WILDE COUNTRY BEATS BRONSKI

Bronski Beat - The Age Of Consent- London They played their first gig in '83, were signed to London in '84 and in no less than half a year they took Europe by storm. Both Smalltown Boy as Why are at the moment high in the European charts. Bronski's singer Jimi Somerville lists as some of his favourite singers Bessie Smith and Billy Holiday and the records he used to dance to were from Donna Summer, Gloria Jones and Sylvester. This love for early blues and disco shines through all the compositions and although there is not such a thing as a glamorous image to lean on, BB deliver one of the finest electro-funk albums of this year. Somerville's high falset voice coupled with bubbling Moroder-like synthesizers create a constant hard driving HNRG-ish beat. Recommended tracks: Donna Summer's I Feel Love, Ain't Necessarily So (from Gershwin's Porgy & Bess), No More War and Screaming.

Big Country - Steeltown- Mercury Preceded by 4 single releases, Big Country debuted in '83 with the album The Crossing, receiving enthusiastic reactions in which the band was praised for their unique 'Celtic' sound. Especially Stuart Adamson's bagpipe guitar and Brzezicki's solid drums (on which Steve Lillywhite seems to have the copyright) are the main components of their Scottish heritage. The emphasis in the lyrics has moved from the spiritual values of love, pride and the tendency towards small-town community to the realities of today. The militant sound and the robust passionate vocals remain, resulting in an album that is definitely a worthwhile follow up to their first one. And in fact the band is more than ever capable of delivering substantial melodies! (Flame Of West, Girl With Grey Eyes and Where The Rose Is Sown).

Kim Wilde - Teases And Dares- MCA With singles as Kids In America, Chequered Love and View From A Bridge, Kim Wilde attracted a mainly young audience consisting of both disco, new wave and pop fans. Wilde's trademark is the smart combination of poppy tunes, synthesizer rock and Toto injections, embedded in a full and lush production. After some silence the Wilde Family returns on a new label, MCA, with an album of which the single, The Second Time, is already a hit in some countries. The recognizable sound has remained offering the same attractive balance between solid synth rock (The Touch) and catchy melodies (Fit In, Janine, Shangri-La). Further recommended tracks are: Rage To Love (Wilde goes Stray Cats) and Thought It Was Goodbye (of which its atmospheric production is reminiscent of one of her earlier hits, Cambodia).

You will have noticed that, due to a mistake, last weeks Pop and Rock Route lists appeared under each others headers, but we hope you still were able to follow our recommendations.

The season of hot new releases is continuing this week with new records from Nik Kershaw, The Riddle (evoking the same sing-a-long atmosphere as one of his former hits I Won't Let The Sun Go Down On Me); Depeche Mode with their double A-sided single Blasphemous Rumours/ Somebody, which comes in at the European Top 100 Single Charts at no 69; Eurythmics with the new one Sex Crime (Nineteen Eighty Four) on their new label Virgin; Madonna's Like A Virgin, which will help to establish her as a superstar of the Eighties.

A surprising new sound for ex-Haircut 100 singer Nick Heyward with his dance orientated Warning Sign (watch the instrumental B-side, it should get your extra attention!); another sure hit for Tracey Ullman with her version of Helpless by Lieber & Stoller (composers of so many hits like Hounddog for Elvis and There Goes My Baby for The Drifters and recently again a hit for Donna Summer); Shalamar in their new line-up have a new single out called Amnesia, produced by colleague Solar artist Bill Wolfert and written by George Duke and Shalamar singer Howard Hewett. Other candidates for your dance music spots are Solid by Ashford & Simpson (it has a great hook and is very suitable for clubplay as well) and the definite romantic floorfiller for C.O.D. (I'll Deliver) by Roberta Flack's protege Mtume (pronounced as Em-Too-May).

English group Matt Bianco, a favourite amongst European deejays, have a new single called Half A Minute, which again shows their great ability to give a new twist to the nowadays so popular (cocktail) jazz (Sade, Everything But The Girl, Joe Jackson).

LET ME FALL ASLEEP

Although at first it seemed to become just a hit in the Benelux, The Everly Brothers are scoring across Central Europe with their single On The Wings Of A Nightingale with a good placing in England and a new entry in Germany this week (No 31 in the European Top 100 this week). Their entire 1984 album deserves strong airplay with especially Asleep being a terrific ballad for nighttime play. Another ballad to mention is Jim Diamond's I Should Have Known Better, the first solo hit by the former PhD vocalist riding high in the UK and already receiving strong airplay in Holland. In our Euro Crossover list we see an entry for the new Fox The Fox single Flirting And Showing already at no 51 in Germany. Also suitable are: the new La Union track, a follow up to their no 1 hit in Spain; Dutch popgirl's The Dolly Dots with possibly their strongest candidate for international break out so far and reluctantly Peter Schilling's Hitze Der Nacht, which takes some time to impress. EMI America's discovery John Waite continues to be played very well on the Euro radios with his Missing

You already 7 weeks well charted in our Airplay Top 50. His new one will follow soon and his album No Breaks is already placed on the British charts.

FRANKIE GOES EUROPE

On the album front no one could escape the new release by Frankie Goes To Hollywood. Their double album sets a new pre-sales record in the UK, where Island Records shipped 1.1 million units to dealers in the first week of its release (oddly enough their second single Two Tribes makes a re-entry at 73 in the UK charts this week and has topped the million mark just as their first hit Relax did). Another Trevor Horn production which will definitely make it is the (Who's Afraid Of The) Art Of Noise album. The single Close (To The Edit) is already receiving lots of airplay around Europe. The new Kim Wilde LP Teases And Dares (see our review section on Page 10) follows close on the heels of her renewed success on the singles front. Ex- Earth Wind & Fire singer Philip Bailey teamed up with Phil Collins for a wonderful pop/funk album Chinese Wall already strongly played on some of our main radios. The J.Geils Band successfully survived the departure of front man Peter Wolf as their new album You're Getting Even While I'm Gettin' Odd amply proves. Your local EMI Promotion contact should deliver this good new rock album very soon and their single Concealed Weapons is already in the US chart. Deep Purple have a new album out with the original line up entitled Perfect Strangers and it is a great one too! Another proof that groups from the Seventies are still enjoying the big times. But more about that next week ...
