, ADD "Jungle Bill" NOW and watch the lights blow out... Coming soon LaTour's "Hypnomania" - DO YOU HEAR ME! Play ALL of these Smash releases or I'll send King Duncan and Dead Lee (Sheep On Drugs) to your mother's house. Where is the ceiling in this place?

Chuck P./Margaret Parker, Caroline, 212-989-2929

Busy, busy, busy! Lots of bands, lots of tours! Springhouse continue their national trek, spreading the word of their amazing second album, Postcards From The Arctic - call us for a date near you. Go see the nicest band in the world!... Packing their bags for their first U.S. tour ever, The Auteurs get set to play in Boston, NYC, Wash. DC, Chicago, San Fran, and L.A. Totally swank - be there & support great new music!... Also visiting from afar: Legendary Pink Dots are expected to drop anchor by 4/12 in support of their most recent CD, Malachai (Shadow Weaver pt.2) - watch this space for more news!... Brand spanking new for trance-dance and chill-out djs is the awe-inspiring Excursions In Ambience compilation CD, featuring music by Psychick Warriors Ov Gala, 777, Ultramarine, Future Sound Of London and more! Check it out!... Chuck P. says anyone on the video-rental tip should check out these mind-bending films - Satyajit Ray's "Apu" trilogy, "Black Caesar", "Thunderheart" and "Nanook Of The North"... Coming real soon: ex-Snatches Of Pink leader Michael Rank releases his debut solo effort, Coral, on April 9th... More new stuff real soon: Revolver, David Gray and Walt Mink - free your mind and your turntable will follow! (114 West 26th St., NYC 10001).

Mary Conroy, Atlantic, 212-275-2224

I know it's been a couple of weeks since I put comments in this section. One week I was on vacation, but for the past two weeks I've been trying to recover from the devastating news of my close friend, Donnie Cohen of MCA, being killed in a plane crash. It is a cliché, but it most definitely forced me to reassess what really is important. But, Donnie would be the first to say it goes on, and part of my job is to let you know what stuff you have coming from Atlantic. So, here goes... You are already in receipt of the new track from The Beloved "Sweet Harmony" and a debut album from Boy On A Dolphin entitled Words Inside... We reserived The Lemonheads "It's A Shame About Ray". I think there may have been some of you who missed it first time around!... Next up is a single from David Crosby's forthcoming album. It is a duet with Phil Collins and is titled "Hero". The album is right up the A.A. alley!... Shipping in mid-April is a new Marc Cohn and I know you're all anxious for that!... April and May will also see new efforts from Robert Plant and Pete Townshend, so Atlantic will be keeping your playlists busy well into summer!... Finally, if you're not playing Clannad's "Harry's Game" you are missing it big time! The tune is all over television. And requests continue to pour in to radio and retail for the "Volkswagen Song"! More next week. Rest in peace, Donnie.

Michael Sylvia, Rykodisc, 508-744-7678

Sugar: Beaster - the short-form LP. This is NOT an EP. The first track is "JC Auto" (that's track #4). Add dates are 5 + 6 April. Sugar will be on tour from late April thru May. It really would be a good idea to reassess what you (but NOT your listeners) perceive as "automatics". Sugar, as well as Dinosaur Jr., Chris Harford, Sonic Youth are the new automatics, like it or not, agree or disagree, that's the way it is... The The is another hit record that is biting you in the ass. Think these aforementioned records are "too Alternative"? In that case, you've become your parents. Sorry.

Derek Ault, Alligator, 312-973-7736

Every year at this time, your listeners are asked to dig deep into their pockets for what they can give to a very needy (and persuasive) organization - The U.S. Government. IT'S TAX TIME!!! Working with the idea that taxes = blues, why not help your listeners celebrate their feelings of "goodwill" towards Uncle Sam? Have some fun by mixing together bluesy classic rockers and our classic blues legends and programming a "Money Troubles" theme before April 15th (the tax filing deadline). Call the segment something like "The 10:40 Blues", "Tax Time Blues Break", etc... Have listeners do personal "dedications" to the IRS and/or have the show sponsored by a local tax preparer. We'll add to the show's enjoyment with library product, giveaways, bio material and a suggested Alligator song list. Keep in mind that this is not a pre-packaged show, but simple a timely and fun way for listeners to deal with the recession. Have a blast putting this theme show together! *If your station doesn't already run a blues show, consider the idea. Over 160 AORs and Classic Rockers are using such shows to attract great adult #s! You can too! Please call! Thanks for reading. Buenos Knockers!

Bruce Flohr, Thomas Westfall & Nick Bull, RCA, 800-888-1722

Okay, time to get to work! The full LP from the New York trio, 700 Miles, is on the street. Pick it up, listen to it, and put it on the air. It rocks! Madkap is really doing well, and should definitely be getting play not only in the rap show! Try it, it works!... For those of you on the adventurous side, we have a new Bruce Hornsby album, which includes musicians like Pat Metheny, Bonnie Raitt, Branford Marsalis and Jerry Garcia... The new Cranes album is finished and very close to being on your desk - you'll have the new single very soon - It rules!! Please call me if you need anything, or have any questions/comments!

Artie & Jim, Alert, 1-800-772-7640

A: Knock Knock. B: Who's there? A: Ether. B: Ether who? A: Ether Bunny. A: Knock Knock. B: Who's there. A: Ether. B: Ether Bunny? A: Ether you check out "Hands Off" by The Pinheads, or the rabbit gets it - okay? P.S. Zip - I can see your house from here - Bye now.

Tod Elmore, Atlantic, 212-275-2575

Now that Duff has left MTV, Kid Seth is in mourning. Therefore, I have been left with the thankless task of trying to be clever while promoting the virtues of our fine, fine artists. Here goes - Stone Temple Pilots - GOLD! MTV ACTIVE! What more can one say?; Beloved - Most Added at Alternative and now Most Added at CHR. Tasty!; Eleventh Dream Day - A career record from a truly great rock band. I have you really listened?; King Missile - new single "Trapped" is a real song from a real band - on tour forever! There will be a quiz later... On a lighter note, Monday April 5 is "B-Day" in Chicago as the Atlanta Braves begin their Championship season by beating up on the Cubs. Sorry Paul and Tom.

Carolyn Wolfe, Roadrunner, 212-219-0077

Finally, some nice weather for a change. Could it be that spring is actually on its way? One can only hope! Somehow March managed to slip right by me, but April means more tours and cool records, so how can I complain?... Speaking of tours, Gruntruck are getting ready to go back on the road, over 50 dates nationwide, so you can be sure that they'll be coming to your town! Be sure and take a listen to "Crazy Love", WHTG and CIMX already know how great it is, and your listeners need to hear it! You'll be hearing a lot about this band over the next few weeks, so be prepared!... Other important news, The Moon Seven Times is taking over college radio airwaves and floating into the commercial realm. Early support has been seen from several of your specialty shows, as well as adds to regular rotation at KTAO, The Leading Edge-WPUP, KRCK and WRAS! Any fans of Bel Canto, Cocteau Twins, Sundays or Cowboy Junkies should take notice. Time to run, but I'll talk to you soon!

The Dreaded Troutmaster, Virgin, 212-586-7700

Asphalt Ballet. "Angry Youth". #1 Most Added metal. Already on WWBZ (Heavy), KBER (Heavy), KIOZ (Heavy), KNAC, WXZL, KRXQ, WRZK, WXQR, KRRK. Smashed/trashed at WXTB - over 90% positive response. Statistics are nice, but the real deal is that this bunch of guys crank live. The live shows are way over the top. Currently on tour with Great White. Doing fill-in dates along the way. This thing is catching fire. But you gotta listen to win. It's hot, indeed, but not as hot as Chuck's butt. Hello!

Jon Nardachone, Atlantic, 212-275-2135

Return To the Apocalyptic City from Testament hits radio today! This record is nothing but excruciating thrash metal! Emphasis cut: the live version of "Disciples Of The Watch"!... On the more melodic side, the first Sweet Water single, "Crawl", also hits radio today. This band will be causing one hell of a stir in the near future, so do yourself a favor and drink up the Sweet Water now!... Two releases that are shocking people into convulsions are I Hear Black from Overkill and Savatage's Edge Of Thorns. Just wait out on the title tracks to both records and realize why these two bands have been leading the way since the mid '80s... Overkill and Testament are on the road! Call the above number for interviews. These guys love to reach their real fans via hard core metal radio!! Seek out the righteous ones!... BLINDREVOLUTIONMAD

Michael J. Schnapp, Epic, 212-833-5987

Hey you! "Mind Your Own Business" and "Go Away!" Living Colour - Stain LP - Living Colour - lot's of cool songs! Living Colour/Bad Brains on tour. Oh Yeah! Living Colour - Stain - deep and heavy. Get ready for the live shows starting 4/15... Rage Against The Machine - crazy live shows with House Of Pain. Rage Against The Machine - reaction! Rage Against The Machine's "Bullet In The Head". Ouch! Always something going on!... Infectious Grooves - Freaks, fame and green stanky things! Back in L.A. for refueling! Yo!... Bakers Pink making the "Soul Connection" to "Euphoria"... New Suicidal Tendencies Still Cyco After All These Years out in May!... Screaming Trees on tour soon!... Hollyfaith, a new band from Atlanta, soon!... Brad soon!... Fight soon!... Other stuff I can't say, soon!... Summer - not soon enough!

Linnea Nan, Warner/Reprise, 818-953-3692

My computer won't "communicate" with my printer, my Living Colour disc skips all over the place (Thanks Schnapp!), my trade ads are showing up at service stations and I can't find a new place to live... and I DON'T CARE!!!! Life is great! Life, Sex & Death are on the road!!! with Xtra Large in tow. Were coming back strong at metal, you guys f*ckin' rock! The support on "Telephone Call" has been great - keep it up! Dial me up for your interview & ticket needs... Dinosaur Jr. still turning some heads, give your listeners a chance!... Proper Grounds are closing in! Have you listened?!... The first track from Mr. Vince Neil's "Sister Of Pain" in your hands April 8th. ADD IT 4/12. You will not be sorry!... Bullet-Boys new CD has several surprises for you. Get ready for a May release... Also in May, we're back on track with The Power Trio From Hell! "Go To Hell". Hallelujah.

Susan Greenwood, MCA, 818-777-4118

Oh Hi! So I'm sitting here in the festive MCA Metal office contemplating life and the records I am working. I've come to the conclusion that just about every AOR radio station in the country is playing Flotsam and Jetsam's "Wading Through The Darkness" except KBER in Salt Lake City. Even though Flotsam sold-out in Salt Lake last week, Corey Draper has decided KBER does not want Flotsam fans ("those types of people") listening to his radio station. Hey Corey, it's a funny thing - the same people who are fans of Metallica and Megadeth are also Flotsam and Jetsam fans. How sad that you don't want those 2-3 million people listening to your station. So Corey, maybe you should give up radio programming and open up a Paul Mitchell hair salon where the hairdressers run around naked (your small mind should relate to that - maybe). I'm sure this dialogue will cause a few raised eyebrows out there. But there comes a time when a promotion person (especially the women) must look at the line of disrespect and say "enough is enough".

E.J. Johantgen, Columbia, 212-833-4989

Satan is good. Circus Of Power and Collision both in town last week. Collision shredded the Academy! COP is now on the road supporting Magic And Madness. This show is a must see. The band will hook up with Alice In Chains on the 9th for three weeks and continue towards the east coast... In the meantime, Swamp Devil adds April 19th off the CD (there is no physical single)!... April 26th adds the mighty Season To Risk's Mine Eyes. We've just started... Before the summer, you guys will hear Naked Truth, Fishbone, Cathedral and a record that will be bigger than Devine... Yo Mert and Miss! Thanks for the chance to see Warren Haynes! He's the king!

Chuck, Virgin College Metal Love, 212-586-7700

By now you should be all over the Asphalt Ballet record. Pigs in a blanket. Pigs on the beach. Pigs on the barbecue. Pigs in your bed. Pigs on the floor. "Angry Youth". On tour with Great White. Go see Asphalt live!! Call for tix, interviews!... Metal favorites? Quicksand, Rage Against The Machine, Cathedral... Go Go Arfin!! Selling T-Shirts for Obituary!! Say hi to him for me in your town! Fuckers! Love ya babe, let's do lunch.

Clarissa Garcia, Def American, 818-973-4545

Get ready folks, 'cause it's almost time. Raging Slab's Dynamite Monster Boogie Concert will be released April 27th. They will shoot the video for "Anywhere But Here" this week... Also look for Danzig's EP, Thrall—Demonsweatlive, on May 11th. "It's Coming Down" will be the first video from this exciting release. Four live tracks and three newly-recorded studio tracks from Danzig are definitely something to look forward to... You know how maternal I get. So, allow me to indulge while I congratulate my "babies" (BulletBoys) on the completion of Za-Za, their new album due out in May on Warner Bros. I heard the album last week only once, so I don't know song titles yet. I do know that there's a variety of styles, tempos and influences on this record. And you can tell da boys had fun doing this record. If I had the advance (hint, hint), I'd be able to give you song titles (there's a song about Eddie Van Halen I want to hear again). Once again, congratulations to Jimmy, Mick, Lonnie and Marq on a job well done... As I write this, I'm looking forward to tonight's Annual Dish, also known as The Academy Awards. I can't wait for the gaudy outfits, pretentious acceptance speeches and embarrassing moments. Oh, what a night it will be! Let's dish next week, okay?

Munsey Ricci, Skateboard Marketing L.T.D., 516-825-5549

Nuclear Assault up 3-2 bullet across the board. If you're not reporting this record, you know we will be on you. There is no rest for "Something Wicked" until it reaches number 1. Ya know what I'm saying. So just do it... St. Thomas is in your face. The agency is booking dates by you now. Here is a new band that is better than all the other shit you're getting dumped with. Dig on this record heavy - you know your listeners will love it. Top 3 phones at KNAC... Dirty Looks is on the road. Myself and Steve Aprea know this band rocks. Just ask every venue that question. Sold out dude. We have what you need, do you?... And talking about hip records. Deep Jimi is on your desk. Don't ignore this record. Give it a chance to get ahead of your listeners... If you're radio you know what's coming. I Mother Earth. One of the buzz bands of 1993. You also know what else is coming. Some fine hard rock/heavy metal. Till next time. Cya.

Jesse Lombardi, Restless, 213-957-4357

Restless Nation Tour in your face across our nation. This tour will kick ass! Dumpster Juice is #1 Most Added!!!! This record is fucking amazing! I really love it! If you like Pantera, listen to this disc! Try the Dumpster Juice Cocktail (Beth this is a drink) 1oz Vodka, 1oz 151 Rum, 1oz Midori, 1oz orange juice, 1oz pineapple, 1oz cranberry juice. Shake with ice and strain into high ball. Should have murky brown color. Can also be served as a shot... The Mind Over Four disc is phenomenal. If you violently rip the keyboards out of Dream Theater, put the band on crack and acid, throw them totally over the edge, send them to a conservatory of music and give them Rage Against The Machine's attitude you might have a band like Mind Over Four! Phil from Pantera loves this band. He is even wearing their shirt on the last record. I love having some real bands at this label... Slam numbers drop this week. I know it is because you are switching tracks... Dumpster Juice, That Not So Fresh Feeling in your face! See ya on the road! Peace!

Joanne "Lumberjack" Grand/Sheri Sinclair, Round The Globe Music, 212-947-5575

Round The Globe - Kickin' major butt! We are looking for adds for The God Machine ("Home" and Sugar's new one Beaster, this week (which is 4/5 and 4/6). Very heavy, very cool - you'll like these guys... Also on the new single from Life, Sex & Death, "Telephone Call" is rumbling under the Hard Report! Please don't forget, they are on the road - IF YOU NEED TICKETS AND INTERVIEWS, CALL ME!!!!... As I promised, Dig's EP, Runt, is catching on everywhere! Other than it's debuts in a lot of stations, it's also at a rumble! Let's get it up there! Thank you for your help with it... Also, we've got the new Benediction coming out for your pleasure in April, as well as a few other surprises. So call us, we're happening!

Steve "The Cruise Director" Prue, Concrete, 212-645-1360

ADD FULL MONSTER MAGNET CD AND MIND BOMB CD PRO! Hi, I'm Steve, your cruise director for this sexy cruise through the clear blue waters of Metal Radio. Later on, there will be moshing on the Fiesta Deck. On the port of entry tip: The Butthole Surfers are sunning themselves in the high chart positions - this will change your life. Infectious Grooves on the Leado deck with all the freaks kickin' it out with "Slo-Motion Jam". Down in the lounge Living Colour and Quicksand are slurpin' weird frozen drinks and spreading suntan oil all over the stomach of metal radio with "Go Away" and "Fazer". Wool is kicking live and Iron Maiden have already kicked it live over at the Tiki piano bar. Some requests have been "Slightly Under" and "Fear Of The Dark". Meandering to the pool bar, Pantera and Low Pop Suicide have their heads together and sunglasses on (their future is way bright!) over how cool the industrial tip is: "By Demons Be Driven" (Godflesh remix) and "Kiss Your Lips" (way fucked up album version) are walking like real men. Shooting the breeze on the fantail tip are Rockboys Spread Eagle and Arcade doing the right thing with "Revolution Maker" and "Nothing To Lose", and might I add, looking damn good doing it. Circus Of Power are down in the Engine Room trying to make the ship go faster so they can get back in time to go out with Alice In Chains and later with Gruntruck. Style Monkees are holed up in their cabins stuffing bottles with the new single thing with "Style Lord", so they will wash up on your desk for adds on 4/12. Harmonizing the Radio passengers with "Love And Revolution" is Tragic Romance. And somewhere in the bowels of the lower deck, the Mighty Mighty Bosstones are winning all the crew's money at dice with "Police Beat" - gotta pay the bills, y'all. Now if you're not playing these bands, you know where you are?? You're treading water, why? YOU MISSED THE BOAT! Any questions? Thank you for sailing with Concrete Cruises... Happy birthday to Cheryl Valentine and Psycho. Thanks Ritt, for all the hospitality.

Dyana Kass, Hollywood, 818-560-5670

Hey all you people out there in radioland! You're looking good! I must say that those playlists are looking extra sharp with Sacred Reich on top. To remain truly "En Vogue", keep these guys there for many moons to come so as to not have your playlist deemed "unfashionable". "Crawling" is the slammin' new cut, and if you have not added this jammy, do it now! The guys are finishing up their tour with Pantera, playing a ridiculously huge Spring Break even in Lake Havasu, Arizona (The Fluid and the Boo Yaa Tribe will be performing as well), complete with jockaramas named "Biff" and "Chip" and bleach blondes worrying about their tan lines and what time the "Hot Bod" contests are, all banging their heads to the beat. Ya gotta love it. Sacred will then be whisked away to Europe for a spell to then come back and tour the States for ya'll to enjoy. If you need phoners just give us a call!... The Fluid is coming up fast with an add date of April 26th for "7/14". This is not just another hard-edged alternative band. They are "the" hard-edged alternative band, so believe the hype and get those advances going in your car, in your home and in your walkmans, so that you are ready to rock come April... Keep up the Rattlebone play on "X-Ray Eyes" and expect a Dave Jerden produced full release from these guys this fall... Did I hear a rumor that The Scream is currently in the studio with the Beastie Boys' knob turner Mario Caldato Jr.? I think so! Look for the plastic come August.

Judy/Bill, AIM Metal, 800-275-0091/908-679-9111

There is trouble in paradise! Bill and Nikki had their first fight. Further details will follow as soon as Bill is composed enough to tell us what exactly happened. As far as I can tell, it had something to do with his cooking ability (or lack of it). Macaroni and cheese five days a week just doesn't cut it for a Jersey princess... April 5th is the add date for Mind Bomb's first single "Segue". There will be some more cool stuff coming your way from them soon... Primus is also going for adds on April 5th. "My Name Is Mud" is the first single. Be open minded - it's very cool stuff... Monster Magnet will go for adds this week too, on their full LP Superjude. The single is already Top 20... You all should have Asphalt Ballet's new album Pigs this week. The first single "Angry Youth" was #1 and #2 Most added this week. The rest of the LP rocks very heavy as well... Orangutang made a lot of people take notice this week. Top 5 Most Added everywhere! Check out the EP, there is something on it for most everyone... Tool is making huge jumps on the chart! Undertow is packed with intense tunes so play it to your heart's content... Helmet, The Jesus Lizard, and Therapy? are getting set to hit the road together soon. Keep your eyes open for the "Puss" video. Everyone should have the Therapy? EP containing "Perversonality" with 3 b-sides not on the album. Keep this band on the charts. They have a new track and a tour... Enuff Z'Nuff is doing well with the tracks "Master Of Pain" and "Superstitious"... Every Mother's Nightmare new metal track is "I Hate Myself". It's much heavier than the previous track, so check it out! Peace!

Psycho Abramson/Tom Gates, Roadrunner, 212-219-0077

Clint Eastwood, one of the last remaining real men, really f'cked shit up at the Oscars, congratulations! So, life is good nowadays. Spring is here, I'm seeing lots of really good shows and I am still working that amazing record Push by that brilliant band Gruntruck! The tour with Circus Of Power (co-headlining), starts in mid-April so stay tuned for dates, any minute now!... Biohazard are still on the road! The tour with Sick Of It All ends on 4/8 but the Biohazard tour ends 4/24 at the headlining show at the Academy in NYC! You have the clean edits so play the fk out of this record! I want this record back at #1! I don't wish to see any old washed up has-beens going ahead of me! A name doesn't make a good record, remember that! Why can't people just remember the immortal words of Flavor Flav - "Don't believe the hype!"... On tour soon: Disincarnate in April/May with Bolt Thrower and Benediction, Obituary and Fear Factory in April/May and Decide in May/June with Dismember and Vader. Call me for info on all of the above! To answer your questions: No, we have not stopped releasing product and yes, you will receive Disincarnate real soon and No, I don't sleep with men! Anyway, I gotta jump so: Tool, Meathook Seed, Cannibal Corpse, Life Of Agony... Gruntruck! The adds are coming in! The tour starts in mid-April co-headlining with Circus Of Power and will play everywhere. Still bringing in strong phones at KISW and KNAC! New stations pushing Gruntruck include WVCB and KBPI! "Crazy Love" is definitely the track to pay attention to! I'm comin' at you, so please give it a good listen. Talk to you soon! See ya!

Mert Dunne, Megaforce & Crazy Mgmt., 908-972-3456

Before this weekend I was wondering why there weren't more popular New Jersey bands. Then I had the fortune to see two locals that actually had a good crowd. Then I found out that everyone in the crowd was related to the bands, and I felt a little better. But when they all left before the headliner even went on, I was left wondering again. I'm still waiting for an explanation. On the good side, it's not often I get the chance to pull a stool right up to the stage and get my requests played. I do have to say the Junk Monkeys didn't know the actual crowd size, they played to a 5,000 plus crowd - amazing show! Thanks to Studman for taking me... Nudeswirl's video for "F Sharp" was on Headbanger's Ball, by now, I hope everyone saw it. Let me know what you think of it. Nudeswirl is still jamming on the charts, let's keep it there!... Mind Funk. "Dropped". I wasn't lying was I?

Greg Derbas "Radio Punk", Red Light/Grind Core, 708-297-6538

Vital Remains & At The Gates on your desk now! Prepare to have your ears blown off by some of today's most brutal death metal... Pitch Shifter on the Hard Report at #48... Accidental Suicide adding the little extra hot sauce to their cannibalistic lyrics... Prepare yourself for Dead Youth - Writ-ing. Only four songs can be played off of this one without having the FCC all over your ass!... Also on the way in April is Zoetrope's Mind Over Splat-ter. They're back.

Brian McDowell, Leviathan, 513-825-0612

Stygian played an amazing set at the Oak Theater in Chicago last Friday. The crowd went absolutely crazy!! They will be continuing dates throughout the midwest in support of Planetary Destruction. The band is still available for interviews for the people we have missed, give us a call... We are happy to announce the signing of Boston's Joe Stump. His release Guitar Dominance, will have a great rack for radio in "The Ultraviolence". Very wicked! Coming in May!

Paula Hogan, Century Media, 818-988-3691

Thanks to all those who came out to party with Tragic Romance at their record release party. Your early support will be rewarded. However, it's time to start charting the band. If you are still in need of a copy, please call me. I hate repeating myself!... EyeHateGod will tour in June. Keep on this record. It's only six weeks old, so excuses of it being old will not be accepted. There are also many of you who are not charting the record because you previously received the import version. This will not fly either. It is a record that warrants exposure on your station. Get on it now!... Samael and Sodom are continuing their assault. Giveaways are now available - call for yours. Don't be left out... Again, keep the work up on Tiamat. Still getting great numbers with many of you... God Is LSD shipped to radio on 3/26. Looking for adds on 4/5 & 6. The band falls in the industrial/techno genre, and we all know that works well (Ministry anyone?)... Coming up: Lemming Project, Christian Death, Solstice, Only Living Witness (Boston be on the look out of a 3-song advance within the next two weeks).
