Italy Split On Ratings; Three Services Planned

ITALY
by Mark Dezzani

A ratings battle is brewing in Italy with three separate groups planning to publish their own surveys this autumn.

Many major national networks have objected to the release of Datamedia figures (M&M, May 29) including their stations, maintaining that they were either non-subscribers to the service or that the numbers were for internal use only. The survey, covering the first quarter of this year, showed national-music-only net Radio Italia Solo Musica Italiana in the top spot with a daily cume of four million listeners, a first for a private network in Italy.

Eduardo Montefusco, MD of Rome-based national EHR net Radio Dimensione Suono and a board member of the national networks association RNA, has called for a new quarterly survey encompassing all private and public radio stations. "The last global survey by Audiradio recognised by the advertising industry was conducted nearly two years ago," he says.

Meanwhile, following a meet-

Culture Beat Spans Dance/EHR Boundary

EUROPE
by Machgiel Bakker

Despite the lack of 24-hour formatted dance stations in Europe, dance music is increasingly finding its way into the playlists of EHR stations. The current success that German duo Culture Beat enjoys on EHR with the single Mr. Vain—moving up EHR Chartbound with 30 stations under its belt—is yet another example of Germany's trendsetting role in delivering dance product which fits the programming needs of European Hit Radio.

Financing Lined Up For Viva; Licence Expected In August

GERMANY
by Miranda Watson

With three investors now in place to provide the DM100 million (app. US$61 million) start-up capital, Viva, the German music and entertainment cable/satellite TV channel is set to go full-steam ahead for a launch in autumn. Time Warner and Columbia/Tristar have together put up two thirds of the start-up sum and national investor, OK Radio MD Frank Otto, will provide one sixth (around DM17 million).

This leaves one sixth of the capital still uncovered, but a Viva spokesperson says that this is not considered a problem by either the channel or by the North

Rhine-Westphalia media authority Lfr, which is expected to grant Viva's broadcasting licence at a special meeting scheduled for August 25.

Comments the Viva spokesperson, "The media authority says that there should be no problem for Viva getting a licence as there is no other competitor, and none of the financiers for the project are already involved in other TV projects in Germany. Raising the rest of the capital needed for Viva will be no problem, as it is so hard for investors to get into the TV business at all."

A spokeswoman for the North Rhine-Westphalia media authority Lfr, Katherina Bühler, says

Spain's N/T Radio Rides Elections To New Highs

SPAIN
by Steve Wonsiewicz

The run-up to the June 6 elections had its expected impact on the ratings in Spain, as total listening at the country's news/talk nets jumped 12.2% to 12.4 million adults during the second quarter, according to the latest figures from research company EGM. Music webs grew at half the rate, up 6.1% to 6.2 million adults. The fastest-growing net during the period was EHR Onda Cero Musica, picking up 38.9% more listeners to 439,000 adults. In a virtual tie for second were national-music-only web Cadena Dial,

ABC Radio, UK Suppliers Discuss New Programming Ventures

EUROPE

by Steve Wonsiewicz

US network powerhouse ABC Radio Networks is in preliminary discussions with several UK programme suppliers to distribute its services in the UK. Though ABC declines to disclose potential partners, the company hopes to conclude several deals by year-end or the first quarter of '94.

The news comes nearly three months after the company purchased a one-third stake in UK satellite programme and advertising distributor Satellite Media

Services for an estimated US$2.5 million (M&M, April 24). ABC plans to use SMS, which had a reported £2.5 million (app. US$3.8 million) in revenue last year, as a distribution pipeline to radio stations for a select number of US services and future UK-produced programming. With SMS, ABC plans to focus on programming and distribution of radio services rather than investment in stations because of ownership and operating restrictions.

Comments ABC Radio International executive vice president Bart Catalane, "We are in the midst of building our European business and are now just getting off the ground. By the end of the year or the first quarter we hope to have new programmes ready to offer and distribute via SMS.

"We very much believe in supporting local radio, whether it's in networking or syndication. We can either send programme raw material or ingredients, like news feeds or jingles, or entire programmes. The stations can decide what they need."

ABC hopes to build a turnkey operation offering marketing, programming and distribution services, first in the UK, and then the rest of Europe. Adds Larry Green, ABC Radio International MD of international business development, "We have no illusion of doing it alone. Whatever we produce will be done with local partners. It's not about flogging American product. The key to this is localising our product for the European market."

Along with ABC, London-based SMS is owned by a consortium which includes Capital Radio, Metro Radio, Radio Clyde and EMAP-owned Radio City.

ABC owns the largest US radio network with over a 40% market share of the estimated US$380 million network ad business; through ABC Radio International it creates, markets and distributes programming to more than 600 stations in over 60 countries worldwide.

August Date Set For Virgin 1215 AM

UNITED KINGDOM

by Mike McGeever

Richard Branson's AOR London-based national network Virgin 1215 AM will be available to satellite dish owners across Europe when it begins broadcasting on the Astra satellite on August 1.

The stereo signal will be bounced off the satellite to nine million BSkyB viewers who will be able to hear it on number 12 7.38 and 7.56 MHz of the Sky News channel. A £500,000 (app. US$750,000) on-air joint promotion between Virgin and BSkyB will begin shortly.

Virgin's chief executive Dave

Campbell comments on the new service, "We are very excited by the fact that now close to 10 million people will be able to get Virgin 1215 in stereo in their homes. It's good news to be doing this with BSkyB, who as a broadcaster shares a lot of the same values as Virgin 1215."

Meanwhile, Campbell says the station is expanding its transmitter network while in the advanced stages of preparation for the arrival of DAB.

Since its April launch, Virgin's engineering team has been working on the transmitter network in an attempt to improve crackling and fading reception in some areas of the UK.

13 Bidders Apply For West Midlands Regional

UNITED KINGDOM

by Mike McGeever

A total of 13 applicants, including five proposing ethnic programming, submitted bids for the West Midlands regional ILR franchise to the UK Radio Authority on the July 6 closing date.

Major commercial radio players are in the running for the franchise, including Radio Clyde, which is backing an EZ/country service with Clyde MD Jimmy Gordon as the group's chairman; Sussex-based Allied Radio is vying for the service with a soft ACE format, as is Chris Wright's Chrysalis Group's Heart FM.

From the West Midlands area, dance/black station Buzz FM/Birmingham has applied for a mellow soul/R&B dance service. Besides the five ethnic (Asian and Afro-Caribbean) services put forward, the other proposals include black, EZ, soft ACE and Christian formats.

The eight-year FM licence is for a service intended to cover the main West Midlands metro area, including Birmingham, Wolverhampton and Walsall, together with some parts of Staffordshire and Warwickshire, reaching a population of 2.2 adults.

It is a condition of all regional ILR licences that they should not come on-air before September 1, 1994. When the authority awards the licence within the next three months, it will be to the applicants whose proposals, in the opinion of the regulator, best broaden the range of audience choice, taking into account the other ILR services within the region.

Radio Authority Sets Re-advertising Timetable

UNITED KINGDOM

by Mike McGeever

The UK Radio Authority has set the timetable for the second batch of ILR licences to be re-advertised. The 12 areas, which include Capital Radio/London, are for existing licences due to expire between September 1995 and April 1996.

The Authority will not alter the guidelines adopted for the current round of franchise re-advertisements—separate FM and AM licences will be advertised for areas currently defined. Hereford/Worcester, Swindon/West Wiltshire and Bradford/Huddersfield will each be offered a single licence on each waveband, their twinned arrangement notwithstanding. Ipswich and Bury St. Edmunds will be re-advertised as two separate licences unless one applicant is awarded both licences on the same waveband.

The Authority will also use the re-advertisement process to match FM coverage more closely with that achieved on AM. The opportunity to match coverage areas depends on technical feasibility, consistency with existing frequency usage and planned frequency usage elsewhere. The Leicester area is one where this may be possible.

The next stage in the re-advertisement process is to consider a further 27 areas where existing licences are due to expire between July and December 1996. During this round the authority may reconfigure some of the areas for which the franchises are re-advertised in order to make the most effective use of available frequencies.

EUROPE AT A GLANCE

UK: MTV Launches VH-1

MTV Networks is set to launch sister cable/satellite music channel VH-1 in the UK. The service, available in early 1994, will target the 25-49-year-old demo with country, jazz and pop videos. Names of the artists whose video will be aired are not yet available from MTV Europe.

GERMANY: Bavarian Local Radio More Economically Viable

There was a marked improvement in the economic situation of Bavarian local radio stations between 1988 and 1992, according to the Bavarian Media Authority BLM. In 1992 around half the stations made a profit, according to the BLM survey, based on 44 stations in 28 areas in Bavaria. The local stations made a total of DM80.7 million (app. US$49 million), against costs amounting to DM82.3 million. The break-even percentage of the local stations has risen 30% since 1988 to 98% for 1992.

GERMANY: Eighth Blackout Hits Berlin Stations

Berlin private stations hot ACE RTL 104.6/Berlin and Soft ACE Berliner Rundfunk have now been hit by a total of eight broadcasting black-outs. The latest in a series of black-outs over the last month occurred on June 30 from 21.06-22.18 hours—only days after Telekom's assurances that the broadcasting problems had been resolved. Telekom's offer of financial compensation has been dismissed by the stations, who say money can neither repair the damage caused by black-outs nor bring the listeners back. In a combined statement, the stations demand the installation of a backup broadcasting system which they say is available to most of their competitors. MW

ITALY: RMC Italy Hands Over AM Frequency To Riviera Radio

Radio Montecarlo Italy has renounced its AM 702kHz frequency for good, according to a statement made by station spokesman Eduardo Hazan. "We are concentrating on our national FM network, which provides better coverage and quality for our adult contemporary programming." Montecarlo's English-language Riviera Radio, which has taken the AM channel on a test basis for July, is paying homage to RMC's departure from the medium wave band by featuring Italian artists throughout this month in a feature called "Italianissimo."

HOLLAND: RTL Adds Motown To Slow Ratings Drop

Classic rock cable/satellite station RTL Radio has added a pinch of Motown to bolster its ratings. Station manager Marc Jacobs estimates about one in every 30 songs is now Motown. He admits he had hoped the CLT-backed RTL Radio would by now have grabbed 3.5-4% share of the listening audience instead of its current 2.5%. Jacobs is not ruling out major format changes in the future.

SWEDEN: Record Companies Face New Anti-Competition Law

Record companies in Sweden face the threat of fines if they continue collaborating on the price setting of CDs following the introduction of a new law which went into effect July 2. EMI France Taps Defranoux As New Chrysalis Director

FRANCE
by Emmanuel Legrand

Hervé Defranoux has been appointed director of Chrysalis France as part of changes at the label introduced by EMI France president Gilbert Ohayon. Chrysalis was folded into EMI operations almost two years ago.

Defranoux has been director international repertoire at EMI France for the past three years, previously working for CBS in France and Sony Music International in London. He says the new-look label will not be alternative, but "eclectic, in the tradition of Chrysalis international repertoire." Besides the Chrysalis UK and USA repertoire, the new structure will also include the IRS label.

Defranoux

Chrysalis France will develop its own local roster of artists, says Defranoux. "Our goal is to sign new acts which will release their first or second album with us. We will not limit ourselves to any specific musical style."

Local A&R will be handled by Defranoux and EMI France A&R director Jean-Jacques Souplet. Christophe Leblanc, recently arrived from Virgin, will be in charge of the local roster. Promotion will be handled by Jean-Michel Canitrot from Island and Virgin, assisted by Nathalie Delvigne and Jérôme Favier. Label manager Olivier Lebeau will be in charge of marketing.

Ohayon

Defranoux plans to sign no more than four or five acts in the first year, kicking off with rock band Blonde Amer. "We know how difficult it is to develop French acts at the moment. We will not sign more than what we can really concentrate on and work efficiently."

For Ohayon, who predicts that 1993 will be "a crucial year for the company," the changes will be a way of increasing market share, maximizing the international catalogue and creating a new outlet to develop local acts.

"This change is pretty much a reflection of the state of the company. During the past two years, EMI has been set back on its feet. Our market share is respectable, our financial results are good, so it's about time to change gear. We had reached the ceiling of what our current team and structure could handle. We had to look for a new organisation."

"I didn't want to split the company into two big labels like some of my competitors. I preferred a small structure which allows more flexibility to nurture new talent and be more efficient with established acts."

He doesn't expect miracles from the new structure at Chrysalis, but points to Island France as an example of the result he is hoping for. "An efficient label with a strong image."

Until it was folded into EMI in '91 Chrysalis operated as a licenced label to Ariola, Phonogram and BMG. It was set up as an independent structure in the late '80s by its then label manager Christophe Magny, while still distributed by BMG.

De Bodinat Is Appointed President Of Producers Society SCPP

FRANCE
by Emmanuel Legrand

Sony Music France president Henri de Bodinat has been elected president of producer's collecting society SCPP. Elected June 24, he replaces René Guitton, who resigned with three years to go as president following a year-long row with some of the society members.

Says Guitton, "I had the feeling that things had reached a point that was harmful to the society, so I preferred to resign." De Bodinat says he will ensure continuity with Guitton's policy and that his goal is "to reinforce the rights of producers," which he believes should be "at the same level as author's rights." Other priorities include increasing level of rights collection and distribution of rights to producers.

One of the hot issues awaiting De Bodinat is the question of broadcasting rights, with the Conseil d'Etat's recent decision to cancel the current system of collecting neighbouring rights (M&M, May 29). De Bodinat is also believed to be strongly in favour of withdrawing the blanket licence allowing stations to use the full repertoire of record companies without special permission.

Report Confirms Gov't Control Over Radio Administration

SPAIN
by Howell Llewellyn

The Spanish government will continue to have some exclusive rights over the country's radio waves, above and beyond those of the 17 regional governments, according to a lengthy report released in June by the Constitutional Tribunal, the highest court in the land. The report rejects appeals made in 1988 by the governments of the Canary Islands, Galicia and Catalonia that the Telecommunications Law, since amended in 1992, was unconstitutional.

The appeals concerned nine articles and one amendment of the Telecom law which assigned to the state the management and administration of radio waves, as well as the direct exploitation of the short- and long-wave frequencies, among other things.

The 65-page ruling confirms that it is the former ministry of transport, tourism and communications, now called the ministry of public works and transport, which has jurisdiction over the management of the radio spectrum, and not the regional governments. This ministry also has control over technical checks of radio broadcasts, and the identification, location and elimination of interferences.

The tribunal refers to earlier findings that lay down a principle of shared competence, whereby the state controls the basic norms, and the regions deal with local legislative development and its execution. It stresses that the state has the exclusive right over certain areas, such as the networks, lines and official communication systems.

Columbia MD Post Goes To Kronos

UNITED KINGDOM

Chairman/CEO of Sony Music UK Paul Burger has announced the appointment of Kip Kronos as MD Columbia Records. The long-awaited appointment is Burger's second major announcement since sating as chairman in January of this year and follows the promotion of Rob Stringer to Epic MD in April (see M&M, April 10).

Kronos has been running his own London-based management company for the last seven years. He first came to England in 1980 as MD of the UK division of Jerry Weintraub's LA-based management and promotion company Management Three/Concerts, where he managed The Moody Blues and was further involved with The Beach Boys, Bob Dylan, Neil Diamond, John Denver and The Pointer Sisters.

In his new position, Kronos will report directly to Burger and will take on full responsibility for the label, overseeing A&R and marketing and liaising closely with business affairs and international marketing.

Columbia's UK successes include Deacon Blue, Terence Trent D'Arby, Manic Street Preachers, and Paul Young, as well as international successes such as Bruce Springsteen, Michael Bolton, Mariah Carey and Midnight Oil. MW

Sony Italy Reorganises Into Three Marketing Departments

ITALY
by Mark Dezzoni

Sony Music Italy has shuffled the marketing departments for their Epic and Columbia labels into three new offices: Epic International, Columbia International and Local Sony Music, which will handle national repertoire for both labels.

Bruno Pasini has been appointed marketing manager for Epic International, Graziano Ostuni becomes senior marketing manager for Columbia International and Sony Local, while Andrea Papalia is marketing manager for Sony Local.

President of Sony Music Italy,

Franco Cabrini, who was recently elected Sony Music President Of The Year, says, "The changes are designed to give more focused attention to both national and international product and to achieve better market penetration."

Artist marketing director Massimo Bonelli comments, "In Italy the market is split roughly 50/50 between international and domestic sales. However, our international repertoire is larger than our local one. Grouping Columbia and Epic local artists under one roof makes logistical sense and allows us to develop our local acts more efficiently. We will be putting a renewed emphasis on local A&R."

Sony Music Italy already has a strong catalogue of local talent, including Claudio Baglioni, Fiorella Manóia, Ivan Fossatti, Luca Barbarossa, Anna Oxa and Francesco De Gregori.

This month Sony Music Italy launches the supergroup of session musicians Spin Ine 2wo featuring Paul Carrack, Steve Ferrone, Tony Levin, Phil Palmer and producer Rupert Hine with an album of cover versions of the group's favourite rock classics. Following extensive radio promotion the single, a version of the Blind Faith song Can't Find My Way Home, is getting heavy rotation on most of Italy's major commercial networks.

Artists Line Up For Montreux Jazz Festival This Month

Switzerland

by Miranda Watson

Robert Plant and New Order are among the acts in the line-up for the opening of the 27th Montreux Jazz Festival on July 2, which will be televised by MTV Europe.

Together with his band, ex-Led Zeppelin member Plant will be interpreting blues classics live on stage while British group New Order will be making a rare live appearance, excerpts of which will be shown on BBC TV programme "Top Of The Pops".

James Brown is set to perform at the festival on July 17—his first performance at Montreux since 1981. There will also be concerts by Santana, Al Jarreau, Dr. John together with Fats Domino and BB. King singing with Etta James.

The festival organisers have tried to present a wide spectrum of musical styles, including African and Brazilian rhythms, rap, blues and jazz. This year, three of the most important jazz labels—Verve, Blue Note and Dreyfus—will be paid tribute to with a series of jazz nights. The Verve jazz night on July 4 will feature saxophonist Joe Henderson, vocalist Abbey Lincoln and Japanese pianist

Robert Plant

Yosuke Yamashita, while the Dreyfus night on July 8 will include a combined performance by Richard Galliano (accordion), Steve Grossman (sax) and Eddy Louis and Michel Petrucciani on keyboards. There will be two Blue Note nights on July 12 and 13 with Afro-Brazilian piano playing from Don Pullen, The Gangstarr Quartet and John Scofield. Even rock is to be represented at Montreux to some extent with two Swiss bands Bertrand Gallaz and Taboo.

On July 8, The Montreux Jazz festival in conjunction with French Industry body SACEM's "Le Fonds d'Action" (founded by SACEM to promote and fund different forms and styles of music) and the French Cultural Ministry will present "Viva La France," a French musical evening with a line-up including Barbara Hendricks, Ute Lemper, Robert Charlebois, Manu Dibango, Stéphane Grappelli, Jacques Haurigné and Didier Lockwood.

The Montreux "Off Festival" is intended as a springboard for new talent, presenting young groups/artists with the opportunity of performing before a large audience. Over 500 musicians and 120 groups are expected to take part with free performances throughout the town of Montreux.

Stockholm Extends Releases Over Europe

SWEDEN
by Ken Neptune

Stockholm Records entered the international music arena this year with the European release of the Army of Lovers controversial single Israelism. Having recently released five singles in the Swedish market which have charted on the sales, radio and dance charts, the label has now released singles elsewhere in Europe.

Three of these, Stakka Bo Here We Go, Cool James and Black Teacher Thank You Thank You, and Chilly White & Kenny Peach OK Fred were released in Germany, Holland and the UK in the beginning of July. Already released in other parts of Europe, the Army of Lovers single Israelism was released in the UK on June 15.

According to Stockholm MD Ola Hakansson, the decision to release specific artists in Germany, Holland and the UK is based on the interest that the label has received in those territories. "We aren't releasing product everywhere, only in specific territories to start with to test the reaction." Prior to the release of the singles, Stockholm Records distributed a compilation CD called Stockholm Gold via M&M to key radio programmers all over Europe.

Stockholm Records is a 50/50 joint venture with PolyGram, which distributes the label worldwide except for Scandinavia.

SGAE To Check On Public Music Use

SPAIN

by Howell Llewellyn

Vice president of Spain's performing rights society, the Sociedad General de Autores de Espana (SGAE) Teddy Bautista has warned of loopholes in Spain's copyright laws covering use of recorded music in public places. He has advised that the society should carry out periodic checks on places of public entertainment to make sure the law is enforced.

SGAE paid out Pta18.9 billion (app. US$152.4 million) in royalties last year to its 37,000 members, an increase of 7.6% on the previous year. Takings for radio rights totalled Pta18.5 billion.

The worst offenders for avoiding payment are the new private TV companies, says Bautista, but he also points the finger at the public playing of recorded music in discotheques, showrooms, bars, hotels, pubs, and public transport.

"We will periodically be checking the 980 radio stations, 200 local TV stations, and the 200 community video networks. Also discotheques, pubs, cinemas and town halls, which are sporadic and informal users of royalty rights," Bautista warns.

Royalties paid out in 1992 were broken down as follows: recorded music Pta2.2 billion, live music Pta1.6 billion, soundcarrier sales Pta4.3 billion, and radio rights Pta1.2 billion.

EHR Heats Up Seasonal Programming

by Steve Wonsiewicz

Summer's here and Europe's EHR programmers have already adapted their playlists to the new season. Finding the right summer "feel" and presenting it to listeners, say PDs, can be the key to avoiding a long hot summer in the ratings.

At EHR Radio Energia/Lisbon, co-programme director/production director Sergio Noronha says he added summertime records to the 15-song C (gold) playlist on May 14. Summer-oriented records comprise about half of that list during the season and are aired a couple of times per hour on average; the list changes every week. Energia also has a two-for-one D playlist called "Duplex," which is also altered to include summer tracks.

"We used to begin summer programming in mid-July," says Noronha, "but all the other stations started doing the same thing. This year we started earlier, and also because usually in Portugal the weather is already hot. We'll pull the records from the playlist when school starts in September."

Noronha says it's vital to select hits that have a summer theme and that are appropriate for the station's young 15-25 demo.

"They don't necessarily need to have the word summer in them. It's more important that the track has a summer feel.

"Because of our demographic we don't go that far back in choosing songs. We pick music from the '80s on. We consider Crystal Waters's Gypsy Woman a good summer track.

"As another example, the station started in 1991, so all tracks that were hits that summer on our playlist will get back on the playlist because I think people will relate to and remember things like that.

"We also know a lot of our listeners will be out of the city on holiday during the summer, so we have to grab the ones that stay here and go to the beach. We have to be really careful that the people who stay in our broadcast area, Lisbon and Oporto, still tune in."

Recent songs Noronha has added that have a summer feel are The Silencers's I Can Feel It, the Waterboys's Glastonbury Song, Chaka Kahn's I Feel For You and Bryan Adams's Summer Of '69.

Noronha says Energia expanded its playlist from 20 to 25 tracks on A and B rotation because the repetition level should be lower in the summer.

Keeping the music tempo consistent and not moving too upbeat early in the season when listeners are on the go and slowing it down when the audience is winding down from the summer is something Noronha monitors. "We try keep the same tempo," he says. "I think music in the summer has to be uplifting, especially to our demographic. So we try to keep it up to fit format. However, just because it's summer we would not cut a track like Duran Duran's Come Undone because it's a ballad."

Colin Sommerville, head of music at broad-based EHR Radio Forth RFM/Edinburgh, is concerned more about being slightly downtempo during the summer for the station's 15-40 demo. "I have to be careful about slowing the tempo of the station during the summer because there's such a glut of slower summer-type songs, particularly female vocal records this year, like Gabrielle's Dreams; and if you put Don Henley's Boys Of Summer in there, which is a very restrained song, you are risking presenting a slower sound to your audience when it's used to a more uptempo one."

Sommerville agrees that a song's "feel" is the key to whether it makes the summer playlist. "One song that comes to mind that I've played is Tom Petty's Running Down A Dream, which is a classic summer driving song. Although it doesn't make any specific summer references, the perfect place to listen to it would be on a French motorway driving south. I think you can actually get inside people's heads in radio terms by programming songs like that. There's Mungo Jerry's hit In The Summertime, but there's only so many times you can listen to that type of sing-along cheery tune.

"One of the songs that I'm thinking about adding is the new Sarah Nelson track Down That Road, which also happens to be produced by an Edinburgh guy. It has a tremendous summery feel to it."

Sommerville adds seasonal records manually from his gold catalogue for reasons which apply to many other programmers. "It's really important to do it manually because we have to react to climatic changes much more than most stations," he says. "If it's a brilliant, sunny day in Scotland, I want a song that reflects that. I don't want to play Walking On Sunshine when it pouring rain."

About two summertime songs per hour make the playlist "in addition to the current records which have a summer feel," says Sommerville. "If it's a recurrent, then the song will come around every five or six times; if it's gold, then you have around a 19-day rotation. That gives me the flexibility to make sure the songs work to our benefit.

"By the end of the first week of September we are winding down; and around May we start adding them to the playlist—the reason being it is right after the Easter holidays and people are just beginning to get into the summer mood, plus the weather in May in Edinburgh is usually better than July.

Radio Forth devotes most of its promotions to concerts or advertiser-driven events. "One very successful promotion we had," says Sommerville, "was with a rum company that had a Jamaica theme and a very summery feel to it. It ran over the summer and culminated with the winners earning a trip to Jamaica."

Radio Programmer Of The Week

Georg Spatt, PD, Radio CD International, Austria

Only six months after going on air in March 1990, EHR Radio CD International became the number one private station in a country where private radio isn't even legalised: Austria. Today, the station attracts 350,000 listeners a day, holding 15% of the listeners in Vienna.

Broadcasting from the border of neighboring country Hungary, the station targets the 14-35 age group in Vienna with a modern and flexible style, claims PD Georg Spatt. "The colour we have chosen to represent the station says enough: pink," he says. "We are urban, young and free. Besides this, we have a direct contact with our listeners, unlike our competitor [public EHR station ORF 3] which works on a national basis. Although ORF 3 is our only 'competitor,' it isn't even that, as it targets an older age group, namely 20-50."

He adds that CD International has a direct line from Vienna to the station, allowing listeners to participate in quizzes and on-air games or simply voice their opinion.

A typical hour on CD International would include such tracks as Slade's Far Far Away, Sub Sub with Melanie Williams's Ain't No Love (Ain't No Use), Billy Joel's It's Still Rock And Roll To Me, Saint Etienne's You Are In A Bad Way, Madness's House Of Fun, Queen's Kind Of Magic, Tina Turner's Night Time Is The Right Time, Lenny Kravitz's Believe, Communards's Don't Leave Me This Way and Shocking Blue's Venus.

Spatt claims his relationship with Austria's record companies is amazingly good, considering the circumstances. "It's sometimes difficult because of situation here," he says. "As we are based in Bratislava we have to pay our [artist royalty] taxes here instead of in Austria. Every year there is a discussion about this. But because we are younger than the publics, the record companies like to come to us with new titles, simply because they know we play a lot of new talent."

"We're expecting the bill to be passed by the end of this year, with private stations going on air in the beginning of 1995."

— Georg Spatt

Currently, the Austrian government is working on passing a bill to legalise private commercial radio, and CD International appears to have a good chance of being awarded a regional licence for the Vienna area. Although the station is not doing badly in its current situation, Spatt and his colleagues are very much looking forward to working for legal private radio in Austria. "We're expecting the bill to be passed by the end of this year, with private stations going on air in the beginning of 1995," he says. "This will be very good for the station. Not only will we be closer to our audience, the studio will also be more accessible to our management and personalities, seeing that now everyone has to travel all the way to Bratislava to get to the studio."

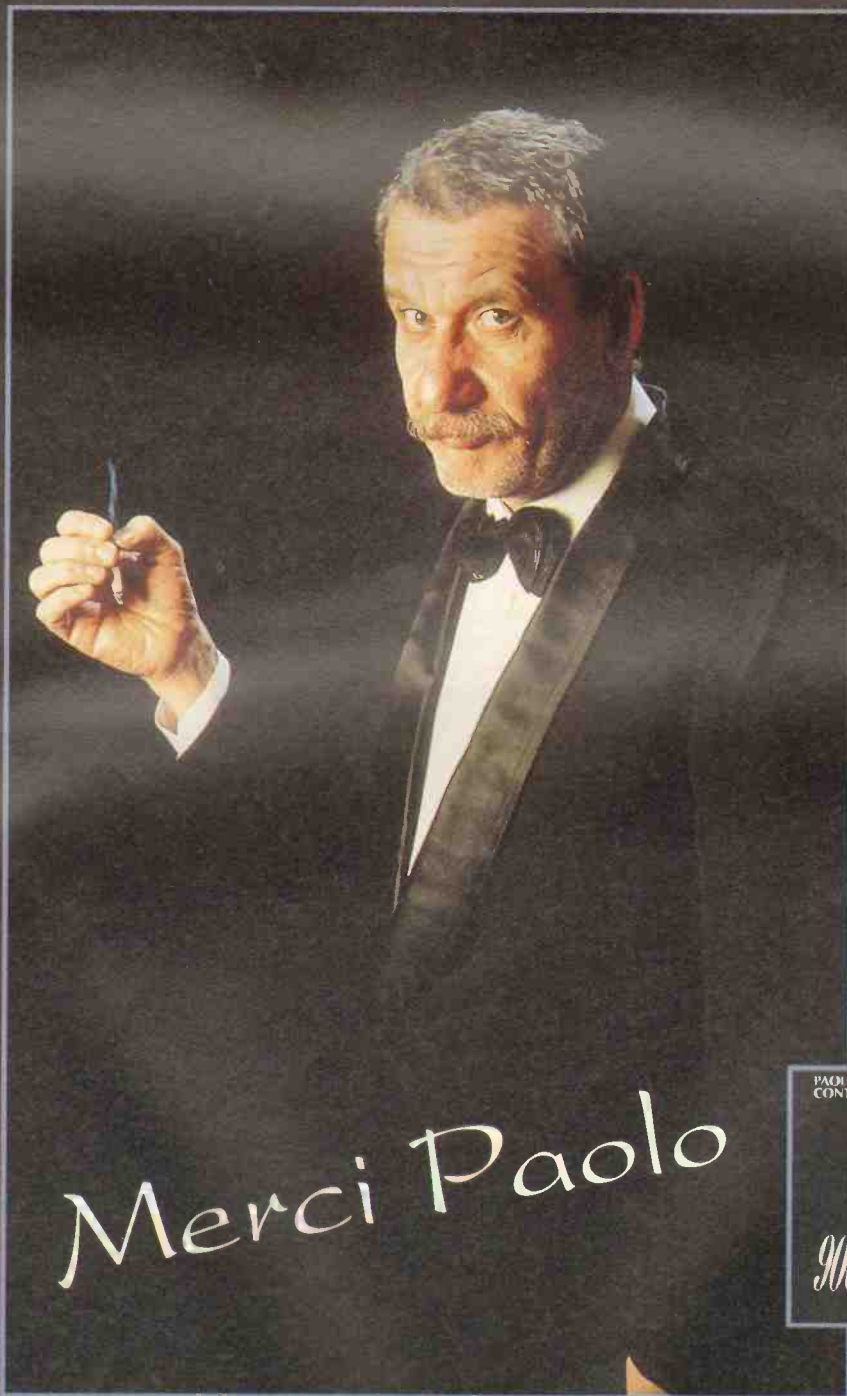

Spatt started his radio career as a producer at Antenna Austria, a private station broadcasting out of Hungary. After working a time at pubcaster ORF, Spatt joined CD International at its birth in March of 1990. After assisting the chief editor and being chief editor himself, he was promoted to PD four months ago.

CARRERE MUSIC et WARNER MUSIC FRANCE remercient RENZO FANTINI CONCERTO pour son support lors des concerts parisiens et de la tournée française

NEW RELEASES

Albums

JAY H. ALANSKI

Honey On A Razor Blade - FNAC

PRODUCER: Jay H. Alanski

Alanski is better known in France for his work as a composer and producer for Jil Caplan than for his own efforts. This second solo album is ambitious, with no less than 20 English-language songs, composed, arranged, produced and performed by Alanski, who also plays most of the instruments. The result is interesting pop music, with Beatle-esque arrangements. What Are You Fighting For?, the first single, is a nice idealistic piece that should find its way on AC stations.

RICHARD COCCIANTE

Empreinte - Tristar Music
PRODUCER: Richard Coccianté

First signing of the new Sony Music Tristar label, Italian singer Coccianté has developed a career on both sides of the Alps. His powerful voice has not weakened and the set of songs in this album are vintage Coccianté. For the lyrics, he teamed with some of the most respected writers: Jean-Loup Dabadie, Jean-Paul Dréau and Luc Plamondon. Already charted in France, this Franco-Italian effort should cross borders.

DANI

N Comme Never Again - WEA
PRODUCER: Jean-Jacques Burnel

Dani has had her share of ups and downs in life. Once a successful singer and actress, as well as a queen of the Parisian nights, her life—both professional and personal—collapsed because of some bad habits. With the help of some friends (Etienne Daho, Jérôme Soligny and Stranglers' Jean-Jacques Burnel producing), she tries a come-back with a series of unpretentious songs, nicely produced. Although she has a limited voice, the package is quite charming.

FAUBERT

Faubert - RCA
PRODUCER: Faubert/C. Ramon/P. Scemama

After a series of mini pop hits in the '80s, Faubert makes his RCA debut with an album showing greater maturity, both musically and lyrically. The mood is definitely more rock oriented, and each song has some ear-catching arrangements (Hammond organ and wha-wha guitar on Aime-moi, an acoustic guitar solo on Je Ne Dirai Plus, strings on Ce Monde Sauvage). Soft Machine's Robert Wyatt haunts two of the album's songs (Insomnie, Primitif) with his unmistakable presence and his elegiac voice. A good surprise.

MICHEL FRANÇOISE

Parties Gratuites - EMI
PRODUCER: M. François/F. Cabrel
Michel François is a fine guitarist whose fate has so far been strongly linked to French star Francis Cabrel. His new solo effort is pure and clean guitar blues/rock, that could come from Texas, but originates from this side of the Pecos river. Album Rock stations will love it. The others should try.

IDIR

Les Chasseurs De Lumieres - Blue Silver
PRODUCER: Idir

Idir, born in the Algerian region of Kabylia, scored an international hit in 1973 with the song A Vava I Nuva. But he got tired of the circus of the music business and stopped recording new songs. This album, his first in many years, shows that the charm of his voice and his music still operates. For those who only know Algeria from the grooves of Raï, Idir's music offer something completely different, very melodic, mostly acoustic with subtle arrangements. A must for curious programmers.

KEZIAH JONES

Live EP - Delabel/Virgin
PRODUCER: Nick Atkins

A six-track live EP, featuring three unreleased recordings, the follow-up to the critically acclaimed debut album Blufunk. Jones combines the best of funk, soul and blues, in an electrifying and compelling musical mix. With most tracks recorded at the Parisian club La Cigale, this EP is a good reminder of the unique musical talents of Jones. Album rock programmers who like their material groovy but catchy should try Rhythm Is Love, featuring the metallic and fluid guitar lines of Jones on a solid backdrop provided by bass player Phil "Soul" Sewell and drummer Mako-to Sakamoto.

EDDY MITCHELL

Rio Grande - Polydor
PRODUCER: Ian Taylor

Mitchell started in the early '60s, as did Johnny Hallyday. But if their musical career followed parallel paths, Mitchell never had Hallyday's following and huge public recognition. Nevertheless, throughout the years Mitchell is considered as a true rock auteur. Once again, with his partner Papadiamandis, he has come up with one of these "classic" albums, maybe one his best in recent years, with the right dose of blues, rock, ballads and American spices blended with a unique French flavour. Recorded in the Muscle Shoals Studio in Sheffield (Alabama), the lineup he gathered for this album is quite impressive: Roger Hawkins, the Memphis Horns, Snowy White and French bluesman Paul Personne. The kind of album Europe 2 or RFM in France can give wide airplay.

DADDY YOD

L'incorruptible - JR Productions/Melodie
PRODUCER: Gussie P.

Daddy Yod is France's top raggamuffin act. His previous album sold over 20,000 units in France, proving the artist's audience and the existence of a real market. Yod almost scored a hit with Faut Pas Taper La Doudou and this album features a similar potential winner with Dis Papa T'as Vu, a hilarious song about a child who asks his father if he has seen... girl's big tits! The rest of the album is good raggamuffin, with some funky arrangements, pushed by Yod's guttural voice and original lyrics. Will Yod be for raggamuffin what MC Solaar was for French rap? And will radio stations play the game the same way?

SYLVAIN VANOT

Weekend/Virgin

PRODUCER: S. Vanot/A. Royer/J.-L. Morette
Vanot is becoming the most talked about new artist in town. Reviews in rock magazines are unusually positive, which is sometimes a good reason to be cautious. This time, the hype matches the product. With singer Jean-Louis Murat as godfather, Vanot's writing is literary, but full of anger and despair. When he sings, Vanot is not a contender for the 1000-words-a-minute contest, but the mix of voice and music makes it one of the more pleasant surprises of the year. Just listen to Sous Ta Fenetre and its wall of raunchy guitars, or the obvious Un Jour Se Leve to get an idea of the sound. Our choice of the month.

Singles

JIL CAPLAN

La Frontière - Epic
PRODUCER: Jay Alanski

Voted best upcoming female artist two years ago, Caplan has aged and her voice has matured. As you don't change a winning team, she has worked again with Alanski, who produced the singer's two previous albums. The result is a mid-tempo ballad that has a good chance to find its way on the playlist of many radio stations.

ELSA

Tout L'Temps, tout L'Temps - Neige/Ariola

PRODUCER: R. Donnez/G. Lungbini
A precious and fragile ballad featuring the impassioned vocals of Elsa accompanied by a stately piano and a modest orchestral score. AC and MOR programmers should pay attention.

NILDA FERNANDEZ

Sinfanaí Retu - Polydor

PRODUCER: N. Fernandez/G. Coquard
This song, the first release by Fernandez since he switched from EMI to Polydor, is the musical theme of a TV show. Already charted in France (it gained 20 positions in a week), it contains all the elements that made Fernandez famous: a fine melody, a catching chorus and a distinctive voice. His new album is expected before the end of the year.

PIERRE GROCOLAS

Lady Lay - Trema
PRODUCER: not listed

This is the remix of a huge '70s hit. This is pure French variety, with some drum beats added, although the core of the song has not changed. The chorus is still as efficient as ever and this could be one of the surprise hits of the summer.

NIAGARA

Le Minotaure - Polydor
PRODUCER: D. Chenevez/Remix: Simbad le Marin

A far cry from Niagara's recent heavy metal experiences, this song is funky, danceable, unexpected, masterly remixed and very addictive.

LES SATELLITES/SAI SAI

Protégez Les Bébés - Squatt
PRODUCER: Andy Lyden

Les Satellites are a good R&B combo and Sai Sai are a funky raggamuffin duo. Getting the two together could have given birth to a bizarre mix, but it works well as the best of both styles has been combined. It is funny, funky, danceable and perfect for lazy summers.

LAURENT VOULZY

Le Pouvoir Des Fleurs - Ariola
PRODUCER: Laurent Voulzy/Michel Coeuriot

Voulzy continues to produce hit songs after the other, and no doubt that this song will follow the same path. His last album went platinum in France, and he is considered a top international priority for BMG France. This wonderful melodist claims in this song that the world can be changed with flowers. Is it the summer of '69?

EMILE WANDELMER

Après Tout - Touchstone
PRODUCER: Emile Wandelmer

Wandelmer is the former singer of the band Gold which had its share of success in the mid-80s. This is his first recording for Disney's new imprint Touchstone. Après Tout is an efficiently-arranged ballad in which the recognisable high voice of Wandelmer emerges.

At 50, Hallyday Is Bigger Than Ever

In June, it was difficult for any Frenchman to avoid being aware of the most important event of the year: Johnny Hallyday was turning 50. Every single magazine, every TV channel and every radio station was filled with Hallyday stories. France's national icon was celebrating half-a-century under public eye. But what turned the whole thing into a mega-event was the series of three sold-out concerts the singer performed in Paris in the Parc des Princes stadium on June 18, 19 and 20.

Some 180,000 fans—ranging from actress Catherine Deneuve to PolyGram president/CEO Alain Lévy—greeted him with warmth, devotion and the feeling of experiencing a unique moment. Michael Jackson, The Rolling Stones or Prince, who played the Parc des Princes before, never attracted so many people, or enjoyed the same media attention.

During the concert, Hallyday proved there were good reasons for him to have remained for so long at the top and be the leading performer in France. More importantly, he gained, by gathering such a crowd, a status that no living French artist can ever claim.

Long-Standing Relationship

One of Hallyday's première fans is Monique Le Marcis, head of music programming at full-service station RTL/Paris, that has been sponsoring the concerts. She confesses, "When it comes to Hallyday, I'm like anyone in the public. I have learned to admire him and love him. He has an absolute sincerity. He doesn't cheat. He gives all to his public."

For Le Marcis, these concerts were "the greatest of all Hallyday shows". She explains, "It was a concert which turned into a real love affair between the artist and its public. There was a lot of emotion. Just the simple fact that he opened the concert by walking through the public shows that there is really something special between him and his public. He reaches all ages, all social categories."

The relationship between the singer and the station dates back to the late '60s. Remembers Le Marcis, "It's a long history of friendship and faithfulness. All his concerts have been sponsored by RTL. I don't think there is another case of such a long relationship between a radio station and an artist." Le Marcis notes that Philippe Labro, RTL's VP/GM, also has strong ties with Hallyday as he wrote some songs for him in the '70s.

The whole month of June was labelled "Hallyday month", with the public being constantly informed through news bulletins, comments, and contests until D-Day, June 18. That day, the coverage of the show included the first two songs live on RTL. From May 17 to June 18, a series of programmes were specially dedicated to Hallyday, including a daily half-hour programme presenting all the different songs Hallyday had recorded, contests to win two of the 40-CD Johnny Hallyday box set released by Phonogram, and on May 30 a special morning of the 9:15-13:00 Saturday show "Stop Ou Encore".

The principle of this show is simple: when listeners like a song, they call for more. If they don't like it, they say stop. Usually, no more than seven tracks of a given acts are played in a row. This time, Monique Le Marcis decided that there will be Hallyday songs as long as listeners said "encore".

"Of course, they never said stop", she comments. "In fact, the closer we were reaching the end of the show, the higher the scores were. During those two hours and 45 minutes, we had 18,000 phone calls, an all time record for us! We played a total of 45 Hallyday songs. Only Hallyday can create such a strong link."

The 50th anniversary plus Hallyday's capability of transcending the boundaries of age was reason enough for Phonogram to create some very special items. Phonogram has signed the artist since the mid-'60s, and prior to that the singer recorded for the Philips label (Hallyday recorded his first two albums for Vogue, reissued at the occasion on a double CD).

728 Songs

The label has originated the unique limited-edition 40-CD box set. Presented in a guitar case, it regroups all of Hallyday's studio recordings: 728 tracks including 65 previously unreleased songs. Released on June 14, the guitar case was sold at a retail price of Ffr 5-6.000 (US$ 925-1100). The edition of 5,000 units sold in just two days.

RTL's invitation to Hallyday's Parc Des Princes concert on June 18.

Michel de Souza, general manager/marketing for Phonogram, who tips the box as "the biggest box-set dedicated to a living artist in the world", said the number of boxes has been voluntarily limited. "With his core fans, we could have sold 7-8,000 [copies], but we really wanted it to be a limited item, respecting those who had made the purchase."

The whole set of CDs is now available through 10 4-CD box sets, at a more accessible price. In addition to this huge box-set, on July 5 Phonogram has shipped over 180,000 units of a live album containing 15 songs recorded during the Parc des Princes concerts, exactly 15 days after they occurred.

De Souza says they made the decision to release a single CD, and not a double live CD, to reach a wider audience without price limitations. Comments de Souza, "We have realised that with all the media blitz surrounding the concerts, a lot of people who were not familiar with Hallyday, or who simply didn't like him, found interest in the event. Even the most hostile people realised that there was something in this artists that they could relate to. What best way to reach this public by releasing a live album which is also a Best Of of the artist."

Radio & TV Marketing

Entitled Parc Des Princes 1993, De Souza says that by year-end, he expects to have sold 600,000 units of the CD (qualifying for double platinum). A single called Je Serai Là, previously unreleased, was also issued and entered the French Top 50 chart at number 34.

The album, which promises to become an instant number 1 hit in the sales charts, is pushed by a major campaign that includes TV spots on TF1 and M6 and a two-tier campaign on RTL. The launch of the album was also facilitated by the broadcasting of the filmed concerts on TF1 on June 26. The show earned an average 48% market share, an all-time record for this type of programme.

De Souza adds, "Our purpose is to really capitalise on the event while it was still hot in people's memory. Even those who had not been at the concerts had the opportunity to see it on TV. It was a hell of a performance to release the live CD so rapidly after the concerts. Chris Kimsey [who co-produced the Rolling Stones' Steel Wheels and Flashpoint albums] took the tapes on Sunday night after the last concerts, flew to London, and was already working the following Monday. Everyone worked hard to get it done so quickly."

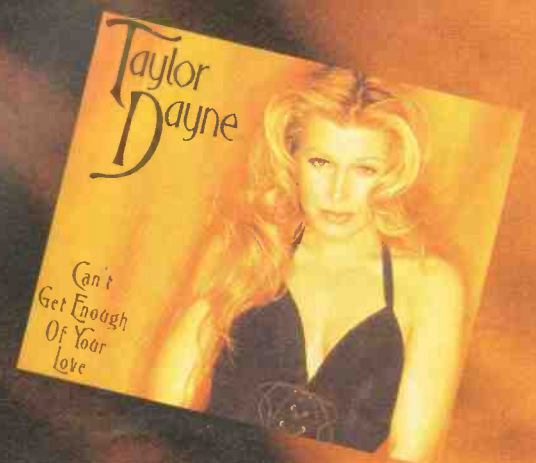

In September, the complete recording of the show will be released on a triple CD while the video will also be marketed. De Souza says that many people at the label have been concentrating on the event for some months now, if not years, in the case of Jean-Yves Billet, who has been remastering the tapes and preparing the box-set.

"All the media aspects have been masterly driven by Gill Paquet [Hallyday's day long time PR manager]", says de Souza, "as our job has been mainly to coordinate the different elements—the records, the concerts, the box-set, the marketing—and to put them together in a coherent way. It was an exciting challenge. I don't think I will ever do something similar."

Opportunity Knocks For Dance

UNITED KINGDOM
by Eddie Coyle

UK dance A&R executives are constantly on the look out for new ways of hunting talent. One of the latest answers, which has proved successful for Sony Music, is a move towards talent sweeps and competitions involving national media sponsorship. The "Sony Dance Music Search" competition, sponsored by BBC Radio One FM and Sony Tape, offered winners a major recording deal with the Sony Subsidiary Rush Associated Labels (RAL). The competition drew 1,500 entrants, and the first prize was awarded to London-based R&B dance vocalist Karen Ramelize, who has now been signed to RAL.

Comments Sony Music's head of dance Steve Ripley, "Most A&R work is currently split equally between white-labels/cassette samplers and the more traditional PA/touring approach. Yet with singles-oriented product these kinds of talent sweeps can prove very useful. The right media sponsorship is essential," he adds, commenting, "The sort of media you choose really dictates the sort of music the competition attracts." Ripley is now discussing strategies with RAL for the newly found act.

BBC TV's flagship dance/youth programming strand "Dance Energy" has run similar competitions with EMI and East West Records. Programme producer Tim Byrne comments, "It looks like East West is going to extend the singles contract with winning group Best Shot Posse [BSP] into a full deal." Byrne produces the programme "Lift Off" in the strand, which shows the home-spun pop videos from each of the selected entrants.

Despite the success of the project with BSP, however, coordinating the competitions has occasionally proved difficult. EMI, whose involvement with Angel, the previous season's competition winner, delayed the release of the winning single Angel by approximately five months.

"To be honest I was quite disappointed with the delay," says Byrne. "I think we were hoping for an earlier release. Things can move slowly at major labels," he adds. "Booking new acts for TV is quite difficult. TV exposure is still very limited for unsigned acts."

John Littler, manager for one of the UK's brightest new acts, D'Breez, says the success or failure of these projects all comes down to money. "Many of the acts don't have the money needed to launch through the media. After the PR and all the press, there's never much money left to deliver a new act to television, however useful an A&R forum it might be."

Nevertheless, programmes such as Mike Mansfield's "Whale On," a national late night discussion programme featuring new bands, could offer a way through. "James Whale is a very prominent figure at the moment. He's one of the brightest up and coming presenters, with a good following at 1.9 million viewers," says Littler. "There's got to be a good percentage that are of a similar demographic to our record buyers."

Tracks such as D'Breez's When I'm With You, and more recently, Touch have created considerable interest on the UK soul dance underground. "The problem is that sometimes there are so many people involved in regional programme strands, it can become a full-time job getting enough coverage to guarantee the attention of national A&R scouts," says Littler.

For the time being, it seems, discovering new UK long-term dance talent is proving as much a hit-and-miss affair as the efforts that continue to be invested in their promotion. In this situation, the demand for media support of talent sweeps can only increase.

New Grooves

ESPIRITU

Los Americanos - Heavenly

PRODUCER: Espiritu

On a seductive Spanish tip, the Original Mix is heavily rhythm- and bass-oriented. The track scratches into action with traffic noise, and a horn section is subtly laid deep into the musical mix. A thick bottom and weighty groove round out an overall smooth track. The Ruff Remix is a cool, relaxed track with a chilled beat and sparse lyrics.

USURA

Sweat - Deconstruction

PRODUCER: Walter Cremonini for Time

A commercial crowdpleaser, Sweat comes in four versions. The Soakin' Wet Mix by Rollo drips with straightahead sellable house. Kickin' into each section, the track runs on a beefy beat and forceful vocals. The Hazard Mix, with its feverish forward drive, can be easily slotted into more club-oriented programmes.

PARIS UNDERGROUND feat. SYDNEY F.

Passion - Scorpio Music

PRODUCER: Paris Underground

Smooth French lyrics are slid into a bass-full melange of sound. A hard jogging pace keeps this track flying forward. English lyrics in the chorus and the heavy hand involvement of Germany's Bass Bumpers complement this song's general international appeal. The Radio Edit serves its purpose dutifully.

MISS LIE

Lift Me Up - Beat Box

PRODUCER: not listed

From Belgium, Miss Lie releases a truly uplifting track which skates along on energy and positiveness. The Radio Mix picks up speed quickly, then delivers a forceful drive in waves transporting the listeners hurriedly through to the end.

BOOM GENERATION

Boom Generation CD - Dance

Farm/IMC

PRODUCER: Stoute/Niehoff/Van

Es/Van der Poel

A mix of '70s disco, '90s house and tongue-in-cheek sultry lyrics, the radio-friendly "Big Sized One" is the most playable on the CD. For more experimental programmers, the instrumental "Straight Out Of the Cockpit" is a streamlined ride through a myriad of sounds.

SLAMM

Energize - PWL

PRODUCERS: Stock & Waterman

For radio which stays close to the club sound, the 12" and Safehands Planet Mixes of "Energize" are quick adventures flying high through Stock and Waterman's musical electronic atmosphere. This speedy track is provided in five distinct versions, the Ride of The Vulcans Mix being most suitable for the more exploratory programmers.

PIZARRO & HYPPE

Forever Mine - Round & Round

PRODUCER: J. Hypp & C. Bailey

Spirit of Life - Round & Round

PRODUCER: J. Hypp and J. Gielen

■ Forever Mine's Full Vocal Mix progresses from minimalist beginnings to a full-length stride by the time singer Donna Blakely has a chance to profess undying love.

■ Spirit of Life from Carol Bailey is available in four mixes. A building intro, yet not unnecessarily long, introduces a bouncy house track on the Extended Vocal Mix, the most programmable. Energy, punch and positive vibes injected into this track make it a candidate for summertime radio.

U2 Surprises Programmers By The Numb-er

What do super stars do in their leisure time? Many lie in the sun on the Bahamas, but not U2. During their "Zooropa" tour Bono and the lads not only closed another six-record deal with Island, they also went into the studio with the intention to record an EP. When they left they had enough material for a new album, named after the tour which is still going on. Music & Media asked programmers for their opinion about the album and the odd first single "Numb" with lead vocals murmured by the Edge. In week 28, the single was second-highest entry in M&M's EHR Top 40 and is bound for even greater things.

EUROPE

by Robbert Tilli

A first listening of Numb leaves one convinced that it won't make sense on radio, but after a while you have to admit, it grows... U2 continues to challenge itself on an artistic level and the French for one appreciate this sense of "Noblesse Oblige," honouring the single with the most airplay adds in the "West" region at presstime. EHR Skyrock Network/Paris head of music (HOM) Laurent Bouneau finds no difficulties in programming the weird "numb-er," a monotonous excursion into dance territory. "Okay, the orchestration might be different, but it's a very good song. I was surprised when I first heard it, but it was a nice surprise. Although U2 has nothing to prove anymore, in my opinion it's necessary for bands of that status to give something extra. Programming The Fly [the lead-off single of the previous album Achtung Baby] was much harder in the past, since it was more aggressive."

In the same week Numb entered at number 3 in the EHR Top 20 of the "South" region. According to EHR 101 Network/Milan HOM Stefano Carboni not playing Numb would be dumb. "Personally I like that sparse sound of the single very much. It presents the music in its bare essence. In the first week we've played four tracks off the album daily, to show our listeners what the new direction of the band is."

That new U2 sound is definitely something else. The band randomly jammed the album together, resulting in some rather "Eno-sque" soundscapes. EHR Forth RFM/Edinburgh HOM Colin Sommerville analyses the album and sees some interesting parallels with rock history. "The track Babyface sounds like Angelface, a top 10 hit in the UK in March '74 by the Glitter Band. Especially the way Bono is dressed these days, you can tell they're playing with the glam thing. My overall impression is that this CD is almost a Brian Eno [producer of the album along with the Edge and Flood] album, something like Eno sampling U2! It's a fascinating collage of musical influences since they started. It's ultimately good for radio as well, because it forces programmers to look for more unconventional things."

The funky Lemon—where Mick Jagger's falsetto meets David Bowie—also sounds very appealing to Sommerville. He suggests that the Island label should definitely try some remixes of Daddy's Gonna Pay For Your Crashed Car with that unmistakable club feel to it. "You can really hear what they're doing with that peeled down production. I admire them for constantly surprising their audience, and they deserve due credit for that. Since The Joshua Tree they haven't done anything predictable."

That lack of predictability probably cost the band a top position for Numb on the listeners-compiled chart on the "Schlageralley" programme for the 14-29 demographic on German pubcaster WDR 1. Explains producer Buddah Kramer, "Maybe it was too sophisticated for the listeners when they first heard it. Or was it mere frustration that not everybody had a ticket for the show in Cologne? Whatever the reason, a regular number 1 on our three-hour show scores 900 votes of the 5000 votes coming in, but U2 had a very low ranking for this song."

However, marketed in the right way, difficult music will reach the masses anyway, and this is definitely the case with U2. Island has supplied the a host of point-of-sale material and a merchandising package which even contains U2 condoms. If that won't do the trick, then lots of competitions on radio will.

In anticipation of the album's release, EHR Atlantic 252/Dublin organised the "Free Music Weekend," giving away 252 copies of Zooropa, with more freebies to follow.

Prior to the release and in conjunction with BMG Holland, pubcaster Het Station/Radio 3/Hilversum set up a competition offering as prizes DCC recorders and a ticket for the last show on the Zooropa tour in Dublin on August 28. Producer Gerard Kamer didn't want to miss the chance to premier this album in Holland. "It's a mega act, if not the greatest rock 'n' roll band of the moment. We want to be there where the action is. In the week before the release we played three album tracks in the daytime slot. The whole 10-track set has been aired, and we doubled the title track, Stay and First Time. It's a good album, but certainly not their best. With songs like Lemon and The Wanderer, sung by Johnny Cash, it's much lighter than its predecessor. I see it as a transition record of a band in permanent development."

U2's evolution has amazed lots of programmers who attended the Zooropa concerts, and Skyrock's Bouneau is a very enthusiastic eyewitness. "I saw the show in Paris. It really was incredible with all those TVs on stage and Bono zapping from station to station. All the messages on the video screen were in French, a gesture really appreciated by the crowd. Because of the hi-tech element, there's a correlation between the music on the album and the stage show, although they didn't perform any track of the album Zooropa live."

The Island label is marketed through BMG in Europe except for the UK and France (PolyGram).

Dinky Toys Are Driving To International Stardom With "Europlay" Single

by Robbert Tilli

In its three years in business, the Creastars label—recently moved from EMI to BMG Belgium—has lived up to its name. With the Dinky Toys it has created stars. Like the toy car it is named after, the band is now driving down the road from local to international stardom. The cheerful single Out In The Streets (She Boom...) will be instrumental in the process, since it has been selected as the "Europlay"—the pan European power-play track, for the month of July.

It is a harmless pop song on a beat somewhere between reggae and polka, which will brighten up EHR programming during the summer. "Colour" has always been the keyword in the band's career—the 1991 debut album was entitled The Colour Of Sex; its successor will be named Colourblind. Subsequently the inventive Creastars team ties in with that characteristic to market and promote the band.

Once more marketing director Jean Bosiers is operating on two ends of the market place, which marks the company's proven recipe. "It's a colourful band, and that's the theme of our campaign. We've looked for a multi-national partner who also promotes that idea of sound and colours. Logically, we've ended up in the audio-visual industry.

"PBecause the contract is not inked yet, I can't reveal any names. We use our partner's name in our campaign, while they will feature the band in theirs. Working this way, you reach the same target group twice. It's a double-edged sword, because it means upgrading product for both parties involved.

With our new international deal with BMG, we hope to take this success abroad."

SINGLES

DEF DAMES DOPE

It's Okay, All Right - Game/Total D/EHR
 PRODUCER: Phil Wilde/Peter Bouwens
 Remember Belgian "new beat?" Well, this seems like a logical extension of that. Early this year this female duo already enjoyed a (radio) hit in the Benelux with this song, as catchy as any 2 Unlimited singles co-producer Wilde has worked on before.

DODGY

I Need Another - EP - A&M A/R/EHR
 PRODUCER: Ian Broudie
 Whereas most contemporaries concentrate on samples and BPMs, this band writes their own '60s-flavoured pop songs. Those who embraced the La's will fall for If I Fall and Hendre-Dhu.

DEE FREDRIX

Dirty Money - East West D/EHR
 PRODUCER: Martyn Phillips
 Money is a crime, but not when you shake your money maker to this beat. You can choose out of six different mixes of this Miss Fredrix and Simon Climie-co-written pop/dance song.

H-TOWN

Knockin' Da Boots - Deep Groove EHR/ACE/D
 PRODUCER: Bishop (Sfick) Burrell
 Will this male vocal harmony group have the same experience with this exalted ballad as Boyz II Men had with the End Of The Road single. After spending centuries in the US top 10, Europe will wake up, and then...

MICK JAGGER

Out Of Focus - Atlantic EHR/R/D
 PRODUCER: Rick Rubin/Mick Jagger
 Compared to the album version this one is slightly out of rock focus. Re-mixer D-Influence looked through a dance lens, and he saw Mick wiggling his hips seriously.

THE JESUS & MARY CHAIN

Sound Of Speed - EP - Blanco Y Negro A/R/EHR
 PRODUCER: William & Jim Reid
 Same titled as the Eddie & Hot Rods EP from the '70s, but the Reid bros go at least 10 years further back in time. Flowers pop up spontaneously on your curtains when you hear the fuzzy version of Willie Dixon's Little Red Rooster.

JESUS JONES

Zeroes & Ones - Food A/EHR/D
 PRODUCER: Warne Livesey
 Energy and hypnosis are the contradictive elements of this modern pop song, with zeroes and ones in the sequencers energetically jumping to the beat.

SOPHIA

Take It Or Leave It - Alabianca D/EHR
 PRODUCER: Team 3
 With such a title you can do whatever you like, but we suggest take this bouncy tune with Ce Ce Peniston allure. You have a summer hit in your hands.

SWIMMING THE NILE

Down And Out - WEA EHR/R/ACE
 PRODUCER: Franz Plasa
 They're all lining up behind R.E.M. now. Soul Asylum has presented its own Losing My Religion with Runaway Train and this German pop trio is next in line. Now drown yourself in that crystal clear sound.

TAKE THAT

Pray - RCA EHR/D
 PRODUCER: Steve & Paul Jervier/J. Wales
 The five messiahs have found a juvenile congregation in the UK willing to lend its ear. Now they're praying for continental attention for their matchless bubble gum soul.

TONY! TONI! TONÉ!

If I Had No Loot - Wing/Mercury D/EHR
 PRODUCER: Tony! Toni Toné!
 Listen to those undertones! That's Steve Cropper's majestic rhythm guitar from Eddie Floyd's soul classic Knock On Wood. Then move to the vocal overtones—very Stevie Wonder-like—and acknowledge a new musical milestone. Kiss FM/London head of Music Lindsay Wesker is already raving about the album Sons Of Soul. "I put it on a pile with Sgt. Pepper, because it has great songs all the way through. We're trying to bring them over in November along with Janet Jackson for the dance convention we organise together with DMC."

ALBUMS

4 NON BLONDES

Bigger, Better, Faster, More! - Interscope EHR/A/R
 PRODUCER: David Tickle
 Like the train depicted on the album's front cover, this San Francisco four-piece comes at you like a ton of bricks, albeit with surprising agility and light of foot. The band's standard rock setting sets itself apart immediately with a distinctive sound, augmented with a pleasant acoustic "jangle". No room for macho six-string work-outs here, although the only male member featuring in this ensemble is the guitarist. First single What's Up—this week's biggest jump, from number 37 to 22 in M&M's EHR Top 40—is just one of a set of strong compositions, the lyrics of which are done more than justice by Linda Perry's impressive vocal touch. Vive La Difference!

PINO DANIELE

Che Dio Ti Benedica - CGD ACE/J/EHR
 PRODUCER: Pino Daniele
 Already top 10 in Italy, it's time for other markets to tune into Daniele's special brand of jazz-tinged lite funk and pop. The supple and sophisticated title track leaves ample room for Daniele's crafted and fluid guitar lines while late-night programmers should check Questa Primavera, a lovely breezy ballad very fit for the upcoming summer playlists. Sicily is another recommended track, co-written by Chick Corea, and featuring dreamy piano patterns on a jazzy shuffle. Two Pisces In Alto Mare features guitarist Ralph Towner.

GURU

Jazzmatazz - Chrysalis D/J/EHR
 PRODUCER: Guru

NEW TALENT

THE APARTMENTS

Drift - Torn & Frayed (CD) (France)
 PRODUCER: Paul McKercher
 Australia has a big reputation for melancholic guitar-driven pop bands. The Triffids and the Go-Betweens may have gone, but the Apartments still defend the national colours. Take Mad Cow by the horns. Contact Hervé Lagille at New Rose at tel: (+33) 1.4439 5120; fax: 1.4439 5130.

COLORFUL PEOPLE

Popstar - Rapid (Holland)
 PRODUCER: Mark Anthony
 Confusion with fusion music. No matter that the singer states he doesn't want to be a star, the thing is that these people will be celebrities in no time thanks to their spicy funk/jazz/rock crossover. Contact Karel Snijsheuvel at tel: (+31) 4750.24499; fax: 4750.25999.

BRENDAN CROKER/SERIOUS OFFENDERS

Time Off - Play That Beat (CD) (Belgium)
 PRODUCER: Patrick Riguelle
 Recorded live during the "Prison tour" in 1992, this is a set of rootsy "jailhouse rock." It contains songs out of Croker's period with the 5 O'Clock Shadows and his and Mark Knopfler's hobby band the Notting Hillbillies. Contact Théo Linder at tel: (+32) 2.534 2323; 2.534 7995.

HEY

Fire - Izabelin (CD) (Poland)
 PRODUCER: Andrzej Puczynski
 Hey ho, let's go! Ever heard a combination of grunge and funk, culminating in a red hot "Pearl Peppers" sound? It makes you wonder about the stage capacities of front-lady Katarzyna Nosowska. Contact Katarzyna Kanclerz at tel: (+48) 22.322 796..

MEAT MACHINE

Charles Manson - Pandemonium (UK)
 PRODUCER: Meat Machine/Ralph P. Ruppert
 If you want to take dance to the musical and lyrical extreme, you have to listen to these two techno butchers who first slaughter religious cult leader Manson and then Elvis. Contact tel: (+44) 71.437 3588; fax: 71.434 3347.

SINISTER FOOTWEAR

Still Got My Boots - Rhino (CD) (Holland)
 PRODUCER: Oscar Holleman/Sinister Footwear
 Coming from the roaring south of Holland, these five rockers show their specialty: old fashioned straightforward hard rock without compromise. Slow tempo Dirty Charlie breaks all the rules of modern rock. Contact John van den Oetelaar at tel: (+31) 4242.82046.

Come to Gang Starr's Guru hosted party where a fusion of hip hop and jazz sets the tone for the future of dance. In the Introduction to this valuable cultural event the main man explains the whole project. On the guest list you'll find people from both musical worlds. Please don't take the title to the ultra-eclectic track No Time To Play—featuring guitarist Ronny Jordan and vocalist DC Lee (ex-Style Council)—too literally. This is so funky, it should be heard all over the place.

KISS

Alive III - Mercury R/EHR
 PRODUCER: Eddie Kramer/Kiss
 As a present for the soldiers of the Kiss Army, the rock veterans celebrate their 20th anniversary with another live album. Made for the fans, but they didn't forget the outsiders. Several old hit singles are included like Heaven's On Fire, Forever, I love It Loud and of course I Was Made For Lovin' You, bringing back the magic it created 14 years ago. From the album opener Creatures Of The Night till the Star Spangled Banner epilogue, the US national anthem in rock style, rock programmers will have a "ball demasqué!"

MANIC STREET PREACHERS

Gold Against The Soul - Columbia R/A/EHR
 PRODUCER: Dave Eringa
 Can provocateurs be workaholics too? Yes sir, 28 tracks—B-sides not included—recorded in some one and a half years mark the productivity of the manics. Ten of those songs are listed on this second album, which shows that the Welsh band's sense of melody has increased dramatically. Their songs grow like poison ivy against buildings in a concrete world. Wait until the single From Despair To Where, Yourself and Drug Drug Druggy strangle you by surprise.

BARBRA STREISAND

Back To Broadway - Columbia ACE
 PRODUCER: David Foster/Barbra Streisand
 After eight years Barbra is back where she belongs. Once again she proves to be a true master of selecting song material to suit her voice, old and new alike. Following her own signature of working, she altered pieces originally meant for solo singers to duets. Her singing partners are Michael Crawford on The Music Of The Night from the Phantom Of The Opera and Johnny Mathis on I Have A Love/One Hand, One Heart from West Side Story. Two new songs As If We Never Said Goodbye and With One Look are a preview on Andrew Lloyd Webber's upcoming Sunset Boulevard musical.

Singles and albums featured in New Releases are listed alphabetically. Each record is recommended for format or programme suitability. Abbreviations used include: EHR, ACE, R (Rock), D (Dance), C (Country), J (Jazz), EZ (Easy Listening), NAC (New Adult Contemporary), A (Alternative) and M (Metal). Is The Common Market Still A Bit Uncommon To You?

In a Europe without borders, information is power and communication is paramount. This is especially true for the pop music business – after all, pop music is all about communication.

A common market needs a common ground – a place for professionals to meet and make contacts, to compare notes and exchange news and views.

The place is Cologne.

The time: August 19 - 22nd, 1993

The name is POPKOMM.93

Germany's premier pop music industry fair.

POPKOMM. started out four years ago as a relatively small meeting for the German pop music industry; it has grown to be the second biggest music industry fair in the world.

Last year, more than 7.000 professionals from every aspect of the music business participated in POPKOMM., representing more than 2.150 companies. So this year, we made twice the number of stalls available, including, for the first time, dedicated stalls for record companies and institutions of other European countries. So you can be sure to meet everybody you need to: executives from major and independent record companies, artists, managers, producers, music publishers, journalists, representatives of TV- and radio stations, the trade and fan press, and institutions.

Moreover, the congress program of POPKOMM.93 will address a lot of topical issues and typical problems that affect the pop music industry on an international level. There's the need for an equalization of copyright laws, the problem of bootlegging. The matter of import, export and re-import of records. The advancement of technology and its effects on the production and distribution of pop music in the foreseeable future; the discussion about an all-encompassing standard for multimedia products. All that, and more. So join in. Come to POPKOMM.93.

It's a common ground for a common market.

Sponsorship: Radio's Obligations and Opportunities

"The Yin and Yang of sponsor's return is a social contract which grants companies the licence to operate and provides reasons for the public to do business with them."

Sponsorship, to Lesla Ukman of the International Events Group (IEG), is big business—an estimated US$3 billion per year, and a driving force behind causes like rebuilding cities, saving the environment, preserving cultural heritage and creating educational opportunities.

Sponsorship also means increased market share, product affinity and customer loyalty for many of the international companies that attend the Tenth Annual Event Marketing Seminar put on by IEG in Chicago. "Business must give back to people for a win-win situation to occur," says Ukman.

The American radio industry looks at sponsorship as fulfillment of community obligations ("Broadcasting is to serve the public interest, convenience and necessity" according to the Federal Communications Commission.) With traditional advertising funds decreasing in the '90s, there is also a necessity for stations around the world to seek out sponsorship opportunities as a much needed revenue source.

Paul Bonner of the European Broadcasting Union (EBU) says, "It's important that through sponsorship new money is found from corporate relations budgets rather than the annual advertising allocations, otherwise broadcasters are simply taking money from one pocket and putting it in another."

In the Antenna Broadcast Sponsorship Report, London's Michael Barret says, "Commercial radio has a relatively short history in Europe compared to commercial television, yet it has developed programme sponsorships more rapidly and more effectively than TV, both on and off air."

Antenna reports that 9-10% of European radio advertising is in the form of sponsorships and that this US$285 million in "non-spot" spending is more related to promotional activity than "billboard" identification. Further studies show that independent radio managers in Europe expect programme sponsorship revenue to grow an average of 25% during the next year.

This growth rate is understandable when radio's natural advantages are taken into account. "Radio has more liberal regulations, programme flexibility and local identity than other media," says Simon Cole, MD of Unique Broadcasting Ltd.

Cole feels sponsoring brands must closely match their customer profile with that of the programming properties they choose. "This can only happen in a medium where the audience feels a close affinity with the programming; a medium like radio."

Penetration of demographic sub groups and influence on shoppers (twice as likely to be "the last medium consumed" before making a purchase) also leans Barrett towards radio. "Basically, it is tighter targeting at a cheaper rate."

One of Europe's foremost sponsorship companies is Spero Communications, merging events and corporations like NEC, Shell UK, Teacher's Highland Cream and the Times Newspaper Group. Owner and

MD Ian Spero respects radio's targetability over more mass appeal media. He uses the parable of "the chap in an airport being offered tickets for a mere US$15 each"—"Have as many as you like, no strings attached," says the ticket clerk. "However, I can't tell you when the flight is leaving, when it will arrive or where it's departing for." That's the same with traditional advertising, says Spero. "Once the message is sent out, there's no way of telling who or what it will reach. The science of sponsorship is much more narrow-targeted than that."

Spero Communications' promotional successes have often included radio. The company raised the expectations of visual arts sponsorships (and the eyebrows of traditional arts supporters) with its Pop Art Show at the Royal Academy of Arts (RA). BBC Radio One FM joined in to help convert the RA into a dance club with guests Mick Jagger and Bryan Ferry, a jazz cafe complete with grand piano and the Flick City theatre featuring films such as "A Hard Days Night." Radio One also celebrated the event with a live road show broadcast from the courtyard below.

The results were astonishing: attendance at the Royal Academy increased by over a quarter million, 40% of which were under the age of 21. "Rather different from the 'blue rinse brigade' they were accustomed to," says Spero.

This form of micro-marketing leads corporations to radio, particularly when researching sponsorship opportunities in the arts. "There's great sensitivity when creating partnerships," says Alvin Henry director of marketing for the San Francisco Ballet. "When our company was only performing traditional ballets, we were preaching to the converted and relied heavily on philanthropic interests. Now as we become more avant garde/cutting edge, our marketing goals and corporate partnerships must shift also."

Cause-related sponsorships are often successful when combining the efforts of corporations, the arts and/or media. The Prince's Trust (also managed by Spero Communications) benefitted from cash contributions from Mercury Communications and from works donated by local artists. Recording artists such as Sting, Chris Rea and Andreas Vollenweider joined forces with San Francisco radio KKSF to produce a CD series called Samplers For Aid Relief which has earned over US$500,000 to date.

Media sponsorship of community projects should be profitable for the cause and the broadcaster. Joanne Collins of Phoenix-based radio KPSN created "Project Red Ribbon," a holiday-season designated driver programme funded by the local insurance industry association. She says, "I try to meet certain needs, but as a stand-alone profit-centre, events must mean revenue."

Events also require finding ideas, developing creative messages, booking talent, targeting accounts and building sponsorship packages that sell. When asking for cast commitments, be prepared for what sponsors are looking for in media value. Shawn Dennis of Universal Studios Hollywood says, "A 4:1 ratio is usually a good minimum when offsetting cast with marketing. Check the value of the promotional commitment by asking for documentation of media schedules, collateral materials and

The Villa Montalvo Performing Arts Series

Results:
Increase attendance and profits	Revenue from five sponsorship packages/ community services	Increased sales/media weight/public awareness display activities."

And how does a station measure a "win-win" sponsorship? The Villa Montalvo project in Saratoga, California is a non-profit organisation that maintains an artist residency programme which is funded by a performing arts series held outdoors in their 700-seat amphitheatre. The season line-up includes a cross section of ethnic performances and many jazz/new age artists.

The series had a limited advertising budget until KKSF developed a plan that allowed some its advertisers to sell products on site. In return, these sponsors funded Villa Montalvo's promotional announcements, coverage in KKSF's Listener Guide and a toll-free concert line. The end result was a sold-out series, increased product sales through concessions and a profit for the radio station.

Public radio stations also have tools to help generate revenue. A publication from the European Institute For The Media, Radio 2000, reports that Czecho-Slovak public service broadcasters gain income from public concerts, the sale of orchestral recordings, cassettes of language courses as well as direct government subvention.

Minnesota Public Radio (MPR) has grown into one of the most successful direct marketers in the US through a popular programme called "Prairie Home Companion." The show drew such heavy listener interest for its memorabilia that MPR formed a commercial subsidiary, Rivertown Trading Company, which now publishes catalogues generating over two million orders annually. Rivertown also forms partnerships with commercial broadcasters to promote an order-by-telephone CD/cassette library called Select Music.

Sponsorships are born out of ideas which radio stations can adopt. Lance Lew, director of community and public relations for KPIX-TV in San Francisco runs a museum quality mobile exhibit called "100 Innovations That Shaped America." Totally underwritten by Sprint, the exhibit visits 1,500 schools. Students earn US$50 savings bonds for creating artwork for the illustrated inventions. Sprint Vice President John Polumbo says, "The programme gives us critical presence in our key markets and sets us apart from the competition."

Another success story which easily adapts to radio is KPNX-TV's "Home For The Holidays" promotion for Phoenix's homeless population. A local grocery chain and First Interstate Bank helped raise US$60,000 for the needy, also adding to sales revenue for the station.

"Independent radio doesn't barter editorial airtime for programming. There is a price tag attached. But an advertiser's potential return from investment is often greater than on other marketing activities, due to levels of branding at the outset," says the Antenna Report.

Sponsorship performs dual roles for radio. The targeted focus of stations lends itself well to the needs of business as both realize their social responsibility. Ukman's Yin and Yang theory holds true. "As global problems like poverty grow bigger and are difficult to overcome, companies will have to back initiatives aimed at fixing the world or there won't be any consumers left."

THOMAS HOPFENSBERGER is an international marketing consultant and a regular contributor to Music & Media. Hopfensperger conducts integrated marketing workshops with sessions available throughout Europe. He is also the director of marketing at KKSF/San Francisco and can be reached at fax: (+1) 415.898.9399.

OFF THE RECORD

LOCALS UP IN ARMS OVER FRENCH LEAK

French government plans for radio have been leaked suggesting that national commercial stations will be allowed to take local advertising. Local stations say this will threaten their livelihoods. Plans will be officially released later this month for debate by the French parliament in September.

BERLIN STATIONS TO SUE TELEKOM?

RTL 104.6/Berlin and Berliner Rundfunk are looking into the possibility of suing Telekom after suffering a series of black-outs. The stations are none too pleased at having to fork out DM80.000 (app. US$48.000) for a back-up power system, which they say is available to nearly all their competitors, as well as paying Telekom an annual service fee of DM500.000.

CEILING FALLS IN ON BERLINER RUNDKUNFT

The ceiling fell down in the Berliner Rundfunk newsroom on July 2 causing an estimated DM200.000 (app. US$122.000) worth of damage. Berliner Rundfunk has also been victim to the recent spate of black-outs in Berlin.

KEEPING MOSQUITOES AT BAY

A local radio station in Compaigne (Oisie), north of Paris, has begun broadcasting an ultrasonic sound designed to keep mosquitoes at least four metres away from any radio set tuned in. How's that for community service!

FMs JOIN ON NEIGHBOURING RIGHTS ISSUE

In a surprisingly unanimous move, the entire French FM radio community has asked for an across-the board decision regarding neighbouring rights. Stations are boycotting the current negotiations in protest at the make-up of the commission involved in setting the new rates, calling for a new commission and new negotiations.

STEAMY CAR PHONE BILLS

Following complaints by cellular phone subscribers in Italy of excessive phone bills, police and SIP telephone officials tracked down "spurious emissions" on cellphone frequencies to the villa of Angelo Borra, MD of Milan's 101 Network south of Milan. Police claim Borra allegedly was accessing private mobile phones and dialing the number of a Sexy Horoscope line in the US in which he has a share.

Culture Beat

The snappy and poppy dance groove of Mr. Vain follows similar German-produced radio hits from the likes of Snap, The Captain Hollywood Project, Dance 2 Trance, Haddaway and Bass Bumpers. Released on Sony Music's Dance Pool label, the single is currently number 5 with a bullet in M&M's Eurochart Hot 100 Singles, with chart positions in eight European markets, of which six are top 10. In Germany, where Mr. Vain holds the top slot for the fourth consecutive week, the single has just reached platinum (500.000 copies sold).

According to Sony Music Germany artist marketing director Hubert Wandjo, however, there is a discrepancy between airplay and sales which is symptomatic of the German dance trade. "We're currently getting 150 [Media Control-compiled] plays per week," he says. "That's not what I call 'monster' airplay. With a pop record [at number 1] you can get 350 plays a week. There's a gap here. The most bought song is not the most played. The way radio is formatted in Germany still does not reflect people's taste."

One of the very few German stations that does programme dance music around-the-clock is Hit Radio N1/Nuremberg. Recently, Culture Beat was invited together with 2 Unlimited to one of the station's off-air promotions, and N1 is a long-time supporter of the act. "It's ideal for us," says head of music Cetin Yaman. "It's typical continental European dance music with the heavy synthesizer beat. We like it much more than the usual US product. The average US dance music is funk, but the rhythms are too slow." N1 started powerplaying the single in week 19, one week after the release (April 16) and way before it reached the charts.

By nature, EHR stations are cautious towards dance music, and most of M&M's roster started reporting the single in week 24. Wandjo acknowledges this wait-and-see policy. "The buzz in the clubs was building by the week, and by the time it exploded we took in MTV Europe. Radio came in last."

Meanwhile, EHR programmers embrace the radio-friendly dance sound of Culture Beat. At EHR RB4/Bremen, Mr. Vain is played three times a day, and DJ/producer Axel Sommerfeld expects the band to have at least two more hits from the album. "The music sounds very international, that's why it is popular outside of Germany."

Italy Ratings

ing of the RNA in June, Claudio Astorri, MD at Bergamo-based EHR net RTL 102.5 Hit Radio, says, "RNA stations representing most national networks will be commissioning our own survey this autumn utilising Italy's largest public opinion poll organisation Doxa. We have tried for one and a half years to reach agreement on a global system, but the public broadcaster RAI is not interested."

"The Datamedia methodology is inappropriate for our needs. They supply figures on a provincial basis for local stations. The national networks need a regional breakdown which is more relevant and cost effective. Under these circumstance, our own survey has become inevitable."

The RNA survey means that most of the networks will be breaking away from Datamedia (RTL stopped subscribing in 1991). Comments Dr. Luigi Crespi, head of Milan-based Datamedia, "The asperities cast on the reliability or relevancy of our methodology are squalid. This is a free market and I am happy if clients want to shop around. We are not a local survey. As far as I am concerned we have contracts with over 300 regional, national and local stations, including Radio Italia Solo Musica Italiana, [EHR] Rete 105, [Gold-formatted] 105 Classic, [ACE/new age] RMC, Radio Dimensione Suono, [EHR] Kiss Kiss Network and [Dance/R&B] Italian Network. We have compiled figures for the second quarter of this year, and they will be published later this month."

Along with the RNA/Doxa and Datamedia figures, pubcaster RAI will conduct its own survey through the internal audience research organisation UNICAB.

So far none of the ratings systems has been officially recognised by Italy's advertising industry since the last Audiradio figures in 1991. Says RTL's Astorri, "Following the expected ratification of the Doxa survey at the RNA annual assembly this month, we will be looking to obtain Audiradio approval. Although the present schism has been inevitable, we still hope to reach agreement for a united survey in 1994."

up 23.8% to 1.3 million, and N/T net Onda Cero Convencional, up 23.6% to 2.2 million adults.

Group network owner SER held the top spots in both music and N/T radio. Ratings at its EHR powerhouse Los 40 Principales were flat, down 0.2% to three million, while its N/T net Cadena SER saw its audience rise 15.4% to 2.9 million.

EHR web Cadena 100 turned in its second down book of the year; its ratings declined 17.7% to 392.000, dropping it from the ranks of the top 10 networks in the country.

Overall, Spain's radio audience grew by one million people in May over March's figures. N/T programme "Protagonistas" on Onda Cero Convencional, which on July 1 celebrated its twentieth birthday, is still the most popular programme with 1.9 million listeners. It is presented by Luis del Olmo. Additional reporting by Howell Llewellyn Lars Goran Nilsson, producer at pubcaster Riksradio/Stockholm, says the song has a high production standard. "We play it a lot, it fits our programming very well," he says. "In Sweden we have a very large dance scene with a lot of acts more or less comparable to this one. Culture Beat fits wonderfully among them. Actually, we had no idea that it was a German act."

Dutch pubcaster TROS Radio 3 producer Peter de Mooi describes the single as "easy on the ears, no problem for an EHR programmer. We even played the remix last week. Germany seems to be good at this."

His colleague at EHR Radio 538/Bussem, Koen Van Tijn, says it is one of the most requested song at the moment. "It's a very smart song, which has the sound of a dance record of today," he says. "I think they could go for the big score in the near future, but for that they do need a constant image."

Culture Beat is the brain child of Torsten Fenslau, a well-known DJ at Frankfurt-based club "Dorian Gray." Since its inception in the early '90s, Culture Beat has had various line-ups, and is currently fronted by singer Tania

Evans and rapper Jay Supreme.

Sony's Wandjo admits the various personnel changes do not facilitate easy identification, but believes in the staying power of the current line-up. "I agree that we [all] have to start thinking as dance artists having personalities and images rather than just [producer] projects. But this act will prove that dance music can also generate long-term sellers." At presstime, Culture Beat's album, Serenity, entered the German sales chart at number 13. the organisation is still waiting for the final papers from Viva, detailing the exact financial set-up of the channel. She confirms that once these documents are received then a final decision will be made at the August 25 meeting. She adds that Viva cannot begin broadcasting before this time and will therefore not be able to meet its original launch date of August 19.

4 Non Blondes Up

UB40 are still increasing their station roster during their second week of chart reign—their total of 133 stations is the second best ever (Whitney Houston's I Will Always Love You collected 136 reports in our February 6 issue) and keeps them far ahead of the current competition.

Although the fastest moving record in terms of chart points is Gabrielle's Dreams (it also earned that status last week), the biggest jump (up 15 positions) is scored by What's Up, the first European single by the US band 4 Non Blondes. What's Up climbs to number 22, thanks to 12 new adds, bringing the number of reporters to 41 stations, with notable airplay in Holland (100% penetration among M&M's EHR reporters), Sweden (78%) and the UK (71%). On a regional scale, the band is already top 5 in the West Central Regional EHR Top 20.

Due to the increasing support for Will You Be There, especially in Germany, Norway and Poland, Michael Jackson qualifies as Most Added leader of the week, with 27 new additions in his pocket, pushing him to 15 in the EHR Top 40. Second most added and following Jackson closely at number 16 is U2, whose Numb collected 19 new additions during its second charting week. The song is now topping two Regional EHR Top 20 listings: the South as well as the Southwest chart, directly entering at number one in the latter, which is mainly due to the increasing rotation support for Numb on platinum stations in that region.

All four new entries in this week's Top 40 are grabbed by follow-up singles. As anticipated last week, the highest (at 28) is claimed by Chris Isaak's San Francisco Days, the successor of Can't Do A Thing (To Stop Me), his biggest EHR hit to date (peaking at 11). Previous EHR hits for Isaak included 1991's Wicked Game (peaking at 17) and Blue Hotel (20). His new single is currently acquiring additional support in Germany, Italy and Norway, gaining further ground in Spain and Poland, and is continuing its rotation impact in Switzerland, Austria, the UK, Ireland and France.

Looking ready to enter the chart next week is Kim Wilde, whose cover version of US singer Yvonne Elliman's 1978 hit If I Can't Have You tops the Chartbound listing with the favourable figure of 35 stations, 15 of which are adds. Pieter Kops

The EHR Top 40 chart is based on a weighted-scoring system. Songs score points by achieving airplay at M&M's EHR reporting stations, that target 12-34 year-old listeners with contemporary music fulltime or during specific dayparts. Songs in "A" rotation airplay receive more points than those in "B" rotation or more limited airplay exposure. Stations are weighted by market size and by the number of hours per week committed to the format.

The second number represents how many stations reported it to M&M for the first time. Songs which have received no new airplay for two consecutive weeks will be deleted from this chart, but may reappear with new airplay. In the case of a tie, songs are listed by new adds. Asterisks indicate new entries in Chartbound.
