BMI[®] introduces new digital service: Electronic Music Reporting (EMR)

Below you will find answers to frequently asked questions regarding one of BMI's most popular digital services, Electronic Music Reporting (EMR). This new digital service will save you time and money.

What is EMR?

BMI's Electronic Music Reporting (EMR) system removes the conversion from electronic information to printed reports at the radio station, and then from printed reports back to electronic information at BMI for purposes of music identification and royalty distribution.

What do I need to report electronically?

- Radio stations must have the ability to generate an electronic playlist.
- BMI will provide you with the location of the interface, as well as an access code, when you receive the request to report.

How do I use the EMR system?

Once you have received your music logging request package from BMI:

1. Generate your electronic playlist.
2. Visit: emr.bmi.com/
3. Provide any summary information required on the page.
4. Attach your electronic playlist to the page and click the submit button.

How does BMI's EMR system benefit radio stations?

BMI's EMR is available through the Internet 24 hours a day, seven days a week. The EMR system also provides a more efficient alternative for submitting the critical playlist information that forms the foundation for insuring that BMI songwriters and publishers are fairly and accurately compensated for performances of their music.

For additional information or for any questions that you may have, please contact your BMI representative at 800-258-5813. Once you have received your logging request package please go to: emr.bmi.com/

Does EMR change BMI's current sampling system or distribution methodology?

No. BMI's EMR provides a more efficient alternative to submitting printed playlists. All of the safeguards that have been established to insure the integrity of the BMI sampling and distribution systems remain fully intact.

Stations that have changed their call letters since January 1, 1997 are listed by their previous call letters and city followed by their current call letters. Only the most recent call letter change for each is listed.

65 Stations

Tracking radio stations in Canada is more difficult than in the United States. Two regulatory agencies, the Canadian Radio Television Commission (CRTC) and the Department of Communication (DOC), rather than one (the FCC) make it hard to follow technical and legal changes. There are multiple stations with the same call letters and low power chains of stations licensed to communities in the remote territories. All of this makes Canada a challenge for us. We do our best, but be patient with us. Errors and omissions are unavoidable.

Unlike our listings for the U.S., we don't try to list every Canadian station. We list all major commercial and CBC as well as campus and significant community stations. In addition, we list larger rebroadcasting facilities, which are always noted under the format with the call letters and frequency of the station they repeat. If the rebroadcaster has an office of its own, we list its contact information. If it does not have an office of its own, only the owner and the originating station's phone number are listed.

We have included personnel listings for primary commercial stations and as many CBC stations as would cooperate. For more information on the format descriptions for each station, see the FORMAT CLASSIFICATIONS section in the front of the book.

If you have an update, addition, or correction to our data, we would love to hear from you. You can fax us at 603-444-2872 or phone us at 603-444-5720.
