Foreword

With the fall '92 tv season Fox planned on broadcasting new series seven nights a week for the first time since its debut. Along with NBC and ABC the network decided to aim its programming towards a younger crowd. As a result several shows on the three channels were designed to appeal to audiences with an average age of twenty-two. CBS had no intention of joining this movement, having come out on top in the 1991-2 ratings race. Clearly it was doing something right and saw no reason for considerable change.

The Year in Review

The Nielsen ratings for the 1991-2 tv season saw CBS claim the number one position after a 5 year reign by NBC. The 24-year old "60 Minutes" landed at number one with a 21.9 rating/36 share. The informational program, which has been a staple of Sunday nights for most of its run, has consistently landed in the top ten since the 1977-78 season. It ranked at number one twice before, in 1979-80 and 1982-3. In addition to "60 Minutes" CBS boasted three other series in the top ten including the year's Emmy Award winner, "Murphy Brown." Coming in at number three with an 18.6 rating/27 share the Candice Bergen sitcom received an unexpected boost of publicity when Vice President Dan Quayle criticized it for its views on single motherhood. "Designing Women" in its sixth season was number 6 with a 17.3 rating/26 share, and the eight-year old Angela Lansbury vehicle "Murder She Wrote" was number 10 with a 16.9 rating/25 share.

Viewing habits seemed to follow the same pattern from previous years: the public was most loyal to the established hits while being less enthusiastic about brand new shows. The only premiere series from the 1991-2 season to show up in the top ten was comedian Tim Allen's "Home Improvement" (number 5 with a 17.5 rating/27 share). However, it was obvious that the sitcom owed a great deal of its success to where it was on the schedule, sandwiched between two tried-and-true hits, "Full House" (number 8 with a 17.0 rating/27 share in its fifth year) and ABC's biggest success "Roseanne" in its fourth season at number 2 with a 20.2 rating/31 share. The next highest new entry on the chart was the Patrick Duffy-Suzanne Sommers sitcom "Step by Step" (ABC) down at number 29, and the expensive George Lucas-produced "The Young Indiana Jones Chronicles" at the number 30 spot. NBC's biggest hit continued to be "Cheers" coming in at number 4 in its tenth year on the air, while Fox continued to find its largest audience with the animated "The Simpsons" which tied with Indiana Jones.

ABC fared best in hanging on to its new shows with a surprising 7 of the 1991-2 series making it to the Fall 1992 schedule. Aside from the above mentioned shows most of these series were given a second chance despite unimpressive showings including three dramas: "The Commish," "Civil Wars," and "Homefront." Of the five NBC renewals two, "I'll Fly Away" and "Reasonable Doubts," were kept more for their critical prestige. The same was true of CBS's "Brooklyn Bridge" one of only two 1991-2 shows the network did not cancel.

NBC bid farewell to one of its most dependable ratings champs, "The Cosby Show," after an eight year run, 5 of them in the number one spot. The final episode, aired on April 30, 1992, drew a huge 28.0 rating/45 share, the network's highest showing ever for a series' finale. Also leaving NBC after 30 years as the king of late-night television was Johnny Carson who handed over his job as host of the "The Tonight Show" to Jay Leno. The final show was viewed by about 55 million people.

For the second year in a row the Fox network got a jump on the rival networks by premiering new episodes of such series as "Beverly Hills 90210" and "Parker Lewis" as early as July. This time some of the networks followed suit with NBC airing random new episodes of both "Seinfeld" and "Blossom" during the summer and CBS previewing its Fall entry "Raven" weeks earlier than expected. The plan was to entice viewers away from alternative selections on cable channels, the most common choice in the summer for audiences tired of reruns. In addition the standard licensing fee for a summer series is about two thirds cheaper than that for the regular season allowing the networks to benefit financially as well.

Fox entered the Fall 1992 season with a full schedule for the first time since its debut, having new programming available seven days a week. Its most daring idea was the decision to broadcast the Sunday night sitcom "Roc" live on a weekly basis. Following an experimental one-shot episode in the spring the producers, encouraged by a cast eager for the spontaneity of live theatre, and the program's highest ratings to date, decided to go ahead with the offbeat approach. Thus "Roc" became the first prime time tv show to go out "live" week after week since the 1950's.

- Network news had reached its peak of availability with all three networks offering all-night broadcasts during the 1991-2 season. In addition CNN continued to broadcast news 24 hours a day, and NBC launched a Saturday version of its weekday "Today" show, dubbed "Saturday Today," in place of the standard children's fare of cartoons. Prime-time also showed impressive ratings for not only "60 Minutes" but ABC's "20/20" and "Prime Time Live" and CBS's "48 Hours," all of which improved their audience numbers from the previous season. In addition to high ratings the networks took into consideration the fact that such shows are cheaper to produce than fictional series.
- For the first time in ten years the top ten shows viewed by black audiences were completely different from the top series watched by the country as a whole, according to a continuing survey. The 5 top rated shows with black audiences were "A Different World" (number 15 on the overall U.S. list), "Fresh Prince of Bel-Air" (number 18 overall), "The Cosby Show" (number 16), "In Living Color" (number 42), and "Roc" (number 65). This represents the widest gap between black and general prime-time audiences in the ten year span. The 1992 season offered an additional five new series with principally black casts: "Martin," "Rhythm

& Blues," "Here & Now," "Hangin' With Mr. Cooper," and "Out All Night."

- Arbitron Company's attempt to come up with an alternative to the Nielsen ratings, Scan America, proved a failure. The system, which utilized a scanning wand to read the bar code of products purchased by tv viewers and then correlate this with viewing habits, had very little support from advertisers and networks. CBS was the only one of the majors interested in monitoring responses in this manner, and Arbitron backed out despite complaints in the accuracy of Nielsen.

- In the Summer of 1992 the Federal Communications Commission announced that it was on the verge of establishing nationwide technical standards for broadcasting high-definition television. In development for years, HD-TV promises a picture with sharper clarity and a wider dimension, much like that of a motion picture shown in a theatre. Experts guess that such equipment could be available to consumers as early as 1995, and that all tv sets would be digital in the near future, with computer images processed, sent and stored at high speeds.

- Frost & Sullivan research group pointed out the steady climb in revenues from "interactive television." Such services as movies on request and home shopping networks reported total revenues of $681 million in 1991, and were predicted to grow as high as $1.64 billion by 1996.

The staff at Quigley Publishing Co. mourns the passing of Richard Gertner, who died on Sept. 14, 1992. Mr. Gertner joined the company in 1952 as an editorial assistant and later served as editor of the Motion Picture Herald, Motion Picture Daily, Motion Picture Almanac and Television Almanac, before his retirement in 1988. He also co-authored the book Films in America.

Corporate Histories of the Networks

Capital Cities/ABC, Inc.

Like the other major U.S. television networks, ABC had its origins in radio. In the beginning Radio Corporation of America (RCA) owned two radio networks: the Blue and the Red. In 1941 the FCC decreed that the same company could not own two networks, so RCA incorporated the Blue under the name of American Broadcasting System and established it as an independent subsidiary with 116 stations. RCA then sold this network to Edward J. Noble, founder and chairman of the Life Savers Corporation, for $8 million. The name was changed to the American Broadcasting Company in 1944, at which time the network had 197 radio affiliates.

Television arrived for ABC in 1948 when, on April 19, ABC carried its first TV program: "On the Corner," with Henry Morgan, which was sponsored by the Admiral Radio Corp. Later in the year ABC scored two "firsts": the live broadcast of an opera (Verdi's "Otello") from the Metropolitan Opera House in New York and a TV documentary, "The Marshall Plan."

The next big step for ABC came in 1952 with its merger with United Paramount Theatres, the motion picture theatre circuit founded when Paramount Pictures was required under the Sherman Anti-Trust Act to separate its film production unit from its theatres. This merger was engineered by Leonard H. Golden-son, then the president of UPT. The new company was called American Broadcasting-Paramount Theatres, Inc.

During the 1950's ABC began operation at a profit although it had to struggle fiercely to acquire new affiliates. In 1954 ABC made a deal with Walt Disney to acquire a 35 per cent interest in Disneyland and all TV programs produced by Disney. The following year ABC signed an exclusive rights contract with Warner Bros. for TV programming.

The 1960's brought many changes to ABC beginning with the introduction of color programming for the fall season of 1962; this was expanded in 1966 to include full color broadcasting. In 1965 AB-PT's name was changed to American Broadcasting Companies, Inc. and the company's corporate headquarters were moved from West 66th Street in New York to 1330 Avenue of the Americas, where they remained until 1989.

High points in the decade of the '60s also included the introduction of the blockbuster theatrical movie to TV with spectacular rating results when "The Bridge on the River Kwai" was viewed (in 1966) by 60 million Americans.

In 1967 the ABC evening news was expanded from 15 minutes to a half hour, and Joey Bishop inaugurated ABC's late-night programming with his talk show.

An attempt to gain control of ABC by Howard Hughes was circumvented by Goldenson in 1968. Hughes said publicly that he abandoned his efforts to acquire the network because of the strong resistance of Goldenson; however, it was speculated elsewhere that he gave up because as new owner of ABC he would have had to attend a public hearing under the auspices of the FCC. The fanatically reclusive Hughes, it was assumed, would never have agreed to come out of seclusion for such an event.

The decade of the Seventies was an eventful one for ABC, too, not the least because in 1972 it was able to operate at a profit for the first time in ten years. Also in the 1976-77 season ABC moved for the first time into first place in the ratings race. It held the lead for the next two years and then dropped back into second place in 1979-80, a position it held until 1983-84 when it dropped to third position. It was unable to rise above that until 1987-88 when it displaced CBS in second place, primarily because of special sports programming, such as the World Series and the Superbowl. It remained second in 1988-89 and 1989-90. In the latter season ABC had the distinctions of having the most talked-about new series of the period—"Twin Peaks"—and the highest-rated new series—"America's Funniest Home Videos."

In 1976 Barbara Walters joined ABC, becoming the first anchorwoman in television history. Her almost $1 million a year salary caused lifted eyebrows among her fellow anchor persons, including Harry Reasoner and Howard K. Smith.

In 1977 the mini-series "Roots" appeared on ABC and became the all-time highest-rated program. This helped immensely in the ratings race, and credit must go in large part to Fred Silverman who two years before had joined the company as president of ABC international. He left in 1978 to go to NBC.

The decade of the Eighties was a turbulent one for the television industry as cable TV and home video began whittling away at their audiences. ABC was no exception. Halfway through the period—in 1985—ABC agreed to be purchased by Capital Cities Communications at a cost of $3.5 billion. 1986 saw formal completion of the takeover and the merged company's name was changed to Capital Cities/ABC, Inc.

With the departure of Goldenson, that year also brought other important changes in management. Daniel B. Burke replaced Frederick J. Pierce as president and chief operating officer. There were also sweeping reductions in personnel in the interests of economy and streamlining. (At least 1,000 employees were fired.)

Budget cuts notwithstanding Capital Cities/ABC chairman Thomas Murphy pledged ABC would not scrimp on programming. Instead the focus was to be on the network's non-programming expenses which accounted for about 30 per cent of the budget. One result was to cut out internally-generated research which was to be contracted for on an ad hoc basis as needed.

Profits at the end of 1990 rose about $70 million. Of the three networks ABC won the ratings battle in news coverage of the war in the Persian Gulf. For two seasons in a row the network could boast having the only new series in the top ten: "America's Funniest People" (1990-1) and "Home Improvement" (1991-2).

Capital Cities/ABC owns eight television stations and 21 radio stations and is a partner in ESPN, the highly successful cable TV sports channel and two other cable TV services—Arts & Entertainment and Lifetime. It also owns publishing operations which include nine daily newspapers, several weeklies and a variety of trade and consumer magazines.

Columbia Broadcasting System, Inc.

CBS first saw the light of day in 1927 as a radio network with 16 stations—United Independent Broadcasters, Inc.—founded by Arthur Judson, a concert tour manager. In need of money, Judson secured backing from Louis Sterling, president of the Columbia Phonograph Company, and changed the network name to Columbia Phonograph Broadcasting System. Later other investors were invited in, the most prominent of whom was William S. Paley, who, on September 26, 1928, at the age of 27, became president of the firm whose name was changed again. Now it was called the Columbia Broadcasting System.

Paley introduced many innovations to radio broadcasting, most significant of which was the signing of an agreement in 1931 with Paramount Pictures whereby film stars were heard on radio for the first time. This laid the groundwork for the CBS policy in television from the outset to feature shows built around stars (Ed Sullivan, Lucille Ball, Arthur Godfrey, Jack Benny, Burns & Allen, Garry Moore, etc.).

Actually CBS was in TV as early as 1931 when it began regularly scheduled TV programming over experimental station W2XAB in New York City. In 1941 CBS began weekly broadcast of black-and-white TV programming over WCBS-TV in New York. By 1948 it had 30 affiliated stations.

The decade of the 1950's brought many important advances. In 1951 CBS broadcast the first live coast-to-coast TV transmission between New York and San Francisco. In 1952 there came opening of Television City in Hollywood—the industry's first self-contained TV production facility. In 1956 "Playhouse 90" made its debut and set new high standards for drama originated on TV.

But the big event of the decade came along early—in 1951—with the debut of "I Love Lucy." The road to creating that phenomenal success was a rocky one. For one thing CBS did not want Desi Arnaz, and signed him only on the insistence of Lucille Ball. Second, the couple wanted to work before a live audience—a practice also anathema to the CBS powers-that-be. Ball and Arnaz persisted, and their efforts led to what is regarded as the invention of the situation-comedy format.

1951 was also the year that Bill Gordon designed the CBS Eye—destined to become one of the most famous logos in the world.

In the field of soap operas CBS was both leader and winner, virtually monopolizing that market from 1951 to 1956. In 1951 it introduced "Search for Tomorrow," which was to become the longest-running show ever in that genre. This was followed by "Love of Life" (1951) "The Guiding Light" (1952)—both overnight hits. "Guiding Light" was still on the air in 1988, as was the fourth soap CBS introduced, "As the World Turns" (1956).

In the late '50s and through the '60s and '70s CBS reigned as king of prime time ratings as tallied by the Nielsen Company. It had tied with NBC in 1969–70 and 1970–71 and ABC led in three seasons: but the rest of the time CBS was Number One. Thus it was quite a jolt to the company when in 1985–86 it slipped to second place and stayed there through the following season. Then came the worst blow of all: in 1987–88 CBS came in third for the first time in TV history.

CBS maintained its long-running lead with such successes as "Gunsmoke" (1957), "The Defenders" (1961), "The Beverly Hillbillies" (1962), "All in the Family" (1972) and "Dallas" (1978). Also helping was "60 Minutes," the news-oriented show, which in 1988 had remained in the Top Ten prime time shows for 11 consecutive seasons.

CBS began the turbulent Eighties with a new president. Thomas Wyman (replacing John D. Backe). Worst year for the company so far in that decade was surely 1985 when the company was sent reeling under three major assaults.

First, Gen. William C. Westmoreland filed a $120 million lawsuit, charging he had been libeled during a 1982 "CBS Reports" documentary. The subsequent trial ended 18 weeks after it began in New York Federal Court after the general heard some of his closest advisers during the Vietnam War testify they supported the CBS documentary contention in that he had deliberately underestimated the enemy troop strength on the field. Fearing he would lose, Westmoreland dropped the action before it could go to a jury.

Second, Senator Jesse Helms (Rep., N.C.) and his Fairness in Media committee launched an unfriendly takeover bid to "become Dan Rather's boss." (Rather had replaced Walter Cronkite as chief news anchor in 1981.)

Third, Atlanta broadcast entrepreneur Ted Turner made an unfriendly junk-bond bid for CBS. In a clever move the network bought up 21 per cent of its own stock for $956 million and thwarted the takeover. Turner went after MGM/UA instead.

Meanwhile Laurence A. Tisch, a former theatre chain executive, had become the major stockholder in CBS and in 1986 he instigated some sweeping changes in the interests of cost-cutting and efficiency. Some 700 jobs were eliminated at the CBS Broadcast Group. Tisch also removed Wyman as president, named himself chief executive officer and induced founder William Paley to return to active duty as acting chairman of the board.

In 1988, stung by CBS' worst prime time rating performance ever, Tisch shuffled executive ranks again, naming Howard Stringer, previously president of CBS News, as president of the Broadcasting Group. He replaced Gene F. Jankowski, who was named to the newly created position of chairman of the Broadcast Group. He also brought in Jay L. Kriegel, a lawyer, one-time political aide and former executive for the Tisch family's Loews Corporation. Kriegel, who had no background in television, was named CBS senior vice president and became part of a triumvirate with Tisch and Stringer to devise strategy to pull the network out of its decline in the prime-time ratings competition which had begun with its drop to second place in 1986–87 and to third in 1987–88, 1988–89 and 1989–90. Their plans are essentially twofold: 1) to improve programming and 2) to streamline operations so they can concentrate on broadcasting. (Tisch has sold parts of the company, including records and publishing divisions.)

Kriegel was instrumental in bringing to CBS in 1990 Jeff Sagansky, former head of Tri-Star Pictures, as president of the entertainment division. Sagansky has said his goals are to be different; to attract star performers; and to broaden the base of CBS viewers, which has grown older and less desirable to advertisers.

After four years at number three, the network finally landed back in the top spot for the 1991–2 season based on the success of such shows as "60 Minutes" (the number one show of the year), "Murphy Brown," "Designing Women," "Murder She Wrote," and "Northern Exposure."

National Broadcasting Company

Television began for NBC in 1928, when on April 4, it acquired from the Federal Communications Commission a permit to operate an experimental station. W2XBS. Actual transmission from the Empire State Building did not begin, however, until October 30, 1931. Some eight years late the network began broadcasting on a regular basis, beginning with the opening of the New York World's Fair on April 30, 1939.

NBC, like the other networks, was an outgrowth of radio operations. Radio Corp. of America, General Electric and Westinghouse jointly launched a network in 1926 which had 31 stations; 25 in a network called Red and 6 in one called Blue. A year later it was forced to sell the Blue network to ABC (see history of that network), keeping for itself the one known as Red.

In 1930 RCA bought out its partners, GE and Westinghouse, and NBC became its wholly owned subsidiary.

NBC became a TV network on January 12, 1940, when two stations, WNBC-TV, New York, and WRGB-TV, Schenectady, New York, carried the first network programming. In June, 1941, the FCC granted NBC the first commercial TV license and a month later it had four advertisers signed up: Procter & Gamble, Lever Brothers, Sun Oil and Bulova.

After World War II NBC scored two big "firsts." On June 19, 1946, Gillette became the first advertiser to sponsor a TV network show, the Joe Louis-Billy Conn boxing match. That same year Bristol-Myers became the first sponsor of a network TV series, "Geographically Speaking."

NBC can also claim to be the first to introduce coast-to-coast network TV coverage. On September 4, 1951, when the U.S.-Japanese peace treaty was signed in San Francisco, its cameras were on hand.

In 1952 NBC pioneered early morning programming when it introduced "The Today Show."

NBC can also claim the first regularly scheduled network color series: "The Marriage," launched in 1954. That same year it achieved the first west-to-east TV transmission with the television of the Tournament of Roses Parade in color. At the start of the 1965-66 season it could declare it was the "only all-color network."

In 1968 NBC introduced new forms of TV programming with "The Name of the Game," a series that incorporated feature-film elements into a 90-minute show. This then spawned the "NBC Mystery Movie"—a series of programs composed of "Columbo," "Hec Ramsey," "McMillan and Wife," "McCloud," "Amy Prentiss," "McCoy," and "Quincy, M.E."

In 1972 NBC broke new ground again when it introduced "The Tomorrow Show" shown from 1:00 a.m. to 2:00 a.m. This was a talk program and it demonstrated that in the wee small hours of the morning something more than re-runs and old movies could be shown. In 1974 another late-night show called "Weekend" was begun.

In 1976 NBC's telecast of "Gone with the Wind" drew the largest audience to that date for an entertainment program. In 1978 its "Holocaust" mini-series attracted 107 million viewers and won 21 major awards.

Such programs helped NBC in the ratings, but in 1976-77 it fell to third place, where it stayed until 1983-84. (Ironically 1976 was the year in which NBC celebrated its 50th anniversary in broadcasting with a four-hour, star-filled special.) In 1984-85 it edged up to second place, and the following year it was ranked Number One in prime-time viewing for the first time in the three decades of such tallying by Nielsen. (For the record NBC did tie for first place with CBS in 1969-70 and 1970-71.)

NBC held on to its first place standing for the following five seasons, through 1990-1. Long-time hit series in the five-year period included "The Golden Girls," "Cheers," and "The Cosby Show." Despite the network's number one standing figures showed a steady decline in viewers, even for the tried and true successes. In May of 1991 Brandon Tartikoff, credited for pulling the network up from third place 11 years earlier, departed from NBC to become head of Paramount Pictures. When "The Cosby Show" ran its final first run episode on April 30, 1992 it became NBC's highest-rated series finale episode ever with a 28.0 rating/45 share. The 1992 Summer Olympics also gave the network its widest ratings margin of all time, 12 points over 2nd place CBS.

Along with the other networks NBC moved into a period of turmoil during the decade of the Eighties, fighting off rising costs and competition from cable TV and home video. In 1986 General Electric Corporation purchased RCA (NBC's parent) for $6.28 billion; GE, it will be remembered, helped launch the radio network in 1926 which led to the development of NBC-TV. This brought personnel changes led by the replacement of Grant A. Tinker as NBC chief executive officer by Robert Wright, although Wright was not given Tinker's chairman title, that being taken by John F. Welch of GE. Instead Wright was named president as well as chief executive officer. Along with its competition NBC started cutting staff and budgets in 1986.

NBC owns television stations located in Chicago, Cleveland, Los Angeles, New York City and Washington, D.C. GE, the parent company, also owns TV station subsidiaries in Denver and Miami, which are operated under the aegis of NBC, which also has eight radio stations in various cities.

STATISTICS

HISTORICAL DATES

- FIRST OVER-THE-AIR TOLL-TV EXPERIMENTS: 1950, Skiatron system tested over WOR-TV in New York City. 1951, Telemeter system tested over KTLA-TV, Los Angeles; Zenith tested its system over its own experimental station in Chicago.
- FEBRUARY 10, 1955: Federal Communications Commission started proceedings to determine whether it should authorize TV stations to transmit programs paid for on a subscription basis. Study involved 92 docket volumes reflecting the views of over 25,000 persons on legal, technical and policy questions.
- MAY 23, 1957: FCC concluded it had authority to authorize use of TV broadcast frequencies for subscription operations if it found it were in the public interest to do so. Did not define whether this service should be classified as "broadcasting" or some other.
- OCTOBER 17, 1957: FCC adopted its first report on the proceedings and declared it would consider applications to conduct trial pay-TV operations over TV stations provided certain conditions were met.
- MARCH 24, 1959: FCC issued third report saying it was ready to consider any pay-TV application by a commercial TV station conforming with requirements, among which were limitation of three-year trial authorizations to markets where there were at least four commercial TV stations (including the pay-TV one), and one trial system allowed per market.
- JUNE 22, 1960: Hartford Phonevision Co. (later RKO General Phonevision Co.), a licensee of WHCT (Channel 18), Hartford, CT, applied for authority to conduct a three-year trial subscription-TV operation. Application granted February 23, 1961. Operations began June 29, 1962, and concluded in January, 1969.
- JULY 3, 1967: FCC's subscription TV committee submitted a fourth report proposing an over-the-air subscription TV service. Rules were designed to integrate subscription TV into the total TV system so good programming would continue to be available over regular TV stations.
- DECEMBER 12, 1968: FCC formally established over-the-air subscription TV as a regular broadcast service.
- 1975: Home Box Office became the first in the television industry to use a satellite for regular transmission of programming.
- 1984: The FCC officially deregulated the cable industry, permitting pricing flexibility and enabling operators to raise charges for basic cable services by adding new channels while reducing service charges for premium channels.
- 1985: The Court of Appeals struck down the "must carry" rules which required cable operators to carry all local broadcast stations.

The Department of Communication of the U.S. Catholic Conference (the public policy agency of the Catholic Bishops of America) addresses the Church's apostolate in and through the print and electronic media. It provides advice and technical assistance on more than 40 radio and network television programs a year.

The Department also publishes a weekly guide to current films and television programs that appear in 100 plus papers of the Catholic Press in the United States. In this activity the Department reviews all current nationally-released theatrical films, and provides information about resources for film utilization and education (16mm films, books, magazines, festivals). The critical reviews are addressed to the moral, as well as the aesthetic, dimensions of motion pictures, and are the result of a consensus based on the reactions of the Department's professional staff and Board of Consultants. All films reviewed are also classified according to the Department's rating system. In addition, this weekly service carries information and evaluative studies on trends and issues pertinent to television, with an emphasis on educational material.

The Department also plays a liaison role for the USCC with the film and broadcasting industries, national media, and religious agencies and organizations. It is a member of OCIC and UNDA, the international Catholic organizations for film and broadcasting, respectively. Consultation and information services are also provided for the Pontifical Commission for Social Communications and the communication offices of national episcopal offices throughout the world.

With staff assistance, the episcopal members of the Communication Committee administer funds raised through the Catholic Communication Campaign, an annual collection. These funds are used to support a variety of media programs, projects, and studies in this country and the Third World.

Great Britain

COMMERCIAL TELEVISION COMPANIES and the BBC (British Broadcasting Corporation) will face major challenges from January 1, 1993 when the new Channel 3 licensees start their new service. At the same time discussions about the future of the BBC's Charter will be accentuated preceding its renewal in 1996. At present, the Corporation is funded by the government-imposed license fee on owners of TV sets but it is under intense pressure to subsidize this income by expanding its profit-making enterprises and even broadcast some form of advertising.

Commenting on the trading results of BBC Enterprises—the commercial arm of the Corporation, Chief Executive James Arnold-Beker announced increased profits of £5.4 million ($10.3 million) with investment in new television and radio production worth £53 million ($100 million). International Program Sales and Co-Productions business showed a 9 per cent increase in turnover. 14,000 hours of programming were sold around the world—in 34 countries. Over £30 million ($57 million) was realized in co-productions with 100 different broadcasters and distributors in 21 countries.

Via its USA sales arm, BBC Lionheart, the Corporation provides the United States with more hours of programming than any other overseas producer or distributor. America also continues to provide the largest source of funding for Co-Productions. Elsewhere in the world, European co-funding reached an all-time high, more than doubling last year's figures. The largest single deal was concluded in Italy by Europanda for Kafka's "The Trial". Also from Italy, the live broadcast of Tosca was co-produced with RADA Films and Channel 4. In addition, significant co-productions were agreed with TV Asahi in Japan, TV3 New Zealand and ABC Australia.

On the Independent TV (ITV) front, Sir George Russell, Chairman of the Independent Television Commission (ITC) refers in his annual report to "the awarding of the new Channel 3 licenses by a statutory competitive tender process widely regarded at best as controversial and by many as deeply flawed. The repercussions of which will be felt for many years to come. The new licensees face a tremendous challenge; especially those with substantial tender payments to meet in future. However, I remain confident that ITV can build on the impressive creative performance and popular appeal of the past few years." Carlton Television, Meridian Broadcast, Westcountry Television and Sunrise Television were the four new licensees.

The Report also pays tribute to the four ITV companies who were not awarded new Channel 3 licenses, Thames, TVS, TSW and TV-am. Thames should be singled out for particular mention but the increased opportunities for program distribution through new channels means that their skills and experience will be available to play a key role in commercial broadcasting. Thames was, in fact, the only bidder for the proposed Channel 5 franchise. The company has already announced plans to produce as an independent company and sell to the ITV network.

The ITC also licenses and regulates cable, local delivery, and satellite services. Although only a small proportion of viewers have broadband cable available to them, the pace of cable development has quickened. The number of homes which can connect to cable increased by 62 per cent from 828,000 to 1,344,000. At this reporting, one in five of all homes passed by cable, 269,000, subscribe.

Among the increasing number of cable and satellite channels, the dominate player is still BSkyB which has made substantial progress in establishing the U.K.'s first major television subscription business using its two film channels. By the end of 1991, this was already the second largest in Europe in terms of numbers of subscribers. With nearly three-quarters of its 2.6 million satellite homes in Britain now subscribing to the film channels, BSkyB is earning some £13 million a month and forecasts a breakeven in 1992. Despite all the doubters, it has become part of the established British scene.

The majority of overseas material on the networks still originates in the USA although, in recent years, Australian series and feature films have made their impact. The CEA (Cinema Exhibitors Association) maintains its two-year holdback on feature films being televised, although this does not apply to home-viewing where a video movie can be in the home within six months of general release. There has been some relaxation of the exhibitors' ruling that any film on a budget not exceeding £4 million ($7.6 million) may be screened on television immediately after its theatrical release if those responsible for its marketing decide that this is appropriate.

Meanwhile, despite all the changes, the British TV scene is a healthy one and given good product will continue to be so. Britons remain a nation of television addicts turning it on every day. More than one in four homes has three or more sets. Over half of all viewers watch for more than three hours a day. During the Olympic Games, nine out of ten men watched for two hours a day. . . .

INDEPENDENT TELEVISION COMMISSION (ITC)

70 Brompton Road, London, SW3 1EY. Tel: 071 584 7011. FAX: 071 589 5533.

Founded in 1991, the ITC was created by Parliament under the terms of the Broadcasting Act 1990 to license and regulate non-BBC television services including Channel 5 (ITV), 4 and the proposed Channel 5, cable, satellite and 'additional services'.

ITC replaced the Independent Broadcasting Authority (IBA), responsible for the provision of independent television and radio services, and the Cable Authority, responsible for the provision of cable services. The regulation of independent radio services is now the responsibility of the Radio Authority.

ITC staff regulate all services through license conditions and through its various codes on program content, advertising, sponsorship and technical standards.

AUSTRALIA

Population: 17,300,000.

Number of television sets: 7,880,000; most homes have two sets.

Average viewing 1991: 22 hrs, 45 min, a week, up 3 hrs, 10 min per week from five years ago.

TV networks: Seven, Nine, and Ten—commercial; ABC and SBS—publicly-funded; 35 regional, independent stations.

Satellite service: SKY Channel DBS sports service (subscriptions at bars and clubs).

Australian content programs 1991: 54%.

Quota for Australian programs: 45%, will be 50% in 1993; quota also broken down by categories (drama, serials, documentaries, children).

Advertising restrictions: 13 min. per hour primetime (6-10:30pm) and 15 min. per hour at other times.

Trends: Television (and film) production funding was the subject of much political debate in 1992 as the Film Finance Corporation was up for review. The FFC is the largest single source of production coin in the country. Funds are allocated on the basis of cultural and financial possibilities: one proposal would give priority to projects likely to yield a big financial return. Having to make do with less production coin, producers reported in mid-1992 that they were making more shows for less money.

After a rough stretch in the 1980s, the three major private networks embarked on a successful comeback in the early 1990s. Seven and Ten nets were restructured by the banks and Nine was restructured by owner Kerry Packer. Nine has been the most financially successful of the three.

The television industry awaited a new Broadcasting Services Bill in 1992 which was expected to regulate the new pay-TV operations and the relationships between independent producers and the networks. The shape of the new pay-TV nets (slated to go on the air in early 1994) was unclear, though commercial networks were barred from applying for initial licenses of the first four channels; there were no restrictions on the licenses for the last two channels on the satellite. The pay channels have a limit of 35% foreign investment and a 10% quota for local product.

AUSTRIA

Population: 7.6 million.

Number of TV Sets: 2,942,000.

Austria's only TV and radio network, the Austrian Broadcasting Corp (ORF), an independent public corporation, operates two TV channels FS 1, which broadcasts from 9 a.m. until midnight, and FS 2, which broadcasts from the afternoon to midnight.

Of Austria's 2,760,000 households, over 95% have at least one TV set. On an average, ORF TV reaches approximately 72% of the country's 7,600,000 people daily with primetime viewership roughly 55% of the population. Additionally, in each of Austria's nine provinces, ORF has regional studios for local broadcasting of nine hours daily. Approximately 60% of ORF's review comes from radio and TV license fees, while 40% comes from radio and TV advertising.

Address: ORF-Zentrum Wien, A-1136 Wien, Wurzburgergasse 30. Tel: (1) 878-78.

CANADA

STATISTICS: (Latest available information from Statistics Canada, a federal government agency)

TV revenues: In 1991 revenues for privately-owned television stations increased 0.9%, with operational expenses representing 101.1% of total revenue compared to 100.6% in 1990. The net operating income/revenue ratio of privately-owned television operations before income taxes and other adjustments decreased to -1.1% compared to 0.6% in 1990. Total revenue of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation (CBC) in 1991 (including Newsworld) increased to $322.8 million from $318 million in 1990. The net cost of CBC operations increased from $C988.9 million to $C1,006.6 million.

Number of TV sets: In 1991, of 9,756 million households, approx. 4,609 million had one television, while approx. 5,148 million had two or more. The province of Ontario led with approx. 1,648 million owning one television and 1,899 million had two or more. Television ownership showed little variation by income—in the under $10,000 per annum income group 96.8% had televisions compared with 99.3% in the $70,000 and over income group.

Cable TV revenues/subscribers: In 1991, the cable television industry, including discretionary and other services, reported revenues of $1.8 billion, a 9.1% increase over 1990. Total revenue from basic cable television operations increased by 9.0% to $1,477.6 million from $1,456.6 million. Total revenue from discretionary and other services increased by 9.7% to $311.9 million from $284.5 million. Net operating income, before other adjustments and income tax, for the cable television industry increased 7.4% to $259.5 million from $241.7 million in the previous year. The total number of subscribers (direct and indirect) increased by 2.4% to 7.3 million from 7.1 million in the previous year. The number of pay-TV subscribers in relation to the total number of subscribers increased to 31.3% in 1991 from 28.5% in the previous year.

Cable Companies: In 1991, there were 2,118 cable systems across all the provinces licensed by the Canadian Radio-Television and Telecommunications Commission (CRTC), but only 1,817 were operating systems.

CHILE

1991 marked the first full year of broadcasting for the two new private-sector channels, "Megavisión" and "La Red." Historically, Chilean television had been monopolized by public-sector networks, the state-owned Televisión Nacional de Chile (TVN) and the university-owned networks Universidad Católica de Chile, Universidad de Chile and Universidad Católica de Valparaíso.

Megavisión, operating nationally, and La Red, serving the Santiago area, have already established an important presence in the market. They have taken over 20% of total advertising away from the traditional leaders, U. Cat. and TVN.

During 1991, the founder of Megavisión, Ricardo Claro, sold 49% of the network to the Mexican TV & entertainment conglomerate, Televisa. Megavisión and Televisa have co-produced several segments in Chile of the immensely popular Mexican programs, "Siempre en Domingo," "La Movida" and "Y Vero America Va", featuring the best Chilean recording stars. They also contemplate the co-production of telenovelas and made-for-TV movies.

La Red, operating on channel 4 in Santiago, is now transmitting 24 hrs. per day. One of the original founding partners, Albert Friedberg, sold out to a group headed by Alvaro Saieh.

The federal government reorganized the directorship of TVN and the composition of the regulatory body, the Consejo Nacional de Televisión. Appointments are now made in consultation with the Congress. All of the major political parties with representation in the Congress have representation on both the Consejo and the directorship of TVN.

There is legislation pending in the Congress which would ban cigarette and liquor advertising on TV. This would, of course, cause an important loss in revenue for the channels. However the economy grew by 6% in real terms in 1991, and has grown another 7% in the 1st half of 1992. Advertising budgets have shot up dramatically, in anticipation of increased consumer spending spurred on by both higher incomes and lower interest rates. Also, unemployment is now at a record-low of 4.5%. Therefore TV advertising expenditures are expected to rise throughout 1992 and 1993.

Population: 13,231,803 (census 1992). 39.1% live in Santiago. Men: 49.1%. Women: 50.9% (Stgo.: M: 48%, W: 52%; Reg: M: 49.8%, W: 50.2%).

Avg. length of commercials (all channels 1991): 36.5 sec. (1990: 37.4 sec.).

Number of TV sets in use in Chile (1992): 4.3 million.

Number of housing units (houses & apts.) in Chile: 3,260,674.
Number of TV sets per housing unit: 1.3.

Public-sector channels TVN (Televisión Nacional de Chile): Belavista 0990, Santiago. Fax: 35-3000; Tlx: 241375 TVNCH-CL. Jorge Navarrete, dir.-gen., Jaime da Aguirre, dir.-prog. & prod. TVN has made a spectacular increase in the ratings for their prime-time programming. Their nightly news is often ahead of the traditional leader, U. Cat. This is due to a complete overhaul of their news dept. and an improved visual presentation. Also, the latest TVN telenovela, which precedes the nightly news (at 8 p.m.), was an enormous success, and provided a huge lead-in for the news and the rest of their nightly programming. Other popular TVN programs are: "Siempre Lunes" (weekly variety special hosted by Antonio Vodanovic); "Festival Vina del Mar" (6-day music festival transmitted live), and their newsmagazine "Informe Especial" & "El Mirador".

Universidad Católica: Ines Matte Urrejola 0848, Santiago. Ph: 251-4000. Elodoro Rodriguez, dir.-gen. Year in and year out, U. Cat. is the leader in ratings and advertising revenue. In spite of increased competition from TVN and the new channels, there is still an enormous viewer loyalty to U. Cat. Their most popular programs are: "Sabado Gigante Internacional" (hosted by Don Francisco), "Martes 13" (weekly variety), "Video Loco" (Chile's funniest home videos), their nightly news, their newsmagazines ("Contacto"), premiere movies, and American episode series ("The Flash", "The Simpsons").

RTU (Red de Televisión de la Universidad de Chile): Ines Matte Urrejola 0825, Santiago. Ph: 637-2227. Fax: 37-6675; Cristian Calderon, v.p.-exec. dir. RTU has been suffering heavy losses for years. They are now co-producing some programs along with TVN in order to reduce costs. Their most popular programs are: children's & teenager's shows, Sunday sports (shown all day), and their morning newsmagazine.

UCV (Universidad Católica de Valparaíso): Agua Santa 2455, Viña del Mar. Ph(Santiago): 231-8950. Jorge Bornscheur, dir.-gen. Serving Valparaíso, Viña del Mar, La Serena & Santiago, UCV specializes in daytime children's programming and nightly cultural & current affairs programs.

Private-sector channels: Megavisión: Vicuña Mackenna 1348, Santiago. Ph: 555-5400. Fax: 551-8916. Juan Agustín Vargas, dir.-gen. Ivan Varas, dir.-prod. Controlling interest is owned by Televisa, the Mexican TV giant. Megavisión serves all regions of the country. Its programming has been revamped by the predominance of Mexican telenovelas and variety specials. Their domestic programming consists of current affairs shows and comedy programs. They have also scored important ratings triumphs with their live telecasts of South American soccer games (especially involving Chilean teams). Other ratings successes have been premiere movies.

La Red: Manquehue Sur 1201, Las Condes—Santiago. Ph: 212-1111. Operating only in the Santiago region. La Red was the first channel to broadcast 24 hrs. per day, and run several short news blocks per day (instead of the traditional one hour format of the other channels). Their long range strategy is to shake up the traditional viewing habits of the public, and thereby reach a different audience profile. Their most popular programs are Chilean-made, such as prime-time comedy, afternoon children's shows, their morning newsmagazine and nightly interview shows.

Cable & Pay-TV: TV Cable (Comunicaciones Intercom). Santa María 5542, Las Condes—Santiago. Fax: 228-9568. Ofers CNN, ESPN, Movies, C-Span Worldnet, Family, TVE (Spain), ECO (Mexico), RAI (Italy). Oriented to apts. & the upper-income districts of Santiago.

Matvisión (Kuhn Ltda.): Marín 097, Santiago. Fax: 634-4631. Offering service by microwave and satellite by subscription. CNN, ESPN, TNT and Spectro.

Cable and satellite services which offer international programming have a very limited possible market, given the relatively high installation and subscription fees and the small quantity of Chileans who are fluent in a second language.

Regulatory body: Consejo Nacional de Televisión, Moneda 1020, 4th Floor, Santiago. Jose Joaquín Brunner, pres. The Consejo approves all applications for new channels (which will have to renew in 25 years, whereas the public-sector channels are perpetual). The Consejo has so far approved two new channels on VHF and 11 on UHF, but none of these channels have as yet begun activities.

There are no restrictions on commercial-time sales nor on transmission-time. The Consejo has the power to impose fines for "excesses" and "prolonged sequences" of sex & violence. The board members are currently in the process of clarifying and redefining their role in the area of good taste in programming.

Market research: Megarec S.A., Hernando de Aguirre 1111, Providencia—Santiago. Ph: 231-5064. Fax: 231-5066. Marcela Villarroel, mgr. data bank.

Radiodiffusion Television Congolaise, B.P. 2241, Brazzaville. One station; 5,786 sets.

CZECHOSLOVAKIA

Population: 15,600,000, two-thirds live in the Czech Republic.

Number of TV sets: 4,800,000.

Number of TV households: 3,300,000.

Trends: 1992 was a year of uncertainty in Czechoslovakia: in August 1992 leaders of the Czech and Slovak Republics announced that they would split into separate states in January 1993. The future of the entertainment industry in the two republics was uncertain, although it was clear that the two would probably develop differently. The Czech Republic is the more populous, wealthier, and more Western of the two; the economy of the Slovak Republic is relatively undeveloped by comparison. Until the political situation is resolved, laws governing entertainment and private enterprise, in general, will remain up in the air.

Television moved ahead of politics when pubcaster Czechoslovakian TV split in January 1992 into Czech TV (CTV) and Slovak TV (STV). Both channels lost their government subsidy; funding now comes from licensing fees and advertising. About a quarter of the staff was fired in the break-up. Private channels were expected to be licensed at the end of 1992 or beginning of 1993, at which time CTV and STV will be limited to ads of no more than 1% of airtime in order to support the start-up.

EGYPT

Date of Inauguration: July 1960

Development of Channels: One channel when emission began in 1960; second channel in July 1961. Color television was introduced in Egypt in 1976. In 1982 a system was adopted by which channels were separated on the basis of specialization so that each channel acquired a character of its own in its programs to meet the latest of their respective audience.

Television Channels: Main channels: The main or the national channel: This is the principal television channel. Channel Two: This channel is of a cultural character. It programs present local and world events in Arabic, English and French. Local Channels: These are mainly concerned with development and social services. Channel Three: Greater Cairo's channel, it was inaugurated on the 6th October 1985. It serves the governorates of Cairo, Giza and El-Qaliubia. Channel Four: It is the Suez Canal Zone channel. It serves the governorates of Port Said, Ismailia and Suez. Channel Five: It is Alexandria channel. It was inaugurated in October 1990 and serves the governorates of Alexandria and El-Becharia.

Television Studios: (1989-1990) 12 studios. Main building: 8 studios serving channels one, two and three, four studios for program production, one news studio. One studio for on-air broadcasting.

Population: 5,026,000

Number of TV sets: 1,897,000 in 1991.

Number of TV Channels: 3

System used: PAL.

Finland has a three-channel television system that differs considerably from the other countries. There is at present in Finland one radio and television operation license which has been granted to the Finnish Broadcasting Company, Oy Yleisradio Ab. The existence of MTV, Oy Mainova-TV-Reklam Ab, which is a private commercial TV company, is acknowledged in the same license.

Launched in Sept., 1986 semi-public Kolmoskanava (TV-3 Finland) owned by pubcaster YLE, commercial MTV and Nokia Industries, reaches 800,000 Finnish households (50%). Its programming balances foreign and domestic fare, news, documentaries, and feature films, series and soap operas. It now airs 7 hours a day—more on weekends.

In 1989 TV 4 was launched as a southern Finland over-the-air service picking up programming from Sweden's SVT and broadcasting to Swedish-speaking areas of Finland.

The basis for official relations between the companies were laid down in more detail in the basic agreement concluded in 1976. Television broadcasting in Finland is under parliamentary control. The Administrative Council of the Finnish Broadcasting Company appointed by Parliament is the highest organ exercising program policy. It has two functions. The Administrative Council exercises program policy control over both companies. In addition, as its name implies, it is the highest administrative organ in the Finnish Broadcasting Company.

MTV has its own corresponding administrative council.

As a bilingual country Finland also has programs in Swedish on all TV-channels.

Some 19 hours per week—out of the total of 75—are sold by Oy Yleisradio Ab to MTV. MTV produces nearly 43% of its programs.

Helsinki TV, owned by Sanoma Publishing, a division of Finnish Eurocable, is a cable operator with a combination service of free and pay TV reaching 400,000 of Finland's cable households. In 1987 Sanoma set up Eurocable which owns Norway's Janco Cable, 31% of Ireland's Cork Communications and 10% of London's Westminster Cable.

FRANCE

Population: 56,300,000
Television sets: 23,200,000

Television production revenue: $1+ billion, up 23.7% over 1990

Private regional channels: TMC, RTL, MCM

Households passed for cable: 3,500,000

Cable subscriptions: 840,000

Cable penetration: 15%

Major cable channels: Paris Premiere, TV Sport, Cine Cinéfil, Canal J (children), Panete (documentaries), Cine Cinema, Canal Jimmy.

Trends: The French television industry was shaken up in 1991-1992 with the bankruptcy of the network La Cinq on 31 December 1991. The future of the network was uncertain as of mid-1992. One reverberation of the bankruptcy was the shortfall to producers; the network had ordered $50 million of TV productions in 1991 and pre-bought many films. Film prices on other nets fell as La Cinq failure became public. By mid-1992, producers were warning that they were seriously undercapitalized and would have to merge if they were to survive; the picture in 1992 contrasted with the growth in production and revenue in 1991. The average debt of French producers in mid-1992 was about 50% of their turnover.

In addition to La Cinq's financial woes, M6 lost more than $20 million in 1991. Only the pay channel Canal Plus and TF-1 were profitable in 1991. TF-1 barely so; the net had 51% of ad revenue, but only FF$300 million profit. Networks went after revenue in the growing video industry; TF-1 video subsidiary was the most successful of these ventures. The network's other expansion into new areas was in film co-productions. The four major over-air nets coproduced more than half of the 106 French films in 1991.

Many in the private nets blamed the industry's situation on strict government restrictions, including primetime quotas, restrictions on ad breaks during dramas, and the ban on broadcast co-productions of TV films that are not shot in French. Cable and satellite broadcasters also awaited the government word on broadcast standards for Telecom 2A satellite. Some nets were pushing for a continuation of the SECAM standard, while others wanted D2-Mac, the intermediate HDTV standard. Both cable and satellite systems were struggling in mid-1992. Cable operators were plagued by high costs and too few subscribers. The Government attempted to ease the industry's problems by cutting regulations on programming and lowering costs.

GERMANY

Population: 80,000,000

Number of TV Sets: 25,000,000

TV networks, Commercial: SAT-1, RTL Plus, Tele-5, Pro-7, Public ARD, ZDF.

Trends: The German television industry is still undergoing many adjustments to political unification. The first German television network tying together six eastern states and ten western ones began operations on 1 January 1992, taking over from the former centralized East German station Deutscher Fernsehfunk (DFF). The two pubcasters ARD and ZDF were the most active producers of dramatic films and series in 1992. (German-produced series regularly do better than foreign product.) Since the private nets went on air in 1984, pubcasters have felt increased pressures for high ratings.

SAT-1 and RTL Plus made inroads in the eastern part of the country, the former terrestrially, the latter through satellite dishes. Television advertising income rose to $7.8 billion in 1991, 25% higher than in the previous year; the figure was 30% of the media advertising total for 1991. With the boom, spot prices continued to rise, some as much as 20-30% of the country already had the most expensive television ad prices in Europe.

Cable TV continued to grow in Berlin, which already boasted the largest network in Europe—570,000 cabled households by mid-1992, with another 200,000 expected by the end of the year. The fee is DM 19.0 ($13) per month plus installation and connection costs.

Ghana Broadcasting Corporation, Broadcast House, Post Office: Box 1633, Accra. Five stations, 175,000 sets.
System: PAL.

GREECE

Population: 10,000,000

Number of TV Sets: Approx. 2,000,000 color, approx. 1,200,000 B/W.

TV Channels: The end of the Government monopoly in TV as of August 1989 changed the audio visual landscape of the country. Several private channels have been established since then apart from the three State channels previously operating. The three State Channels of "Helleniki Radiophonia Tileorassi", ET 1, ET 2 and ET 3, stationed in Athens and Thessaloniki are transmitting their programs nationwide. ET 1 is also downlinked with satellite Eutelstat F 4 and transmits programs to Europe. Several satellite channels are also downlinked with ET 1 and transmit terrestrially unsubtitled foreign programs. These satellite channels are the MTB, CNN, SUPER, TV 3, RAI Uno, TVE, EUROSPORT, JERONYMO GROOVY, SATURN, ERTL PLUS.

Private Channels: The private Channels MEGA, ANTENNA 1, NEW CHANNEL, SEVEN X, K 9, JG TV, are stationed in Athens. TV PLUS, which is a pay TV Channel, is stationed in Pireus.

Regional channels: Nine more channels stationed in Thessaloniki are putting programs on the air: the TV 100, MACEDONIA TV, ARGO TV, VRT, K 29, TV5, CENTER TV, VEGUINA TV, and TV MAGIC.

Furthermore the municipalities of the big cities of the country operate their own TV Channels. The WEST TV and ECHO TV are stationed in Kozani, SUPER B in Patras, ERTA TV in Alexandroupolis, DRAMA TV, SERRIS TV, TV CRETE, CHANEA TV, VRT VERRA, HELECTRA TV in Corinthe, TV-4 in Rhodes, ALLEYBEA TV in Chios, IN CHANNEL I in Ioannina, SPACE TV in Chalkis, TV-1 in Herakleion, and TRC in Valos.

Trends: ET 1 and ET 2 transmit 16-20 hours of programming on weekdays and more on holidays; RT 3 10-15 hours daily. About 70% of their programming is comprised of news, educational subjects, documentary discussion panels, local films and serials. The rest is covered by foreign films and serials. The programs of the most important private channels, the Mega Channel and Athena I, do not differ in length and/or in subjects from the State Channels.

Advertising: There is no limit in the advertising time on all Channels. Although they contribute to the financial support of the channels, the ad spots which interrupt the programs are the main cause of the decline in viewers.

National Broadcasters: ET 1 and ET 2 are housed in 431 Messogiou Str. Athens, 163 42. ET 3 in 2 m Anguelaki Str. Thessaloniki 542 20.

HONG KONG

Population: 5,761,400.
Number of television sets: 1,600,000.

August 1991 was the scheduled launch date for the Hong Kong satellite broadcaster, Hutchvison, with three 24-hour channels offering music (in partnership with MTV), sports and Mandarin, on the Pan-Asian STAR-TV network. By the middle of the 1990s Hutchvison plans to service some 32 countries including China, India, Taiwan, Singapore, Malaysia, Indonesia, and Hong Kong, as well as the Gulf States. This would encompass over half of the world's population. Hutchvison is owned by Hutchinson Whampoa Ltd., Hong Kong's third largest company, and by the company's owner, Li Ka Shing and his family.

TVB continued to be the dominant network over its rival, ATV, although the future shows much competition, not only from Hutchvison, but from the proposed cable system, with an estimated 1.5 million potential customers.

INDIA

Population: 850 million

Radio and Television in India are state controlled. Indian Television or Doordarshan as it is commonly known has been in business for more than three decades and India has had a national TV hook-up for nearly ten years. Until 1983 television covered a mere 19% of the population. Within a year, with the setting up of 180 transmitters and networking them to Indian satellite INSAT-IB and microwave terrestrial links, the coverage leaped to 70%. In June 1990 an unmanned Delta rocket blasted off from Cape Canaveral in Florida carrying into space India's multi-purpose communications Satellite INSAT-1D to replace the aging INSAT-1B which was at the end of its normal seven year life span.

Doordarshan with its present network of 20 production centers and as many as 529 TV transmitters of varying powers covering 76% of the population, is among the premier TV organizations in the world. With well over 30 million TV sets in the country, it has outpaced the print media as disseminator of information and mass communication. Regional stations transmit programs of local interest for about 5 hours daily. The National program is telecast through satellite by all the centers including those having their own production facilities. With a 10 hour daily schedule the programs include current affairs, news bulletins, social and scientific topics, dance, music and drama.

Viewership surveys have shown that feature films, film-based programs (composed of song sequences culled from popular films) and sponsored serials are most popular all over the country, cutting across regional linguistic barriers. This brings in a sizeable revenue to Doordarshan by way of TV commercials. During the year 1991-92, its gross revenue totalled Rs. 3000 million.

Doordarshan's phenomenal expansion and substantial revenue notwithstanding of late, there has been an increasing criticism of its monopoly and the monotony of its programs. This has led to a demand for greater autonomy and opening up the national network to private enterprise. According to a government report as many as 74 private agencies have evinced interest in time slots on the four metro channels of Doordarshan. Sooner or later, the government will have to privatize, at least partially. As it is, CNN, Star TV and a 24 hour BBC world news service are giving Doordarshan a run for its money

JAPAN

Population: 123,800,000
Number of TV sets: Approx. 80,000,000
Trends: The number of satellite television channels tripled by mid-1992 to 9, and government officials were predicting that the number could reach 100 by the end of the decade. Current satellite operators are pubcaster NHK, Space Communications Corp., and Japan Satellite Broadcasting Co. Satellite Japan Corp. planned to launch two birds in 1994. Despite two years plagued by technical problems, expectations for growth of the industry were still high in 1992. The first pay satellite service, started by JSB in 1991, brought in over 800,000 subscribers by mid-1992, but the high cost of installing decoders and antennas may limit growth. Forty percent of the NHK audience already had refused to pay the monthly fee of $23, and other wealthy Japanese invested in dishes which could pick up the Hong Kong satellite for free.

In response to the new competition, and to the independent broadcasters and new technologies, the five commercial nets and one public one have aggressively planned out new strategies to hold their audiences. These strategies include a 24 hour news link with the US and increasing daily HDTV broadcasts.

One consequence of the growing satellite nets and the ballooning cable stations in 1991 was a shortage of programs. While the established nets continued to air traditional formats (such as news and soap operas), the newer broadcasters filled some of their hours with long programs (up to 12 hours) and experimented with formats, some programs were simply hours of aerial photographs or beach scenes with relaxing music.

KOREA (Rep.)

Population: 42,231,480.

Number of TV sets: 12.5 million, in 1991.

Commercial TV broadcasting began in 1956, but the station burned three years later and it was not until 1961 when the government established the Korea Broadcasting Service (KBS-TV) network. The commercial network of Tongyang Broadcasting Co. (TBC) began in 1964 and was followed by the commercial Munhwa Broadcasting Co. (MBC) in 1969. The American Forces Korea Network (AFKN-TV) was also established to serve American troops, and now comprises 6 stations.

KBS, which is entirely government-owned and collects a monthly fee from each household with a TV set, is somewhat unique since it takes commercial advertising, unlike most governmental networks. Political opponents of the regime are rarely mentioned on broadcasts; this one-sided coverage had led to a boycott by some of the public who refuse to pay fees. KBS also holds a controlling 70% interest in the only other commercial broadcaster, Munhwa Broadcasting Corp. which exists on advertising alone. Under the present regime, other stations were compelled by the government to merge with KBS, except for the Christian Broadcasting System which has been restricted since 1980 to broadcasting only religious programs. The government uses KBS profits from advertising revenues for education scholarships and expenses of newsmen traveling abroad.

KBS-TV has its key station in Seoul and 21 local stations, with other local stations, making a total of 33 TV stations, including those operated by MBC and the former TBC. Color broadcasting started in 1980. Almost 10 million sets are in operation, covering almost every household. If armed forces of USA are counted, the total stations number 33.

Korean broadcasts are limited to 6.5 hours of evening time and 4 hours mornings on weekdays, 11 hours on Saturday and 17 on Sunday. Monthly fees of about $1.00 are collected and advertisements are accepted.

On Saturdays and Sundays between 8 and 9 p.m. it is estimated that 60% or more of the population gathers before their sets to view commercial stations' soap operas, far beyond the average 30% viewing for most shows.

Both KBS and MBC carry some popular U.S. programming, but that field is dominated by the American Forces Korea Network, which primarily serves the large American military population stationed in the country since the Korean War. AFKN does not carry paid advertising.

In 1981 the Republic of Korea "consolidated" all news media and took over the private stations, so daily listings read: KBS-1 TV (7 cities), KBS-2 TV (2), KBS-3 TV-UHF (6), MBC-TV (6). Korean Broadcasting Advertisement Corporation handles all TV and radio advertising.

Population: 3,100,000
Number of TV sets: 1,100,000
System used: PAL

Television came to New Zealand in the early 1960's as a State-owned and operated monopoly. Because of deregulation the Broadcasting Corporation of New Zealand replaced itself with two state-owned operations: Television New Zealand and Radio New Zealand. Television New Zealand runs Networks One and Two. TV1 network which originates programs from the Avalon television complex in Lower Hutt (near Wellington), and the TV2 network which originates programs from the Auckland studios. TV1 transmits some 88 hours of programs a week, and TV2 about 71 hours. Five days are commercial. Sundays are non-commercial on each network. Fridays are non-commercial on TV1, and Saturdays non-commercial on TV2.

PAKISTAN

Population: 115.36 million plus 3.7 million Afghan refugees.
Number of TV sets: There are approximately 2 million licensed TV sets in the country plus about 800,000 (40%) that are unlicensed.
Number of TV stations: There are at present eight TV stations—5 of Pakistan Television Corporation Ltd. at Karachi, Lahore, Islamabad, Quetta and Peshawar and three of Shalimar (previous People's) Television Network at Karachi, Lahore and Islamabad.

Television came to Pakistan in 1964. In May, 1967, a public limited company was formed, all the shares of which are held by the Government of Pakistan. All the PTV Centres produce and transmit color programs, including foreign films for six to eight hours daily. There is, in addition to evening transmission, a regular morning telecast every day except Friday from 7 A.M. to 8:15 A.M.

Shalimar Recording Co., a semi-Government company operates a 24-hour transmission by the name of Shalimar Television Network (STN). Its first station was opened at Islamabad in July 1990, the second went on air in November 1990 in Karachi, and the third in June 1991 at Lahore. This channel has been run by a private concern, Network Television Marketing (NTM), for three years. They buy private programs and record their own at other studios, in absence of their own facilities. Two more stations, one each at Quetta and Peshawar, are likely to begin their transmissions soon. Their main source of income is commercials.

Besides five full-fledged production centers, PTV owns 33 transmitters (boosters) which cater to the needs of about 100 million, or 90 percent of the population. Transmission, which commenced via satellite in 1972, is now a regular feature and covers important international events, including sports, Haj (pilgrimage to Makkah), visits abroad of the heads of State, UN special meetings, SAAARC and Commonwealth meetings, reports on various War fronts etc.

Pakistan manufactures over 400,000 sets per year. Of these about 300,000 are in black and white and the remaining 100,000 in color. All Pakistan programs are in color.

The main sources of income for PTV are commercials and license fees of Rs. 250 per year for domestic and Rs. 500 per year for commercial sets. PTV's exact income, though not available, may be about Rs. 800 million per year. It was reduced by about Rs. 150 million due to parallel transmission by STN, disturbances, video films, cable and above all the craze for dish antennae.

PTV's second channel project has been air since June 6, 1992, but only those who have dish antennae can see it. It is being used mostly for educational purposes and as such is being described as ETC.

The ETC Islamabad has two studios, one medium and the other small, with necessary modern equipment, good enough for the production of just two hours of educational programs. Of the proposed 16 rebroadcasting centers, four have been set up at Murree, Gilgit, Skardu and Gawadar. The Japanese Government has committed a grant in aid, amounting to Rs. 247.342 million.

NewsVision, Mandarin movies (18 to 24 hours via VarietyVision), cartoons, and HBO. Expected are about 300,000 subscribers for the first year, at a cost of $549.95 (or U.S. $30.00) a month.

SPAIN

Population: 39,000,000.
Number of TV Sets: 11,300,000.
Average daily television viewing: 187 minutes up from 173 in 1989, 184 in 1990.
Viewing by program category 1991: Films 29.7%, game-shows 17.4%, news 13.7%, soaps 13.1%, foreign series 13.1%.
Trends: While television viewing in Spain rose 1991-1992, revenue for public and private nets fell precipitously. The broadcaster RTVE was in the worst shape; the net has been hit hard since its monopoly ended in 1990 when three private nets began operations. RTVE posted huge deficits in 1991 and 1992; the private nets also carried huge debts. In addition to the national webs, the country's regional networks (funded by government funding and ad revenue) also racked up debts 1991-1992. Losses for the regionals in 1991 reached over $500 million. By mid-1992, the regional nets had accumulated a $2 billion deficit: the huge figure led to calls for privatization of the operations.
Hard hit by the grim financial picture are local production enterprises. Many new companies opened in 1990 to meet the anticipated need of the private channels. As it turns out, the only big winners have been Yank majors. Along with the huge net debts, production investment was on hold 1991-1992, because the buying frenzy of 1990 created a backlog of projects.

SRI LANKA

Population: 16.2 million
Number of TV sets: 1,487,000. (Licensed sets, approximately)
Various attempts to introduce television to Sri Lanka commenced in the 1960's but none were successful. However the television transmission which was started by three enterprising young men, Shan Wickremasinghe, Anil Wijewardhena and Bob Christy, in 1979 passes the 13 year mark this year. The new establishment that came up consequent to the Japanese government granting aid to the Sri Lankan government is the "Rupavahini" Corporation. Having completed the necessary infrastructure by November 1978 as originally planned, the Sri Lanka Rupavahini Corporation commenced its inaugural telecast on February 15th, 1982. In addition to Rupavahini and ITN Independent Television Network MTV Maharaja Television and Teleshan Television stations will come into operation in 1992.

The Shaw Group of Singapore bid 60 percent interest in ITN. This Group's offer was made in collaboration with the Ceylon Theatres Ltd. and Smith New Court. Through its South East Asian operations and client base, Smith New Court has been responsible for foreign equity investment in Sri Lanka, totaling approximately US $70 million (SR L, Rupees 3 billion). David Crichton Watts on behalf of Malaysia's Television Company "TV 3" bid Rs. 106,000,000 for 60% of the ITN. Later the Sri Lankan government decided not to proceed with the disposal of the Independent Television Network (ITN) which will now be converted into a 100% government owned company and remain in government hands.

Sri Lanka's Television pioneer Shan Wickremasinghe is set to reverse hundreds of years of cultural invasion from India by broadcasting his Teleshan TV channel straight to South Indian households. His TV and Radio Broadcast Network "Teleshan" will be the first privately run television and broadcasting station to cover the entire island and parts of the Indian sub-continent. The broadcast will feature locally produced programs and the best of US and British programs, as well as material from at least one Japanese station.

Information and Cultural Affairs Minister W. J. M. Lokubandara inaugurated a special overseas service of the SLBC to counter misinformation campaigns carried out by anti-government and anti-national elements against Sri Lanka. State interference with news media has reached the saturation point in Sri Lanka, especially in the electronic media. However in a country with a literacy rate of 90% the population cannot be made to believe that the media is telling the unbiased truth. If the government is interested in regaining credibility it should stop partisan propaganda from being broadcast or telecast over the electronic media.

The Voice of America broadcasting station was established in 1951. At that time programs were relayed using transmitters of Radio Ceylon. For the new transmitting station 410 acres of land have been granted to the US Government to establish a high power transmission station. The Catholic church has constantly protested against the establishment of this VOA project. In spite of the protests the Sri Lankan Government decided to give the "go ahead" signal.

Sri Lanka's third Television Network—Maharaja Television commenced its transmissions on 8th May 1992, with programs transmitted for 6 hours a day from 6.30 PM to midnight. Initially the MTV transmission was to be confined to the Western Province, covering a radius of 20 miles, but extended countrywide in August. This Network is jointly owned by the Maharaja Organization and Singapore Telecom International.

Sri Lanka's 4th Television Network "Teleshan" Ltd. proposes an island wide 58 hour weekly transmission of its local and foreign programs on UHF Channel 21 and VHF Channels 3 and 4 commencing in August 1992. Teleshan will set up a private TV Radio station in the suburb of Colombo with four relay stations at Kandy/Nuwera Eliya, Akuressa and Jaffna. The local promoter is led by Teleshan Ltd., with DFCC, Development Finance Credit Corporation and Central Finance Ltd. and foreign collaborator SNK International Co Ltd. of Tokyo, Japan.

The GCEC—The Greater Colombo Economic Commission will not approve any new private television stations, following a decision of the Cabinet sub-committee on foreign investment. It has already approved and granted incentives under its infrastructure program for two new TV stations—MTV—Maharaja Television and Teleshan.

SWITZERLAND

Population: 6,874,000

Number of TV sets: As of January 1992, the Federal Post Office registered some 2,500,000 households in which at least one TV-set (mostly color) is operating. Some 600,000 households own more than one set. Therefore, the estimated number of TV-sets in operation is about 3.1 million, or 93.7 percent of all Swiss households.

Number of TV Stations: 3 (German, French, Italian). Television was established in Switzerland in 1953. In 1969 came the first color broadcast. There is a public broadcaster (Swiss Broadcast Corp.), which provides broadcasting in the languages German, French and Italian, as well as regular programs in Romansch, maintaining three independent broadcasters in the respective regions. As of 1/1/92, there are 7 local stations. 34 cable tv producers have a license for transmission of televised texts.

Principal Broadcaster: Swiss Broadcasting Corporation, Giacommetstr. 3, 3000 Berne 15

Cable TV: is the second highest in Europe. As of January 1992, there were about 1,750,000 subscribers.

TV advertising: In Switzerland, TV-ads were introduced on a limited basis on February 1, 1965. After a first amendment of the television and radio law in 1989, a new law came into effect on April 1, 1992. Consequently, the advertising time available was incremented by 8 percent and extended to a maximum of 12 minutes during any one hour. New ad breaks have been introduced; tv-spots are now allowed on Sundays; programs of 90 minutes and over can now be interrupted by one ad break; non-prescription medicines can now be advertised; teleshopping is permitted during one hour a day and sponsorship messages are allowed at the start and end of sponsored programs and may contain the name of the sponsor, corporate logos, trade marks and the aims of a company.

In 1992, national channels (in German, French and Italian language) were tuned in only 39 minutes (42 in 1990) a day by Swiss Germans, who prefer foreign channels for the remaining 79 minutes (72 in 1989). French lingvo watchers tune in a national channel for an average 49 (46) minutes a day and select foreign channels for 88 (73) minutes. Swiss Italians watch national channels for 47 (42) minutes a day (mainly the news) and switch to foreign channels for some 89 (86) minutes of the daily tv-session.

Statistics & History

Freedom of choice—the control of one's own viewing habits—has been the major impact of home video on the leisure-time industry in America. Owners of videocassette recorders can view what they want when they want and are no longer subject to the programming schedules of the television networks and cable stations. The VCR owner is able to watch yesterday's motion pictures today (by renting or owning vintage Hollywood films, foreign features and television product, as well as films released theatrically as recently as six months ago) and today's television programming tomorrow—along with how-to tapes, music videos and home movies.

Time shifting, the ability of the viewer to tape a show for later viewing (as well as eliminating commercials—by editing them out or fast forwarding past them), is the most common usage of VCRs. One can watch one program while taping another, or tape with the tv set off and nobody home. One can select entertainment or instruction from the more than 50,000 prerecorded tapes now available from the more than 30,000 video specialty stores, supermarkets, hardware stores and libraries. There are more than 40 brands of VCRs with 150 models now available, offering electronic tuner-timers and such special effects as freeze-frame and forward-reverse picture scan as basic features and such extra options as wireless remote control, variable slow and fast motion, on-screen function display and full stereo sound. Home video has had a revolutionary effect on the entertainment habits of the nation.

Video History

1923: Though the patent for a video-camera-like device was filed in Germany one hundred years ago, the first practical product was devised by Vladimir Zworykin, a Russian/American immigrant in 1923.

1938: A primitive video disk was on sale at Selfridges of London.

Post World War II: With the development in the early 1930s of an electronic television signal and the audio tape recorder, and their coming into broadcast use in the mid-1940s, it was not long before experiments (by Ampex and RCA in the US, and BBC and Decca in Great Britain) in recording television shows and playing them back were made in earnest. Freeing directors to edit or re-shoot, and attempting to loosen the stranglehold live television broadcasting imposed on the medium, the first recorders were longitudinal machines that looked like audio recorders and used large reels of tape at high speeds.

Early 1955: BBC went on the air with its VERA (Vision Electronic Recording Apparatus) with a head gap of 20 microns and a tape speed of 200 inches per second. A reel about 5 feet in diameter was needed for taping a half-hour program.

April 1956: An American company, Ampex, produced the first working video recorders for broadcast use, using four (quad) recording heads on a rotating drum, and two-inch wide magnetic tape which was reusable. They were first used over the air at CBS's Hollywood studios in November, 1956. (A more portable system using narrower tape and a helical scan system had been patented in Germany in 1953, but the prototypes were far too expensive and difficult to use; a tape could be used only once, and each time it was used the machine had to be cleaned of tape particles.)

1967: A Japanese company, Sony, introduced the first transportable video system which used reel-to-reel tape and recorded in black and white only.

1970: Home video arrived when the first video cassette systems were produced, in the Philips Video Cassette Recorder or VCR. (Philips had also developed and licensed the compact audio cassette.) Sony introduced its ¾-inch U-Matic format intended for professional use in the film and television industries.

1972: Philips launched its N1500, the first video recorder with a tuner-timer, making domestic video recording a reality.

The simple video game, the first interactive use of the television, was introduced into viewing households, altering perception of the TV screen from one of passive reception of broadcast programs to participation.

Late 1975: Sony introduced the Betamax system, utilizing narrower 1½-inch tape (the narrower tape size resulted in lowered costs of recording and recorders). An optional timer was included to enable a viewer to tape even when he was not at home and offered the capability of recording one program while watching another. The cost was approximately $2,200 for a recorder with TV set. Blank tape cost $20.

1976: Cartrivision, V-Cord, and VHS (Video Home System) introduced systems incompatible with Betamax machines. The first two fell by the wayside while VHS (backed by Matsushita Electronics Corporation) emerged as the challenger to Sony's Betamax by making it possible to record up to 2 hours of broadcast material for the first time. Magnavox came out with a videodisc machine, strictly a playback system which used a disc similar in size and substance to a record album that is "read" by a laser beam. RCA manufactured a rival, incompatible videodisc system.

1977: The video software market was born when a small midwestern company called Magnetic Video Corporation licensed 50 feature-length films from 20th Century-Fox and released them for sale on Beta and VHS formats at retail prices of $49.95 to $79.95.

1983: Paramount Pictures paved the way for burgeoning cassette sales when it lowered the price of some of its strongest titles to $39.95 from $79.95. Other prerecorded cassette distributors soon followed suit.

Jan. 1984: United States Supreme Court, after lengthy consideration of a suit brought by MCA Inc. and Walt Disney Productions against Sony, ruled that home taping of broadcast programming is not a violation of copyright laws, in effect legitimizing what viewers were already doing.

1984: The FCC approved the start of Multi-Channel TV Sound Broadcasting, adding stereo sound to the home video experience.

May 1987: Super-VHS or S-VHS (with an expanded band width of up to 5.5 megahertz thus increasing the sharpness of picture image, and 400 lines of horizontal resolution as opposed to conventional VCR's 240) made its debut at the Consumer Electronics Show in Chicago.

Another innovation was the introduction of 5-inch CD Video singles at a $7-8 list price, that can hold up to 20 minutes of recorded music videos.

1988: The era of "personal video" was ushered in when Sony introduced the Video Walkman, a hand-held, ultra-compact combination of 8 millimeter VCR with a 3 inch flat-screen color television set. No larger than a VHS videocassette or paperback book, and weighing about 2½ lbs, the Video Walkman operates on AC, Battery or 12-volt. Matsushita Electronic Industrial Co. followed with its own 3-lb personal videocassette recorder-television which uses VHS-C tape instead of Sony's 8mm.

Sony also unveiled its Hi8, an 8mm camera-recorder and editing deck which produces an extra-high quality picture. It can play and record conventional 8mm tapes but recordings on Hi8 cannot be played on older 8mm equipment.

RCA/Columbia Pictures Home Video was the first home video manufacturer to release closed-captioned video cassettes for the hearing impaired.

Three feature films ("Julia and Julia," "Crack in the Mirror" and "Do It Up") as well as a made-for-television movie ("Innocent Victims") were shot using HDV, high definition video, then converted to 35mm using a tape-to-film transfer process which converts the tape's thirty pictures per second to twenty-four frames per second on film. Though unwieldy (HDV must be hooked up to a video tape recorder by means of cables) and with a lower ASA rating than film, this new technology is a step in breaking down the traditional barriers between film and video.

1989: According to figures released by the Electronics Industries Association, sales of prerecorded videos rose 39% in 1989, with some 200 million cassettes sold, against 135 million in 1988. In dollar value this was approximately $4.2 billion, up from 1988's figure of $2.97 billion. Estimated figures for 1990 were 260 million prerecorded cassettes sold, or $5.5 million in revenue.

1990: 1990 saw a decline in the video rental market, causing an increase in the price of many rental-priced tapes (customarily list priced at $89.95). While many tapes rose to $92.95, "The Hunt for Red October" was released at a suggested price of $99.95, the first major title at this price since "Platoon" was released in January of 1988.

- Video stores discovered that cheaper, sell-through titles are basically a gift idea as the post-holiday period showed a huge quantity of cassette copies unsold, such as "Batman." Retailers believe they can do better renting the titles than selling them. Warner Bros. had sent out 13 million copies of "Batman" to retailers, of which approximately 5 million went unsold. Nonetheless "Batman" was once of three huge Holiday '89 sellers along with Walt Disney's "Bambi" and "Who Framed Roger Rabbit."

Trends 1992:

- According to Alexander & Associates the eleven week period leading up to the holiday season showed an impressive increase for the sell-through market as some 72.5 million tapes were sold, up 19% from 1990's figures of 61 million tapes. Sell-through reached the $1 billion mark for the first time in history with final figures of $1.07 billion for the period of Nov. 13 through Jan. 7. The undisputed champ during this season was Walt Disney's 1940 classic "Fantasia" making its long-awaited video debut. No doubt influenced by marketing that claimed the film would never again be seen theatrically or otherwise in its original form, consumers snatched up the $24.99 title and some 14,169,149 copies were sold in less than three months. Also showing hefty figures was Fox's 1990 blockbuster comedy "Home Alone." Released to video at the end of August, 1991, the $24.98 cassette had sold some 11,000,000 copies by the holidays.
- Disney stayed at the number one spot in 1991, bringing in $849 million in revenues on sell-through, a 35% increase over the $630 reported for 1990. Warners was second with $617 million, up from $460 million in 1990. There was an actual drop in price for the average retail tape from $15.71 in 1990, to $14.95 in 1991.
- Video rentals showed a 5% increase during the first half of 1992 according to Alexander & Associates. The weekly rental figure was 82.6 million, as opposed to 78.6 million for the same period of 1991. With the average rental price per tape of $2.50 the final totals for January–June 1992 was $5.4 billion.

- In the wake of Orion Pictures' reorganization plans the studio's video arm, Orion Home Entertainment, continued to function with little change. The unit's biggest problem was waiting for product, as the theatrical fate of 10 Orion titles remained uncertain. In the meantime the video unit set its hopes on a hefty cash flow from the sell-through marketing of the 1990 Academy Award winning blockbuster, "Dances With Wolves."

- In an unusual effort to unload used copies of a new title MGM/Universal proposed an off-beat tie in with Mary Kay Cosmetics and its video release of the 1991 hit "Fried Green Tomatoes." Customers were offered a free makeover and lipstick from the cosmetics firm if they could supply proof of having purchased a "previously viewed" copy of "Tomatoes." This offer was available for a seven month period following the movie's late August 1992 cassette release and presented a new approach in helping retailers clear out the overstock on rental copies of newer titles.

The Home Video World Market

ARGENTINA

Population: 33 million
Number of tv sets: 6.5 million.
VCR population: 2,500,000 in 1991.
VCR penetration: 30.5%.
Video prices: $50-$55 for average A-title; $2.00 for overnight rental.
Number of legal home video distributors: 60.
Estimated piracy level: 35%.
Average number of A titles released in 1991: 3,500.
Organizations: Association of Argentinean Independent Video Editors, Ayacucho 457, Piso 2/21, 1026 Buenos Aires. Tel: (1) 953 7336; Argentinean Video Union, Planta baja, Viamonte 2095, 1056 Buenos Aires. Tel: (1) 46 8248.

AUSTRALIA

Population: 17,300,000
Number of television sets: 7,880,000.
Number of VCRs: 391,000.
VCR penetration: 72%, considered to be at the saturation point.
Video rental 1991: $630 million; at least 60% from A titles of US majors.
Top rental titles: Ghost (33,500 units), Home Alone (31,700), Dances With Wolves (30,400).
Video sell-through 1991: Approx. $70 million.
Average price 1991: A$19.95 ($15).
Trends: Australia's home video industry—which relies on a very strong rental market—has stalled at current levels due in part to a saturation of VCRs. Industry insiders were anticipating the competition from pay-TV (which will come on line in early 1994). Currently, the only competition for the rental business is a TV system of live channels (or fewer in some areas). Distributors are working on increasing sell-through which has been hampered by a lack of shelf space. The major strategy to increase turnover, bottom line pricing, has been hardest on the indies who find it difficult to compete with the majors. Australia is far behind other sell-through markets. Prices range from $7.50 to more than $38 with an average of $15.

BELGIUM

Population: 10 million
Number of tv sets: 3.8 million.
Number of VCRs: 2 million, in 1991.
Video rental: Bfr (Belgian Franc) 2,526.
Video sell-through: BFR915 million.
Organization: Belgian Video Federation, Boomkwekerijstraat 1, Box 6, B-1000 Brussels. Tel: (02) 511 38 39.

BRAZIL

Population: 145,200,000
Number of VCRs: 8,005,000 in 1991.
Annual video rental revenues: $400 million in 1991.
Annual video sell-through business: $5,000,000.
Organizations: Brazilian Video Trade Association, Ave Reboucas 1206, São Paulo. Tel: (11) 881 8111; Brazil Video Union, Rua Mexico 31/603, Rio de Janeiro. Tel: (21) 240 2326.

CANADA

VCRs: The latest available figures from Statistics Canada, a federal Government agency, show that in 1991 VCRs were found in 68.6% of homes, an increase from 66.3% in 1990. For comparison, VCRs were in 35.4% of homes in 1986, and only 6.4% in 1983. Multiple VCR ownership rose to 7.5% in 1991 from 5.7% in 1990. Out of 6,768-million responding households sampled in Canada approx. 6,032-million own one VCR, and 736,000 own two or more. The province of Ontario leads with approx. 2,256-million households owning one VCR and 292,000 households with two or more, out of 2,547,000 responding. Québec follows with approx. 1,546-million households owning one VCR and 155,000 with two or more, out of 1,700-million responding.
Market: Data relating to the 1991-92 market provided by the Video Software Dealers Association (VSDA) which has over 420 members in about 2,500 stores across Canada.
Rental market: is flat and described as "recession-resistant rather than recession-proof", and while retail video sales are up 20% to approx.

$C20 million, the total video market is only up a very few percentage points. Approx. 95% of the English new release market in Canada is serviced by three companies, Bellevue Home Entertainment Inc. (An Astral Communications Company), Video One Canada Ltd., and The Shannock Corp.

Retail: It is estimated that there are close to 5,000-6,000 video specialized outlets across Canada and, with rentals slipping, many are into other areas such as soft drinks, popcorn and sports cards.

Trade Associations: National Association of Canadian Film and Video Distributors, 1155 ouest René Lévesque Blvd., Ste 3301, Montréal, Qué. The rate of VCR ownership increased by a whopping 25% in 1991. VCRs are now being sold all over the country and even in the poorest "barrios." The GNP grew by 6% in real terms in 1991, and 7% in the 1st half of 1992. Unemployment is now down to 4.5%. Also, the working class has access to consumer credit in the dept. stores. Therefore all social classes are buying VCRs. And renting a video is the cheapest form of entertainment in Chile.

Movies are released on video after a six-month run in the cinema. Films are withheld two years before being released on TV in Chile.

Duty rates on the importation of VCRs have been declining sharply in recent years. Until 1988, there was a 50% surtax on VCRs on top of the basic duty rate of 20% on all imports. But in 1991, the basic duty rate has come down to 11% and the surtax on VCRs was reduced to 20%.

CZECHOSLOVAKIA

Population: 15,600,000, two-thirds live in the Czech Republic.
Number of TV sets: 4,800,000.
Number of TV households: 3,300,000.
Number of VCRs: 1,500,000.
VCR penetration: Approx. 30%.
Licensed video dealers 1992: 1,500.

Trends: 1992 was a year of uncertainty in Czechoslovakia: in August 1992 leaders of the Czech and Slovak Republics announced that they would split into separate states in January 1993. The future of the entertainment industry in the two republics was uncertain, although it was clear that the two would probably develop differently. The Czech Republic is the more populous, wealthier, and more Western of the two; the economy of the Slovak Republic is relatively undeveloped by comparison. Until the political situation is resolved, laws governing the entertainment and private enterprise, in general, will remain up in the air.

Amid the political turmoil of the country, home video was the fastest growing sector of the Czech economy. By mid 1992, earnings already outstripped theatrical admissions. Before foreign video distributors entered the market in 1991, video was almost totally controlled by pirates. Piracy remains an obstacle to growth; it was estimated to account for 60% of total volume. Distributors have been working with police and dealers to cut that number. Early foreign players in the country include Warner Home Video, Playboy, and Columbia TriStar Home Video.

DENMARK

Population: 5.2 million
TV Homes: 1.7 million
Number of VCRs: 765,000 in 1991
Video rentals: Business continued to decline with 1991 figures at approximately $30.8 million, down from $34 million the year before. This was a major comedown from the 1986 all-time high of $70.2 million.
Video sell-through: A substantial increase with totals of $18.5 million for 1991, up from $8.8 million in 1990.
Rental Price: Average $7.00 for a new release.
Organization: Association of Danish Video Distributors (Foreningen af Danske Videogramdistributører), Oslo Plads 14, DK-2100 Copenhagen Ø. Tel. (31) 42 21 66.

FRANCE

Population: 56,300,000
Television sets: 23,200,000
Number of VCRs: 8,000,000
VCR penetration: Approx. 40%
Revenue 1991: Approx. $375 million up 34% over 1990.
Video rental 1991: FF1,387 million ($71 million) up 13.4% from 1990.
Video sell-through 1991: FF1.71 billion ($304 million) up 40% over 1990.
Trends: Unlike the sluggish performance of the TV and film industries, French video continued to grow at record rates. Turnover figures for 1991 were $375 million—up 35% over 1990; direct sales accounted for 82% of the figure. And rentals increased 14% over 1990. Buena Vista held 17% of the market, GCR 12%, and Warner Video 11%. Sales were led by Buena Vista, Warners, and TF-1 Video.
Despite the high figures, some observers questioned the long term health of the industry especially when VCR penetration will reach maturity at 70%. Many felt that current gains were due to the increase in the number of sales outlets and titles, but that viewers were already becoming more selective and would no longer snatch up all that was out there. The traditional weakness in the rental sector might start to affect overall revenues.
One area of the video business that continued to grow was the subsidiaries set up by television nets, including TF-1, La Sept, La Cinq, Antenne-2, FR-3, and Canal Plus. TF-1 Video was the most successful of these, estimating 50% of its revenue from theatrical pics, and in the third quarter of 1991 it garnered more than 14% of the sell-through market.

GERMANY

Population: 80,000,000
Number of TV sets: 25,000,000
Number of VCRs: 12,500,000; an estimated 50% of households.
Video rentals: DM 406 million (product price)
Video sell-through: DM 94 mbn (product price)

GREAT BRITAIN

Stiff opposition from cable and satellite television in 1992 resulted in video rentals being 15 percent down, although the sell-through business continues to expand—up 10 percent. Latest statistics available from the British Videogram Association (BVA) recorded some 6.33 million transactions each week. With an average night's hire charge of £1.63 ($3.00) this generated some £134 million ($254 million) each quarter.
Specialist video shops continue to play the leading role in the rental sector (handling 74 percent of all rentals); 46 percent of rentals are concentrated at the weekends. Video recorders are now to be found in 15.55 million (71 percent) British homes—more than any other country in Europe.
With the average video selling at £10 ($19), annual sales are estimated at £494 million ($760 million) through some 25,000 outlets although the majority are sold in Woolworths and W. H. Smith stores. Research shows that comedy videos are the most popular (30 percent) in the rental market; then thrillers (16 percent), adventures (15 percent) and drama programs (10 percent). As with the theatrical market, most of the product screened on home video here hails from America. Leading distributors include: Abbey Home Entertainment, BBC Video, Buena Vista, Castle Communications, Chrysalis Home Video, CIC Video, Columbia TriStar Home Video, First Independent Films, Foxvideo, GMM Entertainment, Guild Home Video, Island World Communications, MCEG Virgin Vision, Pickwick Group, Polygram Video, Odyssey Video, Screen Entertainment, Silver Vision, Sony Music, Thames Video, Video Collection and Warner Home Video.
BBC Video ended the year as the U.K.'s top sell-through label with the biggest market share of any individual video label and also had more titles in the national top 100 in the critical month of December than any other video label. "Elizabeth R." became an overnight bestseller following the screening on BBC 1.

Commenting on current trends, BVA Chairman Phil Jackson said that research showed that the video business is more resilient than most in staying off the worst effects of the country's recession. With the promised range of top-grade films, video is poised for a comeback in 1993.

GREECE

Number of VCRs: More than 1,000,000
Number of video distributors: 10
Number of rental (retail) video shops: Less than 700
Average rental price per tape to the customers: US $2.00
Sell through price to customers: US $5.00 per tape unit.
Total industry video revenue: No official figure available. Estimated about US $10,000,000
Average time between theatrical release and release on video: Approx. six months
Video systems: PAL and SECAM.
Piracy: Video cassette piracy is always harming the business. Apart from the Forger Law, the steps taken by the "Copyright Protection of Video Producers" Association proved insufficient in limiting video cassette piracy.
Hardware and Software Dealers: There are many dealers selling hardware and software equipment operating as agents for AKAI, ASA, BLAUPUNKT, GRANDING, HITACHI, LOWE, PANASONIC, MAGNASON, PHILIPS, SIEMENS, TELEFUNKEN, etc.
Trends: There was a further decline in video cassette business of catastrophic proportions. Many video cassette shops closed and many video cassette producers stopped operating. This is due to the competition of many private channels now in operation as well as foreign channels by satellite, plus the aforementioned piracy.

INDIA

With the expansion of TV network throughout the country an increasing number of VCRs have made their appearance into Indian homes. Although no precise figures are available, as a considerable number of sets continue to be smuggled into the country, a rough estimate puts the total number of VCRs/VCPs at around 6 million. The growth rate is about 25 percent per annum. There are well over 120,000 video libraries renting out cassettes, with an almost equal number of video parlors proliferating in small towns and slum colonies.

For the film industry too, video is good business. Since the industry is protected by an anti-piracy law (any person infringing it is liable for a three year imprisonment and fine which may extend to Rs. 100,000) home viewing rights (domestic) for an 'A' grade film are made over for Rs. 6-7 million and 'B' grade for about half of that. Competition for the home viewing rights is fierce among video distributors. A consortium of six companies—Gold, Bombino, Magnum, Time, Indus and Shemaroo—have established control over the market and between them hold the copyright to well over 2,000 feature films. Quick to adapt to changing technology, with the invasion of cable and satellite TV, the consortium is about to launch a satellite channel of its own to provide home entertainment.

Apart from purely entertainment films, the video industry is also producing slick, high tech videos for a vast spectrum of the corporate sector. From banks to steel industry, real estate to Indian navy and pharmaceuticals. There are at least 200 producers earning an estimated revenue of Rs.250 million annually.

The future of the news magazines (which had proliferated during the last 3-4 years) seems to be bleak with the advent of satellite TV and the inflow of global news and information. Until April 1991, foreign television in India was associated with CNN—the network that grabbed the world's attention with its coverage of the Gulf war. Now there are any number of choices available beginning with Hong Kong based Star TV, the BBC's 24-hour Asian region broadcast of world news, MTV and Prime Sports. Others who are avidly eyeing the Indian market are Canal France and Japan's NHK. At the moment there are 16 satellites spanning India with many more to orbit shortly. As a result, there is a growing demand for dish antennas all over the country.

ISRAEL

Population: 5,000,000

Number of VCRs: One million in 1991.

Video Revenue: Distribution companies don't publicize this figure.
Cost pre-recorded cassettes: About $80, for sale only to rental libraries, not private individuals.

Annual video sell-through: $25 million.

Average rental cost: &1.50—$3.00 for two days, depending on the number of cassettes that the customer previously rented.

Top Video Company: Seven Stars Video, 8 Pinsky St., 61047 Tel Aviv, Tel: (3) 296314/6.

Production Companies: Doko Video, 28 Mendele St., 63345, Tel Aviv, Tel: (3) 200216; Video Film Intl. Ltd., 20 Shimon Hatarsi St., Tel Aviv, Tel: (3) 5463388; Videotive Production Distribution Ltd., Astoria Hotel, 10 Kaufman St., Tel Aviv, Tel: (3) 651653.

ITALY

Population: 57,600,000

Videocassette recorders: about 6.4 million at the end of 1991.

VCR penetration: 13.8 million at the end of 1990.

Sell-through sales: $90.3 million in 1991.

Sell-through price: US$23

Rentals: $83.5 million in 1991.

Average tape rental price: US$3.5-4 per day.

JAPAN

Population: 123,800,000

Number of TV sets: Approx. 80,000,000

Number of VCRs: Approx. 30,000,000

Video rental 1991: $2.18 billion.

Video sell-through 1991: $1.73 billion.

Trends: The video industry slumped in 1991; most observers blamed the downturn on a lack of blockbuster titles, especially during the year-end holiday season; also, the industry had not yet been able to reach beyond its core market of men 20-40 years old. One big hit of the year was Disney's "Fantasia."

Consumers' favorite categories of videos were feature films, animated films, and music videos; features accounted for approx. 65% of the market, and American product accounted for half of that figure. Japanese product dominated disks with almost 1/3 of the sales; the numbers come from the popular "karaoke"—sing-along videos in saloons.

MEXICO

Population: 86,235,600

Number of TV sets: 15,000,000

Number of VCR households: 4,000,000; 24.4% VCR penetration vs. color-TV homes.

The average video dealer price for a current title is $36, while the average daily rental is 85¢.

NETHERLANDS

Population: 14.9 million

Number of TV sets: 5.7 million, in 1991.

Video penetration: 55%.

Number of VCRs: Approximately 55 million in 1991.

Annual video rental: Business jumped some 15% in 1991, bringing in figures close to $100 million.

Video sell-through business: The final figure for 1991 was 100 guilders (or $52 million), more than double that of 1990. Among the popular titles were Disney's "The Little Mermaid" and "Fantasia," and Movies Select Video's "Dances With Wolves."

NEW ZEALAND

Population: 3,300,000

Number of TV sets: 1,067,000 (approx. 98% of all NZ households)

Number of VCRs: 700,000 (approx. 68% of all households)

Currency: New Zealand dollar (∞); $1 = ∞1.82

Average rental price: ∞5-6

Number of video outlets: Approximately 584.

Wholesale value of video industry: ∞30 million ($17.4 million, as of Sept. 1991).

Retail value: ∞65 million ($37.7-$46.4 million).

Sell through units shipped: 450,000 to 500,000 in 1991.

All-time top video rentals (as of June 1990): 1.) Crocodile Dundee (∞2,440,000); 2.) E.T. The Extra-Terrestrial (∞1,550,000); 3.) Crocodile Dundee II (∞1,360,000); 4.) Return of the Jedi (∞1,123,000); 5.) Ghostbusters (∞1,036,000).

Rental market: Four major companies dominate the market: CIC, Fox, RCA-Colpix and WHV, with Video One the most prominent of the independents.

Organization: Video Assn., 125 Vincent St., Auckland, Tel: (09) 308 9421.

PAKISTAN

Number of VCRs: There are approximately 1.5 million VCRs and VCPs in the country. Of these about a million are in households. A license fee of Rs.200 and Rs.400 for domestic and commercial respectively is levied by the Government. The custom duty on the import is Rs.3,000 per piece.

Number of Video Distributors: It runs into thousands, but the biggest are about a dozen who "import" so-called master prints of banned films (mostly Indian) from Dubai, duplicate them by the hundreds of thousands and sell them to smaller distributors and video shops throughout Pakistan.

Number of Rental Video Shops: There are two kinds of shops—one dealing in sales, the other in rentals only. The number of these shops is about 125,000, half of which are in Karachi alone. Due to cable and 24-hour transmission by STN, business of rental shops has gone down considerably. A film is now available on rent for Rs.5 per day. Libraries in push localities like Clifton, Defence Society, PECHS etc. have home delivery systems on subscription for Rs.100 to Rs.150 per month. Subscribers have only to dial and place their orders.

Average price of tape: This is flexible according to the currency value and international market. The present price of a blank video cassette is between Rs.90 and Rs.120. Pre-recorded (slightly lower grade) are also available at the same rate. Sales of blank video tapes goes over a million every month. They are used mostly for copying foreign (mainly Indian) films smuggled-in from various neighboring countries.

Total video revenue for the industry: As video is an illegal business in the country, the figures of its revenue are not available anywhere. However, it runs into billions of rupees every year.

Window: Almost simultaneously—in some cases video is released even before the theatrical release of Pakistani and Indian films. The passage of the Copyright (amendment) bill by the National Assembly in June, 1992, awarding three years imprisonment and Rs.100,000 fine to anybody making audio or video tapes of cinematographic works without the prior permission of the makers, may come to the rescue of Pakistani filmmakers and the piracy of Pakistani feature films may come to an end. Earlier, video houses and tea shops used to show the latest films, pirated from new Pakistani films released the same day, and, in some cases, even before their release in regular theaters. These films were shown for Rs.3 and Rs.5 per person on huge color TV sets.

Trends: Video viewers love to see action, sex and thrills on the small screen, whereas moviegoers hardly see sex and violence because of censorship restrictions. There is no censorship on video since it is an illegal trade.

Top ten videos: Besides Indian, foreign films are also getting popular among Pakistani viewers of video. However, films of Indian superstars like Amitabh Bachchan, Sridevi, Anil Kapoor, Aamir Khan, Salman Khan, Rekha, and Madhuri Dixit are still very popular with the masses. The following were the most popular films with viewers during the year under review: "Akela," "Lamhe," "Saudagar," "Indrajeet," "Banjaran," "Prahar," "Lekin," and "Kuda Gawah" (Indian); "Teen Yake Teen Chhakke," "Abdulla the Great," "Pamila," "Zindagi," "Dillagi," and "Chand Girhan" (Pakistani); "Terminator-II," "Double Impact," "Total Recall," "Delta Force-II," "Laser Machine-II," "The Hatman," and "City Heat" (foreign).

SINGAPORE

Population: 3,000,000

Number of television sets: 575,000

Video and censorship: The Board of Film Censors (BFC) requires that every videotape sold have a BFC sticker at a cost of $6 to $15 (U.S. $3.60 to $9) per unit. As a result most producers choose to put their product on the market illegally, minus the sticker. In order to do a VHS dub companies are also required to pay a reproducer's license of $521,200 (U.S. $13,000). Before reproduction the tape must be submitted to the BFC.

SPAIN

Population: 39,000,000

Number of TV sets: 11,300,000

Number of VCRs: 4,750,000

VCR penetration: Approx. 43%

Video business 1991: $45 million

Video club stores: Approx. 5000

Sell-through 1991: $60 million

Rental 1991: Almost $85 million

Trends: After two years of a dismal performance, the home video market appeared to be recovering slightly in mid-1992. The industry began plummeting after private television went on air and television movie offerings increased ten-fold to 4,400 annually. By mid-1992, the quality of television programming had fallen and the novelty of the private nets was beginning to wear off in some places. Video distributors took the opportunity to increase their A and B title offerings and, thus, start a recovery. People had not yet returned to the video outlets in the areas where private nets had only recently come on line. Sell-through had been increasing, reaching $60 million in 1991 (still far-off the figures from the days before private channels). Retailers were still in difficult shape and piracy remained a major problem; many outlets resorted to bootlegging in order to stay open as rentals dropped.

SRI LANKA

Number of VCR players: 832,000 sets in 423,000 households.

Number of video distributors: 835 in Colombo City Capital, 672 outstation.

Number of video rental shops: 14,750

Number of video parlors: Approximately 10,634 all over the island.

Average rental price per tape: Rs. 25.00 (U.S. $00.60 cts.) per day

Video tape sales: 6,720,000 (U.S. $156,280) per year.

Price per tape (video), pre-recorded: Rs.400.00 (U.S. $9.30) to Rs.800.00 (U.S. $18.60)

Total revenue from the video industry: Rs. 94 Million (U.S. $2,186,046)

The Minister of Cultural Affairs and Information, W. J. M. Lokubandara, informed the Government of Sri Lanka that he is taking steps to ban video film shows which have increased in Colombo and other cities. The government had requested that the Attorney General organize a legislation to ban video film shows.

Officers of the BSO—Bureau of Special Operations swooped down and closed a dozen video parlors in Colombo City. These video parlors were screening films from India (mainly Tamil films). Some of them are detrimental to the country's security as they portray the terrorist activities of the L.T.T.E—Liberation Tigers of the Tamil Eelam.

SWITZERLAND

Population: 6,874,000

In Switzerland in 1992, there were an estimated 350 videoshops (down from about 400 in 1991).

Penetration: According to statistics of the Swiss Videogram Ass., by the end of 1991 there were over 1,500,000 VCRs operating; this corresponds to a VCR penetration of 59 percent.

Trend: In 1991, the number of registered video tapes on sale continued it's favorable trend: 1,441,499 were the tapes put on the market by the distributors (892,545 the year before), which equals a 33.5 percent increase. Indeed, video tape sales increased from a turnover of Sfr. 19,961,859 in 1990 to Sfr. 26,654,000, while rentals decreased from Sfr. 18,851,971 to Sfr. 15,240,000 (19.2% less than the year before). For the first time, statistics include CD-Videotapes which totalled 104,011 Sfr.

The industry last year totalled 147,000,000 Swiss francs (against 140,000,000 in 1990). While the rentals grossed only 91,000,000 Sfr. against 100,000,000 the year before, sales by wholesalers booked a 40 percent increase from a total of 40,000,000 Sfrs. up to a 56,000,000 turnover.

Normally, the window between theatrical release and release on video is about 6 months. But in some cases, theatrical release and video release occur simultaneously.

Piracy: According to the Swiss Anti-Piracy Federation (SAFE), which so far has no reliable statistics, but only estimations, two new abuses were noted in the past months. It appears that pirate tapes are more common in the regular market. Neighbor Italy is producing large quantities of pirate tapes, selling them at dumping prices not only on the home market, but exporting them all over Europe. Further, copyright violation by transcoding has brought SAFE a growing number of complaints about legally produced foreign cassettes compatible only for NTSC- or SECAM-Systems and adapted by transcoding to the PAL-System on use in Switzerland. SAFE is trying to get this under control by extending the law which protects copyrights. As for X-rated TV-productions, banned officially by the signature of a Self Control Agreement, federal law was strengthened in 1991, to prohibit the airing and sale of hard core porn with children and animals.

THE PROBLEM WITH

TODAY!!

AIDS is everyone's problem. To stop it, we must find a cure. But research takes money. The American Foundation for AIDS Research (AmFAR) needs your support. The money we receive accelerates the search for a vaccine and new treatments that can prolong and improve life for those infected. It also helps us educate others on the facts about AIDS and the methods available for prevention. Please send your donations to any of our AmFAR offices:

The Will Rogers Institute

Your Partner In Good Health.

"I never met a man I didn't like."

Words which typify the tradition upon which the Will Rogers Institute has prided itself for over 50 years.

Since 1936, the Institute has been caring for employees of the entertainment/communications industry by providing them with health services.

Our representatives can put you in touch with expert medical care and your first consultation with one of our nationwide pulmonary specialists is absolutely free.

Write or call - to learn more about the benefits we offer and you will see just how we embody the spirit of that great humanitarian and entertainer, Will Rogers.
