WISCONSIN

Population 3,951,777 (U. S. Census, 1960)
(July 1, 1968 estimate, 4,213,000)

State Capital, MADISON

Wisconsin is bounded on the north by Lake Superior, northeast by Michigan, east by Lake Michigan, south by Illinois and west by Iowa and Minnesota. Its greatest length from north to south is 300 miles, greatest breadth 260 miles, land area 54,705 square miles.

The surface is generally rolling, typical of the glaciated area, with high bluffs along the Mississippi and Wisconsin Rivers. Most of the 8,500 lakes are in the northern recreational area, although virtually all parts of the state have some. Large areas of this once great timberland were laid waste by ruthless cutting and fire, but today public and private planting have largely rebuilt them. The Mississippi, the Wisconsin with its more than 50 dams, and the Fox are the great working rivers, but the Chippewa, Flambeau and Rock are also well known. The state is a tourist mecca for fishing and boating; waterfowl, deer and bear are hunted in the fall.

With more dairy cattle than people, Wisconsin leads in the production of milk, powdered milk, condensed milk and cheese. It excels in the production and canning of green peas, sweet corn, and beets, is noted for its Door County cherries and Wisconsin Valley cranberries.

Manufacturing is strongest in the heavy industries, although Wisconsin is best known for its manufacture of beer, paper, and farm tractors. Many foreign ships dock at Milwaukee and Green Bay each year, and Superior shares the fabulous iron ore shipments of the open pit mines of Minnesota.

The University of Wisconsin located at Madison is best known of the 12 publicly-supported degree-granting universities. The Weather Bureau at Madison gives the temperature (annual monthly mean) as 46.1; highest on record, 107; lowest on record, -29; total annual precipitation, 31.15 inches.

POPULATION

Rank among the states (1960), fifteenth. Urban population in 1960, 63.8%. Of the 3,951,777 total population, 3,858,903 were white; 92,874 were non-white. Please note that population figures for the U. S. are from 1960 Census, unless otherwise specified. Figures preceded by (X) indicate they were obtained from Rand McNally, and are estimated.

WYOMING

Population 330,066 (U. S. Census, 1960)
(July 1, 1968 estimate, 315,000)

State Capital, CHEYENNE

Wyoming is bounded on the north by Montana, east by South Dakota and Nebraska, south by Colorado and Utah, and west by Utah, Idaho and Montana; breadth, east to west, 365 miles; length, 274 miles; land area, 97,506 square miles; includes 2,973 square miles of Yellowstone National Park; rank in area, ninth.

The mean elevation of the state is about 6,000 feet. The clear, dry atmosphere and the abundance of sunshine have made the state a favorite health resort, especially for persons afflicted with pulmonary diseases. Its surface is broken by mountain ranges, deep river canyons, and in the southern section flat-topped hills or buttes, which rise from valley or plain like the walled cities or mounds. In the northwest corner is Yellowstone National Park, one of the world's most famous scenic resorts. It was the first national park set up by Congress. There are over 8,500,000 acres in national forests and parks. The ranch life retains much of the old-time flavor of the West, the annual cowboy roundup at Cheyenne attracting many visitors.

Stock raising is the most important industry, the state ranking third in the Union for sheep husbandry. There are extensive areas of pine and spruce timber, widely distributed throughout the mountain regions.

There are few places, except in the eastern portion, where crops can be successfully grown without additional water supply. The many rivers flow in all directions providing valuable drainage for irrigation and making possible fine crops of alfalfa, sugar beets, vegetables, and small fruits. Over 1,500,000 acres are now supplied with water. There are now 1,000,000 acres successfully cultivated by dry farming methods.

The University of Wyoming is located at Laramie. The Weather Bureau at Cheyenne gives the temperature (annual monthly mean) as 44.6; highest on record, 100; lowest on record, -38. Total annual precipitation is 14.99 inches.

POPULATION

Rank among the states (1960), forty-ninth. Urban population in 1960, 56.8%. Of the 330,066 total population, 322,922 were white; 7,144 were non-white. Please note that population figures for the U. S. are from 1960 Census, unless otherwise specified. Figures preceded by (x) indicate they were obtained from Rand McNally, and are estimated.

AGRICULTURE

Number of farms (1964), 9,038. Farm acreage, 36,818,632. Average acreage per farm, 4,073.8. Average value per farm, $117,848. Farms selling products over $10,000 in value, 3,870.

Cash receipts from farm marketings (1967): crops, $36,233,000; livestock and products (includes meat animals, dairy products, poultry and eggs), $166,794,000.

Value of sales of chief crops (1967): sugar beets (1966 value of production), $10,439,000; wheat, $9,086,000; dry edible beans, $5,071,000; hay, $3,802,000; barley, $1,965,000; oats, $964,000; potatoes, $701,000; corn, $639,000; rye, $170,000; alfalfa seed, $143,000.

Farm value of animals on farms (1-1-68): all cattle and calves, $218,680,000; all sheep and lambs, $41,410,000, rank, second; hogs and pigs, $662,000.

Cash receipts from poultry (1967): turkeys (includes Idaho, Montana and New Mexico), $1,100,000; eggs, $1,054,000; chickens (farm and commercial broilers), $29,000.

Cash receipts from dairy products (1967): all milk and cream, $6,654,000. Total milk production on farms, 142,000,000 lbs. Dairy products (1967): creamery butter, 1,645,000 lbs.; creamed cottage cheese, 757,000 lbs.; ice cream, 697,000 gallons.

MANUFACTURES

Statistics for 1964: value added by manufacture, $79,000,000. Leading industry groups: petroleum and coal products, food and kindred products. Total expenditures for new plant and new equipment, $14,000,000.

Final figures for value added by manufacture in each of the leading industry groups are available through Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402.

MINERALS

Value of production (1966), $505,806,000. Principal mineral products in order of value: petroleum, natural gas, uranium, iron ore.

BRITISH COLUMBIA

Population: 1966 Census, 1,873,674
(1968 estimate, 2,007,000)
Provincial Capital, VICTORIA

British Columbia is bounded on the north by the parallel of 60° north, on the west by the Pacific Ocean and Alaska, on the south by the 49th parallel (the boundary of the United States), on the east by Alberta. The area is 366,255 square miles. This includes a number of islands, the largest being Vancouver, which contains the capital of the province, and has an area of about 12,400 square miles. The province is about 760 miles long and 500 miles wide. The rainfall, except in some limited districts in the southeast, is abundant. There is unlimited water power everywhere. The surface is mountainous and densely wooded with trees of enormous size. The wonderful scenery of the Canadian Rockies and of the lakes and rivers attracts thousands of tourists each year. Vancouver is one of the leading ports in exporting grain and lumber.

NEWFOUNDLAND

Population: 1966 Census, 493,396
(1968 estimate, 507,000)

Above includes the population of Labrador, 18,584

Provincial Capital, ST. JOHN'S
(For map see New Brunswick)

Newfoundland, a large island, lies to the eastward of the mainland of the Dominion of Canada, in the Atlantic Ocean. It is separated from the mainland by the Straits of Belle Isle, the Gulf of St. Lawrence and the Cabot Straits. It is the oldest English colony and about the size of the State of Virginia. Newfoundland is bounded on the east, north and south by the Atlantic Ocean, and on the west by the Gulf of St. Lawrence. Its extreme length is 350 miles; average breadth, 130 miles; area, 43,359 square miles. The topography is generally rugged with many lakes and rivers. The central and eastern portion of the interior is thinly wooded and consists in part of elevated plains called "barrens." The river valleys and the western part of the Island are thickly timbered.

Labrador is an integral part of the Province of Newfoundland. It has a coastline of 850 miles, adds approximately 113,000 square miles to the area of the province. Recent resource developments include the mining of vast reserves of iron ore and the Churchill Falls development, destined to become one of the largest single power-producing sites in the world.

The climate is healthful and more temperate than that of the neighboring continents. The Gulf Stream modifies the cold and the temperature is rarely below zero in the winter, and in the summer seldom exceeds 80° F. Winter usually sets in the first of December and lasts until the middle of April. The autumn, a period of fine weather, often lasts until November. Thunderstorms are rare, tornadoes unknown, and the fogs are confined to the shores and bays of the south-eastern and southern coasts. Only 1,600 miles from Ireland, Newfoundland is a vital outpost for both air travel and defense.

POPULATION

Province rank, ninth. Increase over 1961, 7.8%. Rural residents in 1966, 45.9%.

AGRICULTURE

Number of farms (1966), 1,709; owner operated (1966), 1,522; with electricity (1966), 1,443. Value of land and buildings (1966), $24,030,300. Average acreage per farm, 29.0. The most suitable areas for farming are in the Codroy Valley, Bay St. George, Humber Valley and the Avalon Peninsula. The principal crops grown are timothy hay, oats, barley, potatoes, turnips, cabbage, beets, carrots, parsnips and small fruits.

Value of livestock (1961): all cattle and calves, $1,113,921; horses, $170,854; sheep and lambs, $225,435; hogs, $64,451. Total value of livestock and poultry, $1,986,695. The livestock population in 1966 included: horses, 1,061; cattle, 8,554; sheep, 14,381; swine, 7,307; poultry, 422,524.

Value of production of fruits (1966): blueberries, $567,000.

FISHERIES

Fisheries constitute the principal industry of the Island. Total value in 1966 was $60,106,000, an increase of $7,257,000 over 1965. Principal fish: cod, plaice, graysole, redfish, turbot, salmon, squid, whales, seals and herring.

FURS

Total fur farms (1966), 24, with pelts valued at $441,381. Total number of pelts taken from wildlife was 12,720 in 1966-67 season, valued at $73,887. Principal furs: mink, beaver, otter, fox, lynx and muskrat.

LUMBER

Of the total land area the productive forest land of the Island is estimated at 12,984 square miles and of Labrador at 20,878 square miles, a total of 33,862 square miles, the chief components of which are spruce and balsam fir. Other species of lesser importance are white birch, pine, poplar or aspen, and larch (locally known as juniper). Within limited areas some hard maple and yellow birch are found. The forests furnish raw materials for an extensive pulp and paper industry consuming over 1,000,000 cords per annum and employ more than 3,200 men per month throughout the year. The selling value of factory shipments in 1964 was $74,115,000. There are also many sawmills, mostly very small and producing intermittently. The total lumber production in 1965 was 13,310,000 feet b.m. valued at $1,521,000.

MANUFACTURES

Selling value of factory shipments (1965), $174,532,000, rank, ninth. Number of establishments, 287; number of employees, 10,463. Leading industry groups: paper and allied industries; food and beverage industries; non-metallic mineral products industries; wood industries; printing and publishing and allied industries.

MINERALS

Total value (1967), $259,838,940, rank, sixth. Principal minerals: iron ore, copper, zinc, lead, asbestos, sand and gravel, fluorspar, cement, silver.

MISCELLANEOUS

Number of motor vehicle registrations (1966), 95,704. Highway mileage (1966), 5,427; urban mileage (1966), 625. Dwellings under construction (6-30-63), 2,705. Number of households with radio (1968), 100,000. Number of radio homes (May 1968), 92,000. Number of television homes (May 1968), 81,000. Number of telephone homes (May 1968), 69,000. Retail merchandise trade (1967), $428,822,300.

NOVA SCOTIA

Population: 1966 Census, 756,039
(1968 estimate, 760,000)

Provincial Capital, HALIFAX (for map see New Brunswick)

Nova Scotia consists of a narrow peninsula, connected with New Brunswick by an isthmus only 16 miles in width. The province includes the island of Cape Breton. It is bounded on the north by the Gulf of St. Lawrence, on the east and south by the Atlantic Ocean, on the west by the Bay of Fundy and New Brunswick. It is 300 miles long and from 80 to 100 wide, with an area of 21,425 square miles, or about 14,000,000 acres. Of the entire area only 5,000,000 acres are tillable, the remaining land being covered with dense forests. The Cobequid Range extends through the northern interior of the province and on each side of this range are rich arable lands where the agricultural activities of the province center. The valley of the Annapolis is noted for its beauty and fertility. The capital city, Halifax, is the winter port for mail steamers and has direct communication with Liverpool, Boston, Baltimore, Quebec and the West Indies. The harbor, which is over one-half mile wide at its narrowest part, is the finest in Canada.

QUEBEC

Population: 1966 Census, 5,780,845

(1968 estimate, 5,927,000)

Provincial Capital, QUEBEC

Quebec is bounded on the north by Hudson Strait and Ungava Bay, east by Labrador and the Gulf of St. Lawrence, south by New Brunswick, Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, New York and the Ottawa River, which separates it from Ontario and west by Hudson Bay and Ontario. It is the largest of the provinces, its extreme breadth from east to west being 1,080 miles; its length from north to south, 1,280 miles, its area 594,860 square miles. The surface south of the St. Lawrence is generally hilly, further north it is mountainous and rocky and abounding in rivers and small lakes. The extreme northern part is an unexplored wilderness. A great part of the surface of the province is covered with forests. More than four-fifths of the people are French. The city of Quebec and the neighboring villages, noted for their quaintness and charm, attract great numbers of tourists yearly, netting the province a large income. Montreal, too, attracts a large tourist trade. It is the largest city and chief commercial center of Canada.

SASKATCHEWAN

Population: 1966 Census, 955,344
(1968 estimate, 960,000)

Provincial Capital, REGINA

The Province of Saskatchewan is bounded on the north by the parallel of 60 north, on the west by the Province of Alberta, on the south by the 49th parallel (the boundary of the United States) and on the east by the Province of Manitoba. Its length from south to north is 761 miles and it tapers from a width of 393 miles along the Canada-United States border to 277 miles at its northern extremity. Its total area is 251,700 square miles with about 31,518 square miles of fresh water, mainly in the north. From south to north, Saskatchewan is divided into four principal geographical regions; the open plains country of rolling prairies, interrupted by ridges and valleys; the parkland; the commercial forest area, a great tree belt; and the minerally rich Pre-Cambrian shield in the north.

The climate of the province runs from extreme cold in winter to intense heat in summer but the prevailing low humidity makes it both pleasant and healthful.

BERMUDA

Population 42,640 (1960 Census)
(1966 estimate, 49,805)
Capital, HAMILTON

Bermuda comprises a group of islands in the Atlantic Ocean at 32° north latitude and 64° west longitude. They are situated about 700 miles southeast of New York and 560 miles east of North Carolina. The total land area is 21 square miles. The climate is without extremes of heat or cold, with an annual average temperature of 70° F. The islands are coral and aeolian sand formations at the summit of an undersea mountain, protected by the most northerly coral atoll in the world. Seven of the principal islands are connected by bridges and causeways which form a chain about 22 miles long.

Bermuda is the oldest of Britain's overseas colonies and has a highly developed form of self-government. Its economy which began with the growing of tobacco and sugar has, since the turn of the century, gradually changed to almost complete dependence on the large and profitable tourist industry. This industry has grown to the point where Bermuda derives over 80% of its economy from the more than 200,000 visitors each year.

POPULATION

In 1960, of the 42,640 total population, 63% were non-white and 37% were white. The estimated population in June, 1964, was 47,615 with just about the same ratio between the races.

AGRICULTURE

The fertile soil produces abundant fruits, vegetables and flowers. However, with the main emphasis on the tourist industry and the competition for building space to house the dense population, land available for agriculture has been gradually diminishing. The population density of Bermuda is one of the highest in the world with 2,602 people per square mile.

IMPORTS AND EXPORTS

Trade is mainly with the United States, the United Kingdom and Canada. Imports from the United States in 1966 amounted to nearly $31,700,000; from the United Kingdom, $14,000,000, and from Canada, $6,000,000. Total imports for 1966 were $66,262,784.

The only crops of exportable value are Bermuda Easter Lily blossoms and bulbs. Total value of local crops and manufactured products exported in 1966 was $2,026,304.

MISCELLANEOUS

Marked advances are being made in the educational, economic and social lives of Bermudians through capital expenditures of the Government. There are 80 primary, secondary and technical schools with a 1966 enrollment of more than 12,000.

There are 110 miles of paved roads, eight of which are in Hamilton and five in St. George. They are travelled by more than 21,000 licensed vehicles. Air transportation has become the most important factor in commerce, and now nearly all of the visitors to Bermuda arrive over the many direct air routes.

Modern communications are provided throughout the islands by the Bermuda Telephone Co. and Cable & Wireless, Ltd., with more than 22,000 telephones in use.

REPUBLIC OF PANAMA

Republic of Panama Population 1,075,541 (Census of Panama, 1960)
 Canal Zone Population 42,122 (U. S. Census, 1960)

The Republic of Panama is situated between 7° and 10° north latitude and 77° and 84° west longitude. It is an S-shaped isthmus lying more or less east-west, and connecting Columbia and the mainland of South America with Costa Rica and Central America. The coastline on the Caribbean side is 477 miles; on the Pacific side 767 miles long. Width varies from 30 to 120 miles wide. It is bounded on the north by the Caribbean Sea, south by the Gulf of Panama and the Pacific Ocean. The area is 29,200 square miles including 1,500 islands and islets.

The climate is entirely tropical with warm days and cool nights with an average annual temperature of 80° F. Rainfall on the Caribbean Coast averages 117 inches a year while on the Pacific Coast it only averages 63 inches.

Modern sanitation has made Panama one of the most healthful spots in the tropics. Medical facilities in the Zone are equal to some of the best on the U. S. mainland. There are 20 excellent hospitals in the Republic; six private and 14 government operated.

POPULATION

The estimated population in 1963 was about 1,400,000, with an annual increase of over 3.3%. The concentration of population is in the towns, chiefly Panama City, Colon and David.

AGRICULTURE

Most agricultural activities are on the Pacific side of the country, the heaviest concentration being west of Panama City. Parts of the Caribbean slope are devoted to the raising of bananas, cocoa, and abaca. Rice, tobacco, rubber, coffee, pineapples and sugar cane are also raised.

IMPORTS AND EXPORTS

The Panama Canal brings to Panama the largest tonnage of shipping of any country in Latin America and is the country's biggest single industry.

Principal imports are crude petroleum, petroleum products, motor vehicles, clothing, iron and steel, cotton fabrics, medicines, scientific instruments, fruit and vegetables.

The chief exports are bananas and plantains, petroleum products, fish, coffee and sugar. Bananas account for over 60% of all export earnings. In 1965, imports amounted to $189,607,000 and exports were valued at $68,977,000.

MINERALS

There are some gold and silver mining being done on a small scale; also there are some known deposits of copper, manganese, iron and asbestos.

MISCELLANEOUS

The Canal Zone is situated between 8° and 10° north latitude and 79° and 81° west longitude. It is a strip of territory extending from the Atlantic to the Pacific Oceans, including five miles of land on each side of the Canal, and is under perpetual lease to the U. S. Its land area is 372 square miles, its total area, 648 square miles. The Canal is 50.72 miles long. Because of the country's geography, the eastern or Caribbean entrance to the Canal is actually west of the western entrance.

There are over 1,450 miles of roads of which about 37% are paved. Motor vehicles registered in 1965 were 40,632. Number of telephones (1-1-67), 47,967.

Panama boasts a fleet of approximately 1,200 vessels which gives her one of the world's largest merchant fleets. Its main ports are Cristobal and Balboa.

It has many airports, the largest probably being Tocumen International.

REPUBLIC OF THE PHILIPPINES

Population 27,087,685 (1960 Census)

Capital, QUEZON CITY (Luzon)

The Republic of the Philippines comprises the largest island group in the Malay Archipelago. There are 7,083 separate islands in this area which extends 1,152 miles from north to south and 688 miles from east to west. Of this large number 462 have an area each of one square mile or more. Eleven have an area of more than 1,000 square miles each. Total land area of islands is 114,880 square miles.

After nearly a half century as a territory of the United States, the Philippine Islands became an independent republic in 1946. Quezon City is the capital.

The port of Manila offers the finest harbor in the entire Far East. Other ports of entry are Cebu, Iloilo, Zamboanga, Jolo, Legaspi and Davao, and there are about 200 ports of call for inter-island vessels. The larger islands are mountainous with altitudes rising in places to more than 10,000 feet. Rainfall is abundant throughout the archipelago, varying from 60 inches in the driest district to 157 in the wettest. There are three seasons: the most agreeable, from November to March; the hot and dry season, from March to July; the rainy, from July to November. The average annual temperature in Manila is about 80°.

POPULATION

Ninety-nine per cent of the people are Filipinos; the remaining percentage is made up of: Chinese, Japanese, Americans, Spaniards, Britons, Hindus, Dutch, Italians and Swiss. The American population is mostly centered in Manila. Although eight distinct languages and 87 dialects are spoken, English is the most widely used. The official national language (since 1946) is the Tagalog dialect, spoken by 40% of the people and is now required learning in the schools.

AGRICULTURE

The cultivation of many crops heretofore imported but which may be grown locally is now being emphasized in agricultural development. Average size of the farms is 8.5 acres, but there are many large plantations. For the crop year of 1964, the estimated value of agricultural production was $1,800,000,000. Chief crops were unhusked rice (rice occupies 44% of the cultivated lands), shelled corn, coconut, sugar cane, abaca, root crops and tobacco. Agriculture accounts for about 60% of the labor force.

IMPORTS AND EXPORTS

Principal imports are motor vehicles, iron and steel, crude petroleum, wheat, cotton, milk and cream, fertilizers, paper and paperboard. Imports in 1966 totalled $852,772,000.

The chief exports are sugar (ranked ninth in world production), copra, wood, fruits, abaca, copper, iron, clothing and plywood. Exports in 1966 totalled $838,007,000.

FORESTRY

Timber for construction purposes and for various types of lumber production is produced in large quantities. Rattan and bamboo, also dye woods and barks for tanning purposes, as well as rubber and gums and resins are in considerable production. Lumber production in 1966 was 397,614,000 board feet. Philippine forests cover 50,708 square miles.

MINERALS

Gold production and the future of the gold mining industry are of increasing importance in the islands. Exploration and the mining of gold and other metals is progressing. In 1963, gold production was valued at more than $13,160,000, placing the Philippines eighth among world gold producers. In addition, the islands produce silver, lead, zinc, copper, iron, coal, petroleum, chromite, asbestos and manganese. Salt and clay are also found. The main islands have a wide variety of natural resources. The coal fields already located are estimated at close to 100 square miles in area, and contain both hard and soft coal.

MISCELLANEOUS

Number of telephones (1963), 141,124. Motor vehicles registered (1966), 358,281. Number of families having radios (1964), 1,220,000. Number of radio stations (1964 est.), 127.

DAILY NEWSPAPERS

A LIST OF DAILY NEWSPAPERS WHICH ARE PUBLISHED CONTINUOUSLY THROUGHOUT THE YEAR, WITH THE POPULATIONS OF THE PLACES WHERE THEY ARE PUBLISHED. At the end of each state appears the total estimated circulation of all English Language Dailies in that State—showing Evening, Morning and Sunday totals separately.

In the main catalog section is shown, under the listing of each paper, if they accept strip or color advertising. N. B.—The circulation figures quoted below were the latest available figures. Variations between these figures and those quoted in the catalog are due to later printing of this section and availability of later circulation figures.

WEEKLY, SEMI-WEEKLY AND TRI-WEEKLY NEWSPAPERS

A LIST OF PAID OR PARTLY PAID ENGLISH LANGUAGE WEEKLY, SEMI-WEEKLY AND TRI-WEEKLY NEWSPAPERS WHICH ARE PUBLISHED CONTINUOUSLY THROUGHOUT THE YEAR, WITH THE POPULATIONS OF THE PLACES WHERE THEY ARE PUBLISHED, AND THE LATEST AVAILABLE CIRCULATION FOR EACH. ALSO SHOWN IS THE DAY OF THE WEEK ON WHICH THEY ARE PUBLISHED.

Mo means Monday
Tu means Tuesday

We means Wednesday
Th means Thursday

Fr means Friday
Sa means Saturday

Note: There are a few Sunday weeklies in this list. They are marked Su.

N. B.—The circulation figures quoted below were the latest available figures. Variations between these figures and those quoted in the catalog are due to later printing of this section and availability of later circulation figures. NUMERICAL FIGURE PLACED BEFORE TOWN NAME IS KEY TO LOCATION BY COUNTY, AND IS CROSS-REFERENCED WITH "LIST OF COUNTIES" PRECEDING, IN EACH STATE, THE CATALOG LISTINGS.
