But, we're pretty proud of the nice people we serve. So we're naming just a few of the many advertisers who know from experience that National Screen Service is a dependable producer of quality films for advertising. They know we fill all their needs, from idea consultation to delivery of release prints. They seem to like our work because they keep coming back. And, there's no recommendation like satisfied customers.

QUIGLEY PUBLICATIONS ✦ NEW YORK

Foreword

THIS SECOND edition of the International Television Almanac is a companion publication to the International Motion Picture Almanac, now in its 29th year. Both are based on the research and statistical resources of the Quigley Publishing Company. This volume is intended to supply the reference needs of the television industry. For this purpose there has been assembled in convenient form a comprehensive biographical section, together with other departments containing the facts and information on the industry, organizations and personnel essential for informed operation in the great and expanding field of television entertainment.

The Lion to be King who wanted of two forests...

Once there was a lion who was ruler of a forest. It was a verdant green forest and the lion was esteemed for his leadership and successes. This he found very gratifying, so he said to himself, "Why not be king of two forests...?"

Not to belabor Aesop, the advent of MGM-TV has been one of the momentous events in the annals of entertainment. Also one of its greatest success stories. As the trade reports indicate, the response to the big MGM-TV opportunity has been tremendous. And you are doubtless also aware that only one station in each telecasting area can qualify as an MGM-TV affiliate. So, if you haven't done so already, we urge you to make immediate inquiry concerning the 725 feature films available and the special promotional privileges offered.

Viewing Habits

More than 34,000,000 families own television sets—71% of the nation.

There are 95.8% one-set homes, 4.2% two-set homes as of January, 1956.

More time is spent each day watching television than any other activity except sleeping—2.6 billion person-hours every week, 1.9 billion hours in all economic pursuits.

PLANNING & DEVELOPMENT

NEW PROGRAM YARDSTICKS

by THOMAS A. McAVITY

Executive Vice-President, NBC Television Programs and Sales

THE VIEWING, advertising and critical enthusiasm for color television clearly shows that the big news in the medium this year is color.

And to help meet the demand from all these sources, NBC is expanding its color schedule by 500 per cent this Fall by presenting at least one major color program every night of the week, in addition to the Spectaculars and on some nights as many as three straight hours of color programming. In the fourth quarter of 1956 nighttime color programming will total between 120 and 130 hours, as compared to 22.5 for the fourth quarter of 1955.

We believe that this regular scheduling of color definitely will establish the color viewing habit as families become accustomed to watching the same program in color at the same time each week.

NBC estimates that the number of color sets in use will have increased from 30,000 at the beginning of 1956 to more than 300,000 at the beginning of 1957.

The outlook for next year is even more exciting. It was predicted recently that RCA alone will manufacture and sell at least 500,000 color television sets in 1957. Already, as the Fall television season with its greatly expanded color schedule is under way, dealers are ordering large numbers of color receivers to meet the public demand.

This tremendous upsurge in the number of color sets pinpoints the avid interest audiences have in color programming. It proves the public's acceptance of color, which has resulted from the larger network and local color offerings, from the lower prices of color receivers and from the satisfaction of present color set owners.

Many of these new color TV viewers are in California and until now have not had the opportunity to see major color productions at the same convenient hours as the people in the east. Therefore NBC, for the first time, will utilize the newly developed lenticular film system. Through this new process, electronic color information is registered on special black and white film which can be developed rapidly with normal black and white techniques and then played back as a color TV program at more convenient times.

As a result of NBC's initiative, there is now a substantial amount of time available for color programs, improved technical equipment to transmit them and a growing audience to view them. However, we are also aware that the job does not end there, but that this tremendous opportunity must be used to the fullest extent. We hope to accomplish the latter by means of several ambitious projects.

We have signed more than a score of the most celebrated stars from Broadway, television, motion pictures and the concert stage for appearances in original musicals, contemporary and classical dramas, telementaries and historical dramas, concert programs, ballets and operas. These renowned entertainers include Mary Martin, Paul Douglas, Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne, Maurice Evans, Audrey Hepburn, Mel Ferrer, Celeste Holm, Cyril Ritchard, Marian Anderson, Andre Segovia, Maurice Chevalier, Sonja Henie, Margot Fonteyn and Artur Rubenstein.

Top producers, directors, authors and composers from the world of show business will bring 90-minute and two-hour color presentations to NBC-TV viewers. Among these distinguished artists are the award-winning motion picture producers John Huston, Anatole Litvak, Joseph Mankiewicz and Norman Panama; the famous impresario S. Hurok; Broadway producer-director-playwright Garson Kanin; the Broadway-motion picture musical team of Sammy Cahn and Jule Styne; recording star Gordon Jenkins and NBC Opera producer Samuel Chotzinoff.

These talents will be represented in such features as "High Button Shoes," "Romeo and Juliet," "Manhattan Tower," "The Sonja Henie Ice Revue," "Man and Superman," "La Boheme," "Born Yesterday," "War and Peace," "Festival of Music" and the Sadler's Wells presentation of "Cinderella."

This wide-scale scheduling of superior color presentations will mark a new era in color television that will set new standards in program fare. Only in this way can the fantastic opportunity embodied in this great colorful medium be fully utilized for the maximum benefit of everyone.

Innovations in Programming

by J. J. VAN VOLKENBURG

President, CBS Television

THE OPENING of the 1956-57 television season this Fall saw the introduction of a major innovation in popular entertainment: the first hour-and-a-half dramatic television series to be broadcast on a regular weekly basis.

Entitled Playhouse 90 and presented on the CBS Television Network, the series put into practice a theory combining a basic principle in the production of television drama together with a long-established principle of CBS Television programming.

The first principle was that television's ability to convey the full development of plot and character and thereby do justice to the artistry of some of the most distinguished authors and playwrights of our time would be greatly enhanced by extending the time span of the television drama.

The second principle was that the most effective means of building program popularity was through program continuity and frequency—that is, the presentation of superior programs on a regularly-scheduled basis. For only by such continuity could the anticipation of the television audience, once stimulated, be effectively and consistently satisfied, and the habit of viewing become firmly entrenched.

It is essentially this element of week-to-week continuity that makes Playhouse 90 unique in the annals of television drama and will, in our judgment, enable it to build increasingly larger audiences. Our confidence in this policy is based not only on CBS Television's continuing and striking leadership in programming over the years, but on the most recent program popularity reports in which the network's regularly-scheduled weekly programs continue to dominate by a wide margin the industry's "Top Ten" program list.

However, the most arresting example of the network's thesis of continuity may be found in CBS Television's daytime program structure which, with the exception of a single hour on Friday morning, is identical each day of the week from Monday through Friday. This commitment to the value of continuity was given further expression at the opening of the Fall television season by the conversion of Our Miss Brooks, one of the most popular nighttime programs in television, to a half-hour series every afternoon from Monday through Friday.

Any theory, no matter how successful, obviously suffers when it becomes inflexible. Thus, CBS Television continues to broadcast "one-time" programs of special significance and excitement as the occasion warrants. These include the Election Night returns, special holiday programs, and such as the musical version of Cinderella starring Julie Andrews with music by Richard Rodgers and Oscar Hammerstein, II.

If the amount of viewing by the average family is a valid gauge, Americans are enjoying television more than ever before. Today they are spending five hours each day watching their screens, and CBS Television programs are earning their full share of their attention, as much as or more than any other network. In our judgment, this leadership is the direct consequence of the structure and quality of CBS Television programming.

Films on TV Only Beginning

by ROBERT F. LEWINE

ABC-TV Vice-President in Charge of Programming and Sales

IT'S HERE to stay. That in short sums up the status of film on television. If it doesn't dominate television programming today, it will soon. Film has many advantages immediately recognizable to the advertiser, to talent, to the viewing audience and to the networks. As long as those advantages continue, the production of television programs on film must continue to grow.

For the ABC Television Network the increased use of film is a conscious policy based on the careful study of program acceptance, audience viewing habits, industry economics and cost efficiency. It is our experience that on each of these points filmed programs do the job better.

It is axiomatic that film eliminates the last-minute risks, the migraine headaches, the fluffs, electronic failures, the frantic last-minute revisions that traditionally follow dress rehearsals of live programs. The invention of the scissors long ago eliminated mistakes in the motion picture industry; so, in television, too, the mistakes wind up in the cutting barrel.

I have always maintained that the television viewer has never been interested in whether a program is filmed or live. As a matter of fact, there is research to support my conviction that the average viewer can't tell the difference between film and live. Again, it's axiomatic that the viewer's sole concern is whether a program is entertaining or not, and this is a proper criterion. The anti-film aesthetes stoutly maintain that film is inferior programming and they point with pride to the top rankings of live shows as listed by the rating services. In the top ten during the past season one-half of the shows were on celluloid. These figures reflect film's potential, since the ratio of film vs. live programs on television in the 1955-1956 season were about 40 percent to 60 percent live.

To be a proponent of film should not automatically make one an opponent of live television. No one can deny that live television not only has its place in every program schedule, but in certain formats is superior to film. Obviously, news, special events and sports are effective only as long as their immediacy and spontaneity are preserved. Quiz and panel shows are at their best in front of the electronic cameras. There was a time, too, when live television was considered essential to comedy formats, but the use of a live audience in film studios and the invention of credible laugh tracks have put many situation comedies and standup comics on celluloid with notable success.

Who can argue that television is not better off today through the increased use of film? It has brought more and better talent to programming; it has broadened the base of story material by releasing television from the confinement of the studio's four walls; it relieves the sponsor's summer replacement problems by repeating the best of his films; it provides a consistent quality in all markets—"live" and delayed; it offers a more finished product. In short, film has proved itself to have many advantages—operational as well as creative—on almost every count.

We at ABC believe that by having such professionals produce programs for us as Walt Disney, Warner Brothers, Lou Edelman, Don Sharpe and Jack Chertok—to name but a few—we are able to offer a form of insurance that results in better programming for the advertiser and for the viewing audience. Surely, there is no substitute for the experience that these producers have had through the years or for their established success. Where else can one avail himself of such skilled technicians, modern motion picture plants and hallmarks of quality in entertainment! A year ago I delivered an address hailing the important role of film in network television. I felt then, as I do now, that its importance is much underrated. If asked where film is going from here, I would have to say, "Further still—much further."

Foreign Films in the United States

THE status of the foreign film in the U. S. has altered somewhat in the past year.

While the imports still are not generally accepted in regular theatres, they have been utilized with much success on occasion in some of them.

The basic reason for this was an economic one. Where business was slow, especially for the midweek shows, something was needed to bolster the sagging box office. Imports were used (including dubbed versions) and were found to increase business. This, of course, does not apply to all situations but at least foreign films were shown where they had never been considered before and in towns that seemed highly unlikely for such exhibition.

Another reason for their utilization was the alleged shortage of product which has caused considerable consternation among exhibitors. And many have found the foreign films a profitable substitute.

Each year there seems to be a shift in popularity to a different country's films. Last year Japan was the fair-haired source while this past year has seen France once again dominate the imports. In fact, "Diabolique" has been one of the most phenomenal imports shown here in years. Not exhibited in a dubbed version, it nevertheless has been a success in virtually every spot it's played. Other successful French films include "Adorable Creatures," "The Proud and the Beautiful" and "Riffi."

Other important foreign language films imported recently include: (Italian) "La Strada," "Madame Butterfly," "Umberto D." and "House of Ricordi;" (Japanese) "Samurai" (Academy Award winner), "The Golden Demon" and "The Phantom Horse;" (German) "Don Juan" and "The Last Ten Days."

Among the top British films shown here this past year were "The Divided Heart," "Doctor at Sea," "I Am a Camera," "The Ladykillers," "The Night My Number Came Up," "Private's Progress," "Richard III" and "Simon and Laura."

The number of art theatres has also increased somewhat due, in part, to the product shortage and to the quality product crossing the ocean.

A report from the New York State Motion Picture Division, covering the period from April 1, 1955, to March 31, 1956 showed a total of 547 foreign films reviewed. Hong Kong topped the list with 139 and was followed by Mexico with 95; England, 73; Germany, 70; Italy, 37; U.S.S.R., 30, and France, 27.

The films listed below include foreign-language—and also British—pictures with English subtitles or English dubbing, excepting some of the Greek, German and Spanish product. The country of origin of the film is indicated in parentheses after the title: (Arg) Argentina; (Aust) Australia; (Au) Austria; (Br) British; (Can) Canada; (Fin) Finland; (F) France; (G) Germany; (Gr) Greece; (In) India; (I) Ireland; (It) Italy; (J) Japan; (M) Mexico; (Russ) Russia; (So. Af.) South Africa; (S) Spain; (Sw) Sweden; (Y) Yugoslavia. (R) indicates a reissue, (C) a picture in color, (CS) CinemaScope and (VV) VistaVision.

THE AUDIENCE SPECIALIZES ITSELF!

The sheer volume of entertainment material being forced on American audiences today is frightening... it becomes a relief to turn it off!

BUT, FILMS OF SPECIAL APPEAL ARE MORE APPEALING THAN EVER...

for when American audiences do go to the theatre, they don't want just another movie!... they search out the fresh, the strange, the exotic, the Special!

The very factors that brought American films to dominate most foreign markets are today at work enhancing the foreign film in America.

TO THE FOREIGN PRODUCER (or to the Art Producer whose product is "foreign" in standard movie houses), we offer sustained specialized effort in enlarging American audiences and revenues.

TO THE EXHIBITOR HUNTING A NEW POLICY IN A MAD MARKET

we offer exciting first-class programs tailored to the profit in each situation. Prepare to be astounded!

The invention that's never finished

From 10,000 home television sets in 1946 to 37,000,000 in 1956 — a miraculous multiplication!

All through the twenties, as an all-electronic system was developing in the RCA laboratories, NBC was exploring the new medium's program potential. As early as 1938, NBC demonstrated television's vast mobility with the first major league baseball telecast, the first telecast from an airplane. In 1956, this imaginative use of TV produces a program like Wide Wide World, with its integration of many mobile units at widely scattered places and with live relays from transoceanic locations.

Unending research, creative pioneering in operational and program production procedures — these have kept television growing. Today, compatible all-electronic Color Television is the medium's biggest news, generating fresh entertainment excitement for audiences and expanding television's capacity for service to American business. And at NBC, the patterns and techniques of Color program production are taking shape for the whole industry.

Will television ever be finally and fully invented? Not as far as NBC is concerned.

“Nothing chills nonsense like exposure to the air”

Woodrow Wilson said it. And, we'd like to add, nothing nourishes truth so effectively as that very same exposure.

No medium has ever given so wide an airing to human activity as television. A single program has reached 67 million people—40% of all Americans.

We like to think that the three types of lenses on a television camera are a symbol of this medium's penetrating coverage. There's the wide-angle lens, which broadens your view to include the complete scene—be it ball park, stage or convention hall. The normal lens, which is very much like the human eye. And the telephoto lens, which brings events and people close up, catches the flight of a golf ball, the tip of a ballerina's slipper, the flick of an orator's eyelash.

Clearly, television today is a mature and responsible medium, serving the growing public need to be well informed.

ASCAP

of America*

For more than forty years the members of the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers have supplied our nation's tremendous entertainment world with its basic ingredient—the music of America.

An ASCAP license grants the commercial user of music the right to perform the Society's entire repertory in one complete package. The top tunes of television, radio and records, tomorrow's song hits, yesterday's favorites, hits from Broadway and Hollywood, as well as the best in the field of classical and religious music are always available through an ASCAP license.

BMI

For SERVICE in TV

SERVICE continues to be one of the basic theme songs at BMI. Not only are its facilities offered to its TV licensees, but to producers, advertising agencies and their clients, TV film distributors, music conductors, directors, and everyone in TV concerned with music and programming.

This service is apparent in the day to day activities of BMI and is provided in many forms, such as:

- Assistance in the selection or creation of music for theme, background, bridge, cue or incidental mood music.
- Help in protecting music ownership rights.
- Answers to questions concerning copy-rights, music right for future residual usage and help in solving all other problems concerning the use of music in TV.
- Aid in music clearance.

TELEVISION Sketch BOOK

A regular monthly service of pre-tested musical sketches for the producer, director and artist

Timely and practical working scripts for the presentation of songs in dramatic, comic and pictorial fashion.

The very latest song hits as well as the standard favorites are developed into photogenic sketches which can be used effectively as complete musical shows, as production numbers in variety programs or as scene-setting segments.

There are dozens of ways in which you can adapt the BMI Sketchbook to advantage.

Let BMI give you the TV Music Story— Call or write BMI TV SERVICE DEPARTMENT

TV Channel Allocations

On April 13, 1952, the Federal Communications Commission announced lifting of the "freeze" on new television station construction which had been in effect since September 30, 1948. In so doing, it also made public the allocation of the new ultra-high frequency channels and some changes in the existing very-high frequency bands. Theoretically, allocation of the ultra-high frequency channels makes possible 2,053 new stations in 1,291 communities. This includes 242 exclusive educational outlets and is in addition to the 108 TV stations then on the air. Following is the complete list of cities and the channels assigned to each. The population of each community is given in parentheses. The asterisk (*) preceding a channel number indicates a frequency reserved for educational use.

The direction—of any film is a complex procedure where experience plays an important part in obtaining the desired effects. And so it is in the film processing laboratory.

At Precision, expert guidance through each phase of the processing operation assures producers, cameramen and directors the finest possible results.

All of which leads to another form of direction: West of 5th Avenue on 46th Street in New York to Precision. That's the right direction for you wherever you are and whatever your film processing problem.

In everything there is one best...in film processing, it's Precision.

RAPIDWELD

An exclusive scratch-removal and rejuvenation process guaranteed to restore and extend the life of your film at a fraction of the cost of a new print. Tears, torn splices, and sprocket holes are repaired so your worn irreplaceable old film emerges fresh and clear with practically original screening qualities.

PROTECT
PRESERVE

RAPIDTREAT

Our original preservation process to assure long life is a special protective coating that resists inevitable scratches, staining, and brittleness. Producers, TV companies, educational institutions, industrial firms, etc., depend on our nearly 20 year experience to extend film life indefinitely.

The Industry's Most Influential Weekly Trade Paper

For more than a third-of-a-century the dominating thought behind every issue of the Herald has been to merit the full respect and thorough confidence of its readers.

That is why it continues to be the industry's most influential weekly trade paper.

And that is why the Herald's subscription revenue is greater than any other film trade paper receives. . . .

The readers of the Herald believe the Herald and believe in the soundness of its principles.

And the readers of the Herald include over 95% of the total buying power of the nation's theatres.

Better Theatres

The authoritative Equipment and Refreshment Section of —

MOTION PICTURE HERALD

Published monthly as a section of the Herald, BETTER THEATRES is unquestionably the best read publication on theatre design, equipment and maintenance.

Reaches The
People Who Count—
The People
Who BUY!

Enjoying as it does the soundly entrenched, solid circulation of MOTION PICTURE HERALD, the BETTER THEATRES section has throughout the years performed in the Quigley tradition of progressive pioneering and influential leadership.

That these are not so many words is evident from the long list of now-accepted standards of design, equipment and maintenance which have become established in many thousands of the nation's theatres — and which were first advocated or received their greatest impetus through vigorous editorial campaigns in BETTER THEATRES.

BETTER REFRESHMENT MERCHANDISING is a special department in every issue of the HERALD — the pioneer in this important specialty. (Just as BETTER THEATRES was the first trade paper section devoted to the physical theatre.)

A
Quigley Publication

Watch for further additions to the long list of pace-setting innovations in the HERALD and BETTER THEATRES.

A prominent exhibitor paid us the kind of compliment that means most to us when he put it this way:

“Like most of the exhibitors I know, the trade papers I really read are Quigley Publications—because I have solid confidence in them.”

The “solid confidence” of the industry we firmly believe that to be the greatest asset that any trade publication can possess. That has been the unswerving aim of Quigley Publications for more than a third of a century.

The Industry's Most Influential Weekly Trade Paper

For more than a third-of-a-century the dominating thought behind every issue of the Herald has been to merit the full respect and thorough confidence of its readers.

That is why it continues to be the industry's most influential weekly trade paper.

And that is why the Herald's subscription revenue is greater than any other film trade paper receives. . . .

The readers of the Herald believe the Herald and believe in the soundness of its principles.

And the readers of the Herald include over 95% of the total buying power of the nation's theatres.

TELEVISION IN CANADA

Toronto, September, 1956

FUTURE of TV in Canada, now lagging as much as five or six years behind the U. S., is dependent on an exhaustive study under way by the Royal Commission on Broadcasting.

The Commission has spent six months holding hearings across the country. It has listened to all manner of briefs, from within the industry and from the public. It will attempt to set a course for the future development of TV in Canada, as well as radio.

There are an estimated 2,000,000 homes equipped with TV receivers, with TV service brought within reach of 80 per cent of the population. Eight Canadian Broadcasting Corporation stations operate in the key centers, with 25 privately-owned stations operating in the secondary areas. Service is available to 9,000,000 English-speaking people and to some 4,000,000 French-speaking people. The Canadian Broadcasting Corp. is Government-owned, organized to maintain a national service.

Control of stations in the most important centers is held by the CBC. It is this hold which private TV seeks to break. Private TV wants to operate second stations in each of these areas. This along with the possibility of recommending the setting up of an independent regulatory body are the two most-awaited results of the Commission's hearings by the industry. At present, the regulatory functions are held by the CBC as well as operating in competition with private industry.

The commission must also seek ways of finding new sources of revenue for the CBC, which in the last fiscal year showed a loss of more than a million dollars because of a decline in revenue from the excise tax on sales of TV sets, its main source of revenue. No small burden to the CBC is its commitment to the private stations of the country to provide a national program service. This service costs the CBC almost $100,000 for each station. The service means between 40 and 45 hours a week in English and between 35 and 40 hours a week in French for distribution to areas served by CBC stations and to other communities through the cooperation of privately-owned affiliates.

Over 55 per cent of the English service and more than 85 per cent of the French were Canadian-produced, accounting for the fact that both Toronto and Montreal rate with the largest production centers of the TV-world in quantity of original production.

The top U. S.-produced shows are available in this country, with usually the same advertisers sponsoring in both countries. There is a healthy state of interest in the medium by advertisers. Most of the best time was sold before the fall programming was actually under way. As a result, advertisers joined the breweries in buying time on U. S. TV stations to beam a strong signal to cities of Canada to sell their products.

Color TV continues in the blueprint stage. Manufacturers of sets are beginning to turn to this field to promote set sales and to find a new venue for production. Color TV is available to those centers near U. S.-beamed signals. When there are sufficient sets in operation, the CBC has said, it will make color programs available.

Operators of privately-owned TV outlets in this country are mainly radio-station operators, affiliated in their operations with newspapers, although two theatrical firms have major shares in the operations of three stations. Famous Players Canadian Corp., Ltd., subsidiary of Paramount Pictures, operating some 30 theatres in Canada, has a 50 per cent interest in two stations, at Kitchener, Ont., and Quebec City, P.Q. RKO Pictures, Ltd., owned by General Teleradio, last year purchased a majority interest in CKLW-TV, Windsor, Ont. The latter purchase resulted in a decision by the Government to watch very closely any attempt by American interests to purchase shares in the operations of Canadian stations.

Canada with its proximity to the U. S. and its lower costs may become an important center of syndicated film production if the first experiment in the field proves successful. The producer is now in the midst of production of a $1,500,000 series, underwritten by the CBC. This would be the first serious attempt at motion picture production in Canada. Until this time such production has been on a hit-or-miss basis.

Production of advertising clips and editing services are the main functions of the nearly 60 film production companies. Most have complete lab facilities for processing 16mm film. The U. S. syndicated-film companies have either direct distribution or franchise holders, although unlike their counterparts in theatrical film distribution they haven't an association to lay down a code of ethics or interchange of problems.

Daytime TV is something for the future. Bulk of the stations confine their operations to the evening market, leaving the daytime to radio. Radio continues to be a factor with more radio sets now being sold than TV sets.

Films will receive their strongest impetus if and when second stations in the major markets are established. They will gobble up much of the unplayed film lying on the shelves of the distributors.

Advertisers are fully aware of the strong value of TV as a sales medium. They see in it a new concept of merchandising, breaking down from a national punch with questionable influence in certain markets to local sponsorship for effectiveness sales.

An early hassle over censorship, a control still exercised on a provincial level over theatrical films, has gone the way of the winds. The CBC, however, operates on a "good-taste" policy, rather than by hard-and-fast rules.

Toll TV may be given its first test in this country in Vancouver by Famous Players, which hold the Canadian franchise for Telemeter. Other than an announcement, nothing definite has been set.

The authoritative Equipment and Refreshment Section of —

MOTION PICTURE HERALD

Published monthly as a section of the Herald, BETTER THEATRES is unquestionably the best read publication on theatre design, equipment and maintenance.

Reaches The
People Who Count—
The People
Who BUY!

Enjoying as it does the soundly entrenched, solid circulation of MOTION PICTURE HERALD, the BETTER THEATRES section has throughout the years performed in the Quigley tradition of progressive pioneering and influential leadership.

That these are not so many words is evident from the long list of now-accepted standards of design, equipment and maintenance which have become established in many thousands of the nation's theatres — and which were first advocated or received their greatest impetus through vigorous editorial campaigns in BETTER THEATRES.

BETTER REFRESHMENT MERCHANDISING is a special department in every issue of the HERALD — the pioneer in this important specialty. (Just as BETTER THEATRES was the first trade paper section devoted to the physical theatre.)

THE BRITISH YEAR IN REVIEW

by PETER BURNUP

SINCE the inception here of commercial television in September, 1955, and in spite of Governmental financial ordinances stringently restricting the sale, hire purchase and hire of sets, the number of domestic reception licences has bounded from 4½ million to in excess of 6 million. The income of the British Broadcasting Corporation has thereby materially increased; for by far the greatest part of the corporation's revenue derives from the proceeds of the sale of licences.

(Cost of a combined sound and TV licence is £3 per annum, but it is understood that the fee may be increased after March next year.)

Moreover, it is generally conceded that under the spur of challenge delivered by the commercial system the quality of the slightly prim and occasionally tinged-with-complacency BBC programmes has vastly improved. Those comforting circumstances are seen now as overwhelming justification of Sir Winston Churchill's momentous declaration that "in the expanding field of television an element of competition had become desirable."

The introduction in Parliament of Sir Winston's bill establishing the commercial system became an occasion of bitter debate and savage resistance. On the suffrages of the populace generally, however, the innovation was clearly welcome. It is admitted in the BBC's last annual report that in March, 1956, some three million adults were able to view the programmes put out by the independent Television Authority against the 16 million to whom BBC programmes were available.

As further I.T.A. transmitters come into service and, more importantly, the Government's restrictions on the purchase of sets are relaxed, the audience potential of the commercial service obviously will be vastly increased. But even so, the BBC admits also that in March last adult viewers with a choice of programmes were choosing programmes in the ratio of BBC, 2: I.T.A., 3.

By the end of June last, it had been established that television viewers who had a choice of programme divided the evening time they spent in viewing in the proportion of 42 per cent BBC and 58 per cent I.T.A. In the aggregate, BBC audiences remained "normally five times as big as those of I.T.A." But, significantly, viewers whose sets could receive both BBC and I.T.A. programmes had risen in three months from 3,150,000 adults to 4,550,000. Optimistic prognosticators of the commercial service were found declaring that, if the rate of increase were maintained, I.T.A. would have 8 million viewers by the end of 1956.

Obviously, the BBC has to this time a sharp edge on its competitor in the matter of audience potential. With a network of 15 transmitters, BBC television is now within range of 95 per cent of the country's population. It is expected to reach 97 per cent in the autumn of 1956 and by 1958, according to present plans, only a small number of areas containing less than 2½ per cent of the population, will still be without a television service.

That is claimed to be the closest approximation in the world to completely nationwide coverage. But the Independent Authority also has a programme for the implementation of a nationwide grid, the plans for which are being pursued with the utmost vigour. At this date, the Authority has in operation three stations serving, it is claimed, virtually half the population of the United Kingdom, in the following terms:

Area	Station	Power (Kw.)	Population served (millions)
LONDON	Croydon	60	11.1
MIDLANDS	Lichfield	50	5.7
NORTH (West)	Winter Hill	100	7.21

It is planned to increase the power of the Croydon station to 120 kw and that at Lichfield to 200 kw before the end of 1956.

A station at Emley Moor, serving the Yorkshire side of the Pennines, was to open in the autumn of 1956. This will operate on Channel 10 with a power of 200 kw and serve a population of approximately 5 million. Another station at Black Hill, Lanarkshire, to serve the Central Scotland area, is planned to open in the late summer of 1957. The transmitter will have a power of 100 kw and will serve a population of approximately 3½ million. The Authority plans to open yet another station covering South Wales in the autumn of 1957.

The Independent Television Authority—designed to introduce that "element of competition in the expending field of television"—is to a great extent just another creature of Whitehall. It has no overt relation to the freedom of private enterprise, as that is understood in the United States. The Authority, indeed, is as tightly hedged round with prohibitive sanctions as is the BBC itself.

Even the cost of its initial capital development—so the Act of Parliament prescribes—must be met out of an advance made by the Postmaster-General (with the consent of the Treasury) of up to £2 million.

The Act gives the Authority—whose members are appointed by the Postmaster-General—a statutory life of ten years and provides for television broadcasting services “additional to those of the British Broadcasting Corporation, and of high quality, both as to the transmission and as to the matter transmitted, for so much of the United Kingdom the Isle of Man and the Channel Islands as may from time to time be reasonably practicable.”

The Act ordains also that the Authority select “programme contractors” for its several transmitting stations; supervise the programmes provided by these contractors; provide or arrange for the provision of programmes in exceptional circumstances. A “contractor”—so it is provided—must construct, equip and operate his studios; arrange for the provision of programmes, pay an annual “rent” to the Authority for the use of transmitting facilities, which are entirely owned, operated and maintained by the Authority. A “contractor” has in the words of the statute “in consideration of payments to the Authority the right and duty to provide programmes or parts of programmes to be broadcast by the Authority, which may include advertisements.”

The constitution and design of the Authority is significantly akin to that of the BBC. The Authority is composed of a chairman—Sir Kenneth Clark, chairman of the Arts Council—a deputy chairman, and eight other members drawn from various walks of life. The members are appointed by the Postmaster-General, and three of them make Scotland, Wales and Northern Ireland their special care.

There is also a director-general—Sir Robert Fraser—who is responsible for the execution of the policy laid down by the Authority. But Parliament has seen to it that the Authority is far from unfettered in its operations. The enabling Act gives the Postmaster-General very wide powers over the I.T.A.

He can, for example, decide the areas which must be served by the commercial service; he can call for improvement in the strength and quality of the transmissions; he has absolute authority to ban advertisements which he may feel should not be broadcast. He may also decide the periods of time during which any of the I.T.A. stations may operate.

Stringent rules have been made banning altogether certain types of advertisement and ordaining the time and place in a programme in which, in any event, advertisements may appear. Advertisements, it is laid down, for example, must be clearly distinguishable as such and recognisably separate from the rest of the programme and the amount of time given to advertising in the programme shall not be so great as to detract from the value of the programmes “as a medium of entertainment, instruction and information.”

It is ordered also that advertisements shall not be inserted in any broadcast of (a) any religious service; (b) any formal Royal ceremony or occasion; (c) the appearance of Her Majesty or a member of the British Royal Family in the course of any event in which such appearance is only incidental to the occasion. All those and other hobbling restrictions despite, the most anomalous provision in the enabling Act of Parliament—as many Americans may well feel—is that which wholly forbids sponsoring in Britain’s commercial TV system.

In the course of the bitter debates in both the Commons and the House of Lords which attended the passage of the bill establishing commercial television the allegation was made frequently and loudly that dependance exclusively on advertisements for its revenue must inevitably “debase” the quality of I.T.A.’s programmes; and, indeed, that allegation became the main argument for the bill’s rejection. It was to appease those opponents of the “commercial” doctrine that various provisions were introduced into the bill calculated—as it was claimed—effectively to stop sponsoring.

Nothing, for example, could be clearer than section 4 (6) of the now enacted bill, which runs: “Nothing shall be included in any programmes broadcast by the Authority, whether in an advertisement or not, which states, suggests or implies, that any part of any programme broadcast by the Authority which could reasonably be supposed to have been included therein in return for payment or other valuable consideration to the relevant programmes contractor or the Authority.”

No practical minded person familiar with the art and craft of advertising, or the essence of show business itself, would deny the possibility of driving a coach-and-four through that involved terminological exercise of Parliamentary draughtsmanship. And, indeed, it has become notorious that a succession of programmes not only on the I.T.A. service but on that of the BBC itself have developed as naked and unabashed “plugs” for certain films in current release.

Even Sir Robert Fraser, I.T.A.’s director-general, went on public record—writing of what he called the “obsession” of the Television Act in regard to the prohibition of sponsorship—with the dictum that “only babes in the wood could believe that the Act has answered for good and all the question of the relationship between advertising influence and the nature of the programmes.” How long that prohibitive ban on sponsoring will persist remains among the imponderables in British political expediency. But so the law stands at the moment.

It has been argued, albeit vaguely, that an additional safeguard against sponsorship, certainly against the inherent danger of monopoly, has been created in the method devised by the Authority for the appointment of programme contractors. The Authority is enjoined in the Television Act "to do all that they can to secure that there is adequate competition to supply programmes between a number of programme contractors independent of each other both as to finance and as to control."

In fulfilment thereof the Authority—faced also with a problem arising out of a scarcity of channels on available bands—created a "mosaic" of appointments on what became known as the 5:2 division principle; that is to say, that a division should be made in the servicing of a given station between weekday programmes and weekend programmes. It was assumed that no programme contractor could pay its way with weekend programmes on one station alone; so it is found, for example, that Association Television, Ltd., operates the London station Saturday and Sunday and the Midlands station Monday to Friday.

In adopting that principle the Authority claimed a sufficient degree of competition had been established between its various programme contractors; for not only viewers but potential advertisers could appraise the respective merits of the programmes provided on a given station. Additionally, the Authority devised an additional incentive to competition which became known as the "competitive optional network", in accordance with which a programme contractor was permitted to buy programmes from, and sell programmes to, contractors working on the same day in other areas.

But in all that complicated mosaic designed to ensure the provision of "free television in a free country" and with a wide field of freedom left to the judgment, tastes and sense of responsibility of the appointed programme contractors, the Authority reserved to itself—and is indeed ordained to do so in the Act of Parliament—the power to prevent political partiality in the programmes, or any slant or bias in the presentation of news. The contractors accepted with no demur that news programmes on all the stations should be provided exclusively by a company formed for that purpose, the Independent Television News Company, under the direction of an editor-in-chief appointed only with the approval of the Authority.

Wisely, as is now generally conceded, the Authority sought one criterion—apart from that of proved probity and responsibility—in the appointment of its programme contractors; that was that a potential contractor should have had prior association with "communications with the public". In other words, the appointees required to have been actively concerned previously with radio, public entertainment, or the press.

So, found to be involved with or controlling, one or other of the contracting concerns, are the powerful Associated British Picture Corporation; the Granada Circuit of motion picture theatres; influential newspaper groups including Associated Newspapers, Ltd. (publishers of the Daily Mail), the Daily Mirror Group and Canada's Roy Thomson; radio concerns like Pye, Ltd., and Broadcast Relay Service, Ltd.; experienced showmen like Prince Littler and Val Parnell.

No person of responsibility would dare assess at this time the degree of success up to now attained by the new service. Advertising agents—clearly far from being independent witnesses—forecast that within the first year of its inception a total of £10 million will have been spent on the purchase of time on British commercial television. There is also the acknowledged circumstance of the drift of the "mass-audience" from the BBC to ITA.

Nevertheless, words of caution in regard to illusory hopes of immediate and fabulous success are uttered by the men who control the trading operations of the new ventures. Sir Philip Warter, for example, ABPC chairman and as such responsible for ITA programmes in the Midlands, tells his stockholders of the "real and solid progress" made by their TV subsidiary and of his own confidence in the medium.

But Sir Philip proceeds to say: "The cost of providing the programmes is high and remains so, regardless of the amount of advertising obtained, and in the initial stages, therefore, losses are inevitable". Another responsible witness, the chairman of Broadcast Relay, which company has exceedingly heavy commitments with one of the programme contractors, warns that the TV venture would "incur losses in its first and second years, in the third year it would probably avoid loss, and thereafter it was likely to become profitable."

The most significant demonstration, however, of the chastening effect of experience on earlier and earnest hopes is seen in the drastic reduction made in advertising rates within nine months of the beginning of the commercial service. Certain of those reductions are euphemistically described as bonuses, discounts or rebates. It is the fact, nevertheless, that many of the time costs have been cut by nearly 50 per cent.

The birthpangs of commercial TV here promise to be a prolonged and painful process. In the view of the best informed, the Government's enabling act will not prove to be the final answer and many authoritative persons are heard declaring that already a chink is to be discerned in the armour of the anti-sponsorship zealots. In so saying they cite the current attitude of the Government itself.

As a matter of political strategy, provision was made in the statute that I.T.A. satisfy itself that its programmes "maintain a proper balance in their subject matter and a high general standard of quality". The act provided also that the Postmaster-General might "with the consent of the Treasury" make a grant to the Authority of a sum not exceeding £750,000 in any given year to arrange for "programmes of items of particular classes which in their opinion are necessary for securing a proper balance in the subject matter of the programmes and cannot, or cannot as suitably, be provided by programme contractors".

Faced with the flood of "mass-audience" programmes put out by the contractors under pressure of advertisers, faced also with a flood of complaints from political and other critics, the Authority, made formal application for the grant of £750,000 as early as November, 1955, in order that it might "properly discharge its duties" under the act. It was not until July, 1956, that the Postmaster-General announced that "because of the general economic situation and the need for economy in Government expenditure no grant can be made in the current financial year".

The Authority promptly registered its "dismay" at the Government's decision, adding that it was "conscious that the present programmes, although extremely popular, do not contain a sufficient number of programmes of information and discussion or of plays and performances of lasting value".

In its own brand of superb majesty and disdain, the British Broadcasting Corporation ploughs along. The Corporation's total income for the year ending March 31, 1956, reached the record figure of £22,500,000. But the BBC is responsible not only for its share in the country's television services but for a nationwide sound radio coverage and what are known as its External Services which

To give a full service on information, education and entertainment to the satisfaction of the many groups in a mass audience it is necessary to offer a choice between two programmes deliberately planned to contrast with each other, says the BBC. There is the need to cultivate programmes which have only a minority appeal. A second television service is essential if the BBC is to have elbow room to carry on the long term policy on which its value to the nation largely depends.

The battle clearly is on between the BBC—which obviously must continue as the Government's chosen creature for the dissemination of "education, information and entertainment"—and ITA, faced with the unanswerable demands of advertisers. The Postmaster-General's refusal of that demand for a grant of £750,000—couched though it be on the necessity of economy—is the clue to the present situation.

The BBC has developed a system of colour TV projection, claimed to be second-to-none in the world. But its adaptation to home receivers must await not only completion of laboratory experiments but the confirmation of the Government's Television Advisory Committee whose deliberations, in turn, must be conditioned by this country's vexatious and straitened economy.

The World Market

- ◆ MARKET ANALYSES
- ◆ STATIONS
- ◆ OUTLOOK
- ◆ PROGRAM SOURCES

The World Market is a comprehensive guide to the international television market. It provides detailed information on the stations, programs, and market trends in various countries around the world. The book is organized into sections for each major region, including North America, Europe, Asia, and Latin America. Each section contains a list of stations, their respective programs, and a brief analysis of the market conditions. The book is an essential resource for anyone interested in the global television industry.

The World Market

ARGENTINA

Total Number of receivers: It is estimated actually around 45,000 units.

Total number of government stations: The only existing one.

Argentina still has only one television station which operates under the name of LR3-TV Radio Belgrano, which is government owned, but all indicates that most probably same will be handed soon to some private enterprise, most probably one of the existing radio stations. This TV station telecasts through Channel 7 daily between 4 p.m. and midnight, and its actual director is Sr. Bringer Ayala. For over a year it is insisted in authorized circles the inauguration of a new station, but so far this project has not materialized. What seems to be a fact, however, is that before the end of this year Argentine programs will be televised to Montevideo, in Uruguay, through a relay tower erected in the Uruguayan city of Colonia, situated in mid-distance between the 150 miles that separate B.A. from Montevideo. And programs from this latter city, will be televised by Radio Carve, in Montevideo, to B.A. The quality of the programs televised are undergoing a reorganization period and the audiences are confident that the artistic quality of same will be increased gradually. American specially produced TV films already have been shown.

—NATALIO BRUSKI

AUSTRALIA

Television is here! It will be in operation in the final weeks of 1956 and will extend its weekly 'playing time' during 1957. As this report is being written, the Federal Parliament is considering a new Broadcasting and Television Bill, which should be passed in the form the Government desires, since the Government has the numbers to do it without any trouble.

According to Postmaster General C. W. Davidson, national TV will start in both Sydney and Melbourne in November with a service of 15 hours weekly, which, by mid-1957, will be expanded to 25 hours. The four commercial companies are well advanced with their TV stations and should be in operation by the end of this year. The Bill provides for the following:

Ownership or control of TV stations by any person would be limited to one in any capital city and two in the Commonwealth. Stations must regulate themselves to keep undesirable material off TV, but there is a strong threat of action against offending stations.

Cost of a TV station license would be £100 (approx. $225) annually.

Not less than 80% of the issued capital of a licensee company shall be held by Australian residents or companies controlled by Australian residents.

Not more than 15% of the issued capital of a licensee company shall be held by any person who is not an Australian resident, or by any company which is controlled directly or indirectly, by persons other than Australian residents.

The memorandum and article of association of the licensee must contain provisions ensuring that voting rights of shareholders shall be those required of companies listed upon the Australian Stock Exchange.

The allocation of time for the televising of religious matter must be arranged on the same basis as that governing the present broadcasting of religious matter from commercial broadcasting stations.

The licensee shall observe the standard of technical equipment and operation of the station as the Control Board determines.

Periods during which the station operates shall be those determined by the board.

The licensee shall provide programs and shall supervise the televising of them in such a manner to comply with standards the board determines.

All advertising matter televised "shall be in accordance with such standards as the board determines."

No change in the proportionate shareholding or beneficial ownership of any of the constituent corporations of any licensee shall be made without the approval of the Minister.

Each licensee company must make a declaration each half-year that it is complying with the conditions of the issued capital.

The Government will grant licences for an initial five years from the date on which the four companies satisfy the minister they have complied with conditions of capital and control.

The licence will be renewable after that period for periods not exceeding one year.

The allocation of time for the televising of political and controversial matter shall be strictly on the basis of equal treatment for all parties.

STATION DETAILS:

Australian Broadcasting Commission: This Governmental body operates the two national TV stations—ABN, Sydney, and ABV, Melbourne.

ABN—Sydney: Transmitter at Gore Hill, about 4½ miles from city; 100 kw ERP. Equipment, 18 kw output visual transmitter and 4 kw audio; standby equipment includes 5 kw visual transmitter and 1 kw audio. Antenna is 820 ft. above sea level, mast is 500 ft. Studios are on the transmitter site—Channel 2 (63-70 meg.).

Some advertising agencies have already formed television departments and many producers of ad films and slides are entering the TV commercial field. Several organizations are selling programmes already. These include: Amalgamated Wireless (Australasia) Ltd., which represents the NBC films division; Artransa Pty. Ltd., distributing programmes for many overseas producers; Grace Gibson Radio and TV Productions; Ray TV, handling Associated Artists product and all WB films produced up to 1948.

This last company is unique in its tight setup under rapidly rising Ray Rushmer, an energetic Englishman who has gone a long way in a hurry. With Ray Holdings Pty. Ltd., as a parent company, on the purely film side there is Ray Films, indie distributor, and Ray Films International, exporters of films to the islands and overseas. On the TV side there is Ray TV, which distributes programmes; Telerama Enterprises Ltd., which produces films for television; Telepix Associates, which makes spot ads; and Interstate TV Productions.

The latest film censor's report showed that during 1955, the number of television films imported into Australia was 406, which break up into: religious—68; entertainment and educational—195; advertising—143. In addition, 51 trailers and film clips were imported. The Chief Censor warned that extra powers will have to be vested in the Film Censorship Board to cover TV films, as distinct from theatrical films. To meet the proposed flood of films for TV, provision is being made for additional staff, theatrettes, equipment for 60 censor-screening hours per week.

The Australian Broadcasting Control Board, which also will control TV, has issued a code of rules governing the standards of commercial television programmes. This code, not unlike the American motion picture industry production code, is, in fact, more stringent if anything.

The board states that the standards are not intended to prevent the televising of:

- (a) Genuine works of artistic or literary merit; and
- (b) Serious presentation of moral and social issues.

The board has fixed times for the televising of certain type programmes.

Only family or children's programmes may be televised between 5 P.M. on week days, and at any time before 7:30 P.M. on Saturdays and Sundays.

Family programmes are those which are suitable for persons of all ages and which will not produce any undesirable effects on children.

Children's programmes are those specially designed for children of various age groups.

Programmes dealing with certain types of social and domestic problems, some aspects of crime, or other themes which are suitable only for persons of more mature judgment, should not be televised before 8.30 P.M.

The board gives four basic standards which general programmes must observe. These are:

- Ordinary good taste and commonsense;
- Respect for the individual opinions of the public;
- Proper regard for the special needs of children; and
- Respect for the law and social institutions.

The board states that responsibility for the selection of programmes must to some extent lie with the viewer.

"But it is reasonable for the viewer to assume that programmes will reach standards which have been determined having regard both to the nature of the medium and the obligation to use it in the best interests of the community," the board adds.

"It is therefore the responsibility of licensees to ensure that programmes which fail to reach those standards are not broadcast."

A long list of restrictions on material which may be used in programmes includes:

Matter which is blasphemous, indecent, obscene, vulgar, or suggestive, likely to encourage crime or public disorder, or likely to be injurious to community well-being or morality.

Matter which, if imitated, could be harmful to the well-being of individuals or of the community, such as sequences which demonstrate techniques of crime in such a way as to invite imitation or which display in detail any form of violence or brutality.

While the serious presentation of religious issues is to be encouraged attacks on any established religious faiths or beliefs should not be permitted.

The board says the use of intoxicating liquor and gambling should not be permitted.

The board says the use of intoxicating liquor and gambling should not be unduly emphasized in programmes.

The sanctity of marriage and the importance of the home should be respected.

Divorce should not be treated casually or as a convenient solution to marital problems.

The deliberate use of horror for its own sake should not be permitted.

Stories for specifically children's programmes must reflect respect for law and order, adult authority, good morals and clean living.

Where applicable the hero, heroine, or other sympathetic characters must be portrayed as intelligent and morally courageous.

Cowardice, malice, deceit, selfishness and disrespect for law must be avoided in the delineation of any character presented in the light of a hero.

It is estimated that the initial cost of TV sets in Australia will range from a minimum of £200 (approximately $450) each. Sets are now on the market, and it is estimated that there will soon be receivers available and these will find ready purchasers.

Sets are now being sold on Hire Purchase, but it is feared in many quarters that until the price comes down, there will be no big rush on sets.

One authority says, "I believe it will be a long time before mass production or the decline of the purchasing market will force the price down."

BELGIUM

Slowly but surely TV is penetrating in the life of the Belgians. After a couple of experimentation years, TV was officially established in the beginning of 1955. The first technical difficulties were soon overcome, and now Belgian TV boasts a rather big success. Transmissions take place every evening, and as a rule they satisfy the viewers.

The tax is fixed at 720 BFr. a year. It is estimated that already about 80,000 receiving sets are in use throughout the country. American, British, French and German, as well as Belgian-made receivers are on the market, and people choose what they like best.

An agreement between the motion picture industry and TV stipulates that only old films are allowed to be transmitted by video. Every week an attractive publicity for new films is made by means of TV. The collaboration between the film industry and TV passes off perfectly. The agreement is working to everybody's satisfaction and is honored punctually.

There are two transmitting-stations in Brussels, one using the Flemish (i.e. Dutch) language and one the French language. Two relaying stations, one in Antwerp and one in Liege, take care of the transmission in the Flemish and in the Walloon part of the country. Transmissions from Holland and France are regularly televised, whereas at regular intervals the so-called Eurovision, i.e. the European TV collaboration, enables the relaying of foreign TV shows.

The Belgian TV is directed by Bert Leyssen, Dautzenbergstraat 31, Brussels, for the Flemish part of the country, and by L. Ph. Kammen, Dautzenbergstraat 33, Brussels, for the Walloon part.

It is expected that next year there will be a considerable increase of the number of TV receivers in use. According to a prudent estimate, there will be about 125,000 TV receiving sets in use at the end of this year (1956).

The continually increasing quality of the transmissions make an extremely good impression, and this allows us to foresee a steady growth of TV in Belgium.

BRAZIL

The number of televiewers in Brazil is figured presently at about 250,000 in Sao Paulo, 80,000 in Rio de Janeiro and 15,000 in Belo Horizonte, which are the only cities having TV stations. There are five TV transmitting stations in Brazil, all of them privately owned.

The limited development of television in Brazil is generally attributed to inflation, which has forced the Government to restrict imports and thus makes difficult not only the installation of new transmitting stations but also limits the purchasing possibilities of new receivers, although they are already produced locally in good quality. Also as a direct consequence of inflation, commercial sponsorship of programs, and thus programs themselves, do not have the development necessary for improvement.

On the other hand, a further handicap to a larger development of both stations and audiences is the territorial extension of the country. The distances between the cities, especially the state capitals and other more populated towns, have not yet been overcome by the organization of relay towers. This seems to be one of the main problems, if not the main problem. Thus, there are only the following TV stations in Brazil:

Rio de Janeiro—TV Tupi—owned by Emissoras Associadas (Associated Broadcasting Stations)—manager Fernando Chateaubriand.

Sao Paulo—TV Tupi—owned by Emissoras Associadas—manager Edmundo Monteiro.

—TV Paulista—manager Victor Costa.

—TV Record—manager Paulo Machado de Carvalho.

Belo Horizonte—TV Itacolomi—owned by Emissoras Associadas

Porto Algere—TV Farrroupilha—owned by Emissoras Associadas (being installed).

DENMARK

Total number of receivers in Denmark: 22,000 (May 15, 1956).

Total number of commercial TV stations: None.

Total number of Government stations: 3.

Total coverage: 64% of population.

Since last year two new TV stations have opened, situated in centers of provinces, and about 80 percent of the population is now covered. However, only 60 percent of the reception is first class.

The number of receivers is increasing rapidly. Last year 4,400 were going, now the number is 22,000, and it will probably be more than doubled before the end of the year, particularly when Danish Television is connected with Euro-vision which is planned to take place at the beginning of the Autumn 1956.

Taxation on Television receivers is 15 percent of the wholesale price, including a tax of Kr. 3.15 per tube in each receiver. The license to the State is d.kr. 50- (from October 1956 d.kr. 55-) per year as against kr. 20- for radio sets. Television has about 10 weekly sending hours plus coverage of various sports and other topical events. Television is controlled by the State, and there is no advertising in the programmes.

—BORGE SLOT

FINLAND

Finnish-Russian relations, always in a somewhat precarious state, are further complicated by television. Beginning November 1, 1955, the Russians began telecasting programs in Finnish, as well as in Russian and Estonian, from Tallinn, the capital of Soviet Estonia, only 35 miles from Helsinki across the Gulf of Finland. To make sure that their programs are received, the Russian government presented gift TV sets, having 10-inch screens, to various Finnish leaders, including the President, and planned to sell their sets to the Finnish public for about 50,000 marks, approximately one-third of what they cost in Russia and about half of what a comparable western set costs.

The rub is that the Finns, fearing a Russian television monopoly, would like to decline the Russian favors, but are not sure how to do it without causing hard feelings. There too are other factors: the Russian telecasting system is such that sound and picture can be received fully only with the Russian type of set, and, the Finnish Government has limited the importation of Russian sets because they present fire and other hazards—which defects, reportedly, can be remedied.

At the present time, the Finnish radio station does not have the funds to build its own TV station, but a group of important, private Finnish interests are known to be seeking government authorization to build a private station. Finnish officials, faced with the prospect of a Russian TV monopoly, would much prefer to tie in with a Scandinavian TV network, but the nearest station, in Stockholm, is too far from Helsinki for experimental broadcasts.

—SVEN G. WINQUIST

FRANCE

The total number of TV receiving sets in France amounts to 313,932. There may be more which do not pay the tax but these, of course, would be illegal.

All TV stations are Government owned, Paris, of course, is the central station and most of its programmes are also put out over Strasbourg, Marseilles, Lyon, Lille and Metz. Further, four other stations are building or planned. They are Mulhouse, Mont Pilat, Nancy and Forbach.

There is little doubt that television is growing in France but its rate of growth is slower than in Britain or in the U. S. because of different economic and social conditions. Sets are relatively expensive in France but now credit is being introduced. Further the French spend most of their spare time out in the cafés so fewer TV sets are being bought for the home.

On the other hand cafés are buying them and paying tax on public performance where it is necessary. In the villages of France schoolmasters and priests are forming TV clubs. Money is contributed by the village and a set is bought. It is generally installed in the home of one of the members and every night the village comes around to watch the programme. This growth of TV has seriously hit provincial cinemas. On Saturday nights, for example, villagers use to cycle into the nearest town to go to the movies. Now they watch TV.

There is no advertising over French TV and at the moment it does not look as if there will be any. Changes, of course, in the future are always possible.

On the other hand the French Government, through financial interests in a holding group called SOFIRAD, has interests in various TV stations situated in territories outside France. These are Monte Carlo, the Saar, Luxembourg. All these stations take TV advertising.

The French Government has been severely criticised for its attitude as it is pointed out that it is sheer hypocrisy to forbid advertising over French TV while having financial interests in foreign TV. Indeed the interest is controlling in some cases.

Undoubtedly attacks against the Government will continue but the result is difficult to foresee. It may be that advertising will be permitted over French TV or it may result in the end of SOFIRAD and French interest in these "periphery stations" as they are called.

—HENRI KAHN

GERMANY

German television, which goes back to 1935 (the Olympic games of 1936 were transmitted to special studios, open to the public) was started again on an experimental scale in 1950 by the North Western German Broadcasting Company (NWDR). The other five regional broadcasting systems followed, Coordinating in a common organization called Deutsches Fernsehen (German Television) they instituted a combined program of several hours daily, starting October 1, 1954. Programs totaling about 2,000 hours were carried during the last year.

It is estimated that, in developing German television, $30 million were invested by broadcasting companies, the postal service and industry. The former still carry the main burden of current expenses, but the revenue accruing from receivers contributions (the fee is $1.20 per month and set) is gradually taking over. This revenue at present amounts to about $5,000,000 per year but is growing steadily. The present television systems are semi-public institutions.

There are no commercials as yet and there will not be for some time to come. Whether such commercials will later be carried by the existing system which, though not Government-owned, is under public supervision, or whether a second, private system will be admitted has not yet been decided either.

The 25 TV stations in Western Germany are reaching about 65 per cent of the population. There are also three stations in the Soviet zone. Some 75 per cent of the programs are live presentations.

There were 393,040 receivers registered in Western Germany on April 1, 1956. The number is steadily increasing, and so are the general interest in the new medium and the quality of programs. Thus television in Germany is looking forward with confidence to a development of steady progress in the future.

Chief executive officers of Television in Germany: Deutsches Fernsehen, Dr. Lange, Bertram St. 8, Frankfurt am Main.

NWDR Fernsehen, Dr. Werner Pleister, Coordinator of the Program Conference, NWDR, Gazellenkamp, Hamburg-Lockstedt 1, Telephone 580221, Teletype 021 2529.

HOLLAND

The official number of television sets: 40,000 to 50,000.

This is the number which is registered by the authorities. However, the non-official number of sold sets at the present moment is about 100,000. In this number of cafes, restaurants, hotels, etc., are included.

There is not yet any commercial television. This is however studied now by the Government.

TV in Holland is organized by the Nederlandse Televisie Stichting (NTS), under Governmental Control, with 5 sub-divisions: a Roman-Catholic section, a Protestant section, a political (social democratic) section, another Christian division and a neutral section. The broadcasting companies K.R.O., N.C.R.V., V.A.R.A., V.P.R.O. and A.V.R.O., represented by these divisions, want to keep their influence on TV.

The approximate costs to buy a TV set, antennae included, are fl. 65 0 to fl. 1800 ($1.—is fl. 3.80).

A yearly contribution of fl. 30.— is due by the owners of a set, to be paid to the government.

Frequency: a) every week a picture, on Tuesday night at 8:15. These pictures are old ones and generally non-American. The Dutch trade organization does not permit new pictures to be televised.

b) Every week a stage play or something similar.
c) Weekly, in afternoons, children's programmes.
d) Weekly interviews and lectures.
e) Newsreel and weather talk before every performance.

f) Every Saturday night popular program and quiz.

g) Now and then programmes from other countries, e.g. sport events.

h) Occasionally football matches (interland).
TV programs are on Tuesday night, Wednesday afternoon (children), Wednesday night, Thursday night, Saturday afternoon (children) and Saturday night. At night start at 8 o'clock, programmes finished at about 10:30 or 11 o'clock.

Programs are of average quality, though their attraction is increasing. More and more sets are sold here on payment by instalments, though this system has never been very popular in Holland. Still important is that the sale of scooters is of competitive influence.

There is one TV station in Holland, in Bussum. The most important Television directors are Max Douwes, Ger Lugtenburg, Fred Bredschneider, Piet Te Nuyl Jr., Ben Steggerda, Peter Koen, Gijs Stappershoef and Wim Bary. Television reporter is Siebe van der Zee.

Philips is a big manufacturer of TV sets. The development of TV here will take some time, though its influence is increasing. Influence on film visiting is not yet important.

—PHILIP de SCHAAP

ISRAEL

This is to report that no Television installation exists in this country up to the moment, nor is it contemplated to have any such installation in the near future. This is due particularly to the high cost involved, which cannot presently be provided by the Government.

—ALBERT de MATALON

ITALY

Television is a Government owned and controlled monopoly in Italy. Officially it opened January 1, 1954.

Presently a territory with about 35 million inhabitants is served by television in Italy, which is 70% of the population and includes the most developed areas of north and center Italy. All Italian territory will be served by the end of 1956.

Experiments were made in Italy since 1933. They were promoted again in 1948 with a General Electric equipment (American standard) supplied to the Italian Government under the E.R.P. system (Marshall Plan). The European standard (5.5 MHz video and 7 MHz channel) was adopted definitively in Italy in 1951 following the decisions of the Comité Consultatif International de Radiodiffusion.

The Government company: Radio Televisione Italiana or RAI—headquarter: Via del Babuino 9, Rome—is the Government owned and controlled company which has the monopoly of all radio and television transmissions.

The RAI is a private enterprise, formally. Most of the stocks (estimatedly 80%) belong, however, to the I.R.I. (Istituto per la Ricostruzione Industriale) which is a Government owned corporation established by Mussolini on January 23, 1933. Since that date I.R.I. has become owner of very large Italian factories (shipyards, foundries, steel plants, etc.) including radio and TV sets manufacturers. The value of the whole property of I.R.I. is estimated around 600 million U.S. dollars.

Other stocks of the RAI belong to companies owned also by I.R.I., so that practically all radio and TV stations are Government owned in Italy.

All transmissions are also controlled by the Government. Political transmissions are controlled by a Parliamentary Committee (Commissione Parlamentare di Vigilanza) members of which are about 30 Deputies and Senators of all political parties. Other programs are quarterly submitted to the Consultative Committee headed by the Ministro Delle Poste e Telecomunicazioni (Minister of the State Dept. for Postoffices and Telecommunications). Names of the artistic field, of literature and journalism are the members of this consultative committee. The control on the fulfillment of the patent right contract between the RAI and the Government is committed to the General Postoffice and Telecommunication headquarters.

The RAI got the monopoly of all Radio and Television services for a 25-year term under a bill approved by the Parliament in 1953.

Total Number of Receivers: They were estimated about 350,000 in May, 1956. People who had paid the special subscription-tax (see below: Tax) were almost 300,000 on April 1956. The subscribers to radiotransmissions were more than 6 million at the same date with an estimate number of about 7,500,000 radio receivers.

Number of TV Stations (Five Channels): Twenty four were the stations operating at the end of May 1956, three of which were telecenters (Milan, Turin and Rome) and 21 were telerepeaters, distributed as follows: Channel No. 1 (Mc/s 61-68): Monte Penice, Monte Faito, Sanremo, Genova-Righi; Channel No. 2 (Mc/s 81-88): Turin; Channel No. 3 (Mc/s 174-181): Monte Serra, Monte Venda, Fiuggi, Cortina d'Ampezzo, Bolzano, Bellagio, Campo Imperatore, Genova-Polcevera; Channel No. 4 (Mc/s 200-207): Milan, Rome, Trieste, Paganella, S. Cestone, Garfagnana; Channel No. 5 (Mc/s 209-216): Monte Peglia, Portofino, Col Visentin, Mugello, Como.

The RAI has also 20 cars equipped for live shows, three moveable stations and two cars equipped for filming, developing and transmitting newsreels on live shows. The RAI hired airplanes in 1956 to bring to the telecenters newsreels of important events which were filmed in areas not yet equipped for TV transmissions.

The tele repeater of Cortina d'Ampezzo serves also a small area of Switzerland.

Subscription-tax: The owner of one or more TV receivers must pay a compulsory subscription or "subscription-tax" part of which goes to RAI and part to the Government.

The annual rate of the subscription-tax is 18,000 lire (28 U.S. dollars) for the owner of TV receivers or of TV and radio sets. It is 3,350 lire (5.30 U.S. dollars) for the owner of the radio set only.

The share which goes to the Government is about 10,500 lire (16.50 dollars) and 2,125 lire (3.30 dollars) respectively.

A ten per cent is also deducted from the share which goes to RAI. It is given to the Presidente of Cabinet Council and used for subsidies to Opera Houses and Musical Academies.

Advertising: According to the patent right contract, no advertising by television is allowed to RAI, for the moment. However it is expected that advertising now confined only to radio broadcastings, will be extended to the television transmissions within the end of 1956.

SIPRA—headquarter: Via Pomba 20, Turin—is the Government-owned company entrusted with the monopoly of all radio and TV advertising. All net proceeds of the advertising goes, however, to RAI, though all stocks of SIPRA belong to I.R.I.

Cost of TV equipment and transmissions: The cost of the TV stations equipment had reached about 20 million dollars at the end of May 1956, according to the annual report of I.R.I. SIRTII, the Italian sole agency of Siemens & Halske was entrusted with the setting up of most of the TV stations equipment at the beginning. In 1955 also MARCONI Co. and MARELLI Co. supplied equipments for the new stations.

As to the cost of TV transmissions, the TV service is included in the general statement of accounts of the RAI which was not published any more after 1952. Estimatedly the RAI receives about 4 million dollars per year from owners of TV sets which is only 20% when compared to 20 million dollars which was the estimated cost paid by RAI for TV transmissions in 1955.

The cost of transmissions is around 4,700 U.S. dollars per hour.

Price of receivers: Receivers are manufactured in Italy on national or foreign patents. The most important American and European radio & TV sets factories have their own branches in Italy. Receivers made overseas should be adjusted to the Italian standard. This makes those receivers practically more expensive than the same trade-mark sets made in Italy.

Receivers which sale only about 150 dollars were exhibited at the 1956 edition of the International Fair in Milan. To the date, however, the price of a good TV set (17 inches) is not less than 250 to 300 dollars, owing to the high custom duties on some parts of the receivers and chiefly on tubes. The best receivers made on American patents are on sale for about 500 to 700 U. S. dollars.

Programs: There is only one program for all the TV stations in Italy, with 5½ to 6 hours of transmissions on weekdays and 7 to 8 hours on Sundays.

The weekly average is around 42 hours, i.e. the same extent of hours of the British and French TV programs.

Table-time: 17:30 to 23:00 on weekdays and 10:00 to 12:00 and 16:30 to 23:30 on Sundays.

Live shows take more than 50 per cent of the weekly hours of transmissions. They include social transmissions (e.g.: researches and interviews of common people of the different Italian regions); political transmissions (e.g.: the election of the President of the Republic of Italy or of the Parliament, etc.); religious transmissions (e.g.: Beatifications, Sunday Mass, etc.), sport including the most popular one which is soccer in Italy (soccer games, however, are transmitted only on Saturdays); interviews with Italian and foreign names, etc.

Film shows include shorts, documentaries, feature films for TV and normal feature films. Besides this, most of the TV transmissions for children and schools are film shows. Shorts and documentaries may be produced only for TV or chosen among the ones already shown in movie houses.

Most of the film shows are pictures bought from American companies or supplied by the U.S.I.S. (United States Information Service).

Long feature films are Italian and foreign pictures already shown in the Italian circuits. According to the agreement between AGIS, which is the Italian Association of Exhibitors, and the RAI, the latter is only entitled to show long feature films which had been shown previously in movie-houses for at least five years.

Other special shows were successfully inaugurated in 1955-56 (see: Outlook and General Conditions).

Eurovision: Early in 1954, an agreement was reached between the European TV companies for an organized cooperation which actually started in June, 1954 with the transmissions of the Beatican of Pius X in St. Peter's in Rome, for all the European TV networks.

Presently the Eurovision system is successful with transmissions of political, art, sport, folklore events, as, e.g., French, British, Italian horse races; the bicycle tours of Italy and France; Labour Day celebrations in Europe (the 1st of May, here); international soccer and rugby games; etc.

An International Songs Festival in Lugano (Switzerland) with the participation of all countries members of the Eurovision system was sponsored in 1956. Also a meeting on the TV art problems was promoted by UNESCO and Eurovision with the cooperation of the University of Milan in that town.

I.R.I. (Istituto Ricostruzione Industriale), Via Veneto 89, Rome, is the major stockholder of RAI-TV. President: Prof. Ing. Aldo Fascetti; Gen. Mgr.: Dr. Arturo Ferrari.

RAI-Radio Televisione Italiana: Headquarter: Via Babuino 9, Rome. President: Prof. Antonio Carrelli; Executive Vice-President: Ing. Marcello Rodino; Gen. Mgr.: Dr. Rodolfo Arata. Assistant to the Gen. Mgr.: Dr. Marcello Bernardi. Dr. Carlo De Biase is the head of the Information Office.

For the TV Section of the RAI, Dr. Sergio Pugliese is directing programs. Technical Director is Ing. Sergio Bertolotti (Program director of Radio Section of RAI is Mr. Giulio Razzi; Technical Director: Ing. Gino Castelnuovo).

Chief executive officers of each television station: Avv. Paolo Giordanino, Via Asiago 10, Rome, director of the Rome telecenter; Dr. Antonio Viarengo, Via Arsenale 21, Turin, director of Turin telecenter; M. Mario Labroca, Corso Sempione 21, Milan, director of Milan telecenter; Prof. Aldo Angelini, director Naples telecenter.

SIPRA—(monopoly of radio and TV advertising) Gen. Mgr.: Dr. Enrico Martini Mauri.

Religious Organizations: Centro Cattolico Televisivo, Via della Conciliazione 10, Rome, which releases a weekly classification of the Italian TV shows.

General Conditions and Outlook: TV started to be a very popular entertainment in Italy at the beginning of 1956. The popularity was chiefly due to a special transmission named "Do you give up or do you double it?" which is the Italian version of the American quiz "64,000 dollars for one question". The major prize of the Italian quiz is about 8,000 dollars.

Many most important exhibitors have equipped their movie-houses with TV receivers to consent the audience to follow this popular transmission which takes place every Thursday on 09:00 P.M.

It is expected that the number of subscribers to TV will reach 400,000 units by the end of 1956, which means that about 25 to 39% of the cost of the programs will be paid by the TV audience.

Official sources made it sure that the advertising, which will not interfere with the programs, can pay for another 30% of the cost of the TV programs.

Famed Italian writers have been invited by RAI-TV to write plays and shows specially for TV, also as an attempt to promote a TV-literature. Color TV is still in the experimental stage.

JAPAN

Total number of registered receivers: 240,000
Total number of commercial TV stations: 4
Total number of government-sponsored stations: 6

"Tele-Vee", as the Japanese call it, is booming in Japan and the total number of registered sets does not give a fair estimate of its audience since there are many sets in Japanese homes which are not registered and many in the homes of American Security Forces and government-employed Americans who are not required to register. Many of the sets are located in bars or tea rooms and so the audience is larger than that of a family set, and large crowds gather at public sets in the street and before shops with sets in their windows when a popular program comes on.

Even by American standards prices for TV sets are high and the Japanese income is much lower so the greatest bar to the spread of TV is high prices. An average set with a 17 inch screen sometimes costs the equivalent of six months wages. These prices averaging $28 per screen inch (about $376 for a 17" set) are coming down a little now that some dealers are undercutting the advertised prices but the manufacturers still seem to operate on the principle of making large profits on fewer sets.

Of course, there are many parts of Japan to which TV never penetrates but this will be partially solved if pending applications to open TV stations are granted to radio stations in Fukuoka, Sapporo, Sendai, Nagano, Niigata, Okayama, Kanazawa, Shizuoka, Toyama, Hiroshima, and Morioka.

Though TV broadcasting equipment and apparatus is imported from the United States, almost all sets are of Japanese manufacture which usually does not exceed 17". Since imports from America of sets are banned the only American sets available are those sold by departing Americans who have had them adapted for Japanese stations. The Japanese use the American system and same number of lines but some alterations are necessary because of different amperage and other technical matters. Thus far the Japanese have not exported many sets of their own manufacture.

The average viewer appears to prefer the commercial stations, despite their commercials, to the government-sponsored stations though they must pay 83¢ a month to the latter if their set is registered (and whether they use such stations or not). The government stations have a higher cultural level but as elsewhere the man-on-the street has tastes that differ.

Broadcasting hours are limited; most stations come on at 11:30 a.m. and sign off about 1:30 p.m. unless there is some special event, and come on again at 5:30 p.m., signing off for the night from 9:30 to 11:30. Program times are not important to the Japanese, and the scheduled program may come on late and go over its time by half an hour or more if circumstances prolong it.

The most popular programs are sports—Sumo (Japanese wrestling), baseball, boxing and professional wrestling—but the Japanese audience also likes Kabuki (Japanese drama), ballet and concerts (especially if an imported star is appearing), quizzes, give-aways (with very small prizes), amateur hours, and Japanese as well as American-type musicals. At present, the major movie companies of Japan are not letting their films be shown on TV because of a price disagreement. Formerly they collected about $833 for one picture of which half was to be used in advertising other pictures on TV, but most producers want more. Japanese stations are using a number of American shorts (of 1946 vintage) for fill-in spots but some newsreels, including Telenews, are popular.

Broadcasting began in 1953 in Japan when the government's special juridical body, the Broadcasting Corporation of Japan, went on the air and a few months later they opened their microwave system to Osaka (about 300 miles) bringing the Osaka and Nagoya stations on the air. There is still no commercial microwave setup. Six months after the first station opened in Tokyo, the first commercial station, JOAX-TV, started broadcasting in Tokyo and they were joined by JOKR-TV in 1955. TV advertising is relatively cheap—$900 will buy an hour in a fair spot and 20 per cent more will get you a prime spot on Saturday or Sunday which the Japanese consider tops. Other hour-long spots sell for $800 with 20-second spots running to about $150 and 10-second spots to $75.

The American Armed Forces Network has opened a TV station on Okinawa but in Japan Proper the authorities refused to give them a wave-length, perhaps because of fears that American programs might prove a greater draw than local ones.

Technically the picture as seen on the TV screen is excellent and up to American standards, as the same system of 7 mega black and white with 525 scanning lines is used. It is expected, if the past years are considered, that the number of Japanese TV sets will double each year but this rate may be increased if prices are brought down to American levels.

Three government-sponsored stations were opened in 1956 in Sendai, Hiroshima and Fukuoka and a fourth in Sapporo was awaiting certain equipment before its opening. Another commercial station was also due to open in Osaka. The number of unregistered sets is estimated at 120,000.

MEXICO

Advancement about as great as its inception in 1950 of TV in Mexico during 1956 is forecast by Ing. Rodolfo Flores Talavera, director of the National Statistics Department, who finds far from discouraging the report of his organization that after six years functioning, video and radio in this country is enjoyed by only a fifth of the population. The report announced that Mexico's TV regular daily audience is 626,712 persons, served by a mere 78,339 receivers, and that of radio is 5,314,105, by 1,062,821 receivers, supplied by 265 Stations.

Mr. Talavera corrected those who challenged the statement that though eight TV stations are listed in service in Mexico, there are really only two—XHTV, channel 4 (the pioneer) and XEWTV, channel 2, both in Mexico City, both belonging to Telesistema, as the others are all tied in with those stations, several telecasting identical programs. He indicated that figures he announced are accurate, as they were disinterestedly and painstakingly compiled, and rather discount data TV and radio companies publicize regarding the number of receivers in service and the air public of this country. But, the official stressed, TV and radio are important to Mexico and more and more Mexicans are seeking them, and more and more is being done to meet that want.

The Ministry of Communications and Public Works is completing details of plans to establish, with the cash and technical aid of private interests, a national TV network, to connect with like services in the U. S. and Cuba as well as Central America. The plans feature setting up several stations to assure intensified telecasting, so that all Mexico would be covered. The Ministry sees this proposition as being of great social as well as economic benefit to the Republic: reducing illiteracy and increasing industrial and agricultural production by teaching and instructing by the audiovisual method.

Telesistema Mexicano announced that soon it will provide, through channel 3, TV for a public it estimates at 3,000,000 in Queretaro, Guanajuato and Hidalgo States and part of Michoacan State, in the middle west, through an antenna it is installing on a hill at Zamorano, Queretaro State. The scope of this service will be about 175 miles. Romulo O'Farrill, Jr., director general of XHTV, is supervising the antenna's installation.

The Ministry claims that Mexican TV is the cleanest in the world because of the strictest censorship and constant vigilance it exercises.

The stations and directors general are: XHTV, channel 4 (the pioneer), Romulo O'Farrill, Jr.

XEWTV, channel 2, Emilio Azcarraga, Jr.
ZHGC, channel 5, Guillermo Gonzalez Camarena.

All stations recently combined into Telesistema.

NEW ZEALAND

There are no television facilities in New Zealand yet. Pressure is being brought upon the Government mainly by equipment suppliers but there is still no sign of activity in regard to the setting up of an organisation, to handle this entertainment medium. Its most likely final form will be a Government controlled corporation functioning in conjunction with the National Broadcasting Service, which has full sway over both National and Commercial radio in New Zealand. A close watch is being kept on Australia where Television is just making its debut and no doubt New Zealand will profit by Australia's experiences. Present legislation putting the brake on hire purchase schemes by requiring minimum deposits of about one third of the price on such articles as television sets will also cushion the impact on motion picture theatres by discouraging the weekly commitments of thousands of pounds by people who cannot really afford such luxuries. Odd demonstrations of television have been given by interested parties at shows and exhibitions but to the man in the street television is an unknown quantity and naturally not having been experienced it is not at all missed. There are quite a number of antagonists to the new medium mostly educationists who base their comments and criticism on their observations overseas and on press paragraphs indicating disturbing factors resulting from the effects of television on home life, study, and mental outlook generally.

No doubt television will come to New Zealand but no doubt also much more will be required to be known about it and the ability to be able to control and use it to the best advantage will be acquired before the first telecast takes place here.

NORWAY

The television situation in Norway still is in its embryo-stage only. Some experiments are going on at the Government broadcast station, but the public is not yet included, and television apparatus is not for common sale.

A few private experimentalists in the south of Norway are trying to take in and once in a while succeed in obtaining England. It is expected that it will still take years before developments of any importance will take place.

—FINN NYMANN

PUERTO RICO

There are about 100,000 television sets in Puerto Rico, for a population of 2,300,000. Most of the public places such as restaurants, clubs, have television sets for their patrons and the medium is available in local hotels upon request.

The Commonwealth government is erecting a new $1 million educational TV station that will operate on channel 6 at the end of 1956. This means that the number of educational films will increase and that television sets will be purchased to provide the public schools in urban and rural areas.

Even though most Puerto Ricans know English, and the number of persons who will acquire a working knowledge of English will increase considerably through intensification of English instruction in public schools and the migration of Puerto Rican families to the United States, and workers who come back from the States with more knowledge of English, television programming are in English and Spanish. WKAQ-TV, owned and operated by the newspaper El Mundo, on channel 4, has 30 per cent programs in English of which 10 per cent have Spanish sub-titles.

WKAQ-TV produces 90 live shows weekly, but this number is increasing weekly. This station has 100,000 watts.

WAPA-TV, 60,000 watts, channel 2, has 65 per cent of programs in Spanish and 35 per cent in English of which 5 per cent have Spanish sub-titles.

Kinescope versions of top North American television shows such as I Love Lucy, Schlitz Playhouse of Stars, Public Defender, The Unexpected, Life is Worth Living, Public Prosecutor, etc., are represented on both stations. Most popular are the 64 Dollar Question and Truth or Consequences, and their counterparts in Puerto Rico.

American manufacturers of cigarettes, electric appliances, soaps, detergents, and other products which use television widely have increased their budgets for this type of advertising medium. Consequently the newspapers and magazines have lost advertising revenue.

The reason for this is that the two leading newspapers operating in Puerto Rico have a circulation each not reaching over 100,000, while there are now over 100,000 television sets in operation and the number is increasing considerably.

Puerto Rico has granted a tax holiday till 1958 on all television stations equipment and receivers. The excise tax law was amended this year to eliminate all excises on electrical appliances costing less than $100, and a great number of other electrical apparatus and equipment of home use. If you purchase a TV receiver with a combination record player, you pay an ad valorem excise tax of 10 per cent. If the TV receiver is purchased alone in the U. S. or a foreign country, no tax is paid.

SOUTH AFRICA

It was thought at one time that this country would probably reach the TV goal ahead of its Commonwealth sister, Australia, but in the light of recent events, this was proved incorrect.

The deputy director of the South African Broadcasting Corporation, Norman Filmer, while in Canada recently stated that the SABC intended starting a television service soon. This statement received an immediate denial from the director-general of the SABC here himself, Gideon Roos, who in speaking of the statement under review said:

"I do not understand the reference to television and a world service as our board of governors has taken no decision on either of these subjects. I can only think that Mr. Filmer's words must have been misunderstood."

The SABC, although not officially a Government Department nor even a protegee, is geared up, and has been through the years since the state took over South African Broadcasting interests from the late I. W. Schlesinger, to the needs and demands of state interests, and as such, one feels that all interests are best served by retaining the one transmitting corporation for both services, radio and TV.

This too may be the reason that so far at any rate, the Schlesinger Organisation, on stand-by together with the British Rank Organisation, has not been seen making too open a move with their television interests in this country. As reported previously, these two groups are alleged to have been ready and equipped for some long time past now to introduce TV here.

Certainly, if and when Television does come, early transmissions will of necessity be "canned." Lack of experience (acting), and possibly talent will account for this fact. It is redundant to add that the reduced mobility, lighting and new forms of makeup will come as troubles hitherto unknown to the local lights of the South African stage. The technical crews, naturally will react more readily and more speedily to the new conditions. It is possible that among the first live telecasts will come such outdoor items as sports events, football and the like and possibly certain news coverage as well. Outdoor national commemoration activities will also possibly take pride of place on S. A. TV screens. But apart from much exterior camerawork, it is unlikely for the start at any rate, that much television will be beamed "live" from any of the studios here. For, apart too, from the fact of the general TV installation necessary, it is doubted whether any of the present studios, with the possible exception of Cape Town, are adequate enough in size to accommodate TV sound stages.

With its limited population the country could ill afford expensive air shows such as those evidenced overseas, and it is doubtful as to whether sponsors could afford the high prices obtained for the first class, top-notch series currently being beamed in places like the United States or England.

But the biggest of all the problems, outside of Television itself, is the old but ever present hum-dinger—Censorship. This is something that is going to cause many a headache, and I fear, in this country, many a good show not even hitting the airwaves.

South Africa is a complex country, and bas in its makeup, many races of diverse types and in diverse states of civilization. For this reason the Government has seen fit to impose more rigidly than normal its laws of Censorship.

So unless some surprise decision is made suddenly and sprung on the county by the powers that be, all the above can only go to further your correspondent's contention given some time back to the effect that it will be at least another five years or more before South Africa can be included in the list of those nations viewing TV and then, with certain reservations.

SPAIN

In spite of some years of preparatory practice, it is too soon to say that TV definitely established in Spain. There is only one transmitter station "Madrid-Chamartin De La Rosa" in experimental work:

Video transmitter, 500 watts; Sound transmitter, 300 watts.

Duplexer, transmission line and antenna "Super-turnstile" of 3 elements, with capacity for 5 Kw.

Link system for metric waves made up by transmitter, receiver and transmission antennas.

Two complete chains of mobile cameras with orthicon of image.

A "Flying-stop" system of tele-cinema for 35 mm. All the equipment is operated on the standard continental, 625 lines 25 images per s.

Audio MC/S, 60850. Video MC/S, 55.250.

It is hoped to reform the station totally. This reform means setting up also a new one in Barcelona. So next year when the coaxial cable installation between Madrid and Barcelona and the French border is completed by the Company Telefonica Spanish TV can be linked to the French network and extended to all Europe under Eurovision Plan.

The station which is now operating is nationally owned and so will be the new one. Spanish TV is controlled by the Ministry of Information and Tourism, through the Direccion General de Radio-difusion (Broadcasting) and the official broadcasting organization called Radio Nacional de España.

This station is operating on experimental lines only, five hours per week distributed in three programmes: On Tuesdays, cinema, features, news-reels and documentary films. On Thursdays, children's programs, circus items and educational pictures. On Saturdays, theatre, miscellaneous and reports.

It is not easy to predict the future of TV in Spain. People concerned believe that it will be prosperous in near future. The fact is that there are hardly 1,000 receivers in Madrid, none in the rest of the country, and the increase in number during these experimental years has been practically void.

First experiences begun in 1950, but the station was open in 1952 with the experimental character it has today. TV here, it is felt, cannot survive unless there is Government support. The price of a receiver is not too high (from 16,500 to 60,000 pesetas—$400 to $1,500) and its cost probably will decline, with a reasonable sales average. Development in any case would be very slow, due to the enormous expenses of a TV station. Despite that, the cost of a TV program (one hour) is 10,000 pesetas ($250) which is a little more the publicity prices in broadcasting.

There is no charge for receivers. Only a small tax (the same as radio sets) between 60 and 150 pesetas ($1.50 to $4) private or public. But there is no specific plan for the future. The system now in operation will continue; a few hours per week until anybody may find the formulae to foster the programs and so to increase the number of receivers. Then would follow a rising of commercial interest in the plan.

TV authorities in Spain are:
Ilmo. Sr. D. Jesus Suenos, Director General de Radiodifusion (Broadcasting Director General). Juan Bravo 6, Madrid.

D. José Ramón Alonso, Director General of Radio Nacional de España, Paseo de la Castellana, 42, Madrid.

D. José Luis Colina, Programme editor (Manager of the station at Madrid-Chamartin de la Rosa), Av. Reina Victoria 25, Madrid.

D. Joaquin Sanchez-Cordoves, Radio Engineer, Chief engineer of the Station at Madrid-Chamartin de la Rosa, Av. de la Habana 77, Madrid.

SWITZERLAND

Total number of receivers in the country: By Jan. 1, 1956, exactly 10,507, of which 2,580 in public rooms, i.e. Bars, Tea-Rooms, Restaurants.

Total number of commercial TV stations in Switzerland: None. TV is governmental controlled in Switzerland.

Total number of government controlled stations in Switzerland: Four. Uetliberg (Zurich), Bantiger (Bern), Chrischona (Basel) and La Dôle-Jura (for the French speaking part of Switzerland).

Taxation on receivers: 60.—Swiss francs for home receivers. 120.—Swiss francs for receivers in public rooms (which may charge a small admission). Amounts are per annum.

Time of transmissions per week: two programmes in German and French of 12 hours each.

Use of live and/or film shows: 1955: film shows 35% live shows 65%.

In over-all charge is the governmental department PTT (Post, Telegraph and Telephone). Until December 31, 1957, TV in Switzerland is run on an experimental basis. Plans for the future are not yet known.

For the moment:

Responsible for technical service: PTT.

Responsible for programmes Schweizerische Rundspruchsgesellschaft (Radio Cooperation of Switzerland).

Director of Programmes: Mr. Eduard Haas, (Fernsehstudio Bellerive, Kreuzstrasse 2, Zurich).

Second Director of Programmes (only for the French speaking part of Switzerland): M. Frank Tappolet, Studio de Télévision Mon Repos, 112, Rue de Lausanne, Genève.

U.S.S.R.

According to combined reports from the Weekly Review of Foreign Radio & TV Press edited by RAI, the Italian Radio & TV Government operated company and from individuals coming from Soviet Union, following is all the available information on the development of TV in Russia.

The first experiments of TV were made in the Soviet Union a few months before the second world war. Then they were discontinued and revived in 1945. Six stations are operating presently. The most important stations are those ones of Moscow, of Leningrad and of Kiev. The station of Moscow can be detected within 45 miles, while the station of Kiev covers an area of about 200 miles, reportedly.

Official sources of the Soviet Union assert that the TV receivers operating in Russia are estimated about 2,500,000 in the total; of which about 1,900,000 in Moscow area, around 350,000 in Leningrad area and 250,000 in Kiev area and other smaller localities of the country. According to other estimates the numbers of receivers should be around 1,500,000 presently.

Official figures report that while 300,000 receivers were made in 1954, the number raised up near to one million in 1955.

Almost all the receivers are of eight to ten inches. Very few are of 13-inch screen, which are the largest available in Russia. Receivers of 17 and 21 inches are still announced to be put on sale by the end of this year.

The 8-inch receivers are sold at about 1,275 rubles ($300) which is two month wages of the best paid workers.

The 14-inch receivers, the best ones available in Moscow, are sold at about 2,000 rubles, i.e. about 500 U. S. dollars at the official rate of exchange. (The price is 135 U. S. dollars if the free market rate of exchange is considered).

All receivers pay an annual subscription-tax which is about 10 U. S. dollars.

Transmissions on weekdays are of five hours. They have six to eight hours transmissions on holy days. There are no transmissions at all on Thursdays.

The TV activity which is of course a Government monopoly, is under the control of the State Department of Postal and Telegraphic Services in Moscow (no special address is necessary).

The Russian authorities hope to be able to popularize this kind of entertainment more and more in the near future. This aim can be easily attained reportedly, as the Russian worker has a very limited choice of goods he can buy with the money he can save on his wages.

—DR. ARGEO SANTUCCI

VENEZUELA

Approximate number of television receivers: 85,000.

There are two commercial television stations in Caracas.

1. Radio Caracas—TV—Director Amable Espina Channel 2.

2. Televisa—Director Jaime Ballentyne Channel 4 Caracas, Venezuela is the address needed on these.

There is one government-owned station, Channel 5, Director Heriberto Ramirez, Caracas. Station called Televisora Nacional.

It is now estimated that television has 1,600,000 viewers with the extension of television into points in the interior. There is no taxation of any kind and the only censorship is that which applies to all radio and television under the Law of Telecommunications and Comision Nacional de Radio-Television. The two commercial stations which have now been operating for several years are still losing money as sponsors are not yet convinced that it is the best form of advertising.

Many live programs are used with some imported talent and local talent but many old feature films and 16 mm. films are being shown.

Radio Caracas is now beaming programs to the center of the Republic, over Channel 7, and to Maracaibo, covering a distance of about 250 miles in each direction. Also Televisa have installed a station in Valencia and Maracaibo, operating on Channel 9.

Radio Caracas is the first station to have day time programs. The Government owned station operates only about 2 hours a day.

—MONA L. CALDWELL

YUGOSLAVIA

Television in Yugoslavia is still in an experimental stage, although the first experiments started in 1949.

The most recent information from technical sources indicate—thanks to increased interest of the Government in television—three TV centers (Belgrade, Zagreb and Ljubljana, the principal towns of Serbia, Croatia and Slovenia) will be ready to broadcast early in 1957.

The first experimental TV station was established in Ljubljana, Slovenia, in 1949, in which several Yugoslav best electrotechnical experts, most of them the university professors, work and keep the Government fully informed on their work and the needs in funds and various equipments.

These three stations, according to the experts, would have the power to cover a part of the territory with over 1,500,000 from Yugoslavia's 17,000,000 population. The locations have been already chosen for the projected TV stations in Serbia, Croatia and Slovenia: on Fruska Gora (the only small hill in the Vojvodina plain, the bread basket of Yugoslavia) near Belgrade, on Sljeme, near Zagreb and on Hrib, near Ljubljana. The cost to build the three TV stations on these locations would amount to 51 million dinars ($170,000), providing that part of the materials be produced locally. With such costs, which are considered pretty low, the subscription would not exceed 3,000 dinars ($10), just the annual subscription of the present radio fee.

The 1,500,000 Yugoslavs who will be within the range of the three projected TV stations would require at least 17,000 TV receiving sets so that every 94th person would have one. Now comes the question whether every 94th Yugoslav would be capable to buy a TV receiving set, when a locally produced one costs between 130 and 140 thousand dinars ($445 and $465). Very few people in Yugoslavia can afford nowadays to spend a "fortune" for a receiving set, even on the installment arrangement. But, on the other hand, there are a lot of institutions, as are coops cultural homes, libraries, clubs, restaurants and factories, which can afford such expense.

The economic policy makers of the Yugoslav Government had discussed recently the problem of television in the country, and made serious recommendations to the technical institutes to increase the efforts thus to enable Yugoslavia to get TV stations of her own in the shortest possible time.

Despite the fact that Yugoslavia has not yet the TV stations of her own in some parts of the country, the television is not unknown in the country. The range of the TV stations from neighbouring Italy and Hungary is reaching some parts of Yugoslavia—Istria on the Adriatic and some parts of Vojvodina, the plain bordering Hungary and Romania, thus many Yugoslavs in these parts already have TV sets.

The Belgrade radio industry enterprise "Nikola Tesla" decided recently to invest 50 million dinars in the experimental works for introducing television in Yugoslavia as quickly as possible. The building of new experimental station in Belgrade is well under way. The range of this new TV station will be 70 kms. It is expected, an executive said that Yugoslavia will have her own TV stations by the end of next year or early in 1957.

The elaborate plans have been made and approved by the Government, the Government earmarked sufficient funds and insured the imports of necessary equipments, which gave tremendous hope to the Yugoslavs to believe that it will come true, that by the end of the next or early in 1957 it will be possible to hear the TV programs in their own language.

The Television Code

The Television Code

A NEW CODE of standards and practices for the television industry went into effect March 1, 1952 following a series of developments almost a year in the making.

The code is an aftermath of a meeting held in Washington in June, 1951 at which NBC made public a code of its own. Set up as a standard of operations in television, this code bore an essential resemblance to the instrument earlier adopted by the same network for radio broadcasting. Both NBC codes, a Code of Standards adopted for radio by the National Association of Broadcasters—predecessor organization of the National Association of Radio and Television Broadcasters—in Atlantic City in 1947 and now the industry-wide TV code, drew upon the Motion Picture Production Code for their pattern.

Four subcommittees were active in preparation of the television code throughout the summer of 1951. Their tentative draft was approved by the NARTB board in September and a final polishing job undertaken in Washington shortly before the text was ratified in Chicago, October 19, 1951.

The TV code provides for a review board consisting of five members of NARTB. This board is empowered to enforce the rules governing programming and advertising. There will be issued a Seal of Approval, available to subscribing members whether affiliated with NARTB or not. While the power to hold in check unfair and unscrupulous acts will be vested in the Review Board, the common impression in television is that this will be largely an unwritten power.

Intensive promotion on behalf of the seal is contemplated. Subscribing stations will be permitted to televise it so long as they adhere to the code itself. The Review Board will be charged with the policing task and report violations to the board of directors of NARTB who will be empowered to revoke the seal by a two-thirds' vote from which there will be no appeal.

In those phases that deal with programming and its approaches, the code bears striking similarity to the Motion Picture Production Code, conceived and formulated in 1929 by Martin Quigley, and ratified by the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors Association of America, Inc. which became the Motion Picture Association of America, Inc. late in 1945 when Eric Johnston was named president.

Meeting in Bandera, Tex. in February, TV board members of NARTB approved a review board of five and adopted a plan for financing administration of the code as well as an operating budget of $40,000 for the first year of operations.

The review board, designed to be a preliminary hearing group in considering complaints that specific TV programs and advertising practices violate the code, included the following:

John E. Fetzer, owner of TV station WKZO-TV at Kalamazoo, as the chairman; J. Leonard Reinsich, vice-president, WSB, Atlanta; Mrs. Scott Bullitt, owner of KING-TV, Seattle; William B. Quarton, vice-president and general manager, WMT-TV, Cedar Rapids and G. Richard Shafto, president of WIS-TV, Columbia, S. C.

Under the financing plan, each subscribing TV station pays $405 a year. If it is an NARTB member, $250 of this is credited against NARTB dues, leaving $155 for defraying code administration costs.

The Code is copyrighted by the National Association of Radio and Television Broadcasters. It is reprinted with the permission of the Television Code Review Board.

Text of the 1954 revised code follows:

Preamble

Television is seen and heard in every type of American home. These homes include children and adults of all ages, embrace all races and all varieties of religious faith, and reach those of every educational background. It is the responsibility of television to bear constantly in mind that the audience is primarily a home audience, and consequently that television's relationship to the viewers is that between guest and host.

The revenues from advertising support the free, competitive American system of telecasting, and make available to the eyes and ears of the American people the finest programs of information, education, culture and entertainment. By law the television broadcaster is responsible for the programming of his station. He, however, is obligated to bring his positive responsibility for excellence and good taste in programming to bear upon all who have a hand in the production of programs, including networks, sponsors, producers of film and of live programs, advertising agencies, and talent agencies.

The American businesses which utilize television for conveying their advertising messages to the home by pictures with sound, seen free-of-charge on the home screen, are reminded that their responsibilities are not limited to the sale of goods and the creation of a favorable attitude toward the sponsor by the presentation of entertainment. They include, as well, responsibility for utilizing television to bring the best programs, regardless of kind, into American homes.

Television, and all who participate in it are jointly accountable to the American public for respect for the special needs of children, for community responsibility, for the advancement of education and culture, for the acceptability of the program materials chosen, for decency and decorum in production, and for propriety in advertising. This responsibility cannot be discharged by any given group of programs, but can be discharged only through the highest standards of respect for the American home, applied to every moment of every program presented by television.

In order that television programming may best serve the public interest, viewers should be encouraged to make their criticisms and positive suggestions known to the television broadcasters. Parents in particular should be urged to see to it that out of the richness of television fare, the best programs are brought to the attention of their children.

Advancement of Education and Culture

1. Commercial television provides a valuable means of augmenting the educational and cultural influences of schools, institutions of higher learning, the home, the church, museums, foundations, and other institutions devoted to education and culture.

2. It is the responsibility of a television broadcaster to call upon such institutions for counsel and cooperation and to work with them on the best methods of presenting educational and cultural materials by television. It is further the responsibility of stations, networks, advertising agencies and sponsors consciously to seek opportunities for introducing into telecasts factual materials which will aid in the enlightenment of the American public.

3. Education via television may be taken to mean that process by which the individual is brought toward informed adjustment to his society. Television is also responsible for the presentation of overtly instructional and cultural programs, scheduled so as to reach the viewers who are naturally drawn to such programs, and produced so as to attract the largest possible audience.

4. In furthering this realization, the television broadcaster:

- a) Should be thoroughly conversant with the educational and cultural needs and desires of the community served.
- b) Should affirmatively seek out responsible and accountable educational and cultural institutions of the community with a view toward providing opportunities for the instruction and enlightenment of the viewers.
- c) Should provide for reasonable experimentation in the development of programs specifically directed to the advancement of the community's culture and education.

Acceptability of Program Material

Program materials should enlarge the horizons of the viewer, provide him with wholesome entertainment, afford helpful stimulation, and remind him of the responsibilities which the citizen has towards his society. Furthermore:

- a) (i) Profanity, obscenity, smut and vulgarity are forbidden, even when likely to be understood only by part of the audience. From time to time, words which have been acceptable, acquire undesirable meanings, and telecasters should be alert to eliminate such words.
(ii) Words (especially slang) derisive of any race, color, creed, nationality or national derivation, except wherein such usage would be for the specific purpose of effective dramatization such as combating prejudice, are forbidden, even when likely to be understood only by part of the audience. From time to time, words which have been acceptable, acquire undesirable meanings, and telecasters should be alert to eliminate such words.
(iii) The Television Code Review Board (see Regulations and Procedures of the Code, V, Section 3, Authority and Responsibilities) shall maintain and issue to subscribers, from time to time, a continuing list of specific words and phrases which should not be used in keeping with this subsection. This list, however, shall not be considered as all-inclusive.
- b) (i) Attacks on religion and religious faiths are not allowed.
(ii) Reverence is to mark any mention of the name of God. His attributes and powers.
(iii) When religious rites are included in other than religious programs, the rites are accurately presented, and the ministers, priests and rabbis portrayed in their callings are vested with the dignity of their office and under no circumstances are to be held up to ridicule.
- c) (i) Contests may not constitute a lottery.
(ii) Any telecasting designed to "buy" the television audience by requiring it to listen and/or view in hope of reward, rather than for the quality of the program, should be avoided. (see Contests.)
- d) Respect is maintained for the sanctity of marriage and the value of the home. Divorce is not treated casually nor justified as a solution for marital problems.
- e) Illicit sex relations are not treated as commendable.
- f) Sex crimes and abnormalities are generally unacceptable as program material.
- g) Drunkenness and narcotic addition are never presented as desirable or prevalent.

- h) The administration of illegal drugs will not be displayed.
- i) The use of liquor in program content shall be de-emphasized. The consumption of liquor in American life, when not required by the plot or for proper characterization, shall not be shown.
- j) The use of gambling devices or scenes necessary to the development of plot or as appropriate background is acceptable only when presented with discretion and in moderation, and in a manner which would not excite interest in, or foster, betting nor be instructional in nature. Telecasts of actual sport programs at which on-the-scene betting is permitted by law should be presented in a manner in keeping with Federal, state and local laws, and should concentrate on the subject as a public sporting event.
- k) In reference to physical or mental afflictions and deformities, special precautions must be taken to avoid ridiculing sufferers from similar ailments and offending them or members of their families.
- l) Exhibitions of fortune-telling, astrology, phrenology, palm-reading, and numerology are acceptable only when required by a plot or the theme of a program, and then the presentation should be developed in a manner designed not to foster superstition or excite interest or belief in these subjects.
- m) Televised drama shall not simulate news or special events in such a way as to mislead or alarm. (see News.)
- n) Legal, medical and other professional advice, diagnosis and treatment will be permitted only in conformity with law and recognized ethical and professional standards.
- o) The presentation of cruelty, greed and selfishness as worthy motivations is to be avoided.
- p) Excessive or unfair exploitation of others or of their physical or mental afflictions shall not be presented as praiseworthy.
- q) Criminality shall be presented as undesirable and unsympathetic. The condoning of crime in the treatment of the commission of crime in a frivolous, cynical or callous manner is unacceptable.
- r) The presentation of techniques of crime in such detail as to invite imitation shall be avoided.
- s) The use of horror for its own sake will be eliminated; the use of visual or aural effects which would shock or alarm the viewer, and the detailed presentation of brutality or physical agony by sight or by sound are not permissible.
- t) Law enforcement shall be upheld, and the officers of the law are to be portrayed with respect and dignity.
- u) The presentation of murder or revenge as a motive for murder shall not be presented as justifiable.
- v) Suicide as an acceptable solution for human problems is prohibited.
- w) The exposition of sex crimes will be avoided.
- x) The appearances or dramatization of persons featured in actual crime news will be permitted only in such light as to aid law enforcement or to report the news event.
- y) Treatment of Animals. The use of animals, both in the production of television programs and as a part of television program content, shall, at all times, be in conformity with accepted standards of humane treatment.

Responsibility Toward Children

1. The education of children involves giving them a sense of the world at large. Crime, violence and sex are a part of the world they will be called upon to meet, and a certain amount of proper presentation of such is helpful in orienting the child to his social surroundings. However, violence and illicit sex shall not be presented in an attractive manner, nor to an extent such as will lead a child to believe that they play a greater part in life than they do. They should not be presented without indications of the resultant retribution and punishment.

2. It is not enough that only those programs which are intended for viewing by children shall be suitable to the young and immature. (Attention is called to the general items listed under Acceptability of Program Materials.) Television is responsible for insuring that programs of all sorts which occur during the times of day when children may normally be expected to have the opportunity of viewing television shall exercise care in the following regards:

- a) In affording opportunities for cultural growth as well as for wholesome entertainment.
- b) In developing programs to foster and promote the commonly accepted moral, social and ethical ideals characteristic of American life.
- c) In reflecting respect for parents, for honorable behavior, and for the constituted authorities of the American community.
- d) In eliminating reference to kidnaping of children or threats of kidnaping.
- e) In avoiding material which is excessively violent or would create morbid suspense, or other undesirable reactions in children.
- f) In exercising particular restraint and care in crime or mystery episodes involving children or minors.

Decency and Decorum in Production

1. The costuming of all performers shall be within the bounds of propriety, and shall avoid such exposure or such emphasis on anatomical detail as would embarrass or offend home viewers.
2. The movements of dancers, actors, or other performers shall be kept within the bounds of decency, and lewdness and impropriety shall not be suggested in the positions assumed by performers.
3. Camera angles shall avoid such views of performers as to emphasize anatomical details indecently.
4. Racial or nationality types shall not be shown on television in such a manner as to ridicule the race or nationality.
5. The use of locations closely associated with sexual life or with sexual sin must be governed by good taste and delicacy.

Community Responsibility

A television broadcaster and his staff occupy a position of responsibility in the community and should conscientiously endeavor to be acquainted fully with its needs and characteristics in order better to serve the welfare of its citizens.

Treatment of News and Public Events

1. A television station's news schedule should be adequate and well-balanced.
2. News reporting should be factual, fair and without bias.
3. Commentary and analysis should be clearly identified as such.
4. Good taste should prevail in the selection and handling of news:
Morbid, sensational or alarming details not essential to the factual report, especially in connection with stories of crime or sex, should be avoided. News should be telecast in such a manner as to avoid panic and unnecessary alarm.
5. At all times, pictorial and verbal material for both news and comment should conform to other sections of these standards, wherever such sections are reasonably applicable.
6. Pictorial material should be chosen with care and not presented in a misleading manner. care in his supervision of content, format, and presentation of newscasts originated by his station, and in his selection of newscasters, commentators, and analysts.
7. A television broadcaster should exercise due
8. A television broadcaster should exercise particular discrimination in the acceptance, placement and presentation of advertising in news programs so that such advertising should be clearly distinguishable from the news content.
9. A television broadcaster should not present fictional events or other non-news material as authentic news telecasts or announcements nor should he permit dramatizations in any program which would give the false impression that the dramatized material constitutes news. Expletives, (presented aurally or pictorially such as "flash" or "bulletin" and statements such as "we interrupt this program to bring you . . ." should be reserved specifically for news room use. However, a television broadcaster may properly exercise discretion in the use in non-news programs of words or phrases which do not necessarily imply that the material following is a news release.

PUBLIC EVENTS

1. A television broadcaster has an affirmative responsibility at all times to be informed of public events, and to provide coverage consonant with the ends of an informed and enlightened citizenry.
2. Because of the nature of events open to the public, the treatment of such events by a television broadcaster should be effected in a manner to provide for adequate and informed coverage as well as good taste in presentation.

Controversial Public Issues

1. Television provides a valuable forum for the expression of responsible views on public issues of a controversial nature. In keeping therewith the television broadcaster should seek out and develop with accountable individuals, groups and organizations, programs relating to controversial public issues of import to its fellow citizens; and to give fair representation to opposing sides of issues which materially affect the life or welfare of a substantial segment of the public.
2. The provision of time for this purpose should be guided by the following principles:
 - a) Requests by individuals, groups or organizations for time to discuss their views on controversial public issues, should be considered on the basis of their individual merits, and in the light of the contribution which the use requested would make to the public interest, and to a well-balanced program structure.
 - b) Programs devoted to the discussion of controversial public issues should be identified as such, and should not be presented in a manner which would mislead listeners or viewers to believe that the program is purely of an entertainment, news or other character.

Political Telecasts

Political telecasts should be clearly identified as such, and should not be presented by a television broadcaster in a manner which would mislead listeners or viewers to believe that the program is of any other character.

Religious Programs

1. It is the responsibility of a television broadcaster to make available to the community as part of a well-balanced program schedule adequate opportunity for religious presentations.
2. The following principles should be followed in the treatment of such programs:
 - a) Telecasting which reaches men of all creeds simultaneously should avoid attacks upon religion.
 - b) Religious programs should be presented respectfully and accurately and without prejudice or ridicule.
 - c) Religious programs should be presented by responsible individuals, groups, and organizations.
 - d) Religious programs should place emphasis on broad religious truths, excluding the presentation of controversial or partisan views not directly or necessarily related to religion or morality.
3. In the allocation of time for telecasts of religious programs it is recommended that the television station use its best efforts to apportion such time fairly among the representative faith groups of its community.

Presentation of Advertising

1. Ever mindful of the role of television as a guest in the home, a television broadcaster should exercise unceasing care to supervise the form in which advertising material is presented over his facilities. Since television is a developing medium, involving methods and techniques distinct from those of radio, it may be desirable from time to time to review and revise the presently suggested practices:
 - a) Advertising messages should be presented with courtesy and good taste; disturbing or annoying material should be avoided; every effort should be made to keep the advertising message in harmony with the content and general tone of the program in which it appears.
 - b) A sponsor's advertising messages should be confined within the framework of the sponsor's program structure. A television broadcaster should avoid the use of commercial announcements which are divorced from the program either by preceding the introduction of the program (as in the case of so-called "cow-catcher" announcements) or by following the apparent sign-off of the program (as in the case of so-called "trailer" announcements). To this end, the program itself should be announced and clearly identified, both audio and video, before the sponsor's advertising material is first used, and should be signed off, both audio and video, after the sponsor's advertising material is last used.

- c) Advertising copy should contain no claims intended to disparage competitors, competing products, or other industries, professions or institutions.
- d) Since advertising by television is a dynamic technique, a television broadcaster should keep under surveillance new advertising devices so that the spirit and purpose of these standards are fulfilled.
- e) Television broadcasters should exercise the utmost care and discrimination with regard to advertising material, including content, placement and presentation, near or adjacent to programs designed for children. No considerations of expediency should be permitted to impinge upon the vital responsibility towards children and adolescents, which is inherent in television, and which must be recognized and accepted by all advertisers employing television.
- f) Television advertisers should be encouraged to devote portions of their allotted advertising messages and program time to the support of worthy causes in the public interest in keeping with the highest ideals of the free competitive system.
- g) A charge for television time to churches and religious bodies is not recommended.

Acceptability of Advertisers and Products—General

1. A commercial television broadcaster makes his facilities available for the advertising of products and services and accepts commercial presentations for such advertising. However, a television broadcaster should, in recognition of his responsibility to the public, refuse the facilities of his station to an advertiser where he has good reason to doubt the integrity of the advertiser, the truth of the advertising representations, or the compliance of the advertiser with the spirit and purpose of all applicable legal requirements. Moreover, in consideration of the laws and customs of the communities served, each television broadcaster should refuse his facilities to the advertisement of products and services, or the use of advertising scripts, which the station has good reason to believe would be objectionable to a substantial and responsible segment of the community. The foregoing principles should be applied with judgment and flexibility, taking into consideration the characteristics of the medium and the form and content of the particular presentation. In general, because television broadcast is designed for the home and the family, including children, the following principles should govern the business classifications listed below:

- a) The advertising of hard liquor should not be accepted.
 - b) The advertising of beer and wines is acceptable only when presented in the best of good taste and discretion, and is acceptable subject to Federal and local law.
 - c) Advertising by institutions or enterprises which in their offers of instruction imply promises of employment or make exaggerated claims for the opportunities awaiting those who enroll for courses is generally unacceptable.
 - d) The advertising of firearms and fireworks is acceptable only subject to Federal and local laws.
 - e) The advertising of fortune-telling, occultism, spiritualism, astrology, phrenology, palm-reading, numerology, mind-reading or character-reading is not acceptable.
 - f) Because all products of a personal nature create special problems, such products, when accepted, should be treated with especial emphasis on ethics and the canons of good taste; however, the advertising of intimately personal products which are generally regarded as unsuitable conversational topics in mixed social groups is not acceptable.
 - g) The advertising of tip sheets, race track publications, or organizations seeking to advertise for the purpose of giving odds or promoting betting or lotteries is unacceptable.
2. Diligence should be exercised to the end that advertising copy accepted for telecasting complies with pertinent Federal, state and local laws.

3. An advertiser who markets more than one product should not be permitted to use advertising copy devoted to an acceptable product for purposes of publicizing the brand name or other identification of a product which is not acceptable.

Advertising of Medical Products

1. The advertising of medical products presents considerations of intimate and far-reaching importance to the consumer, and the following principles and procedures should apply in the advertising thereof:

- a) A television broadcaster should not accept advertising material which in his opinion, offensively describes or dramatizes distress or morbid situations involving ailments, by spoken word, sound or visual effects.
- b) Because of the personal nature of the advertising of medical products, claims that a product will effect a cure and the indiscriminate use of such words as "safe", "without risk", "harmless", or terms of similar meaning should not be accepted in the advertising of medical products on television stations.

Contests

1. Contests should offer the opportunity to all contestants to win on the basis of ability and skill, rather than chance.

2. All contest details, including rules, eligibility requirements, opening and termination dates should be clearly and completely announced and/or shown, or easily accessible to the viewing public, and the winners' names should be released and prizes awarded as soon as possible after the close of the contest.

3. When advertising is accepted which requests contestants to submit items of product identification or other evidence of purchase of product, reasonable facsimiles thereof should be made acceptable.

4. All copy pertaining to any contest (except that which is required by law) associated with the exploitation or sale of the sponsor's product or service, and all references to prizes or gifts offered in such connection should be considered a part of and included in the total time allowances as herein provided. (see Time Standards for Advertising Copy.)

Premiums and Offers

1. Full details of proposed offers should be required by the television broadcaster for investigation and approval before the first announcement of the offer is made to the public.

2. A final date for the termination of an offer should be announced as far in advance as possible.

3. Before accepting for telecast offers involving a monetary consideration, a television broadcaster should satisfy himself as to the integrity of the advertiser and the advertiser's willingness to honor complaints indicating dissatisfaction with the premium by returning the monetary consideration.

4. There should be no misleading descriptions or visual representations of any premiums or gifts which would distort or enlarge their value in the minds of the listeners.

5. Assurances should be obtained from the advertiser that premiums offered are not harmful to person or property.

6. Premiums should not be approved which appeal to superstition on the basis of "luck-bearing" powers or otherwise.

Time Standards for Advertising Copy

1. In accordance with good telecast advertising practices, the time standards for advertising copy are as follows:

Length of Program	Length of Advertising Message (Minutes and Seconds)
	Program News Programs		All Other Programs
	Day (Minutes)	Night	Class "A" Time	All Other Hrs.
5	1:00		1:00	1:15
10	1:45		2:00	2:10
15	2:15		2:30	3:00
25			2:50	4:00
30			3:00	4:15
45			4:30	5:45
60			6:00	7:00

2. Reasonable and limited identification of prize and statement of the donor's name within formats wherein the presentation of contest awards or prizes is a necessary and integral part of program content shall not be included as commercial time within the meaning of paragraph 1. above; however, any oral or visual presentation concerning the product or its donor, over and beyond such identification and statement, shall be included as commercial time within the meaning of paragraph 1. above.

3. The time standards set forth above do not affect the established practice of reserving for station use the last 30 seconds of each program for station break and spot announcements.

4. Announcement programs are designed to accommodate a designated number of individual live or recorded announcements, generally one minute in length, which are carried within the body of the program and are available for sale to individual advertisers. Normally not more than 3 one-minute announcements (which should not exceed approximately 125 words if presented live) should be scheduled within a 15-minute period and not more than six such announcements should be scheduled within a 30-minute period in local announcement programs; however, fewer announcements of greater individual length may be scheduled, provided that the aggregate length of the announcements approximates three minutes in a 15-minute program or six minutes in a 30-minute program. In announcement programs other than 15 minutes or 30 minutes in length, the proportion of one minute of announcement within every five minutes of programming is normally applied. The announcements must be presented within the framework of the program period designated for their use and kept in harmony with the content of the program in which they are placed.

5. Programs presenting women's services, features, shopping guides, market information, and similar material, provide a special service to the listening and viewing public in which advertising material is an informative and integral part of the program content. Because of these special characteristics the time standards set forth above may be waived to a reasonable extent.

6. Even though the commercial limitations of the Code do not specifically prohibit back-to-back announcements, such a practice is not recommended for more than two announcements, either at station break or within the framework of a single program.

7. Any casual reference by talent in a program to another's product or service under any trade name or language sufficiently descriptive to identify it should, except for normal guest identifications, be condemned and discouraged.

8. Stationary backdrops or properties in television presentations showing the sponsor's name or product, the name of his product, his trade mark or slogan may be used only incidentally. They should not obtrude on program interest or entertainment. "On Camera" shots of such materials should be fleeting, not too frequent, and mindful of the need of maintaining a proper program balance.

Dramatized Appeals and Advertising

Appeals to help fictitious characters in television programs by purchasing the advertiser's product or service or sending for a premium should not be permitted, and such fictitious characters should not be introduced into the advertising message for such purposes. When dramatized advertising material involves statements by doctors, dentists, nurses or other professional people, the material should be presented by members of such profession reciting actual experience or it should be made apparent from the presentation itself that the portrayal is dramatized.

Sponsor Identification

Identification of sponsorship must be made in all sponsored programs in accordance with the requirements of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, and the Rules and Regulations of the Federal Communications Commission.

REGULATIONS AND PROCEDURES

The following regulations and procedures shall obtain as an integral part of the Television Code of the National Association of Radio and Television Broadcasters:

Name

The name of this Code shall be The Television Code of the National Association of Radio and Television Broadcasters.*

Purpose of the Code

The purpose of this Code is cooperatively to maintain a level of television programming which gives full consideration to the educational, informational, cultural, economic, moral and entertainment needs of the American public to the end that more and more people will be better served.

Subscribers

Section 1. ELIGIBILITY

Any individual, firm or corporation which is engaged in the operation of a television broadcast station or network, or which holds a construction permit for a television broadcast station within the United States or its dependencies, shall, subject to the approval of the Television Board of Directors as hereinafter provided, be eligible to subscribe to the Television Code of the NARTB to the extent of one subscription for each such station and/or network which it operates or for which it holds a construction permit; provided, that a non television member of NARTB shall not become eligible via code subscription to receive any of the member services or to exercise any of the voting privileges of a member.

Section 2. CERTIFICATION OF SUBSCRIPTION

Upon subscribing to the Code, subject to the approval of the Television Board of Directors, there shall be granted forthwith to each such subscribing station authority to use the "NARTB Television Seal of Good Practice," a copyrighted and registered seal to be provided in the form of a certificate, a slide and/or a film, signifying that the recipient thereof is a subscriber in good standing to the Television Code of the NARTB. The seal and its significance shall be appropriately publicized by the NARTB.

* "Television Board. The Television Board is hereby authorized:—(4) to enact, amend and promulgate standards of practice or codes for its Television members, and to establish such methods to secure observance thereof as it may deem advisable:— By-Laws of the National Association of Radio and Television Broadcasters, Article VII, section 2.B.(4).

Section 3. DURATION OF SUBSCRIPTION

Subscription shall continue in full force and effect until thirty days after the first of the month following receipt of notice of written resignation. Subscription to the Code shall be effective from the date of application subject to the approval of the Television Board of Directors; provided, that the subscription of a television station going on the air for the first time shall, for the first six months of such subscription, be probationary, during which time its subscription can be summarily revoked by an affirmative two-thirds vote of the Television Board of Directors without the usual processes specified below.

Section 4. SUSPENSION OF SUBSCRIPTION

Any subscription, and/or the authority to utilize and show the above-noted seal, may be voided, revoked or temporarily suspended for television programming, including commercial copy, which, by theme, treatment or incident, in the judgment of the Television Board constitutes a continuing, willful or gross violation of any of the provisions of the Television Code, by an affirmative two-thirds vote of the Television Board of Directors at a regular or special meeting; provided, however, that the following conditions precedent shall apply: (1) The subscriber shall be advised in writing by registered mail of the charges preferred; (2) Such subscriber shall have a right to a hearing and may exercise same by filing an answer within 10 days of the date of such notification; (3) Failure to request a hearing shall be deemed a waiver of the subscriber's right thereto; (4) If hearing is requested by the subscriber, it shall be designated as promptly as possible and at such time and place as the Television Board may specify. Oral and written evidence may be introduced by the subscriber and by the Television Code Review Board (hereinafter provided for). Oral argument may be had at the hearing and written memoranda or briefs may be submitted by the subscriber and by the Television Code Review Board. The Television Board of Directors may admit such evidence as it deems relevant, material, and competent and may determine the nature and length of the oral argument and the written argument or briefs to be submitted. The Television Board of Directors shall decide the case as expeditiously as possible and shall notify the subscriber and the Television Code Review Board in writing of the decision.

Section 5. ADDITIONAL PROCEDURES

The Television Board of Directors shall, from time to time, establish such additional rules of procedure as, in its opinion, may be necessary for the proper administration of the Code; provided, that special consideration shall be given to the procedures for receipt and processing of complaints and to necessary rules to be adopted from time to time, taking into account the source and nature of such complaints; such rules to include precautionary measures such as the posting of bonds to cover costs and expenses of processing same; and further provided, that the Board of Directors shall take the steps necessary to insure the confidential status of any proceedings before it.

Section 6. AMENDMENT AND REVIEW

Because of the new and dynamic aspects inherent in television broadcast, the Television Code, as a living, flexible and continuing document, may be amended from time to time by the Television Board of Directors; provided that said Board is specifically charged with review and reconsideration of the entire Code, its appendices and procedures, at least once each year.

Section 7. TERMINATION OF CONTRACTS

All subscribers on the air at the time of subscription to the Code shall be permitted that period prior to and including the earliest legal cancellation date to terminate any contracts, then outstanding, calling for program presentations which would not be in conformity with the Television Code, provided, however, that in no event shall such period be longer than fifty-two weeks.

IV

Rates

Each subscriber shall pay "administrative" rates in accordance with such schedule, at such time, and under such conditions as may be determined from time to time by the Television Board (see Article VII, section 2.B. (3) and (4), By-Laws of the NARTB); provided, that appropriate credit shall be afforded to a television member of the NARTB against the regular dues which he or it pays to NARTB-TV.

V

The Television Code Review Board

Section 1. COMPOSITION

The Television Board of Directors shall establish a continuing committee entitled The Television Code Review Board, upon the promulgation of the Television Code. The Review Board shall be composed of five members, all of whom shall be from the Television membership of NARTB. Members of the Television Board of Directors shall not be eligible to serve on the above specified Review Board. Members of the Review Board shall be appointed by the President of the NARTB, subject to confirmation by the Television Board of Directors. Due consideration shall be given, in making such appointments, to factors of diversification of geographical location, company representation and network affiliation. Those members appointed, following promulgation of the Code, shall serve until immediately following the annual NARTB Convention of 1952. Thereafter a term shall be for one year.

A. Limitation of Service

A person shall not serve consecutively as a member of the Review Board for more than two years.

Section 2. QUORUM

A majority of the membership of the Television Code Review Board shall constitute a quorum for all purposes unless herein otherwise provided.

Section 3. AUTHORITY AND RESPONSIBILITIES

The Television Code Review Board is authorized and directed:

(1) To maintain a continuing review of all television programming, especially that of subscribers to the Television Code of the NARTB; (2) to receive, screen and clear complaints concerning television programming; (3) to define and interpret words and phrases in the Television Code; (4) to develop and maintain appropriate liaison with governmental agencies and with responsible and accountable organizations and institutions; (5) to inform, expeditiously and properly, a subscriber to the Television Code of complaints or commendations, as well as to advise all subscribers concerning the attitude and desires programwise of accountable organizations and institutions, and of the American public in general; (6) to review and monitor, if necessary, any certain series of programs, daily programming, or any other program presentations of a subscriber, as well as to request recordings, aural or kinescope, or script and copy, with regard to any certain program presented by a subscriber; (7) to reach conclusions, and to make recommendations or prefer charges to the Television Board of Directors concerning violations and breaches of the Television Code by a subscriber; (8) to recommend to the Television Board of Directors, amendments to the Television Code.

A. Delegation of Powers and Responsibilities

The Television Code Review Board may delegate, from time to time, such of its above-specified responsibilities, as it may deem necessary and desirable, to a Staff Group of the NARTB-TV.

RCA TV camera encased in special diving bell televises sea life off the Gulf Stream.

Now RCA puts TV underwater to help the Government protect marine life

Ten fathoms down, an RCA television camera moves through darting schools of fish. On the surface, U.S. Fish and Wildlife experts hover over an RCA remote control TV monitor. From what they see will come new fishing techniques to help the government protect marine life.

The electronic and engineering skill behind underwater TV is inherent in all RCA products and services. And continually, RCA scientists at the David Sarnoff Research Center in Princeton, N. J., delve into new "Electronics for Living" that will make life fuller, easier, happier.

U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service technicians study fishing methods and equipment on an RCA remote control TV monitor.
