KANSAS

Population 2,178,611 (U. S. Census, 1960)
(July 1, 1968 estimate, $2,308,000)

State Capital, TOPEKA

Kansas is bounded on the north by Nebraska, east by Missouri, south by Oklahoma, and west by Colorado and is in almost the exact geographical center of the United States mainland. Its breadth from east to west is 410 miles, and from north to south, 207 miles. Its total area is 82,108 square miles.

Topography of Kansas is widely varied ranging from 686 feet above sea level to 4,135 feet near the Colorado border in a combination of hills, valleys and plains. The Flint Hills area and the Smoky Hills Upland are two of the fine grazing areas in the United States. There are about 50,000 streams large enough to be named and about 90 man-made reservoirs and lakes ranging up to 6,600 acres in size. The climate is warm in summer and severe in winter. The extremes are constantly modified by the winds. The Weather Bureau at Wichita gives the temperature (annual monthly mean) as 56.6; highest on record, 114; lowest on record, -22. Total annual precipitation is 30.26 inches.

The livestock market, and meat-packing industry, at Kansas City, Kansas, is the second largest in the world, being exceeded only by that of Chicago, Illinois. Kansas is one of the greatest cattle producing states in the Union, and nearly half the cattle received at its stockyards come from the state. It produces as much as half the nation's supply of hard winter wheat some seasons. There are 46 colleges including two state universities: University of Kansas at Lawrence, State College of Agriculture at Manhattan.

POPULATION

Rank among the states (1960), twenty-eighth. Urban population in 1960, 61.0%. Of the 2,178,611 total population, 2,078,666 were white; 99,945 were non-white. Please note that population figures for the U. S. are from 1960 Census, unless otherwise specified. Figures preceded by (x) indicate they were obtained from Rand McNally, and are estimated.

KENTUCKY

Population 3,088,156 (U. S. Census 1960)

(July 1, 1968 estimate, 3,229,000)

State Capital, FRANKFORT

Kentucky is bounded on the north by Ohio and Indiana, northwest by Illinois, east by West Virginia and Virginia, south by Tennessee and west by Missouri. Its greatest breadth from east to west is 409 miles; greatest length, 178 miles; land area, 39,864 square miles.

The Appalachian Mountains cross the eastern end of the state and many hills dot the rich and fertile tablelands. Northwest of this section, and in the center of the state, is the famous and productive blue grass region, with a gently undulating upland surface and deep valleys at the rivers. Between the Green and Cumberland Rivers the surface is level and known as the "Barrens," from the scarcity of heavy timber. The western part is generally level, with slight undulations. The soil of the whole state is remarkably fertile; that part between Lexington and the Ohio River is known as the "Garden of Kentucky." More than 800 miles of Kentucky soil borders on the Ohio and Mississippi Rivers, and there are other navigable rivers in the state. The Weather Bureau at Louisville gives the temperature (annual monthly mean) as 57.0; highest on record, 107; lowest on record, —20. Total annual precipitation is 42.49 inches.

Kentucky has long been famed for its horses, its thoroughbreds being excelled nowhere. It is especially noted, too, for its underground passages and caves. Most celebrated of these is Mammoth Cave, which has about 160 miles of connecting passages. It is now a National Park. The largest of the state's many institutions of higher education is the University of Kentucky, located in Lexington. The University of Louisville, in Louisville, is the oldest municipal university in the United States.

POPULATION

Rank among the states (1960), twenty-second. Urban population in 1960, 44.5%. Of the 3,088,156 total population, 2,820,083 were white; 218,073 were non-white. Please note that population figures for the U. S. are from 1960 Census, unless otherwise specified. Figures preceded by (x) indicate they were obtained from Rand McNally, and are estimated.

AGRICULTURE

Number of farms (1964), 133,038. Farm acreage, 16,265,180. Average acreage per farm, 122.3. Average value per farm, $22,422. Farms selling products over $10,000 in value, 12,968.

Cash receipts from farm marketings (1967) crops, $385,662,000; livestock and products (includes meat animals, dairy products, poultry and eggs), $377,804,000.

Value of sales of chief crops (1967): tobacco (value of production), $280,406,000, rank, second; corn, $42,273,000; soybeans, $26,051,000; wheat, $9,414,000; hay, $6,400,000; popcorn (value of production), $1,327,000; lespedeza seed, $882,000, rank, first; barley, $330,000; potatoes, $326,000; red clover seed, $215,000; rye, $168,000; sorghum grain, $155,000; oats, $114,000.

Value of sales of fruits (noncitrus) (1967): apples, $962,000; peaches, $724,000; strawberries (value of production), $667,000.

LOUISIANA

Population 3,257,022 (U. S. Census, 1960)

(July 1, 1968 estimate, 3,732,000)

State Capital, BATON ROUGE

Louisiana is bounded on the north by Arkansas and Mississippi, east by Mississippi and the Gulf of Mexico, south by the Gulf of Mexico, and west by Texas. Its extreme breadth from east to west is about 300 miles; length, 240 miles; total land area, 45,162 square miles.

The surface is generally low and level. There are low hills in the north and northwest, from which the land slopes gradually to the Mississippi and the Gulf. Much of the land along the river is below the water level during the spring freshets, and is protected from overflow by levees, which are built on both banks below Baton Rouge, and on the west bank, throughout the state. Many of the principal rivers and bayous are protected in like manner so that but a small portion of the land is subject to overflow. The soil of the river bottoms is exceedingly fertile and is almost entirely silt brought down by the Mississippi River. It yields large crops of cotton, sugar cane and rice. The prairies are productive and afford good pasture in places. The hilly section yields good cotton crops, but about half is covered with pine barrens. The climate is semi-tropical, very warm and moist in summer with little cold weather in winter. The Weather Bureau at New Orleans gives the temperature (annual monthly mean) as 69.6; highest on record, 102; lowest on record, 7. Total annual precipitation averages more than 56 inches.

On account of the great extent of navigable waters, of which the state has 4,800 miles, and the network of railroads penetrating every part of the state, the products of Louisiana's fields, mines, factories and fisheries are readily and rapidly moved, and none of the state's resources need be neglected for lack of transportation facilities. New Orleans is the leading city and an important port. This city is famous as a winter resort and has many historical attractions as well as picturesque. Tulane University is located in New Orleans. Louisiana State University, Baton Rouge, is the state's largest institution of higher learning.

POPULATION

Rank among the states (1960), twentieth. Urban population in 1960, 63.3%. Of the 3,257,022 total population, 2,211,715 were white; 1,045,307 were non-white. Please note that population figures for the U. S. are from 1960 Census, unless otherwise specified. Figures preceded by (X) indicate they were obtained from Rand McNally, and are estimated.

MAINE

Population 969,265 (U. S. Census, 1960)
(July 1, 1968 estimate, 979,000)

State Capital, AUGUSTA

Maine, largest of the New England states, is bounded on the north by Quebec and New Brunswick, Canada, east by New Brunswick, south by the Atlantic Ocean, and west by New Hampshire and Quebec. Its extreme length is 301 miles; its width varies greatly because of the many shore indentations. The total land area is 31,040 square miles.

The northern part is mainly a wilderness of forest land with coniferous trees and mountainous elevation, thinly peopled, except in the fertile tracts of Aroostook county. In the northeast, on the St. John River, are several French Canadian settlements. The southern part is varied, the surface seldom much broken. It has tracts of great fertility, and others, especially in the southeast, that are only moderately productive. The climate is cold in winter; mild in summer. The Weather Bureau at Eastport gives the temperature (annual monthly mean) as 41.8; highest degree on record, 93; lowest, —23. Total annual precipitation is 43.24 inches.

Maine is a fishing, hunting and summer resort of great popularity. Portland, the chief port, has a large steamer tourist traffic in addition to its extensive trade in freight. The state has about 1,300 wooded islands. On one of them, Mt. Desert, are Acadia National Park, and a notable summer colony. Higher education is provided by eight colleges, four teachers colleges, a theological seminary and a Maritime academy. The University of Maine, the largest, is located at Orono.

MARYLAND

Population 3,100,689 (U. S. Census, 1960)
(July 1, 1968 estimate, 3,757,000)

State Capital, ANNAPOLIS

Maryland is bounded on the north by Pennsylvania, east and southeast by Delaware and the Atlantic Ocean, west by West Virginia, and south and southwest by Virginia, West Virginia and the District of Columbia. The Chesapeake Bay divides the greater portion of it into two unequal parts, known as the Eastern and Western Shores. Its extreme width from east to west on its northern border is 198 miles, and, following the course of the Potomac River, varies from 3 or 4 miles, to about 129 miles. Its land area is 9,881 square miles.

The surface of the Eastern Shore is mostly level, in parts low and swampy, but towards the north, rocky and broken. The Western Shore, between the Potomac River and Chesapeake Bay, presents mainly the same general features. The northwest is very mountainous; five or six ridges of the Alleghenies, principally the Blue and Laurel, traversing it. In the extreme west are the beautiful elevated valleys, or "glades." The mountain slopes are thickly wooded. The soil of the Eastern Shore and Southern Maryland is alluvial, classed as silt and sandy loam, while the soils of the central and northern parts are made up for the most part of loams and silt loams. The Weather Bureau at Baltimore gives the temperature (annual monthly mean) as 55.4; highest on record, 105; lowest on record, -7. Total annual precipitation is 42.56 inches.

Water and rail transportation are highly developed. Maryland's commerce is confined chiefly to Baltimore, one of the principal ports of the country, and one whose trade is extremely heavy. The Potomac River and Chesapeake Bay are navigable for large vessels, and many smaller rivers and bays are accessible for vessels of light draft. The United States Naval Academy is located at Annapolis; the University of Maryland at College Park. Johns Hopkins University at Baltimore is internationally famous, and its hospital receives patients from all over the world.

POPULATION.

Rank among the states (1960), twenty-first. Urban population in 1960, 72.8%. Of the 3,100,689 total population, 2,573,919 were white; 526,770 were non-white. Please note that population figures for the U. S. are from 1960 Census, unless otherwise specified. Figures preceded by (X) indicate they were obtained from Rand McNally, and are estimated.

MASSACHUSETTS

Population 5,148,578 (U. S. Census, 1960)
(July 1, 1968 estimate, 5,437,000)

State Capital, BOSTON

Massachusetts is bounded on the north by Vermont and New Hampshire, east by the Atlantic Ocean, south by the Atlantic Ocean and by Rhode Island and Connecticut and west by New York. Its extreme breadth is 160 miles, its length from 47 to 90 miles; land area, 7,867 square miles.

The surface is greatly diversified: mountainous in the extreme west, hilly and broken in the east and northeast, and in the southeast, mainly low and sandy. Toward the west is the fertile valley of the Connecticut River. The mountains are the Taconic and the Hoosac (continuations of the Green Mountain ranges of Vermont) with detached members of the White Mountains. The Weather Bureau at Boston gives the temperature (annual monthly mean) as 50.7; highest on record, 104; lowest on record, -18. Total annual precipitation is 38.76 inches.

The state has abundant rail and coastwise shipping facilities. The Cape Cod Canal, an eight-mile cut, 25 feet deep, between Buzzards Bay and Sandwich, enables coasting vessels to avoid the long trip around Cape Cod peninsula and shortens the distance between Boston and New York by over 70 miles. The North Shore above Boston, Cape Cod and the "hill towns" west of the Connecticut River are popular summer resorts, the valley of the Housatonic, in Berkshire county, having hundreds of summer residences belonging to wealthy citizens of New York, Boston and other large cities. Massachusetts is the third densest populated state in the Union, having 545.9 persons to the square mile. It is a leading center of the American shoe, leather, wool and paper trades. Boston, Quincy, Newburyport and Salem lead in shipbuilding interests. Boston is one of the greatest fishing ports in the country.

There are a great many colleges in the state, including some of the country's most famous, for both men and women. Harvard University, the oldest in the country, is located at Cambridge, as is the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Nearly all of Massachusetts is rich in historical interest. At Provincetown, in 1620, the Mayflower made the first landing, going from there to Plymouth.

POPULATION

Rank among the states (1960), ninth. Urban population in 1960, 83.7%. Of the 5,148,578 total population, 5,023,144 were white; 125,434 were non-white. Please note that population figures for the U. S. are from 1960 Census, unless otherwise specified. Figures preceded by (x) indicate they were obtained from Rand McNally, and are estimated.

MICHIGAN

Population 7,823,194 (U. S. Census, 1960)
(July 1, 1968 estimate, 8,740,000)

State Capital, LANSING

Michigan is bounded on the north by Lake Superior, east by Lakes Huron, St. Clair and Erie and their connecting rivers, south by Ohio and Indiana, and west by Wisconsin and Lake Michigan. Its land area is 57,022 square miles.

The state consists of two peninsulas, of which the southern is the principal seat of wealth and population, its length, north to south, being about 300 miles; width, about 200. Here manufacturing has grown to chief importance. This part of the state is a very level region, abounding in lakes and streams, with extensive forests of pine and other timber in the north, oak openings or natural parks in the south and fruit-growing in the southwest. There are over 6,000 lakes, large and small, which are popular resorts of anglers and summer visitors. The northern peninsula is more rugged in surface and its chief industries are tourism, copper and iron mining and timber operations. The Weather Bureau at Detroit gives the temperature (annual monthly mean) as 48.6; highest on record, 105; lowest on record, -24; total annual precipitation is 31.53 inches.

The great extent of its water boundary line, about 1,000 miles, gives Michigan a commanding position in lake commerce. The ship canal between Lake Huron and Lake Superior at Sault Ste. Marie handles more tonnage than the Panama Canal or any other canal in the United States and Canada. Detroit, noted throughout the world as the greatest center of automobile manufacture, is the fifth city in population in the country and a great commercial center. A very large tonnage of freight traffic passes through the Detroit River. Grand Rapids is famous for its furniture manufactories. There are many institutions of higher education in the state, chief of them being the University of Michigan, located at Ann Arbor.

POPULATION

Rank among the states (1960), seventh. Urban population in 1960, 73.4%. Of the 7,823,194 total population, 7,085,865 were white; 737,329 were non-white. Please note that population figures for the U. S. are from 1960 Census, unless otherwise specified. Figure preceded by (X) indicate they were obtained from Rand McNally, and are estimated.

MINNESOTA

Population 3,413,864 (U. S. Census, 1960)
(July 1, 1968 estimate, 3,646,000)

State Capital, ST. PAUL

Minnesota is bounded on the north by Ontario and Manitoba, Canada, east by Wisconsin and Lake Superior, south by Iowa, and west by North and South Dakota. Its extreme length from north to south is 880 miles, its breadth varies from 183 miles, in the center, to 262 on the south and 380 on the north borders. Its land area is 80,009 square miles. It is a state of wide natural resources and rapidly developing wealth.

The surface is generally undulating and diversified with plains, timber belts and extensive prairies dotted with lakes and groves. The northeast is generally hilly, has great deposits of iron ore, and was formerly entirely covered with immense forests. Much of the salable pine has been cut, but there is a vast quantity of valuable timber, both pine and hardwood, still standing. This region also contains innumerable lakes, abounding in fish and affording popular summer resorts. In the southeast there is a beautiful rolling region, heavily wooded, and from it the surface rises gradually to the Hauteur de Terres or Heights of Land in the northwest. The climate is particularly healthful, and extremely favorable to the growth of vegetation, especially grain crops. The Weather Bureau of Minneapolis gives the temperature (annual monthly mean) as 44.5; highest degree on record as 108; lowest —34. Total annual precipitation is 27.66 inches.

The state's shipping, both by water and rail, is immense. The Great Lakes, with Duluth as an advantageously located port, provide an excellent waterway to the Atlantic, and railroads branch in every direction. Minneapolis is the largest cash grain market in the world and second only to Chicago as a grain future market. There is in operation a very efficient school system. The University of Minnesota, is one of the great universities of the country. It is located at Minneapolis.

MISSISSIPPI

Population 2,178,141 (U. S. Census, 1960)

(July 1, 1968 estimate, 2,342,000)

State Capital, JACKSON

Mississippi is bounded on the north by Tennessee, east by Alabama, south by the Gulf of Mexico and Louisiana and west by the Mississippi River, which separates it from Louisiana and Arkansas. Its extreme length from north to south is 832 miles; average breadth, 142 miles. Its land area is 47,248 square miles.

The surface is generally hilly except in the Mississippi delta area, from Vicksburg to the Tennessee line and between the Mississippi and Yazoo Rivers, where there is some of the most fertile soil in the world, particularly suited to growing cotton, rice and other agricultural products. Below Vicksburg the surface for some miles inland is hilly and known as the "cane hills" or "bluffs" and has a generally productive soil. There is another particularly fertile prairie region in the northeast where one of the chief products, alfalfa, produces from three to five heavy crops each year. The southern part is chiefly a level pine region and furnishes good pasture and quantities of timber and tar and turpentine. The soil of this tract, although sandy, is with fertilization, particularly adapted to truck farming. The forest wealth of the state is extensive and it ranks third among the states as a producer of cotton. The climate and production are subtropical. The Weather Bureau at Vicksburg gives the temperature (annual monthly mean) as 65.6; highest degree on record, 104; lowest, -1. Total annual precipitation, 51.93 inches.

Plantation life in this primarily agricultural state is being changed by industrial development. Transportation is supplied by rail lines and the Mississippi River. The largest institutions of higher education are the University of Mississippi, in University; Mississippi State University, in State College, and Mississippi Southern College, in Hattiesburg.

POPULATION

Rank among the states (1960), twenty-ninth. Urban population in 1960, 37.7%. Of the 2,178,141 total population, 1,257,546 were white; 920,595 were non-white. Please note that population figures for the U. S. are from 1960 Census, unless otherwise specified. Figures preceded by (x) indicate they were obtained from Rand McNally, and are estimated.

AGRICULTURE

Number of farms (1964), 109,141. Farm acreage, 17,751,607. Average acreage per farm, 162.6. Average value per farm, $24,801. Farms selling products over $10,000 in value, 11,227.

MISSOURI

Population 4,319,813 (U. S. Census, 1960)
(July 1, 1968 estimate, 4,627,000)
State Capital, JEFFERSON CITY

Missouri is bounded on the north by Iowa, east by Illinois, Kentucky and Tennessee, south by Arkansas, west by Oklahoma, Kansas and Nebraska. Its length, north to south, is 277 miles; its average breadth about 244 miles, ranging from 208 miles in the north to 312 miles in the south. Its land area is 69,226 square miles.

The Missouri River flows across the state from west to east just north of the center. The surface north of the river is generally level, while that south of it is undulating, becoming rougher as it approaches the Ozark Mountains. There are also open, treeless plains, an extension of those in Kansas; and in the southeast, bordering on the Mississippi River, there is an extensive marshy tract called the "Sunk County," the result of the earthquake of 1811-12. Plans have been made to reclaim the lands along the Mississippi and Missouri Rivers and their tributaries by levees along the great rivers by drainage canals in the valleys of the smaller ones. The climate varies from north temperate to sub-tropical. The Weather Bureau at St. Louis, gives the temperature (annual monthly mean) as 56.2; highest degree on record, 110; lowest, —22. Total annual precipitation, 38.98 inches.

With about 500 miles of waterfront on the Mississippi and with the Missouri traversing it from west to east, the state has fully 1,000 miles of navigable waterways. St. Louis is a center for travel and for extensive freight traffic carried on by air, rail and by river, the famous bridge across the Mississippi accommodating more freight cars than any other span in the world. Eighteen trunk lines afford rail transportation. The city is the gateway for north and south tourist travel as well as freight traffic. The stock yards and meat-packing plants at Kansas City have gained world-wide fame. The Bagnell Dam across the Osage River in the Ozarks forms one of the largest artificial lakes in the world and floods about 60,000 acres. It is part of an enormous hydro-electrical development designed to supply power to St. Louis, Kansas City and elsewhere. Educationally the state ranks exceedingly high. In addition to the University of Missouri, at Columbia, it has many colleges and universities, besides many professional and technological schools and teachers' colleges.

POPULATION

Rank among the states (1960), thirteenth. Urban population in 1960, 66.6%. Of the 4,319,813 total population, 3,922,967 were white; 396,846 were non-white. Please note that population figures for the U. S. are from 1960 Census, unless otherwise specified. Figures preceded by (x) indicate they were obtained from Rand McNally, and are estimated.

MONTANA

Population 674,767 (U. S. Census, 1960)
(July 1, 1968 estimate, 693,000)

State Capital, HELENA

Montana is bounded on the north by Saskatchewan and Alberta, Canada, east by North and South Dakota, south by Wyoming and Idaho and West by Idaho. Its breadth, east to west, is about 540 miles; length, about 280 miles; land area, 145,878 square miles, including 240 square miles of Yellowstone National Park, rank in area, fourth.

The Rocky Mountains occupy the western two-fifths of the state's area; east of them the country forms part of the "Great Plains." The Missouri River is navigable for boats as far as Fort Benton. The Yellowstone River is navigable during high water. The lowest altitude is 1,800 feet about sea level, while Granite Peak in Carbon County reaches a height of 12,850 feet. The climate is dry, healthful and invigorating. The Weather Bureau at Helena gives the temperature (annual monthly mean) as 41.5; highest on record, 103; lowest on record, -42; total annual precipitation as 11.55 inches. Irrigation has been highly developed, and immense reservoirs on the Madison and Missouri Rivers are sources of water supply. As a result, standard fruits of the Temperate Zone have been produced in large quantities.

Montana, with its vast expanse of mountain country, its 500 lakes and fishing streams, its thousands of miles of winding mountain roads, its national forests, dude ranches, mountain hotels and tourist camp resorts, affords unequalled recreational advantages. Glacier National Park, extending to the Canadian border line, is one of the most wonderful public parks in the world. Montana State University is located at Missoula.

POPULATION

Rank among the states (1960), forty-second. Urban population in 1960, 50.2%. Of the 674,767 total population, 650,788 were white; 24,029 were non-white. Please note that population figures for the U. S. are from 1960 Census, unless otherwise specified. Figures preceded by (x) indicate they were obtained from Rand McNally, and are estimated.

AGRICULTURE

Number of farms (1964), 27,020. Farm acreage, 65,833,760. Average acreage per farm, 2,436.5. Average value per farm, $105,230. Farms selling products over $10,000 in value, 12,004.

Cash receipts from farm marketings (1967): crops, $222,130,000; livestock and products (includes meat animals, dairy products, poultry and eggs), $283,757,000.

Value of sales of chief crops (1967): wheat, $149,201,000, rank, fourth; barley, $22,287,000, rank, fourth; sugar beets (1966 value of production), $3,568,000; hay, $9,562,000; potatoes, $3,074,000; dry edible beans, $1,144,000; alfalfa seed, $1,110,000; oats, $762,000; corn, $142,000; flaxseed, $122,000; rye, $61,000; red clover seed, $41,000.

NEBRASKA

Population 1,411,330 (U. S. Census, 1960)
(July 1, 1968 estimate, 1,437,000)

State Capital, LINCOLN

Nebraska is bounded on the north by South Dakota, east by Iowa and Missouri, south by Kansas and Colorado and west by Colorado and Wyoming. Its length from north to south is about 210 miles; its width about 420 miles; land area 76,663 square miles.

The surface is generally a vast, gently undulating plain, with a gradual ascent toward the mountains in the west; the river bottoms are level. There are some bluffs along the Missouri River, some hills in the northwest, a small part of this region being occupied by the Mauvais Terres or Bad Lands. The state is well watered, three large rivers, the Niobrara, the Platte and the Big Blue drain eastward into the Missouri, which flows for 500 miles along the eastern border. Only the Missouri is navigable. East of the Bad Lands and south of the Niobrara there is a tract called the Sand Hills region, 15,000 square miles in area, the valleys of which produce an abundance of corn and wheat, while the rest of the country is used for cattle. Nebraska was once practically treeless, but more than two billion trees have been planted, by state and national government. The soil is very fertile. The climate is dry and healthful and there is an abundance of sunshine. The Weather Bureau at Omaha gives the temperature (annual monthly mean) as 51.1; highest on record, 114; lowest on record, —32. Total annual precipitation, 27.72 inches.

Omaha is a great railway and meat-packing center, and the state's largest city. The University of Nebraska, its largest institution of higher education, is located at Lincoln.

POPULATION

Rank among the states (1960), thirty-fourth. Urban population in 1960, 54.3%. Of the 1,411,330 total population, 1,374,764 were white; 36,566 were non-white. Please note that population figures for the U. S. are from 1960 Census, unless otherwise specified. Figures preceded by (x) indicate they were obtained from Rand McNally, and are estimated.

NEVADA

Population 285,278 (U. S. Census, 1960)
 (July 1, 1968 estimate, 453,000)
 State Capital, CARSON CITY

Nevada is bounded on the north by Oregon and Idaho, east by Utah and Arizona and southwest and west by California. Its extreme length from north to south is 485 miles on the eastern, and 210 miles on the western boundary; greatest breadth 320 miles, decreasing to 310 miles in the north and to a point in the south. Its land area is 109,789 square miles; rank, in area, seventh.

The surface generally is desert land and averages 5,500 feet above the sea. It is traversed by nearly parallel mountain ranges, between which are valleys varying in width from 5 to 20 miles. The highest point is Boundary Peak, in Esmerelda County, about 13,145 feet; the lowest is along the Colorado River in Clark County, 470 feet above sea level. The mountains have produced more than a billion dollars of mineral wealth. The Weather Bureau at Winnemucca gives the temperature (annual monthly mean) as 48.8; highest on record, 108; lowest on record, —36. Total annual precipitation is 8.56 inches. Irrigation has helped the state greatly in productivity.

Hoover Dam, in the Black Canyon of the Colorado River, is the highest dam in the world and was completed March 1, 1936. The purposes of construction were irrigation, flood control, water storage, silt control and power development. It has attracted wide attention and many visitors.

The University of Nevada, established in 1864, is located at Reno, with a branch, Nevada Southern, located at Las Vegas.

POPULATION

Rank among the states including District of Columbia (1960), fiftieth. Urban population in 1960, 70.4%. Of the 285,278 total population, 263,443 were white; 21,835 were non-white. Please note that population figures for the U. S. are from 1960 Census, unless otherwise specified. Figures preceded by (x) indicate they were obtained from Rand McNally, and are estimated.

AGRICULTURE

Number of farms (1964), 2,156. Farm acreage, 10,482,772. Average acreage per farm, 4,862.1. Average value per farm, $184,565. Farms selling products over $10,000 in value, 845.

State Capital, CONCORD

New Hampshire is bounded on the north by Quebec, Canada, east by Maine and the Atlantic Ocean, south by Massachusetts and west by Vermont. Its length is 180 miles from north to south; its average breadth, 50 miles; land area, 9,017 square miles.

A rough and hilly surface characterizes most of the state. In the north, the Presidential Range of the White Mountains reaches altitudes of more than 6,000 feet. Winters are severe, but the state has an almost ideal summer climate, especially in the central and eastern portion. Mountain and lake scenery is noted for its beauty; large numbers of tourists are attracted yearly, from all parts of the country.

The more level southern section is agricultural and industrial. The Valley of the Connecticut is famed for the beauty of its farms and villages. The Weather Bureau at Concord gives the temperature (annual monthly mean) as 45.4; highest on record, 102; lowest, —23. Total annual precipitation is 37.51 inches.

The most outstanding of the state's educational institutions are Dartmouth College, at Hanover, and the University of New Hampshire, at Durham.

NEW JERSEY

Population 6,066,782 (U.S. Census, 1960)
(July 1, 1968 estimate, 7,078,000)

State Capital, TRENTON

New Jersey is bounded on the north and northeast by New York, east by New York, and the Atlantic Ocean, south by the Atlantic Ocean and Delaware Bay, and west by Delaware and Pennsylvania. Its extreme length is 166 miles; its average breadth, 50 miles; land area, 7,504.8 square miles.

The surface is mountainous in the northwest, hilly in the northern and central parts, low and gently undulating in the south. The highest altitude, 1,803 feet, is at High Point, Sussex County. The mountains, a part of the Appalachian system, are the Kittatinny or Blue and the Highland Range. Between them lies the productive Kittatinny Valley, about 10 miles wide. The central part of the state is the most thickly settled and is a vast market garden for New York City and Philadelphia. The truck crops raised here are of a quality not surpassed anywhere. The average annual temperature, northern part, is 50.6 degrees; southern part, is 53.2 degrees. The highest temperature recorded was 104; the lowest -13. Total annual precipitation, northern part, is 48.5 inches; southern part, 45.0 inches.

Newark, the metropolis, has a population of 405,220 and its manufacturing industries are said to be more important in proportion to population than those of any other city in the United States. Jersey City, Hoboken, New Brunswick, Trenton and Camden are all seats of numerous manufacturing industries, their factories producing almost every kind of manufactured goods.

The state is well provided with marine transportation, as three-fourths of its border is on navigable waters. It shares with New York the Port of New York Authority; with Pennsylvania the Delaware River Port Authority. Its coast trade is extensive and its railway facilities highly developed. Its shore resorts are many, and the beaches, the finest in the country; of them Atlantic City is world-famed. Of the state's many colleges, three are outstanding: Princeton University, at Princeton; Rutgers University, at New Brunswick; and Stevens Institute of Technology, at Hoboken.

POPULATION

Rank among the states (1960), eighth. Urban population in 1960, 88.3%. Of the 6,066,782 total population 5,539,003 were white; 521,779 were non-white. Please note that population figures for the U. S. are from 1960 Census, unless otherwise specified. Figures preceded by (x) indicate they were obtained from Rand McNally, and are estimated.

NEW MEXICO

Population 951,023 (U. S. Census, 1960)

(July 1, 1968 estimate, 1,015,000)

State Capital, SANTA FE

New Mexico is bounded on the north by Colorado, east by Oklahoma and Texas, south by Texas and Mexico and west by Arizona; greatest length, north to south, 390 miles; average width, 335 miles; land area, 121,511 square miles; rank, in area, fifth.

Its general surface is a region of desert plateaus, traversed by the Rocky Mountains. The valleys are generally nearly level and their soil fertile. In the southwest is a part of the "Llano Estacado" or "Stake Plain." Some of this region has been brought into use under the modern systems of "dry farming" for arid and semi-arid lands. The central western portion is drained by the Rio Grande; the eastern districts by the Pecos River. The state's average height above sea level is 5,700 feet; lowest elevation, 2,876 feet. The Weather Bureau at Albuquerque gives the temperature (annual monthly mean) as 55.3; highest on record, 104; lowest on record, -16. Total annual precipitation is 8.01 inches.

The state is becoming more and more popular as a health, tourist and artist resort. Santa Fe, Las Vegas and Albuquerque, provided with modern travel facilities, receive many visitors. The relics that remain from an ancient Indian civilization, including the 18 Indian pueblos, are of particular interest. Carlsbad Caverns, made a national park in 1930, and comprising 35 miles of caves and corridors, also offer attraction.

There were in the state in 1960 (estimate), 55,000 Indians on reservations. Notable among the state's educational institutions are: The University of New Mexico, located at Albuquerque; New Mexico State University, at State College; The School of Mines, at Socorro.

POPULATION

Rank among the states (1960), thirty-seventh. Urban population in 1960, 65.9%. Of the 951,023 total population, 875,763 were white; 75,260 were non-white. Please note that population figures for the U. S. are from 1960 Census, unless otherwise specified. Figures preceded by (X) indicate they were obtained from Rand McNally, and are estimated.

NEW YORK

Population 16,782,304 (U. S. Census, 1960)
(July 1, 1968 estimate, 18,113,000)

State Capital, ALBANY

New York is bounded on the north and northwest by Lake Ontario and the provinces of Ontario and Quebec, Canada, east by Vermont, Massachusetts, Connecticut, and the Atlantic Ocean, south by the Atlantic Ocean, New Jersey and Pennsylvania, and west and northwest by Pennsylvania and Lake Erie. Its greatest length from north to south is 312 miles; its greatest breadth, 412 miles; land area, 47,944 square miles. The Weather Bureau at Albany gives the temperature (annual monthly mean) as 48.3; highest on record, 104; lowest on record, -24. Total annual precipitation is 36.92 inches.

The surface is exceedingly diversified and most of the soil very fertile, so that the state produces nearly every kind of fruit, vegetable, grain, and forage crop that can be grown in the temperate zone.

New York ranks first of all the states in manufacturing, in number of wage earners as well as value of products. New York City is the great commercial metropolis of the United States. Buffalo is the leading flour milling center of the world.

Transportation facilities are of the best. Railroads penetrate everywhere, and the state has about 1,000 miles of navigable ocean, lake, and river waterways. The Barge Canal, which is mainly the historic Erie Canal, connects the Great Lakes with the Hudson River, the main canal running from the Niagara River to the Hudson River at Troy, with branches to Lake Ontario at Oswego and from the Hudson to Lake Champlain at Whitehall. Other branches connect through Lake Cayuga with Ithaca, and with Geneva on Lake Seneca. The canal permits vessels of 2,500 tons to pass, without transferring cargo, from any of the lake ports to the ocean.

The Adirondack in the north and the Catskill Mountains in the east attract hundreds of thousands of tourists and campers; there are many yacht clubs along the shores of Long Island Sound, and the ocean beaches are popular. Niagara Falls, near Buffalo, attracts 1,000,000 visitors a year. New York has eighty-five state parks in which are many points of natural beauty and interest, and much of the surface of the state is dotted by over 2,000 small lakes which make popular summer resorts. Saratoga Springs is a fashionable watering place and has a famous track for horse racing. It has been developed into a modern and elaborately equipped Spa.

The state's highly developed and closely integrated system of primary and secondary education is under the control of the Board of Regents of the University of the State of New York, located in Albany. There are about 4,400 elementary and secondary schools, enrollment approximately 3,000,000 students, plus 1,800 private and parochial schools. Colleges and universities number 182 with approximately 425,000 students. Some of the most famous colleges and universities are in New York State, including three with more than 20,000 students in New York City: Columbia University, New York University, and the City University of New York (formerly the College of the City of New York). The Military Academy of the United States Army is located at West Point on the Hudson River above New York City.

The commercial and financial metropolis of the United States, 49 Savings Banks with deposits of $30,344,000,000 as of December 31, 1967. 48 Commercial Banks with deposits of $75,284,000,000 as of December 31, 1967. One of the finest harbors in the world. The foreign commerce of New York comprises almost half of the entire import and export trade of the nation and is the heaviest in the world. Its domestic commerce is also great. About ten per cent of the nation's products are manufactured in the New York industrial area: the five boroughs, Westchester Co. and six counties in New Jersey. Some of the most important industries are clothing and accessories, foods and beverages, printing and publishing, metal and machine shop products, chemicals, paints and allied lines, textiles and textile products. Many of the country's largest publishing houses are located here. Its electric meters number 2,686,500; gas (artif.) meters, 2,225,400; telephones, 5,535,274.

Among its many colleges and professional schools are New York University; Columbia University; Fordham University; Hunter College and Manhattan College. It has a wealth of museums, is noted as an art center, numbers its theaters at about 700. New York and Bronx Boroughs are served by the New York post office and only the publications in these two boroughs are listed here. Publications in Brooklyn Borough are entered at the Brooklyn post office and will be found under Brooklyn. There are numerous post offices in Queens Borough and the publications issued therein will be found under their respective post offices. Richmond Borough publications are served by the Staten Island post office and will be found under Staten Island. Seven TV stations.
