THE YEAR IN REVIEW

BY WILLIAM J. QUIGLEY

The source for many of the changes cascading through the media markets today was the invention of the VCR in the 1970s — when people began to realize that they could watch content when they wanted to, rather than at the specific time when broadcasters programmed it. “Timeshifting,” as it became known, came into its own with the advent of personal video recorders such as TiVo. The technology and storage capacity of these devices made it possible to record and play back dozens of programs when the audience wanted, but more importantly for the industry, it also gave consumers the ability to skip ads easily. This is starting to turn broadcast’s and cable’s advertising supported business model on its head. Jupiter Research reported that ad-skipping via DVRs could cost the networks as much as $8 billion in revenue this year.

“Appointment viewing” is quickly becoming a thing of the past and primetime schedules are no longer that important. Since the networks started to stream their shows online in earnest this summer, there is plenty of opportunity to see a missed episode; on the network’s site, on a rerun on cable, or via DVR or iTunes. Networks changed their opinion about free content on the internet and revamped their websites to stream episodes of hit shows. ABC.com, CBS.com, NBC.com and MySpace.com/Fox all had episodes of hit shows available online, believing that this would increase viewership of the original broadcast. This represents a total change in attitude by network executives who had been afraid that the different outlets would cannibalize the audience and impact the Nielsen ratings. The core problem remains how to create significant revenue from the new outlets because nothing in the new distribution models yields revenues like network advertising.

While this timeshifting revolution plays itself out, there is another trend that will have an even greater impact over time — consumers are driving the desire for access to on-demand content, on the device of their choice, anywhere, at any time — and they don’t particularly want to pay for it. “Mass media” is rapidly becoming personalized. For many years people have been carrying pre-recorded videotapes and DVDs around with them. Recently invented technology lets you watch your programs from any place in the world via the Internet. Sitting on top of your home TV, this device can take a video feed from cable or satellite set top boxes, DVDs or personal video recorders and retransmit a video stream through a broadband connection to any place in the world. The viewing screen can be a laptop, a PC, a handheld computer or a mobile phone just so long as it has a fast Internet connection. This effectively turns any PC or literally any device with a broadband connection into a personal television that streams the content from your home TV to any place in the world. In this new era of ad-skipping, companies will have to figure out what forms of advertising will resonate with customers to preserve or create revenue streams.

In the past, there were fairly narrow and well defined distribution channels that generated large audiences and were advertiser supported. Traditional media companies control these outlets and have tended to dictate the terms of how people can do business with them. Google’s $1.6 billion acquisition of YouTube means media companies will face new competition in everything from ad sales to production budgets to distribution. In the future controlling the chokepoints of distribution may not be a viable strategy. After the second negative upfront market in a row in 2006, it is beginning to look like networks will have to deal with stagnant or declining ad markets and more money moving to other media. Firms will have to learn how to balance the ability to mass market with the ability to target a market of one. As always, companies that correctly anticipate the needs and wants of customers will be the winners.

There were several changes in major media companies during the year. Sumner Redstone expressed his unhappiness with Viacom’s share price by firing Tom Cruise and Viacom chief Tom Freston, who had spent twenty years building MTV. He was replaced by Philippe Dauman. Supposedly, Freston was let go for not being aggressive enough in pursuing the MySpace acquisition which was accomplished by Peter Chernin for FOX. Les Moonves still runs CBS and Rupert Murdoch has yet to settle his differences with John Malone of Liberty although there have been some interesting discussions between them about DirecTV. Barry Diller purchased the number four search engine, Ask.com, in the hope of better integrating his widespread company. Google’s purchase of YouTube promises to have a big impact that will come into focus over the next few years.

BROADCAST

For more than two decades, most Americans got the results and analysis of national elections from three men: ABC’s Peter Jennings, CBS’ Dan Rather and NBC’s Tom Brokaw. In a notable development, this year their successors — ABC’s Charles Gibson, CBS’ Katie Couric and NBC’s Brian Williams, hosted the coverage of their first midterm elections as evening news anchors.

There was some evidence this year that broadcast television may not be doomed to ever-declining and fragmented audiences and is much more resilient than predicted. The two top-rated shows on television, “Grey’s Anatomy” on ABC and “CSI” on CBS compete on Thursday nights at 9 pm and have actually increased the audience for that time period. Surprisingly, the two shows are attracting forty five million viewers, as many as watch all five networks on a typical night. Audiences seem to be able to find great programs that hold their interest.

The trend towards less expensive reality programming accelerated in 2006 and procedural dramas were still in abundance. However, the most interesting programming dilemma seems to be between shows like “CSI” and “Law & Order,” which are self-contained episodes that are easy to syndicate, and shows like “24,” “Lost” and “Desperate Housewives” which are among the ten series this season that are “serialized,” — in that the storyline often ends in a cliffhanger that spills over week-to-week. These expensive and intricately scripted serialized dramas require big time and emotional commitments from viewers. The fact that many of the new dramas did not find an audience and that hits such as "Lost," "24" and "Desperate Housewives" are losing their may mean that the audience is getting reluctant to make that kind of commitment to a series, even though there are plenty of opportunities to see missed episodes. There also has been some viewer reluctance to commit to a series when they know it might be yanked off the air before coming to any sort of satisfactory conclusion.

Historically, local TV stations were a big source of cash for the media giants but that has changed as the 1,300 commercial stations in the U.S. are suffering as the Internet takes away viewers and advertisers, much as what has happened to the newspaper industry. Last year local broadcast revenue fell 9% to $16.8 billion according to the Television Bureau of Advertising, even in a year with significant political spending.

2006 was a banner year for ABC thanks to the returning "Desperate Housewives," "Grey's Anatomy" "Lost," "Dancing With the Stars," and the new hit "Ugly Betty," which has helped make ABC a player on Thursday night. ABC has managed to increase its average weekly prime-time audience by 500,000 viewers in spite of the loss of "Monday Night Football." Much of this is due to "Dancing With the Stars" which dominates two nights of primetime this Fall. As mentioned, there is some concern as "Desperate Housewives" and "Lost" have both been losing a considerable part of their audience. ABC took considerable risk in moving "Grey's Anatomy" from Sunday to Thursday nights in opposition to CBS' "CSI" but they expanded the audience in the timeslot and became the number one and two shows in primetime. "Ugly Betty" airs before "Grey's Anatomy," and has been a pleasant surprise. "Brothers & Sisters," "Six Degrees," "Men in Trees," "Help Me Help You" and "The Nine" all faded fast.

CBS results are essentially flat compared to last year riding on the back of hits such as the "CSI" franchise and "Criminal Minds." "Survivor," which weathered a controversy with tribes divided by race, and "The Amazing Race," which is facing tough competition with Sunday night football, are still performing relatively well as is "The Unit." The Tiffany network had some disappointments with new shows; "Smith," "The Class" and "Shark," but "Jericho" has been a pleasant surprise among new shows.

NBC had winners with "Deal or No Deal" and "Sunday Night Football" but several much-hyped shows such as "Studio 60 on the Sunset Strip," "Friday Night Lights" and "30 Rock" never seemed to attract big enough audiences. "Heroes" became the most watched new show of the season. "My Name Is Earl" and "The Office" continued to do well on Thursday nights. NBC's announcement in October that it will abandon high-cost dramas and comedies in the first hour of prime time and rely on lower-cost reality shows and game shows like "Deal or No Deal" became part of a $750 million cost-cutting initiative instituted by corporate parent GE. For decades the three hours of network line up in prime time were counted on to attract audiences and hold them to one network. Time will tell if the shift in strategy for NBC pays off.

Fox's commitment to the baseball playoffs preempt much of October's programming and the series between the St. Louis Cardinals and the Detroit Tigers had the lowest rated World Series ever. Fortunately, after baseball was over "House" came roaring back on Tuesdays. In any event, the return of "American Idol" and "24" in January 2007 insures a strong surge in the ratings.

The new CW network, which was formed from the merger of CBS' UPN and Time Warner's WB network, has been a disappointment so far. Part of the problem has been integrating two different programming targets — The WB did well with teen viewers and UPN did well in urban areas. The network was expected to do a better job of capturing younger viewers since it took the best shows from UPN and the WB, although "Veronica Mars," "Everybody Hates Chris," and "America's Next Top Model" continue to do well. As of this writing, the network is in sixth place in the ratings battle for 18-49 year-olds as well as in the 18-34 year-old demographic. The CW trails not only the big four networks but also lags behind Spanish-language broadcaster Univision.

Since CBS and Warner Bros. surprised the industry by announcing they would fold UPN and The WB into one brand-new channel, The CW, Fox started MyNetworkTV largely to create programming for nine News Corp.-owned UPN outlets that were suddenly orphaned. Started in September 2006, they are trying something different by offering low-cost, limited-run, hour-long nightly soaps based on Spanish-language telenovelas but performed in English, a concept never before tried on American television. Rupert Murdoch believes this will give his new venture the best odds of competing against more-expensive, heavily hyped fare on the Big Four networks.

CABLE

In the 1980s cable provided just one service: a better picture than broadcast television with less restriction on content. Today the industry provides video, voice and data services to an extent entirely unprecedented two decades ago. Currently, more than 60% of Americans subscribe to cable television and 31% of subscribers pay an additional fee for one or more premium channels, according to Arbitron. There are over 28.5 million digital cable subscribers, 25.4 million customers for high-speed Internet service and 5.6 million digital phone customers. Estimated capital expenditures for the industry in 2007 is over $12 billion which is on top of the $70 billion in investments made in prior years for the fiber optic system rebuilds. In spite of record cash flows and double-digit growth rates for the last several years, that are the envy of the rest of the media industry, there is cause for concern on the horizon.

The cable industry faces ongoing substantial capital expenditures, slowing subscriber growth, increased competition on price, service and offerings from telephone, satellite and other rival providers and the coming wireless out-of-home boom. Not only will these competitors be vying for consumers' attention, other major technology companies like Microsoft, Sony, Intel and possibly Google will all be trying to control the in-home platform for viewing, downloading, recording, storing, creating, manipulating and streaming outside the home. Additionally, high-definition and other consumer demands for file sharing will force cable companies to keep increasing bandwidth. In recent years cable has not been able to increase rates significantly in digital tiers, VOD has only marginally increased revenues and DVRs have had only an incremental impact on revenue. Revenue growth of 13% in 2006 will decrease to 8.5% next year, which while slightly disappointing, is still very healthy. An Arbitron study in 2006 reported that most cable subscribers would prefer to choose and pay for only the individual cable channels they are interested in viewing.

Time Warner Cable accomplished a turnaround of its recently acquired Adelphia and Cox systems and the rollup of smaller operators continues, aided by the fact that cable multiples are at ten year lows. Cablevision remains the biggest system in play with the Dolan family recently offering to take it private for $27 a share. One of the interesting events still to be played out is how Time Warner, Comcast and Cox will proceed with their wireless joint venture with Sprint Nextel. Wireless content on demand is starting to look like it will be the next big competitive battleground among "old" media and "new" media companies.

An interesting and potentially risky development in the cable industry recently was when Viacom, Time Warner, NBC Universal and Walt Disney all announced that they would not participate in Nielsen plan for measuring viewership because they felt that Nielsen systems have trouble distinguishing a local ad from a national spot on a cable channel and therefore cannot track commercials on cable as well as its does on broadcast television. Measuring viewers during commercial breaks is important to advertisers with the increasing use of DVRs.

SATELLITE

During the last decade, EchoStar Communications, run by Charlie Ergen and Rupert Murdoch's DirecTV acquired 27 million subscribers, about a quarter of the pay television market in the U.S. They also have been doing very well financially with DirecTV growing revenue 12% to $3.5 billion and earning $459 million for the second quarter this year. However, due to intensifying competition from cable-TV operators and the entry of the phone companies into the TV market, satellite's growth is stalling. Historically, satellite has had three advantages over cable: better picture quality, more channels and better pricing than cable and customers rated satellite much higher than cable in providing customer satisfaction and value. This has changed rapidly.

Cable companies are reaping the benefit of their huge fiber optic rebuild of systems over the last decade and their ability to offer the "triple-play" bundle of television, high speed web access and Internet-based phone service. This is very difficult to match with satellite, so to stay competitive, the satellite companies will have capital expenditures in the billions. High-definition is also easier to accomplish on cable where only a new set top box is required. Retrofitting a satellite customer for HD requires a new dish and a new set top box. Capital expenditures for broadband data services will also be immense. Competitive pressure is forcing the satellite companies to offer subsidized DVRs and other incentives including price breaks to attract and retain customers. Interestingly, this pressure has caused EchoStar and DirecTV to consider merging, or at least combining some operations.

The most interesting recent development in satellite is that News Corporation is in talks with John Malone's Liberty Media Corporation to trade its controlling share in DirecTV to Liberty in exchange for Liberty's stake in News Corporation. This would solidify Rupert Murdoch's family control of the News Corporation and put one of the savviest media investors, John Malone, back back in the television business, years after he sold his stake in cable giant Tele-Communications. It seems almost inconceivable that Murdoch would leave the satellite business, given his hard fought battle to acquire DirecTV, but Malone reportedly "loves" the satellite business and presents an interesting solution to Murdoch's desire for family control of the News Corporation.

DVD & HOME VIDEO

The home entertainment market plateaued in 2006, regaining some traction compared to 2005. From hindsight, it is clear that the industry could not continue to grow at the torrid double-digit pace at which the home video then DVD market grew for the last decade. Sales of all formats were down slightly less than 1% to $6.5 billion in the first half of the year but rental revenue was up a corresponding 1%. Major DVD releases in the first half included "The Chronicles of Narnia," "Harry Potter and the Goblet of Fire," "King Kong," "Walk the Line," and "Wedding Crashers." The fourth quarter of 2006 brings the DVD release of box office blockbusters like "X-Men: The Last Stand," "Ice Age: The Meltdown" and "The DaVinci Code."

Market share of the home entertainment companies was as follows: Warner Bros. 18.7%, Universal 15.9%, Disney 14.0%, Sony 13.6%, Fox 13.5%, Paramount 9.4% and relative newcomer Lionsgate with a very strong 5.2%, with "Crash," and "Saw II" doing substantial numbers. As the DVD market matures it is hit films rather than new customers that drives the business and the strong boxoffice in 2006 compared to 2005 should bode well for future sales.

The two new, competing high-definition formats, Blu-Ray and HD DVD will both start reaching broader markets in 2007 but are only expected to account for 1% of over-all revenue this year. Of great interest is Sony's billion dollar bet on the introduction of its new Playstation 3 this Christmas that not only plays videogames, but Blu-Ray DVDs and a broad array of Internet content. The fate of this new product introduction may well determine the future of the videogame business but could help the Sony-backed Blu-Ray format over Toshiba's HD DVD. Playstation 3 will be the most expensive videogame console to date and as typical in that industry, Sony will lose money on every console it sells for the first several years. Time will tell if this is a winning strategy.

Disruptive innovation in technology is a constant threat to these huge corporate bets. A Harvard research team recently came up with a way to store as many as 3,000 gigabytes — 1,000 movies worth — on a single disk. That storage capacity is about 600 times a normal DVD and 60 times more than the most advanced Blu-ray disc. A development like that might well change the debate about any of the relative advantages of Blu-Ray or HD DVD.

Martin J. Quigley

And The Glory Days Of American Film 1915-1965

Available now.
A must-read
for anyone interested in the early days
of the U.S.
film industry!

Martin J. Quigley's life included the people who built the film industry — people like Barney Balaban, Cecil B. De Mille, Adolph Zukor, Louis B. Mayer, Marcus Loew, Darryl F. Zanuck, Samuel Goldwyn, Spyros Skouras, Irving Thalberg, Harry Cohn, Howard Hughes and Jack and Harry Warner. Quigley was intimate friends and a trusted confidant to all these early moguls. For 25 years the author had the privilege — not often had by a son — of being able to observe the day-to-day business and professional activities of his father. Included are an historical overview of the film business, 40 pages of rarely seen photographs, a history of the origin of motion pictures, the full text of the Production Code co-authored by Quigley (and the forerunner to today's film rating system) and a complete index of people, films and critical issues to the business and art of motion pictures as seen through the life of Martin J. Quigley.

Martin J. Quigley

And The Glory Days Of American Film 1915-1965

Available now.
A must-read
for anyone interested in the early days
of the U.S.
film industry!

Martin J. Quigley's life included the people who built the film industry — people like Barney Balaban, Cecil B. De Mille, Adolph Zukor, Louis B. Mayer, Marcus Loew, Darryl F. Zanuck, Samuel Goldwyn, Spyros Skouras, Irving Thalberg, Harry Cohn, Howard Hughes and Jack and Harry Warner. Quigley was intimate friends and a trusted confidant to all these early moguls. For 25 years the author had the privilege — not often had by a son — of being able to observe the day-to-day business and professional activities of his father. Included are an historical overview of the film business, 40 pages of rarely seen photographs, a history of the origin of motion pictures, the full text of the Production Code co-authored by Quigley (and the forerunner to today's film rating system) and a complete index of people, films and critical issues to the business and art of motion pictures as seen through the life of Martin J. Quigley.

CORPORATE HISTORIES OF THE NETWORKS

ABC, INC. (AMERICAN BROADCASTING SYSTEM, INC.)

ABC's predecessor, the Radio Corporation of America (RCA) owned two radio networks, the Blue and the Red. In 1941, the FCC decreed that the same company could not own two networks, so RCA incorporated the Blue under the name of American Broadcasting System and established it as an independent subsidiary. RCA then sold this network to Edward J. Noble, and in 1944, the name was changed to the American Broadcasting Company. ABC's first television broadcast was on April 19, 1948 with "On the Corner." Later in the year, ABC scored two "firsts": the live broadcast of an opera (Verdi's "Othello") from the Metropolitan Opera House in New York and a TV documentary, "The Marshall Plan." ABC merged with United Paramount Theatres in 1952. This merger was engineered by Leonard H. Goldenson, then the president of UPT. The new company was called American Broadcasting-Paramount Theatres, Inc. During the 1950s, ABC began to operate at a profit although it had to struggle fiercely to acquire new affiliates. In 1954, ABC made a deal with Walt Disney to acquire a 35% interest in Disneyland and all TV programs produced by Disney. The following year, ABC signed an exclusive rights contract with Warner Bros. for TV programming.

In the Fall of 1962, ABC introduced color programming for the fall season which was expanded in 1966 to include full color broadcasting. In 1965, AB-PT's name was changed to American Broadcasting Companies, Inc. The 1960s also introduced blockbuster theatrical movies to TV with spectacular ratings results when "The Bridge on the River Kwai" was viewed (in 1966) by 60 million Americans. In 1967, the ABC evening news was expanded from 15 minutes to a half-hour, and Joey Bishop inaugurated ABC's late-night talk show programming.

In 1972, ABC was able to operate at a profit for the first time in ten years. In the 1976-77 season, ABC had its first win in the ratings race. In 1976, Barbara Walters joined ABC, becoming the first anchorwoman in television history. The mini-series "Roots" appeared on ABC in 1977 and became the highest-rated program of all time. This helped immensely in the ratings race, and credit must go in large part to Fred Silverman who, two years before, had joined the company as president of ABC International. He left in 1978 to go to NBC.

The decade of the Eighties was a turbulent one for the networks as cable and home video began whittling away their audiences. In 1985, ABC agreed to be purchased by Capital Cities Communications. The merged company's name was changed to Capital Cities/ABC, Inc. ABC held second place in the ratings from 1979 to 1983, when it dropped to third position. It was unable to rise from third until 1987-88 when it displaced CBS in second place, primarily because of the World Series and the Superbowl. It remained second in 1988-89 and 1989-90. In the latter season, ABC had the distinction of broadcasting the most talked-about new series of the period, "Twin Peaks," and the highest-rated new series, "America's Funniest Home Videos."

Daniel B. Burke replaced Frederick J. Pierce as president and chief operating officer. There were also sweeping reductions in personnel in the interests of economy and streamlining. Budget cuts notwithstanding, Capital Cities/ABC chairman Thomas Murphy pledged ABC would not scrimp on programming.

Profits at the end of 1990 rose about $70 million. Of the three networks, ABC won the ratings battle in news coverage of the war in the Persian Gulf. For two seasons in a row the network could boast having the only new series in the top ten: "America's Funniest People" (1990-91) and "Home Improvement" (1991-92). Capital Cities/ABC is a partner in ESPN, the highly successful cable TV sports channel, and two other cable TV services—Arts & Entertainment and Lifetime. ABC was the only network in the 1992-93 season to gain ground, moving into second place behind CBS, from its previous third place standing. During the season, Robert A. Iger became the new network president. The network was the first to sign a deal with a cable operator (in this case Continental Cablevision) allowing its stations to be carried on cable without paying a fee. In 1994, the company signed an affiliation deal with E.W. Scripps Company to switch several of their stations over to ABC.

The big event of 1995 was the $19 billion acquisition of Capital Cities/ABC by the Walt Disney Company, said to be the second largest corporate takeover in history. In 1997, Ted Harbert resigned as entertainment chairman of ABC after 20 years with the network. At the end of the 1996-97 season, "Roseanne," one of ABC's sitcom staples, was discontinued after nine years on the air. The producers of ABC's "Home Improvement" sued the program's distributor, Walt Disney, alleging that a $3 million-per-episode renewal was in essence a sweetheart deal benefitting Disney. A lawsuit against the ABC news program Prime Time Live by the supermarket chain Food Lion for trespass, fraud and breach of fiduciary duty was decided in favor of the supermarket by a North Carolina jury. Producers for the evening news magazine got themselves hired undercover as clerks by the chain in order to expose the sales of spoiled food and unsanitary food handling practices by Food Lion, which did not dispute the findings of the investigative report, but instead claimed that the practice of sending in undercover reporters constituted fraud.

ABC's ratings soared when it broke the news in January 1998 that sex allegations were made by intern Monica Lewinsky against President Clinton. Apparently continuing a trend started by the O.J. Simpson trial and elevated by the death of Princess Diana in September 1997, news proved very successful in attracting viewers. Despite its brief victory in the ratings war, the network was scheduled to go through a complete transformation for the 1998-99 season, after losing its number two slot among 18- to 49-year-olds to Fox. For the new season, the network was to introduce remakes of old shows such as "The Mary Tyler Moore Show" and "Fantasy Island," have "Sports Night" for male viewers, and air about 20 made-for-TV movies and mini-series.

ABC finished third in the 1998-1999 ratings war, despite their relentless self-promotion and critical acclaim for new shows like "Sports Night." With the 1999 departure of the embattled Jamie Tarses, it remained to be seen whether ABC's next programmer would be able to resurrect the network's ratings.

ABC's only blue-chip program was Monday Night Football, for which Disney paid the NFL $9.2 billion through the year 2005. In July, 1999, in an effort to reduce programming expenses, Disney combined ABC with Disney's television-production studio in order to slot more shows made by Disney onto ABC's prime-time schedule.

In the 1999-2000 season, ABC hit the jackpot with its American spin-off of the British "Who Wants to Be A Millionaire." For the season ending May 24, "Millionaire" took the top three spots in the ratings with its Tuesday, Thursday and Sunday programs, garnering a 29-, 26- and 25-share respectively.

In the 2000-2001 season, "Millionaire's" popularity waned somewhat. Through Nov. 5, 2000, the show was averaging a 20 share, a significant drop. ABC depended on the show to anchor its programming and generate revenue. With spring upfront ad sales estimated at $1.2 billion, about half of ABC's revenue, ABC executives and advertisers had their fingers crossed.

After surging to number 1 in the 1999-2000 season with "Who Wants To Be A Millionaire," ABC saw its audience drop off, causing the network to fall to number 4 (behind NBC, CBS, and FOX) in overall ratings for the 2001-02 season.

Adding to the network's woes in 2001, ABC was reeling from the worst ad market in years. Buffeted by the Sept. 11 attacks, ABC, CBS and NBC collectively suffered a record loss of $880 million in advertising revenues for the third quarter, a slide of 28.6% from the same period in 2000.

ABC was stung by a number of high-profile disappointments in the fall 2001 season, including the not-so-funny comedies "Bob Patterson" and "What About Joan" which were cancelled. ABC then reallocated budget resources to develop about a dozen comedies aimed at helping the network recover its viewership in the spring of 2002. Also cancelled after only two weeks on the air was "America.01," the ABC News magazine devoted to covering the changes in the country after Sept. 11. The news-magazine, which premiered on Nov. 2, was created in order to fill the gap left by reality show "The Mole," which was put on hiatus because of low ratings.

ABC Television Network ranked behind NBC and CBS for the 2001-02 season, and almost lost its third place spot in a ratings battle with FOX. In 2002-03, ABC expected to woo younger audiences with its new season of "The Bachelor."

The network had a few more programming building blocks in 2003-04, including the building "According to Jim" and "8 Simple Rules for Dating My Teenage Daughter," which generated a lot of interest and ratings due to the untimely death of beloved actor John Ritter. ABC sold $2.3 billion of primetime advertising up-front, which was 15% higher than 2002. Thanks to improvement at ABC, Disney's media operations, which include ESPN and the Disney Channel, brought in $841 million in operating profit for the period ending June 30th. Ratings for the first part of the new television season were flat to the previous year.

ABC overhauled its executive ranks during 2004. Ironically, the biggest hits of the new schedule including, "Desperate Housewives," "Lost" and "Boston Legal" were picked by the very executives who were sacked, Lloyd Braun and Susan Lyne. Part of the network's problem had been the inability to find a scripted megahit on the order of "CSI" or "Law & Order." It looked like they have them. The opening week of November sweeps brought good news for ABC and broadcast television overall. "Lost" captured Wednesday and helped ABC be one of only two networks to show a ratings increase in key demos vs. 2003's opening week. (CBS was the other net showing improvement.) According to reports in "Variety," the combined six network 18-49 averages in the first week of the November sweep (19.0 rating/50 share) ranked ahead of the previous year (18.3/49), which was good news considering the steady flight of viewers to off-network programming.

On the primetime front, ABC earned the label for "big success story of the 2004-2005 season." Ratings for ABC shows moved the net into second behind CBS. Leading the turnaround were the Emmy-winning hits "Lost," "Desperate Housewives" and "Boston Legal," and surprise ratings hits from new offerings like "Grey's Anatomy." The network saw its advertising upfront take increase 30 percent to $2.1 billion for the 2005-2006 season, which was roughly a 3-5% increase over the previous season.

After more than 20 years of journalistic excellence and stability at its primetime news anchor desk, the ABC news division suffered a terrible loss Aug. 7, 2005, with the death of veteran newsmen and ABC World News Tonight anchor Peter Jennings. Jennings died from lung cancer at the age of 67. Jennings joined ABC news in Aug. 1964 and became the network's primetime news anchor and senior editor of "World News Tonight" in 1983. In more than 20 years in the position he was honored with almost every major award given to television journalists. Elizabeth Vargas and Bob Woodruff were named co-anchors of the broadcast in December 2005. In June 2006, ABC veteran journalist

Charles Gibson replaced both Woodruff and Vargas, after Woodruff was critically injured in January while on assignment in Iraq, and Vargas chose to step down to take maternity leave and later return to co-anchor "20/20" and ABC News specials.

The upfront ad sales for the primetime 2006-2007 season dispelled any doubt ABC's slump of the past several seasons was over. For the second consecutive year, ABC generated cost-per-thousand increases of 4-6 percent and overall sales growth of more than 30 percent, to $2.3 billion (excluding sports). Advertiser confidence was attributed to the net's returning hits "Desperate Housewives," "Lost" and "Grey's Anatomy" anchoring ABC's nine new shows on the fall schedule. "Anatomy" moved from Sunday at 10 to Thursday at 9 to compete on a night that attracts top-ticket advertisers. The balanced programming blend of popular alternative series like "Dancing With The Stars" and "Extreme Makeover: Home Edition," fused with its comedy and drama offerings enabled ABC to nip at the heels of number one CBS.

CBS (COLUMBIA BROADCASTING SYSTEM, INC.)

CBS began in 1927 as a radio network with 16 stations, United Independent Broadcasters, Inc., founded by Arthur Judson, a concert tour manager and backed by Louis Sterling, president of the Columbia Phonograph Company. Later other investors were invited in, the most prominent of whom was William S. Paley. On September 26, 1928, at the age of 27, Paley became president of the firm whose name was changed to the Columbia Broadcasting System. Paley introduced many innovations to radio broadcasting, the most significant of which was the signing of an agreement in 1931 with Paramount Pictures whereby film stars were heard on radio for the first time. This laid the groundwork for the CBS policy in television from the outset to feature shows built around stars (Ed Sullivan, Lucille Ball, Arthur Godfrey, Jack Benny, Burns & Allen, Garry Moore, etc.).

CBS was in TV as early as 1931 when it began regularly scheduled TV programming over experimental station W2XAB in New York City. In 1941, CBS began weekly broadcasts of black-and-white TV programming over WCBS-TV in New York. By 1948, it had 30 affiliated stations.

In 1951, CBS broadcast the first live coast-to-coast TV transmission between New York and San Francisco. The year 1951 also marked the birth of the CBS Eye logo, designed by William Golden. It would stand the test of time and become one of the most famous logos in the world.

In 1952 CBS opened Television City in Hollywood — the industry's first self-contained TV production facility. "Playhouse 90" made its debut in 1956, but the big event of the decade was the 1951 debut of "I Love Lucy," a series regarded as the progenitor of the situation comedy. In the field of soap operas, CBS was both leader and winner, virtually monopolizing that market from 1951 to 1956. In 1951, it introduced "Search for Tomorrow," which was to become the longest-running show in that genre. This was followed by "Love of Life" (1951) and "The Guiding Light" (1952), both overnight hits.

In the late '50s and through the '60s and '70s, CBS reigned as king of prime-time ratings, maintaining its long-running lead with such successes as "Gunsmoke" (1957), "The Defenders" (1961), "The Beverly Hillbillies" (1962), "All in the Family" (1972) and "Dallas" (1978). Also helping was "60 Minutes," the news-oriented show which, by 1995, had remained in the Top 10 prime time shows for 18 consecutive seasons.

CBS began the turbulent '80s with a new president, Thomas Wyman (replacing John D. Backe).

In 1985, Ted Turner made an unfriendly bid for CBS, forcing the network to buy up 21% of its own stock to thwart the takeover. Laurence A. Tisch, a former theatre chain executive, had become the major stockholder in CBS when, in 1986, he instigated sweeping changes in the interests of cost-cutting and efficiency. Eliminated were 700 jobs at the CBS Broadcast Group. Tisch also removed Wyman as president, named himself CEO and induced founder William Paley to return to active duty as acting chairman of the board. It was quite a jolt to the company when, in 1985-'86, it slipped to second place and stayed there through the following season.

In 1987-'88, CBS came in third for the first time in TV history. In 1988, Tisch shuffled executive ranks again, naming Howard Stringer, previously president of CBS News, president of the Broadcasting Group. The network's new management team sought to devise a strategy to pull the network out of its decline in the prime-time ratings. Jeff Sagansky, former head of Tri-Star Pictures, was brought in as president of the entertainment division in 1990. Starting in 1991-'92, CBS became the number one network for three years in a row based on the success of such shows as "60 Minutes" (the number one show for both 1991-'92 and 1992-'93), "Murphy Brown," "Murder She Wrote," and "Northern Exposure." CBS was hit hard by FOX's 1994 purchase of 12 stations from New World Communications, losing eight affiliates.

However, the following summer, Westinghouse Electric Corp. acquired the final independent network for $5.4 billion, creating the largest collection of TV and radio stations in America. The 1994-'95 season was a low point for the network as it plunged from number one to number three. By season's end, CBS had the dubious distinction of being the first of the three majors to fall into 4th place, coming in below FOX for the last week before the debut of the 1995-'96 season. In late 1995, the venerable news program "60 Minutes" and CBS came under fire for refusing to air a controversial segment on the tobacco industry. Critics of CBS alleged that the network capitulated to the threat of legal action, rather than actual litigation. During this season the network placed third again. In 1997 CBS station group president Peter Lund was replaced by CBS radio president, Mel Karmazin. Continuing the unpleasant trend of the previous several years, CBS continued to lose viewers in all age groups except the 60+. In the middle of 1998, Mel Karmazin made public the restructuring of CBS. Because of the network's failure to turn a profit, the radio and billboard companies which accounted for 60% of CBS' profits at the time, were to be transferred to Infinity, thereby making the TV operations easier to sell, if need be. Infinity Broadcasting was sold by Karmazin to CBS in 1996 after trying to buy the Eye's radio stations himself.

Two years later, the company was several times its former size, and had the cash to grow even more as a result of the CBS deal. Although the CBS president denied considering a TV sale, others admitted that a sale was not ruled out. Because of the network's questionable future, president & CEO of CBS TV, Leslie Moonves, was pressured to deliver successful prime-time programming for the 1998-'99 season. With the end of expensive shows such as "Cybill" and "Murphy Brown," Karmazin announced that the fall's lineup was considerably less costly than the previous year's. And, with shows such as "King of Queens" and "L.A. Docs" scheduled for the fall, analysts foresaw the possible restructure of CBS.

In 1999, CBS merged with Viacom. Viacom paid $37 billion in stock for the network, making the combined company the third largest media group in the U.S. Mel Karmazin became the president & COO of Viacom under Chairman Sumner Redstone.

CBS came in first in the 1998-'99 ratings war, but still had a viewing demographic older than the 18-49-year-old group prized by advertisers. Many of its new shows, however, did attract a younger audience.

CBS renewed its contract for men's NCAA basketball, securing the lucrative franchise through 2013.

In the 1999-2000 season, CBS edged out NBC for second place in the ratings war.

CBS was number one in overall ratings for the 2000-2001 season and was ahead in November sweeps for 2001-2002. However, like the rest of the networks, CBS was affected by the September 11th terrorist attacks. Without placing an exact number on advertising losses, Viacom President and COO Mel Karmazin said that the attacks resulted in a "considerable increase in costs at CBS News." He also said the network would lose additional revenue from the cancellation of NFL games, rescheduling the Emmy Awards twice, and the delay of the fall season.

CBS continued to have the oldest demographic of the networks but attracted younger viewers and the all-important advertising dollars that come with them by way of "Survivor," its very popular reality show.

CBS placed second behind NBC in the 2001-02 TV ratings race after winning the rank of top-rated network for the 2000-01 season (barely edging the previous year's winner ABC).

The Tiffany network turned 75 in 2003 and was usually the leader in total viewers. In spite of CBS' reputation, series such as Jerry Bruckheimer's two "CSI" series, "The Amazing Race," and "Cold Case" brought more young viewers, but dependables like "60 Minutes" and "Everybody Loves Raymond" continued to make CBS the most traditional of the broadcast networks. Les Moonves pulled a Ronald Reagan miseries in November after public outcry and a conservative backlash and used repeats of the two "CSI" series and "Without a Trace" to fill the holes.

CBS only launched five new shows for the Fall 2004 Season including "CSI: NY," reflecting their ratings strength during 2004. All of these five benefitted from strong leads, with the exception of the "CSI: NY," brand extension, which faced and did extremely well against "Law & Order" on Wednesday nights. CBS opened the November sweep with a record shattering performance, winning Thursday by its largest margin in viewers, adults 18-49 and adults 25-54 since 1987, according to Nielsen preliminary affiliate-based ratings for Nov. 4.

Also during 2004, CBS' parent, Viacom, Inc., saw the departure of pres. and COO Mel Karmazin and the promotion of CBS chief Les Moonves, to co-pres. and co-COO of Viacom, alongside Tom Freston. Moonves still oversaw the network which continued to deliver solid revenues. At this time Viacom's TV operations included: CBS & UPN television networks and stations; television production and syndication. During the third quarter of 2004, these operations saw revenues increase 5 percent to $2.0 billion from $1.9 billion, and operating income increase 7 percent to $389 million from $362 million. Growth was attributed to advertising revenue increasing by approximately 4 percent. Solid programming, increasing revenues and a stable management team allowed CBS to continue its winning ways with viewers, advertisers and corporate shareholders.

Although lasting longer than many celebrity marriages, the 1999 union of CBS and Viacom amicably ended by 2006. Viacom Chairman and CEO Sumner Redstone initiated in June 2006 a break-up of the company into two separately traded entities to be known as Viacom Inc. and CBS Corporation. Citing the demise of the corporate conglomerate, Redstone introduced the split to unlock value to shareholders, with the new companies split along lines strikingly similar to those before the 1999 merger. The new CBS Corporation included the CBS and UPN networks, the Viacom TV station group (soon renamed CBS TV Stations Group), the Infinity Broadcasting radio unit, Viacom Outdoor, the CBS, Paramount and King World TV production operations as well as Showtime, book publisher Simon & Schuster and Paramount Parks. Post-split, CBS Corporation continued to be run by Leslies Moonves. Company execs forecast the new CBS would generate a strong cash flow and would return capital to stockholders through dividend payments and stock repurchases.

CBS Broadcasting placed first in the 2004-05 TV ratings race and negotiated ad revenues for 2005-2006 from a position of power. CBS Sales President JoAnn Ross indicated CBS would sell just under 80 percent of its total prime-time ad inventory, about the same as for the 2004-2005 season, at cost-per-thousand increases of 4-5 percent. She anticipated the network would take in between $2.5 and $2.6 billion when all ad sales for the season were completed. CBS, fighting for younger viewers after years of being viewed as the network watched by an older audience, made strides in the youth market. It saw more ad dollars targeted to younger viewers in the 2005-2006 season, with agencies pumping ad dollars into shows like the Emmy-winning reality hit "The Amazing Race." Freshman shows already renewed for a full second season in 2006 included "How I Met Your Mother," "Criminal Minds" and "Ghost Whisperer." Among returning staples were "CSI," which had been a runaway hit since its introduction, and its spinoffs "CSI: Miami" and "CSI: NY"; "NCIS"; "The King of Queens," for a sixth season; "Two And A Half Men"; and "Survivor." Altogether, CBS programming strategy lured more viewers to CBS than any of the broadcast networks.

Dan Rather retired his post as evening news anchor after 24 years in the job, and after much speculation about his replacement, CBS secured the services of the ever-popular Katie Couric of NBC "Today Show" fame. She left the peacock network to join CBS in September 2006. According to reports, Couric drew more than 10 million viewers to "CBS Evening News" in her first week. Since then, ratings have fallen behind NBC and ABC, though compared with last year CBS has gained while the others are down. For the week of Oct. 16, Evening News drew 7.6 million viewers; NBC, 8.7 million; ABC, 8.5 million.

On the advertising front, CBS, and all the broadcast networks, faced a negative upfront market for the second straight year. Ad spending was down with clients moving money to other media. Yet, media reports showed CBS escaping the spring upfront market as the leader in overall sales, with $2.4 billion — even with its total last season. The network achieved low single-digit CPM increases.

THE CW

Warner Bros. and CBS Corporation stunned the TV world when it announced in Jan. 2006 it would replace the WB and UPN networks in the fall with a combined network dubbed "The CW." Maybe stunned is too strong a word. Both UPN and the WB had struggled to deliver the kind of results coveted by corporate investors. Joining forces seemed the logical course for CBS Corporation, UPN's owner, and for Time Warner, The WB's parent co. With a 50 percent stake each in the new network, The CW ("C" for CBS and "W" for Warner Bros.) would cull the best programs from its old networks, trim overhead and reinvigorate programming for the 18-34 age group. John Maatta, former COO of the WB, became COO of The CW, and Dawn Ostroff, former UPN chief, became The CW's president of entertainment. The new network hit the airwaves in September 2006 with a lineup of shows that included UPN's "America's Next Top Model," "Veronica Mars," its ever-popular World Wrestling Entertainment's "Smackdown" on Friday nights and WB programs "7th Heaven," "Smallville" and "the Gilmore Girls," among others. The programming strength of the combined networks was a major draw to station owners seeking affiliation with The CW.

Media reports from the spring advertising upfronts, show The CW booking about $650 million in upfront commitments for its inaugural season.

FOX BROADCASTING COMPANY

Fox Broadcasting, a subsidiary of Rupert Murdoch's News Corp. and owner of Twentieth Century Fox, began broadcasting with the late night "Late Show with Joan Rivers" on October 9, 1986. The next year, on April 5, 1987, the fledgling network began prime-time broadcasts on Sunday nights only. The initial line-up consisted of "Married With Children" and "The Tracey Ullman Show," which featured animated interludes of a dysfunctional cartoon family named "The Simpsons." Three new shows were added in the following weeks, including "21 Jump Street," which helped launch the career of actor Johnny Depp. In July of that year, Fox launched a Saturday night prime-time line-up. From 1989 to 1993, the network steadily added programming and expanded its prime time coverage to a full seven nights a week. Originally the network aimed its programming at a young urban demographic. Particular attention was given to African American oriented programming, with comedy series such as "Roc," "Martin," "Living Single" and "In Living Color" (a weekly comedy-variety show which showcased not only the talents of Keenan Ivory Wayans and his brother Damon Wayans, but also comedian Jim Carrey). The youth market got its first soap opera with "Beverly Hills 90210," and its successful spin-off "Melrose Place." Fox consistently programmed "risky" shows, even in the face of boycotts, most notably aimed at "Married With Children" and "Beverly Hills 90210." The network, feeling strong about its programming, slotted "The Simpsons" against NBC's top-rated sitcom "The Cosby Show" in 1991.

The network was also actively pursuing sports programming. In 1993, Fox won the rights to NFL football for four years, including the rights to 1997's Super Bowl XXXI. In 1994, Fox acquired the rights to broadcast NHL hockey and in 1995, Fox signed an agreement with Major League Baseball to broadcast weekly games, the 1996, 1998 and 2000 World Series, and 1997 and 1999 All Star Games.

1994 saw the creation of FX Networks. In June, FX, a general entertainment basic cable network was launched, featuring marquee sports events, series and films. In October, FXM (Movies From Fox) was initiated to show Twentieth Century Fox films unedited and commercial free.

Also in 1994, Fox premiered "The X-Files," a fiction series dedicated to exploring the bizarre, the unusual and the paranormal, all with a slant aimed at conspiracy buffs. It took a season to achieve ratings success, but "The X-Files" became one of the most popular series on Fox and garnered a cult-like following. All of Fox's gutsy programming decisions and experiments paid off. In the 1994-'95 broadcast season Nielsen ratings, Fox finished ahead of pioneer network CBS. Fox beat CBS yet again in November 1995. On October 7, 1996, Fox launched the new Fox News Channel on cable.

With the appointment of Richard Cronin as president and CEO of the Fox Kids Broadcast network and Fox Family Channel, Fox began targeting young viewers with "quirky" programs. In its effort to increase its viewership by attracting young people, Fox hoped to also increase the number of older adults watching along with children. For the 1998-'99 season, Fox moved up its prime-time slot on the Fox Family channel to begin at 6:00 p.m. instead of 8:00 p.m., and introduced four new dramas and two comedies, catering to the age group Fox relied upon to push up its ratings. Fox continued to be the only network showing any real growth. Youth-oriented programming — the recipe for its past success—made up most of the 1999-2000 season. In 2000, Doug Herzog resigned as Fox entertainment president and his duties were assumed by Sandy Grushow. Fox cancelled the aging show "Beverly Hills 90210" for the 2000-2001 season, and pinned its hopes for a successful season on David E. Kelley's "Boston Public" and a slate of new shows aimed at the key 18-35 demographic. It also put a lock on Major League baseball for $2.5 billion, starting with the 2001 season.

News Corp. agreed to buy the Chris-Craft station group by squeezing out UPN. Rupert Murdoch also said that the company would consider a Fox 2 network.

In the 2001 season, Fox placed in the top three, edging out ABC for the first time. Fox TV Chairman, Brian Mulligan, resigned unexpectedly in November. For 2001-2002, Fox continued to cater to its young demographic with returning shows and new programs aimed at hooking the teen and twenty-something audience. Fox also chose to pick up the controversial "Temptation Island" for a second season, drawing unfavorable reviews from media watchdogs and critics alike.

News Corp.'s TV revenue in 2003 was about flat to 2002 coming in at just over $1 billion. Higher profit at Fox's TV stations was offset by a ratings fall by Fox Broadcasting as it struggled to make up for the previous year's hit, "American Idol." The fall baseball series with a potential Red Sox-Cubs matchup and the Yankees, Marlins World Series led to strong ratings. "The Simpsons," "The Bernie Mac Show," "Malcolm In The Middle" and "Wanda At Large" continued to be stalwart performers.

Fox again tried something innovative and in 2004 launched a very ambitious summer schedule: two sitcoms, two dramas and two reality shows. Fox did this to introduce shows and build an audience before October baseball playoffs precluded the traditional September launch followed by all the broadcast nets for new fall shows. In all, Fox launched 15 new programs during the year. Fox headed into the fall with audiences happy with "Method & Red," "North Shore," "Trading Spouses" and "Quintuplets."

On November 12, 2004, Fox parent, News Corporation, completed its reincorporation from Australia to the United States. News Corporation, now a Delaware corporation, is the parent company of the News Corporation group of companies. News Corporation's primary share listing is on the New York Stock Exchange, under the ticker symbols NWS for Class B (Voting) Common Stock and NWS.A for Class A (Non-voting) Common Stock, and the shares trade on a regular-way basis. The News Corporation Limited had total assets as of June 30, 2004, of approximately US$52 billion and total annual revenues of approximately US$20 billion. News Corporation remains a diversified international media and entertainment company.

The network's move into the top three slot in the 2004-2005 season was led by the creative instincts of Fox Entertainment President Gail Berman. At the helm of Fox Ent. since 2000, Berman exited the network in March 2005 over stalled contract negotiations and became president of Paramount Motion Pictures Group. Fox brought in a strong replacement by immediately hiring Peter Liguori, who was pres. & CEO of News Corp.'s FX Networks since 1998. On his watch, Liguori grew cable's FX into one of the top five basic cable networks with critically acclaimed programs like "Nip/Tuck," "The Shield" and "Rescue Me." Liguori stepped into his new position on solid ground. Respectable ratings for such hits as "American Idol," "House" and "24" and in the 2004-2005 season provided the momentum for the network to continue garnering stable ad revenues even when the broadcast networks overall had seen more ad dollars go to cable programming. In the 2005-2006 season advertising upfront sales, Fox said sales would be $1.6 billion, the same as the previous year. Leading its ad revenues, Fox's enormously popular "American Idol" talent show brought in upwards of $700,000 for a 30-second spot — believed to be a new record for a regularly scheduled prime-time show. And the show didn't disappoint — viewers or advertisers. "Idol" regularly won its time slot and helped Fox take first place in the 18-49 age demo.

With The World Series on its programming docket again in Fall 2004, Fox continued to premiere shows off a traditional Fall TV calendar, a strategy it continues today. The network also has been bolstered by acquiring strong sports properties. Its broadcast of Super Bowl XXXIX in Feb. 2005 (New England Patriots 24 / Philadelphia Eagles 21) had the largest total audience in Fox history and the fifth largest in TV history-133.7 million Americans tuned in to the broadcast. The World Series, with the historic Boston Red Sox victory, averaged 25.4 million viewers across its four games, making it the most watched World Series on any network since 1995 and the most watched on Fox ever.

Although both Fox mega hits "American Idol" and a sixth season of real-time drama "24" weren't scheduled to air new seasons until January 2007, Fox Entertainment Pres. Peter Liguori's entertainment team marched into the fall 2006 season with a strong line-up. Animated Sundays on Fox continued with the 18th season of America's favorite dysfunctional family, "The Simpsons," along with "American Dad" and "Family Guy." Liguori joked in the press that the "The Simpsons" would outlast him at the network. So far, both remain firmly entrenched on the Fox landscape.

Remaining programming at the network included liberal doses of grit and reality. Hospital drama "House" received its life line into the 2007 season by continuing to provide a healthy dose of "grit" with life and death cases solved each week by an abrasive yet brilliant doctor whose lack of bedside manner gets overlooked because of his extraordinary life-saving abilities.

The always popular crime and punishment shows also found a home at Fox. Fictional crime/legal dramas "Prison Break," "Standoff," "Bones" and "Justice" provided ample opportunity for viewers to find a favorite in the genre. Tracing the lineage of reality shows may bring you home to Fox. "Cops" entered its 19th season on the air and "America's Most Wanted" also neared the two decade mark and could boast on its website the arrest of more than 900 fugitives as a result of leads generated from the show. Additional reality fare at the net included the successful "Nanny 911," "Skating With The Stars" and "So You Think You Can Dance."

Fox was the first network to finish its upfront advertising deals this spring, and reports show Fox wrote $1.8 billion in business and secured 2%-3% increases on cost per thousand (CPM) pricing, up from last year's $1.55 billion.

i (FORMERLY PAX TV)

August 31st, 1998 marked the debut of PAX TV, the nation's seventh and newest broadcast network committed to airing family-friendly programming that included original live-action series, daily entertainment and information shows, children's programming, as well as popular movies and off-network shows with proven audience appeal. PAX TV is a wholly-owned service of Paxson Communications Corp., a broadcasting company whose principal business is the ownership and operation of the largest broadcast television station group in the United States. Paxson Communications Corp. was an outgrowth of Paxson Broadcasting founded in 1991 by Lowell W. "Bud" Paxson, the co-founder and past president of the Home Shopping Network, Inc., who had been involved in the radio and electronic retailing business for nearly 40 years. Paxson Broadcasting, a Florida-based radio group, initially purchased four radio stations in the fourth quarter of 1991 which were AM/FM combos in Jacksonville and Tampa. Over the course of several years, the Company assembled a substantial statewide radio broadcasting group, and as a result of agreements it had in place on radio stations prior to the 1993 FCC rule change permitting radio duopolies, the Company was among the first to exercise its options and expand its duopoly holdings.

By 1994, the company sought to replicate in television its success in radio. Paxson looked to acquire two types of television properties: underperforming, undermanaged network affiliates and independent stations in major markets which broadcast long-form paid programming. In April, 1994, the company purchased the equipment and acquired an option to buy its first television property, an independent TV station in Miami. Paxson took his company public in November, 1994, through a reverse merger with the American Network Group, Inc., and subsequently moved the new company, Paxson Communications Corp., to the American Stock Exchange. By December of that same year, Paxson had owned or operated four stations, airing a variety of infomercial and long-form programming which by January 1995, became known as the Infomall TV Network ("IN TV"). By purchasing independent television stations, entering into time-brokerage agreements, affiliating with stations and extending its broadcast reach on cable via "must carry" requirements, Paxson created a national television broadcasting distribution infrastructure providing long-form programming.

In March, 1997, the Supreme Court upheld the "must carry" legislation, and as a result, all of the company's broadcast stations were suddenly viable as a network and would remain accessible to cable television audiences. In June 1997, the company sold its entire radio interest to Clear Channel Communications in a tax-advantaged transaction. Also in June, the company acquired The Travel Channel, an interest in which was in turn sold to Discovery Communications, Inc. later that year.

The company announced in November, 1997 that it would launch the seventh broadcast television network, at that time branded as PAX NET, on August 31st the following year. The network would feature off-network runs of popular shows including the CBS hit series, "Touched By An Angel," "Dr. Quinn, Medicine Woman," and "Diagnosis Murder," in addition to a number of original programs and theatrical and made-for-television movies.

Between the November announcement of PAX NET and the August 31st launch of PAX TV, the company acquired additional television stations and expanded its distribution through cable agreements. The company also added popular off-network and original shows, and hired a number of executives and hundreds of new employees. In May, 1998, the company announced the appointment of former CBS president, Jeff Sagansky, to the post of president and CEO and the election of William E. Simon, Jr. to the position of vice chairman for Paxson Communications Corp. Paxson also announced that the Simon family would make an equity investment in the company, and one month later, announced the completion of its offering of $275 million of Preferred Stock.

With PAX TV maintaining positive ratings, Paxson Communications Corp. continued to focus on enhancing the distribution of its network and the quality of PAX TV's programming.

In 1999, NBC bought a 32% stake in Paxson's stations, with an option to acquire control in 2002 for an additional $1.2 billion. Paxson stations, then without any news programming, became a likely candidate to carry NBC news as well as NBC programming in secondary timeslots.

In 2000, Paxson continued to do well with its off-network programming, including "Touched By An Angel," "Dr. Quinn, Medicine Woman" and other family-friendly fare. Paxson reported a 25% increase in viewership in the first three weeks of the 2000-2001 season, and planned to continue with its slate of family-friendly programming augmented with made-for-tv movies.

Pax continued to enjoy growth in 2001, with its 2001-02 season off to a good start, showing a 57% increase in viewership over the previous year.

2002 was not so lucky, however. After NBC completed its acquisition of Telemundo, Paxson sued the network that holds a 32% stake of its company and then lost the subsequent arbitration action. Paxson's viewers also slipped with only one program, "Sue Thomas F.B. Eye" showing growth while its broadcast operations, as a whole, continued to post losses every quarter.

In late 2002, Pax decided to close its Hollywood production and promotion offices, but with its significant station holdings remains on-air, despite its financial problems.

During 2003, Paxson owned and operated 61 broadcast TV stations, which reached all of the top 20 U.S. markets and 41 of the top 50. The company also owned family-oriented Pax Network, which reached roughly 94 million homes through its TV stations and distribution arrangements with cable and satellite systems and broadcast station affiliates. The company continued to struggle with a hefty debt load and ratings challenges at its program network.

Paxson's net revenues for the third quarter of 2004 (ending Sept. 30) increased 2.6% to $65.9 million, compared to $64.2 million for the third quarter of 2003. This increase was primarily due to increased revenues from long form paid programming. Still struggling to reduce debt and stay out of bankruptcy court, Lowell "Bud" Paxson, chairman and CEO, indicated the network continued to search for a program mix more appealing to advertisers. In that vein, Pax TV jumped on the reality series bandwagon and added two reality shows in Fall 2004: "Model Citizens" and "Cold Turkey." It also introduced two games shows, "Balderdash" (hosted by comic Elaine Bosler) and "On the Cover" (hosted by Mark Walberg).

Throughout 2005, Paxson Communications continued to explore ways to lower operating costs and improve financial liquidity. In presentations to investors early in 2005 it identified its strategic alternatives: find a third party to acquire the company or change control; find a partner to program its network and use the company's existing distribution system; sell assets; or consider a combination of these options. In March 2005, Paxson notified its joint sales agreement partners other than NBC Universal, Inc. ("NBC") that it would exercise its right to terminate the JSAs, effective June 30, 2005.

On June 28, 2005, Paxson announced the re-branding of PAX TV to i. The i brand reflects a network programming strategy to provide an independent broadcast platform for producers and syndicators who want to reach a national audience. Chairman and CEO Lowell "Bud" Paxson refuted rumors the network would switch to all long form paid programming and reiterated the network's plans to continue entertainment programming with shows like "Sue Thomas FB Eye," "Young Blades" and "Palmetto Pointe."

From August 2003 through March 2005 the company engaged Citigroup Global Markets Inc. to act as financial advisors to assess Paxson's business plan, capital structure and future capital needs, and to explore strategic alternatives for the company. Because no viable transactions were developed on terms deemed acceptable to shareholders, the engagement with Citigroup ended. The company continued to consider strategic alternatives, which included the sale of all or part of assets, finding a strategic partner to provide the financial resources to enable the company to redeem, restructure or refinance its debt and preferred stock, or find a third party to acquire the company through a merger or other business combination or through a purchase of Paxson equity securities. The company's principal efforts remain focused on improving core business operations and increasing cash flow.

A new logo, a new corporate name and new blood in top management reinvigorated the financially struggling Paxson Communications Corp. during 2006 (now the i network and corporately known as ION Media Networks). The company tapped R. Brandon Burgess to be its new CEO in November 2005, succeeding company founder, Lowell W. Paxson who resigned as chairman & CEO and was named chairman emeritus. Burgess most recently served as executive v.p., business development & international channels for NBC Universal, which is also a stakeholder ION Media Networks. The corporate name change, effective with its board approval in June, was the beginning of healthy change for a company plagued by financial challenges. Burgess and top management never missed opportunities to remind the financial community and virtually anyone who would listen that the i network "is the only broadcaster that reaches over 60 percent of U.S. homes through its own station group and over 83% with additional distribution through its cable and satellite platforms." Why not use i's daily reach of over 91 million U.S. households and its offer to localize content in 40 of the top 50 markets where ION Media Networks owns stations?

Realizing that infomercials and its current programming had not yielded the financial results it needed, change ensued on i's content front. In June 2006 ION announced a programming agreement with Warner Bros. Domestic Cable Distribution, providing ION with the rights to broadcast popular movies and classic TV series from Warner Bros.' extensive library. In July, ION inked a similar programming alliance with Sony Pictures Television ("SPT") and rights to broadcast dozens of classic TV series and a large selection of award-winning feature films from the Sony library. Under the terms of the agreement, ION gained access to many of SPT's most popular TV series from the last three decades, including, "Charlie's Angels," "Starky & Hutch" and "The Partridge Family," among others. In late October, ION further strengthened its content inventory by entering a strategic programming agreement with RHI Entertainment (formerly known as Hallmark Entertainment), for the broadcast of RHI Entertainment's extensive library of award-winning titles and select original programming. Under the terms of the agreement, RHI Entertainment serves as ION's exclusive TV programming supplier on Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights for an initial two-year period beginning July 1, 2007. RHI will plan and program the 7 p.m. to 11 p.m. time periods, totaling 12 hours of programming per week, utilizing its catalog of over 1,200 titles, which have captured 448 Emmy Nominations, 103 Emmy Awards, 15 Golden Globe Awards and numerous Peabody, SAG, Christopher and Genesis Awards. The agreement also provides for the U.S. broadcast premiere of at least six new RHI productions each year. Determined to become a destination for great programming, ION's deal-making during 2006 should yield dividends for the company in 2007. Company President & COO Dean Goodman resigned in late October. Burgess indicated other members of management would assume his duties and no replacement would be sought.

MY NETWORK TV

A network born from necessity, MyNetwork TV came to life after two fledgling networks, UPN and The WB, decided to fold in an announcement made in Jan. 2006. The networks' owners, CBS Corporation and Time Warner, decided to take the best from each network's programming and staff, combine and start over with a new network: The CW. The scramble to affiliate ensued and quickly left several top TV station groups and numerous stations without a network affiliation and primetime programming.

Fortunately for small, newly unaffiliated stations and station groups, Rupert Murdoch's News Corp. TV Stations Group was also one of the groups left without a network affiliation for nine of its 35 properties. Luckier still, Murdoch's organization knows how to launch successful networks. Think Fox. Think Fox News Channel... Think F/X on cable and the National Geographic Channel, among Murdoch's other successful network launches. Think that maybe your station has a few options with Murdoch by your side. By February, News Corp. executives laid out a blueprint for a new broadcast channel/network/service — MyNetwork TV. The network would be anchored by the nine News Corp. stations abandoned by UPN's closing, and would welcome independents and other strong stations whose owners didn't like the terms of The CW affiliation agreement. Financially, many station owners found the MyNetwork TV affiliation terms more attractive than The CW's. The biggest advantages to station owners signing with MyNetwork TV were the absence of programming fees and generous air time for advertising — up to nine minutes of ad time per hour.

At launch, MyNetwork TV could boast coverage on stations covering about 96 percent of the country. Its programming consisted of 12 hours of original content per week, airing between 8 and 10 p.m. It introduced two hour-long dramas, "Desire" and "Fashion House" from co-owned Twentieth Television. The short drama series, in essence primetime soap operas, air five days a week, with Saturday recaps. MyNetwork TV's formula entails running non-stop originals that conclude every 13 weeks with a high-intensity finale and are based on the telenovela format made popular on Spanish-language networks.

With MyNetwork TV's blueprint, its affiliated stations will have fresh programming 52 weeks a year. Shows in development include reality programs "Catwalk," "Celebrity Love Island," "Transformed," and "America's Brainiest," as well as "On Scene," the last a Fox News-produced magazine. MyNetwork TV plans to succeed where UPN and The WB failed by keeping costs down. Telenovelas cost around $100,000-$120,000 per episode, far less than program development costs reported at other U.S. networks: $2.3 million per episode for non-serialized dramas and roughly $1.3 million per episode for sitcoms. Another key to profitability at the network level is MyNetwork TV's use of strip programming. Strips not only can be cheaper to make but also cheaper to market. MyNetwork TV promotes only two shows, not the 15+ a conventional network must promote. Ratings for "Fashion House" and "Desire" have been extremely low since their launch. According to Nielsen Media Research, through October, a little more than a million viewers have tuned in to watch each episode per night. Yet, MyNetwork TV executives remain optimistic and convinced the format will work in the U.S. if given sufficient time.

NBC UNIVERSAL

NBC was an outgrowth of Radio Corp. of America, General Electric and Westinghouse. These three companies jointly launched a network in 1926 with 31 stations, 25 in a network called Red and 6 in a network called Blue. A year later, it was forced to sell the Blue network to ABC, keeping for itself the one known as Red. Television began for NBC in 1928, when on April 4, it acquired from the FCC a permit to operate an experimental station, W2XBS. Actual transmission from the Empire State Building did not begin until October 30, 1931. Eight years later, the network began broadcasting on a regular basis, beginning with the opening of the New York World's Fair on April 30, 1939.

NBC became a TV network on January 12, 1940, when two stations, WNBC-TV, New York, and WRGB-TV, Schenectady, New York, carried the first network programming. In June, 1941, the FCC granted NBC the first commercial TV license and a month later it had four advertisers signed up. After World War II, NBC scored two big "firsts." On June 19, 1946, Gillette became the first advertiser to sponsor a TV network show, the Joe Louis-Vic Conn boxing match. That same year, Bristol-Myers became the first sponsor of a network TV series, "Geographically Speaking." NBC can also claim to be the first to introduce coast-to-coast network TV coverage. On September 4, 1951, when the U.S.-Japanese peace treaty was signed in San Francisco, NBC cameras were on hand. In 1952, NBC pioneered early-morning programming when it introduced "The Today Show." NBC can also claim the first regularly scheduled network color series "The Marriage," launched in 1954. That same year it achieved the first west-to-east TV transmission with the telecast of the Tournament of Roses Parade in color.

At the start of the 1965-66 season, NBC declared it was the "only all-color network." In 1968, NBC introduced new forms of TV programming with "The Name of the Game," a series that incorporated feature-film elements into a 90-minute show. This then spawned the "NBC Mystery Movie."

In 1972, NBC broke new ground again when it introduced "The Tomorrow Show" shown from 1:00 a.m. to 2:00 a.m. This was a talk program and it demonstrated that in the early hours of the morning something more than re-runs and old movies could be shown. In 1974, another late-night show called "Weekend" was begun. The 1976 NBC telecast of "Gone with the Wind" drew the largest audience to that date for an entertainment program. In 1978, "Holocaust" attracted 107 million viewers and won 21 major awards. Such programs helped NBC in the ratings, but in 1976-77 it fell to third place, where it stayed until 1983-84.

Along with the other networks, NBC moved into a period of turmoil during the decade of the 80s, fighting off rising costs and competition from cable TV and home video. In 1986, General Electric Corporation purchased RCA (NBC's parent) for $6.28 billion; GE, it will be remembered, helped launch the radio network in 1926 which led to the development of NBC-TV.

This brought personnel changes led by the replacement of Grant A. Tinker as NBC chief executive officer by Robert Wright, although Wright was not given Tinker's chairman title; that being taken by John F. Welch of GE. Instead, Wright was named president as well as chief executive officer. Along with its competition, NBC started cutting staff and budgets in 1986. In 1984-85, NBC edged up to second place, and the following year it was ranked number one in prime-time viewing for the first time in the three decades of Nielsen ratings.

NBC held on to its first place standing for the following five seasons, through 1990-91. Long-time hit series in the five-year period included "The Golden Girls," "Cheers," and "The Cosby Show." Despite the network's number one standing, figures showed a steady decline in viewers. In May of 1991, Brandon Tartikoff, credited with pulling the network up from third place 11 years earlier, departed from NBC to become head of Paramount Pictures. When "The Cosby Show" ran its final first run episode on April 30, 1992, it became NBC's highest-rated series finale episode ever. The 1992 Summer Olympics also gave the network its widest ratings margin of all time. The 1994-95 season found NBC on top with its popular sitcom "Seinfeld" and the two most highly rated new series, "ER" and "Friends," both placing in the top ten. During the 1995-96 season, NBC was again ranked the number one network, with four of its Thursday night shows ranking in the overall top five. In the summer of 1996, NBC, in association with software giant Microsoft, launched a 24-hour cable and Internet news channel, MSNBC.

In October 1997 the networks adopted an updated "voluntary" ratings system that uses the letters S, V, D, L, SV, which stand for sex, violence, suggestive dialogue, strong language and non-comedic fantasy violence in addition to the age rating. Only NBC and Black Entertainment Television refused to use the new system. Despite pressure from the White House, Congress and advocacy groups, the network had said that the ratings tread on its First Amendment right, and that there was no public outcry for the new system.

With its star show "Seinfeld" going off the air, NBC was faced in 1999 with the seemingly impossible task of finding a replacement. The network did manage to keep "ER," its other highly successful show, albeit at a draining cost of $13 million per episode. Keeping in line with the demand for news television, NBC's Dateline showed 6½ hrs. of programming about Princess Diana and her fatal accident.

In mid-1999, NBC had to ante up again to keep a hit show. The contract for "Friends" was renewed through 2002 at a cost of approximately $5 million per episode. In spite of NBC's attempts to rally after the loss of "Seinfeld," the network slipped to second place behind CBS in 1999. Ratings for its new prime-time shows did not look promising and the network needed another hit of the magnitude of "Seinfeld" to bring "Must See TV" back into American homes.

NBC had a tough year in 1999-2000, coming in third for the season. Perhaps worse than the ratings tumble were the embarrassing numbers during the Sydney Olympics. Various reasons for the poor viewership were cited, including the tape-delay that made it possible to get real-time Olympic results everywhere but NBC. In an effort to boost ratings, NBC executives demanded that Nielsen exclude the first half-hour of the Olympics' prime-time broadcast (7:00-7:30) from its calculations. That gambit did bring up numbers somewhat, but it's unlikely that the same tack will work during the primetime season which, with a few exceptions, looked dry.

In 2001-02, NBC faced the prospect of the Winter Olympics and the effect they would have on ratings. Elsewhere, NBC expanded the successful "Law and Order" franchise to include a third program, "Law and Order: Criminal Intent." Even with longtime hits like the original "Law and Order," "Friends," and "ER," NBC placed third in the 2000-01 ratings war. 2001 also saw the failure of NBC's attempt to become a force on the Internet with its NBC Internet (NBCi) venture. The company bought the 61% of NBCi it didn't already own and folded its operations. NBC now plans to court Hispanic viewers through its agreement to purchase Telemundo for $1.98 billion.

NBC took the top spot over CBS in the 2001-02 season ratings. The network improved its ratings in the 2001-02 season, after placing third in the 2000-01 season.

NBC remained the top network in adults 18-49 with the start of the 2003 fall season, as they have in eight of the last nine years. However, there is some concern about the future. Powerhouse programs "Friends" and "Frasier" ended in 2004 and NBC might have become overly dependent on the "Law & Order" franchise with its spin-offs; "Special Victims Unit" and "Criminal Intent. With a third spinoff on the way and reruns of the other three running nonstop on TNT and USA, it is hard not to think that NBC may be making the same mistake ABC did with "Millionaire." The big financial news of 2003 for NBC happened when parent General Electric Co. announced a deal to acquire the entertainment assets of Vivendi Universal SA, which includes Universal Studios and Universal Television, where Dick Wolf, the "Law & Order" creator is based.

Formed in May 2004 through the combining of NBC and Vivendi Universal Entertainment, NBC Universal is 80%-owned by General Electric, with 20% controlled by Vivendi Universal. The new NBC Universal hoped for the best when filling its 2004 fall lineup. Gone were perennial favorites "Friends" and "Frasier." The network relied heavily on the strength of returning dramas, reality programming and "Friends" spinoff, "Joey," to make it through November sweeps. During Nov. (primetime ratings week of Nov. 8-14) NBC finished a strong number two among adults 18-49 as "Fear Factor," "Las Vegas," "The Biggest Loser," "The West Wing," Friday's "Dateline NBC," "American Dreams" and "Law & Order: Criminal Intent" all set or equaled their season highs in 18-49, according to in-home viewing figures from Nielsen Media Research. Also in 2004, NBC news anchor Tom Brokaw announced he would retire from the network after 38 years on the job.

NBC was caught with the cupboard bare in the 2004-2005 season after losing "Friends," and program fare which included aging program leftovers from seasons past. The once fresh "Will and Grace" saw waning viewer interest as did "ER" and "The West Wing." And new shows did not live up to expectations. "Friends" spin-off "Joey" couldn't match the ratings of its parent, and the program barely got renewed for a second season. A poor showing for other new shows "LAX," "Father of the Pride" and "Hawaii" only added to the troubles which landed NBC in a dismal fourth place — both in total viewers and in the coveted 18-49 age demo — behind CBS, ABC and FOX.

NBC Universal saw its revenue fall 26 percent from a year earlier, when it benefited from advertising from the summer Olympics in Athens. Going into advertising upfront sales in mid-2005, NBC sales execs braced themselves for a tough sell. NBC Universal parent, General Electric, forecast earnings at NBC Universal to be flat in 2006, hurt by soft ratings from its network prime-time TV line-up. To secure commitments from major advertisers for the Fall season, NBC found itself cutting prices by at least 2% and in some cases more. The industry forecast advertisers would shift between $500 million and $700 million away from NBC in the 2005-2006 season, slashing its ad take to $2.2 billion. NBC Universal Television Group President Jeff Zucker acknowledged a long climb ahead. Yet, NBC's new programming, with the promising hit "My Name Is Earl," along with "Surface" and "Three Wishes" wasn't likely to fuel the kind of surprise revival ABC experienced last season with "Desperate Housewives," "Lost" and "Grey's Anatomy."

After seeing operating profit fall 10 percent in each of the past three quarters, NBC Universal announced in October 2006 plans to cut costs at the network by $750 million by the end of 2007. NBC Universal's parent, General Electric, saw the TV unit's slumping results dip into GE earnings. Network cuts will take the form of a 5 percent staff reduction, a reduction of scripted shows and a move toward cheaper reality programming and substantial cuts to its news budget.

Despite financial woes at the peacock network, NBC's early fall ratings illuminated a couple shining stars. "Heroes" was a big hit on Monday nights. Tuning in to the recent popularity of movies based on comic book heroes, NBC's "Heroes" showcases characters with super powers, a formula successful in attracting coveted viewers in the 18-49 demo. Through mid-October, "Heroes" pulled in about 13.5 million viewers a week. Another "new" hit show bolstering the network is Sunday Night Football. The fall telecast, which aired on ESPN last year and which delivered to NBC an average of 17.7 million viewers, made the prime-time football telecast the sixth most-watched show. NBC finished even in the ad upfronts with $1.9 billion, but to get there had to slash cost per thousand about 5% and increase volume. Thanks to Sunday Night Football, NBC got a much-needed cash infusion taking in between $200 and $300 million in the upfronts for the sports franchise. Viewers should stay tuned to see how $750 million in cuts will affect the quality of shows airing on NBC throughout the year.

PUBLIC BROADCASTING SERVICE

In 1948, the FCC stopped issuing new television station licenses. American educators, fearful of the impact of unrestricted commercial broadcasting, pushed for the Commission to hold open channel slots for non-commercial, educational television broadcasts. In 1952, when the FCC freeze was lifted, 242 channels were reserved for educational television. America's first non-commercial educational television station was KUHT in Houston, started in 1953.

By 1962, 75 educational stations were broadcasting around the country. As these stations shared roughly the same programming interests, a loose distribution network evolved, allowing locally-produced programs like "Children's Corner" to be circulated among these stations. Most of the programming was produced on a shoestring budget. In 1962, the federal government authorized $32 million in matching funds for the construction of new educational television broadcasting facilities. In 1967, a blue ribbon panel urged local and state governments to increase their financial support of "public television" and recommended that the federal government participate in the production of programming. To this end, the first Public Broadcasting Act was passed. This law also created the Corporation for Public Broadcasting, a non-profit "steward" of the public funds committed to public broadcasting, and, not incidentally, a barrier against government interference in programming decisions.

In 1969, the Public Broadcasting Service's charter was signed, with its main intent the establishment of a nationwide program distribution service. 1969 saw the premiere of an hour-long, daily children's variety show, called "Sesame Street," which targeted pre-schoolers with fast-paced educational programming and featured live performers, cartoons and Muppets developed exclusively for the show by Jim Henson.

In 1970, PBS' first year as a "network," its programming included series as widely varied as "Washington Week in Review," "Civilisation," "The French Chef" and "Soul!" By 1973, PBS had more than 1 million individual subscribers. PBS and its member stations were responsible for bringing to U.S. audiences critically acclaimed BBC programming under the flag of "Masterpiece Theatre," which included such classics of television as "Upstairs Downstairs" and "I, Claudius." In 1976, PBS began broadcasting closed-captioned programming for the hearing impaired. In 1978, PBS became the first American network to distribute its programs by satellite.

Although some portion of PBS and its member stations' budgets are provided by federal and state government funding and corporate gifts, PBS and its member stations have continued to rely upon the contributions of individual viewers to stay afloat. In the late 1980s and early 1990s, PBS and the CPB suffered an enormous amount of criticism by government officials for an alleged "liberal" bias, and later in the 90s, for not being "self-sufficient." Although a notable few PBS series have achieved some financial success in other areas (primarily children's programming in the home video and product licensing fields), it is important to note that the production of most of the all-important local educational and public affairs programming never breaks even. In the face of continuing cuts in government funding, PBS programmers have accepted what may have been inevitable, the inclusion of commercial sponsorship (and actual commercials) in programming.

In the wake of the government threat of fund cuts, PBS increased its effort to achieve financial independence. In 1997, PBS president Ervin Duggan announced that the network would use its recognizable brand to market products and services, such as educational videos and distance-learning programs. With this approach as well as using the internet to sell its products and investing in new programming, PBS had a total revenue for the 1997 fiscal year of $239 million, $15 million more than its target.

PBS got caught in a scandal in 1999 involving the sharing of its donor lists with partisan political groups. The GOP complained about the practice, which primarily involved list-sharing with the Democratic Party. PBS admitted that it called into question the independence and impartiality of the public network.

In 1999, Frank Cruz was appointed Chairman of the Corporation for Public Broadcasting.

PBS continues to be a target of Republicans who are opposed to government funding of educational, informational, and cultural programming. Nonetheless, CPB's funding has been approved at $340 million for 2001, $350 million for 2002, and $365 million for 2003.

PBS' operating revenue grew from $262 million in 1998 to approximately $324 million during 2003, largely from non-member revenue sources. This revenue growth has enabled PBS to invest more in three key areas: national programming, advertising and promotion, and PBS.org. Interestingly, PBS.org is the most visited dot-org Web site in the world, and the home of comprehensive companion Web sites for more than 500 PBS television programs and specials. The National Programming Service provided by PBS is the major package of programs PBS distributes to its member stations. It features children's, cultural, educational, history, nature, news, public affairs, science and skills programs. In a survey completed in Jan. 2004 by non-partisan, international research company RoperASW, the American public called PBS the most trusted institution on a list of nationally known organizations in the country and the best use of tax dollars, second only to military defense. The opinion study, which included 1,000 randomly selected participants across the country, also found Americans are more satisfied with programming on PBS compared with commercial broadcasting or cable networks and consider PBS news and public affairs series the most trustworthy. PBS plans to conduct this survey annually to keep a pulse on its perceived performance with the viewing public.

On the heels of this positive report, Pres. and CEO Pat Mitchell testified before the House Appropriations Committee during the year to underscore how PBS uses its federal funding to educate and enrich American lives. During her testimony she highlighted PBS's early education, "Ready To Learn" service through local stations, in which PBS distributes over one million free books and sponsors literacy workshops for 900,000 caregivers and 7.4 million children. PBS has even found support in a Republican White House, with First Lady Laura Bush serving as honorary chairwoman of PBS' initiative to build children's literacy skills. The struggle to maintain public funding levels remains constant, although Mitchell cited an uptick in corporate sponsorships. By the end of 2003, PBS had 11 new underwriters all above the $1 million mark and three or four above $2.5 million. PBS also forged ahead with digital delivery of its programming signal. In 2004, PBS reaches 80 percent of the country via digital signal.

A PBS staple, "Clifford the Big Red Dog," visited Capitol Hill in 2005. Clifford's host on the Hill was Representative Nita Lowey, Democrat of New York. She and other PBS advocates were "barking" about a proposed $100 million cut in the GOP-led House's budget, which some believe was meant to punish public television for a perceived liberal bias. At the center of this discussion were proposed cuts to the Corporation for Public Broadcasting (CPB), which oversees the Public Broadcasting Service. Ultimately, the House restored the $100 million and the CPB appointed long-time Republican loyalist, and former Republican National Committee Chairman Pat Harrison for its president. Whether this has a chilling effect on what content makes the public TV airwaves will likely be debated for months and years to come.

The issue about programming content has already had a chilling effect on the PBS organization itself. The NY Times reported: "Late last year, when she heard that the PBS children's series 'Postcards From Buster' would include an episode with a lesbian couple, Education Secretary Margaret Spellings asked the network to yank the episode. PBS supporters and gay rights advocates cried foul, noting that the couple was on screen for mere moments; conservative critics said Spellings had shown that PBS has a liberal agenda and called for a boycott."

PBS did not distribute the episode to its PBS affiliates and the incident ultimately led Patricia Mitchell to resign as PBS president at the end of her contract in June 2006. Under Mitchell's leadership, prime-time ratings rose to the highest ever in its 36 year history and PBS stations extended their reach for digital broadcasting to over 89 percent of the country. Mitchell also added diversity to the schedule, including the "American Family," an Emmy-nominated series featuring a Latino family, and "American Mystery!" a special featuring Indians living in the Southwest. Mitchell's work has been recognized with 37 Emmys and five Peabody Awards and she received two Academy Award nominations. Most recently, she received the Sandra Day O'Connor Award for Leadership. Her leadership award is not surprising. She has run PBS efficiently: only 4% of PBS's annual budget goes to management and general expenses, with 75% of total revenues going to noncommercial programming and promotions.

Perhaps a healthy result of appropriate "content" discussions is the creation of an ombudsman post at PBS. Following a nationwide search, PBS has appointed veteran journalist Michael Getler as Ombudsman. As an independent internal critic, Getler will seek to ensure that PBS upholds its own rigorous standards of journalistic ethics for both online and on-air content. His reports and commentary will be published on pbs.org. Getler was previously The Washington Post's Ombudsman. He has complete authority to determine what issues are examined and full independence in assessing them. The decision to appoint an Ombudsman, first considered by PBS management more than one year ago, was fully supported by the panel of expert journalists PBS convened in February to review the organization's Editorial Standards and Policies.

PBS continues to be a private, nonprofit media enterprise that serves the nation's 348 public noncommercial television stations, reaching nearly 90 million people each week. It brings diverse viewpoints to television and the Internet and provides high-quality documentary and dramatic entertainment.

Paula Kerger joined the Public Broadcasting Service (PBS) as its sixth president and chief executive officer in March 2006. Kerger came to PBS from the Educational Broadcasting Corporation (EBC), the parent company of Thirteen/WNET and WLIW New York-two of the nation's largest public television stations; where since 2004 she was the executive v.p. & COO and a member of the office of the president, a position carrying both internal and external responsibilities.

First up for Kerger and her team: an aggressive health programming initiative targeting America's greatest health challenges. In Jan. 2007 special primetime PBS programs began addressing four urgent health issues which threaten the lives of millions of people: heart disease, obesity, cancer and depression. The PBS Health Initiative was designed as a wake-up call for action, offering programs that cut through the clutter of medical information to provide realistic and concrete guidance on how individuals and families can take control of their health. These 90-minute programs entail compelling stories of individuals and families facing these medical conditions, providing insight into the latest groundbreaking medical research to provide a full picture of the complex physiological, psychological and social factors that are driving the alarming prevalence of heart disease and obesity in America. Each special has a follow-up half-hour program with medical experts to answer questions from a studio audience and to provide specific strategies for prevention and treatment. An extensive Web component will be available to direct viewers to information and resources that provide help and support.

On the technology front, PBS announced in late October PBS content would be available on the iTunes Store — www.itunes.com. PBS joined the growing list of broadcasters making programming available for download to mobile media.

SPE Television International has formed or invested in over 40 international networks in more than 100 countries reaching more than 240 million viewers worldwide. SPE also produces local language programming and sells SPE owned formats in approximately 25 countries around the world. SPTI's international channels include:

SET Latin America: 24-hour general entertainment network in Latin America, launched September 1995

SET India: Hindi general entertainment network launched October 1995

SET Max: a Hindi movie/cricket/events channel launched in January 2000

AXN: 24-hour-a-day action adventure channel. AXN networks were launched in Asian region and India (September 1997 and Fall 1998 respectively); in Japan (July 1998); in Spain (November 1998); in Latin America (August 1999); in Israel (November 2000); in Portugal (December 2002); in Central Europe (October 2003), Germany (November 2002) and in Korea (July 2005)

ANIMAX: Animax Japan is SPE's first network branded and dedicated to popular Japanese animation, launched in June 1998. Animax Asia was launched in January 2004 and is broadcast region-wide from Singapore via three dedicated, highly customized services for Taiwan, Hong Kong and Southeast Asia. Animax India is scheduled to launch in July 2004 and will be South Asia's first and only 24-hour-a-day network dedicated to popular animation from Japan

Other International Channel Investments:

Europe: HBO Poland; HBO Hungary; HBO Czech/TV Max; HBO Romania; HBO Bulgaria; CineNova (Benelux) and Spektrum

Asia/Pacific: HBO Asia/Cinemax; TV1 entertainment channel (Australia); Premium Movie Partnership (Australia) and HBO India

Latin America: HBO Ole/Cinemax; HBO Brasil/Cinemax; El Entertainment

Martin J. Quigley

And The Glory Days Of American Film 1915-1965

Available now.
A must-read
for anyone interested in the early days
of the U.S.
film industry!

Martin J. Quigley's life included the people who built the film industry — people like Barney Balaban, Cecil B. De Mille, Adolph Zukor, Louis B. Mayer, Marcus Loew, Darryl F. Zanuck, Samuel Goldwyn, Spyros Skouras, Irving Thalberg, Harry Cohn, Howard Hughes and Jack and Harry Warner. Quigley was intimate friends and a trusted confidant to all these early moguls. For 25 years the author had the privilege — not often had by a son — of being able to observe the day-to-day business and professional activities of his father. Included are an historical overview of the film business, 40 pages of rarely seen photographs, a history of the origin of motion pictures, the full text of the Production Code co-authored by Quigley (and the forerunner to today's film rating system) and a complete index of people, films and critical issues to the business and art of motion pictures as seen through the life of Martin J. Quigley.

CBC/Radio-Canada is Canada's national public broadcaster and one of its largest cultural institutions. CBC/Radio-Canada reaches Canadians through eight national radio and television networks, its full-service web sites, local/regional stations and affiliates, as well as the digital television channel Country Canada, and the continuous music network Galaxie. In addition, CBC/Radio-Canada has forged partnerships with other broadcasters and is a partner in the specialty television service ARTV. Through this array of activities, CBC/Radio-Canada brings diverse regional and cultural perspectives into the daily lives of Canadians in English, French and eight aboriginal languages.

DIRECTOR

Jim Millen

The Canadian Audio-Visual Certification Office (CAVCO) and the Canada Revenue Agency (CRA) jointly administer the Canadian Film or Video Production Tax Credit (FTC) and the Film or Video Production Services Tax Credit (PSTC).

The FTC is a refundable tax credit available at a rate of 25% of qualified labour expenditures. Labour expenditures qualifying for the credit may not exceed 48% of production cost at the end of the year, net of assistance, for productions with a commencement time before November 14, 2003, and 60% if the commencement time is on or after that date (there's an election period; to know more about it you can call CAVCO at their toll-free number above). The FTC is available to prescribed taxable Canadian corporations whose activities throughout the year consist primarily of conducting a Canadian film or video production business through a permanent establishment in Canada. CAVCO's role under the FTC program is to certify that a production is a Canadian film or video production and to issue certificates (Part and Part B) so that Canadian producers can claim the FTC. CRA's role is to help applicants, interpret legislative provisions affecting the FTC, review/audit FTC claims, assess corporation income tax returns, and issue timely refund cheques.

The PSTC is a refundable tax credit provided at the rate of 16% (11% before February 19, 2003) of qualified Canadian labour expenditures, net of any assistance, in respect of an accredited production for services rendered in Canada by Canadian residents. There is no cap on the amount of PSTC that can be claimed, and it is available to corporations whose activities throughout the year consist primarily of conducting a film or video production business or a film or video production services business through a permanent establishment in Canada. CAVCO's role under the PSTC program is to determine the eligibility of the production and to issue an Accredited Film or Video Production Certificate on behalf of the Minister of Canadian Heritage. CRA's role is to help applicants, interpret legislative provisions affecting the PSTC, review/audit PSTC claims, assess corporation income tax returns and issue timely refund cheques.

EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR
Alan Brooks

The Alberta Motion Picture Industries Association (AMPIA) is a non-profit professional service association serving the independent motion picture production community in the province of Alberta. AMPIA was founded in 1973 with the single aim of furthering the independent motion picture industry as a viable economic and cultural force within the province.

Historically, AMPIA has been recognized and called upon to serve as a voice for the Alberta film and video industries. In 1994 the Association strengthened this voice by expanding its membership to include a broader base of industry professionals within its voting membership. Likewise, the organization expanded the size and scope of the AMPIA Board of Directors to reflect the various sectors of this dynamic industry.

A monthly newsletter, Keep It Rolling, goes out to more than 500 people in the film industry, both members and non-members of AMPIA. Other Association activities include industry advocacy, professional development and information services.

The CCA is Canada's oldest and largest arts advocacy organization and artists network. A national, non-governmental, non-profit association, it endeavours to strengthen public and private support to the arts and enhance the awareness of the role and value of the arts through communication, information, research, promotion and consultation activities. As part of its information program, the CCA publishes various bilingual policy papers and reports on the arts, as well as a handbook — The Directory of the Arts — a selective guide to federal and provincial departments, agencies and people with responsibility for arts and culture and a guide to more than 150 national associations, service organizations and unions in the fields of broadcasting, copyright, crafts, dance, education, film, heritage, music, publishing, recording, theatre, visual arts and writing. The Directory, which is updated bi-annually, also features a listing of provincial arts associations across Canada. The CCA also publishes BLIZZART, a quarterly newsletter on current arts issues.

The Canadian Picture Pioneers was formed in 1940 as an organization dedicated to the welfare of all men and women of the motion picture industry. It has grown to its present-day strength of over 900 members in six branches across the country. Original membership requirements called for 25 years of service in the industry. This period of service has now been reduced to 15 years. Anyone qualifies for membership — doorman, cashier, caretaker, manager, projectionist, booker, etc. Its Trust Fund helps members of the film industry by, for example, frequently paying additional costs not covered by a health insurance plan and providing for wheelchairs and special treatments.

Aims & Objectives

To create and promote friendly relations among those who have been or are engaged in or connected with the motion picture industry.

To create and promote friendly relations and understanding between the public and those engaged in or connected with the motion picture industry.

To aid those in need who were formerly in the motion picture industry without requiring repayment of any kind from the recipient.

Pioneer of the Year Award - In 1952 the Canadian Picture Pioneers marked the Golden Anniversary of the Silver Screen in Canada, dating it from the establishment of the first successful motion picture theatre - the Electric of John Schulberg on Cordova Street, Vancouver, which he opened in the fall of 1902. At the celebration banquet, held in the Royal York Hotel, Toronto, Schulberg, Jule Allen of Toronto, George Ganetakos of Montréal, A.J. Mason of Springhill, Nova Scotia, Léo-Ernest Quimet of Montréal and Fred G. Spencer of Saint John, New Brunswick, were honoured as pre-1910 pioneers who had done the most to advance the motion picture as a popular form of entertainment in its early days.

The next year, the Pioneer of the Year Award was inaugurated.
The most recent appointees were:
2005 — Karen Davis
2004 — Allen Karp
2003 — Sandra Stewart

The Independent Media Arts Alliance (IMAA) was formed in 1980 to provide a forum for the exchange of information and ideas, and for the purpose of lobbying around issues of common interest to independent film and video makers, exhibitors, and distributors across Canada. With 80 member-groups, the Alliance represents over 10,000 media artists. The Alliance holds its Annual General Meeting and its Showcase in a different province each year. It is a unique opportunity for the public to screen the films and videos from the Alliance membership.

L'Alliance des Arts Médiaques Indépendants (AAMI) a été fondée en 1980 dans le but de fournir une structure permettant des échanges d'idées et d'informations et ayant des activités de lobbying sur les sujets qui touchent les différents domaines du secteur de la vidéo et du cinéma indépendants. L'Alliance est une association nationale réunissant 80 groupes impliqués dans la production, la distribution et la présentation de vidéos et de films indépendants. Elle représente plus de 10,000 personnes.

L'Alliance tient son assemblée générale ainsi que ses Rencontres annuelles dans une province différente à chaque année. À cette occasion, la production des groupes membres de l'Alliance est mise à l'honneur dans le cadre de projections publiques.

A national non-profit association for theatre owners whose purpose is to:

- maintain a national trade association of motion picture theatre exhibitors, consisting of owners, operators, executives and managers;
- forward and promote the general welfare and prosperity of motion picture exhibitors;
- gather, receive and disseminate such information as may seem helpful to members and associated organizations; to interchange ideas in rendering mutual assistance and to provide helpful vocational advice and guidance, and in general to act as a group representing national interests.

The Association's head office is in Toronto, and each province has its own organization.

ShowCanada

The Association's annual convention and trade show is held at a different location in Canada each year, and member provinces take turns hosting the three-day event. Four hundred delegates participate in the seminars and social activities, which include screenings of new products. In 2007 the convention will be held in Niagara Falls, April 25-29. Visit www.showcanada.ca for details.

ShowCanada Showmanship Awards

The Showmanship Awards, presented at a ceremony during each convention, were devised to encourage managers to create promotions around film product and special showings. The current five categories for theatre-level personnel are:

- The Blockbuster Film Award - for studio-initiated films with massive merchandising and promotional components
- Showmanship Award - for a film-specific campaign which has been developed by a theatre manager or circuit
- Audience Development Award - for programs focusing on community service and audience development
- Concessions Award - for the best snack promotion
- Promotions of Canadian Film, French and English

The Quickdraw Animation Society (QAS) is a non-profit, artist-run film co-op in Calgary. It is the only animation resource centre in Alberta, offering the use of production equipment, personnel, film, video and text resources. Its first objective is the production of new and innovative personal animation by independent filmmakers. QAS offers beginner animation classes as well as workshops and seminars on specific aspects of frame-by-frame filmmaking so that artists can adapt their previous discipline to animation.

The second objective is to build appreciation for all types of animation. QAS provides a variety of activities for the general public, including presentations, lectures and children's animation classes. QAS also serves as a unique source of information and resources, including videotapes, books, magazines, newsletters and personnel. QAS is there for both members and non-members to promote and encourage this unique type of filmmaking.

OFFICE OF COMMUNICATIONS (OFCOM)

OFCOM was designed to be a 'super regulator', required in an age where many media platforms are converging. OFCOM was initially established in the Office of Communications Act 2002 [1], but received its full authority from the Communications Act 2003. On December 29, 2003, OFCOM inherited the duties that had previously been the responsibility of five regulatory bodies: The Broadcasting Standards Commission The Independent Television Commission The Office of Telecommunications (OfTel) The Radio Authority The Radiocommunications Agency

SATELLITE AND CABLE SYSTEMS OPERATORS

British television broadcasting has a range of different broadcasters, broadcasting multiple channels over a variety of distribution media. Before the advent of digital television in the UK, five main television channels dominated (BBC, ITV, Channel 4, Five, S4C and Teletext) British television. With the increasing popularity of digital television, all are expanding and offering a portfolio of digital-only channels to viewers. Starting in 2008 and ending in 2012, television services in the UK will go completely digital, region by region. Digital UK is the independent, not for profit, organization set up by the broadcasters to lead the UK's switch to digital television.
