A FULL ROLE FOR FM

The public hearings of the Canadian Radio-Television Commission on its Proposal for an FM Policy in the Private Sector produced few surprises.

As already reported in Broadcaster in September, the Canadian Association of Broadcasters' brief endorsed the CRTC proposal in principle — describing it as “realistic, constructive and right” — but voiced reservations about some specifics.

For his part, Pierre Juneau allayed fears that rigid programming standards would be imposed without consideration of each station's circumstances. It is not the intention of the commission, he said, “to establish a pattern which all stations must follow”.

There is really no reason to doubt the CRTC on this point, but it is difficult to quiet all fears when it is common knowledge that few FM stations are in the black now — and more in-depth programming for even more select audiences is going to be expensive.

Only three independently-owned FM stations exist and this may soon drop to two: as the hearings were taking place in Ottawa, Radio CKRM Regina announced that it will seek approval to take over CFMQ-FM, that city's only FM station.

The CRTC's original FM policy, last April, stated, “The commission realizes that cost benefits can be achieved through common ownership of AM and FM licences in the same community and will permit such arrangements provided its proposals are respected.” Will permit. But now the commission is being a little more realistic: Juneau said at the hearings that it could well be made a condition of a very profitable AM licence that an unprofitable FM station also be operated.

The CRTC wants private FM to be of high quality, it wants it to develop on “parallel” lines to the CBC's FM service. (Not identical, because the CBC must be national.) But, while the CBC gets public money, the commission is, in effect, asking broadcasters to subsidize themselves: out of one pocket into the other, which has a hole in it.

Certainly the CRTC's objective of adding new dimensions to radio is laudable, but the policy must enable FM stations to exist and flourish throughout the nation, not merely subsist. That's unhealthy.

A start in this direction would be to get away from the preoccupation that FM has to be a distinct, identifiable entity, bearing little resemblance to AM. Good radio is good radio. At the time the FM proposals were introduced, there was much speculation that AM was next in line — and there is no reason why some of the measures proposed for FM can not be applied to its older sister. FM should be thought of as being undeveloped, not different.

There is no reason, either, to completely throw out present FM. If asked individually, most people admit that they enjoy FM because it is predominantly music. If it turns out that stations are required to cut their schedules into blocks of different types of music, with documentaries, dramas, interviews and the like interspersed, it could well become a case of trying to please everyone and, in reality, pleasing no one.

Improvements must be made carefully, so that fears of FM becoming too dull, too intellectual and too talk-filled can find no substance.

It is quite possible to have in-depth programs based on popular music — with background information, interviews, readings Some stations have already discovered this, much to their credit and benefit.

The positive approach is that FM will become profitable as more stations offer expanded, in-depth programming — its very quantity should aid its discovery by listeners. However, it will, of course, be the quality that holds them.

Above all, like AM, FM stations should be allowed to retain an overall, identifiable format. They would then have a saleable commodity to offer advertisers: a particular type of audience.

FM is finally about to fulfill a meaningful role in Canadian broadcasting. It is right to set high standards. It is also right that private FM stations enjoy flexibility in meeting the needs of their communities.

If FM is to be healthy, the CRTC must prescribe carefully.

Your new BROADCASTER Directory . . .

You now have in your hands the most comprehensive and most referred-to Directory of Canadian broadcasting and its allied fields available today.

Hopefully, this Directory is even more informative and easier to use than its predecessors: for example, you will now find the Index at the beginning of the magazine, and the keys have been repeated wherever practical.

In our next Directory, we are planning to integrate AM and FM radio station listings, and add listings for the provincial Communications Departments.

If you can suggest further improvements to help Broadcaster meet the industry's growing needs, please get in touch.

CONTINENTAL BUILDS THE MOST AM TRANSMITTER FOR YOUR MONEY.

MOST EFFICIENT & MOST RELIABLE

Continental's unique modulation technique eliminates modulation transformers and reactors. More than 200 Continental standard AM broadcast transmitters are operating without the limitations of high power audio iron core components or the associated potential instabilities of plate modulation. Continental's Type 317C is still the most efficient, most reliable 50 KW AM transmitter available today.

MOST POPULAR

There are more Continental Type 317C 50 KW AM transmitters in service than any other single type 50 KW AM transmitter built by any manufacturer. 15 of the new Type 315/316F 5/10 KW AM transmitters were sold in the short period of May thru July, 1973.

NEWSCAST

CRTC APPROVES CBC PLANS

The Canadian Radio-Television Commission has approved six new FM radio stations for the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation. Stations in Ottawa, Quebec City and Chicoutimi will join CBF-FM Montreal to form a new French-language FM network, while English stations will be in St. John's, Nfld., Halifax and Calgary.

Decisions on the applications had been deferred by the CRTC on June 29, 1972, until other aspects of CBC radio policy had been determined. Specific areas of CRTC concern were programming, distribution and advertising.

The CBC Board of Directors has now approved funds for a five-year plan to improve coverage in 31 areas now served by affiliates. The new facilities will increase coverage by CBC owned-and-operated stations from 75 to 90 per cent of Canada's population.

Meanwhile, over the next six months to a year, the CBC will require affiliated stations to clear time for "a significantly improved volume of programs". The CRTC has directed that network programming be largely non-commercial, and "distinctly different from that available on private radio".

Editor's note: See Jack Miller's column in this issue.

CAB INTROS CAN PRO '74

A project to encourage high standards of local television production has been announced by the Canadian Association of Broadcasters.

Tv stations across Canada — both English and French — are being invited to submit their entries for Can Pro '74, the first Canadian festival of local tv programming, to be held in Regina, March 3-5, 1974. Deadline for entries is January 1, 1974.

There are four categories in the competition:

- children's programs
- news, public affairs and sports
- light entertainment
- specials

Entries will also be judged according to market size: (1) over 300,000; (2) 100-300,000; and (3) under 100,000 population.

Rules stipulate that programs must be produced and financed by a private station, and that talent must be Canadian. With the exception of specials, programs submitted must represent a series of at least eight shows. Gathering facilities for entries will be at Calgary, London and Montreal.

The festival results from a Regina meeting in June of this year and will be chaired by Bruce Cowie of CKCK-TV Regina and financed jointly by CAB and individual stations across Canada. A nominal fee will be charged for entries and for registration.

The competition is designed to focus attention on the 1200 hours of programs produced by private stations every week—the major segment of Canadian tv production and about 25 per cent of each station's schedule—and all programs accepted for Can Pro '74 will subsequently be made available through the CAB Program Exchange Library on ¾-inch videocassette.

PELADEAU ELECTED RTNDA PRESIDENT

François Peladeau of Radio-Canada, Montreal, was elected president of the Radio and Television News Directors Association of Canada at the association's recent International meeting in Seattle, Wash. He succeeds Gordon Whitehead of Radio CFPL, London, Ont.

In his report to the convention, the out-going president expressed concern regarding the increasing use of audio clips and teletype services by provincial governments. Several administrations, said Whitehead, "are convinced that the real story is not being told but that it can be given by piping into radio and television stations material selected by government employees and presented as news".

A survey by RTNDA showed that 60 per cent of Alberta's news directors opposed that province's audio service, with 66 per cent opting for a toll-free telephone service which would enable newsmen to speak to any member of the legislature.

Whitehead cited Saskatchewan's introduction of a teletype service and Ontario's expanded voice clip service as further threats to the free flow of information.

Montreal is to host the 1974 International and Canadian meetings of RTNDA, and commencing in 1975 the Canadian annual meeting will be held independently of RTNDA International, in Canada.

SASK. STARTS NEWS SERVICE

The government of Saskatchewan is establishing a network of up to 20 teletype machines to help speed distribution of news releases to the media.

Press Officer Bruce Lawson says the system will cost about $20,000 annually. Last year, some 1,100 releases were distributed by the government, which claims the new system is in response to media requests.

However, the chairman of the Saskatchewan Association of Broadcasters, Dennis Fisher of Radio CFQC Saskatoon, says the idea came from the government, which approached broadcasters as to the acceptability of such a service. The consensus of broadcasters, he said, was that they would not object to a cost-free service as long as use of material was at the discretion of stations.

ALBERTA GETS ADS FOR BEER, WINE

Advertising of wine and beer on radio and television stations is now permitted in Alberta. In making the announcement, Intergovernmental Affairs Minister Don Getty said that a committee representing both government and broadcasters would review any problems or complaints which may arise.

President Lew Roskin of the Broadcasters Association of Alberta attributed the new policy to the advent of such advertising via cable tv. "For many years, we have been trying to do away with the prejudice against broadcasting, in that the print media has been able to advertise beer and wine, while we were not." He said that research indicates advertising does not increase beer and wine consumption, but merely "creates brand preference".

Four provinces still ban broadcast advertising of beer and wine: British Columbia, Saskatchewan, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island.

NEW FACILITIES FOR TELE METROPOLE

Roland Giguère, president of Télé-Métropole Corporation, has announced a major building program for CFTM-TV Montreal.

Two new buildings, to be completed in October, 1974, are now under construction in east-end Montreal. A fourteen-storey tower will include offices, garages, studios and warehouse space, topped by a heliport, while a second building will accommodate two recording studios and allied services. The complex will give CFTM-TV the largest production studio in Canada. The station will also add a third mobile unit and seven new color cameras to its facilities.

Giguère cited the extension of the TVA network as one of the reasons for the expansion program. CFTM-TV originates much of the programming for TVA, which will add affiliates in Sherbrooke and Ottawa-Hull in the fall of 1974.

CHUM AFTER CFRW

CHUM Limited of Toronto will acquire its second western radio operation this year, if it can obtain the blessing of the Canadian Radio-Television Commission.

An agreement has been made for the purchase of CFRW AM and FM in Winnipeg for an undisclosed amount of cash from Jim Pattison Broadcasting Ltd. At the beginning of 1973, CHUM bought CKVN — now CFUN — in Vancouver, where Pattison owns Radio CJOR.

CBC TO BUY CHFA

The Canadian Broadcasting Corporation has agreed to purchase Radio CHFA Edmonton, Alberta, subject to approval by the Canadian Radio-Television Commission.

The station, established in 1949, is the last of four privately-owned French-language stations in the prairie provinces to be taken over by the CBC. Bernie Gagnon, CHFA manager, said that staff and programming will remain unchanged when the CBC assumes control next April. About half of the station's programs now originate with Radio-Canada.

FILM HOUSE REOPENS

Roger Beaudry, former vice-president and general manager of Bellevue-Pathé Limited, has been given the task of re-organizing Film House. One of Canada's largest film labs, the firm had closed its doors and gone into receivership in September, several months after its sale by Robert C. Crone to Life Investors' Syndicate.

The new owners are Signum Communications Limited and CanPlex Ltd. CanPlex is the principal investor in Global Communications Ltd., while Signum is a holding company controlling the McConnell Advertising group and Look Hear Productions of Montreal.

With the return of Film House to operations, Beaudry said he was confident that "we can overcome the difficulties encountered by the previous management and quickly return to our position of prominence in the field".

BUSHNELL NEXT ON IWC SHOPPING LIST

IWC Communications Limited of Toronto is the latest bidder for Bushnell Communications Limited of Ottawa. IWC has signed an agreement to purchase the 52 per cent interest in Bushnell now held by Western Broadcasting Company Ltd. of Vancouver. The deal is subject to approval by the Canadian Radio-Television Commission, which a year ago disallowed purchase by Western. In the interim, an option was taken, then dropped, by Standard Broadcasting Ltd.

With Bushnell ownership still unresolved, the CRTC recently renewed the licence of CJOH-TV Ottawa to only January of 1975.

The IWC-Western agreement is valued at over 12 million dollars, and would give Western purchase warrants on 600,000 IWC shares. IWC, which amalgamated its cable tv holdings with Slight Broadcasting effective July 1, 1973, is also awaiting CRTC approval of a bid for 50 per cent interest in Q Broadcasting Ltd. of Vancouver.

MAJOR MARKET BROADCASTERS LIMITED ANNOUNCES FM CANADA. AN ADDITION TO THE FAMILY

In FM's younger days it made sense for FM stations to be sold by the same group that sold the "parent stations". But MMB recognizes that it's time for a change. The days when FM was broadcasting's "new baby" are a distant memory and now that FM radio is mature and strong it should go out on its own. So FM Canada is setting up housekeeping. Like any healthy family we look forward to some rivalry, friendly and otherwise, from our aggressive offspring.

THE CBC'S EXPANDING — WITH CRTC PRIORITIES

With AM expansion plans underway, the CRTC finally let the CBC have the "carrot" — the FM licences it's wanted.

If you spotted a CRTC and a CBC executive together these days and you asked "Who's in charge here?", the CBC man likely would nod in the commissioner's direction.

That's quite a confession. The corporation spent a lot of years feeling that in matters of broadcast policy, it need talk only to the cabinet or to God (and even on those terms, there were some atheists in the crowd). Now, it recognizes the CRTC as boss.

In the long run, this attitude may be the most significant legacy of the long and sometimes-confused and sometimes-mystifying (but always gentlemanly) argument over the Radio One-Radio Two concept.

The argument is behind them now, and the CBC is back to nurturing the seeds of its new radio world, but at a different pace and following revised priorities — CRTC priorities.

The big dispute got rolling at a public hearing away back on March 28, 1972, when the CBC asked the commission for half a dozen new FM licences, to help it start spreading its FM network toward coverage approximating its national AM hookup. And to casual observers, it seemed to end late last month when the CRTC finally handed over those licences.

But in fact, the argument ended — in the sense that the CRTC finally won its point — several weeks earlier, when the commission gave the CBC the 800 AM frequency it had asked for in Thunder Bay. The corporation applied for that AM licence long after it went for all those FMs, but it got it sooner — because the AM move was the first concrete shift by the corporation away from its own radio scheme and onto the line the commission favored.

The original question had been which should get priority in CBC radio expansion — the cost-efficiency of its audience delivery, or the esoteric value of its programming? Considering the reputation the corporation had had for years of being too highbrow, it seemed odd to a lot of people to find it doing an about-face and going for cost-efficiency. But it seemed even more odd to find the CRTC stepping up to kick it back onto the old esoteric track.

After all, the steady slippage in CBC radio audiences over the years had prompted a lot of reasonable questions about whether it was keeping up with the times, or whether it was still hitching its wagon to a horse, with the taxpayer stuck for the feed bill.

What the CBC proposed was an updating of its basic radio service into an information orientation. It was to be a faster-moving, mostly-talk format, backed by the heavy research that private radio could never afford, to give it both authority and value, and — hopefully — rating numbers. This was to be Radio One.

That would mean, of course, displacing a lot (if not all) of the sort of programming that had built the image which had in turn steadily diluted the CBC audience — the symphonies, the dramas and the marvellous studies of the sex life of the stag beetle. This was to become known as Radio Two.

To accommodate this sort of programming, and to pacify what audience it had left, the corporation proposed building a second network — of FM stations. But that would take a long time, so it would spend years with several markets having only the basic AM coverage. For those markets, it planned a hybrid program lineup that it dubbed Radio Three . . . using the faster-paced new style through the day, with the old highbrow tone in the evening.

by Jack Miller

It all sounded logical. But the CRTC took a different view. There should be a place, it said, for highbrow programming. Its audience might be a minority, but minorities have rights, and this particular minority was never going to be served by private radio, so the CBC would have to look after it.

The question then was how to look after it. The CRTC again was unhappy with the CBC's plan. What was the point, it asked, of building a second network on the FM band for this sort of service? The network would have just a few 0-and-0s, with most of its outlets being affiliates, the same as the existing AM chain.

The affiliates were all commercial operations, concerned about ratings, willing to give only a paltry 20 hours or so each week to the network shows. What was the point of spending taxpayers' money to produce 120 hours of programming a week, if you were going to build a network that would distribute only 20 hours of it to a lot of your markets?

The CBC argued that this had always been the pattern for its radio networks.

The commission countered by suggesting that maybe it was time to improve the existing network's coverage, before spending a lot of public money

IWC COMMUNICATIONS LIMITED

Leslie Halpert,
B.A., B.Com., M.B.A., C.A., R.I.A.

Mr. Allan Slaight, President of IWC Communications Limited, announces the appointment of Mr. Leslie Halpert, B.A., B.Com., M.B.A., C.A., R.I.A., as Vice-President, Finance and Treasurer.

Mr. Halpert is a graduate of McGill University, Sir George Williams University and the University of California. He is a member of the Ontario and Quebec Institutes of Chartered Accountants and the Society of Industrial Accountants of Ontario. He has had extensive senior financial management experience in Canada and the United States. Immediately prior to his present appointment, he was Vice-President, Finance and Secretary-Treasurer of CTV Television Network Ltd.

IWC Communications Limited holds cable and radio licenses in Ontario and Quebec and the appointment of Mr. Halpert is an important step in the formation of a broad management base capable of further expansion and diversification within the communications industry.

to build a second one that would have the same flaws.

The only way to improve, of course, would have been for the CBC to build a whole string of 0-and-0s, to replace the affiliates. "We don't have the capital," the corporation men pleaded.

"Try to find it," the commissioners suggested.

Late last month, having tried and (amazingly) succeeded, the CBC was ready to commit to a five-year program that would see it buy or build at least 30 new AM stations of its own (half English, half French), with the Thunder Bay outlet, due on-air before Christmas, leading the parade. This should bring its 0-and-0 coverage of the population up from 75 to 90 per cent. While the building is going on, the network figures to squeeze an extra 10 to 20 hours a week of time from its affiliates — to give the listeners in those towns a little more of the service they're paying for.

And with this promise in its hand, the CRTC finally said "Yes" to those original half-dozen FM licence applications — for English stations in Calgary, Halifax and St. John's, and French ones in Quebec City, Ottawa and Chicoutimi.

That seemed a contradiction. If the commission didn't like the second-network plan at this point, why approve the stations which were to form its nucleus?

Well, as we said, this has been a gentlemanly argument. Having made its point about which kind of expansion gets first priority, the commission seemed willing to let the CBC save face by not turning it down flatly — the understanding being that the CBC would not ask for any more FM licences until it had built itself an almost total national 0-and-0 AM system.

Besides, there was — or at least, there should have been — a realization by CRTC people that they had seriously misjudged the style of what was to have been Radio One. For the past year, commissioners have been right up there on the national bandwagon, hailing This Country In The Morning and As It Happens as brilliant examples of what an information-radio service should be.

Now, when the commission was looking over this whole idea 20 months ago, it decided that Radio One showed signs of slipping too close to private radio's style. And that judgment was a big factor in souring it on the whole idea.

Yet This Country In The Morning and As It Happens are virtually the prototypes of the style the CBC planners envisaged for Radio One. And the CRTC people say they're great.

So where did they go wrong before? And did they do the CBC a disservice, were they trigger-happy in their initial judgment, and do they maybe owe the corporation a favor now, to make up (like, say, approving six FM licences)?

The CRTC does not talk openly about its mistakes, but it's a fact that at the time the commissioners were first mulling over this change, the CBC was testing the new information format on its local 6-to-9 a.m. shows in several cities. They didn't all go well. By 9 a.m., when This Country came on the air, the commissioners would be in their offices, so they wouldn't hear it much. What they did hear, day after day, was the local morning show on the Ottawa station, as they sat at breakfast.

They didn't hear the local drive-time production in Winnipeg, which had been running longer, or the one in Halifax. These two had breezed through their growing pains and were running smoothly. No — they heard the morning show on CBC Ottawa. And it was ragged at that point. The original producer went a little overboard in shifting to the new style — even used rock music to back up some of the verbal darts his host would toss at the politicians.

"Why that sounds just like private radio," CRTC people said at the time. Who needs to spend tax money for that?

Since then, the growing pains have eased and the local shows in almost all the cities where the CBC has stations of its own are clicking.

The CRTC might not admit it was wrong, but by giving the CBC those six FM licences, it has said, in effect, that the corporation can make at least the first moves toward what will eventually be the twin national networks that it was trying to sell, back when this whole convoluted discussion started.

Radio Three is going to be the rule for most cities for a few years yet — the new information format through the day and the old-style cultural melange moving back in at 8 p.m. — with the whole thing carried on a steadily-expanding AM web.

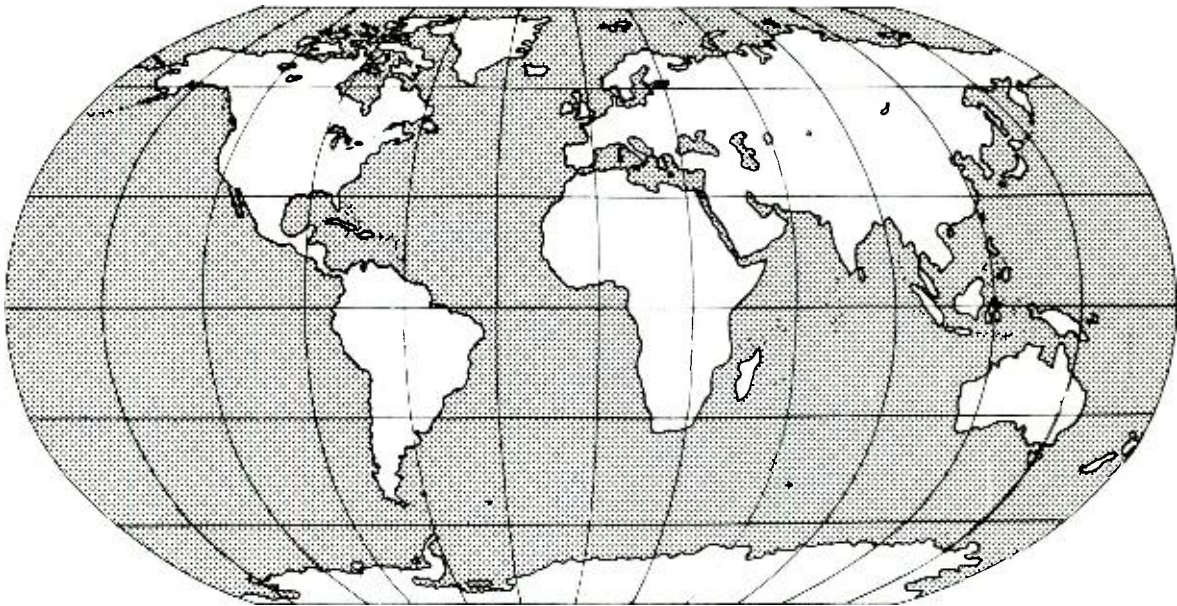

But look for Radio One and Radio Two to start emerging in a few cities where the AM and FM signals are sufficiently comparable to make certain none of the audience would be disenfranchised. Already in Montreal, on the French service, you may find information programming slipping into the later evening hours on the AM station, while the highbrow material moves more fully to FM.

This won't work in all cities where the corporation has both AM and FM stations. In Toronto, for instance, the FM signal doesn't reach as far at night as the AM, so if all the cultural lineup were shifted to FM, a lot of the audience out on the fringes would lose it, and they'd complain — and it was complaints like that which started the trouble.

But in Ottawa, where the FM signal reaches even farther than the AM, there's no need to hold back on test-runs of the twin-service plan. And in Ottawa, of course, the commissioners could listen at their leisure, and they might even buy it.

CCBA REPORT

ONTARIO & QUEBEC: The Provinces Must Be Involved

The communications ministers of Ontario and Quebec spoke at the Central Canada Broadcasters' Association 23rd annual convention Oct. 22nd in Toronto. Both emphasized that the provinces must control communications in order to safeguard culture. However, while Quebec has put cable tv regulations into effect (as of Nov. 1) that deal with programming as well as ownership, Ontario, thus far, seems more concerned with the 'mechanics' of cable tv rather than the content.

L'ALLIER:

Let's Revise the Constitution

What does Quebec want? Jean-Paul L'Allier, Quebec's Minister of Communications, told CCBA members, "We don't believe any organized community — any organized majority — would accept to give to another majority the responsibility of its culture, education . . . of what it is. This is exactly the basis of our position.

"We are concerned about content as much as we are about the instruments of communication. It is impossible to consider one without the other."

L'Allier said Quebec accepts that the federal government should set national aims and priorities and consultation policies. However, once they've been established, in consultation with the provinces, "then let us apply them over our own territory and within our own limits — because our priorities and policies may be different from those of the other provinces".

L'Allier also stated, "We will not accept a negotiation by which we end up centralizing all the decision-making in Ottawa, even if we greatly enlarge the consultation process."

The minister said it is time to sit down and revise the constitution: "We are asking the government to be realistic."

CARTON:

Wants Effective Cable Control

Gordon Carton, Ontario's Minister of Transportation and Communications, explained, "The fact is that communications, as an industry, is so important a part of the social and economic fabric of our province that the government of Ontario must be involved."

He said Ontario does not want to disrupt existing service, nor is it interested in "seeking jurisdiction for the sake of jurisdiction". One of the reasons Carton offered for Ontario's involvement is the close connection between regional planning and communications. He said he feels the federal government "recognizes that there is not only a need for provincial involvement in communications but an obligation for the provinces to exercise their responsibilities where appropriate".

Ontario wants full prior consultation on legislation affecting provincial interests. Carton said that at the November federal-provincial conference Ontario would be asking for:

- "a wide-ranging review of the communications policy in Canada, with the provinces a full participant,
- a restructuring of communications responsibilities between the federal and provincial governments,
- full participation in the federal decision-making and regulatory process leading up to and following this restructuring,
- effective control over cable communications,

- a greater role in decisions related to broadcasting and telephone."

Carton admitted he was skirting the "explicit question of provincial jurisdiction". He also said he did not want broadcasters to feel left out: the fact that more attention has been paid to cable "is a reflection of the basically high quality of service provided in Ontario and our regard for your industry as good corporate citizens of our province, not a lack of interest.

"We would hope that the executive committee of the CCBA will entertain our suggestion that a joint study committee be created between the CCBA and the Ministry of Transportation and Communications."

L'ALLIER & CARTON

During a question period following both ministers' speeches, Carton said it was necessary to differentiate between a federal policy and a national policy; there should be a national policy.

When asked about his goal of "effective control" over cable, Carton said it relates to franchising. He added that Ontario would like to have a provincially appointed representative on the CRTC, who would be part of the decision-making.

L'Allier was asked why it was felt necessary to permit cable companies to carry advertising. He responded that the revenue will permit local production, which, in turn, protects the French culture, since such production must be in French.

Neither communications minister could say that his government had drafted a policy which would protect broadcasters from cable tv. Both said they shared the concerns of the CRTC. However, L'Allier said that Quebec would go to court to support cable companies against the CRTC.

ASSOCIATIONS NEED MORE INTRA-COMMUNICATION

Philippe de Gaspé Beaubien, chairman of the Canadian Association of Broadcasters, made a plea to Canada's broadcasters to "close ranks" and work together.

The sparse attendance at that early morning session of the CCBA convention seemed to testify for Beaubien's concern that members are not taking action on common causes, but rather, are too busy with day-to-day business — reacting instead of initiating.

He described the restructuring that the CAB has been undergoing but said the association will work properly only if there is more communication between the association and its members. There must be information available upon which to plead broadcasting's case:

APPOINTMENT

FRANK (SKIP) BRAUN

Mr. Herbert S. Stewart, General Manager, MCA TV (Canada) and President, MCA Canada Ltd., is pleased to announce the appointment of Mr. Frank (Skip) Braun as Manager of Syndicated Sales in Canada for MCA TV (Canada). Mr. Braun brings to his new position nearly twenty years' experience in the television industry both in station operation and sales.

"We don't know enough about what our members are doing."

Beaubien also pointed out that broadcasters are making too little preparation for training successors. That, as well as improving communication with the community, is all part of the broader picture which, all too often, is being overlooked.

COMPUTER PROBLEMS DUE MOSTLY TO PEOPLE

A panel on "Computers in Broadcasting" discussed the various systems available and their capabilities.

The sole broadcaster on the panel, Don Hamilton, vice-president of Moffat Communications and general manager of Radio CKLG Vancouver, hastened to assure his audience that he was not an expert on the computer: "I only understand what it does." Hamilton said it took two years and "a thousand heartaches" to find the right system to meet CKLG's requirements.

Station inventory problems, he said, are compounded by human error and forgetfulness: availabilities must be found before it's too late to sell them. A computer must be able to handle the commercial format of the individual station.

In response to a question, another panelist, Jack Finlayson of Broadcast Computer Services, Colorado Springs, gave these criteria for determining a station's need for a computer:

- more than two people in traffic, accounting and billing
- a real problem with availabilities
- an extremely demanding format or sales pattern (e.g., rotation)

Failures in the use of computers, he observed, are very often people problems: "If you can't discipline yourself to a computer, then the computer won't work."

NEW CCBA OFFICERS

Walter Machny, general manager of Radio CFCF Montreal, was elected president of the Central Canada Broadcasters' Association, succeeding Don Lawrie.

New vice-president is John Birmingham, Radio CKLC Kingston, and secretary-treasurer is Ross Hamilton of CKNX-TV Wingham.

Directors at-large are Wally Rewegan of CHEX-TV Peterborough, George Jeffrey of Radio CKPR Thunder Bay, and Don Thomas, Radio CFCO Chatham.

Lawrie and John Radford, of CFJR Brockville, were elected to the board of the Canadian Association of Broadcasters and a meeting of subscribers to Broadcast News chose Wally Slatter of Radio CJOY Guelph as CCBA rep on the BN board for a two-year term.

New chairman of the Engineering Section of the CCBA is Burt Verwey, chief engineer at CKVR-TV Barrie. Dale Duffield, CFPL-TV London, is secretary-treasurer; Bob Findlay, CFCF-TV Montreal, manufacturers liaison; Reg McCausland, CJCH-TV Halifax, papers chairman; and Gene Hinz, CFCO Chatham, news letter chairman.

TWO U.S. EXAMPLES OF STATION PROMO

Contrasting promotional approaches were described to CCBA members by representatives of two American radio stations.

Jerry Wishnow, creative services director, Radio WBZ Boston, described how his station became a "friend" to the community; in other words, taking an active part in both problems and fun. WBZ has been in the forefront of moves to change drug laws, encourage physical fitness, stop smoking and ease traffic congestion with their "Commuter Computer Clubcar", a jazzed-up car pool. Several of the campaigns have received national press coverage.

Eddie Allgood, the "fastest mouth in the south" as well as vice-president and general manager, Radio WDVA Danville, Virginia, gave a high-powered talk on promoting a station in a small market — where competition is so intense that spots sell for about $5.

Every time his salesmen make a call, they leave a new promo item with the client, whether it be a giant paper clip, miniature sewing kit, magnet, "cricket" or whatever.

Allgood also played examples of on-air station promo spots and of ads for clients (such as a "fire sale" for a fire that hadn't happened yet). It was all quite entertaining but it's doubtful the CRTC would sanction everything Allgood suggested. . . .

Casimir G. Stanczykowski, chairman of the board, president and founder of Radio CFMB Montreal, Canada's first multilingual radio station, accepts the Howard Caine Memorial Award from Jean Caine, president and general manager of Radio CHWO Oakville.

Stanczykowski was honored for his public service, through the Canadian Citizenship Federation, the Quebec Ethnic Arts Council, art exhibitions, help to university students and several other organizations and causes.

- Robin Barber, a student at Ryerson Polytechnical Institute in Toronto, won top honors in this year's CCBA Essay Contest — $1,000 and a plaque — for an essay "The Future of Private Radio Broadcasting in Canada".

Runner-up, and winner of $500, was Kathy Keeley, a student at Sheridan College in Oakville, for "The Role of the CBC as it Affects Private Broadcasting in Canada".

Ruth Hancock, who served many years as executive secretary of the CCBA and manager of the Toronto office of the CAB before joining the CTV Network, was named 1973 Broadcaster of the Year by the CCBA.

The hand-printed scroll read, in part, "for her diligence, competence and incredibly energetic enthusiasm . . . for her unusual perception and downright decisiveness, along with a great combination of tough-mindedness and un-failing good humor . . . with excellence and fairness uppermost she is able to propel each of us involved with her and our broadcasting association activities into a level of performance which we could not achieve without her. . . ."

Ruth has been hospitalized for some time and the presentation was made there.

CABLE DOMINATES CRTC HEARING

Cable television applications for Vernon and Kamloops occupied most of last month's hearing by the Canadian Radio-Television Commission in Vernon, B.C. The hearing, which began October 10th, was extended into the weekend to deal with the lengthy agenda.

Eight applicants sought the Kamloops territory — now the largest municipality in British Columbia, with an area of 140 square miles — while there were five applicants for Vernon.

A major concern of the CRTC was proposals to compensate existing tv stations for any losses which may result from fragmentation of the audience. British Columbia Television, which has rebroadcasters in both Kamloops and Vernon, is already required to compensate the local stations — CFJC-TV Kamloops and CHBC-TV Kelowna, which has a rebroadcaster in Vernon. BCTV is asking that the successful cable applicants in each city be required to take over this responsibility.

Central Interior Cablevision Ltd., which hopes to bring cable tv to the Cariboo area of B.C., urged the commission to specify that one common carrier provide microwave facilities for both the Okanagan and Cariboo regions.

Metro Media Association of Vancouver, a non-profit organization which promotes community access to broadcasting, asked the CRTC to set up production centres which would be separate from the cable companies, but funded by them.

The opening day of the hearing was marked by a clash between Wendell Wilks of Edmonton Video Ltd. and CRTC counsel John Lawrence. Wilks, vice-president and general manager of the new tv station licensed for Edmonton, was intervening in the application by the city's two cable systems to import the signals of ABC and NBC outlets in Spokane, Wash. He argued that there is already more American than Canadian programming on the two systems and quoted CRTC guidelines on the danger of wholesale importation of U.S. shows. Lawrence objected to the commission being lectured on its own guidelines. He said that Edmonton Video was well aware of the likelihood of increased competition from U.S. signals when it sought its licence last January.

U.S. DEBATES COPYRIGHT LAW

A bill to cover payment of copyright fees by cable television systems is under discussion by a committee of the U.S. Senate.

The bill proposes a three-year trial period during which fees would start at one per cent on the first $40,000 of gross revenue, and increase an additional one per cent on each further $40,000, to reach a maximum of five per cent on revenues over $160,000.

In reacting to the proposal, the film industry claims that the cablecasters could afford 15 to 20 per cent, while the National Cable Television Association argues that the rates should be halved. Both industries, however, agree that systems with fewer than 3,500 subscribers should be exempted from the fees.

BROADCASTERS VS. CABLE ... AND VICE-VERSA

David Foster, president of the National Cable Television Association, has urged cable operators to oppose the campaign by the broadcasting industry in the U.S. against pay-cable. He said that the attack is in fact "against cable tv as a growing industry . . . they don't want us to become the national communications resource that we must become. . . ."

Referring to a $600,000 campaign by the broadcasters, Foster added: "If the broadcasting industry is successful at the FCC or in Congress in limiting the ways that we can use our cable system, it affects the value, it affects the financing capacity, it affects everything about the future of this industry."

NCTA has earmarked an initial amount of $250,000 to "fight attempts of broadcasters to discredit and retard development of subscription cablecasting".

CCTA SEEKS ACTION ON PAY TELEVISION

The Canadian Cable Television Association has urged the Canadian Radio-Television Commission to implement its policy of October, 1972, regarding pay television.

In a recent letter to the commission, CCTA noted that the stated policy is that pay tv is to be developed by licensed systems. "A year later, we find the market being well served by illegal, foreign-owned, unlicensed cable services. Agencies of the federal government, such as the Canadian National Hotels and the National Film Board, are now actively associated with these unlicensed video-publishers in pay-tv programs in the hotels."

OTTAWA CABLEVISION LIMITED APPOINTMENTS

JAMES SEAL

Mr. John S. Reid, Managing Director of Ottawa Cablevision Limited, is pleased to announce the appointment of William E. Holmes as General Manager — Operations, and of James Seal as Engineer.

Mr. Holmes joined the firm in 1966 as Sales Manager and was appointed Assistant Manager in 1969. He is also General Manager of Pembroke Cablevision Limited, a wholly-owned subsidiary of Ottawa Cablevision Limited. In his new position Mr. Holmes will be responsible for the daily operation of both companies.

Mr. Seal, a recent graduate of Electrical Engineering from Carleton University will be involved in technical developments relating to the cable operations. He will also provide the firm with a research and development capability. Ottawa Cablevision Limited is currently updating its entire system so as to be prepared for the new generation of cable technology.

UNLICENSED SYSTEM HALTED BY COURT

A decision by the Ontario Supreme Court has forbidden Communicomp Data Ltd. from advertising and selling its cable tv services in Mississauga, Ont. However, Communicomp, owned by S. B. McLaughlin, a large developer in the area west of Toronto, was permitted to supply service to McLaughlin-owned apartment and office buildings.

With the support of a previous town council, disgruntled by the CRTC's parcelling of cable tv licences, the company had been offering connection for a one-time payment of $35. In June, the CRTC and the Department of Communications charged Communicomp with operating an unlicensed system, a violation of the Broadcasting Act. Shortly after, two licensed operators in Mississauga, Keeble Cable and Terra Communications, requested an injunction against Communicomp. Terra charged that the unlicensed competition had forced it into a deficit position.

The interim injunction is effective until charges laid by the federal authorities are disposed of by the Ontario courts.

SASK. TAKEOVER BID TERMED "THEFT"

Agra Industries Inc. has rejected a proposal from the provincially-owned Saskatchewan Telecommunications for takeover of its cable tv system in Weyburn.

Sask Tel offered to buy the system for $50,000, then lease it back to Agra for $5,630 monthly. B. B. Torchinsky, president of Agra, described the offer as "almost a stealing of our system". He said his company remained willing to negotiate an agreement for use of Sask Tel poles to replace a 10-year arrangement which had expired early this year.

CABLESYSTEMS DROPS CHATHAM BID

The bid by Canadian Cablesystems Ltd. to acquire large holdings in the Jarmain cable group is included on the agenda of the November 26th hearing in Toronto of the Canadian Radio-Television Commission. The purchase, if approved, would give Cablesystems control of systems in the Chatham, London, Brantford, Newmarket, Oshawa and Kingston areas.

However, the company has dropped plans to acquire full ownership of Chatham Cable TV Ltd., as a result of difficulties in negotiating a price with London Free Press Holdings Ltd., which owns 50 per cent of Chatham Cable TV. Cablesystems sought consideration should Ontario impose increased property taxes on cable tv operators; the Jarmain group agreed, but London Free Press Holdings rejected any lowering of the purchasing price.

In another application, the CRTC will be asked to allow the Toronto Star Ltd. to purchase 50 per cent of Keeble Cable Television Ltd., operators of cable systems in Toronto, Mississauga and Alliston, Ont.

PROVINCES PREPARE TO MEET OTTAWA

Communications ministers from across Canada meet in Ottawa November 29-30 to discuss the Green Paper issued by federal minister Gerard Pelletier last spring. At a previous meeting in Moncton, N.B., the provincial ministers prepared for a united stand to obtain "substantial responsibilities" in the communications field. They called for negotiation, rather than court action, to settle differences between the federal and provincial jurisdictions, and said that the conference should be open to the media to promote wider public understanding of the issues.

Of the ten provinces, only New Brunswick and Nova Scotia are willing to accept federal control, provided that there be a "full consultative process".

700 FEET TO GO

As of late October, Toronto's CN Tower was approaching the 1100-foot level, the point at which the public observation decks and revolving dining room will be located. At 1500 feet there'll be another observation deck. The top 305 feet of the tower's total 1800-foot height will be a transmission mast for tv and FM.

APARTMENTS ARE CABLE TARGET

The Canadian Cable Television Association has presented a brief to the Hon. George Kerr, Provincial Secretary for Justice, calling for amendments in the Ontario Landlord and Tenant Act. CCTA complains that the existing act allows landlords to prevent tenants from receiving cable tv service.

The brief says that tenants should have the same freedom of choice as homeowners, including access to cable tv supplied by federally-licensed operators. Individual antennas or master antenna systems in apartment buildings usually result in substandard reception.

According to Robert C. Short, president of the association, "cable television is moving from interconnection to interaction with subscribers and will, in the future, provide valuable response service". He said it was important that all Ontario residents have access to these services.

In Toronto, eight cable operators have entered an agreement with 20 of the city's largest developers to provide cable tv. A ten-year contract will cover some 74,000 apartments in nearly 400 buildings. The monthly service fee to the building owners will range from 75 cents to $2.25 per apartment, and the cable operators will remain responsible for meeting federal technical requirements. The agreement is believed to be the first of its kind in Canada.

APPOINTMENT HARDY RADIO & TELEVISION

JEAN-CLAUDE TREMBLAY

Jean A. Pouliot, President and Managing Director of Télé-Capitale Ltée, is pleased to announce the appointment of Jean-Claude Tremblay, formerly Vice-President/Québec, as Executive Vice-President and General Manager of Hardy Radio and Television (Radio et Télévision Hardy). General management of the company is now centralized in Montreal.

The Pick-Up Pros.

WOR-FM, a leading American FM/Stereo rock station, has been using Stanton cartridges since its inception.

Program Director Sebastian Stone likes the smooth, clean sound the Stanton delivers; the way it is able to pick up everything on the record so that the station can assure high quality transmission of every recording.

Eric Small, Chief Engineer for WOR-FM, likes the way that Stanton cartridges stand up under the wear and tear of continuous use. "We standardized on Stanton a couple of years back," Small said, "and we haven't had a cartridge failure since." Studio Supervisor Artie Altro concurs.

Whether you're a professional or simply a sincere music lover, the integrity of a Stanton 681 Series cartridge delivers the quality of performance you want.

It affords excellent frequency response, channel separation, compliance and low mass and tracking pressure. And every Stanton cartridge is fitted with the exclusive "longhair" brush to keep grooves clean and protect the stylus.

All Stanton cartridges are designed for use with all two and four-channel matrix derived compatible systems.

A report by the Fund for the City of New York on cable tv recommends that the two systems be required to comply with their franchise terms and set up 20 live origination points for public access. However, the report says financing should come from the people and organizations which benefit from access. Also, it recommends that the FCC designate the public access channels as common carriers, so that the producers, not the cable operators, bear the legal responsibility for their programs' content — which sounds like a good idea, since programs have included a graphic description of a transsexual operation . . . "The Complete Guide to Cable Marketing", the official transcript of NCTA's second annual marketing workshop, is available from the association, 918 16th St., N.W., Washington, D.C., at $4.95 per copy for non-members.

Rogers Cable brings you 7 options to yet another whacky episode of I Love Lucy.

We've got an amazing little device that just might give you some relief from the kind of programming that has you watching reruns of old sitcoms for half the year. It's called a Rogers Cable. You simply put one on the back of a set and right before your very eyes you start seeing things above and beyond My Favourite Martian.

In fact a Rogers Cable entitles you to seven different channels all produced through Rogers. Informative and entertaining channels that make your TV communicate with you a little better.

For instance channel 10 is a community access channel that tells you public affairs and information that affects the Rogers community.

Channels 5 and 9 broadcast 24 hours of local, national and international news as well as weather and sports.

Channel 14 is for multi cultural television. 24 hours of non-English language programming including productions from overseas as well as from Rogers.

Channel 15 lets you know how your stocks are doing with Dow Jones information from the Toronto and Vancouver Stock Exchange.

Channel 30 brings you 3 golden movies a day. Good feature films with 3 star ratings or better.

Channel 28 can keep you posted on airport arrivals and departures with detailed reports 24 hours a day.

Channel 27 provides useful information for the consumer. Things like comparison shopping to help you know how to get the best value when shopping, job availabilities from Canada Manpower, a free lost and found service for our subscribers, and programming announcements.

We're not trying to compete with the big networks, all we're trying to do is offer our subscribers topical or entertaining options. Now what has I Love Lucy done for you lately?

WHAT'S GOOD FOR MANITOBA NOT BAD FOR AGENCIES

The Manitoba government's own media buying service, the Advertising Audit Office, is now fully staffed (three people) and working well, according to the Assistant Deputy Minister of Communications and Information Services, Kenneth Goldstein.

Speaking to the Association of Canadian Advertisers in Toronto on Oct. 17, Goldstein explained the rationale behind the new set-up and the areas of expected savings. He also denounced press and agency critics who attacked the Manitoba plan without fully understanding it: "a remarkable number of executives of large advertising agencies are willing to make public statements without first getting any first-hand information".

However, Goldstein said little opposition was raised by Winnipeg agencies (the government deals with five main ones), who understood that the government's switch from the commission system to the fee-for-service system was no real threat. And the reaction of most media was "both logical and lucid".

The government's advertising is still created by agencies, now working on a fee system, but the co-ordination and purchasing for public sector advertising is handled by the Advertising Audit Office, within the office of the Queen's Printer. Each government department and crown corporation still controls the theme and content of its ads, and media purchasing will follow agencies' advice, but the centralized system allows the government to buy as a single corporate client, at the net rate, thus achieving full volume and frequency discounts based on its total buying power.

The new system cuts out three steps in the method of buying government advertising, serves as an internal control system and should speed payment of bills. Savings of $150,000 (roughly 10 per cent of the ad budget) are expected in the first year, from three areas: better internal administration, volume and frequency discounts and fees averaging less than was spent on commissions. The projected savings include a cost of $40,000 a year to operate the Advertising Audit Office.

Goldstein does not feel agencies will, in total, suffer under the new system:

"We believe the agencies can stand on their own, without the crutch of the commission system . . . the commission system often ignores the amount of work done by an agency. . . . We believe that the services offered by agencies are worth paying for, and do not need to be justified as something that is thrown in as a bonus from the media when a client buys through an agency."

In the transition period (about a year), the government has asked agencies to propose their own fees, but Goldstein says the government has a pretty good idea of what they'll be. The fee system, he said, "lends itself naturally to being used as a sophisticated management information tool in terms of monitoring the advertising process".

Goldstein added that what's good for Manitoba may not be best for any major advertiser, but concluded, "it seems that by putting our own house in order, we have begun to change the old commission system, and to make room for new ideas in the way advertising is handled in Canada". ■

JUNEAU ASKS INDUSTRY FOR CONSTRUCTIVE CRITICISM

"It is difficult at times," said Pierre Juneau, "not to lose patience with those who insist on criticizing the methods used to meet these objectives without making any effort themselves to propose alternate solutions."

Juneau, chairman of the Canadian Radio-Television Commission, was speaking to the Association of Canadian Advertisers on Oct. 17th — and there were a good many broadcasters in the audience, listening to his tough-minded stance.

The objectives Juneau referred to were, generally speaking, improving and maintaining the health of the Canadian broadcasting system. At the moment, the chairman said it is threatened by a "technological cancer": Canada needs a determined effort to increase production and creativity — in short, a "cultural energy policy".

Juneau reminded his audience that the commission has announced its backing of the industry's self-regulatory code on advertising to children; it will have "virtually the strength of regulations, while maintaining all the flexibility and responsiveness of an industry code". The commission will require individual commitments from all broadcasters that they will abide by the code and the CRTC will monitor and evaluate monthly reports on its enforcement.

All commercials, regardless of their target, will have to be made in Canada soon, if the commission has its way. Juneau said proposals on production requirements will be announced probably by December. "In almost every country of the world," he continued, "business enterprises use the idiom of the country to sell their wares."

And American-produced commercials will not reach us even on American signals, if those signals are carried on cable tv. Both the substitution of the Canadian signal for the U.S. one, when both are carrying the same show, and the deletion of U.S. commercials from U.S. signals are intended to restore the licensing logic of the Canadian broadcasting system, Juneau said, "not to reduce or interfere with the free importation of foreign ideas".

Program substitution, though not entirely smooth yet, seems successful, the chairman said. He cited resulting audience gains for Canadian signals varying from 20 to 56 per cent when substitution was practised.

The commission expects commercial deletion to begin in several parts of Canada this season. In recent decisions for New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and two Montreal licensees, the CRTC has made it a condition that commercials be deleted if U.S. signals are to be brought in.

However, Juneau said: "It is up to the broadcasters to decide whether they want to substitute Canadian commercials. We suspect that in most cases, they will not. The commission will only insist that some material be substituted so that the result for the viewer is as pleasant as possible."

Much criticism has been levelled at the commission for its policies — in particular, the deletion/substitution policy — but Juneau said the commission hasn't heard much in the way of solutions from anyone else and, "unless much more is done, the Canadian broadcasting system will not survive".

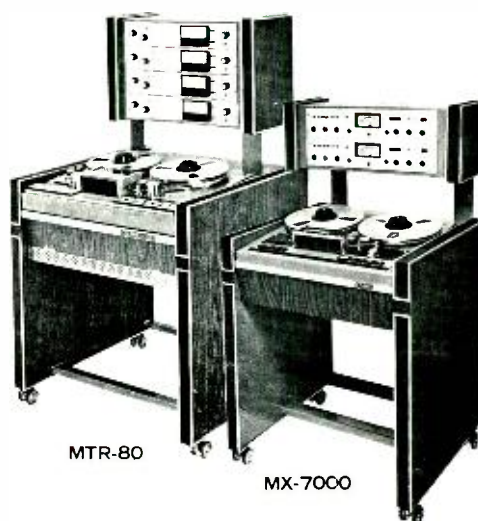

"If we can't maintain and develop a broadcasting system," he concluded, "Canada may remain some kind of trading mechanism but I doubt it will remain a country." ■

Arthur Harrison has resigned as executive vice-president and general manager of Hardy Radio and Television. Jean Pouliot, president and managing director of Télé-Capitale Ltée, has announced a restructuring for Hardy: general management is centralized in Montreal and Jean-Claude Tremblay assumes Harrison's position. Dick Sienko becomes vice-president and manager of the Toronto office . . . What is claimed to be the biggest individual concentrated FM buy on the part of any Canadian advertiser was made in October by Labatt's (Que.) Ltd. through BCP Advertising. Labatt's is spending about $20,000 on an 85-hour history of rock & roll in Canada, produced by Radio CKVL-FM Montreal. The program, called "Evolution" was aired 17 evenings in November; it was designed by Paul Tietolman to provide an in-depth study of the development of French rock music over the last decade. Labatt's plans to join CKVL-FM in syndicating the show around the world . . . Major Market Broadcasters Ltd. has formed an autonomous subsidiary, FM Canada, headed by John Rourke, to concentrate "solely on national sales development of our FM stations" . . . Golden Grain has started an extensive tv campaign for Rice-A-Roni in Western Canada which will run through the summer of '74. In addition to spots on stations in the four western provinces, Golden Grain has purchased time in Seattle, Bellingham and Spokane to carry its message "into homes in Western Canada" . . . Radiomutuel has engaged a linguistics expert, Jean Darbelnet of Laval University, to keep tabs on the quality of French spoken on its five stations . . . Cockfield, Brown & Co. has acquired Industrial Advertising Agency Ltd., which will continue to operate from its existing offices. It will be identified as Industrial Marketing Communications . . . Babs Pitt had to resign as president-elect of the Broadcasters Promotion Association since her new job as vice-president of Champlain Productions isn't in the promotion field . . . CJOH-TV Ottawa and OECA have signed up for Nielsen's tv service . . . John Twomey has resigned as manager of CJRT-FM Toronto and will concentrate on his duties as chairman of Ryerson's radio and tv arts dept. He was discouraged by the Ontario government's lack of decision on the station's fate. Acting manager is Cameron Finley . . . Radio CKGM Montreal set up two "hot lines" to its newsroom so Montrealers could call at anytime, 24 hours a day, to get updated information on the war in the Middle East . . . Jacques DuSault & Associates, Quebec, through its research subsidiary, Marketec, has established a francophone consumer panel of 100 participants . . . The CBC has announced a new system of broadcasting awards within the corporation to honor both talent and production. Competition will be national and bilingual, in the categories of documentary, drama, music and news. This year's winner of the Wilderness Award, as best film shown on CBC-TV in '72, was "The Fraser and the Future", a Vancouver documentary produced by Mike Poole . . . When Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau was in China, listeners of Radio CJBK London, Ont., were given a chance to ask the station's Warren Michaels, who was on the tour, about the country — via a two-hour satellite/telephone hook-up to CJBK's "Focus" program . . . RSB is offering a manual called "Radio for Retailers" to advertisers, agencies and broadcasters . . . A weekly 15-minute show on Britain's pop music field is available free to Canadian radio stations. A preview tape may be obtained from Sylvia Kavanagh, Radio Officer, British Information Services, 80 Elgin St., Ottawa . . . Trident Television Ltd., which controls two of Britain's commercial tv licences, has joined with Fremantle of Canada Ltd. to co-produce a series of 26 half-hours based on "The Swiss Family Robinson" . . . Palette Productions has a contract with Global TV for film processing and has facilities set up at Global Centre . . . The CTV Network has been awarded exclusive Canadian tv rights for the 1976 Olympics in Innsbruck, Austria. The CBC also made a bid . . . Radio CKIQ Kelowna's traffic-building commercial for a local car dealer built a little too much traffic for the dealer to handle — he insisted the ad be stopped. You just can't win . . . The ACA is offering a 20-page guide called "Advertising: An Advocate's Handbook" which provides answers to help put detractors in their place . . . "Film Canadiana", the Canadian Film Institute's yearbook of cinema, carries information on more than 1,400 film and tv programs and lists production and distribution companies. It's available from the CFI . . . Toronto's VTR Productions has a full-color broadcast mobile unit based in Tampa, Fla., and winter's coming . . . Two Canadians are among the 17 appointed, throughout the world, as Fellows of the Society of Motion Picture and Television Engineers: Chester Beachell, senior research officer of the National Film Board of Canada, and Maurice French, supervisor of technical film operations for the CBC . . . Happy 20th anniversary to CFPL-TV London . . . In Britain, BBC Television has come up with a new program for children. ON THE AIR

The AKG C-12B condenser microphone... a new low in distortion, a new high in studio quality.

AKG's answer to many of the demands of sound engineers and leading studios is the C-12B condenser microphone.

To meet the demand for an extremely low level of distortion, a preamplifier was fitted with a muvistor low frequency circuit.

For durability and elimination of short-circuiting electrodes at high amplitudes, a large twin diaphragm was incorporated, using gold-plated mylar foil.

Nine variable patterns, identical in phasing, sensitivity and directional characteristics, were made possible for a wide selection during recording...

especially stereo.

And a frequency range from 20 to 20,000 Hz was provided, with a deviation from a flat frequency response curve of ± 2 db.

Couple the C-12B with microphone and audio cable, and you have a superb system for recording studios, broadcast, television and the theatre. To find out how superb, write Double Diamond Electronics Limited, 34 Progress Avenue, Scarborough M1P 2Y4. Double Diamond has thirteen factory service outlets across Canada for your convenience.

DOUBLE  DIAMOND

PROMO

The real licence plate looks rather insignificant beside what must be the world's largest (even if it is fake). Tourists may be confused by these busboards, but they're no problem for Radio CFX Victoria listeners.

• "Sound in the Round", a special four-day promotion October 24-27, was a co-operative project for Eaton's of Canada by the four private stations in Halifax-Dartmouth. Broadcasting from studios in the store, each station was featured for a full day. In addition to showing radio in action, the promotion focussed on sound equipment for the home. It's believed to be the first time the four stations — CFDR, CHFX-FM, CHNS and CJCH — have co-operated on a single promotion.

To strengthen its on-air identity and distinguish itself from the CTV Network, whose programs it carries, BCTV has adopted a new symbol and logo-type. Creative House came up with a modified dogwood blossom, B.C.'s official flower, and a logo which lends itself to animation.

An all-expenses-paid trip for two to Expo '74, the world's fair to be held in Spokane, Wash. from May to Nov., is one of the major prizes being offered in a seven-week promotion by Radio CJOR Vancouver. Listeners try to match numbers announced on-air to numbers in issues of CJOR/60 News, which is distributed throughout the Vancouver area. Here, finalizing plans, are Don Wall (l), general manager of CJOR, and Stuart Wilson, vice-president of Meek/Wilson Public Relations Ltd., Expo '74's Canadian PR reps.

- A summer promotion by Radio CKOV Kelowna, B.C., offering a free weekend barbeque to winners of draws every two weeks, received 9,000 entries. Two CKOV announcers took food supplied by Super Valu, beverages and a Charmglow barbeque unit to each winner's house and cooked for his or her family and friends.
- Every morning, Radio CKRM Regina's Paul Revere calls a telephone booth and if someone answers 'Hello, is this Paul Revere?' he wins a polaroid camera.

CKWS Radio & TV Kingston and CHEX Radio & TV Peterborough recently staged a joint promotion, stemming from their King-Pete area nickname, aimed at agency media people. Seven mailers distributed through July and August bore royal messages from King Pete, culminating in a gala Royal Reception at Casa Loma on Sept. 19th for more than 500 people.

Here (l-r), Wally Rewegan, CHEX manager; King Pete; Liane Abramson, a media buyer with Grey Advertising who won the King's Ransom of $250; Al Brooks, CKWS manager; Don Lawrie, director of broadcast operations, Kawartha/Frontenac Broadcasting Ltd.; and Harold Abernethy, vice-president and general manager of S&T Radio, the stations' reps, look suitably regal.

A giant promotion heralded the return of "FUN Radio" to Vancouver. A multi-media campaign created by Creative House Ltd. let both the industry and the public know that CHUM Western Ltd. was changing CKVN back to CFUN. Sept. 30th was designated Fun-Day, with 6:00 p.m. being the exact moment of 'The Changing of the Letters'. Right after the change, listeners were called, and the first to answer with "C-FUN's back" and the day's Funword received $5,000. It took under an hour to find a winner. (The Funword campaign continues, with top prize being $1,000.)

The station's clients in Vancouver, Toronto and Montreal received "Launch Kits" with a half-bottle of champagne, glass, seagull pennant (denoting the west coast) and log book on the campaign.

Original artwork of the CFUN seagull was presented to Allan Waters (l), president, CHUM Western Ltd., by Gary McCarty, vice-president, Creative House Ltd., and Bob Miller, creative director.

Why our time base correctors should be the apple of your eye

Proven Flexibility in Standalone Time Base Correctors

Regardless of your VTR—power line-locked, capstan servo'd/V-locked, or H-locked—our Delta Series Time Base Correctors and Hue Shift Correctors offer standalone processing of all color signals—either NTSC direct, "NTSC-type" or heterodyne "color under." And in monochrome—either RS-170 or RS-330 industrial sync.

Offering the best economy and flexibility, the Delta 44-328 HETROCOLOR™ TBC works with all types of monochrome and color VTRs. Particularly in cassette VTRs without our TBC, the color tape will be a long way from FCC acceptance. Aside from independently varying sync and sub-carrier frequencies, editing capabilities are marginal. The HETROCOLOR TBC is the only unit on the market that allows transfer of heterodyne record VTR signals to a broadcast VTR. Second generation playback of this tape through the TBC corrects the color signal for broadcast with clean electronic splices.

For the best cost/performance package in the business, select the standalone Delta 44-200 NTSC Direct Color TBC coupled with the Delta 7 VELCOR Hue Shift Corrector for the finest in broadcast color processing.

And if you're staying with monochrome somewhere in your system, our Delta 44-028 TBC combines broadcast specs with our lowest price.

For more flexibility, we've added the Delta 23/3.58MHz subcarrier generator as an accessory to the Delta 44-328 TBC for combined outputs that are the equivalent of a broadcast stable NTSC color sync generator.

Exclusive Features of Our Growing TBC Family

Optimized Design. Of the several ways to eliminate time base error generated by all VTRs, we primarily use binary related delay lines which are switched in or out of the signal path at line rate. This technique offers the highest output performance looking at all the critical specifications of signal to noise ratio, bandwidth, differential phase and differential gain. There is no tampering with the visual portion of the picture. There is no contouring and quantizing noise as in digital techniques, or differential phase/gain variation as in EVLD techniques.

Velocity Error Corrector. In NTSC direct playbacks from 1" helical and all quad VTRs, color streaking (velocity error) is another problem that must be solved when either interchanging tapes or dubbing through several generations. Adding our Delta 7 VELCOR™ Hue Shift Corrector in front of any broadcast quality TBC, you get faithful color reproduction as well as imperceptible time base jitter throughout the entire picture.

Universal Color Corrector. In "NTSC-type" and "color under" playbacks from 1/2", 3/4" and 1" VTRs, all you need is our exclusive HETROCOLOR TBC, despite the wide variety of color recording and recovery techniques.

Full Proc Amp. All Delta Series TBCs have a built-in Delta 21 proc amp with front panel controls for video gain, setup, chroma gain, and chroma phase. The plug-in Delta 28 with front panel controls for gen-lock tracking rate and H-phase timing is included in all Television Microtime models working with less sophisticated VTRs.

TMI's exclusive built-in Delta 21 proc amp and Delta 28 TBD.

Front Panel Switches. All our TBCs have illuminated front panel switches to provide easy selection of operating modes. These include separate monitor and program video outputs on separate in/out and operate/bypass switches. A failsafe program bypass exists to handle power loss.

Experience is Our Guide

We introduced the first of our Delta family at the Chicago NAB Show in April 1972 and delivered our first production unit to the University of North Carolina two months later. In March 1973 at the Washington NAB Show we introduced two additional TBC models, the Delta 7 Hue Shift Corrector and several accessories. We are now delivering this family of products that work with the whole spectrum of VTRs from 1/2" helical to 2" quad.

But our experience goes back even further. In addition to developing custom TBC products for the networks, we've been supplying delay lines to Ampex Corporation who builds them into the full line corrector in their AVR-1 Teleproduction Recorder.

sooner or later . . .
every broadcaster will want to own a* NAGRA[®]
PROFESSIONAL TAPE RECORDER

the incredible
NAGRA SN "a vest pocket studio"

one inch thick, weighs 17 oz., battery powered, delivers broadcast quality sound under the most difficult recording conditions.
80 to 15,000 hz, ± 2 dB, signal to noise ratio 60 dB, wow and flutter $\pm 0.1\%$, useable temperature range $-67^{\circ} + 160^{\circ}$, built to military standards, pilot synchronization system available.

NAGRA IVS professional stereo model this Nagra is the "benchmark" against which all others are measured. The sound track of every United States film produced in recent years was recorded by a Nagra recorder of this type (we believe most foreign productions also used Nagra). Frequency response, 30-20,000 hz ± 2 dB, signal to noise ratio 74 dB, wow and flutter $\pm 0.05\%$.

Encore to excellence.

Thorens proudly presents its TD-125AB Mark II Electronic Turntable with a new, unsurpassed transcription tonearm.

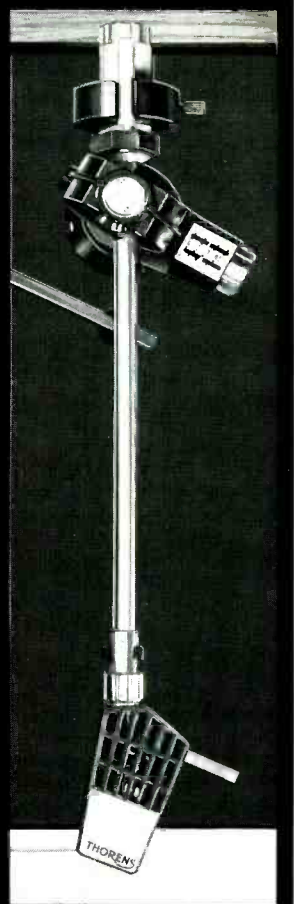

When the Thorens TD-125 first appeared on the scene, Stereo Review acclaimed it as... "unquestionably one of the elite among record players. It would be hard to imagine a unit that performs better."

While a host of refinements have been added to the Mark II, such as the new TP-16 tonearm with its own automatic magnetic anti-skating control, all the advanced features of the original TD-125 have been retained.

Visit your Thorens dealer today and learn why this new Thorens is a must in any quality stereo and 4-channel system.

THORENS

Not just another pretty face.

The truth is, even we think the appearance of our Beyer X1N mike leaves a bit to be desired.

But the people who use it for a living are convinced that our ugly duckling is a real beauty. And with good reason.

It's got the most accommodating personality you'll ever hope to hear.

You can scream at it or blow into its ear. Hit it with a thumping bass or caress it with a glistening glissando.

There's hardly a situation to which our moving coil "Soundstar" will not respond perfectly.

Add a pop filter, built-in hum compensation and extreme ruggedness and you begin to see why we didn't try to make it pretty, we just made it great.

Beyer X1N Soundstar only $94.50

Another innovation from Beyer Dynamic, the microphone people.

SPARTA GT12 ...

Another 'Just Right' Leader

ERGONOMICALLY ENGINEERED UP TOP

for the harrassed DJ whose job today demands speed and authority. Operator error is engineered out of the GT12, and sound salesmanship is engineered in.
 Sound-selling features include

- Rapid acceleration with simple, positive speed selection
- Easily seen speed indicators and lights
- DIRECTLY up-front controls and indicators
- Low profile, with tone arm parallel to the platter
- Exclusive acrylic "felt" for long, high-friction life, color retention, and cleanliness.

All these PLUS

'POWER PADDLE' ONE HAND CUEING giving convenient thumb control of motor on/off while cueing or slip starting.

FULLY INTERCHANGEABLE AND REPLACEABLE PARTS

throughout the GT12, including the unique two-piece platter/shaft assembly and bearing, are assured by machining tolerances of top quality materials as high as

- +.0000", -.0001", and
- #40 micro finish on all metal-to-metal surfaces

providing incredibly low rumble, wow and flutter specifications, and superior platter concentricity.

BEST QUALITY 4-POLE AND SYNCHRONOUS motors from the industry's recognized leaders complete the lineup of finest materials, workmanship and design to produce the GT12; the finest and best looking professional broadcast turntable on the market today.

USE THE GT12 AT YOUR STATION

factory prepared with our ST220 Tone Arm and your choice of Shure or Stanton pickup cartridges. If it does not delight you with its appearance, materials, workmanship, performance and operating convenience as we claim, simply return it for credit. TEP preamplifiers and "Showcase" custom cabinetry optional.

SPARTA, the 'just right' company.

shake, rattle & roll.

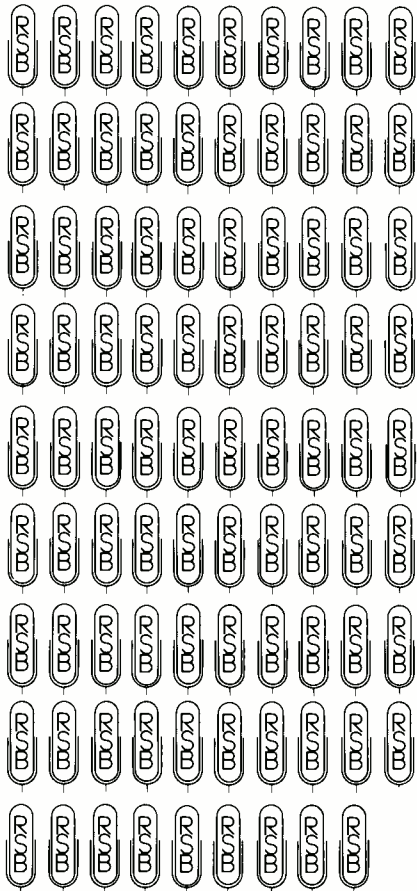

Welcome to our chamber of horrors. Inside the Shure Quality Control laboratory, some of the most brutal product tests ever devised are administered to Shure microphones. The illustration above shows a "shaking" machine at work on a Shure microphone and noise-isolation mount. It's only one in a battery of torturous tests that shake, rattle, roll, drop, heat, chill, dampen, bend, twist, and generally commit mechanical, electrical and acoustical mayhem on off-the-production-line samples of all Shure microphones. It's a treatment that could cause lesser microphones to become inoperative in minutes. This kind of continuing quality control makes ordinary "spot checks" pale by comparison. The point is that if Shure microphones can survive our chamber of horrors, they can survive the roughest in-the-field treatment you can give them! For your catalog, write:

New generation Strobe-Beacon meets all the latest FAA requirements...and then some.

The Dielectric Strobe-Beacon provides more than 200,000 candelas during the daytime, 20,000 candelas at twilight and 4,000 candelas at night, with automatic switching from one to the other guided by an extremely accurate and reliable calibrated photo cell.

These amounts of luminous intensity conform exactly to the newest FAA standards.

For night-time operation, a special multi-flash "burst" mode gives maximum visibility to approaching aircraft. Precise focusing to a 4-degree vertical beam width and accurate aiming of the luminaires prevents direct light from reaching the ground in surrounding neighborhoods. This has been confirmed by field tests.

Here are some of the extras you get from Dielectric — the people who specialize in high intensity warning systems for tall structures:

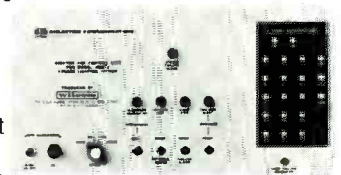

Our control panel and power supply is in a convenient cabinet at ground level. All circuitry is solid state of course, and is protected by lightweight but rugged and weather-proof housings.

We include a stand-by power supply and a stand-by timer with automatic switch-over in case of failure.

An optional remote control panel can be located at the studio which will indicate the mode of operation (daylight, twilight, night) as well as the type of failure, should there be one.

Or, for a recommendation for your installation, including specifications and a price quote write to Dielectric Communications, Raymond, Maine 04071 or phone (207) 655-4555. In Canada, write to M.S.C. AEL transmitter features: ...five-year warranty ...twenty-year parts availability.

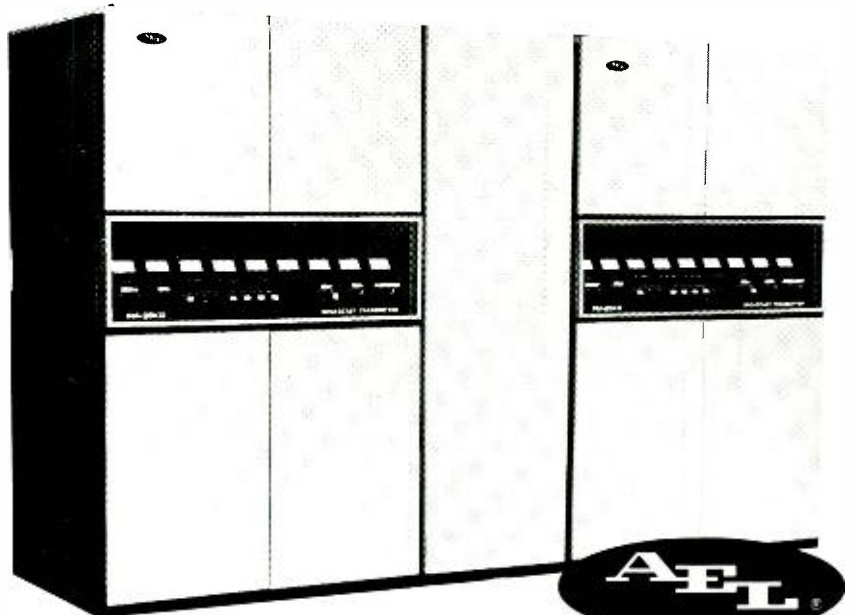

The new AEL FM-25/25KD was designed to provide exceptionally high power FM broadcasting service with a high degree of redundancy and reliability to meet power level requirements of up to 50KW TPO.

To get it, we combined two AEL FM-25KD 25KW FM transmitters, whose combined outputs are connected to the antenna through a true 90° hybrid combiner.

If you're impressed so far, just wait until you see the specs and hear the whole story.

THE NEW AEL FM-25/25KD BROADCAST TRANSMITTER Packs a 50KW TPO Wallop!

Also available . . . AM Transmitters from AEL
AM-5 KD, AM-10 KD, AM-50 KD

Here are five good reasons to buy IVC's fully-automatic broadcast 240 Film Chain Camera and 4000A Multiplexer. We have dozens more.

Money. We put the latest solid-state circuitry and some clever design techniques into the IVC-240 and the 4000A—not just to make them more reliable, but to give them the industry's finest price/performance ratio. Example: we use costly precision fixtures, like other manufacturers, to align the 240's dichroic mirrors. Unlike other manufacturers, however, we set the mirrors permanently in optical epoxy. The expensive fixtures stay here—but the precise optical alignment stays with the 240—permanently. Features like this hold the price of the 240/4000A combination to less than $40,000.

A free-standing camera cabinet. Ordinarily, if you accidentally bumped into a film-chain camera, you'd disturb the picture. But when the IVC-240's cabinet is accidentally bumped or nudged, picture positional stability, as viewed on a picture monitor, is virtually unaffected. The reason: the optical system and Vidicon/yoke assemblies are mounted on a separate rigid backbone that is lagged directly into the floor through the sheet metal of the cabinet. The effect is the mechanical isolation of optics and cabinet.

A better mirror system.

The IVC-4000A's mirrors swing vertically, like the flag on a taxi meter. This approach makes it difficult for dust to settle on the reflective surfaces and provides a smooth on-air transition; the special tapered mirrors are positioned by self-braking motors in just one fifth of a second. Audio-follow logic is built into the system.

It makes your studio look nicer.

But we can't tell you all about the 240 and the 4000A here—there isn't room to talk about their minimal maintenance requirements, their exceptional stability, their hands-off operation, their automatic features. We suggest you write to Camera Product Manager at the address below.

We'll be glad to give you all the reasons why choosing IVC is a good move.

Money again: Having a single neutral-density filter wheel inside the camera for automatic white level is a special cost-saving bonus from the IVC-240. This unique arrangement can save you up to $4200 by eliminating the usual separate disc for each projector. The lightweight disc and high-torque motor, which are built into the camera enclosure, respond to light level changes up to 100 to 1 in 0.6 second (maximum). And typical changes are compensated for much faster.

An automatic black level circuit complements the automatic white level control. Result: hands-off operation—all day.

The SS 7700 series of television production and recording consoles is a logical extension to the McCurdy package approach to engineered systems.

Pre-engineering of the basic design within our production facility, assists the customer to easily determine from his requirements, both the general mechanical and electrical layout for his particular application. The design criteria of the SS 7700 series basic format allows for easy expansion to a maximum of 26 functional channels, which may consist of almost any mix of input channels, submasters and masters. McCurdy manufactured plug-in modules may be used in any or all of the functional channels. Space is available within the standard unit, for applications requiring complex fold-back, echo-send and monitor mix-down functions. An optional companion housing, styled to the basic console, is also available to accommodate the patching required for some applications. Therefore, the flexibility accorded the basic design by these features, allows the total panel layout to be human-engineered for maximum versatility and efficiency.

Functions available within each channel include:

Echo-sends	Straight-line faders
Sensitivity	Solo and Cue busses
Phase reversal	Sub or Master Assign pushbuttons.

A full range of auxiliary functions, such as remote controls, are available to ensure that the total design is completely integrated to the user's requirements.

British Columbia airwaves have a new look. British Columbia Television has a new corporate symbol. And like most corporate symbols, there is more to this one than meets the eye.

It's a dogwood blossom because that is the official flower of British Columbia.

But what it really signifies is progress. Another stage in the life and times of one of Canada's most progressive television stations.

In the past five years BCTV has added thirty-six satellite transmitters and repeater stations throughout Vancouver Island, the lower mainland, the Fraser Valley, the Okanagan, the Cariboo and the north country to provide the alternate CTV service to 90% of the people of British Columbia.

Take a new look at BCTV.

You can buy player" for $ But our ACR- cost you less $200,000.

ACR-25 is a better investment now and in the future because it's a superior spot player, a sophisticated production machine, and the only cassette VTR with true computer interface.

Unmatched efficiency and flexibility — for your needs today and tomorrow — make it the only logical investment choice. Compare:

1. Immediate benefits from your investment

The higher your spot and production volume, the faster the ACR-25 will pay for itself.

You'll cut headwheel cost up to 80%. You'll cut hours of man-effort; free your VTR staff for production chores. Eliminate the daily spot reel which saves you headwheel and manpower cost.

And if your library numbers only 2000 segments, our reloadable cassettes can save you $20,000 right there.

2. Exclusive time-saving spot flexibility

The headaches and costly mistakes of multiple spotting are over.

ACR-25's fast, shuffle-free sequential or random access makes spot playback equally easy to program.

Cassettes are reloadable. Your inventory cost is lower.

Cassettes are up to 6 minutes long, not 3. Use them not only for spots, but for news, sports inserts, editorials, promos, even complete program segments.

Multiple stop/start cues let you put more than one segment on one cassette, if you like.

Every tape can be verified visually with our positive Identification Data Accessory (IDA), and the identification can be printed out or fed into a computer for logging or billing purposes.

Play 10-second spots back to back. Go instantly from production to on-air operation.

You can record or dub on both transports.

And more.

3. A Complete Production Tool

ACR-25 will free up 3 to 5 reel-to-reel recorders, giving you more options, more flexibility when producing short segments.

Add dealer tags to commercials easily. No need to juggle film, slide, or audio machines.

Use ACR-25 as the master when you make cassettes or reel-to-reel dubs.

Record network news segments for later broadcast. Or other clips, like slides with audio. Promos. ID breaks. Hitchhikers. Open and close billboards for live, one-camera shows. And more.

You can even produce prerecorded, pushbutton shows that mix live shots, film, and tape footage to any length.

No other machine offers so much to the imaginative producer. Create quicker, simpler, better — and get effects you couldn't even try before.

a "spot 150,000. 25 will even at

4. Computer Compatible

Imagine a day like this.

Just load all your short segments — taped commercials, promos, off-the-air clips, news inserts, editorials, everything — at random into your computer-controlled, automated ACR-25 system.

The system can memorize each segment, program it in the order you command, and execute it all reliably with split-second timing. All you do is replace cassettes with new ones (reloading at random), push a button to reset the sequence, and you are free for other duties for another half day or more.

Amazing? Not at all. This futuristic concept is here now. Best of all, this command and control capability comes completely built into your ACR-25.

A new dimension in broadcasting and production

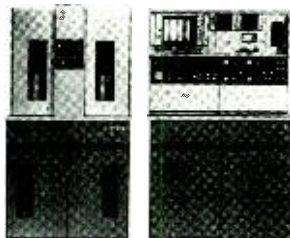

ACR-25 is the most complete broadcast/production unit ever conceived. No matter how you use it, it saves money, manpower, and mistakes, making it the only logical choice as a short- or long-term investment.

More post-production perfection from Kingsway.

The P.A.G. Mini-Rack.

P.A.G. has combined fine, superior quality equipment with space-saving design.

Now from P.A.G. comes a totally new recorder mixer in modular form to interlock and build up units as you need them. They can be interfaced with all standard systems, have a frequency of 30 Hz to 15 KHz, ± 2 dB; signal to noise of -65 dB; a wow and flutter of 0.09%.

With the P.A.G. Mini-Rack, schools and recording studios can save up to 75% of the space normally required. The Mini-Rack can incorporate up to eight 16 mm magnetic film transports, interlocked mechanically with a projector. And the system is entirely modular for expansion as required.

Write us for more information about the P.A.G. Mini-Rack modular Recorder Mixer. Kingsway is agent for P.A.G. — and many other fine lines of post-production equipment.

New THRULINE® Dual RF Wattmeters display forward AND reflected power simultaneously and monitor VSWR at the intersection of the two meter pointers. Models for 1-5/8, 3-1/8 and 6-1/8 lines, 2 - 1000MHz to 250kW Peak Reading Wattmeters also available.

BIRD

MODULOAD® Self-Cooled Load Systems

No external water supply is needed for the 10, 20 and 40kW Self-Cooling MODULOAD RF Load Resistors. The integral heat exchanger permits continuous rated dissipation in 5° to 45° C ambients (-20° to +20° C with antifreeze). Ratings are increased to 25 and 50kW in 5° to 30° ambients.

MODEL	POWER	FREQ.	CONNECTOR
8032	10kW	0-1.4GHz	3-1/8 EIA Fl.
8641/2	20kW	0-1.3GHz	3-1/8 EIA Fl.
8651/2	40kW	0-1.3GHz	3-1/8 EIA Fl.

BIRD

New TERMALINE® RF Load Resistor Series 8891 500 dissipates 7500 watts continuously with only 3 gal/min cooling water, yet costs no more than the aircooled 5000 watt Load

Units available with 1-5/8 or 3-1/8 flanged or unflanged connectors, 50 or 51.5 ohms. VSWR below 1.1 from DC to 1000 MHz.

Because you value superior quality and service when you purchase recording equipment, you know how competitively priced we are.

STUDER

The professional sound engineer has ears that don't miss a thing. He hears, (even feels!) the difference that Studer Swiss craftsmanship and advanced technology makes, and it gives him confidence.

It allows him to produce a quality of sound unmatched, anywhere in the world.

It gives him an important edge on the competition.

And that "edge" shows up most with the back-up support Studer give him: quick off-the-shelf delivery of machines and parts; fast and dependable service by technicians that know electronics, inside and out.

And salesmen that put engineering ahead of salesmanship.

If you consider yourself a sound businessman, as well as a sound expert, you'll choose Studer equipment, and sit back and smile.

You've got the best value your money can buy.

EDITORIAL

Sam Sniderman is a musician, retailer extraordinaire, patron of the Canadian arts and a celebrity in his own right. Last month he added to this list by becoming one of the first within the industry to speak openly of a serious situation in pop music.

Sam observed that two AM stations, CHUM and CKLW hold in their hands the life or death of any Canadian single today. He offered what he called A DIABOLICAL SOLUTION . . . have record companies prohibit these two stations from playing Canadian product. This, he noted, would bring the two giants at least partly to their knees, since CRTC rules require them to program 30% Canadian Content, a stipulation both stations adhere to technically, though not usually in spirit.

Record people reacted as if kindly Sam had spent too many hours over a hot cash register and needed a long rest. AN IMPOSSIBLE SUGGESTION they muttered in somewhat shocked disbelief.

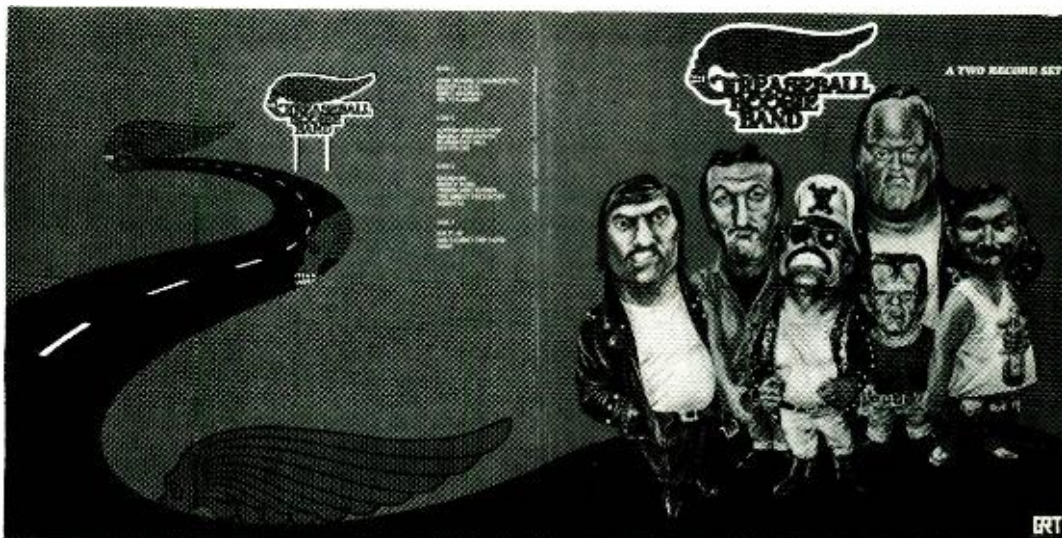

But what we suspect Mr. Sniderman was doing was dropping an outrageous suggestion to shock the industry into recognizing an outrageous situation. Whatever the CRTC's reaction to Sam's proposal may be, the imbalance of power in Canadian radio has become a critical problem. SOMETHING must be done, and if the commission expects to see further widespread investment in Canadian record production, that body must do more than simply monitor stations and count percentages.

Capable producers are becoming discouraged, embittered and insolvent. Artists are beginning to look once more to the U.S. for their breaks. A solution must be possible and the CRTC alone holds the power to effect what was intended by the content rulings.

In the meantime, PLAYLIST commends Sam Sniderman for having the courage to become a devil's advocate. We hope others will stand to be similarly counted.

MOR

THE WORLD OF JIM NABORS . . .
(Columbia KG 31973)

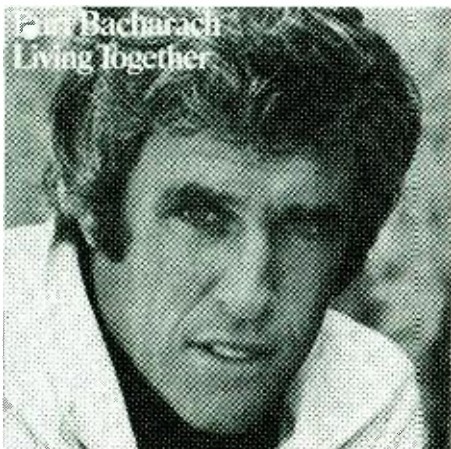

A two-record set which will find instant favor with many MOR programmers, this set includes some impressive material by one of the best voices in the business. Jim performs numbers like BRIDGE OVER TROUBLED WATER, Kristofferson's FOR THE GOOD TIMES, TILL THE END OF TIME, MY CUP RUNNETH OVER and UNTIL IT'S TIME FOR YOU TO GO. Nice sounds including a tremendous choral and string background on most tracks.

BOULEZ CONDUCTS WAGNER . . . THE NEW YORK
PHILHARMONIC (Columbia M 32296)

Pierre Boulez has established himself as a conductor of substance and popularity with the New York Philharmonic, and on this new release from Columbia, he turns in a superlative job with four of Richard Wagner's compositions dating from 1840. The four are THE MEISTERSINGER PRELUDE, TANNHAUSER OVERTURE, FAUST OVERTURE and TRISTAN UND ISOLDE PRELUDE AND LOVE-DEATH. The magnificent sounds of this German composer's complex genius are performed flawlessly. A welcome addition to any station's classical library.

NEW FROM A&M

HEROIC MUSIC FOR ORGAN, BRASS & PERCUSSION

. . . E. POWER BIGGS (Columbia MG 32311)

Remember the majesty of the big theatre organs, with their fantastic volume and range? Well, no matter . . . many of your listeners will anyway, and they'll surely remember the name of E. Power Biggs, the greatest organist of them all. Columbia has released an impressive new two-record set by the master of the pipes, and quite properly has placed it on the Masterworks label. Featuring The New England Brass Ensemble with Richard Burgin conductor, the four sides are a treasure trove of works by Gabrieli, Handel, Clarke and others. The organ used in the performance is a unique instrument housed in the former Germanic Museum of Harvard. Great programming material.

CONTEMPORARY

MAGMA . . . (A&M 0598).

A bizarre but intriguing album from the U.K. performed in a new language, this production is heralded as a new wave by its composer CHRISTIAN VANDER. The lyrics are reminiscent only of the Hare Krna chants, but the music and production are superb. Adventurous FM and underground programmers will delight in presenting this unusual set to their audiences.

GOODBYE YELLOW BRICK ROAD . . . ELTON JOHN
(MCA 2-100023)

This dynamic two-record set has already proven its worth with the popular/title track now high on the charts. Elton John has produced a very original and delightful sound with this group of fabulous compositions. Included in the set is GREY SEAL and ROY ROGERS, but audiences will like them all.

SJP

THE HOLLIES GREATEST HITS . . . (Epic KE 32061)

The most comprehensive collection of Hollies' hits yet released. Everything from yesterday's CARRIE ANNE to today's COOL WOMAN can be found, all done in the original HOLLIES style. A definite collector's item for fans of this ever-popular group. The fact that the HOLLIES still exist as a capable group; is easily explained by this album.

SJP

ANGEL CLARE . . . ART GARFUNKEL
(Columbia KC 31474)

All the truly fantastic talent of GARFUNKEL as a solo performer as well as his formidable production ability come together on this sensational album. GARFUNKEL performs all types of music with charm and grace, and on this set he goes from the immensely popular ALL: I KNOW to classics such as a BACH traditional and the exciting rhythm of a Van Morrison creation. Paul Simon, Jerry Garcia and the St. Mary's Choir; join in the joyous event of watching and assisting a true professional at work.

SJP

JONATHAN LIVINGSTON SEAGULL . . .

NEIL DIAMOND (Columbia KS 32550)

With words and music from the popular book for the equally popular movie joined together in the style that the character's author Bach would have wished, this album can hardly fail. Neil Diamond takes the listener from the roaring beauty of FLIGHT OF THE GULL down to LONELY LOOKING SKY. Diamond is definitely maintaining his own fantastic record of achievement, adding his talented voice as an exciting bonus.

SJP

GARY & DAVE . . . (Axe AXS 503)

♣ Making big waves all over the country, this exciting new deck from Axe is a sample of the label's new flexing of muscle in the Canadian Content field. G & D shine on Greg Hambleton's CAN'T YOU DO IT NOW and Gene McLellan's LONESOME RIVER as well as Fergus's MIRRORS. A fine contribution from two talented young men.

FULL MOON . . . KRIS KRISTOFFERSON/RITA COOLIDGE (A&M SP 4403)

Together at last as Mr. & Mrs., Kris and Rita team up on a delightful grouping of songs with K appearing through the courtesy of his label, Monument. Programmers will revel in this material, especially HARD TO BE FRIENDS, I'M DOWN and LOVING ARMS. When two people feel about each other as these two do, they can't help but make great sounds together and your listeners will love every track on this deck.

ROCK

BELLY UP . . . DR. HOOK (Columbia KC 32270)

Largely a musical boff, the Good Doctors have a romp on this album with such themes as ACAPULCO GOLDIE, ROLAND THE ROADIE & GERTRUDE THE GROUPIE as well as that charming lady known as PENICILLIN PENNY. But the group shows an amazing versatility as well, especially on an uptempo and highly commercial country-sounding item titled YOU AIN'T GOT NO RIGHT, and on THE WONDERFUL SOUP STONE. Well worth a good listen and a spin.

ROUND ONE . . . SCRUBBALOE CAINE (RCA APLI-0263)

There are six members in Scrubbaloe Caine, and each of them shares in the vocals, three of which are lead vocals. This is obviously the reason for the tight, almost flawless harmonies this band has mastered. Nor can the instrumentation of the band be overlooked, for it is also of extremely high and consistent quality. EDMONTON RAIN, FEELIN' GOOD ON SUNDAY, ROSALIE, and TRAVELLIN' are all great material. Special attention should also be paid to the masterful electric violin playing by Henry Small.

THE MARSHALL TUCKER BAND . . . (Capricorn CP 0112)

The Marshall Tucker Band is six able-bodied performers, who, with the help of some other musicians, have put together an album which combines all of the good sounds of Rock and a touch of Country. The members of the band display their many and varied talents, with instruments that include steel guitar, alto sax, flute and numerous others. HILL-BILLY BAND, CAN'T YOU SEE, RAMBLIN', TAKE THE HIGHWAY and MY JESUS TOLD ME SO best present the extremely powerful vocal harmonies of this band.

C & W

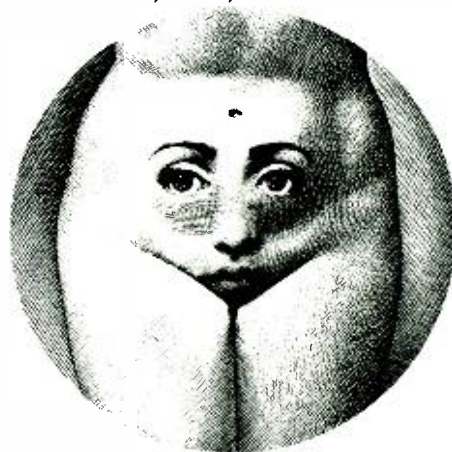

SUNDAY MORNING COMING DOWN . . . JOHNNY CASH (Columbia C 32240)

Nashville's living legend steps out with a new album release which re-issues much of his hit material of recent months including IF I WERE A CARPENTER, UNDERSTAND YOUR MAN and the title track. Cash proves once again his way with both the bawdy and the beautiful in contemporary writing, turning in standout performances on DON'T THINK TWICE IT'S ALL RIGHT and LONG BLACK VEIL. Several tracks were produced by Nashville veteran Frank Jones, who once worked in Toronto.

DEAR FOLKS SORRY I HAVEN'T WRITTEN LATELY . . . ROGER MILLER (Columbia KC 32449)

For a year and a half, Rog Miller failed to do much in the way of composing, so this album title is an apology to his fans. It says a lot more than I'M SORRY however, for as usual, Miller has come up with a fine collection of his own light and breezy, forward-looking numbers. Included among the best tracks is OPEN UP YOUR HEART and the already-popular nonsense instrumental WHISTLE STOP, along with I BELIEVE IN THE SUNSHINE, SHANNON'S SONG and THE FOURTH OF JULY. Miller, programmers will note, has joined a virtual army of performers moving to the Columbia label with this release, and it's an auspicious start with the new company. Nice happy programming for any time of day.

MINI BIO

Ken Tobias

By John Porteous

Talking with Ken Tobias is a peaceful, happy experience that leaves the interviewer with the feeling the encounter was a totally social one. Perhaps it's the clean, uncluttered kitchen in the unpretentious house in Toronto's west end, or the cups of freshly-made tea and brother Tony's engaging chatter about almost everything.

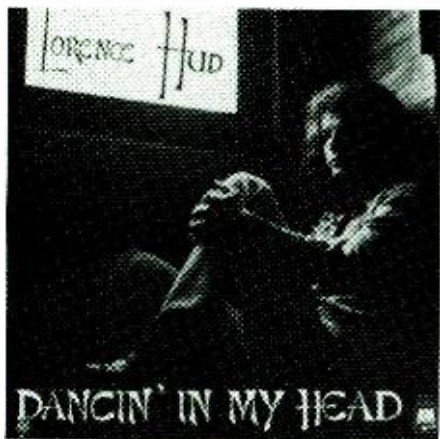

But through it all comes the unmistakable aura of talent . . . not just commercially adequate talent, but ability possibly bordering on genius. For of all Canada's most creative music people, Ken Tobias holds that difficult-to-define ingredient which is shared by very few. Some have referred to it as his special brand of 'magic' and in fact Ken's new MGM album is titled THE MAGIC'S IN THE MUSIC.

But perhaps what's been seen in the slight, quiet composer is a dedication . . . both to his music and to his origins. And in a way, these are one and the same, for Tobias feels Canadian in a way that goes beyond shallow nationalism. After all, he's here, back where the Canadian scene is happening, after a life in sunny California which he describes as having been enchanting. Then there's his attitude to his home town of Saint John, N.B., a place of hard economic facts that many who leave would elect quickly to forget. Instead he says 'Saint John was good to me . . . I made it at home before I went elsewhere, and I still love it there.'

Settled in again in Canada with Tony Tobias ably looking after the bookings and the bucks, Ken now hopes to breathe free and write. What emerges from this period in his career may provide Canada with its next star of international stature. For not since Lightfoot's emergence on the scene has a writer-performer surfaced with the potential of Ken Tobias. All that remains for the rest of us now is to watch and listen, and wait.

BROADCASTER VOICES

COMPLAINT ON PRODUCT

Participating in a panel discussion on the state of recorded music in Canada, at the ACRTF convention, Sept. 10th, Marc-Andre Frève of Radio CHGB La Pocatière summed up his station's tally of records received since January, 1973:

	French	English
Canadian	311	221
Foreign	189	679
Total:	500	900

He voiced a common complaint of broadcasters: Canadian production leaves much to be desired. In a typical playlist of 20 "hits", only eight were Canadian. Of these, CHGB considered only two to be acceptable. English-Canadian records are generally no better than French, and the only alternative is to turn to the better European discs.

FROM WHERE I SIT

by Martin Melhuish

A lot of credit has to go to the Canadian Independent Record Producers Association members who attended and participated in the recent symposium held at Nimbus Nine Studios in Toronto. At long last we got a real glimpse of the raison d'être of CIRPA and the revelation was encouraging to say the least.

When CIRPA was formed in 1970, its foremost goal was to try to get a square deal from Canadian radio stations in the area of exposing Canadian record product. It continued as a political organization for about a year, and then, as more and more producer members became successful and had international success, they became bored with the constant meetings at which the radio stations in Canada were constantly cussed and discussed.

The recent symposium organized mostly by Bob Ezrin, Terry Brown, Mel Shaw and Greg Hambleton brought out the best of all sides of their business and allowed for an open and frank discussion of issues with people such as Dave Charles of CHUM and Alan Wood, the president of Local 149, A.F. of M., who were invited guest speakers.

With the $200 registration fee, CIRPA was able to fly in some of the top people in the recording industry from the U.S. to discuss the various aspects of producing and marketing a record. The guest speakers and participants included Larry Uttal, the president of Bell Records; Peter Pryor and Allen Grodin from Pryor, Cashman and Sherman, a well known music industry law firm; Ed Silvers of Warner Brothers Music; Tony Grabois of Pacific Eye and Ear, an L.A. graphics firm that handles many of the album jackets for acts in this industry; Albert Grundy from the Institute of Audio Research; Neil Muncy from Suburban Sound; Shelley Yakus, Paul Presopino and Frank Hubach of the Record Plant; Bud Wyatt from Producers; Phil Ramone of A&R Studios; Ed Freeman, the L.A. producer; Joe Wells of RCA; Al Lawrence of Columbia; Doug Sax of the Mastering Lab and Bob Hamilton.

The Canadian panelists included Allan Wood of the A.F. of M.; Al Mair of Early Morning Music; CAPAC's John Mills; Dennis Murphy of Sun dog; Brian Charter of Much Productions; Mel Shaw of Music World Creations and Greg Hamilton of Axe Records.

Everybody that I spoke to about each session felt that they were a smashing success and many wondered why it had not been done earlier. Well, according to Bob Ezrin the idea had been put into the original constitution of CIRPA but as nobody, it seems, had looked at that particular document for a long time it took a catalyst in the form of producer Gene Martynak to get it moving. One day at a CIRPA meeting he suggested that a symposium should be held. A light bulb flashed over their collective heads and plans were made.

There was a real willingness to learn shown at these sessions and very few people came with the attitude that they knew it all and were just there to keep the attendance up.

In a time when it is hard to find any sort of progression in the Canadian music industry, these symposiums represented a giant step forward. CIRPA will be much stronger for it in the future.

JONATHAN SEAGULL SOARS ON SCREEN AND ON RECORD

The release this month of the Hall Bartlett Film JONATHAN LIVINGSTON SEAGULL has focused interest on both the filmed and recorded doings of the feathered philosopher. While Toronto critics generally viewed the movie rather dimly, the general continent-wide consensus is that JLS will do big business as a spin-off of what was likely one of last year's most widely-read books.

Columbia, having pulled another A & R coup in the acquisition of Neil Diamond, stands to gross large dollars from the sound-track album on Columbia KS 32550. Elaborately packaged, the record is an impressive-sounding item indeed, though there are signs that Diamond's writing genius may have run a bit dry with some evidence that he was forced to dip into his former catalogue of sounds for parts of the theme music. Programmers in most formats will find it a commercial vehicle all the same, and the production by Tom Catalano is a flawless example of contemporary sound.

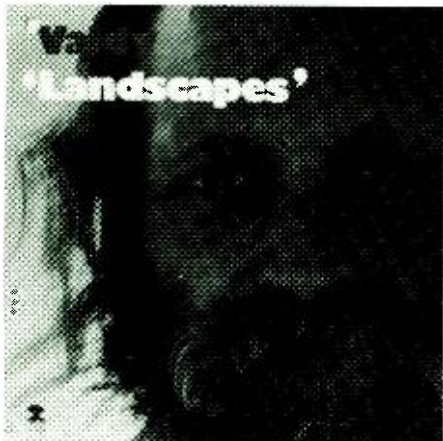

Early reaction from retailers indicates high consumer interest in the Diamond album, accompanied by a heightened market for the Richard Harris album of readings for Jonathan released in September. Available on ABC Dunhill DSD 50160 (and reviewed earlier in PLAYLIST) this deck shows signs of becoming a strong programming adjunct to the JLS interest which is sure to develop in the movie's wake.

Thus it seems that whether one cares to hear Jonathan spoken of, see him soar or hear him sung about, the talky gull will be with us for the next few months as a high-flying example of successful maxs marketing of a theme on a scale not witnessed in many a day.

GARY AND DAVE

On their first album for Greg Hambleton's Axe label, Gary & Dave have included a song entitled FLYING ON THE WINGS OF A SONG. The allusion to the field of aviation is probably not just a coincidence, for both members of this chart-scaling duo are licensed commercial pilots. In fact, word has it that one of Canada's leading airlines is after the pair to fly one of their DC 8s. Waste of talent, I say. If they put them on a 747, they'd have a built-in Cabaret show.

'From high above beautiful downtown Atlantis, it's the Gary & Dave Show. I'm your announcer, Stewart Dess and for the next six hours you will be entertained by the golden tones of those three lovelies, Choffe, Tia and Mia and Harry Plane and his Boeing Band of Renown. And, of course, those two high flying songsters, Gary & Dave. And now here's the duo about whom Englebert Humperdink once said upon hearing them, "Hey! That's me." . . . Gary & Dave.'

Unlikely? Well, at the moment it certainly looks that way because with the success of their first release, COULD YOU EVER LOVE ME AGAIN, they are going to be busier watching Top 40 charts than air charts.

When I spoke to them, they had just returned from their highly successful Western Canada tour with the Stampedes, an excursion which had a lot to do with their western chart successes.

"I think that the success of the record hit us when we arrived in Vancouver to find that the record was number three on CKLG," says Gary.

Now from what I have told you, don't get the idea that there has been an overnight success. On the contrary, Gary & Dave have been together for about fourteen years — since grade 7 to be exact. Dave remembers, "Gary and I met in school in Grade 7 but it wasn't until the year after that any thoughts of music came to either of us. We didn't start working professionally together until the first year of university."

It might be worthwhile to note here that they both graduated from university with their B.A.'s and also got their pilot's licences together.

The turning point in their career, and they both concur on this, was their meeting with Greg Hambleton who at the time had a company called Tuesday Music. Before recording for his Axe label, they worked for a year as promotion men and also did a little booking on the side up until the time that they turned to performing and recording in earnest.

They have played in such places as the Expo Pavilion in Japan and the Fountainbleu Hotel in Miami Beach and as I mentioned before they appeared with the Stampedes on the western leg of their tour across Canada.

Many exciting prospects lie in wait for Gary & Dave, especially if they can break the American market with their first single. In that area, everything is go and it is now just a matter of waiting for the charts and playlists to come in. Listening to their first album, it is obvious that there is a lot more material waiting in the wings for a chance to get out and be heard. If all goes according to plan, Gary & Dave will take a long stride into the select circle of Canadian artists who have made a name internationally in the last few years.

PLAYBACK

A unique pair of extended-play recordings from CBC have just been released which will be of interest to programmers. Featuring Eskimo performer Charlie Panigoniak who comes from a tiny settlement 200 miles north of Churchill, Man., the two records contain nine cuts in all. The selections reflect a fresh approach to Canadian music, for what could be more native Canadian than Inuit compositions. Both discs can be obtained for $2.00 (in postal money orders only) from Gillian Godfrey, CBC Northern Service, Box 8478, Ottawa, Ont. K1G 3J5. They're a far-out sound for sure.

The lyrics don't make a lot of sense, but SHANNON TWO FEATHERS is doing good business with his C&W ditty THE PRISONER on RCA. Most Country ops including CFGM are charting, with some overlap into MOR.

Our heart goes out to deejays who have to suffer a dozen times a day through the new wave of terribly cute recorded commercials which strive for an ACTUALITY sound. You know, the ones which use professional actors and announcers trying to sound like ordinary people. Most of them would fail to fool a mental defective with a hearing disability, but ad agencies still think they're swell. Has anyone ever wondered if ordinary people might sound like ordinary people? Might be worth a try, but then it would take time and work to find them, and that's an agency no-no.

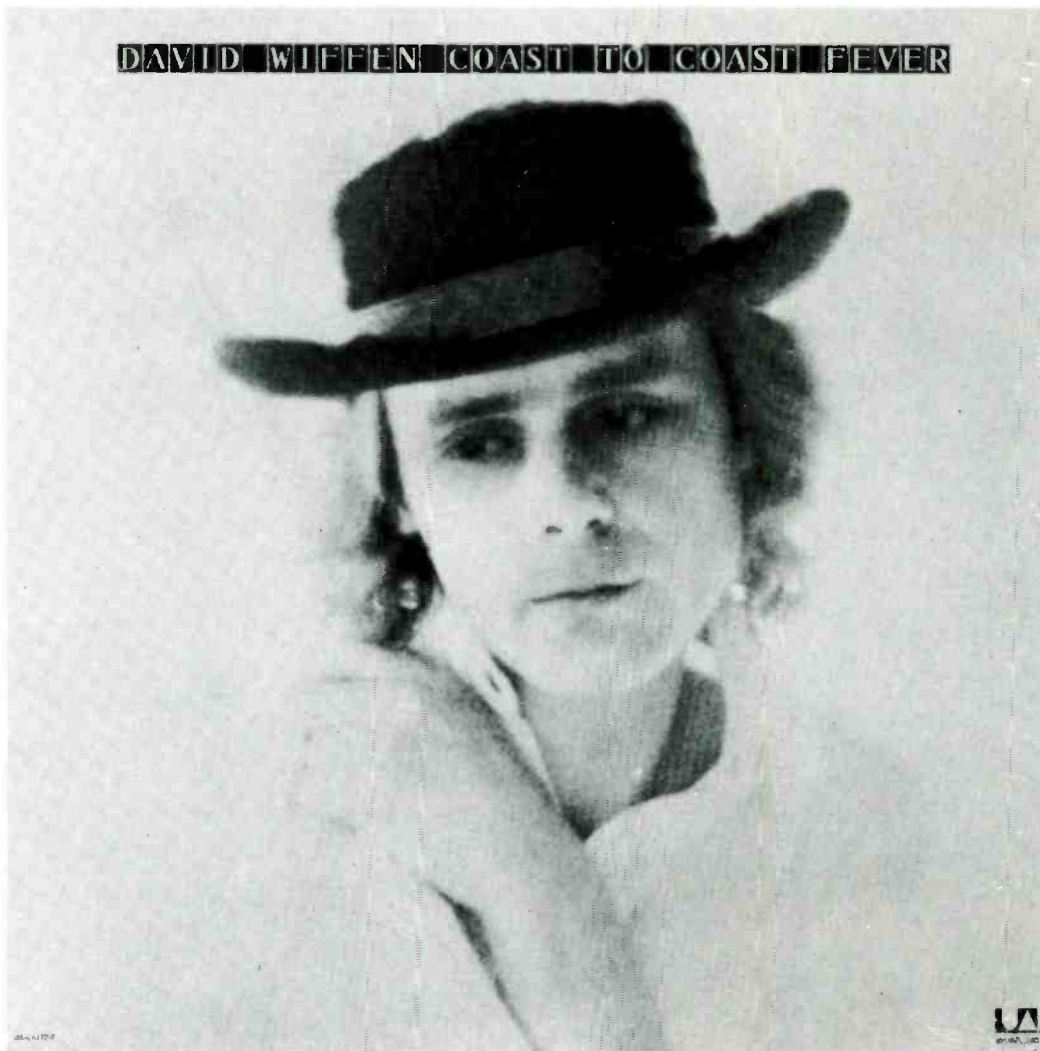

Great response to the Stampeders CBC-TV show viewed Nov. 15, and congrats to Mel Shaw, one of Canada's sharpest music people for his production of the show. The Stampeders new album FROM THE FIRE shows every indication of huge success.

COMING NEXT ISSUE — CBC-TV receives offers from five country entertainers who want to get divorced on LUNCHEON DATE, George Hamilton IV is arrested driving through Cornerbrook for failing to have screech in his possession, and finally, another of those computer foul-ups at CRTC headquarters causes PIG & WHISTLE to be charged with public obscenity. The producer pleads guilty.

MARTIN MELHUISH GETS BILLBOARD NOD

Playlist's Associate Editor, Martin Melhuish has been chosen from several dozen potential candidates to become Canadian editor of BILLBOARD, the international pop music-trades weekly. Melhuish, whose background in the Canadian music scene includes editorship of RAINBOW until that paper's demise, takes over duties previously handled in Canada by Ritchie Yorke. BILLBOARD has stepped up its coverage of Canadian music news in recent months, and Melhuish's weekly column of information will be read by subscribers all over the English-speaking world. In making the announcement, of Billboard's New York headquarters, expressed the view that Melhuish is "The best man in Canada for the job." We at Playlist agree.

ERIC ANDERSEN IN CONCERT:

BY JAMES PORTEOUS

I have had the pleasure of seeing Eric Andersen in concert a couple of times before, but I was thoroughly surprised by the fact that this show was superior to the others. This is indeed amazing, considering the near flawless performance he put on when last I heard him, which was at least six months ago.

One of Andersen's obvious assets is his unique vocals, a sound which is unduplicated in the folk field—a subtle but powerful manner of singing. The other is a talent at writing undisputed classics such as THIRSTY BOOTS, CLOSE THE DOOR LIGHTLY and BLUE RIVER. It is obvious when hearing Andersen that he has been doing this type of thing for quite some time, but it is also a style which refuses to stop progressing at an astounding rate.

Andersen responds well to an audience; a small one, as in this case, is a perfect environment for his very personal songs and he takes every advantage of the closeness of his audience. In return, the audience can feel free to join in on a song, as when he asked the audience to "la la" the chorus, which brought an almost instantaneous response from a majority of the people. It is this kind of talent which enables both Andersen and the audience to sit back and enjoy the show.

The show opened with CLOSE THE DOOR LIGHTLY, which was performed superbly, up until the point when he suddenly discovered, much to his dismay, that two of his strings were out of tune. Now, most performers would just let it go until the end of the song, but Andersen opted to tune the strings while strumming the other strings open.

One of the high points, musically, was David Wiffen's MORE OFTEN THAN NOT, which was handled with a true feeling of respect by Andersen, who gave one of the best readings of the song I have heard. He also treated his own composition, IS IT REALLY LOVE AT ALL, with the same conviction.

Andersen put on a thoroughly enjoyable set and was called back for an encore, which opened with what he called his favorite song, Merle Haggard's DADDY FRANK, which could only be matched by the original.

Eric Andersen is always worth catching, whenever possible, for one of the finest performances in the folk field. His last album, BLUE RIVER (Columbia KC 31062), says it all.

CRIA ESTABLISHES CROSS-CANADA NETWORK TO COMBAT TAPE PIRACY

The Canadian Recording Industry Association has established a cross-Canada network of industry representatives in a further move aimed at eliminating the threat of tape piracy in Canada.

The "links" in the network cover British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba, Ontario, Quebec, the Maritimes and Newfoundland. Each area has at least one industry representative who co-ordinates the reporting system.

When a supply of pirate tapes is reported, the industry representative informs the CRIA office which initiates legal action through its legal counsel.

Arnold Gosewich, President of the CRIA, has estimated that the industry in Canada has lost in excess of $5.5 million to the illegal sale of pirated tapes in the last year, and unless continual co-operative efforts are made to stamp it out, it will seriously affect all legitimate manufacturers, distributors, sub-distributors, retailers, producers, recording artists and composers.

MURRAY McLAUCHLAN UNDERTAKES
MAJOR U.S. TOUR — CONCERT
DATES SET WITH NEIL YOUNG

Murray McLauchlan, well-known young Canadian singer-songwriter, has been invited to share the bill on a major U.S. concert tour with singer Neil Young.

The tour — with additional dates still to be announced — started at Queen's College, New York, on November 15. It continued with performances at the Music Hall, Boston (Nov. 16), Ohio State University (Nov. 18), Cleveland Music Hall (Nov. 19), Chicago Auditorium (Nov. 20), and the Community Centre, Berkeley, Calif. (Nov. 23).

McLauchlan had already played two Canadian university concerts with Neil Young — at Kitchener and London, Ont. — and the warm reception he received convinced Young to take McLauchlan on his U.S. tour, the first Young has made this year.

For McLauchlan, the American tour with Young is a major event, although he has played a number of individual concerts and festivals in that country. The tour coincides with the release of his third album on True North (Epic in the U.S.), which will be titled DAY TO DAY DUST.

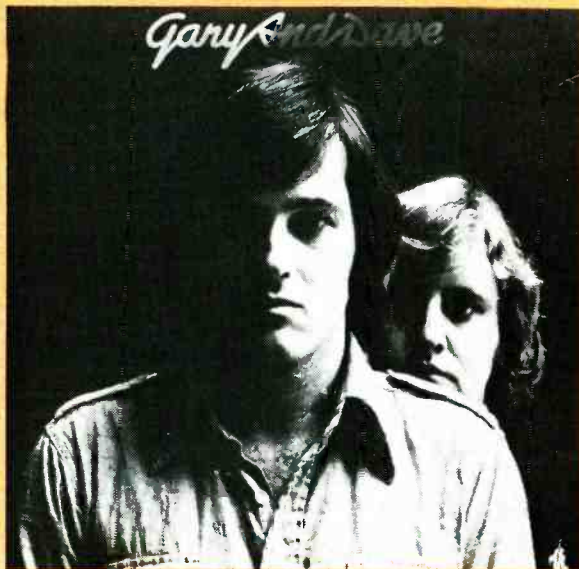

The album, made with members of the new Paul Butterfield band, Better Days, features McLauchlan's new single, Hurricane of Change, the follow-up to his gold record hit, Farmer's Song.

Following the tour with Neil Young, McLauchlan will play solo concerts at the Winnipeg Playhouse (November 25), Saskatoon Centennial Theatre (November 30), and the National Arts Centre, Ottawa (December 7). His debut solo Massey Hall concert in Toronto is provisionally set for early February.

A&M is hot about young Cheryl Dilcher, latest in a series of new faces the label has acquired in recent months. A native of Allentown, Pa., Cheryl started out on the coffee house circuit with a twelve string Martin, and this exposure led to a meeting with writer/arranger Jeff Barry who signed her to A&M.

Her new album, titled BUTTERFLY, is out and making waves with contemp. programmers all over the country.

DONNE-MOI UN JOUR/TOUT EST PLUS BEAU RENEE MARTEL SPECTRUM

Renée Martel a longtemps été considéré, et ce à juste titre, comme la reine du "country & Western" au Québec. On a qu'à penser à succès "Un Amour Qui Ne Veut Pas Mourir" qui a été vendu à plus de 200,000 copies.

Mais Renée, depuis au moins 6 mois, sinon plus, avait décidé de laisser tomber cet extraordinaire marché "country" pour produire une musique plus personnelle et plus vraie avec son époux Jean Guy Chapados, bassiste dont la réputation est faite depuis plus de dix ans. Ensemble ils ont produit un premier succès différent de la ligne "country" exploité jusqu'ici en exclusivité. Mais les cartes ont été jouées et Renée ne reviendra jamais à la musique champêtre. Son Deuxième effort "progressif-commercial": "Donne-Moi Un Jour" est remarquable par sa netteté, son originalité sans parler d'une production exceptionnelle. La chanson demeure commercial mais dans le sens "Beatles" du mot, on devrait surtout dire dans le sens "McCartney" puisque les influences sont évidentes. Mais ça demeure quand même du matériel extrêmement personnel et commercial.

Renée a laissé tomber la recette "facile" pour relever un nouveau défi. Renée ne vendra peut-être pas 200,000 "Donne-Moi Un Jour" mais dans quelques années, elle se félicitera sans doute du changement.

UNE SUPER-PRODUCTION DE QUALITEE QUEBECOISE

MAN MADE GOOD NOISE
GN 5001

Exceptionnellement cette semaine, nous parlons d'un microsillon québécois de langue anglaise. Si nous effectuons ce petit détour, c'est que Man Made le coup.

Tout d'abord c'est une réalisation de notre "mastermind" André Perry et deuxièmement c'est un disque qu'on destine à un marché canadien et américain. On retrouve sur ce disque, Billy Lester l'ex chanteur du groupe "Illustration" et un de nos bons compositeurs-organistes: Claude Ranger. Avec Richard Terry à la basse, Claude Roy à la batterie, Roger Walls aux cuivres et Michel Como aux partitions vocales sur cette longue pièce de 20 minutes: "Man Made". Grossomodo, ce disque combine des éléments qui avaient été jusqu'ici incompatibles: le soul et la musique dite intellectuelle, thématique ou progressive. A ce niveau c'est une réussite: le mellotron coule parfaitement bien avec la voix noire de Billy comme si les deux avaient été faits pour vivre ensemble. La production est exceptionnelle à tout niveau et l'exécution qui parfois deviens prétentive ne pêche vraiment pas par égocentrisme, donc finalement cette même prétention, deviens une qualité. De l'autre côté du disque on a placé 5 chansons plus "rock" avec de gros accents sur la voix de Ledster, on retiens surtout une merveilleuse chanson "Country Company". Bref c'est un excellent disque même si on oublie qu'il a été conçu et réalisé au Québec.

LA CONTREVERSE ET LES 33,000
MICROSILLONS DE DIANE DUFRESNE

Depuis un mois, on ne parle que d'elle et surtout de son fameux séjour à aris. Tout d'abord la presse déléguée nous était revenue avec des histoires invraisemblables, Diane avait choqué le français moyen, elle avait été hué, on la détestait littéralement. Les critiques parisiennes avaient été néfastes et on reprenait à la "une" cette fameuse critique du France-Soir où l'on comparait notre première chanteuse "rock" à une chatte privée de lait.

Puis elle est revenue de Paris avec un sourire "trionphant" sur ses lèvres et François Cousineau son époux-musicien-arrangeur-compositeur ne parlait que de succès: Que s'était-il passé? C'était le scandale, les québécois avaient vraisemblablement descendus ce qui était un véritable triomphe pour Diane à Paris. François Cousineau était furieux et il traitait la presse québécoise des pires qualificatifs. Avec raison d'ailleurs puisqu'avec lui, il avait pris le soin d'amener les découpures de presse tirée de quotidiens aussi cotés que "Le Combat", "Le Figaro" et l'hebdo le plus lu: "L'Express". Toutes les critiques étaient non seulement favorable à Diane et mais en faisait l'éloge, évoquait son courage et son talent. Le bilan, on l'attendait à nouveau avec une impatience folle, Diane avait provoqué une tornade de pour et de contre. C'était la division: d'un côté les fanatiques qui étaient aux pieds de Diane et qui étaient légions, de l'autre les anti-féministes, les anti-mouvement pour la libération de la femme.

Preuve incontestable du succès de Diane Paris: Son deuxième 45 tours "Bye Bye" montait les échelons du palmarès, à la suite du premier succès "L'Homme de Ma Vie". Un "follow up" en France, jamais un Québécois n'avait connu ça, même pas Charlebois.

De retour à Montréal, les nouvelles étaient encore excellentes, durant son absence on avait vendu plus de 33,000 copies de son microsillon "Opéra-Cirque", et ce disque est à la veille de battre tous les records de ventes pour un L.P. québécois. Le bilan de toute cette histoire: Diane Dufresne a le tour de choquer et de séduire, de plaire et d'être déplaisante. Il semble vraisemblablement que pour passer en France, c'est la formule magique.

PRODUCTS & SERVICES

PULSE GENERATOR

A new general purpose 1 Hz to 50 MHz pulse generator from Philips, with up to 10 volt output, weighs only nine pounds. The PM 5715 has facilities for a wide range of functions, including external triggering, synchronous gating and single-shot operation. Pulse transition times are variable from 6ns to 500ms.

Further information from Philips Electronics Industries Ltd., 116 Vanderhoof Ave., Toronto.

NEW TAPE ELECTRONICS UPGRADE OLDER RECORDERS

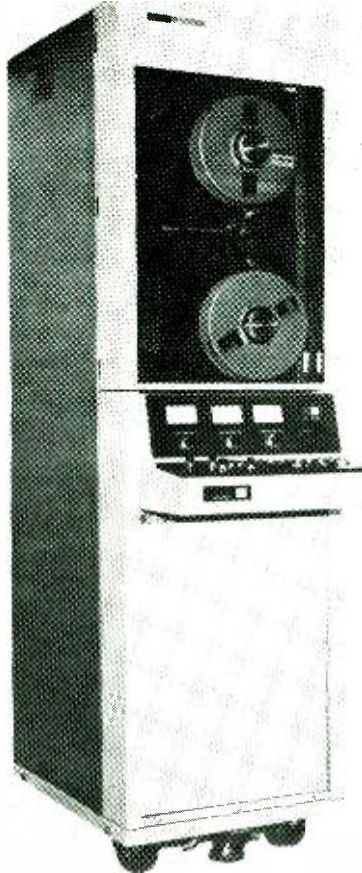

Inovonics' Model 360 tape recording electronics replaces tube-type electronics in older, single-channel professional recorders. It is designed as a plug-for-plug replacement package for Ampex 300, 350/351 and 354 tape transports and will perform with original heads; it is also adaptable to most other assemblies. The 360 is completely self-contained and all adjustments are accessible from the front.

Further information from Inovonics Incorp., 1630 Dell Ave., Campbell, CA 95008.

SPECTRUM ANALYZER

The 7L13 Spectrum Analyzer features 30 Hz resolution within a 0-to-1800 MHz range, in one display, without changing plug-ins. Other features include single knob tuning, CRT readout and low noise design.

Further information from Tektronix Canada Ltd., 900 Selkirk St., Pointe Claire, Que.

HELICAL SCAN VIDEOCODER

The Sony MV-10000 2-inch Helical Scan Videocorder features built-in frame-by-frame editing and easy tape interchangeability. Master tapes produced and edited on the MV-10000 are ideally suited for transfer to videocassette or reel-to-reel videotape format.

Its servo-controlled, dual capstan transport minimizes jitter and its full-field-scanning video head configuration virtually eliminates switching transients, color banding and other problems often associated with multi-head systems. There are two audio channels for stereo or bilingual production.

Further information from Sony of Canada Ltd., 88 Horner Ave., Toronto M8Z 4X8.

NEW CANON SCOOPIC MODEL

A new model of the Canon Scoopic 16 film camera, the Scoopic 16M, features a new six-to-one Macro Zoom lens with 170 degree shorter opening, tv frame reflex viewfinder, plus single frame shooting capability and double battery capacity.

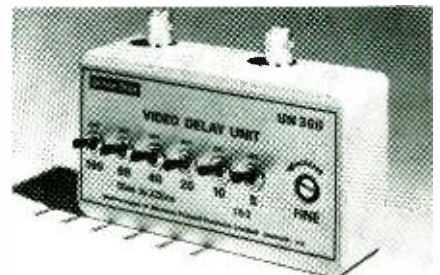

Further information from Mackenzie Equipment Co. Ltd., Saxony Bldg., 26 Duncan St., Toronto.

LONG-REACH MICROPHONE

The DL42 professional line microphone features greater sound rejection at the sides and more uniform polar response. To prevent wind noise during outdoor use and rapid panning in the studio, it is equipped with an Acoustifoam windscreen.

Further information from EV of Canada Ltd., 345 Herbert St., Gananoque, Ont.

ADJUSTABLE VIDEO DELAY

Fitted with BNC connections as standard, the UN.360 has a range of 10ns to 325ns in 5ns steps by switches, and a fine trim of ± 4 ns by screw adjustment. This delay unit can therefore be used for delaying up to and beyond 360 degrees of phase at color sub carrier in either PAL or SECAM or NTSC systems.

Further information from Johnson Matthey & Mallory Ltd., 110 Industry St., Toronto M6M 4M1.

INSULATING TAPE

A triangular cross-sectioned high voltage insulation tape made by Bishop Electric is useful for all taped terminations on solid dielectric cables in the range of 5 KV to 35 KV. There is no adhesive coating — it is aggressively self-bonding and fuses into a solid mass within minutes after wrapping.

Further information from Sola Basic Ltd., 377 Evans Ave., Toronto 18.

To The Editor

CABLE PROGRAMMERS: BE PARTICULAR!

Thank you for the article on Merv Rosenzweig and his Communications Centre (Sept. '73). Merv may have big plans for distributing "industrial product" to cable television companies for telecasting but he'd better think twice about our running them.

If he is considering distribution to cable television for telecasting on the community channel, I would suggest that he examine what relevance the material would have to our individual communities. Rather than just "showing something" to fill air time, we could be generating local approaches to the same "communities of interest" or cultivate our backyard communities into relevant local organization.

Too many operators are filling their local channels just for the sake of filling them. Anything, it seems, will do.

And if Mr. Rosenzweig intends cable operators to run his industrial sponsored product on an additional distribution channel, then I suggest we should be well paid somehow for doing so. We must realize now that our systems' "air" time and impact are far more valuable than just the mere filling of thirty minutes of space. . . .

A. K. Moorecroft,
Program Co-ordinator,
Calgary Cable TV Ltd.

WE HOPE SO, TOO

Your editorial "Let's Delete the Uncertainty" (Sept. '73) is the best I have read on this subject.

I hope your message gains wide distribution and that the CRTC will seriously consider the important comments you have communicated.

DUAL-CHANNEL MIXER

The B-503 mixer features dual program channel capability at a nominal +8dBm, 600 ohm balanced output. It provides extreme input flexibility with plug-in modules to accommodate microphone or high-level input requirements for each of the five input mixing channels. Two inputs per channel are available through interlocked push-button pre-switching.

Further information from McMartin Industries/Canada, 1555 Pitfield Blvd., Montreal.

CHROMA KEYS

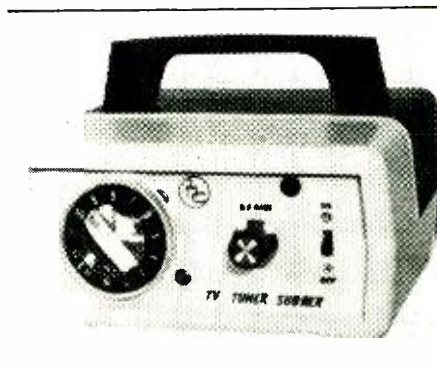

Danscoll's new in-line chroma keyer is designed to key with any NTSC signal, including videotapes, remotes, network feeds and single line cameras. The device uses a proprietary chroma discriminator which greatly reduces noise problems and cross color effects. The unit is supplied in a self-powered, rack mounting enclosure with companion control panel.

Further information from Danscoll Ltd., 9721 Cote de Liesse, Montreal, Que.

MASTER TAPE RECORDER

The MCI JH-16 master tape recorder features the JH-100 servo controlled tape transport with quick change heads for fast one-inch to two-inch conversion. Other features include a phase-locked capstan motor, servo controlled reel motors, tape break sensor and real-time tachometer, which provides linear tape travel information for the real-time Auto-Locator II. The auto-locator allows a velocity-proportioned approach to be made to any arbitrary point, from anywhere in the tape, in either direction, without overshoot.

Further information from Tele-Tech Electronics Ltd., 15 McCulloch Ave., Rexdale, Ont.

TV TUNER SUBBER

The Mark IV, an improved version of the original subber, not only substitutes for the tuner, but substitutes the 40-MHz I.F. signal at any point in the I.F. chain up to the final I.F. stage.

By substituting the signal after the age stages, the technician can analyze the age system without confusion. Tests can be made on the defective system without masking any of the defects with fake biasing from the bias box.

Further information from Len Finkler Ltd., 25 Toro Rd., Downsview, Ont. M3J 2A6.

AUTOMATIC MUSIC FOR CATV USE

The Channel-Caster Carousel, introduced by Tape-Athon Corp., will transmit background music and messages on an unused or weather scan catv channel.

It consists of two reel-to-reel tape playback transports for music programming and a rotary tape cartridge mechanism that holds 24 messages, all housed in a standard 7-inch rack.

The station operator may select the music transport sequence and intermix any of the 24 announcements as required, all operating automatically.

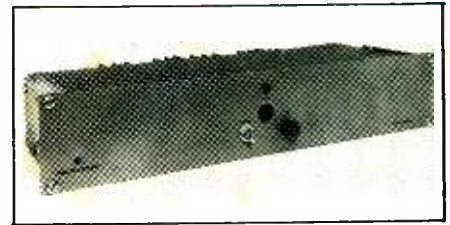

The Channel-Caster Carousel can accommodate as many as four music tape transports and two Carousel players.

Further information from: Tape-Athon Corp., 502 S. Isis, Inglewood, Calif. 90301.

CABLE CONVERTER

A remote cablevision control offering durable rotary detent channel selection, stable AFC reception, varactor tuning and "jewel case" consumer design is expected to be marketed soon in Canada by Oak Cable Communications Ltd., a new subsidiary of Oak Industries of Illinois. The V-31 converter eliminates fine tuning.

Further information from Oak CATV Division, Crystal Lake, Ill. 60014.

POWER AMPLIFIER

A new 50-watt power amplifier, the model 950, is intended for continuous non-attended service in installations where trouble-free operation over long periods of time is required. The unit has an internal current-sensing circuit which protects it from overloads and holds its output within safe operating ranges even if an accidental short should occur.

Further information from Electro Sound, Inc., 725 Kifer Rd., Sunnyvale, Cal. 94086.

MICROWAVE CONNECTORS

Easy to assemble, field serviceable coaxial connectors for .085" and .141" diameter semi-rigid coaxial cable are now available from Deutsch. Utilizing a solderless clamping device, these connectors do not distort the outer conductor of the cable when clamping pressure is applied.

Further information from Patlon Aircraft & Industries Ltd., 74 Six Point Rd., Toronto 18.

CHROMIUM DIOXIDE TAPES

Chromium dioxide tape cassettes for the 3/4" video cassette recorder are available from Memorex Canada Ltd. Coming in 60, 30, 20 and 10 minute lengths, the Memorex Cromex video cassettes are fully compatible with Sony, Japan Victor, Panasonic and Wollensak systems.

Further information from Memorex Canada Ltd., 2025 Sheppard Ave. E., Ste. 1411, Willowdale, Ont.

And we have every reason to be — of the more than 5,000 Canadian writers, composers and music publishers who have entrusted their performing right administration to us, Canada's largest performing right organization by far. Why are we the biggest in the shortest time?

Word-of-mouth, we've found, has a good deal to do with it. Our successful affiliates must like to rap. They're talking about us. Young writers and composers know about us before we ever meet them. They've been talking to our affiliates — people who have written international hits. And there are lots of those.

The Guess Who

These individuals and the members of these groups are what's making us proud. Their hits form part of the BMI Canada repertoire and all have chosen to have BMI Canada Limited license their music. You know them, and soon you'll know the young composers they're influencing.
